When I ſhall bring again their Captivity, the Captivity of Sodom, and her Daughters, &c.] When the Fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall come into the Church, ſome of whom may be compared to Sodom for Wickedneſs (ſee Iſa. i. 9.) then will I alſo remember you, who are my antient People. St. Paul tells us, that the Jews will be provoked to Emulation by the Gentiles coming into the Church, and thereby be induced to acknowledge the Truth. Rom. xi. 11, 12, 15, 25, 31. The Converſion of the Gentiles is expreſſed by Jeremy by returning the Captivity of Moab, Ammon, and Edom, Ch. xlviii. 47. xlix. 6, 39. and by the Egyptians, Aſſyrians, and Ethiopians and Syrians bringing Preſents to God, and acknowledging themſelves his Servants, in the Prophecy of Iſaiah, Ch. xviii. 7. And by the ſame Analogy we are to underſtand the returning the Captivity of Sodom here, of the Gentiles coming into the Church.

For thy Siſter Sodom was not mentioned by thy Mouth in the Day of thy Pride, before thy Wickedneſs was diſcovered] Theſe Words ſhould be joined together in the ſame Words or Sentence: God ſaith to Jeruſalem, that in the Height of her Proſperity before her Wickedneſs appeared to the Eyes of the World, by the extraordinary Judgments brought upon her, ſhe did not reflect upon the terrible Things which befel Sodom, and was deſigned for an Example or warning to thoſe that ſhould afterward live ungodly, 2 Pet. ii. 6.

As at the Time of thy Reproach of the Daughters of Syria, &c.] The Words being a new Sentence, which may be tranſlated more perſpicuouſly thus: But when it was the Time of thy becoming the Reproach of the Daughters of Syria, &c. The Particle Kemo ſometimes times ſignifies when. The Words, with regard to what goes before, import thus much: In thy Proſperity thou didſt deſpiſe thoſe who are no worſe than thyſelf; but ſince thou haſt been inſulted and invaded by thy Neighbours, both Syrians and Philiſtines, whom God hath made uſe of as Executioners of his Judgments upon thee, thou haſt been a remarkable Inſtance of his Vengeance, and God's Hand hath been heavy upon thee, for all thine Idolatries and Abominations. The Words relate to the frequent Inroads the Syrians and Philiſtines made into Judea in the Time of King Ahaz. See 2 Kings xvi. 5. 2 Chron. xxviii. 18.

And I will give them to thee for Daughters] Jeruſalem thus reſtored ſhall be a Type of that heavenly Jeruſalem, which is the Mother of us all, Gal. iv. 26. And even in the Times of the Apoſtles, there was a particular Deference paid to the Church of Jeruſalem, as the Mother Church of the Chriſtian World: See Rom. xv. 26, 27. Accordingly ſhe is ſtiled the Mother of all Churches, by the Second General Council, in their Synodical Epiſtle. See Theodoret's Hiſt. Eccleſ. L. v. C. 9. a Title which the Church of Rome now aſſumes.

But not by thy Covenant] Not by Virtue of that Covenant mentioned Ver. 60. you having forfeited all your Title to its Privileges, Ver. 89. but by Virtue of that New Covenant which I will make with you, thro' the Meſſias: See Jer. xxxi. 31.

CHAP. XVII.

Under the Parable of two Eagles and two Vine-branches, the Prophet figuratively expreſſes the carrying away Jehoiakim into Captivity by the King of Babylon, who made Zedekiah King in his Stead.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, put forth a riddle, and ſpeak a parable unto the houſe of Iſrael; 3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, A great eagle with great wings, long-winged, full of feathers, which had divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and took the higheſt branch of the cedar: 4 He cropt off the top of his young twigs, and carried it into a land of traffick; he ſet it in a city of merchants. 5 He took alſo of the ſeed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful field, he placed it by great waters, and ſet it as a willow-tree. 6 And it grew, and became a ſpreading vine of low ſtature, whoſe branches turned toward him, and the roots thereof were under him: ſo it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and ſhot forth ſprigs. 7 There was alſo another great eagle with great wings and many feathers; and behold, this vine did bend her roots towards him, and ſhot forth her branches toward him, that he might water it by the furrows of her plantation. 8 It was planted in a good ſoil by great waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a goodly vine. 9 Say thou, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Shall it proſper? ſhall he not pull up the roots thereof, and cut off the fruit thereof, that it wither? it ſhall wither in all the leaves of her ſpring, even without great power, or many people to pluck it up by the roots thereof. 10 Yea, behold, being planted, ſhall it proſper? ſhall it not utterly wither, when the eaſt-wind toucheth it? it ſhall wither in the furrows where it grew. 11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 12 Say now to the rebellious houſe, Know ye not what theſe things mean? tell them, Behold, the king of Babylon is come to Jeruſalem, and hath taken th king thereof, and the princes thereof, and le them with him to Babylon; 13 And hath take of the kings ſeed, and made a covenant wit him, and hath taken an oath of him: he hat alſo taken the mighty of the land: 14 That th kingdom might be baſe, that it might not li itſelf up, but that by keeping of his covenant might ſtand. 15 But he rebelled againſt him i ſending his ambaſſadors into Egypt, that the might give him horſes and much people: ſha he proſper? ſhall he eſcape that doeth ſuc things? or ſhall he break the covenant, and b delivered? 16 As I live, ſaith the Lord Go ſurely in the place where the king dwelleth th made him king, whoſe oath he deſpiſed, an whoſe covenant he brake, even with him, in th midſt of Babylon he ſhall die. 17 Neith ſhall Pharaoh with his mighty army and gre company make for him in the war by caſting u mounts, and building forts, to cut off man perſons. 18 Seeing he deſpiſed the oath, b breaking the covenant (when lo, he had give his hand) and hath done all theſe things, ſhall not eſcape. 19 Therefore thus ſaith th Lord God, As I live, ſurely mine oath that h hath deſpiſed, and my covenant that he ha broken, even it will I recompence upon h own head. 20 And I will ſpread my net upo him, and he ſhall be taken in my ſnare, and will bring him to Babylon, and will plead wi him there for his treſpaſs that he hath treſpaſſ againſt me. 21 And all his fugitives with his bands ſhall fall by the ſword, and they th remain ſhall be ſcattered towards all winds: an ye ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken 22 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo take the higheſt branch of the high cedar, and w ſet it, I will crop off from the top of his youn twigs a tender one, and will plant it upon high mountain and eminent. 23 In the mou tain of the height of Iſrael will I plant it: an it ſhall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, an be a goodly cedar: and under it ſhall dwell fowl of every wing, in the ſhadow of the branch thereof ſhall they dwell. 24 And all the tre of the field ſhall know that I the Lord ha brought down the high tree, have exalted th low tree, have dried up the green tree, an have made the dry tree to flouriſh: I the Lor have ſpoken and have done it.

Put forth a Riddle] That is, a continued Metaph or figurative Speech, ſtill purſuing the Allegory of Eagle and Vine in the ſeveral Parts of the Parabl This perhaps may make the Hearers more attentive what thou ſpeakeſt.

An Eagle with great Wings] That is, the King Babylon; Ver. 12. Conquerors are elſewhere repr ſented by Eagles, which are Birds of Prey, and r markable for their Swiftneſs. See Deut. xxviii. 49. Je iv. 13. Hoſ. viii.

Came to Lebanon, and cropt off the higheſt Branch the Cedar] That is, invaded Judea, or inveſted Jer ſalem, and took Jehoiakim Captive; ſee Ver. 12.

And carried it into a Land of Traffick] Babylon an the Country about it, being the Seat of an Univer Monarchy, muſt needs have been a Place of gre Trading. Strabo takes Notice, that the Merchant who travelled by Land to Babylon, went thro' th Country of the Arabians called Scenitæ; and Veſſels great Burden came up to the Walls of it from the Pe than Gulph up the River Euphrates. See Pliny's Nat. Hiſt. L. vi. C. 26.

He took alſo of the Seed of the Land] Of the King's Seed, as it is explained Ver. 13. i. e. Zedekiah's.

And it grew and became a ſpreading Vine of low Stature, whoſe Branches turned toward him, and the Roots thereof were under him] Tho' he flouriſhed, yet he enjoyed but a Tributary Kingdom under the King of Babylon, and acknowledged him as his lawful Sovereign; ſee Ver. 14.

There was alſo another great Eagle] Pharaoh King of Egypt, with whom Zedekiah made an Alliance; whereupon that King ſent an Army to raiſe the Siege of Jeruſalem: See 2 Chron. xxxvi. 13. Jer. xxxvii. 5.

This Vine did bend her Roots toward him, and ſhot forth her Branches toward him] Zedekiah deſired the King of Egypt's Aſſiſtance and Protection. Some render the Words thus. Shot forth her Branches under him from the Furrows where ſhe was planted, that he might water it.

It was planted in a good Soil] The Words are to the ſame Purpoſe with Ver. 5. to ſhew that Zedekiah's Condition was ſo good under the King of Babylon, that he needed not to have broke his Oath out of a Deſire to better it; whereby he involved himſelf and his Country in Ruin: See 2 Kings xxiv. 20. and Jer. xvii. 25.

Shall he not pull up the Roots thereof?] Nebuchadnezzar, in Return for this Perfidiouſneſs ſhall deſtroy him and his Family. 2 Kings xxv. 7.

Even without great Power] God will appear viſibly on the Chaldeans Side, ſo there will be no need of great Force to ſubdue their Enemies. See Jer. xxi. 4. xxxvii. 10.

Shall it not utterly wither when the Eaſt Wind toucheth it?] The Prophet compares the Chaldean Army to a parching Wind that blaſts the Fruits of the Earth, withers the Leaves of the Trees, and makes every Thing look naked and bare. See Ch. xix. 12. Iſa. xvii. 8. Jer. iv. 11. Hoſ. xiii. 15.

I will alſo take of the higheſt Branch of the higheſt Cedar, and will ſet it] The Prophet purſuing the ſame Metaphor, foretels the Reſtoration of the Royal Family of David, in ſuch Terms as might in ſome Degree be fulfilled at the Return from the Captivity when Zorobabel, of the Lineage of David, had a Shadow of Kingly Authority among the Jews, and by his Means their Church and Conſtitution were again reſtored. But the Words do more properly belong to Chriſt and his Kingdom, which ſhall be extended over all the World.

I will crop off from the young Twigs a tender one] This Deſcription may fitly be applied to our Saviour, in reſpect to the low Eſtate to which the Family of David was then reduced, with great Humility acknowledged by his Mother, Luke i. 48. The Meanneſs of his outward Condition and Appearance is repreſented by the Prophet Iſaiah, under the ſame Expreſſion, Ch. liii. 2.

CHAP. XVIII.

The Jews not puniſhed ſo much for the Sins of their Anceſtors, as their own.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came unto me again, ſaying, 2 What mean ye that ye uſe this proverb concerning the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The fathers have eaten ſoure grapes, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge? 3 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, ye ſhall not have occaſion any more to uſe this proverb in Iſrael. 4 Behold, all ſouls are mine, as the ſoul of the father, ſo alſo the ſoul of the ſon is mine: the ſoul that ſinneth, it ſhall die. 5 But if a man be juſt, and do that which is lawful and right, 6 And hath not eaten upon the mountains, neither hath lift up his eyes to the idols of the houſe of Iſrael, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath come near to a menſtruous woman, 7 And hath not oppreſſed any, but hath reſtored to the debtor his pledge, hath ſpoiled none by violence, hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment. 8 He that hath not given forth upon uſury, neither hath taken any increaſe, that hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, hath executed true judgment between man and man. 9 Hath walked in my ſtatutes, and hath kept my judgments to deal truly; he is juſt, he ſhall ſurely live, ſaith the Lord God. 10 If he beget a ſon that is a robber, a ſhedder of blood, and that doeth the like to any one of theſe things. 11 And that doeth not any of thoſe duties, but even hath eaten upon the mountains, and defiled his neighbours wife, 12 Hath oppreſſed the poor and needy, hath ſpoiled by violence, hath not reſtored the pledge, and hath lift up his eyes to the idols, hath committed abomination, 13 Hath given forth upon uſury, and hath taken increaſe: ſhall he then live? he ſhall not live: he hath done all theſe abominations, he ſhall ſurely die, his blood ſhall be upon him. 14 Now lo, if he beget a ſon that ſeeth all his fathers ſins which he hath done, and conſidereth, and doeth not ſuch like, 15 That hath not eaten upon the mountains, neither hath lift up his eyes to the idols of the houſe of Iſrael, hath not defiled his neighbours wife, 16 Neither hath oppreſſed any, hath not withholden the pledge, neither hath ſpoiled by violence, but hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment; 17 That hath taken off his hand from the poor, that hath not received uſury nor increaſe, hath executed my judgments, hath walked in my ſtatutes; he ſhall not die for the iniquity of his father, he ſhall ſurely live. 18 As for his father, becauſe he cruelly oppreſſed, ſpoiled his brother by violence, and did that which is not good among his people, lo, even he ſhall die in his iniquity. 19 Yet ſay ye, Why? doth not the ſon bear the iniquity of the father? when the ſon hath done that which is lawful and right, and hath kept all my ſtatutes, and hath done them, he ſhall ſurely live. 20 The ſoul that ſinneth, it ſhall die: the ſon ſhall not bear the iniquity of his father, neither ſhall the father bear the iniquity of the ſon; the righteouſneſs of the righteous ſhall be upon him, and the wickedneſs of the wicked ſhall be upon him. 21 But if the wicked will turn from all his ſins that he hath committed, and keep all my ſtatutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he ſhall ſurely live, he ſhall not die. 22 All his tranſgreſſions that he hath committed, they ſhall not be mentioned unto him: in his righteouſneſs that he hath done, he ſhall live. 23 Have I any pleaſure at all that the wicked ſhould die? ſaith the Lord God; and not that he ſhould return from his ways and live? 24 But when the righteous turneth away from his righteouſneſs, and committeth iniquity, and doeth according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, ſhall he live? all his righteouſneſs that he hath done ſhall not be mentioned: in his treſpaſs that he hath treſpaſſed, and in his ſin that he hath ſinned, in them ſhall he he die. 25 Yet ye ſay, The way of the Lord is not equal. Hear now, O houſe of Iſrael, Is not my way equal? are not your ways unequal? 26 When a righteous man turneth away from his righteouſneſs, and committeth iniquity, and dieth in them; for his iniquity that he hath done, ſhall he die. 27 Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedneſs that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he ſhall ſave his ſoul alive. 28 Becauſe he conſidereth, and turneth away from all his tranſgreſſions that he hath committed, he ſhall ſurely live, he ſhall not die. 29 Yet ſaith the houſe of Iſrael, the way of the Lord is not equal. O houſe of Iſrael, are not my ways equal? are not your ways unequal? 30 Therefore I will judge you, O houſe of Iſrael, every one according to his ways, ſaith the Lord God: repent and turn your ſelves from all your tranſgreſſions; ſo iniquity ſhall not be your ruin. 31 Caſt away from you all your tranſgreſſions, whereby ye have tranſgreſſed, and make you a new heart, and a new ſpirit; for why will ye die, O houſe of Iſrael? 32 For I have no pleaſure in the death of him that dieth, ſaith the Lord God; wherefore turn your ſelves, and live ye.

The Fathers have eaten ſour Grapes, and the Children's Teeth are ſet on Edge] That is, the preſent Generation is puniſhed for the Offences committed by their Forefathers, particularly for the Sins committed in the Time of Manaſſeh King of Judah: See Jer. xv. 4. xxxi. 29. Lam. v. 7. 2 Kings xxiii. 26. This Proverb had likewiſe a profane Senſe implied in it, and inſinuated that the preſent Age was not remarkably worſe than thoſe that had gone before it, and ſo did not deſerve to be made an extraordinary Example of God's Vengeance.

As I live, ſaith the Lord, ye ſhall not have Occaſion to uſe this Proverb any more in Iſrael] I will make ſuch a viſible Diſcrimination between the Righteous and the Wicked, between thoſe that tread in the Steps of their Fore-fathers, and thoſe who take Warning by their Examples, that you ſhall not have any farther Occaſion to uſe this Proverb among you. God expreſly threatens to viſit the Sins of the Fathers upon the Children both in the Old and New Teſtament; ſee Exod. xx. 5. Matthew xxiii. 35. But this is to be underſtood only with reſpect to the temporal Puniſhments of this World, (and theſe he doth not always inflict in an exact Proportion to the Demerits of thoſe that ſuffer) not with reſpect to the eternal Puniſhments of the next. See Biſhop Saunderſon's third Sermon upon 1 Kings xxi. 29. 'The Scripture takes Notice of a certain Meaſure 'of Iniquity, which is filling up from one Generation 'to another, till at laſt it makes a Nation or Family 'ripe for Deſtruction. And altho' thoſe Perſons on 'whom this Vengeance falls, ſuffer no more than 'their own perſonal Sins deſerved, yet becauſe the 'Sins of former Generations which they equal or out-'do, make it Time for God utterly to deſtroy them, 'the Puniſhments due to the Sins of many Ages and 'Generations are ſaid to fall upon them.'

The Soul that ſinneth it ſhall die] Death is the Wages of Sin, and all Men being Sinners, the Sentence of Temporal Death paſſes equally upon them all. But as Life ſignifies in general all that Happineſs which attends God's Favour, ſo Death denotes all theſe Puniſhments which are the Effects of the Divine Diſpleaſure. See 2 Sam. xii. 13. under which are comprehended the Miſeries of the next World; and theſe ſhall be allotted to Men according to their Deſerts, without any Regard to the Faults of their Anceſtors, which ſhall not then be laid to their Charge, or taken into Account to aggravate their Guilt. The Word Dying, and Death, are often uſed in the New Teſtament for the Puniſhments of the next World. See Rom. viii. 1 and they are expreſſed by the ſecond Death, Rev. xx. 1 an Expreſſion uſed among the Jews and found in th Targum upon Deut. xxxiii. 6.

As the Prophets inſtruct Men in the Practice of In ward and Evangelical Holineſs, and in order to ſpeak ſlightingly of the meer external Duties of Religion (ſee Iſa. i. 11, &c. Jer. vii. 22, 23.) So they rai Mens Minds to look beyond the temporal Promiſes an Threatnings of the Law, to the eternal Rewards an Puniſhments of another Life; ſee Iſa. lxvi. 24. Da xii. 2. In both which Reſpects they prepared Men Minds for the Reception of the Goſpel when it ſhou be revealed.

When a righteous Man turneth away from his Rig teouſneſs, &c.] It is an Opinion that prevails amon the Jews even till this Day, that at the Day of Judg ment a conſiderable Number of good Actions ſha overbalance Mens evil ones: See Ch. xxxiii. 13. they thought it a hard Caſe for a Man, who had be righteous the far greateſt Part of his Life, if he at la did commit Iniquity, that his former Righteouſne ſhould avail him nothing. In Oppoſition to th Doctrine, God here declares, that a righteous M ſinning, and not repenting, ſhould die in his Sin and that a wicked Man, upon his Repentance ſhou ſave his Soul alive.

CHAP. XIX.

Under the Parable of a Lion's Whelps, the Pr phet deſcribes the ſad Cataſtrophe of the t Kings of Judah, Jehoahaz and Jehoiakin; a under the Figure of a Vine he repreſents the D ſolation and Captivity of the whole People.

Ver. 1. MOreover, take thou up a lament tion for the princes of Iſrael. And ſay, What is thy mother? a lioneſs: ſh lay down among lions, ſhe nouriſhed her whel among young lions. 3 And ſhe brought u one of her whelps: it became a young lio and it learned to catch the prey, it devour men. 4 The nations alſo heard of him, h was taken in their pit, and they brought hi with chains unto the land of Egypt. 5 No when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had waited, and her hop was loſt, then ſhe took another of her whelp and made him a young lion. 6 And he wen up and down among the lions, he became young lion, and learned to catch the prey, an devoured men. 7 And he knew their deſola palaces, and he laid waſte their cities, and th land was deſolate, and the fulneſs thereof by th noiſe of his roaring. 8 Then the nations ſe againſt him on every ſide from the provinces and ſpread their net over him: he was taken i their pit. 9 And they put him in ward i chains, and brought him to the king of Babylon they brought him into holds, that his voic ſhould no more be heard upon the mountains o Iſrael. 10 Thy mother is like a vine in th blood, planted by the waters, ſhe was fruitfu and full of branches by reaſon of many water 11 And ſhe had ſtrong rods for the ſcepters them that bear rule, and her ſtature was exalte among the thick branches, and ſhe appeared i her height with the multitude of her branche 12 But ſhe was plucked up in fury, ſhe was ca down to the ground, and the eaſt wind dried u her fruit: her ſtrong rods were broken and w thered, the fire conſumed them. 13 And no ſhe is planted in the wilderneſs, in a dry an thirſty ground. 14 And fire is gone out of d of her branches, which hath devoured her uit, ſo that ſhe hath no ſtrong rod to be a ſcep- e to rule: this is a lamentation, and ſhall be r a lamentation.

What is thy Mother?] The Prophet propoſes a queſtion that may be applied to each Prince diſtinctly.

A Lioneſs, &c.] The Land of Judea thy native country, ſee Ver. 10. is become cruel and bloody: Compare Pſ. xxxiv. 10. Nahum ii. 11, 12. and hath taught her Princes and Rulers to govern by Cruelty and Oppreſſion. See Ch. vii. 23. xxii. 27. Jer. xxii. 17. Zeph. iii. 3.

She brought up one of her Whelps, it became a young Lion] Compare Ver. 6. This is meant of Jehoahaz who followed not the good Example of his Father Joſiah, but the evil Practices of the wicked Kings his Predeceſſors: See 2 Kings xxiii. 32.

Then ſhe took another of her Whelps] Jehoiakim was ſet up King in his Brother's Stead by the King of Egypt, who by his Victory over Joſiah had made himſelf Maſter of Judea, 2 Kings xxiii. 33, 34. But yet Pharaoh ſeems to have done this by the joint Conſent of the People, who had before ſet up Jehoiakim's younger Brother, without aſking the King of Egypt's Conſent.

He went up and down among the Lions] He learned and practiſed all the Methods of Tyranny and Oppreſſion. See Jer. xx. 13—17. xxxvii. 2.

Thy Mother is like a Vine in thy Blood] The Country of Judea, from whence the Royal Family have their Original, was like a fruitful Vine in a flouriſhing Condition. See Ch. xvii. 5, 6.

And ſhe had ſtrong Rods for the Scepters of them that bare Rule] From her ſprung ſovereign Princes, who were themſelves very powerful, and made their People conſiderable among their Neighbours. A Rod or Scepter is an Emblem of Authority. See Iſa. ix. 4. x. 5. Jer. xlviii. 17.

And now ſhe is planted in the Wilderneſs, in a dry and thirſty Land] A great Part of her People are carried Captive, where their Condition is as much different from what it was formerly, as the Condition of a Tree is when it is removed out of a rich Soil into a dry and barren Ground: The Jews ſuffered ſeveral Captivities before that final one which ended in the Deſtruction of their Temple and Government. See Dan. i. 3. 2 Kings xxiv. 12. Jer. lii. 28.

And Fire is gone out of a Rod of her Branches which hath devoured her Fruit] Zedekiah's breaking his Oath of Fealty to the King of Babylon hath been the Occaſion of the utter Deſtruction of the Royal Family, and the entire Ruin of the Government. See Ch. xvii. 18, 19. 2 Kings xxiv. 20.

CHAP. XX.

A Rehearſal of the Rebellions and Idolatries of the Jews, from their going out of Egypt to that very Day. Their Converſion and Reſtoration foretold. A Prophecy againſt Jeruſalem.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs in the ſeventh year, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, that certain of the elders of Iſrael came to enquire of the Lord, and ſat before me. 2 Then came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying, 3 Son of man, ſpeak unto the elders of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will not be enquired of by you. 4 Wilt thou judge them, ſon of man, wilt thou judge them? cauſe them to know the abominations of their fathers: 5 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the day when I choſe Iſrael, and lifted up mine hand unto the ſeed of the houſe of Jacob, and made myſelf known unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lifted up mine hand unto them, ſaying, I am the Lord your God. 6 In the day that I lifted up mine hand unto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had eſpied for them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands: 7 Then ſaid I unto them, Caſt ye away every man the abominations of his eyes, and defile not yourſelves with the idols of Egypt: I am the Lord your God. 8 But they rebelled againſt me, and would not hearken unto me: they did not every man caſt away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forſake the idols of Egypt: then I ſaid, I will pour out my fury upon them, to accompliſh my anger againſt them in the midſt of the land of Egypt. 9 But I wrought for my names ſake, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, in whoſe ſight I made myſelf known unto them, in bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt. 10 Wherefore I cauſed them to go forth out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderneſs. 11 And I gave them my ſtatutes, and ſhewed them my judgments, which if a man do, he ſhall even live in them. 12 Moreover alſo, I gave them my ſabbaths, to be a ſign between me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord that ſanctifie them. 13 But the houſe of Iſrael rebelled againſt me in the wilderneſs: they walked not in my ſtatutes, and they deſpiſed my judgments, which if a man do, he ſhall even live in them; and my ſabbaths they greatly polluted: then I ſaid, I would pour out my fury upon them in the wilderneſs to conſume them. 14 But I wrought for my nameſake, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them out. 15 Yet alſo I lifted up my hand unto them in the wilderneſs, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands: 16 Becauſe they deſpiſed my judgments, and walked not in my ſtatutes, but polluted my ſabbaths; for their heart went after their idols. 17 Nevertheleſs, mine eyes ſpared them from deſtroying them, neither did I make an end of them in the wilderneſs. 18 But I ſaid unto their children in the wilderneſs, Walk ye not in the ſtatutes of your fathers, neither obſerve their judgments, nor defile yourſelves with their idols. 19 I am the Lord your God; walk in my ſtatutes, and keep my judgments and do them: 20 And hallow my ſabbaths; and they ſhall be a ſign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God. 21 Notwithſtanding the children rebelled againſt me: they walked not in my ſtatutes, neither kept my judgments to do them, which if a man do, he ſhall even live in them; they polluted my ſabbaths: then I ſaid I would pour out my fury upon them, to accompliſh my anger againſt them in the wilderneſs. 22 Nevertheleſs I withdrew mine hand, and wrought for my names ſake, that it ſhould not be polluted in the ſight of the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them forth. 23 I lifted up mine hand unto them alſo in the wilderneſs, that I would ſcatter them among the heathen, and diſperſe them through the the countries; 24 Becauſe they had not executed my judgments, but had deſpiſed my ſtatutes, and had polluted my ſabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idols. 25 Wherefore I gave them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and judgments whereby they ſhould not live. 26 And I polluted them in their own gifts, in that they cauſed to paſs through the fire all that openeth the womb, that I might make them deſolate, to the end, that they might know that I am the Lord. 27 Therefore ſon of man, ſpeak unto the houſe of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers have blaſphemed me, in that they have committed a treſpaſs againſt me. 28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they ſaw every high hill, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their ſacrifices, and there they preſented the provocation of their offering: there alſo they made their ſweet ſavour, and poured out there their drink-offerings. 29 Then I ſaid unto them, What is the high place whereunto you go? and the name thereof is called Bamah unto this day. 30 Wherefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are ye polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye whoredom after their abominations? 31 For when ye offer your gifts, when ye make your ſons to paſs through the fire, ye pollute yourſelves with all your idols even unto this day: and ſhall I be enquired of by you, O houſe of Iſrael? As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will not be enquired of by you. 32 And that which cometh into your mind, ſhall not be at all; that ye ſay, We will be as the heathen, as the families of the countries, to ſerve wood and ſtone. 33 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, ſurely with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched out arm, and with fury poured out, will I rule over you. 34 And I will bring you out from the people, and will gather you out of the countries wherein ye are ſcattered, with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched out arm, and with fury poured out. 35 And I will bring you into the wilderneſs of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face. 36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderneſs of the land of Egypt, ſo will I plead with you, ſaith the Lord God. 37 And I will cauſe you to paſs under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant. 38 And I will purge out from among you the rebels, and them that tranſgreſs againſt me: I will bring them forth out of the country where they ſojourn, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord God, Go ye, ſerve ye every one his idols, and hereafter alſo, if ye will not hearken unto me: but pollute ye my holy name no more with your gifts, and with your idols. 40 For in mine holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, all of them in the land ſerve me; there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the firſt-fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things. 41 I will accept you with your ſweet ſavour, when I bring you out from the people, and gather you out of the countries wherein ye have been ſcattered, and will be ſanctified in you before the heathen. And ye ſhall know that I am the Lord, when ſhall bring you into the land of Iſrael, into t country, for the which I lifted up mine hand give it to your fathers. 43 And there ſhall remember your ways, and all your doing wherein ye have been defiled, and ye ſhall loa yourſelves in your own ſight, for all your ev that ye have committed. 44 And ye ſh know that I am the Lord, when I have wroug with you for my names ſake, not according your wicked ways, nor according to your co rupt doings, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lo God. 45 Moreover, the word of the Lo came unto me ſaying, 46 Son of man, ſet thy fa toward the ſouth, and drop thy word toward t ſouth, and propheſie againſt the foreſt of t ſouth field; 47 And ſay to the foreſt of t ſouth, Hear the word of the Lord, Thus ſai the Lord God, Behold I will kindle a fire thee, and it ſhall devour every green tree in th and every dry tree: the flaming flame ſhall not quenched, and all faces from the ſouth to t north ſhall be burnt therein. 48 And all fleſh ſh ſee that I the Lord have kindled it: it ſhall be quenched. 49 Then ſaid I, Ah Lord G they ſay of me, Doth he not ſpeak parables?

Wilt thou judge them?] Wilt thou plead for the as our Margin reads it, or defend their Cauſe? But Words may perhaps be more ſignificantly tranſlat Wilt thou not judge them? i. e. wilt thou not repr or condemn them? Noldius obſerves, that He, Particle of Interrogation, which anſwers the Latin P ticle An, is often equivalent to the Negative Non and is to be tranſlated, Is it not? See Ver. 30. of Chapter, and Ch. xxxviii. 17. In which Senſe it underſtood by our Tranſlators, 2 Sam. xxiii. 17. ſo it ſhould be render'd 1 Sam. ii. 27. Did I not plai appear to the Houſe of thy Father?

Which if a Man do, he ſhall even live in them] Life is meant in the Old Teſtament all that Happin which is contained in the Literal Senſe of the Pr miſes belonging to that Covenant: Compare Ver. 2 and Deut. xxx. 15, &c. Pſ. lxix. 32. Am. v. 4. U der theſe were myſtically comprehended the Promi of a better Life, wherein God will beſtow upon Servants the peculiar Marks of his Favour. See xvi. 11. Theſe Promiſes were made over to the Je upon Condition of their punctual Obedience to t whole Law, Levit. xviii. 5. xxvi. 3, &c. Deut. xx 26. And ſeveral Perſons under that Diſpenſation a ſtiled blameleſs, by reaſon of the Sincerity of their bedience, though it was not perfect or unſinning: Luke i. 6. Phil. iii. 6. But if we underſtand the for mentioned Condition in its rigorous Senſe, as an exa and unſinning Obedience, and as the Word Life co tains the Promiſe of eternal Life under it; which Pr miſe the Jews expected and hoped to obtain: Matt. xix. 16, 17. Acts xxvi. 6, 7. I ſay, the Co dition of the old Covenant thus expounded, as it w impoſſible to be performed, ſo no Perſon could l Claim to eternal Life by virtue of any Promiſe there contained. From whence St. Paul infers the Nece ſity of ſeeking to Chriſt, and laying hold of the Pr miſes of his Goſpel, for the obtaining Juſtification a eternal Life. Gal. iii. 12, 21.

Wherefore I gave them alſo Statutes that were n good, &c.] This ſome underſtand of the Ceremoni Law, as if it was given purely to be a Check and R ſtraint to that perverſe People, conſiſting of numero Rites and Obſervances, many of which had no intri ſick Goodneſs in them. But, ſays Lorath, I conce the Statutes here ſpoken of, to be of a different Natu from thoſe mentioned Ver. 11. becauſe they have quit quite contrary Character given them; therefore I take the Words to import, that God, in a juſt Judgment for their Diſobedience to his own Laws, gave them up to a reprobate Mind, and ſuffered them to walk after the idolatrous and impious Cuſtoms of the Heathens round about them. And whereas by obeying the Laws and Ordinances which he had given them they might have lived happily, Ver. 11. they became Slaves to the vile and cruel Practices of the Heathen Idolatries, ſo as to offer up their very Children in Sacrifice to Idols, to the utter Deſtruction of them and their Poſterity, Ver. 26. This will appear to be the Senſe of the Text, if we compare it with Ver. 39. and with Deut. iv. 28. xxviii. 36. Jer. xvi. 13. in which Texts God threatens them, as a Puniſhment for the Neglect of his Worſhip, to diſperſe them into Heathen Countries, and thereby deprive them of an Opportunity of ſerving him in Publick, and expoſe them to the Peril of being ſeduced to Idols. Juſt as David complains to Saul of the Hardſhip of his Exile, that it did lay him open to the Temptation of ſerving the Heathen Gods, 1 Sam. xxvi. 19.

What is the high Place whereunto ye go?] The Word Bamah ſignifies an Altar as well as an high Place; ſee Ch. xvi. 16. So the Senſe ſeems to be, What Name is this Altar called by which you frequent? meaning, it is likely, the very Altar belonging to the Temple; is it not called Bamah at this very Time? Which Word properly denotes an high Place. An evident Token that Idolatry is ſo much practiſed among you, that it hath occaſioned the changing the very Names of the Places and Things dedicated to God's Worſhip. So that inſtead of the Word Mizbeach, the Name which God appropriated to his own Altar, the Place is uſually called Bamah, a Name taken from an idolatrous Cuſtom. Or the Words may be expounded of ſome noted high Place, which the Jews frequented to perform their idolatrous Worſhip; and then the Senſe will be to this Purpoſe: What is this high Place, or Bamah, which you frequent? Who bid you call it ſo? I named my Altar Mizbeach; but this Place had its Name from the Heathen Idolatry, and it ſtill retains it.

And I will cauſe you to paſs under the Rod] I will take an exact Account of you, as a Shepherd does of his Flock, and will ſever between the Good and the Bad, between the Sheep and the Goats; ſee Ch. xxxiv. 17. The Expreſſion alludes to the Cuſtom of the Shepherds who number their Cattle by ſtriking every one of them with a Rod: See Levit. xxvii. 32. Jer. xxxiii. 13.

And I will bring you into the Bond of the Covenant] I will make you ſenſible that I have not forgotten my Promiſe to your Fathers, tho' you have forgotten your Obligations to me, and the Engagements implied in your entering in Covenant with me. The Words may be rendred, I will bring you into the Diſcipline of the Covenant; the Hebrew Words Taſar and Aſar being of promiſcuous Signification; and then the Senſe will be, I will revenge upon you the Quarrel of the Covenant, Levit. xxvi. 25. and aſſert my Authority over you, by bringing you under Chaſtiſement in order to your Correction. See Am. iii. 2.

There will I accept them, and there will I require your Offerings, and the Firſt-fruits of your Oblations] Requiring ſignifies the ſame with Accepting, by a Metonymy of the Cauſe for the Effect; juſt as Seeking is ſometimes uſed for Finding: See Iſa. lxv. 1. In the ſame Senſe God is ſaid not to require ſuch Inſtances of Worſhip in which he takes no Delight, Iſa. i. 11. Offerings ſignify in general every Thing devoted to God's Service, ſo as to comprehend Tithes under it, Numb. xviii. 21, 26. The Firſt-fruits were offered out of the Fruits of the Earth which were firſt ripe: Of this Kind was a Sheaf of the Corn which was firſt reaped. Levit. xxiii. 10. Part of the Dough which was firſt baked, Numb. xv. 20. and in general, the firſt of all the ripe Fruits. Numb. xviii. 11, 13. Compare Ch. xliv. 30. with this Text. This was computed to amount to the ſixtieth Part of the whole Produce; ſee Ezek. xlv. 13. The Prophet here expreſſes the Chriſtian Worſhip by thoſe religious Oblations which were proper to his own Time; as the other Prophets frequently deſcribe the State of the Chriſtian Church by Repreſentations taken from the Jewiſh Temple and Service. See Iſa. xix. 19. lvi. 7. lx. 7. lxvi. 23. And even the Primitive Chriſtians brought Oblations out of the Firſt-fruits of their Increaſe, for the Support of God's Miniſters and Service, out of which the Elements of the Euchariſts, and the Love-Feaſt which followed, were provided; as appears from ſeveral Teſtimonies of the antient Fathers, particularly of Irenæus, L. iv. C. 32, 34. who generally interpret thoſe Words of Chriſt, Mat. v. 23. If thou bring thy Gift to the Altar, &c. of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Drop thy Word toward the South] The Gift of Prophecy is compar'd to Rain, or the Dew of Heaven, which makes every Thing fruitful: See Deut. xxxii. 2. Such is the Benefit of ſound Doctrine wherever it is received. Compare Mic. ii. 6. Job xxix. 22, 23.

CHAP. XXI.

Under the Emblem of a ſharp Sword is foretold the Deſtruction of Judea, and particularly of Jeruſalem, and the Country of the Ammonites, by the Armies of Nebuchadnezzar.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, ſet thy face toward Jeruſalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and propheſie againſt the land of Iſrael, 3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, behold, I am againſt thee, and will draw forth my ſword out of his ſheath, and will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked. 4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword go forth out of his ſheath againſt all fleſh from the ſouth to the north: 5 That all fleſh may know that I the Lord have drawn forth my ſword out of his ſheath: it ſhall not return any more. 6 Sigh therefore, thou ſon of man, with the breaking of thy loyns; and with bitterneſs ſigh before their eyes. 7 And it ſhall be when they ſay unto thee, Wherefore ſigheſt thou? that thou ſhalt anſwer, For the tidings, becauſe it cometh: and every heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhall be feeble, and every ſpirit ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall be weak as water: behold, it cometh, and ſhall be brought to paſs, ſaith the Lord God. 8 Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 9 Son of man, propheſie and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, Say, A ſword, a ſword is ſharpened, and alſo furbiſhed. 10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, it is furbiſhed that it may glitter: ſhould we then make mirth? it contemneth the rod of my ſon, as every tree. 11 And he hath given it to be furbiſhed, that it may be handled: the ſword is ſharpened, and it is furbiſhed to give it into the hand of the ſlayer. 12 Cry and howl, ſon of man, for it ſhall be upon my people, it ſhall be upon all the princes of Iſrael: terrors, by reaſon of the ſword, ſhall be upon my people: ſmite therefore upon thy thigh. 13 Becauſe it is a trial, and what if the ſword contemn even the rod? it ſhall be no more, ſaith the Lord God. 14 Thou therefore, ſon of man, propheſie, and ſmite thine hands together, and let the ſword be doubled the third time, the ſword of the ſlain, it is the ſword of the great men that are ſlain, which entereth into their privy chamber. 15 I have ſet the point of the ſword againſt all their gates, that their heart may faint, and their ruins be multiplied: ah, it is made bright, it is wrapt up for the ſlaughter. 16 Go thee one way or other, either on the right hand, or on the left, whitherſoever thy face is ſet. 17 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and I will cauſe my fury to reſt: I the Lord have ſaid it. 18 The word of the Lord came unto me again, ſaying, 19 Alſo thou ſon of man, appoint thee two ways, that the ſword of the king of Babylon may come: both twain ſhall come forth out of one land, and chooſe thou a place, chooſe it at the head of the way to the city. 20 Appoint a way, that the ſword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Judah in Jeruſalem the defenced. 21 For the king of Babylon ſtood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to uſe divination: he made his arrows bright, he conſulted with images, he looked in the liver. 22 At his right hand was the divination for Jeruſalem to appoint captains, to open the mouth in the ſlaughter, to liſt up the voice with ſhouting, to appoint battering rams againſt the gates, to caſt a mount and to build a fort. 23 And it ſhall be unto them as a falſe divination in their ſight, to them that have ſworn oaths: but he will call to remembrance the iniquity, that they may be taken. 24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye have made your iniquity to be remembred, in that your tranſgreſſions are diſcovered, ſo that in all your doings your ſins do appear: becauſe, I ſay, that ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand. 25 And thou profane wicked prince of Iſrael, whoſe day is come, when iniquity ſhall have an end. 26 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Remove the diadem, and take off the crown: this ſhall not be the ſame, exalt him that is low, and abaſe him that is high. 27 I will overturn, overturn, overturn it, and it ſhall be no more until he comes whoſe right it is, and I will give it him. 28 And thou ſon of man, propheſie and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God concerning the Ammonites, and concerning their reproach: even ſay thou, The ſword, The ſword is drawn: for the ſlaughter it is furbiſhed, to conſume becauſe of the glittering; 29 Whiles they ſee vanity unto thee, whiles they divine a lie unto thee, to bring thee upon the necks of them that are ſlain, of the wicked whoſe day is come, when their iniquity ſhall have an end. 30 Shall I cauſe it to return into his ſheath? I will judge thee in the place where thou waſt created, in the land of thy nativity. 31 And I will pour out mine indignation upon thee, I will blow againſt thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of brutiſh men, and ſkilful to deſtroy. 32 Thou ſhalt be for fewel to the fire: thy blood ſhall be in the midſt of the land, thou ſhalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord have ſpoken it.

And will cut off from the Righteous and the Wicked] The Command given by God, Ch. ix. 6. is to ſlay Young and Old, both Maids, little Children and Women; i. e. thoſe that have not been guilty of Idolatry and the other national Sins, as well as thoſe that have. Only the few Mourners mentioned Ch. ix. 4. have a Promiſe to eſcape, God's abſolute Dominion will juſtify any temporal Calamity he thinks fit to bring upon Men; and every Man is ſo much a Sinner, that no Evil which befalls him in this World can be thought unjuſt with reſpect to God who inflicts it. But yet when God puniſhes Men immediately by himſelf, as he did in the Deſtruction of the Old World, and of Sodom, it may be expected he ſhould put a Difference between the Righteous and the Wicked; as Abraham argues with him upon this Subject, Gen. xviii. 23, 25.

It contemneth the Rod of my Son, as every Tree] It makes no Difference between the Scepter and common Wood; between the Branches of the Royal Family, deſcended from David and Solomon whom I honour'd with the Title of being my Sons, Pſ. lxxxix. 26. 2 Sam. vii. 14. and the meaneſt of the People: See Ver. 12, 25, 26, 27, and Chap. xix. 11—14.

And let the Sword be doubled the third Time] The Expreſſion may import, firſt the Slaughter made at the Siege, then thoſe that were ſlain at the taking of the City, in which Number may be reckoned the Sons of Zedekiah, as alſo the chief Prieſts and principal Officers of State, who where taken and put to Death immediately afterwards; ſee Ver. 14. and 2 Kings xxv. 7, 18, 19, 20, 21. To theſe may be added in the third Place, thoſe who were ſlain with Gedaliah, Jeremiah xli. 2, 3. But perhaps the Expreſſion, Let the Sword be doubled a third Time, may mean no more than if the Prophet had ſaid, Let the Stroke be repeated twice and thrice, i. e. oftentimes. So that Phraſe is uſed Job xxxiii. 29. All theſe Things worketh God twice and thrice with Man, where our Tranſlation very fitly expreſſes the Senſe Oftentimes. A Form of Speech much like thoſe elſewhere uſed. For three Tranſgreſſions and for four, Am. i. 3. Give a Portion to ſeven, yea alſo to eight, Eccleſ. xi. 2.

Appoint thee two Ways that the Sword of the King of Babylon may come] God foreſhews his Prophet that the King of Babylon was coming with his Army into Syria, and finding that the Ammonites had entred into a Confederacy with the King of Egypt, as well as Zedekiah, he was in doubt againſt which of the two People he ſhould firſt make War, and committed the Deciſion of this Matter to his Arts of Divination, deſcribed Ver. 21.

For the King of Babylon ſtood at the parting of the Way — to uſe Divination; he made his Arrows bright] This Way of Divining by Arrows, is thus deſcribed by St. Jerom in his Commentary upon this Place: 'They wrote on ſeveral Arrows the Names of the Cities they intended to aſſault, and then putting them all together promiſcuouſly in a Quiver, they drew them out thence as Lots are drawn; and that City whoſe Name was writ on the Arrow firſt drawn, was the City firſt made War upon.' Perhaps from this Cuſtom the Verb Hatſah or Hatſats, from whence Hets, an Arrow, is derived, comes to ſignify the parting or dividing any Thing by Lot, in which Senſe it is uſed Job xli. 6. Prov. xxx. 27.

And it ſhall be unto them as a falſe Divination in their Sight, to them that have ſworn Oaths] The King of Judea and his Courtiers will deſpiſe all theſe Preparations of War, tho' directed againſt them, as if they were grounded upon the falſe Arts of Divination; whereas it is indeed God himſelf that directs the March of the Chaldean Army, to revenge the Perjury which Zedekiah and his Counſellors were guilty of, in breaking that ſolemn Oath of Fealty which he made to the King of Babylon. See Ch. xvii. 13, 15.

I will overturn — it, and it ſhall be no more, until he come, whoſe Right it is, and I will give it him] After that Zedekiah is deprived of his Regal Authority there ſhall be no more Kings of that Family till Chriſt come, the King ſo often foretold and promiſed, who in due Time ſhall reign upon the Throne of his Father David, and of whoſe Kingdom there ſhall be no End, Luke i. 32, 33. After the Captivity, ſome of the Prieſts of the Aſmonean Race did aſſume the Stile and and Title of Kings; but they not being of the Tribe of Judah, could have no juſt Right to that Honour.

CHAP. XXII.

A Catalogue of the Sins of Jeruſalem, and of all Orders and Degrees of Men in it; for which God threatens to inflict his ſevereſt Judgments upon it.

Ver. 1. MOreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Now thou ſon of man, wilt thou judge, wilt thou judge the bloody city? yea thou ſhalt ſhew her all her abominations. 3 Then ſay thou, Thus ſaith the Lord God, The city ſheddeth blood in the midſt of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols againſt herſelf, to defile herſelf. 4 Thou art become guilty in thy blood that thou haſt ſhed, and haſt defiled thyſelf in thine idols, which thou haſt made, and thou haſt cauſed thy days to draw near, and art come even unto thy years; therefore have I made thee a reproach unto the heathen, and a mocking to all countries. 5 Thoſe that be near, and thoſe that be far from thee, ſhall mock thee, which art infamous, and much vexed. 6 Behold, the princes of Iſrael, every one were in thee to their power to ſhed blood. 7 In thee have they ſet light by father and mother: in the midſt of thee have they dealt by oppreſſion with the ſtranger: in thee have they vexed the fatherleſs and the widow. 8 Thou haſt deſpiſed mine holy things, and haſt profaned my ſabbaths. 9 In thee are men that carry tales to ſhed blood: and in thee they eat upon the mountains; in the midſt of thee they commit lewdneſs. 10 In thee have they diſcovered their fathers nakedneſs: in thee have they humbled her that was ſet apart for pollution. 11 And one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and another hath lewdly defiled his daughter-in-law, and another in thee hath humbled his ſiſter, his fathers daughter. 12 In thee have they taken gifts to ſhed blood: thou haſt taken uſury and increaſe, and thou haſt greedily gained of thy neighbours by extortion, and haſt forgotten me, ſaith the Lord God. 13 Behold therefore I have ſmitten mine hand at thy diſhoneſt gain which thou haſt made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midſt of thee. 14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be ſtrong in the days that I ſhall deal with thee? I the Lord have ſpoken it, and will do it. 15 And I will ſcatter thee among the heathen, and diſperſe thee in the countries, and will conſume thy filthineſs out of thee. 16 And thou ſhalt take thine inheritance in thyſelf in the ſight of the heathen, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord. 17 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 18 Son of man, the houſe of Iſrael is to me become droſs, all they are braſs, and tin, and iron, and lead, in the midſt of the furnace, they are even the droſs of ſilver. 19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, becauſe ye are all become droſs; behold therefore I will gather you into the midſt of Jeruſalem. 20 As they gather ſilver, and braſs, and iron, and lead, and tin into the midſt of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it; ſo will I gather you in mine anger, and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you. 21 Yea, I will gather you, and blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, and ye ſhall be melted in the midſt thereof. 22 As ſilver is melted in the midſt of the furnace, ſo ſhall ye be melted in the midſt thereof; and ye ſhall know that I the Lord have poured out my fury upon you. 23 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 24 Son of man, ſay unto her, Thou art the land that is not cleanſed, nor rained upon in the day of indignation. 25 There is a conſpiracy of her prophets in the midſt thereof like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they have devoured ſouls: they have taken the treaſure and precious things: they have made her many widows in the midſt thereof. 26 Her prieſts have violated my law, and have profaned mine holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they ſhewed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my ſabbaths, and I am profaned among them. 27 Her princes in the midſt thereof are like wolves ravening the prey, to ſhed blood, and to deſtroy ſouls, to get diſhoneſt gain. 28 And her prophets have daubed them with untempered mortar, ſeeing vanity, and divining lies unto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God, when the Lord hath not ſpoken. 29 The people of the land have uſed oppreſſion, and exerciſed robbery, and have vexed the poor and needy: yea, they have oppreſſed the ſtranger wrongfully. 30 And I ſought for a man among them, that ſhould make up the hedge, and ſtand in the gap before me for the land that I ſhould not deſtroy it: but I found none. 31 Therefore have I poured out mine indignation upon them, I have conſumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way have I recompenſed upon their heads, ſaith the Lord God.

In thee have they diſcovered their Fathers Nakedneſs] Took their Mother-in-law to Wife, which St. Paul calls ſuch Fornication as is not named among the Gentiles, 1 Cor. v. 1.

And thou ſhalt take thine Inheritance to thyſelf in the Sight of the Heathen] Inſtead of being mine Inheritance, and under my peculiar Care and Protection, thou ſhalt be caſt out among the Heathen, and there eat the Fruit of thine own Ways, and receive the juſt Reward of thy Wickedneſs. The Margin of our Bibles reads, Thou ſhalt be prophaned in thyſelf, &c. Which I think, ſays Lowth, expreſſes the Senſe much better; taking the Verb Nihal in the ſame Senſe wherein it is uſed Ch. vii. 24. of this Prophecy, i. e. Thou ſhalt no longer enjoy the Privileges of a City called by my Name, and ſet apart for my Reſidence, but ſhalt be laid open as common Ground, to be profaned by Infidels.

Thou art the Land that is not cleanſed nor rained upon, in the Day of Indignation] God had in the foregoing Verſes compared his Anger to Fire; in purſuance of which Metaphor he adds, That if the wholeſome Advice, and Admonition of the Prophets, (compared to the Dew or Rain coming from Heaven, Ch. xx. 46.) had been but duly received, they would have ſupplied the Place of Rain, and waſhed away the Filth of the Land: So that it needed not to have been purged or cleanſed by Fire. The Chaldee Paraphraſe expounds the Senſe, Thou art the Land in which there have been no good Works done, to protect it in the Day of God's Curſe or Indignation.

And I ſought for a Man among them that ſhould make up the Hedge — but I found none] This general Complaint may be expounded with ſome Reſtriction, ſuch as is commonly underſtood in unlimited Expreſſions.

For we read Ch. x. 4. that there were ſome that did ſigh and cry to God, by way of deprecating his Wrath, for the Abominations done in Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XXIII.

The Idolatries of Samaria and Jeruſalem are repreſented under the Metaphor of the lewd Practices of two common Harlots: For which Crimes God denounces ſevere Judgments againſt them both.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came again unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, there were two women the daughters of one mother. 3 And they committed whoredoms in Egypt, they committed whoredoms in their youth: there were their breaſts preſſed, and there they bruiſed the teats of their virginity. 4 And the names of them were, Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: and they were mine, and they bare ſons and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Jeruſalem Aholibah. 5 And Aholah played the harlot when ſhe was mine, and ſhe doated on her lovers, on the Aſſyrians her neighbours. 6 Which were clothed with blue, captains and rulers, all of them deſirable young men, horſemen riding upon horſes. 7 Thus ſhe committed her whoredoms with them, with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſyria, and with all on whom ſhe doated, with all their idols ſhe defiled herſelf. 8 Neither left ſhe her whoredoms brought from Egypt: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruiſed the breaſts of her virginity, and poured their whoredom upon her. 9 Wherefore I have delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the Aſſyrians, upon whom ſhe doated. 10 Theſe diſcovered her nakedneſs, they took her ſons and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſword: and ſhe became famous among women, for they had executed judgment upon her. 11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſaw this, ſhe was more corrupt in her inordinate love than ſhe, and in her whoredoms more than her ſiſter in her whoredoms. 12 She doated upon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, captains and rulers, clothed moſt gorgeouſly, horſemen riding upon horſes, all of them deſireable young men. 13 Then I ſaw that ſhe was defiled, that they took both one way, 14 And that ſhe increaſed her whoredoms: for when ſhe ſaw men pourtrayed upon the wall, the images of the Chaldeans pourtrayed with vermillion, 15 Girded with girdles upon their loins, exceeding in dyed attire upon their heads, all of them princes to look to, after the manner of the Babylonians of Chaldea, the land of their nativity: 16 And aſſoon as ſhe ſaw them with her eyes, ſhe doated upon them, and ſent meſſengers unto them into Chaldea. 17 And the Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, and they defiled her with their whoredom: and ſhe was polluted with them, and her mind was alienated from them. 18 So ſhe diſcovered her whoredoms, and diſcovered her nakedneſs: then my mind was alienated from her, like as my mind was alienated from her ſiſter. 19 Yet ſhe multiplied her whoredoms, in calling to remembrance the days of her youth, wherein ſhe had played the harlot in the land of Egypt. 20 For ſhe doated upon their paramours, whoſe fleſh is as the fleſh of aſſes, and whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes. 21 Thus thou calledſt to remembrance the lewdneſs of thy youth, in bruiſing thy teats by the Egyptians, for the paps of thy youth. 22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will raiſe up thy lovers againſt thee, from whom thy mind is alienated, and I will bring them againſt thee on every ſide; 23 The Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, Pekod, and Shoa, and Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: all of them deſirable young men, captains and rulers, great lords and renowned, all of them riding upon horſes. 24 And they ſhall come againſt thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with an aſſembly of people, which ſhall ſet againſt thee buckler, and ſhield, and helmet round about: and I will ſet judgment before them, and they ſhall judge thee according to their judgments. 25 And I will ſet my jealouſy againſt thee, and they ſhall deal furiouſly with thee: they ſhall take away thy noſe, and thine ears, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſword: they ſhall take thy ſons and thy daughters, and thy reſidue ſhall be devoured by the fire. 26 They ſhall alſo ſtrip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fair jewels. 27 Thus will I make thy lewdneſs to ceaſe from thee, and thy whoredom brought from the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more. 28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them whom thou hateſt, into the hand of them from whom thy mind is alienated. 29 And they ſhall deal with thee hatefully, and ſhall take away all thy labour, and ſhall leave thee naked and bare, and the nakedneſs of thy whoredoms ſhall be diſcovered, both thy lewdneſs and thy whoredoms. 30 I will do theſe things unto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after the heathen, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idols. 31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter, therefore will I give her cup into thine hand. 32 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Thou ſhalt drink of thy ſiſters cup deep and large: thou ſhalt be laughed to ſcorn, and had in deriſion; it containeth much. 33 Thou ſhalt be filled with drunkenneſs and ſorrow, with the cup of aſtoniſhment and deſolation, with the cup of thy ſiſter Samaria. 34 Thou ſhalt even drink it and ſuck it out, and thou ſhalt break the ſherds thereof, and pluck off thine own breaſts, for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God. 35 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and caſt me behind thy back, therefore bear thou alſo thy lewdneſs, and thy whoredoms. 36 The Lord ſaid moreover unto me, Son of man, wilt thou judge Aholah and Aholibah? yea, declare unto them their abominations; 37 That they have committed adultery, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery, and have alſo caſued their ſons whom they bare unto me, to paſs for them through the fire to devour them. 38 Moreover, this they have done unto me: they have defiled my ſanctuary in the ſame day, and have profaned my ſabbaths. 39 For when they had ſlain their children to their idols, then they came the ſame day into my ſanctuary to profane it; and lo, thus have they done in the midſt of mine houſe. 40 And furthermore, that ye have ſent for men to come from far, unto whom a meſſenger was ſent, and lo, they came, for whom thou didſt waſh thyſelf, paintedſt thy eyes, and deckedſt thyſelf with ornaments, 41 And ſatteſt upon a ſtately bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou haſt ſet mine incenſe and mine oil. 42 And a voice of a multitude being at eaſe was with her, and with the men of the common ſort were brought Sabeans from the wilderneſs, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautiful crowns upon their heads. 43 Then ſaid I unto her that was old in adulteries, Will they now commit whoredoms with her, and ſhe with them? 44 Yet they went in unto her, as they go in unto a woman that playeth the harlot: ſo went they in unto Aholah and unto Aholibah the lewd women. 45 And the righteous men, they ſhall judge them after the manner of adultereſſes, and after the manner of women that ſhed blood; becauſe they are adultereſſes, and blood is in their hands. 46 For thus ſaith the Lord God, I will bring up a company upon them, and will give them to be removed and ſpoiled. 47 And the company ſhall ſtone them with ſtones, and diſpatch them with their ſwords; they ſhall ſlay their ſons and their daughters, and burn up their houſes with fire. 48 Thus will I cauſe lewdneſs to ceaſe out of the land, that all women may be taught not to do after your lewdneſs. 49 And they ſhall recompenſe your lewdneſs upon you, and ye ſhall bear the ſins of your idols: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

There were two Women, the Daughters of one Mother] Countries are commonly repreſented as Mothers of their People, and the Inhabitants as their Children: So the Daughters of Syria ſignify the Inhabitants of that Country, Ch. xvi. 57. Thus Samaria and Jeruſalem are deſcribed in this Chapter as Siſters, the Offſpring of the ſame Land or Country. Compare Ch. xvi. 46. Jer. iii. 7, 8, 10.

They committed Whoredoms in their Youth] The Time when the Iſraelites were in Egypt, or when they were lately departed out of it, is called their Youth in the Prophets, becauſe that is the Time when God firſt owned them for his People. See Ver. 8, 19. Ch. xvi. 8, 22, 60. Jer. ii. 11. Hoſ. ii. 15.

There were their Breaſts preſſed] There they ſerved Idols, and there they corrupted their Ways, as the Chaldee Paraphraſe expreſſes the Senſe. The Scripture commonly calls idolatrous Churches and Nations by the Name of Harlots; and in like manner honours thoſe who preſerve their Allegiance to God pure and undefiled, with the Title of Chaſte Wives, or Virgins. See 2 Cor. xi. 2. Rev. xix. 7. xxi. 2. xiv. 4.

And the Names of them were Aholah the Elder, and Aholibah her Siſter — Samaria is Aholah, and Jeruſalem Aholibah] The Word Aholah, ſignifies, Her Tent, or Tabernacle; Aholibah My Tent, or Tabernacle is in her. Theſe two different Appellations imply, that Samaria had indeed a Tabernacle or Place for publick Worſhip, but of her own Deviſing, viz. the Cities of Dan and Bethel, where the Golden Calves were ſet up, whereas God's Tabernacle firſt, and afterwards his Temple was placed in Jeruſalem. He placed his Name there, i. e. choſe it for the Place of his peculiar Reſidence, 1 Kings viii. 29. Why Aholah is called her elder Siſter, ſee Note on Ch. xvi. 46.

And ſhe doated on her Lovers] That is, her foreign Allies, whoſe Idolatries ſhe was fond of, and hoped by that Means to procure their Friendſhip and Aſſiſtance. See Ch. xvi. 33, 37.

And her Mind was alienated from them] She quickly grew weary of theſe too, as lewd Women are of their former Gallants, and look out for new ones. She broke her League and Covenant with them, as St. Jerom very well expreſſes the Senſe; meaning the Covenant which Jehoiakim made with Nebuchadnezzar to be his Tributary. Compare Ver. 16, 22, 28. and was afterward renewed by Zedekiah: See Ch. xvii. 15.

For ſhe doated upon her Paramours] Upon the Idols of Egypt, and the impure Rites which accompany their idolatrous Worſhip: See Ch. xvi. 26. This may relate to the Time when Zedekiah enter'd into a new Confederacy with Egypt, ſee Ver. 21. and Ch. xvii. 15. which made the People fond of admitting the Egyptian Idolatries.

The Babylonians and all the Chaldeans, Pekod, and Shoa, and Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them] The Inhabitants of the ſeveral Provinces of the Babyloniſh Monarchy. Pekod is mentioned as a Province of Babylon, Jer. l. 21. St. Jerom upon the Place underſtands theſe three Words, Pekod, Shoa, and Koa, in an Appellative Senſe, to denote ſo many Titles or Degrees of Honour, as much as to ſay, Governors, Princes, and great Men. In which Senſe the two former Words Pekod, (or Pekud) and Shoa, are confeſſedly taken in Scripture; and Koa is ſuppoſed to be derived from the Verb Kaâng, which ſignifies printing Marks in the Fleſh, Levit. xix. 28. And it was the Cuſtom of great Men to diſtinguiſh themſelves from their Inferiors by ſuch Marks or Prints.

And they ſhall take away thy Noſe and thy Ears, &c.] As Huſbands in that Caſe render thoſe Women deformed, whoſe Beauty hath been too pleaſing to Strangers; ſo ſhall the Chaldeans deface all the Glories and Ornaments of Jeruſalem, and after they have ſlain and carried Captive its Inhabitants, ſhall ſet the City on Fire, and reduce it to an Heap of Aſhes. Compare Ch. xvi. 41.

Thou ſhalt even drink it, and ſuck it out] The ſoreſt and heavieſt of God's Judgments ſhall fall to thy Share; like thoſe that drink a Potion off to the Bottom, where the moſt nauſeous Part of it is ſetled. See Pſ. lxxv. 8. Jer. li. 17.

And ſatteſt upon a ſtately Bed, and a Table prepared before it] The Expreſſions denote their ſitting down with Idolaters, and partaking of their Sacrifices: The Words Altar and Table are uſed promiſcuouſly in the Prophets: See Mal. i. 7. becauſe all Sacrifices were Feaſts made of Offerings dedicated to God's Service; ſo that he was properly the Entertainer, and thoſe that did partake of the Sacrifices were his Gueſts that did eat at his Table, in Token of being in Covenant and Friendſhip with him. What was conſumed upon the Altar, was God's Meſs or Portion, and is therefore called the Bread of God (ſee Ch. xliv. 7. Levit. xxi. 6.) and the Food of the Lord, ibid. Ch. iii. 11. The Remainder of the Sacrifices his Gueſts were entertained with, either by themſelves, as in Peace-offerings, or elſe by their Proxies the Prieſts, as in Sin-offerings. The Jews as well as the Romans lying upon Beds or Couches at their Meals. See Iſa. lvii. 7. So did other Eaſtern Nations. See Eſth. i. 6.

And the righteous Men they ſhall judge them] By righteous or juſt Men ſome underſtand the Babylonians, who, tho' a wicked and idolatrous People, were the Executioners of God's Juſtice upon a Nation that had ſinned againſt a clearer Light and greater Convictions. So Nebuchadnezzar and other Heathen Princes are called God's Servants, as being Inſtruments of his Providence. But the Expreſſion may in a more proper Senſe be underſtood of the Prophets who foretold the Judgments God would inflict upon Samaria and Jeruſalem; ſuch as Hoſea, Amos, Jeremiah, &c. The Prophets are ſaid to execute thoſe Judgments which they foretel: So Ezekiel ſaith of himſelf, that he was ſent to deſtroy the City; Ch. xliii. 3. i. e. to propheſy its Deſtruction. To the ſame Senſe we read Hoſ. vi. 5. I have hewed them by my Prophets, I have ſlain them by the Words of my Mouth.

CHAP. XXIV.

By the Figure of a boiling Pot is ſhewed the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem and its Inhabitants; and by Ezekiel's being forbidden to mourn for his Wife, is ſignified that the Calamities of the Jews ſhould be ſo aſtoniſhing as to be beyond all Expreſſions of Sorrow.

Ver. 1. AGain in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, Write thee the name of the day, even of this ſame day: the king of Babylon ſet himſelf againſt Jeruſalem this ſame day. 3 And utter a parable unto the rebellious houſe, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Set on a pot, ſet it on, and alſo pour water into it. 4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, the thigh, and the ſhoulder, fill it with the choice bones. 5 Take the choice of the flock, and burn alſo the bones under it, and make it boil well, and let them ſeethe the bones of it therein. 6 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Wo to the bloody city, to the pot whoſe ſcum is therein, and whoſe ſcum is not gone out of it; bring it out piece by piece, let no lot fall upon it. 7 For her blood is in the midſt of her, ſhe ſet it upon the top of a rock, ſhe poured it not upon the ground to cover it with duſt: 8 That it might cauſe fury to come up to take vengeance: I have ſet her blood upon the top of a rock, that it ſhould not be covered. 9 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Wo to the bloody city, I will even make the pile for fire great. 10 Heap on wood, kindle the fire, conſume the fleſh, and ſpice it well, and let the bones be burnt. 11 Then ſet it empty upon the coals thereof, that the braſs of it may be hot, and may burn, and that the filthineſs of it may be molten in it, that the ſcum of it may be conſumed. 12 She hath wearied herſelf with lies, and her great ſcum went not forth out of her: her ſcum ſhall be in the fire. 13 In thy filthineſs is lewdneſs: becauſe I have purged thee, and thou waſt not purged, thou ſhalt not be purged from thy filthineſs any more, till I have cauſed my fury to reſt upon thee. 14 I the Lord have ſpoken it, it ſhall come to paſs, and I will do it, I will not go back, neither will I ſpare, neither will I repent; according to thy ways, and according to thy doings ſhall they judge thee, ſaith the Lord God. 15 Alſo the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 16 Son of man, behold, I take away from thee the deſire of thine eyes with a ſtroke: yet neither ſhalt thou mourn nor weep, neither ſhall thy tears run down. 17 Forbear to cry, make no mourning for the dead, bind the tire of thine head upon thee, and put on thy ſhoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy lips, and eat not the bread of men. 18 So I ſpake unto the people in the morning, and at even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded. 19 And the people ſaid unto me, Wilt thou not tell us what theſe things are to us, that thou doeſt ſo? 20 Then I anſwered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 21 Speak unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will profane my ſanctuary, the excellency of your ſtrength, the deſire of your eyes, and that which your ſoul pitieth; and your ſons and your daughters whom ye have left ſhall fall by the ſword. 22 And ye ſhall do as I have done: ye ſhall not cover your lips, nor eat the bread of men. 23 And your tires ſhall be upon your heads, and your ſhoes upon your feet: ye ſhall not mourn nor weep, but ye ſhall pine away for your iniquities, and mourn one towards another. 24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a ſign: according to all that he hath done ſhall ye do: and when this cometh, ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God. 25 Alſo thou ſon of man, ſhall it not be in the day when I take from them their ſtrength, the joy of their glory, the deſire of their eyes, and that whereupon they ſet their minds, their ſons and their daughters; 26 that he that eſcapeth in that day, ſhall come unto thee, to cauſe thee to hear it with thine ears? 27 In that day ſhall thy mouth be opened to him which is eſcaped, and thou ſhalt ſpeak and be no more dumb, and thou ſhalt be a ſign unto them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Set on a Pot, ſet it on, &c.] The Deſtruction of Jeruſalem is repreſented by a boiling Pot or Caldron both by Jeremiah, Ch. i. 13. and by Ezekiel, Ch. xi. 3.

Gather the Pieces into it, even every good Piece, &c.] Meaning the chief of the Citizens, who ſhould be deſtroyed together with the City. See Ch. xi. 3.

Take the Choice of the Flock] This belongs in Senſe to the former Verſe; to this Senſe the LXX tranſlate the Words, joining them with the foregoing Sentence, With the choice Bones taken out of the Flock.

Burn alſo the Bones under it] The Bones of thoſe who have been unjuſtly ſlain in the Midſt of the City. See Ch. xi. 7. whoſe Blood cries for Vengeance againſt it, and kindles God's Anger like Fire.

Bring it out Piece by Piece] The principal Men of the City (ſee Ver. 4.) ſhall be carried out of the City by the Chaldeans, and afterwards ſlain: See Ch. xi. 7, 9.

Let no Lot fall upon it] Conquerors uſed to caſt Lots what Share of the Vanquiſhed they would have. See 2 Sam. viii. 2. Joel iii. 3. Nah. iii. 10. Here there will be no Uſe of Lots, for all the principal Inhabitants ſhall be ſlain: See Jer. xxxix. 6.

She ſet it upon the Top of a Rock] In a preſumptuous Manner, and with a high Hand ſhe ſhed it, as the Chaldee Paraphraſe expreſſes the Senſe: She was impudent and barefaced in her Cruelties. She did not ſeek to cover or excuſe them.

She poured it not upon the Ground, to cover it with Duſt] The Words allude to the Command of the Law, Levit. xvii. 13. that they cover the Blood of any Beaſt, or other living Creature which was ſlain, with Duſt; which Precept was intended not only to prevent their eating of Blood, but alſo to give Men a Sort of Horror or Averſion to the Sight of Bloodſhed.

Spice it well] The Expreſſion imports, that the Chaldeans ſhall be as much ſet upon deſtroying the City and Inhabitants, as hungry People are greedy of devouring Meat well ſpiced and dreſſed.

And let the Bones be burnt] The Words denote an utter Deſtruction, that the Fire ſhall be ſo fierce as to conſume the very Bones as well as the Fleſh put into the Caldron.

Then ſet it empty upon the Coals thereof, &c.] After an entire Riddance of the Inhabitants, the City itſelf ſhall be ſet on Fire, and the Place and its Wickedneſs be conſumed together in the Flames.

And her great Scum went not forth out of her, &c.] All the Admonitions I gave her by my Prophets availed nothing to the purging her from her Idolatries and other Wickedneſs; ſo that the Fire muſt now conſume her and her Sins.

Bi

Bind the Tire of thine Head upon thee] Uſe the ordinary Dreſs upon thine Head; whereas in the Time of Mourning it was cuſtomary ſometimes to ſhave the Head. See Levit. xiii. 45. Jer. vii. 29. xvi. 6. Sometimes to caſt Duſt upon it: See Joſh. vii. 6. 1 Sam. iv. 12. The Prieſts were particularly forbid to caſt Duſt upon their Heads in the Time of Mourning: See Lev. x. 6.

And eat not the Bread of Men] Partake not of the Mourning Feaſts that Relations uſed to prepare for the Funerals of their Friends. Such were the Περίδειπνα, and Parentalia among the Greeks and Romans.

Ye ſhall not mourn nor weep] Theſe terrible Judgments ſhall ſtrike you with Aſtoniſhment, and ſuch a Grief as is not to be expreſſed by Words or Actions; according to the Verſe of the Poet, Curæ leves loquuntur, ingentes ſtupent.

Small Evils make us complain, the greater ſtrike us dumb.

CHAP. XXV.

The Prophet pronounces God's Judgments againſt the Ammonites, Edomites, and Philiſtines, for their Hatred againſt the Jews, and inſulting over them in the Time of their Diſtreſs.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came again unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt the Ammonites, and propheſy againſt them; 3 And ſay unto the Ammonites, Hear the word of the Lord God, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou ſaidſt, Aha, againſt my ſanctuary, when it was profaned, and againſt the land of Iſrael, when it was deſolate, and againſt the houſe of Judah, when they went into captivity; 4 Behold therefore, I will deliver thee to the men of the eaſt for a poſſeſſion, and they ſhall ſet their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they ſhall eat thy fruit, and they ſhall drink thy milk. 5 And I will make Rabbah a ſtable for camels, and the Ammonites a couching-place for flocks: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 6 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou haſt clapped thine hands, and ſtamped with the feet, and rejoiced in heart with all thy deſpite againſt the land of Iſrael: 7 Behold therefore I will ſtretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee for a ſpoil to the heathen, and I will cut thee off from the people, and I will cauſe thee to periſh out of the countries: I will deſtroy thee, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord. 8 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe that Moab and Seir do ſay, Behold, the houſe of Judah is like unto all the heathen: 9 Therefore behold, I will open the ſide of Moab from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country Bethjeſhimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim, 10 Unto the men of the eaſt with the Ammonites, and will give them in poſſeſſion, that the Ammonites may not be remembred among the nations. 11 And I will execute judgments upon Moab, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord. 12 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe that Edom hath dealt againſt the houſe of Judah, by taking vengeance, and hath greatly offended, and revenged himſelf upon them: 13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo ſtretch out mine hand upon Edom, and will cut off man and beaſt from it, and I will make it deſolate from Teman, and they of Dedan ſhall fall by the ſword. 14 And I will lay my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Iſrael, and they ſhall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to my fury, and they ſhall know my vengeance, ſaith the Lord God. 15 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe the Philiſtines have dealt by revenge, and have taken vengeance with a deſpiteful heart, to deſtroy it for the old hatred; 16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will ſtretch out mine hand upon the Philiſtines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and deſtroy the remnant of the ſea-coaſt. 17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with furious rebukes; and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall lay my vengeance upon them.

I will deliver thee to the Men of the Eaſt for a Poſſeſſion] By the Men of the Eaſt muſt be meant the Chaldeans: See Ch. xxi. 19, 20. Ammon is likewiſe reckoned among theſe Countries, which God foretold by Jeremy ſhould be delivered into the Hands of the King of Babylon, Jer. xxv. 21. By the Eaſt Country is commonly meant Arabia in Scripture; ſee Iſa. xi. 14. But Syria and Chaldea, and the Countries beyond it, are likewiſe called the Eaſt: See Numb. xxiii. 7. Iſa. ii. 6. Gen. xi. 2. Chaldea indeed lay Northward of Judea and the adjacent Countries; ſee Ch. l. 4. but withal lying with a Point towards the Eaſt, the Chaldeans and their Confederates may not improperly be reckoned among the Men of the Eaſt; juſt as Cyrus is ſometimes deſcribed as coming from the Eaſt, and ſometimes from the North, Iſa. xli. 25. with reſpect to his Forces, that conſiſted both of Medes that lay Northward, and Perſians that lay Eaſtward of Babylon.

And I will lay my Vengeance upon Edom by the Hand of my People Iſrael] The Jews themſelves, whom the Edomites have ſo often inſulted, ſhall be the Inſtruments of my Vengeance upon Edom, and ſhall requite the Wrongs they have received by ſubduing Idumea, which they did under the Conduct of Judas Maccabeus: See 1 Macc. v. 3. 2 Macc. x. 16, 17. Compare Jer. xlix. 2. And afterward the High Prieſt Hircanus, made an entire Conqueſt of the Country.

CHAP. XXVI.

The Prophet foretels the Deſtruction of Tyre by Nebuchadnezzar.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs in the eleventh year, in the firſt day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, becauſe that Tyrus hath ſaid againſt Jeruſalem, Aha, ſhe is broken that was the gates of the people: ſhe is turned unto me, I ſhall be repleniſhed, now ſhe is laid waſte: 3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt thee, O Tyrus, and will cauſe many nations to come up againſt thee, as the ſea cauſeth his waves to come up. 4 And they ſhall deſtroy the walls of Tyrus, and break down her towers: I will alſo ſcrape her duſt from her, and make her like the top of a rock. 5 It ſhall be a place for the ſpreading of nets in the midſt of the ſea: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God, and it ſhall become a ſpoil to the nations. 6 And her daughters which are in the field ſhall be ſlain by the ſword, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord. 7 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring upon Tyrus Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, a king of kings, from the north, with horſes, and with chariots, and with horſemen, and companies, and much people. 8 He ſhall ſlay with the ſword thy daughdaughters in the field, and he ſhall make a fort againſt thee, and caſt a mount againſt thee, and lift up the buckler againſt thee. 9 And he ſhall ſet engines of war againſt thy walls, and with his axes he ſhall break down thy towers. 10 By reaſon of the abundance of his horſes, their duſt ſhall cover thee, thy walls ſhall ſhake at the noiſe of the horſemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he ſhall enter into thy gates, as men enter into a city wherein is made a breach. 11 With the hoofs of his horſes ſhall he tread down all thy ſtreets; he ſhall ſlay thy people by the ſword, and thy ſtrong gariſons ſhall go down to the ground. 12 And they ſhall make a ſpoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandiſe, and they ſhall break down thy walls, and deſtroy thy pleaſant houſes, and they ſhall lay thy ſtones, and thy timber, and thy duſt in the midſt of the water. 13 And I will cauſe the noiſe of thy ſongs to ceaſe, and the ſound of thy harps ſhall be no more heard. 14 And I will make thee like the top of a rock: thou ſhalt be a place to ſpread nets upon: thou ſhalt be built no more: for I the Lord have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God. 15 Thus ſaith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the iſles ſhake at the ſound of thy fall, when the wounded cry, when the ſlaughter is made in the midſt of thee? 16 Then all the princes of the ſea ſhall come down from their thrones, and lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments: they ſhall cloath themſelves with trembling, they ſhall ſit upon the ground, and ſhall tremble at every moment, and be aſtoniſhed at thee. 17 And they ſhall take up a lamentation for thee, and ſay to thee, How art thou deſtroyed that waſt inhabited of ſea-faring men, the renowned city which waſt ſtrong in the ſea, ſhe and her inhabitants, which cauſe their terror to be on all that haunt it? 18 Now ſhall the iſles tremble in the day of thy fall, yea, the iſles that are in the ſea ſhall be troubled at thy departure. 19 For thus ſaith the Lord God, When I ſhall make thee a deſolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited, when I ſhall bring up the deep upon thee, and great waters ſhall cover thee; 20 When I ſhall bring thee down, with them that deſcend into the pit, with the people of old time, and ſhall ſet thee in the low parts of the earth, in places deſolate of old, with them that go down to the pit, that thou be not inhabited, and I ſhall ſet glory in the land of the living: 21 I will make thee a terror, and thou ſhalt be no more: though thou be ſought for, yet ſhalt thou never be found again, ſaith the Lord God.

In the eleventh Year, on the firſt Day of the Month] The particular Month not being named, ſome ſupply the Word fifth (as the Word fourth is ſupplied, 2 Kings xxv. 3.) and underſtand it of the Month following the taking of Jeruſalem, at whoſe Deſolation Tyre rejoiced, Ver. 2. But as Archbiſhop Uſher obſerves, ad A. M. 3416. the fifth Month belongs to the twelfth Year of Jehoiakim's Captivity. So we may more probably underſtand the Expreſſion of the firſt Month of the Year: As the Year of Evil-Merodach's Reign, 2 Kings xxv. 27. is rightly underſtood by our Interpreters to be the Year when he began to reign; ſo the tenth Day of the Month is neceſſarily to be underſtood of the firſt Month, Ch. xl. 1. of this Propheſy. And the Inhabitants of Tyre may very well be ſuppoſed to inſult over Jeruſalem at any Part of the Time of her Siege, which they ſaw muſt inevitably end in the taking of that City.

I ſhall be repleniſhed now ſhe is laid waſte] Tyre was a noted Market for all Sorts of Trade: So when Jeruſalem was taken and ſacked, the Spoil of the City was carried thither for Sale, and probably ſeveral of the Inhabitants being made Captives, were ſold there for Slaves, a Traffick the Tyrians dealt in very much, Ch. xxvii. 13. This Interpretation may be confirmed by comparing it with Joel iii. 4, 5, 6, where the Prophet upbraids the Tyrians for making Merchandize both of the Perſons and Subſtance of the Jews that they came into their Hands. To the ſame Purpoſe we read Macc. iii. 41. that when Lyſias came with great Forces to ſubdue the Jews, the Merchants of the Country took Silver and Gold, and came into the Camp, to buy the Children of Iſrael for Slaves.

I will ſcrape her Duſt from her, and make her like the Top of a Rock. It ſhall be a Place for the ſpreading of Nets in the Midſt of the Sea] I will make an entire Riddance of her Buildings, ſo that not ſo much as any Duſt or Rubbiſh of them ſhall be left; (compare Ver. 12.) and nothing ſhall be ſeen but the Rock upon the Sea-ſhore, in the Place where the City formerly ſtood. Nebuchadnezzar quite demoliſhed Old Tyre, and the Stones and Rubbiſh were afterward made uſe by Alexander to carry on a Cauſey from the Continent to the Iſland where New Tyre ſtood, by which Means he took that. This latter City is ſince ſo decayed, that there are no Remains of it left, but a few Huts for Fiſhermen to hang out their Nets a drying upon the Rocks, as is related by Travellers that have been upon the Place.

I will make thee like the Top of a Rock, thou ſhalt be built no more] This Part of the Propheſy was fulfilled upon New Tyre, whoſe Inhabitants were quite deſtroyed by Alexander when he took the City, and afterward the City itſelf became deſolate; ſee Ver. 5.

When I ſhall ſet Glory in the Land of the Living] Compare this and the following Verſe with Ch. xxxv. 14. When I ſhall reſtore other Cities conquered by the King of Babylon, to that flouriſhing Condition they formerly enjoyed among the Inhabitants of this World; ſo the Land of the Living ſignifies Ch. xxxii. 23, 26, 27, 32. The Word Tſebi is in many Places appropriated to Judea, as being in ſeveral Reſpects the Glory of all Lands, Ch. xx. 6. but is ſometimes applied to other Countries: See Ch. xxv. 9. Some Expoſitors underſtand it here of Judea, to this Senſe; that when God ſhould return the Captivity of the Jews, and reſtore them to thoſe Marks of his Grace and Favour, which diſtinguiſhed them from all other Nations, and made them the neareſt Reſemblance of Heaven that could be found upon Earth; yet even then, as it follows,—

I will make thee a Terror, and thou ſhalt be no more] Thou ſhalt be left in utter Ruins and Deſolation, as a terrible Example of my Vengeance. The Word Balaloth, which our Tranſlators tranſlate Terrors, is generally joined with Words importing utter Deſtruction, and ſo the LXX underſtand it here, and in other Places of this Propheſy: See Ch. xxviii. 36. and compare Iſa. xvii. 14. Pſ. lxxiii. 19.

CHAP. XXVII.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came again unto me, ſaying, 2 Now thou ſon of man take up a lamentation for Tyrus; And ſay unto Tyrus, O thou that art ſituate at the entry of the ſea, which art a merchant of the people for many iſles, Thus ſaith the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou haſt ſaid, I am of perfect beauty. 4 Thy borders are in the midſt of the ſeas, thy builders have perfected thy beauty.

The

They have made all thy ſhip-boards of fir-trees of Senir: they have taken cedars from Lebanon, to make maſts for thee. 6 Of the oaks of Baſhan have they made thine oars: the company of the Aſhurites have made thy benches of ivory, brought out of the iſles of Chittim. 7 Fine linen with broidered work from Egypt, was that which thou ſpreadeſt forth to be thy ſail; blue and purple from the iſles of Eliſhah, was that which covered thee. 8 The inhabitants of Zidon and Arvad were thy mariners: thy wiſe men, O Tyrus, that were in thee, were thy pilots. 9 The antients of Gebal, and the wiſe men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the ſhips of the ſea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy merchandiſe. 10 They of Perſia and of Lud, and of Phut were in thine army, thy men of war: they hanged the ſhield and helmet in thee, they ſet forth thy comelineſs. 11 The men of Arvad with thine army were upon thy walls round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towers; they hanged their ſhields upon thy walls round about: they have made thy beauty perfect. 12 Tarſhiſh was thy merchant by reaſon of the multitude of all kind of riches; with ſilver, iron, tin, and lead they traded in thy fairs. 13 Javan, Tubal, and Meſhech, they were thy merchants: they traded the perſons of men, and veſſels of braſs in thy market. 14 They of the houſe of Togarmah traded in thy fairs with horſes, and horſemen, and mules. 15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants, many iſles were the merchandiſe of thine hand: they brought thee for a preſent, horns of ivory and ebony. 16 Syria was thy merchant by reaſon of the multitude of the wares of thy making: they occupied in thy fairs with emeralds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linen, and coral, and agate. 17 Judah and the land of Iſrael they were thy merchants: they traded in thy market wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honey, and oil, and balm. 18 Damaſcus was thy merchant in the multitude of the wares of thy making, for the multitude of all riches: in the wine of Helbon, and white wool. 19 Dan alſo and Javan going to and fro, occupied in thy fairs: bright iron, caſſia, and calamus were in thy market. 20 Dedan was thy merchant in precious clothes for chariots. 21 Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar, they occupied with thee in lambs, and rams, and goats: in theſe were they thy merchants. 22 The merchants of Sheba and Raamah, they were thy merchants: they occupied in thy fairs with chief of all ſpices, and with all precious ſtones and gold. 23 Haran, and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Aſhur, and Chilmad were thy merchants. 24 Theſe were thy merchants in all ſorts of things, in blue clothes, and broidered work, and in cheſts of rich apparel, bound with cords, and made of cedar among thy merchandiſe. 25 The ſhips of Tarſhiſh did ſing of thee in thy market, and thou waſt repleniſhed, and made very glorious in the midſt of the ſeas. 26 Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: the eaſtwind hath broken thee in the midſt of the ſeas. 27 Thy riches and thy fairs, thy merchandiſe, thy mariners, and thy pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandiſe, and all thy men of war that are in thee, and in all thy company, which is in the midſt of thee, ſhall fall into the midſt of the ſeas, in the day of thy ruin. 28 The ſuburbs ſhall ſhake at the ſound of the cry of thy pilots. 29 And all that handle the oar, the mariners, and all the pilots of the ſea, ſhall come down from their ſhips, they ſhall ſtand upon the land; 30 And ſhall cauſe their voice to be heard againſt thee, and ſhall cry bitterly, and ſhall caſt up duſt upon their heads, they ſhall wallow themſelves in the aſhes. 31 And they ſhall make themſelves utterly bald for thee, and gird them with ſackcloth, and they ſhall weep for thee with bitterneſs of heart, and bitter wailing. 32 And in their wailing they ſhall take up a lamentation for thee, and lament over thee, ſaying, What city is like Tyrus, like the deſtroyed in the midſt of the ſea? 33 When thy wares went forth out of the ſeas, thou filleddſt many people, thou didſt enrich the kings of the earth, with the multitude of thy riches, and of thy merchandiſe. 34 In the time when thou ſhalt be broken by the ſeas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandiſe and all thy company in the midſt of thee ſhall fall. 35 All the inhabitants of the iſles ſhall be aſtoniſhed at thee, and their kings ſhall be ſore afraid, they ſhall be troubled in their countenance. 36 The merchants among the people ſhall hiſs at thee, thou ſhalt be a terror, and never ſhall be any more.

Thy Borders are in the Midſt of the Seas] Taking the Words in a ſtrict Senſe, they are a Deſcription of New Tyre, which ſtood in an Iſland: Compare Ch. xxvi. 5. The Tyrians are called the Inhabiters of the Iſle, Iſa. xxiii. 2. But in the Hebrew Phraſe all Places are called Iſlands which lie upon the Sea-coaſt. See Iſa. xi. 11.

Thy Builders have perfected thy Beauty] The following Verſes ſhew, that the Words are chiefly to be underſtood of the Builders of their Ships, wherein the chief Strength and Glory of the Tyrians was placed.

They have made all thy Ship-boards of Fir-trees from Shenir] The Decks of thy Ships were made of Fir fetched from Mount Hermon, called antiently Shenir: See Deut. iii. 9.

Brought out of the Iſles of Chittim] The Iſles of Chittim are the Countries lying upon the Coaſts of the Mediterranean Sea: See Jer. ii. 10.

The Antients of Gebal were thy Calkers] Thou employeſt the Inhabitants of Gebal for calking thy Ships, as being remarkably ſkilful in that Trade. Gebal was a Province of Phœnicia near Tyre. See Pſ. lxxxiii. 8. 1 Kings v. 18. The LXX ſuppoſe it to be the ſame with the City of Byblos, with whom agree Euſebius and St. Jerom. So the Septuagint render the Word in the forementioned Text, 1 Kings v. 18.

The Gammadims were in thy Towers] It is very uncertain what People are here meant by this Name. Our learned Fuller ſuppoſes them People of Phœnicia. Ludolphus conjectures they were Africans. The Chaldee Paraphraſe takes them to be Cappadocians. The vulgar Latin renders the Word Pygmies; but if we ſhould grant that there were ſuch a People, as Ludolphus takes a great deal of Pains to prove there were, yet they would not be fit to make uſe of for Soldiers. Dr. Spencer thinks theſe Gammadims were Images of the Tutelar Gods, like the Lares among the Romans; and were not above a Cubit in Length.

Tarſhiſh was thy Merchant] Tarſhiſh probably ſignifies a Port of Spain, called by the Greek and Latin Authors Tarteſſus, ſituate not far from the Place where Cadiz now ſtands; famous of old for Hercules Pillars, being the utmoſt Boundary of antient Navigation. It comes from thence to ſignify any Merchant Adventurers, who traded in the Mediterranean Sea. See Isa. ii. 16. The Commodities here mentioned, which these Merchants traded in, being the Product of Spain, confirm this Exposition.

Javan, Tubal and Meshech were thy Merchants] By Javan is to be understood Greece, Dan. viii. 21. So the LXX translate it here, and in that Place of Daniel. And all Greece, except Peloponnesus, was antiently called Ionia. Tubal and Meshech are Names usually joined together in Scripture. Bochart supposes them to be the same with those People afterward called Moschi and Tibareni, whose Habitation was near the Euxine Sea.

They of the House of Togarmah traded in thy Fairs] By Togarmah, Bochart understands Cappadocia. The LXX read the Word Θοργαμὰ, Gen. x. 14. which comes near in Sound to Trogma, or Trocma, a Part of Cappadocia.

The Men of Dedan were thy Merchants] The same learned Person distinguisheth this Dedan from that mentioned Ver. 20. This latter was of Abraham's Posterity, whereas Dedan here spoken of, was derived from that Dedan mentioned Gen. x. 7. the Son of Raama, or Regma. The Posterity of this Dedan is probably placed near the Persian Gulph, where there was afterwards a City called Rhegma; and so is fitly joined with many Islands or Countries lying upon the Sea Coast, which are usually called Islands in the Hebrew Phrase. See Isa. xi. 11.

Wheat of Minith] This was a Place belonging to the Ammonites, (see Judg. xi. 33.) noted for excellent Wheat, great Quantities of which the Jews brought to Tyre.

With Pannag] A Word never elsewhere to be found; supposed by some to be the Name of a Place, by others more probably taken for some rich Ointment or Gum.

In the Wine of Helbon] Helbon is supposed to be the same Part of Syria which is called Chalybonitis by Ptolemy. The same Place which is now called Aleppo.

Dedan was thy Merchant] This is probably to be understood of that Dedan who was Abraham's Grandson: See Ver. 15. and Ch. xxv. 13.

The Merchants of Sheba and Raamah] These were People of Arabia Felix, dwelling near the Persian Gulph: See Ver. 15. and Ch. xxiii. 42. They traded in the rich Products of their own Country, which were Spices, precious Stones, and Gold. Compare 1 Kings x. 2, 11. Ps. lxxii. 15. Isa. lx. 6. Bochart places Ophir, so famous for Gold, in Arabia Felix.

Haran, and Canneh, and Eden] Haran is the Place where Abraham dwelt when he came out from Ur of the Chaldees, Gen. xi. 31. called Charræ by the Romans, and noted for the Defeat of Crassus. Canneh some suppose to be the same Place that is called Calneh, Am. vi. 2. or Calno, Isa. x. 9. a City near Euphrates. Other take it for Ctesiphon, a noted River situated upon the River Tygris. Is joined with Haran, 2 Kings xix. 12. as it is here. Huetius supposes Paradise was called the Garden of Eden, from the Name of the Country where it was placed, which was where the Tigris and Euphrates met.

The Merchants of Sheba] There were two Sheba's, as there were two Dedans, one descended from Raamah, Gen. x. 7. the other from Jocksham, Abraham's Son, Gen. xxv. 3. As the 22d Verse is explained of the former, so the latter may be understood here: They were both Inhabitants of Arabia.

Chilmad] Both the Chaldee and LXX explain this by Carmania.

The Rowers have brought thee into great Waters] The Prophet compares the Condition of Tyre, besieged by the Enemy, to a Ship overset by the Winds, and just ready to sink under Water. See the like Comparison Isa. xxxiii. 23. Great Numbers are sometimes signified by great Waters: See Ps. xviii. 16. cxliv. 7. Jer. li. 42.

The East Wind hath broken thee in the Midst of the Seas] As the Violence of the East Wind occasions many Shipwrecks in the Sea; (see Ps. xlviii. 7.) so the Chaldean Army, compared elsewhere to an East Wind, shall ruin thy Strength and Glory, and leave thee like a Wreck cast upon the Shore. Compare Ch. xxvii. 10. xix. 12.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The Prophet denounces God's Judgments against the King of Tyre, and foretels the Destruction of Sidon; all which shall turn to the Benefit of God's People.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came again unto me, saying, 2 Son of man, say unto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is lifted up, and thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God, in the midst of the seas; yet thou art a man and not God, though thou set thine heart as the heart of God: 3 Behold, thou art wiser than Daniel; there is no secret that they can hide from thee: 4 With thy wisdom, and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures: 5 By thy great wisdom, and by thy traffick hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches: 6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast set thine heart as the heart of God: 7 Behold, therefore, I will bring strangers upon thee, the terrible of the nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness. 8 They shall bring thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the deaths of them that are slain in the midst of the seas. 9 Wilt thou yet say before him that slayeth thee, I am God? but thou shalt be a man and no God in the hand of him that slayeth thee. 10 Thou shalt die the deaths of the uncircumcised, by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God. 11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 12 Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty. 13 Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee, in the day that thou wast created. 14 Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth: and I have set thee so; thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire. 15 Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee. 16 By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire. 17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee. 18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries, by the multi-titude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffick; therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midſt of thee, it ſhall devour thee, and I will bring thee to aſhes upon the earth, in the ſight of all them that behold thee. 19 All they that know thee among the people, ſhall be aſtoniſhed at thee: thou ſhalt be a terror, and never ſhalt thou be any more. 20 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 21 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Zidon, and propheſy againſt it. 22 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the midſt of thee: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have executed judgments in her, and ſhall be ſanctified in her. 23 For I will ſend into her, peſtilence, and blood into her ſtreets, and the wounded ſhall be judged in the midſt of her by the ſword upon her on every ſide; and they ſhall know that I am the Lord. 24 And there ſhall be no more a pricking briar unto the houſe of Iſrael, nor any grieving thorn of all that are round about them that deſpiſed them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord God. 25 Thus ſaith the Lord God, When I ſhall have gathered the houſe of Iſrael from the people among whom they are ſcattered, and ſhall be ſanctified in them in the ſight of the heathen, then ſhall they dwell in their land, that I have given to my ſervant Jacob. 26 And they ſhall dwell ſafely therein, and ſhall build houſes, and plant vineyards: yea, they ſhall dwell with confidence when I have executed judgments upon all thoſe that deſpiſe them round about them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God.

Say to the Prince of Tyrus] Whoſe Name was Ithobalus, according to the Phœnician Annals, Extracts out of which may be ſeen in Joſephus, L. 1. contra Appion.

I am a God, I ſit in the Seat of God, in the Midſt of the Seas] Some Princes have been ſo extravagant as to affect Divine Honours: This ſeems to have been the Temper of this vain Man. The Words are an inſolent Boaſt of Self ſufficiency, as if he had ſaid, I fear none, nor ſtand in need of any: I am ſeated in a Place of impregnable Strength; the Seas ſurround me, that no Enemy can aſſault me. So they repreſent the exceſſive Pride, and carnal Security of this Prince, who truſted in his own Strength, and forgot his Dependance upon God. The ſame Crime was in like Manner puniſhed in the King of Egypt, Ch. xxix. 3. and afterward in Nebuchadnezzar himſelf, Dan. iv. 30, 31. So Babylon is repreſented as aſcribing Self-ſufficiency to herſelf, and ſaying in her Heart, I am, and there is none elſe beſides me, Iſa. xlvii. 10.

Behold, thou art wiſer than Daniel] The Prophet in an Ironical Manner upbraids the vain Boaſts which the Prince of Tyre made of his Wiſdom, and the Poverty of thoſe about him, as if it exceeded the Endowments of Daniel ſo famous, tho' a young Man, for his Skill in the ſeveral Parts of Knowledge, and the Arts of Government. The Phœnicians, of whom the Tyrians were a Colony, (ſee Iſa. xxiii. 12.) valued themſelves for their Wiſdom and Ingenuity, as being the Inventors of Navigation, of Letters and Sciences. Compare Zech. ix. 2.

Thou ſealeſt up the full Sum of Wiſdom and perfect Beauty] In thine own Opinion thou art the perfect Pattern of Wiſdom, and all other Excellencies; compare Ver. 7. The Expreſſion is taken from Veſſels and other Repoſitories, which when they are full, uſed to be ſealed up in order to their preſerving what is contained in them. The LXX and vulgar Latin render the former Part of the Verſe, Thou art the Seal of Likeneſs, i. e. Thou art the Image of God, or an exact Impreſſion taken from that great Copy. The following Verſe ſhews that the Expreſſion alludes to Adam, when he was firſt created, and came pure out of the Hands of his Maker. And then the following Words in this Verſe are to be tranſlated, Full of Wiſdom, and perfect in Beauty; an exact Deſcription of the State of Innocence. The Word Taenith is tranſlated Pattern, Ch. xliii. 10. of this Prophecy; and ſo it ſignifies, Exod. xxx. 32. to which Senſe the Targum there explains it; but our Tranſlation renders it Compoſition.

In this and the three or four following Verſes, is deſcribed the Pride and Grandeur of this King, in Expreſſions which ſhew, that he thought there was not his Equal upon Earth.

I will lay thee before Kings, that they may behold thee] I will make thee a Spectacle to other Princes, and expoſe thee as a miſerable Object before their Eyes, that thou may'ſt be an Example to them to deter them from the like Practices. See Ch. xvi. 41. xxiii. 48, xxxi. 14.

Thou haſt defiled thy Sanctuaries by the Multitude of thine Iniquities, &c.] The Word Mikdaſh does ſometimes ſignify a Palace, in which Senſe it is probably taken Am. viii. 13. where our Tranſlation renders it the King's Chapel. Thus Biſhop Patrick underſtands it, Exod. xxv. 8. where the Engliſh reads, Let them make me a Sanctuary, but it may probably mean a Palace: For God commanded himſelf to be ſerved and attended upon in the Tabernacle, as a King is in his Court. The Cherubims were his Throne, the Ark his Footſtool, the Altar his Table, and therefore called by that Name, Ch. xli. 22 Mal. i. 7. the Prieſts his Attendants, and the Shewbread and Sacrifices his Proviſions. Thus the Word may moſt probably be taken here to this Senſe: That ſince their Palaces and ſtately Buildings are filled with the Iniquity and Injuſtice which they have practiſed in their Trade and Commerce, therefore God will utterly deſtroy them by Nebuchadnezzar, who reduced the whole City to an Heap of Aſhes and Rubbiſh. If we follow the common Tranſlation, it imports a Denunciation of God's Judgments for filling their idolatrous Temples with Riches and Preſents gotten by Injuſtice. So God often puniſhes the Contempt of Religion in general, in thoſe who are miſtaken in their own Way of Worſhip.

Set thy Face againſt Zidon, &c.] Tyre and Zidon, or Sidon, were Neighbours, and Partakers of the ſame Fate both in Proſperity and Adverſity. Zidon was afterwards utterly deſtroyed by Ochus King of Perſia.

And there ſhall be no more a pricking Briar unto the Houſe of Iſrael, &c.] My People ſhall dwell in their Land quietly and ſecurely, when the reſt of their ill Neighbours are deſtroyed who were a continual Vexation to them, and as ſo many Thorns in their Sides. The following Verſe ſhews, that this Promiſe chiefly relates to the general Reſtoration of the Jews, when all the Enemies of God's Church and Truth are vanquiſhed and ſubdued, often denoted in the prophetical Writings, by the Names of Edom, Moab, and other neighbouring Countries, who upon all Occaſions ſhewed their Spite and ill Will againſt the Jews.

CHAP. XXIX.

In this and the three following Chapters is foretold the Conqueſt of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar.

Ver. 1. IN the tenth year, in the tenth month, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharaoh king of Egypt, and propheſy againſt him, and againſt all Egypt. 3 Speak and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the midſt of his rivers, which hath ſaid, My river is mine own, and I have made it for myſelf. 4 But I will put hooks in thy chaws, and I will cauſe the fiſh of thy rivers to ſtick unto thy ſcales, and I will bring thee up out of the midſt of thy rivers, and all the fiſh of thy rivers ſhall ſtick unto thy ſcales. 5 And I will leave thee thrown into the wilderneſs, thee and all the fiſh of thy rivers: thou ſhalt fall upon the open fields, thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: I have given thee for meat to the beaſts of the field, and to the fowls of the heaven. 6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt, ſhall know that I am the Lord, becauſe they have been a ſtaff of reed to the houſe of Iſrael. 7 When they took hold of thee by thy hand, thou didſt break, and rent all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brakeſt, and madeſt all their loins to be at a ſtand. 8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a ſword upon thee, and cut off man and beaſt out of thee. 9 And the land of Egypt ſhall be deſolate and waſte, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord; becauſe he hath ſaid, The river is mine, and I have made it. 10 Behold therefore, I am againſt thee, and againſt thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waſte and deſolate, from the tower of Syene even unto the border of Ethiopia. 11 No foot of man ſhall paſs through it, nor foot of beaſt ſhall paſs through it, neither ſhall it be inhabited forty years. 12 And I will make the land of Egypt deſolate in the midſt of the countries that are deſolate, and her cities among the cities that are laid waſte, ſhall be deſolate forty years: and I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries. 13 Yet thus ſaith the Lord God, At the end of forty years will I gather the Egyptians from the people whither they were ſcattered. 14 And I will bring again the captivity of Egypt, and will cauſe them to return into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they ſhall be there a baſe kingdom. 15 It ſhall be the baſeſt of the kingdoms, neither ſhall it exalt itſelf any more above the nations: for I will diminiſh them, that they ſhall no more rule over the nations. 16 And it ſhall be no more the confidence of the houſe of Iſrael, which bringeth their iniquity to remembrance, when they ſhall look after them: but they ſhall know that I am the Lord God. 17 And it came to paſs in the ſeven and twentieth year, in the firſt month, in the firſt day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 18 Son of man, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon cauſed his army to ſerve a great ſervice againſt Tyrus: every head was made bald, and every ſhoulder was peeled: yet had he no wages, nor his army for Tyrus, for the ſervice that he had ſerved againſt it. 19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he ſhall take her multitude, and take her ſpoil, and take her prey, and it ſhall be the wages for his army. 20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labour wherewith he ſerved againſt it, becauſe they wrought for me, ſaith the Lord God. 21 In that day will I cauſe the horn of the houſe of Iſrael to bud forth, and I will give thee the opening of the mouth in the midſt of them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Set thy Face againſt Pharaoh King of Egypt] This Prince was called Pharaoh Hophra, by way of Diſtinction by Jeremiah, Ch. xlvi. 30. and Apries by Herodotus.

The great Dragon that lies in the Midſt of his Rivers] The Word Tannim ſignifies any great Fiſh, ſuch as a Whale, as it is tranſlated Ch. xxxii. 2. where it is applied to the ſame Subject as here. Bochart not improbably underſtands it here of the Crocodile, a Fiſh in a Manner peculiar to the River Nile, to which he likens the King of Egypt, becauſe he valued himſelf ſo much upon his Dominion over that River. The ſame learned Author obſerves, that the Word Pharaoh ſignifies a Crocodile in the Arabick Tongue. The Kings of Egypt are elſewhere compared to Whales, or ſome ſuch great Fiſhes, ſporting themſelves in the Waters, and exerciſing a Sort of Dominion over the leſſer Fry: See Pſ. lxxiv. 13, 14. Iſa. li. 9.

I will cauſe the Fiſh of thy River to ſtick to thy Scales, and I will bring thee out of the Midſt of thy Rivers, &c.] Thou ſhalt ſend a great Number of thy Subjects upon an Expedition into Libya, againſt the Cyrenians, where his Army having ill Succeſs, the Egyptians entertaining an Opinion that the Army was ſent upon this Expedition on Purpoſe to be deſtroyed, thereupon mutinied againſt him, and ſet up Amaſis to be their King.

And I will leave thee thrown into the Wilderneſs, thee and all the Fiſh of thy Rivers] Thy Army ſhall be diſcomfited, and fall in the Deſarts of Libya and Cyrene: Apries himſelf did not periſh there; but the King and People being like the Head and Body, whatever Calamity befals either Part, is common to both. So the King of Aſſyria is ſaid to be involved in that Deſtruction which conſumed his Army, Iſa. xxx. 33. Apries himſelf was afterwards ſtrangled in his Palace at Sais, by Amaſis that overcame him.

Becauſe they have been a Staff of Reed to the Houſe of Iſrael] The Expreſſion alludes to the Canes or Reeds that grow on the Bank of the River Nile; on which if a Man leaned, they brake, and the Splinters ran into his Hand.

From the Tower of Syene unto the Border of Ethiopia] If we follow this Tranſlation, we muſt underſtand the Word Cuſh, rendered here Ethiopia, of Arabia, as it is often taken: See Jer. xiii. 23. For Syene was the Border of Egypt toward Ethiopia, which lay Weſtward of Egypt, as Arabia did Eaſtward. But the Words may be tranſlated thus; From Migdol to Syene, even to the Borders of Ethiopia. Compare Ch xxx. 5, 9. Migdol was a Town near the Red Sea, mentioned Exod. xiv. 2. Jer. xliv. 1. xlvi. 14. So it lay at the Entrance of Egypt from Paleſtine; whereas Syene was at the other End of the Country upon the Borders of Ethiopia. The parallel Text, Ch. xxx. 6. confirms this Interpretation, where our Tranſlation reads, From the Tower of Syene, they ſhall fall in it by the Sword; but the Senſe would be much more perfect, if we tranſlated it, From Migdol to Syene, &c.

I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the Nations] Some of them ſhall flee for Refuge into foreign Countries, and ſome ſhall be carried captive by the Babylonians. Compare Jer. xlvi. 19. This Captivity of the Egyptians, tho' not taken Notice of by Herodotus, is mentioned by Beroſus in one of the Fragments of his Hiſtory, quoted by Joſephus, Antiq. L. x. C. 11. and published with Notes by Scaliger at the End of his Book de Emendatione Temporum, whoſe Remark upon this Place is very obſervable, viz. 'The Calamities that befel the Egyptians are paſſed over by Herodotus, becauſe the Egyptian Prieſts would not inform him of any Thing that tended to the Diſgrace of their Nation.'

It ſhall be the baſeſt of Kingdoms, &c.] Notwithſtanding Amaſis's ſhaking off the Perſian Yoke, Egypt was not able to keep up its former Grandeur, but was entirely conquered by Cambyſes, Cyrus's Son, who made it a Province to the Perſian Empire; and upon its revolting from under that Government, it was finally ſubdued by Ochus the Perſian Emperor, and has been governed by Strangers ever ſince.

‹ Prideaux obſerves, on the Failure of the Perſian ‹ Empire, it became ſubject to the Macedonians, after ‹ them to the Romans, after the Romans to the Sara- ‹ cens, then to the Mammalukes, and is now a Province ‹ of the Turkiſh Empire.

In the ſeven and twentieth Year, in the firſt Month] The following Prophecy is related here, not with reſpect to the Order of Time, (for there is near ſeventeen Years Diſtance between the Date of the foregoing Prophecy, and this) but becauſe both Prophecies relate to the ſame Subject, viz. the Conqueſt of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar, which fell out this Year: The City Tyre having been taken by him the Year before, after thirteen Years Siege. Concerning which Event Dr. Prideaux hath obſerved, that the Chronology of the Phœnician Annals (the Extracts of which may be ſeen in Joſephus, L. 1. contra Appion.) exactly agrees with the Time the Prophet Ezekiel aſſigns for the taking of Tyre.

Yet had he no Wages, nor his Army for Tyrus] Before the Town came to be cloſely beſieged, the Inhabitants had removed their Effects into an Iſland about half a Mile diſtant from the Shore, and there built another City, called New Tyre, which was afterwards beſieged and taken by Alexander the Great: So that there was no Body left there when Nebuchadnezzar's Army took the City.

In that Day] This Phraſe frequently denotes in the Prophets, not the ſame Time that was laſt mentioned, but an extraordinary Seaſon, remarkable for ſome ſignal Events of Providence: In this Senſe it is to be underſtood here.

CHAP. XXX.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord came again unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, propheſy and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Howl ye, wo worth the day. 3 For the day is near, even the day of the Lord is near, a cloudy day, it ſhall be the time of the heathen. 4 And the ſword ſhall come upon Egypt, and great pain ſhall be in Ethiopia, when the ſlain ſhall fall in Egypt, and they ſhall take away her multitude, and her foundations ſhall be broken down. 5 Ethiopia, and Libya, and Lydia, and all the mingled people, and Chub, and the men of the land that is in league, ſhall fall with them by the ſword. 6 Thus ſaith the Lord, They alſo that uphold Egypt ſhall fall, and the pride of her power ſhall come down: from the tower of Syene ſhall they fall in it by the ſword, ſaith the Lord God. 7 And they ſhall be deſolate in the midſt of the countries that are deſolate, and her cities ſhall be in the midſt of the cities that are waſted. 8 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have ſet a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers ſhall be deſtroyed. 9 In that day ſhall meſſengers go forth from me in ſhips, to make the careleſs Ethiopians afraid, and great pain ſhall come upon them, as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it cometh. 10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo make the multitude of Egypt to ceaſe by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon. 11 He and his people with him, the terrible of the nations ſhall be brought to deſtroy the land: and they ſhall draw their ſwords againſt Egypt, and fill the land with the ſlain. 12 And I will make the rivers dry, and ſell the land into the hand of the wicked, and I will make the land waſte, and all that is therein, by the hand of ſtrangers: I the Lord have ſpoken it. 13 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo deſtroy the idols, and I will cauſe their images to ceaſe out of Noph: and there ſhall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will put a fear in the land of Egypt. 14 And I will make Pathros deſolate, and will ſet fire in Zoan, and will execute judgment in No. 15 And I will pour my fury upon Sin, the ſtrength of Egypt, and I will cut off the multitude of No. 16 And I will ſet fire in Egypt, Sin ſhall have great pain, and No ſhall be rent aſunder, and Noph ſhall have diſtreſſes daily. 17 The young men of Aven and of Phi-beſeth, ſhall fall by the ſword: and theſe cities ſhall go into captivity. 18 At Tehaphnehes alſo the day ſhall be darkened, when I ſhall break there the yokes of Egypt: and the pomp of her ſtrength ſhall ceaſe in her: as for her, a cloud ſhall cover her, and her daughters ſhall go into captivity. 19 Thus will I execute judgments in Egypt: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord. 20 And it came to paſs in the eleventh year, in the firſt month, in the ſeventh day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 21 Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and lo, it ſhall not be bound up to be healed, to put a roller to bind it, to make it ſtrong to hold the ſword. 22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break his arms, the ſtrong, and that which was broken; and I will cauſe the ſword to fall out of his hand. 23 And I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries. 24 And I will ſtrengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and put my ſword in his hand: but I will break Pharaohs arms, and he ſhall groan before him with the groanings of a deadly wounded man. 25 But I will ſtrengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and the arms of Pharaoh ſhall fall down; and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall put my ſword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſtretch it out upon the land of Egypt. 26 And I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and diſperſe them among the countries, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

It ſhall be the Time of the Heathen] Of the Puniſhment of the Egyptians and their Allies: See Ver. 4, 5. Ch. vii. 7, 12. God's Judgments upon particular Places and Nations, are an Earneſt of that general Judgment, when he ſhall execute Judgment upon all the Ungodly.

And all the mingled People] All their Auxiliaries: Compare Jer. l. 37. If we diſtinguiſh theſe from the Men of the League which follow, they may mean the Mixture of the Carians, Ionians, and other Nations lying upon the Mediterranean Sea, which Apries got together to encounter Amaſis, who, together with him, were deſtroyed.

And Chub] The Cubii are mentioned in Ptolemy as a People of Marcotis, a Province of Egypt.

The Men of the Land that is in League] The LXX tranſlate it, The Men of my League, or Covenant; i. e. the Jews; many of whom flying into Egypt, were deſtroyed there with the Egyptians.

They alſo that uphold Egypt ſhall fall] The Governors of the ſeveral Provinces, thoſe who were called the Stay of the Tribes thereof, Iſa. xix. 13. i. e. of the ſeveral Nomi, or Diviſions of Egypt.

In that Day ſhall Meſſengers go from me in Ships, to make the careleſs Ethiopians afraid] The Ethiopians were the Confederates of the Egyptians in former Times, and Sharers with them in their good or ill Fortune: See Iſa. xviii. 1, 2. xx. 3, 4. The Verſe may likewiſe be thus rendered: In that Day ſhall Meſſengers go from me to the People in the Wilderneſs, to make the careleſs Ethiopian afraid. The Word Tziim is tranſlated the People in the Wilderneſs, Iſa. xxiii. 13. and that Appellation is particularly given to the Ethiopians, Pſ. lxxii. 9. and lxxiv. 14. as the LXX tranſlate the Word.

And I will cauſe their Images to ceaſe out of Noph] Noph, or Memphis, was one of the principal Cities of Egypt, a Seat of their Kings, where their Sepulchres ſtood; one of which is ſtill remaining. Upon which it is often mentioned in Scripture: See Iſa. xix. 3. Jer. ii. 16. xliv. 1. xlvi. 14. In Hoſea it is called Moph, Ch. xi. 6. which comes near in Sound to Memphis. This Place was famous for the Worſhip of Apis and Oſiris; whereupon the Prophet in a particular Manner denounces Deſtruction to the Idolatry of that Place.

And there ſhall be no more a Prince in the Land of Egypt] It ſhall no more have a natural Prince of the Egyptian Race to rule over it, as formerly, but ſhall be ſubject to Foreigners: See Ch. xxix. 15.

And I will ſet Fire in Zoan] Zoan or Tanis, was one of the antient Cities in Egypt: See Numb. xiii. 20. and the Metropolis of the Kingdom in Moſes's Time. See Pſ. lxxviii. 12, 43.

And I will pour out my Fury upon Sin, the Strength of Egypt] It is generally agreed that Sin is the ſame with Peluſium, one of the ſeven Mouths of Nile, which was commonly called the Key of Egypt, as Suidas obſerves; and therefore was ſtrongly fortified that no Enemy might gain Admittance.

And I will cut off the Multitude of No] Or, Hamon No, as the Original reads. The Original is generally ſuppoſed to be derived from Haman, who was the Egyptian Jupiter. Mizraim, the Son of Ham, was the Founder of Egypt, which is called the Land of Ham, Pſ. cvi. 22. And this Hamon was probably either Ham himſelf, or one of his Poſterity advanced to Divine Honours. Plutarch informs us, that Ammon, in the Egyptian Language, is equivalent to Ζεὺς, Jupiter, in Greek.

The young Men of Aven and of Pibeſeth, ſhall fall by the Sword] Aven is the ſame with On, mentioned Gen. xli. 45. in after-times called Heliopolis, as our Margin explains it here, becauſe of a Temple or Image there dedicated to the Sun. Compare Iſa. xix. 18. Jer. xliii. 13. The Word is ſo tranſlated by the LXX Interpreters, both here and Gen. xli. 45. who were very well acquainted with Egypt and the principal Parts of it. Pibeſeth was afterwards, with very little Variation, called Bubaſtum; and ſo tranſlated here by the LXX.

At Tehaphnehes the Day ſhall be darkened] Tehaphnehes, elſewhere writ Tahpanhes, is ſuppoſed to be the ſame Place which was afterwards called Daphne Peluſiacæ: See Jer. xliii. 7.

And I will break his Arms, the Strong, and that which was broken] The King of Babylon had before diſpoſſeſſed the King of Egypt of all his new Conqueſts, from the River of Egypt to the River Euphrates, 2 Kings xxiv. 7. So that this Part of his Strength was already taken away, and never to be recovered; and now God threatens to deſtroy the Remainder of his Power, the Kingdom of Egypt itſelf.

CHAP. XXXI.

A Continuation of the Judgments denounced againſt Pharaoh and his Kingdom.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs in the eleventh year, in the third month, in the firſt day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, Speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatneſs? 3 Behold, the Aſſyrian was a cedar in Lebanon with fair branches, and with a ſhadowi ſhroud, and of an high ſtature, and his top w among the thick boughs. 4 The waters ma him great, the deep ſet him up on high w her rivers running round about his plants, a ſent out her little rivers unto all the trees the field. 5 Therefore his height was exalt above all the trees of the field, and his boug were multiplied, and his branches became lo becauſe of the multitude of waters, when ſhot forth. 6 All the fowls of heaven ma their neſts in his boughs, and under branches did all the beaſts of the field bri forth their young, and under his ſhadow dw all great nations. 7 Thus was he fair in greatneſs, in the length of his branches: his root was by great waters. 8 The cedars the garden of God could not hide him: the trees were not like his boughs, and the chest trees were not like his branches; nor any tree the garden of God was like unto him in beauty. 9 I have made him fair by the multitude of his branches: ſo that all the trees of den, that were in the garden of God, envi him. 10 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord Go Becauſe thou haſt lifted up thyſelf in heigh and he hath ſhot up his top among the thi boughs, and his heart is lifted up in his heigh 11 I have therefore delivered him into the ha of the mighty one of the heathen; he sh ſurely deal with him, I have driven him out f his wickedneſs. 12 And ſtrangers, the terrib of the nations, have cut him off, and have l him: upon the mountains and in all the val his branches are fallen, and his boughs are br ken by all the rivers of the land, and all t people of the earth are gone down from his sh dow, and have left him. 13 Upon his ru ſhall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and the beaſts of the field ſhall be upon his branche 14 To the end that none of all the trees by t waters exalt themſelves for their height, neith ſhoot up their top among the thick bough neither their trees ſtand up in their height, that drink water: for they are all delivered un death to the nether parts of the earth in t midſt of the children of men, with them that g down to the pit. 15 Thus ſaith the Lord Go In the day when he went down to the grav I cauſed a mourning, I covered the deep fo him, and I reſtrained the floods thereof, an the great waters were ſtayed; and I cauſed L banon to mourn for him, and all the trees of t field fainted for him. 16 I made the nations ſhake at the ſound of his fall, when I caſt hi down to hell with them that deſcend into th pit: and all the trees of Eden, the choice an beſt of Lebanon, all that drink water, ſhall b comforted in the nether parts of the earth. 1 They alſo went down into hell with him unt them that be ſlain with the ſword, and they th were his arm that dwelt under his ſhadow in th midſt of the heathen. 18 To whom art tho thus like in glory and in greatneſs among th trees of Eden? yet ſhalt thou be brought dow with the trees of Eden unto the nether parts o the earth: thou ſhalt lie in the midſt of the un circumciſed, with them that be ſlain by th ſword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitud ſaith the Lord God.

they shall bring thee up in my net. 4 Then will I leave thee upon the land, I will cast thee forth upon the open field, and will cause all the fowls of the heaven to remain upon thee, and I will fill the beasts of the whole earth with thee. 5 And I will lay thy flesh upon the mountains, and fill the valleys with thy height. 6 I will also water with thy blood the land where thou swimmest, even to the mountains; and the rivers shall be full of thee. 7 And when I shall put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark: I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light. 8 All the bright lights of heaven will I make dark over thee, and set darkness upon thy land, saith the Lord God. 9 I will also vex the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, into the countries which thou hast not known. 10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be horribly afraid for thee, when I shall brandish my sword before them, and they shall tremble at every moment; every man for his own life, in the day of thy fall. 11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon thee. 12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall, the terrible of the nations all of them; and they shall spoil the pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be destroyed. 13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from beside the great waters, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of beasts trouble them. 14 Then will I make their waters deep, and cause their rivers to run like oil, saith the Lord God. 15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country shall be destitute of that whereof it was full, when I shall smite all them that dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord. 16 This is the lamentation wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for her, even for Egypt and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God. 17 It came to pass also in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 18 Son of man, wail for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them down, even her, and the daughters of the famous nations, unto the nether parts of the earth, with them that go down into the pit. 19 Whom dost thou pass in beauty? go down, and be thou laid with the uncircumcised. 20 They shall fall in the midst of them that are slain by the sword: she is delivered to the sword; draw her and all her multitudes. 21 The strong among the mighty shall speak to him out of the midst of hell with them that help him: they are gone down, they lie uncircumcised, slain by the sword. 22 Ashur is there and all her company: his graves are about him: all of them slain, fallen by the sword. 23 Whose graves are set in the sides of the pit, and her company is round about her grave: all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which caused terror in the land of the living. 24 There is Elam and all her multitude round about her grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which are gone down uncircumcised into the nether

Behold, the Assyrian was a Cedar in Lebanon] By the Assyrian, Archbishop Usher, ad A. M. 3478. and Dr. Prideaux do most probably understand that King of Assyria, whom some call Chylinadanus, others Saracus. 'Tis of this King of Assyria the Words of the Prophet Nahum are to be understood, Ch. iii. 18. In like Manner Zephaniah joins the Destruction of Assyria, and the Desolation of Nineveh together, Ch. ii. 13. Nabupolassor, the King of Babylon, and Cyaxares the King of Media, called by the Names Nebuchodonosor and Assueras in Tobit, Ch. xiv. 15. joining their Forces together against him, besieged Nineveh, took it, and after having slain the King, utterly destroyed that great and famous City, and put an End to that Part of the Assyrian Empire. Nabupolassar having before possessed himself of the other Part, which was properly called the Babylonian Empire. In this remarkable Catastrophe, the Prophecies of Jonah, Nahum, and Zephaniah, foretelling the Destruction of Nineveh, were fulfilled.

The King of Nineveh is compared to a fair and tall Cedar, such as grow in Mount Lebanon. See the like Comparison Isa. x. 34. xxxvii. 24. Zech. xi. 2. The Greatness of Nebuchadnezzar's Power and Kingdom is set forth under the same Resemblance, Dan. iv. 10, &c.

The Waters made him great, &c.] As Trees flourish by the Water-Side, (compare Ch. xvii. 5.) so the Traffick of the several Branches of the River Tigris, upon which Nineveh was situate, made that City and Kingdom rich and populous, and she imparted her Wealth and Stores among the neighbouring Provinces. Compare Nah. ii. 6.

I have therefore delivered him into the Hand of the mighty one of the Heathen] Or, The mighty one of the Nations, as the Word Gojim is rendered in the next Verse. The Word El, tho' commonly spoken of God, yet is sometimes applied to Heroes, see Ch. xxxii. 21. sometimes to Angels, as being mighty in Strength, as Ps. lxxxix. 6. So God here saith, he delivered the Assyrian into the Hands of Nabupolassar King of Babylon, who joining his Forces with Cyaxares King of Media, his Confederate, made themselves Masters of Nineveh, and the King of Assyria, whose Seat it was.

To the End that none of the Trees by the Waters exalt themselves] Thy Destruction shall be a Warning to other Kings and Potentates, to deter them from priding themselves in the Time of their Prosperity. See Ch. xviii. 17.

In the Day when they went down to the Grave] This and the following Verse are an elegant Description of that Consternation that seized the King of Assyria's Allies at the Suddenness of his Fall: The same Metaphor being still pursued.

To whom art thou thus like in Glory and Greatness among the Trees of Eden?] The Prophet now applies himself to the King of Egypt; as if he had said, Wilt thou still boast thyself, as if no Prince were thine Equal? (See Ver. 2.) yet thou shalt undergo the same Fate with this fair flourishing Cedar, the King of Assyria. See Ver. 14. and compare Ch. xxxii. 19.

CHAP. XXXII.

A Continuation of the same Subject.

Ver. 1. AND it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 2 Son of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say unto him, Thou art like a young lion of the nations, and thou art as a whale in the seas: and thou camest forth with thy rivers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and fouledst their rivers. 3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread out my net over thee, with a company of many people, and ther parts of the earth, which cauſed their terror in the land of the living, yet have they borne their ſhame with them that go down to the pit. 25 They have ſet her a bed in the midſt of the ſlain with all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumciſed, ſlain by the ſword: though their terror was cauſed in the land of the living, yet have they borne their ſhame with them that go down to the pit: he is put in the midſt of them that be ſlain. 26 There is Meſhech, Tubal, and all her multitude: her graves are round about him: all of them uncircumciſed, ſlain by the ſword, though they cauſed their terror in the land of the living. 27 And they ſhall not lie with the mighty, that are fallen of the uncircumciſed, which are gone down to hell with their weapons of war: and they have laid their ſwords under their heads, but their iniquities ſhall be upon their bones, though they were the terror of the mighty in the land of the living. 28 Yea, thou ſhalt be broken in the midſt of the uncircumciſed, and ſhalt lie with them that are ſlain with the ſword. 29 There is Edom, her kings and all her princes, which with their might are laid by them that were ſlain by the ſword: they ſhall lie with the uncircumciſed, and with them that go down to the pit. 30 There be the princes of the north all of them, and all the Zidonians, which are gone down with the ſlain, with their terror they are aſhamed of their might, and they lie uncircumciſed with them that be ſlain by the ſword, and bear their ſhame with them that go down to the pit. 31 Pharaoh ſhall ſee them, and ſhall be comforted over all his multitude, even Pharaoh and all his army ſlain by the ſword, ſaith the Lord God. 32 For I have cauſed my terror in the land of the living: and he ſhall be laid in the midſt of the uncircumciſed with them that are ſlain with the ſword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

Thou art as a Whale in the Seas] By the Word Tannim we may fitly underſtand a Crocodile, as was obſerved upon Ch. xxix. 3. and the Deſcription that follows of this Creature agrees very well to a Crocodile, but cannot be applied to a Whale.

I will lay thy Fleſh upon the Mountains, and fill the Valleys with thy Height] The vaſt Bulk of thine Armies when they are ſlain, ſhall fill both Mountains and Valleys. See Ch. xxxi. 12.

I will cover the Heavens, and make the Stars thereof dark] Theſe Metaphors denote the Downfal of States and Governments, Kings and Rulers being figuratively expreſſed by the Sun, Moon, and Stars. Compare Iſa. xiii. 10. xxxiv. 4. Joel ii. 31. Rev. vi. 12, 13, 14. God's Judgments upon particular Countries being Earneſts of a general Judgment, they are deſcribed as if the whole Frame of Nature were diſſolved.

Neither ſhall the Foot of Man trouble them any more, nor the Hoofs of Beaſts, &c.] Here is a Tranſition from a proper Senſe to a metaphorical one. The Prophet in the ſecond Verſe, compared the Diſturbances the Egyptians gave their Neighbours to troubling and fouling of Waters; in Alluſion to which Metaphor he ſaith here, that when Egypt is made deſolate, and the Number both of Men and Beaſts diminiſhed by their Wars and Confuſions, then their Neighbours will enjoy ſuch Quietneſs as a River does that ſmoothly glides along, and never hath its Streams fouled or diſturbed.

Unto the nether Parts of the Earth, with them that go down to the Pit] The Expreſſions denote utter Deſtruction, and are parallel to thoſe elſewhere uſed of being brought down to Hell, to the Grave, or into Silence. Compare Ch. xxxi. 14. Iſa. xiv. 15.

The Strong among the Mighty ſhall ſpeak to him out of the Midſt of Hell, with them that help him] Here follows a poetical Deſcription of the Infernal Regions, where the Ghoſts of deceaſed Tyrants, with their Subjects, are repreſented as coming to meet the King of Egypt and his Auxiliaries: See Ch. xxx. 8. upon their Arrival to the ſame Place. Hell ſignifies here the State of the Dead. Compare Ch. xxxi. 16, 17. Iſa. xiv, 9, &c.

They have ſet her a Bed in the Midſt of the Slain] Elam and her People have a Place among the deceaſed Princes and Potentates. The Word Bed is uſed for the Grave, Iſa. lvii. 2. and may perhaps in both Places allude to the coſtly Monuments or Sepulchres, which uſed to be erected for Perſons of great Quality. Mittah, a Word of the ſame Senſe is uſed for a Bier or Coffin, 2 Sam. iii. 31.

There is Meſhech, and Tubal, and all her Multitude] Who are threatened by God with a terrible Deſtruction. See Ch. xxxviii. 2, 3, &c. But they ſeem to be mentioned here by way of Prolepſis or Anticipation, as the Criticks call it; for the Deſtruction threatened to Meſhech and Tubal, was not to come to paſs till ſeveral Ages after this Prophecy againſt Egypt was fulfilled, as may be gathered from ſeveral Expreſſions in that Prophecy. It is uſual in the Prophets to ſpeak of what is to come, as if it were already paſt. So the Country of Goſhen is called the Land of Ramaſes, Gen. xlvii. 11. which yet had that Name from the City Ramaſes, built in After-times by the Iſraelites. See Exod. i. 11. By the ſame Figure Horeb is called the Mountain of God, Exod. iii. 1. concerning Meſhech and Tubal, ſee Ch. xxvii. 13.

Which are gone to Hell with their Weapons of War, &c.] The Prophet may poſſibly repreſent the future State of theſe Tyrants and Warriors, according to the popular Notions received in the World, and deſcribe their Condition in the other Life ſuitably to the Characters they bore in this. So Virgil deſcribes his Heroes in the Elyſian Fields, Æneid. L. 6.

——— Quæ gratia currûm
Armorumque fuit vivis — ſequitur tellure repoſtos.

And they have laid their Swords under their Heads] Who were carried to their Graves in State, and had their Atchievements and other Enſigns of Honour affixed to their Monuments for perpetuating their Memory. It has been the Cuſtom of all Ages to adorn the Sepulchres of Heroes with their Swords and other Trophies of War. See 1 Macc. xiii. 19.

There be the Princes of the North all of them, and the Zidonians] By the Princes of the North, may probably be underſtood the Tyrians and their Allies (ſee Ch. xxvi. 16.) joined here with the Sidonians their near Neighbours, as they are put together in this Prophecy Ch. xxviii. as Sharers in the ſame Deſtruction. Some by the Princes of the North, underſtand Meſhech, Tubal, and other Nations, (ſee Ch. xxxviii. 6, 15. xxxix. 2.) whoſe Deſtruction is foretold in thoſe Chapters.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Duty of a Prophet. An earneſt Exhortation to Repentance. Upon the News that Jeruſalem was deſtroyed, the Prophet foretels the utter Deſtruction of Judea, and reproves the Hypocriſy of thoſe Jews who were of the Captivity.

Ver. 1. AGain the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, ſpeak to the children of thy people, and ſay unto them, When I bring the ſword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coaſts, and ſet him for their watchman:

If when he ſeeth the ſword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people; 4 Then whoſoever heareth the ſound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning; if the ſword come, and take him away, his blood ſhall be upon his own head. 5 He heard the ſound of the trumpet, and took not warning, his blood ſhall be upon him: but he that taketh warning, ſhall deliver his ſoul. 6 But if the watchman ſee the ſword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the ſword come and take any perſon from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand. 7 So thou, O ſon of man, I have ſet thee a watchman unto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me. 8 When I ſay unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou ſhalt ſurely die; if thou doſt not ſpeak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand. 9 Nevertheleſs, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it: if he do not turn from his way, he ſhall die in his iniquity, but thou haſt delivered thy ſoul. 10 Therefore, O thou ſon of man, ſpeak unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ye ſpeak, ſaying, If our tranſgreſſions and our ſins be upon us, and we pine away in them, how ſhould we then live? 11 Say unto them, As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I have no pleaſure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O houſe of Iſrael? 12 Therefore, thou ſon of man, ſay unto the children of thy people, The righteouſneſs of the righteous ſhall not deliver him in the day of his tranſgreſſion: as for the wickedneſs of the wicked, he ſhall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickedneſs; neither ſhall the righteous be able to live for his righteouſneſs in the day that he ſinneth. 13 When I ſhall ſay to the righteous, that he ſhall ſurely live: if he truſt to his own righteouſneſs, and commit iniquity; all his righteouſneſs ſhall not be remembred, but for his iniquity that he hath committed he ſhall die for it. 14 Again, when I ſay unto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely die: if he turn from his ſin, and do that which is lawful and right; 15 If the wicked reſtore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the ſtatutes of life without committing iniquity; he ſhall ſurely live, he ſhall not die. 16 None of his ſins that he hath committed ſhall be mentioned unto him: he hath done that which is lawful and right; he ſhall ſurely live. 17 Yet the children of thy people ſay, the way of the Lord is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal. 18 When the righteous turneth from his righteouſneſs, and committeth iniquity, he ſhall even die thereby. 19 But if the wicked turn from his wickedneſs, and do that which is lawful and right, he ſhall live thereby. 20 Yet ye ſay, The way of the Lord is not equal: O ye houſe of Iſrael, I will judge you every one after his ways. 21 And it came to paſs in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that one that had eſcaped out of Jeruſalem, came unto me, ſaying, The city is ſmitten. 22 Now the hand of the Lord was upon me in the evening, afore he that was eſcaped came; and had opened my mouth until he came to me in the morning, and my mouth was opened, and I was no more dumb. 23 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 24 Son of man, they that inhabit thoſe waſtes of the land of Iſrael, ſpeak, ſaying, Abraham was one, and he inherited the land: but we are many, the land is given us for inheritance. 25 Wherefore ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Ye eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and ſhed blood; and ſhall ye poſſeſs the land? 26 Ye ſtand upon your ſword, ye work abomination, and ye defile every one his neighbours wife; and ſhall ye poſſeſs the land? 27 Say thou thus unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God. As I live, ſurely they that are in the waſtes ſhall fall by the ſword, and him that is in the open field will I give to the beaſts to be devoured; and they that be in the forts, and in the caves, ſhall die of the peſtilence. 28 For I will lay the land moſt deſolate, and the pomp of her ſtrength ſhall ceaſe: and the mountains of Iſrael ſhall be deſolate, that none ſhall paſs through. 29 Then ſhall they know that I am the Lord, when I have laid the land moſt deſolate, becauſe of all their abominations which they have committed. 30 Alſo thou ſon of man, the children of thy people ſtill are talking againſt thee by the walls, and in the doors of the houſes, and ſpeak one to another, every one to his brother, ſaying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that cometh forth from the Lord. 31 And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they ſit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they ſhew much love, but their heart goeth after their covetouſneſs. 32 And lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely ſong of one that hath a pleaſant voice, and can play well on an inſtrument: for they hear thy words but they do them not. 33 And when this cometh to paſs (lo it will come) then ſhall they know that a prophet hath been among them.

If our Tranſgreſſions be upon us, and we pine away in them, how ſhall we then live?] Thou haſt threatned that we ſhall pine away in our Sins, Ch. xxiv. 23. How then can the Promiſes of Life belong to us? The Words of Perſons deſpairing of God's Mercy, and from hence taking Encouragement to go on in their Sins. See a like Inſtance, Jer. ii. 25.

And had opened my Mouth until he came to me in the Morning, &c.] God has given me Commiſſion to ſpeak in his Name unto the People, which I had not done before near the Space of three Years. Compare Ch. xxiv. 1. And the Deſtruction of the City, which I had ſo often foretold, being now brought to paſs, (which at that Time you would not believe; ſee Ch. xi. 3. xii. 22.) gave an indiſputable Authority and Credit to my Words.

Abraham was one, and he inherited the Land] If Abraham being but a ſingle Perſon, with his Family, had the whole Country of Judea given to him, ſee Gen. xiii. 15. there is much greater Reaſon to conclude that God will preſerve the Poſſeſſion of it to us, who are a numerous Part of Abraham's Poſterity. Theſe Men ſpake after the vain Manner of the Jews, who fondly preſume that they have a Right to all the Promiſes made to Abraham: See Matt. iii. 8. John viii. 33. Rom. ix. 7. The Title of One is elſewhere given to Abraham, braham, as being fingled out from the reſt of his Family, to be the Original or Head of the Jewiſh Nation: See Iſa. li. 2. Mal. ii. 15. Heb. xi. 12.

Ye eat with the Blood] Which was forbidden ſeveral Times in the Law, as being a Rite the Heathens uſed in the Sacrifices they offered to their Idols (whoſe Worſhip is reproved in the very next Words) as Dr. Spencer proves, Lib. ii. de Leg. Hebraic. C. 11. who brings many Arguments to ſhew that the Hebrew Phraſe Nal Hadam, ſhould be tranſlated near the Blood; in Alluſion to the idolatrous Rite of pouring the Blood of the ſlain Beaſt into a Veſſel or Pit, and the eating Part of the Sacrifice juſt by it.

Ye ſtand upon your Sword] You make your Strength the Law of Juſtice, according to Wiſd. ii. 11. Dr. Spencer, in the fore-cited Place, thinks, that the Expreſſion alludes to a Cuſtom of the Heathens, who put the Blood of their Sacrifices into a Veſſel or Pit, in order to call up and conſult Evil Spirits, and then ſtood with their Swords drawn to keep the Demons off from doing them any Harm.

For with their Mouth they ſhew how much they love] They make Loves, or Jeſts, as our Margin reads out of the Hebrew; which ſome Interpreters underſtand, as if they ridiculed the Prophet's Words, or turned them into Burleſque; ſo the vulgar Latin renders it, In canticum oris ſui vertunt. But by comparing this with the following Verſe, where the ſame Word Negabim is ſpoken of a Song or Muſical Tune, we may rather underſtand the Phraſe to this Senſe, that they were delighted with the Prophet's harmonious Voice, or taking Eloquence, but would not make the proper Uſe of what he ſaid for the correcting their evil Manners.

CHAP. XXXIV.

God reproves the Conduct of the Jewiſh Governors; and promiſes a general Reſtoration of his People, and their happy Condition under the Government of the Meſſiah their King.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, propheſy againſt the ſhepherds of Iſrael, propheſy and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God unto the ſhepherds, Wo be to the ſhepherds of Iſrael that do feed themſelves: ſhould not the ſhepherds feed the flocks? 3 Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock. 4 The diſeaſed have ye not ſtrengthened, neither have ye healed that which was ſick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye ſought that which was loſt; but with force and with cruelty have ye ruled them. 5 And they were ſcattered becauſe there is no ſhepherd: and they became meat to all the beaſts of the field, when they were ſcattered. 6 My ſheep wandred through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was ſcattered upon all the face of the earth, and none did ſearch or ſeek after them. 7 Therefore, ye ſhepherds, hear the word of the Lord; 8 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, ſurely becauſe my flock became a prey, and my flock became meat to every beaſt of the field, becauſe there was no ſhepherd, neither did my ſhepherds ſearch for my flock, but the ſhepherds fed themſelves, and fed not my flock: 9 Therefore, O ye ſhepherds, hear the word of the Lord; 10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt the ſhepherds, and I will require my flock at their hand, and cauſe them to ceaſe from feeding the flock, neither ſhall th ſhepherds feed themſelves any more; for I wi deliver my flock from their mouth, that the may not be meat for them. 11 For thus ſait the Lord God, Behold, I, even I will bot ſearch my ſheep, and ſeek them out. 12 As ſhepherd ſeeketh out his flock in the day tha he is among his ſheep that are ſcattered; ſo wi I ſeek out my ſheep, and will deliver them ou of all places, where they have been ſcattered i the cloudy and dark day. 13 And I will brin them out from the people, and gather the from the countries, and will bring them to the own land, and feed them upon the mountains Iſrael by the rivers, and in all the inhabite places of the country. 14 I will feed them in good paſture, and upon the high mountains Iſrael ſhall their fold be: there ſhall they lie a good fold, and in a fat paſture ſhall they fe upon the mountains of Iſrael. 15 I will fe my flock, and I will cauſe them to lie dow ſaith the Lord God. 16 I will ſeek that wh was loſt, and bring again that which was driv away, and will bind up that which was brok and will ſtrengthen that which was ſick: bu will deſtroy the fat and the ſtrong, I will fe them with judgment. 17 And as for thou O my flock, thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I judge between cattel and cattel, betwee the rams and the he-goats. 18 Seem it ſmall thing unto you, to have eaten up the goo paſture, but ye muſt tread down with your fe the reſidue of your paſtures? and to have drun of the deep waters, but ye muſt foul the reſidu with your feet? 19 And as for my flock, the eat that which ye have troden with your feet and they drink that which ye have fouled wit your feet. 20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lor God unto them, Behold, I, even I will judg between the fat cattel, and between the lean ca tel. 21 Becauſe ye have thruſt with ſide an with ſhoulder, and puſht all the diſeaſed wit your horns, till ye have ſcattered them abroad 22 Therefore will I ſave my flock, and the ſhall no more be a prey, and I will judge be tween cattel and cattel. 23 And I will ſet u one ſhepherd over them, and he ſhall feed them even my ſervant David; he ſhall feed them, an he ſhall be their ſhepherd. 24 And I the Lor will be their God, and my ſervant David prince among them, I the Lord have ſpoken i 25 And I will make with them a covenant o peace, and will cauſe the evil beaſts to ceaſe ou of the land: and they ſhall dwell ſafely in th wilderneſs, and ſleep in the woods. 26 And will make them and the places round about m hill, a bleſſing; and I will cauſe the ſhower t come down in his ſeaſon: there ſhall be ſhowe of bleſſing. 27 And the tree of the field ſha yield her fruit, and the earth ſhall yield her i creaſe, and they ſhall be ſafe in their land, an ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ha broken the bands of their yoke, and delivere them out of the hand of thoſe that ſerved the ſelves of them. 28 And they ſhall no more b a prey to the heathen, neither ſhall the beas of the land devour them: but they ſhall dwe ſafely, and none ſhall make them afraid. 29 And I will raiſe up for them a plant of renow and they ſhall be no more conſumed with hu ger in the land, neither bear the ſhame of the heathen any more. 30 Thus ſhall they know that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the houſe of Iſrael, are my people, ſaith the Lord God. 31 And ye my flock the flock of my paſture, are men, and I am your God, ſaith the Lord God.

Wo to the Shepherds of Iſrael that feed themſelves] The Word Shepherd, in the prophetical Writings, comprehends both Civil and Eccleſiaſtical Governors. Wo to ſuch that regard their own Profit and Advantage, not the Good of the People committed to their Charge. Plato, in his firſt Book of Commonwealth, deſcribing the Office of a Magiſtrate, ſaith, 'He 'ſhould look upon himſelf as ſuſtaining the Office of a 'Shepherd, that makes it his Buſineſs to take Care of 'his Flock; not as if he were going to a Feaſt to fill 'himſelf and ſatiate his Appetite, or to a Market to 'make what Gain he can to himſelf.'

I will ſeek that which was loſt; &c.] The Meſſias, whom I will ſet over them, ſhall faithfully diſcharge all the Offices of a Shepherd toward them, which their former Paſtors neglected, Ver. 4. Compare Iſa. xl. 11. lxi. 1. Matt. xv. 24. xviii. 11. John x. 11.

And I will ſet up one Shepherd over them, — even my Servant David] The Meſſias is often deſcribed under the Character of a Shepherd, both in the Old and New Teſtament. And the Title may be applied to him with reſpect to his Office of King, as well as of that of Prieſt and Prophet. He is elſewhere ſtiled by the Name of David, as being the Perſon in whom all the Promiſes made to David were fulfilled. See Iſa. lv. 3, 4. Jer. xxx. 9. Hoſ. iii. 5. The Expreſſion may likewiſe allude to David's firſt Employment, which was that of a Shepherd.

And will cauſe the evil Beaſts to ceaſe out of the Land] This may be meant of Freedom from Perſecution by Infidels and Strangers. Compare Ver. 28. Such Security is elſewhere expreſſed by making a Covenant for them with the Beaſts of the Field: See Hoſ. ii. 18. Job v. 23. Iſa. xxxv. 9. Lev. xxvi. 6. The Words will likewiſe bear a literal Interpretation, importing, that as God had threatned that after the Deſolation of the Land, wild Beaſts ſhould over-run it, and devour the few Inhabitants that were left, (ſee Ch. v. 17.) ſo upon repeopling of the Country, thoſe Ravagers ſhould forſake it,

And ye, my Flock, the Flock of my Paſture are Men] Theſe Words at the Concluſion of the Chapter, explain the Metaphor which runs through the Whole: That what was ſaid of a Flock and its Shepherds, is to be underſtood of Men and their Governors; and eſpecially of God's People, whom he takes Care of as a Shepherd does of his Flock.

CHAP. XXXV.

The Prophet renews his former Denunciations of Judgments againſt the Edomites, as a juſt Puniſhment for their inſulting over the Calamities of the Jews.

Ver. 1. MOreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt mount Seir, and propheſy againſt it, 3 And ſay unto it, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I am againſt thee, and I will ſtretch out mine hand againſt thee, and I will make thee moſt deſolate. 4 I will lay thy cities waſte, and thou ſhalt be deſolate, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord. 5 Becauſe thou haſt had a perpetual hatred, and haſt ſhed the blood of the children of Iſrael by the force of the ſword, in the time of their calamity, in the time that their iniquity had an end: 6 Therefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood ſhall purſue thee: ſith thou haſt not hated blood, even blood ſhall purſue thee. 7 Thus will I make mount Seir moſt deſolate, and cut off from it him that paſſeth out, and him that returneth. 8 And I will fill his mountains with his ſlain men: in thy hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers ſhall they fall that are ſlain with the ſword. 9 I will make thee perpetual deſolations, and thy cities ſhall not return, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 10 Becauſe thou haſt ſaid, Theſe two nations, and theſe two countries ſhall be mine, and we will poſſeſs it, whereas the Lord was there: 11 Therefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will even do according to thine anger, and according to thine envy which thou haſt uſed out of thy hatred againſt them: and I will make myſelf known amongſt them, when I have judged thee. 12 And thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord, and that I have heard all thy blaſphemies which thou haſt ſpoken againſt the mountains of Iſrael, ſaying, They are laid deſolate, they are given us to conſume. 13 Thus with your mouth have ye boaſted againſt me, and have multiplied your words againſt me: I have heard them. 14 Thus ſaith the Lord God, When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee deſolate. 15 As thou didſt rejoice at the inheritance of the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe it was deſolate, ſo will I do unto thee: thou ſhalt be deſolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

And I will make thee perpetual Deſolations, &c.] See Ch. xxv. 13. Jer. xlix. 17, 18. Mal. i. 3. Dr. Prideaux informs us, that the Nabatheans having driven the Edomites out of their antient Habitations, in the Time of the Babyloniſh Captivity, they ſetled themſelves in the Southern Parts of Judea, where they were afterward conquered by Hyrcanus, and obliged to embrace the Jewiſh Religion, and ſo it became at length incorporated with that Nation.

When the whole Earth rejoiceth, I will make thee deſolate] When I ſhall reſtore other Countries, conquered by the Kings of Babylon, to their Poſterity, thou ſhalt ſtill lie waſte and deſolate. The Edomites never recovered their Country, after the Nabatheans had expelled them out of it. See Dr. Prideaux, Part II. P. 299.

CHAP. XXXVI.

A Prediction of the general Reſtoration both of Iſrael and Judah.

Ver. 1. ALSO thou ſon of man, propheſy unto the mountains of Iſrael, and ſay, Ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the Lord. 2 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe the enemy had ſaid againſt you, Aha, even the antient high places are ours in poſſeſſion: 3 Therefore propheſy and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe they have made you deſolate, and ſwallowed you up on every ſide, that ye might be a poſſeſſion unto the reſidue of the heathen, and ye are taken up in the lips of talkers, and are an infamy of the people: 4 Therefore ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the Lord God, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, to the deſolate waſtes, and to the cities that are forſaken, which became a prey and and deriſion to the reſidue of the heathen that are round about: 5 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of my jealouſy have I ſpoken againſt the reſidue of the heathen, and againſt all Idumea, which have appointed my land into their poſſeſſion, with the joy of all their heart, with deſpiteful minds to caſt it out for a prey. 6 Propheſy therefore concerning the land of Iſrael, and ſay unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I have ſpoken in my jealouſy and in my fury, becauſe ye have borne the ſhame of the heathen. 7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I have lifted up mine hand, Surely the heathen that are about you, they ſhall bear their ſhame. 8 But ye, O mountains of Iſrael, ye ſhall ſhoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Iſrael, for they are at hand to come. 9 For behold, I am for you, and I will turn unto you, and ye ſhall be tilled and ſown. 10 And I will multiply men upon you, all the houſe of Iſrael, even all of it, and the cities ſhall be inhabited, and the waſtes ſhall be builded. 11 And I will multiply upon you man and beaſt, and they ſhall increaſe and bring fruit, and I will ſettle you after your old eſtates, and will do better unto you than at your beginnings, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 12 Yea, I will cauſe men to walk upon you, even my people Iſrael, and they ſhall poſſeſs thee, and thou ſhalt be their inheritance, and thou ſhalt no more henceforth bereave them of men. 13 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe they ſay unto you, Thou land devoureſt up men, and haſt bereaved thy nations; 14 Therefore thou ſhalt devour men no more, neither bereave thy nations any more, ſaith the Lord God. 15 Neither will I cauſe men to hear in thee the ſhame of the heathen any more, neither ſhalt thou bear the reproach of the people any more, neither ſhalt thou cauſe thy nations to fall any more, ſaith the Lord God. 16 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 17 Son of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their own land, they defiled it by their own way, and by their doings: their way was before me as the uncleanneſs of a removed woman. 18 Wherefore I poured my fury upon them for the blood that they had ſhed upon the land, and for their idols wherewith they had polluted it. 19 And I ſcattered them among the heathen, and they were diſperſed through the countries: according to their way, and according to their doings I judged them. 20 And when they entred unto the heathen whither they went, they profaned my holy name, when they ſaid to them, Theſe are the people of the Lord, and are gone forth out of his land. 21 But I had pity for mine holy name, which the houſe of Iſrael had profaned among the heathen whither they went. 22 Therefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I do not this for your ſakes, O houſe of Iſrael, but for mine holy names ſake, which ye have profaned among the heathen, whither ye went. 23 And I will ſanctify my great name, which was profaned among the heathen, which ye have profaned in the midſt of them, and the heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, ſaith the Lord God, when I ſhall be ſanctified in you, before their eyes. 24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land. 25 Then will I ſprinkle clean water upon you, and ye ſhall be clean: from all your filthineſs, and from all your idols will I cleanſe you. 26 A new heart alſo will I give you, and a new ſpirit will I put within you, and I will take away the ſtony heart out of your fleſh, and I will give you an heart of fleſh. 27 And I will put my Spirit within you, and cauſe you to walk in my ſtatutes, and ye ſhall keep my judgments, and do them. 28 And ye ſhall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God. 29 I will alſo ſave you from all your uncleanneſſes, and I will call for the corn, and will increaſe it, and lay no famine upon you. 30 And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increaſe of the field, that ye ſhall receive no more reproach of famine among the heathen. 31 Then ſhall ye remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and ſhall loath yourſelves in your own ſight, for your iniquities, and for your abominations. 32 Not for your ſakes do I this, ſaith the Lord God, be it known unto you: be aſhamed and confounded for your own ways, O houſe of Iſrael. 33 Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the day that I ſhall have cleanſed you from all your iniquities, I will alſo cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the waſtes ſhall be builded. 34 And the deſolate land ſhall be tilled, whereas it lay deſolate in the ſight of all that paſſed by. 35 And they ſhall ſay, This land that was deſolate is become like the garden of Eden; and the waſte, and deſolate, and ruined cities are become fenced, and are inhabited. 36 Then the heathen that are left round about you, ſhall know that I the Lord build the ruined places, and plant that that was deſolate: I the Lord have ſpoken it, and I will do it. 37 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will yet for this be inquired of by the houſe of Iſrael, to do it for them, I will increaſe them with men like a flock. 38 As the holy flock, as the flock of Jeruſalem in her ſolemn feaſts; ſo ſhall the waſte cities be filled with flocks of men, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Becauſe the Enemy hath ſaid againſt you, even the antient high Places are ours in Poſſeſſion] The Paganæans have made their Boaſts (ſee Ver. 5. and Ch. xxxv. 10.) that they ſhould become Maſters of the mountainous Parts of Judea, where the antient Fortreſſes were placed which commanded all the reſt of the Country. To the ſame Senſe we are to underſtand the Expreſſion of Treading upon the high Places of the Earth, Deut. xxxii. 13. i. e. taking Poſſeſſion of the Fortreſſes or Paſſes which command the reſt of the Country.

And ye are taken up in the Lips of Talkers, and are the Infamy of the Heathen] Your Calamities have made you become a Proverb, a By-word and a Reproach among the Heathen round about you, according to the Threatnings of the Prophets denounced againſt you. See Deut. xxviii. 37. 1 Kings ix. 7, 8. Jer. xviii. 16. Lam. ii. 15. Dan. ix. 16. Pſ. lxxix. 4.

Yield your Fruit to my People of Iſrael, for they are at hand to come] This may have an immediate Aſpect upon the Jews Return from Babylon, when they were reſtored to the Poſſeſſion of their own Country. If we ſuppoſe the Words to relate to the general Reſtoration of the Nation, the longeſt Diſtance of Time that the Things of this World can extend to, is but a Moment in reſpect of Eternity. Compare Heb. x. 37. Phil. iv. 5.

Thou Land devoureſt up Men, and haſt bereaved thy Nations] The neighbouring People raiſed this ill Character upon the Land of Judea, becauſe of the ſevere Judgments of the Sword, Famine, and Peſtilence, which had deſtroyed the greateſt Part of the Inhabitants. The Expreſſion alludes to that evil Report which the Spies brought upon it, Numb. xiii. 32. that it was a Land that did eat up its Inhabitants; as if the Air had been unwholſome, or the Country always afflicted by ſome Judgment from Heaven.

And when they entred unto the Heathen — they profaned my holy Name, when they ſaid unto them, &c.] Or, When it was ſaid unto them: Verbs of the Third Perſon being often taken impersonally. By their evil Practices they brought a Scandal upon my Name, and gave Occaſion to the Heathen to ſay, See what profligate Wretches theſe are, who call themſelves by the Name of God's People, whom he hath juſtly expelled out of their Country which he had given them. The Chaldee Paraphraſt underſtands the Words to this Senſe: 'If theſe are God's People, why does 'he ſuffer them to be turned out of the Land which 'he made the Place of his own eſpecial Reſidence? 'Why does he not continue to protect them?' But the former Senſe agrees better with the Scope of the Text, and with St. Paul's Application of it to the Jews of his own Time, Rom. ii. 24. and with what follows, Ver. 31.

And I will ſprinkle clean Water upon you, and ye ſhall be clean] The Expreſſion alludes to thoſe Legal Purifications which were made by ſprinkling Water upon the unclean Perſon: See Numb. viii. 7. xix. 13. and denotes the Sacrament of Baptiſm, by which true Believers are cleanſed from their former Sins, and inwardly ſanctified: See Acts ii. 38. xxii. 16. Tit. iii. 5. and compare Jer. xxxiii. 8. St. Paul may probably allude to this Text, when he exhorts the Hebrew Converts to draw nigh to God, having their Hearts ſprinkled from an evil Conſcience, and their Bodies waſhed with pure Water, Heb. x. 22.

I will yet for this be enquired of by the Houſe of Iſrael, to do it for them] God in his Anger tells the Jews, that he will not be enquired of by them; Ch. xiv. 3. xx. 3, 31. intimating, that during their Continuance in Idolatry and other Wickedneſs, they ought not to addreſs themſelves to him, nor expect any favourable Anſwer to their Requeſts: But now, upon their Repentance and Reconciliation, he tells them, that he will be enquired of by them; i. e. he will diſpoſe their Hearts to apply themſelves to him by Prayer, and will anſwer the Petitions they make to him for the fulfilling theſe his Promiſes: See Pſ. x. 17. and compare Jer. xxix. 13.

As the holy Flock, as the Flock of Jeruſalem in her ſolemn Feaſts] The Sheep and Lambs, deſigned for the Sacrifices which were offered at the three ſolemn Feaſts, were both very numerous, and likewiſe of the beſt in their Kind. The Epithet of Holy, and moſt Holy, is often applied to the Sacrifices in the Levitical Law, as being wholly dedicated to God, and ſet apart for his Worſhip. See Levit. vi. 25, 29. Numb. xviii. 9.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Under the Figure of the Reſurrection of dry Bones, is foretold the general Reſtoration of the Jews from their ſeveral Diſperſions; and by the joining of two Sticks, the uniting of Iſrael and Judah into one Kingdom.

Ver. 1. THE hand of the Lord was upon me, and carried me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and ſet me down in the midſt of the valley which was full of bones, 2 And cauſed me to paſs by them round about, and behold, there were very many in the open valley, and lo, they were very dry. 3 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, can theſe bones live? and I anſwered O Lord God, thou knoweſt. 4 Again he ſaid unto me, Propheſy upon theſe bones, and ſay unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the Lord. 5 Thus ſaith the Lord God unto theſe bones, Behold, I will cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhall live. 6 And I will lay ſinews upon you, and will bring up fleſh upon you, and cover you with ſkin, and put breath in you; and ye ſhall live, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord. 7 So I propheſied as I was commanded: and as I propheſied there was a noiſe, and behold a ſhaking, and the bones came together bone to his bone. 8 And when I beheld, lo, the ſinews and the fleſh came up upon them, and the ſkin covered them above; but there was no breath in them. 9 Then ſaid he unto me, Propheſy unto the wind, propheſy, ſon of man, and ſay to the wind, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon theſe ſlain, that they may live. 10 So I propheſied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived and ſtood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army. 11 Then he ſaid unto me, Son of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael: behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is loſt, we are cut off for our parts. 12 Therefore propheſy and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, O my people, I will open your graves, and cauſe you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Iſrael. 13 And ye ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves, 14 And ſhall put my Spirit in you, and ye ſhall live, and I ſhall place you in your own land: then ſhall ye know that I the Lord have ſpoken it, and performed it, ſaith the Lord. 15 The word of the Lord came again unto me, ſaying, 16 Moreover, thou ſon of man, take thee one ſtick, and write upon it, For Judah, and for the children of Iſrael his companions: then take another ſtick, and write upon it, For Joſeph the ſtick of Ephraim, and for all the houſe of Iſrael his companions. 17 And join them one to another into one ſtick, and they ſhall become one in thine hand. 18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeak unto thee, ſaying, Wilt thou not ſhew us what thou meaneſt by theſe? 19 Say unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the ſtick of Joſeph which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the ſtick of Judah, and make them one ſtick, and they ſhall be one in mine hand. 20 And the ſticks whereon thou writeſt, ſhall be in thine hand before their eyes. 21 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on every ſide, and bring them into their own land. 22 And I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Iſrael, and one king ſhall be king to them all: and they ſhall be no more two nations, neither ſhall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all: 23 Neither ſhall they they defile themselves any more with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will save them out of all their dwelling-places, wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God. 24 And David my servant shall be king over them; and they all shall have one shepherd: they shall also walk in my judgments, and observe my statutes, and do them. 25 And they shall dwell in the land that I have given unto Jacob my servant, wherein your fathers have dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, even they and their children, and their childrens children for ever, and my servant David shall be their prince for ever. 26 Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace with them, it shall be an everlasting covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary in the midst of them for evermore. 27 My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people. 28 And the heathen shall know that I the Lord do sanctify Israel, when my sanctuary shall be in the midst of them for evermore.

O ye dry Bones, hear ye the Word of the Lord] A prophetical and lively Representation of that Voice of the Son of God, which all that are in their Graves shall hear at the last Day, and shall come forth out of them, John v. 28, 29.

And as I prophesied there was a Noise, and behold a Shaking] Such a Noise, or Commotion, as we may suppose the Bones of a human Body would make upon their meeting together again, after having been severed one from another.

Prophesy unto the Wind] Or rather, To the Breath, meaning that vital Principle which unites Soul and Body together, and is mentioned as distinct from the four Winds, in the following Words.

Come from the four Winds, O Breath] The Words figuratively represent the Restoration of the Jewish Nation, from the several Countries whither they were dispersed over the World, expressed by their being scattered toward all Winds, Ch. v. 10. xxvii. 12, 13.

I will open your Graves, and cause you to come out of your Graves] I will reunite you into one Body or Nation, who now lie scattered and dispersed as the Bones in a Charnel House; compare Ver. 21. In their State of Dispersion and Captivity they are called the dead Israelites in Baruch, Ch. iii. 4. And their Restoration is described as a Resurrection by Isaiah, Ch. xxvi. 19. at which Time their Bones are said to flourish, or to be restored to their former Strength and Vigour in the same Prophet, Ch. lxvi. 14. In like manner St. Paul expresses the Conversion, and the general Restoration which shall accompany it, by Life from the Dead, Rom. xi. 15.

And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall live] That Principle of Life expressed by Breath or Spirit, Ver. 9. not excluding that new Spirit of Grace, which God will at that Time plentifully bestow upon them. See Ch. xi. 19. xxxvi. 26, 27. The Principle of Grace is often spoken of as a higher Principle of Life, and the Earnest of our heavenly Happiness. See Rom. viii. 11. 1 Cor. vi. 17. xv. 45.

Take thee one Stick] That is, one Rod; the Expression alludes to Numb. xvii. 2. where Moses is commanded to take twelve Rods, one for each Tribe, and to write the Name of the Tribe upon the Rod.

For Joseph the Stick of Ephraim, and for all the House of Israel his Companions] Upon Reuben's forfeiting his Birthright, that Privilege was conferred upon the Sons of Joseph, of whom Ephraim had the Precedence. See 1 Chron. v. 1. Gen. xlviii. 20. which made him the Head of Ten Tribes: Samaria, the Seat of that Kingdom, being likewise seated in the Tribe of Ephraim: Upon these Accounts the Name of Ephraim signifies in the Prophets the whole Kingdom of Israel, as distinct from that of Judah; and particularly in the Prophet Hosea, Ch. v. 3, 5, &c. Jer. xxxi. 6, 18.

And join them one to another into one Stick] A Rod or Sceptre is an Emblem of Power; see Ps. cx. 2. So the joining these two Rods or Sticks together, denotes the uniting of the two Kingdoms under one Prince or Governor; see Ver. 22.

And one King shall be King to them all] The Messias, who is that one Shepherd and Prince that shall rule over them all, as one Nation: See Ch. xxxiv. 23, 24. compared with Luke i. 32, 33. The Messias is described as the King of the Jews, in most of the Prophecies of the Old Testament, beginning with that of Gen. xlix. 10. concerning Shiloh. From David's Time he is commonly spoken of as the Person in whom the Promises relating to the Perpetuity of David's Kingdom were to be accomplished. This was a Truth unanimously owned by the Jews; see John i. 49. to which our Saviour bore Testimony before Pontius Pilate, when the Question being put to him, Art thou a King? he made Answer, Thou sayest (the Truth) for I am a King. Thus those Words should be translated: For St. Paul, alluding to them, calls them a good Confession, 1 Tim. vi. 13. The same Truth Pontius Pilate himself asserted in that Inscription which he providentially ordered to be written upon the Cross. See John xix. 19—22. So that the chief Priests impiously renounced their own avowed Principles, when they told Pilate, That they had no King but Cæsar, ib. Ver. 15.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

A Prophesy of Israel's Victory over Gog and Magog.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 2 Son of man, set thy face against Gog, the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy against him, 3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I am against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal. 4 And I will turn thee back and put hooks into thy chaws, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine army, horses and horsmen, all of them clothed with all sorts of armour, even a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords. 5 Persia, Ethiopia, and Libya with them; all of them with shield and helmet: 6 Gomer, and all his bands, the house of Togarmah of the north-quarters, and all his bands, and many people with thee. 7 Be thou prepared, and prepare for thyself, thou and all thy company that are assembled unto thee, and be thou a guard unto them. 8 After many days thou shalt be visited: in the latter years thou shalt come into the land that is brought back from the sword, and is gathered out of many people against the mountains of Israel, which have been always waste: but it is brought forth out of the nations, and they shall dwell safely all of them. 9 Thou shalt ascend and come like a storm, thou shalt be like a cloud to cover the land, thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee. 10 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall also come to pass, that at the same time shall things come into thy mind, and thou shalt think an evil thought. 11 And thou shalt say, I will go up to the land of unwalled villages, I will go to them that are at rest, that dwell safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither neither bars nor gates, 12 To take a ſpoil, and to take a prey, to turn thine hand upon the deſolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which have gotten cattel and goods, that dwell in the midſt of the land. 13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarſhiſh, with all the young lions thereof, ſhall ſay unto thee, Art thou come to take a ſpoil? haſt thou gathered thy company to take a prey? to carry away ſilver and gold, to take away cattel and goods, to take a great ſpoil? 14 Therefore, ſon of man, propheſy and ſay unto Gog, Thus ſaith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Iſrael dwelleth ſafely, ſhalt thou not know it? 15 And thou ſhalt come from thy place out of the north-parts, thou and many people with thee, all of them riding upon horſes, a great company and a mighty army. 16 And thou ſhalt come up againſt my people of Iſrael, as a cloud to cover the land, it ſhall be in the latter days, and I will bring thee againſt my land, that the heathen may know me, when I ſhall be ſanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes. 17 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Art thou he of whom I have ſpoken in old time by my ſervants the prophets of Iſrael, which propheſied in thoſe days many years, that I would bring thee againſt them? 18 And it ſhall come to paſs at the ſame time, when Gog ſhall come againſt the land of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, that my fury ſhall come up in my face. 19 For in my jealouſy, and in the fire of my wrath have I ſpoken: ſurely in that day there ſhall be a great ſhaking in the land of Iſrael: 20 So that the fiſhes of the ſea, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beaſts of the field, and all creeping things that creep upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the face of the earth, ſhall ſhake at my preſence, and the mountains ſhall be thrown down, and the ſteep places ſhall fall, and every wall ſhall fall to the ground. 21 And I will call for a ſword againſt him throughout all my mountains, ſaith the Lord God: every mans ſword ſhall be againſt his brother. 22 And I will plead againſt him with peſtilence and with blood, and I will rain upon him, and upon his bands, and upon the many people that are with him, an overflowing rain, and great hailſtones, fire and brimſtone. 23 Thus will I magnify myſelf, and ſanctify myſelf, and I will be known in the eyes of many nations, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Set thy Face againſt Gog, the Land of Magog] Or, of the Land of Magog. Magog was the Son of Japhet, Gen. x. 2. from whence the Scythians are generally ſuppoſed to be derived. The Mogul Tartars, a People of the Scythian Race, are ſtill called ſo by the Arabian Writers, as Dr. Hyde informs us in his Epiſtle De Menſuris Synenſibus. By Gog and Magog may moſt probably here be meant the Turks, who were originally Natives of Tartary, called Turcheſton by the Eaſtern Writers; and whoſe Language is derived from that of the Tartars. The Land of Canaan hath been, for ſeveral Years, in the Hands of the Turks. Several Texts in Ezekiel foretel the Jews Settlement in that Country again; and ſome of the Expreſſions in this and the following Chapter intimate, that the People here called by the Name of Gog, and their Allies, will attempt to recover it again out of the Hands of the Jews, its rightful Owners: This may probably occaſion the War and Victory here ſpoken of. But this is what cannot poſitively be affirmed; only thus much one may venture to ſay, That ſince the whole Strength of Europe was unſucceſsful in their Attempts to recover that Land out of the Hands of the Infidels in the Holy War, it looks as if God had reſerved that Work to ſome farther Time of his own Appointment, when that Country ſhould be the Scene of ſome extraordinary Event of Providence. We may farther obſerve, That the ſecond Woe, mentioned Rev. ix. 12. xi. 14. is by many learned Men underſtood of the Turkiſh Empire; and in Conſequence of that Interpretation, the putting an End to that Tyranny will be an Introduction to ſome extraordinary Changes in the Chriſtian Part of the World.

The chief Prince of Meſhech and Tubal] The King or Head of all thoſe Northern Nations which lie upon the Euxine Sea: See Note on Ch. xxvii. 13. The Turk is called the King of the North in Daniel, Ch. xi. 40. as ſeveral Commentators interpret that Place. The LXX take the Word Roſh, commonly tranſlated Chief, for a proper Name; ſo they render the Sentence thus, The Prince of Roſh, Meſhech, and Tubal. Roſh, taken as a proper Name, ſignifies thoſe Inhabitants of Scythia, from whence the Ruſſians derive their Name and Original.

Gomer and all his Bands, the Houſe of Togarmah of the North Quarters] Gomer is joined with Magog, Gen. x. 2. and probably ſignifies Galatia, Phrygia, and Bithynia, which with Cappadocia, denoted by Togarmah, comprehends all the Northern Parts of Aſia Minor, which border upon the Euxine Sea: See the Meaning of Togarmah explained in the Note upon Ch. xxvii. 14.

After many Days thou ſhalt be viſited] This Judgment ſhall be inflicted by God upon thee, (compare Iſa. xxix. 6.) after a Succeſſion of many Generations: In the latter Years, or Days, as it follows here, and Ver. 16.) i. e. towards the End of the World; compare Dan. viii. 26. particularly the Expreſſion of latter Days, or Years, is uſed to denote the Times of the general Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation: See Deut. iv. 30. Jer. xxx. 24. Hoſ. iii. 5.

But it is brought forth out of the Nations, and they ſhall dwell ſafely all of them] Or, And they have dwelt ſafely all of them; the Future Tenſe being put for the Præterperfect. The Senſe is, that after the Return of the People of Iſrael into their own Country, and their having lived there for ſome Time in Peace and Safety, this Enemy will think to take Advantage of their Security, and fall upon them unexpectedly. Compare Ver. 11.

With all the young Lions thereof] The Targum underſtands it of their Kings, i. e. their chief Merchants, who are deſcribed as ſo many Princes, Iſa. xxiii. 8. and are called Lions, becauſe of the Injuſtice and Oppreſſion they too commonly practiſed in their Commerce: See Ch. xxviii. 16. But the LXX tranſlate the Word Kephirim, Towns or Villages; in which Senſe it is taken Neh. vi. 2. and in other Places.

Of whom I have ſpoken in old Time by my Servants the Prophets, who have propheſied in thoſe Days many Years] Or, and Years. The Prophet is ſpeaking here of ſome terrible Enemy to God's People, who ſhall be ſubdued by the immediate Hand of Heaven, which Victory ſhould make way for glorious Times of Peace and Proſperity. This Enemy is ſaid to be foretold of old by the Prophets; and is therefore probably deſcribed under the Names of ſuch Nations as were the chief Enemies to the Jews, in the particular Times of each Prophet. Such we may ſuppoſe the Aſſyrians to be, ſpoken of by Iſaiah, Ch. xiv. 24, 25. and by Micah, Ch. v. 5. The ſame Enemy may probably be intended under the Figure of Tyre; ſee Ch. xxviii. 24. Of Egypt; ſee Ch. xxix. 21. and compare Iſa. xi. 15. with Zech. x. 11. Of Moab; ſee Iſa. xxv. 10. Of Edom; ſee Iſa. xxxiv. 6. xliii. 1. Joel iii. 20. Obad. Ver. 18, 19. and under the Name of Leviathan, Iſa. xxvii. 1. To theſe Prophecies we may add thoſe Prophecies which ſpeak of ſome great and general Deſtruction ſtruction of God's Enemies before the Day of Judgment, or Conſummation of all Things. Such are Pſ. cx. 5, 6. Iſa. xxvi. 20, 21. xxiv. 1, &c. lxvi. 16. Jer. xxx. 7, 10. Joel iii. 9, 14. Obad. Ver. 15, &c. Zech. xii. 1. xiv. 1, &c. Zechariah lived indeed after Ezekiel's Time, but a great while before the fulfilling of this Propheſy. The Expreſſions here uſed, of old Time, and which propheſied in thoſe Days (and) Years, plainly imply, that there was to be a Succeſſion of many Ages between the publiſhing thoſe Prophecies and this Event foretold by them; and therefore ſeem to look beyond the Times of Antiochus Epiphanes, to which ſome Expoſitors apply this Place of Ezekiel.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Ver. 1. THerefore, thou ſon of man, propheſy againſt Gog, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I am againſt thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meſhech and Tubal. 2 And I will turn thee back, and leave but the ſixth part of thee, and will cauſe thee to come up from the north-parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Iſrael. 3 And I will ſmite thy bow out of thy left hand, and will cauſe thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand. 4 Thou ſhalt fall upon the mountains of Iſrael, thou and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: I will give thee unto the ravenous birds of every ſort, and to the beaſts of the field to be devoured. 5 Thou ſhalt fall upon the open field, for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God. 6 And I will ſend a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell careleſly in the iſles, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord. 7 So will I make my holy name known in the midſt of my people Iſrael, and I will not let them pollute my holy name any more; and the heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, the holy One in Iſrael. 8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, ſaith the Lord God; this is the day whereof I have ſpoken. 9 And they that dwell in the cities of Iſrael ſhall go forth, and ſhall ſet on fire and burn the weapons, both the ſhields and the bucklers, the bows and the arrows, and the hand-ſtaves and the ſpears, and they ſhall burn them with fire ſeven years: 10 So that they ſhall take no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the foreſts: for they ſhall burn the weapons with fire, and they ſhall ſpoil thoſe that ſpoiled them, and rob thoſe that robbed them, ſaith the Lord God. 11 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Iſrael, the valley of the paſſengers on the eaſt of the ſea; and it ſhall ſtop the noſes of the paſſengers: and there ſhall they bury Gog, and all his multitude, and they ſhall call it, the valley of Hamon-gog. 12 And ſeven months ſhall the houſe of Iſrael be burying of them, that they may cleanſe the land. 13 Yea, all the people of the land ſhall bury them, and it ſhall be to them a renown the day that I ſhall be glorified, ſaith the Lord God. 14 And they ſhall ſever out men of continual employment, paſſing through the land to bury with the paſſengers thoſe that remain upon the face of the earth to cleanſe it: after the end of ſeven months ſhall they ſearch. 15 And the paſſengers that paſs through the land, when any ſeeth a mans bone, then ſhall he ſet up a ſign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Hamon-gog. 16 And alſo the name of the city ſhall be Hamonah: thus ſhall they cleanſe the land. 17 And thou ſon of man, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Speak unto every feathered fowl, and to every beaſt of the field, Aſſemble yourſelves, and come, gather yourſelves on every ſide to my ſacrifice that I do ſacrifice for you, even a great ſacrifice upon the mountains of Iſrael, that ye may eat fleſh, and drink blood. 18 Ye ſhall eat the fleſh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of goats, of bullocks, all of them fatlings of Baſhan. 19 And ye ſhall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken, of my ſacrifice which I have ſacrificed for you. 20 Thus ye ſhall be filled at my table with horſes and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of war, ſaith the Lord God. 21 And I will ſet my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen ſhall ſee my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid upon them. 22 So the houſe of Iſrael ſhall know that I am the Lord their God from that day and forward. 23 And the heathen ſhall know that the houſe of Iſrael went into captivity for their iniquity: becauſe they treſpaſſed againſt me, therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies; ſo fell they all by the ſword. 24 According to their uncleanneſs, and according to their tranſgreſſions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them. 25 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Now will I bring again the captivity of Jacob, and have mercy upon the whole houſe of Iſrael, and will be jealous for my holy name; 26 After that they have borne their ſhame, and all their treſpaſſes whereby they have treſpaſſed againſt me, when they dwelt ſafely in their land, and none made them afraid. 27 When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am ſanctified in them in the ſight of many nations; 28 Then ſhall they know that I am the Lord their God, which cauſed them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their own land, and have left none of them any more there. 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have poured out my Spirit upon the houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

And they that dwell in the Cities of Iſrael ſhall go forth, and ſhall ſet on Fire and burn the Weapons] It is a Token of an entire Conqueſt, and that ſuch a laſting Peace ſhall ſoon enſue, that there ſhould be no more need of warlike Preparations. Compare Pſalm xlvi. 9.

Seven Years] The Burning the Weapons of War muſt be the Conſequent of a complete Victory: So that the ſeven Years here mentioned cannot be meant, as ſome would underſtand them, of the terrible Conflicts which the Jews had with Antiochus Epiphanes from 143d or 145th Year of the Æra Selucidarum (according to the different Computation of the Beginning of that Perſecution; ſee 1 Macc. i. 20, 29.) to the 151ſt Year of the ſame Æra, when Nicanor was ſlain; ib. Ch. vii. 1, 43. Nor is that true which this Opinion ſuppoſes, viz. that Nicanor's Death put an End to the Troubles of the Jews; for after that there was great Affliction in Iſrael, the like whereof had not been ſince the Time that a Prophet had not been ſeen among them as the ſame Writer informs us, 1 Macc. ix. 27. So that this Paſſage of Ezekiel's Prophecy muſt neceſſarily be expounded of ſome other Event.

The Valley of the Paſſengers on the Eaſt Side of the Sea] That is, the Sea of Genneſareth, as the Chaldee Paraphraſt explains it. In the Hebrew Language all Lakes are called by the Name of Seas. The ſame is called the Eaſtern Sea, Ch. xlvii. 18. to diſtinguiſh it from the Mediterranean, called the Great Sea Weſtward, Joſh. xxiii. 1. The Valley near this Sea or Lake is called the Valley of the Paſſengers, becauſe it was a great Road by which the Merchants and Traders from Syria and other Eaſtern Countries, went into Egypt.

And they ſhall ſever out Men of continual Employment paſſing through the Land, to bury with the Paſſengers thoſe that remain upon the Face of the Earth] The latter Part of the Sentence may more clearly be tranſlated thus; even Buriers with the Paſſengers, [to bury] thoſe that remain, &c. For the Paſſengers or Searchers are diſtinguiſhed from thoſe whoſe Office it is to bury the Dead, in the following Verſe.

After the End of ſeven Months ſhall they ſearch] All the People ſhall be employed ſeven Months in burying the Dead, Ver. 13. and after they are ended, particular Perſons appointed for that Purpoſe ſhall make a clear Riddance.

Then he ſhall ſet up a Sign by it] A Stone, or ſome other Mark of Diſtinction, that Men may avoid paſſing over them.

And alſo the Name of the City ſhall be Hamonah] This is probably meant of a City that ſhould afterward be built near this Valley, and called Hamonah, ſignifying a Multitude, to perpetuate the Memory of ſuch a Tranſaction.

CHAP. XL.

A Deſcription of the two outward Courts with their Chambers, and the Porch of the Temple.

Ver. 1. IN the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was ſmitten, in the ſelf-ſame day the hand of the Lord was upon me, and brought me thither. 2 In the viſions of God brought he me into the land of Iſrael, and ſet me upon a very high mountain, by which was as the frame of a city on the ſouth. 3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a man, whoſe appearance was like the appearance of braſs, with a line of flax in his hand, and a meaſuring reed; and he ſtood in the gate. 4 And the man ſaid unto me, Son of man, behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and ſet thine heart upon all that I ſhall ſhew thee; for to the intent that I might ſhew them unto thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou ſeeſt, to the houſe of Iſrael. 5 And behold a wall on the outſide of the houſe round about, and in the mans hand a meaſuring-reed of ſix cubits long, by the cubit, and an handbreadth: ſo he meaſured the breadth of the building, one reed, and the height one reed. 6 Then came he unto the gate which looked toward the eaſt, and went up the ſtairs thereof, and meaſured the threſhold of the gate which was one reed broad, and the other threſhold of the gate, which was one reed broad. 7 And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and between the little chambers were five cubits, and the threſhold of the gate, by the porch of the gate within was one reed. 8 He meaſured alſo the porch of the gate within, one reed. 9 Then meaſured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits, and the poſts thereof two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward. 10 And the little chambers of the gate eaſtward, were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide, they three were of one meaſure, and the poſts had one meaſure on this ſide and on that ſide. 11 And he meaſured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the length of the gate thirteen cubits. 12 The ſpace alſo before the little chambers was one cubit on this ſide, and the ſpace was one cubit on that ſide, and the little chambers were ſix cubits on this ſide, and ſix cubits on that ſide. 13 He meaſured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door againſt door. 14 He made alſo poſts, of threeſcore cubits, even unto the poſt of the court round about the gate. 15 And from the face of the gate of the entrance, unto the face of the porch of the inner gate, were fifty cubits. 16 And there were narrow windows to the little chambers, and to their poſts within the gate round about, and likewiſe to the arches: and windows were round about inward: and upon each poſt were palm-trees. 17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about: thirty chambers were upon the pavement. 18 And the pavement by the ſide of the gates over againſt the length of the gates, was the lower pavement. 19 Then he meaſured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate, unto the forefront of the inner court without, an hundred cubits eaſtward and north-ward. 20 And the gate of the outward court that looked toward the north, he meaſured the length thereof and the breadth thereof. 21 And the little chambers thereof were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide, and the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof were after the meaſure of the firſt gate: the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits. 22 And their windows, and their arches, and their palm-trees, were after the meaſure of the gate that looketh towards the eaſt, and they went up unto it by ſeven ſteps, and the arches thereof were before them. 23 And the gate of the inner court was over againſt the gate toward the north, and toward the eaſt, and he meaſured from gate to gate an hundred cubits. 24 After that he brought me toward the ſouth, and behold, a gate toward the ſouth, and he meaſured the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof according to theſe meaſures. 25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like thoſe windows; the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits. 26 And there were ſeven ſteps to go up to it, and the arches thereof were before them, and it had palm trees, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide upon the poſts thereof. 27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the ſouth, and he meaſured from gate to gate toward the ſouth an hundred cubits. 28 And he brought me to the inner court by the ſouth-gate, and he meaſured the ſouth-gate according to theſe meaſures: 29 And the little chambers thereof, and the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad. 30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad. 31 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court, and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof; and the going up to it had eight steps. 32 And he brought me into the inner court toward the east, and he measured the gate according to these measures. 33 And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about; it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad. 34 And the arches thereof were toward the outward court, and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps. 35 And he brought me to the north-gate, and measured it according to these measures: 36 The little chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and the windows to it round about: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits. 37 And the posts thereof were toward the utter court, and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps. 38 And the chambers, and the entries thereof were by the posts of the gates, where they washed the burnt-offering. 39 And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to slay thereon the burnt-offering, and the sin-offering, and the trespass-offering. 40 And at the side without, as one goeth up to the entry of the north-gate, were two tables; and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables. 41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices. 42 And the four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt-offering, of a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt-offering and the sacrifice. 43 And within were hooks, an hand broad, fastened round about; and upon the tables was the flesh of the offering. 44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north-gate: and their prospect was toward the south, one at the side of the east-gate, having the prospect toward the north. 45 And he said unto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the south, is for the priests the keepers of the charge of the house. 46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the north, is for the priests the keepers of the charge of the altar: these are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi, which come near to the Lord, to minister unto him. 47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, four-square, and the altar that was before the house. 48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured each post of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side. 49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went up to it; and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

In the fourteenth Year after that the City was smitten] Zedekiah's Reign commenced from Jehoiachin's Captivity, in the eleventh Year of whose Reign the City was destroyed, Jer. lii. 5, 6. So the fourteenth Year after the Destruction of the City must be coincident with the 25th of Jehoiachin's Captivity.

By which was a Frame of a City on the South] Mount Moriah lay Southward of the Hill of Sion, or the City of David, tho' both of them lay Northward in respect of the lower Part of the City, which from the Times of Solomon was most commonly called by the Name of Jerusalem: See Ps. xlviii. 2. Isa. xiv. 13. So these Words describe the Situation of the Temple on the South Side of Mount Sion; which with all its Courts, Buildings, and Walls encompassing the Courts, and the whole Area, or holy Mountain, see Ch. xlii. 20. resembled a City for Bigness. So Tacitus describes the Temple as built like a Citadel for Strength and Largeness.

Or we may suppose that the Prophet being brought by the Spirit from Chaldea into the Land of Israel, which lay Southward of Babylon, (see Ch. i. 4.) might see placed just before his Eyes a Representation of the City and Temple, standing upon an Eminence, both in respect of their natural Situation, and that the Prophet might take a better View of them: For it appears from Ch. xlviii. 15, &c. that he had a View of the Holy City, which was to be restored, as well as the Temple.

With a Line of Flax in his Hand, and a measuring Reed] The Use of the Line was to measure the Land of Israel, and of the Reed, to take the Dimensions of the Buildings in and about the Temple; as also to set out several Portions of Land belonging to the Sanctuary and City, to the Prince and People. See Ch. xlv. 1, &c. xlvii. 3, &c.

Behold with thine Eyes — declare all thou seest to the House of Israel] Compare Ch. xliii. 10. xliv. 5. The Temple now represented, was partly designed to assure the People that their Temple should be restored, and to serve them partly as a Model, by which they should rebuild it at their Return from Captivity. The Jewish Writers do confirm this Opinion, when they tell us, 'That the Children of the Captivity, who returned from Babylon, followed the Platform of that 'Temple which Ezekiel described, as far as their Circumstances would allow.' See Dr. Lightfoot's Description of the Temple, Ch. x.

And in the Man's Hand a measuring Reed of six Cubits long, by the Cubit, and a Hand-breadth] The Prophet explains what Sort of Cubit he means in the following Delineation of the Temple, viz. such one as consists of six Hand-breadths, or one Hand-breadth over the Cubit used in Chaldea, where he now lived. Compare Ch. xli. 8. xliii. 13. This is the Measure of a Scripture Cubit, generally agreed to be equivalent to eighteen Inches, or a Foot and a Half of our Measure. See Bishop Cumberland of Scripture Weights and Measures.

These are the Sons of Zadok among the Sons of Levi] To the eldest House of the Sons of Aaron the High-priesthood belonged; so that Office of Right belonged to Zadok, tho' the Family usurped it for some Time from Eli, who was High-Priest in Samuel's Time, to Abiathar, whom Solomon dispossessed, and restored the High Priesthood to the right Line, by placing Zadok in his Room, 1 Kings ii. 27, 35. The Family of Zadok is only taken Notice of in this Vision, it may be for this Reason, because they kept close to the Worship of God, when the Priests of Ithamar's Line forsook it and fell into Idolatry: See Ch. xliv. 15. And the eldest Son of Zadok's Family having an unquestionable Title to the High Priesthood (see Numb. xxv. 13.

upon that Account was an eminent Type of the Meſſias, the eternal Prieſt. See Numb. xxxv. 25, 28.

CHAP. XLI.

A Deſcription of the Meaſures, Parts, Chambers and Ornaments of the Temple itſelf.

Ver. 1. AFterward he brought me to the temple, and meaſured the poſts, ſix cubits broad on the one ſide, and ſix cubits broad on the other ſide, which was the breadth of the tabernacle. 2 And the breadth of the door was ten cubits, and the ſides of the door were five cubits on the one ſide, and five cubits on the other ſide: and he meaſured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits. 3 Then went he inward, and meaſured the poſt of the door two cubits, and the door ſix cubits, and the breadth of the door ſeven cubits. 4 So he meaſured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits before the temple; and he ſaid unto me, This is the moſt holy place. 5 After he meaſured the wall of the houſe ſix cubits, and the breadth of every ſide-chamber four cubits round about the houſe on every ſide. 6 And the ſide-chambers were three, one over another, and thirty in order, and they entred into the wall which was of the houſe for the ſide-chambers round about, that they might have hold, but they had not hold in the wall of the houſe. 7 And there was an enlarging and a winding about ſtill upward to the ſide-chambers, for the winding about of the houſe went ſtill upward round about the houſe: therefore the breadth of the houſe was ſtill upward, and ſo increaſed from the loweſt chamber to the higheſt by the midſt. 8 I ſaw alſo the height of the houſe round about: the foundations of the ſide-chambers were a full reed of ſix great cubits. 9 The thickneſs of the wall which was for the ſide-chamber without, was five cubits, and that which was left, was the place of the ſide-chambers that were within. 10 And between the chambers was the wideneſs of twenty cubits round about the houſe on every ſide. 11 And the doors of the ſide-chambers were toward the place that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the ſouth, and the breadth of the place that was left, was five cubits round about. 12 Now the building that was before the ſeparate place, at the end toward the weſt, was ſeventy cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length thereof ninety cubits. 13 So he meaſured the houſe, an hundred cubits long, and the ſeparate place, and the building, with the walls thereof, an hundred cubits long. 14 Alſo the breadth of the face of the houſe, and of the ſeparate place toward the eaſt, an hundred cubits. 15 And he meaſured the length of the building over againſt the ſeparate place which was behind it, and the galleries thereof on the one ſide, and on the other ſide an hundred cubits with the inner temple, and the porches of the court. 16 The door poſts, and the narrow windows, and the galleries round about on their three ſtories, over againſt the door ceiled with wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered. 17 To that above the door, even unto the inner houſe and without, and by all the wall round about within and without, by meaſure. 18 And it was made with cherubims and palm-trees, ſo that a palm-tree was between a cherub and a cherub, and every cherub had two faces: 19 So that the face of a man was toward the palm-tree on the one ſide, and the face of a young lion, toward the palm tree on the other ſide: it was made through all the houſe round about. 20 From the ground unto above the door were cherubims and palm-trees made, and on the wall of the temple. 21 The poſts of the temple were ſquared, and the face of the ſanctuary: the appearance of the one as the appearance of the other. 22 The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits; and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof were of wood: and he ſaid unto me, This is the table that is before the Lord. 23 And the temple and the ſanctuary had two doors. 24 And the doors had two leaves a piece, two turning leaves; two leaves for the one door, and two leaves for the other door. 25 And there were made on them, on the doors of the temple cherubims and palm-trees, like as were made upon the walls; and there were thick planks upon the face of the porch without. 26 And there were narrow windows and palm trees on the one ſide and on the other ſide, on the ſides of the porch, and upon the ſide-chambers of the houſe, and thick planks.

To give a particular Explanation of the ſeveral Dimenſions of the Temple, its Courts, Buildings, &c. as here deſcribed by Ezekiel, would take up too much of our Room, and afford nothing very curious, and therefore we muſt refer our Readers to Dr. Lightfoot's Deſcription of the Temple; Villalpandus's Delineation of the Temple; and others who have treated of that Subject.

A Deſcription of the Prieſts Chambers, and their Uſe, and the Dimenſions of the Holy Mountain whereon the Temple ſtood.

Ver. 1. THEN he brought me forth into the utter court, the way toward the north, and he brought me into the chamber that was over againſt the ſeparate place, and which was before the building toward the north. 2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the north-door, and the breadth was fifty cubits. 3 Over againſt the twenty cubits, which were for the inner court, and over againſt the pavement which was for the utter court, was gallery againſt gallery in three ſtories. 4 And before the chambers was a walk of ten cubits breadth inward, a way of one cubit, and their doors toward the north. 5 Now the upper chambers were ſhorter: for the galleries were higher than theſe, then the lower and then the middlemoſt of the building. 6 For they were in three ſtories, but had not pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore the building was ſtraitned more than the loweſt, and the middlemoſt from the ground. 7 And the wall that was without over againſt the chambers, towards the utter court on the forepart of the chambers, the length thereof was fifty cubits. 8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court was fifty cubits: and

lo, before the temple were an hundred cubits. 9 And from under theſe chambers was the entry on the eaſt-ſide as one goeth into them from the utter court. 10 The chambers were in the thickneſs of the wall of the court toward the eaſt, over againſt the ſeparate place, and over againſt the building. 11 And the way before them was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, as long as they, and as broad as they, and all their goings out were both according to their faſhions, and according to their doors. 12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the ſouth, was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the eaſt, as one entreth into them. 13 Then ſaid he unto me, The north-chambers and the ſouth-chambers, which are before the ſeparate place, they be holy chambers, where the prieſts that approach unto the Lord ſhall eat the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meat-offering, and the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſs-offering; for the place is holy. 14 When the prieſts enter therein, then ſhall they not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they ſhall lay their garments, wherein they miniſter; for they are holy: and ſhall put on other garments, and ſhall approach to thoſe things, which are for the people. 15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner houſe, he brought me forth toward the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the eaſt, and meaſured it round about. 16 He meaſured the eaſt-ſide with the meaſuring-reed, five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed round about. 17 He meaſured the north-ſide five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed round about. 18 He meaſured the ſouth-ſide five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed. 19 He turned about to the weſt-ſide, and meaſured five hundred reeds, with the meaſuring-reed. 20 He meaſured it by the four ſides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reeds long, and five hundred broad, to make a ſeparation between the ſanctuary and the profane place.

We ſhall make the ſame Apology for not entering into the Deſcription of the Dimenſions of the Chambers, &c. as we did in the laſt Chapter.

They ſhall not go out of the Holy Place into the outward Court; but there they ſhall lay their Garments wherein they miniſter] They ſhall not go into the Court of the People in their Prieſtly Veſtments, but ſhall lay them up in ſome of theſe Chambers. The Prieſtly Garments were only to be uſed in the Time of their Miniſtration; ſee Ch. xliv. 19. Joſephus aſſerts the ſame.

The Chriſtian Church followed the Practice of the Jewiſh, in this as well as in many other Cuſtoms. The Teſtimony of St. Jerom in his Commentary upon Ch. xliv. 19. of this Prophecy, plainly proves, that the Clergy of that Age wore a diſtinct Habit from the Laity, at the Time of their performing the publick Offices of Religion: Religio Divina alterum habitum habet in miniſterio, alterum in uſu vitâque communi. And that this was the Practice of the earlier Ages of the Church, may probably be concluded from the Teſtimony of Polycrates, a Writer in the next Age to the Apoſtles, who tells us, That St. John wore an Ornament upon his Head, reſembling the Mitre, with a Plate upon it, which was worn by the Jewiſh High-Prieſt. And in the next Age Pontius, the Writer of St. Cyprian's Life and Martyrdom, acquaints us, that the Biſhop's Seat in the Church uſed to be covered with White; and it can hardly be imagined there ſhould be a peculiar Dreſs for the Biſhop's Seat, and none for the Biſhop himſelf.

He meaſured the Eaſt Side with the meaſuring Reed five hundred Reeds, &c.] This and the following Verſes contain the Meaſures of the Holy Mountain or Area upon which the Temple ſtood, which is deſcribed to be an exact Square, conſiſting of 500 Reeds in Meaſure on each Side of it. We may obſerve that the Heavenly Jeruſalem, repreſented to St. John, Rev. xxi. 16. is likewiſe deſcribed as four-ſquare, that Figure being an Emblem of Solidity. And Ezekiel's Viſion, as well as St. John's, is deſigned, in its myſtical Senſe, to repreſent the Regularity and Strength of Chriſt's Church and Kingdom. Compare with this Verſe Ch. xl. 47. xli. 13, 14. xlv. 2. xlviii. 20.

Capellus is of Opinion, that inſtead of five Hundred Reeds, we ought to read five Hundred Cubits. He ſuppoſes the Word Ammoth, Cubits, wanting in the preſent Reading of the Text, to have been rejected as ſpurious by the Correctors of the Hebrew Copies, by reaſon of its Affinity with Meoth, an Hundred; and the Word Kanim, Reeds, ſubſtituted in its Place. This Emendation he juſtifies from the Authority of the Septuagint, who read Cubits both in the 17th and 20th Verſes: Which Reading St. Jerome acknowledges to have been in the Greek Copies in his Time. He confirms it likewiſe from the parallel Text, Ch. xlv. 2. which he thinks, according to the Rules of Grammar, ſhould be expounded of Cubits. And he farther argues, that the Jews themſelves formerly underſtood this Text of Cubits; becauſe they are generally of Opinion, that the Temple ſtood in Area or Square, containing 500 Cubits on every Side: Whereas according to the preſent Reading, the whole Compaſs of the Area will amount to three Miles and a half; which is more than half the Circuit of the whole City of Jeruſalem in its moſt flouriſhing Condition.

To make a Separation between the Sanctuary and the profane Place] By the Sanctuary is here meant the whole Compaſs of Ground which was the Precincts of the Temple, elſewhere called the Holy Mountain; ſee Ch. xliii. 12. In Compariſon of which, Jeruſalem itſelf, tho' upon ſeveral Accounts ſtiled the Holy City, was eſteemed but as profane Ground. See Chap. xlviii. 15.

CHAP. XLIII.

The Glory of the Lord returns to the Temple, where God promiſes to fix his Reſidence. The Meaſures of the Altar, and the Ordinances relating to it.

Ver. 1. AFterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that looketh toward the eaſt. 2 And behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael came from the way of the eaſt: and his voice was like a noiſe of many waters, and the earth ſhined with his glory. 3 And it was according to the appearance of the viſion which I ſaw, even according to the viſion that I ſaw when I came to deſtroy the city: and the viſions were like the viſion that I ſaw by the river Chebar: and I fell upon my face. 4 And the glory of the Lord came into the houſe by the way of the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the eaſt. 5 So the Spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe. 6 And I heard him ſpeaking unto me out of the houſe, and the man ſtood by me. 7 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, the place of my throne, and the place of the ſoles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midſt of the children of Iſrael for ever, and my holy name ſhall the houſe of Iſrael no more more defile, neither they, nor their kings, by their whoredom, nor by the carcaſes of their kings in their high places. 8 In their ſetting of their threſhold by my threſholds, and their poſt by my poſts, and the wall between me and them, they have even defiled my holy name by their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have conſumed them in mine anger. 9 Now let them put away their whoredom, and the carcaſes of their kings far from me, and I will dwell in the midſt of them for ever. 10 Thou ſon of man ſhew the houſe to the houſe of Iſrael, that they may be aſhamed of their iniquities, and let them meaſure the pattern. 11 And if they be aſhamed of all that they have done, ſhew them the form of the houſe, and the faſhion thereof, and the goings out thereof, and the comings in thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their ſight, that they may keep the whole form thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them. 12 This is the law of the houſe; Upon the top of the mountain, the whole limit thereof round about ſhall be moſt holy: behold, this is the law of the houſe. 13 And theſe are the meaſures of the altar after the cubits; the cubit is a cubit and an hand-breadth, even the bottom ſhall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about ſhall be a ſpan, and this ſhall be the higher place of the altar. 14 And from the bottom upon the ground, even to the lower ſettle, ſhall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit; and from the leſſer ſettle even to the greater ſettle ſhall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit. 15 So the altar ſhall be four cubits, and from the altar and upward ſhall be four horns. 16 And the altar ſhall be twelve cubits long, twelve broad, ſquare in the four ſquares thereof. 17 And the ſettle ſhall be fourteen cubits long, and fourteen broad in the four ſquares thereof, and the border about it ſhall be half a cubit, and the bottom thereof ſhall be a cubit about, and his ſtairs ſhall look toward the eaſt. 18 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, Theſe are the ordinances of the altar, in the day when they ſhall make it to offer burnt-offerings thereon, and to ſprinkle blood thereon, 19 And thou ſhalt give to the prieſts the Levites which be of the ſeed of Zadok which approach unto me, to miniſter unto me, ſaith the Lord God, a young bullock for a ſin-offering. 20 And thou ſhalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the ſettle, and upon the border round about: thus ſhalt thou cleanſe and purge it. 21 Thou ſhalt take the bullock alſo of the ſin-offering, and he ſhall burn it in the appointed place of the houſe without the ſanctuary. 22 And on the ſecond day thou ſhalt offer a kid of the goats without blemiſh for a ſin-offering, and they ſhall cleanſe the altar, as they did cleanſe it with the bullock. 23 When thou haſt made an end of cleanſing it, thou ſhalt offer a young bullock without blemiſh, and a ram out of the flock, without blemiſh. 24 And thou ſhalt offer them before the Lord, and the prieſt ſhall caſt ſalt upon them, and they ſhall offer them up for a burnt-offering unto the Lord. 25 Seven days ſhalt thou prepare every day a goat for a ſin-offering: they ſhall alſo prepare a young bullock, and a ram out of the flock without blemiſh. 26 Seven days ſhall they purge the altar and purify it, and they ſhall conſecrate themſelves. 27 And when theſe days are expired, it ſhall be that upon the eighth day and ſo forward, the prieſts ſhall make your burnt-offerings upon the altar, and your peace-offerings; and I will accept you, ſaith the Lord God.

And behold, the Glory of the Lord God of Iſrael came from the Way of the Eaſt] The Word Behold is an Expreſſion of Joy and Admiration; as if the Prophet had ſaid, Behold a wonderful and joyful Sight! The Glory of that God who calls himſelf the God of Iſrael, as chuſing to dwell among them, and to give evident Tokens of his Preſence among them, and Protection over them. This Glory which had departed from this Place for ſo long a Time, now returned to it, and fixed its Reſidence there. The Glory of the Lord, when it forſook the Temple, is deſcribed as departing from the Eaſtern Gate of it, Ch. x. 19. Afterward it is repreſented as quite forſaking the City, Ch. xi. 23. and now it returns by the ſame Way it departed.

Where I will dwell in the Midſt of the Children of Iſrael for ever] He means the Promiſe formerly made with relation to the Tabernacle and Temple: See Pſ. lxviii. 16. cxxxii. 14. which is to be underſtood as thoſe were, under the Condition of their Obedience; (ſee Ver. 9.) and to be eminently fulfilled in Chriſt, in whom all the Promiſes of the Old Teſtament are to have their final Accompliſhment. Zechary propheſies of the Meſſias, Ch. vi. 13. that he ſhould build the Temple of the Lord, and bear the Glory; i. e. as the ſpiritual Senſe of theſe Prophecies is explained in the New Teſtament, He ſhall build the Chriſtian Church; in him ſhall all the Fulneſs of the Godhead dwell bodily; and really, not in Types and Figures. See Heb. iii. 3. Matt. xvi. 18. John i. 14. Col. ii. 9. To the ſame Senſe we may explain the Prophecy of Haggai, Ch. ii. 7. The Glory of the latter Houſe ſhall be greater than that of the former. There was no viſible Schechinah, or Glory, appeared in the ſecond Temple, till the Lord, whom they expected, came to his Temple, Mal. iii. 1. i. e. till the Meſſias, who was the Brightneſs of his Father's Glory, appeared there, and made it an illuſtrious Figure of that true Church, or Temple of Believers, where he would continue his Preſence for ever. See 2 Cor. vi. 16.

Nor by the Carcaſſes of their Kings in their high Places] Idols are called Carcaſſes, becauſe they are without Life and Motion, and likewiſe upon the Account of their being hateful and loathſome in the Sight of God. See Levit. xxvi. 30. Jer. xvi. 18. They are called the Carcaſſes of Kings, becauſe they were ſet up, and the Worſhip of them encouraged by the idolatrous Kings of Judah, who erected High Places for that Purpoſe near Jeruſalem, in the very Sight and View of the Temple; ſee 2 Kings xxiii. 13. By this Means the Temple itſelf was profaned by thoſe that came directly from the Worſhip of Idols to attend upon God's Service in the Temple; ſee Ch. xxiii. 38, 39. of this Propheſy.

And from the Bottom of the Ground even to the lower Settle ſhall be two Cubits] The Altar was made narrower as it came nearer the Top; theſe Narrowings or In-benchings are called here Settles: The Word is Azarah in the Hebrew, which is elſewhere uſed for a Court; becauſe the Prieſts trod upon theſe Settles, as they and the People did in the Courts before the Temple. From the Foundation to the lower of the two Settles here mentioned, the Text ſaith, was to be two Cubits; which ſeems to contradict the Words in the Verſe before, The Bottom ſhall be a Cubit. This Difference in Expreſſion Dr. Lightfoot thus reconciles, that the Foundation, as it lay flat upon the Ground, was but a Cubit high; but then there aroſe a Slope of another Cubit's Height, which was thicker than the Compaſs of the Altar, juſt above it; ſo that from the Ground, to the Top of the Riſing was two Cubits: And thus he reconciles the Deſcription here given with that of the Talmud, which reckons five Cubits from the lower Settle to the higher; whereas the Prophet counts but four in the following Words.

And his Stairs ſhall look toward the Eaſt] God forbad his Prieſts to go up by Steps to his Altar, Exod. xx. 26. which is uſually expounded, that he would not have his Altar ſet upon a great Aſcent, in Imitation of the Heathen High Places; yet Solomon's Altar was ten Cubits high, 2 Chron. iv. 1. Which neceſſarily required ſome Aſcent for the Prieſts to go, that they might officiate on the Top of it. And in this Place there is expreſs Mention of Stairs to go up to the Altar here deſcribed, being of the ſame Height with Solomon's. The Jews tell us, that ſince the Law prohibited Stairs or Steps, the Aſcent to the Altar was by a gentle Riſing, which they called Kibbeſh, of thirty two Cubits in Length, and ſixteen in Breadth; the Landing Place being upon the upper Bench or Walk, next the Hearth or Top.

The Aſcent is directed to be placed at the Eaſt Side of the Altar, that they who went up, ſhould look toward the Weſt, and upon the Temple, and ſhould turn their Backs to the Riſing Sun, in Oppoſition to the Rites of the Idolaters who worſhipped the Riſing Sun.

CHAP. XLIV.

A Deſcription of the Glory of God returned into the Temple. The People reproved for ſuffering idolatrous Prieſts to profane the Temple. Ordinances relating to the Deportment and Maintenance of God's Prieſts.

Ver. 1. THEN he brought me back the way of the gate of the outward ſanctuary which looketh toward the eaſt, and it was ſhut. 2 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, This gate ſhall be ſhut, it ſhall not be opened, and no man ſhall enter in by it; becauſe the Lord the God of Iſrael hath entred in by it, therefore it ſhall be ſhut. 3 It is for the prince; the prince, he ſhall ſit in it to eat bread before the Lord; he ſhall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and ſhall go out by the way of the ſame. 4 Then brought he me the way of the north-gate before the houſe; and I looked, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe of the Lord; and I fell upon my face. 5 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Son of man, mark well, and behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears all that I ſay unto thee concerning all the ordinances of the houſe of the Lord, and all the laws thereof, and mark well the entring in of the houſe, with every going forth of the ſanctuary. 6 And thou ſhalt ſay to the rebellious, even to the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, O ye houſe of Iſrael, let it ſuffice you of all your abominations, 7 In that ye have brought into my ſanctuary ſtrangers uncircumciſed in heart, and uncircumciſed in fleſh, to be in my ſanctuary to pollute it, even my houſe, when ye offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant, becauſe of all your abominations. 8 And ye have not kept the charge of mine holy things: but ye have ſet keepers of my charge in my ſanctuary for yourſelves. 9 Thus ſaith the Lord God, No ſtranger uncircumciſed in heart, nor uncircumciſed in fleſh ſhall enter into my ſanctuary, of any ſtranger that is among the children of Iſrael. 10 And the Levites that are gone away far from me, when Iſrael went aſtray which went aſtray away from me after their idols, they ſhall even bear their iniquity. 11 Yet they ſhall be miniſters in my ſanctuary, having charge at the gates of the houſe, and miniſtring to the houſe: they ſhall ſlay the burnt offering, and the ſacrifice for the people, and they ſhall ſtand before them to miniſter unto them: 12 Becauſe they miniſtred unto them before their idols, and cauſed the houſe of Iſrael to fall into iniquity: therefore have I lift up mine hand againſt them, ſaith the Lord God, and they ſhall bear their iniquity. 13 And they ſhall not come near unto me to do the office of a prieſt unto me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, in the moſt holy place: but they ſhall bear their ſhame, and their abominations which they have committed. 14 But I will make them keepers of the charge of the houſe for all the ſervice thereof, and for all that ſhall be done therein. 15 But the prieſts the Levites, the ſons of Zadok, that kept the charge of my ſanctuary, when the children of Iſrael went aſtray from me, they ſhall come near to me to miniſter unto me, and they ſhall ſtand before me to offer unto me the fat and the blood, ſaith the Lord God. 16 They ſhall enter into my ſanctuary, and they ſhall come near to my table to miniſter unto me, and they ſhall keep my charge. 17 And it ſhall come to paſs, that when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they ſhall be clothed with linen garments; and no wooll ſhall come upon them, whiles they miniſter in the gates of the inner court, and within. 18 They ſhall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and ſhall have linen breeches upon their loins: they ſhall not gird themſelves with any thing that cauſeth ſweat. 19 And when they go forth into the utter court, even into the utter court to the people, they ſhall put off their garments wherein they miniſtred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they ſhall put on other garments, and they ſhall not ſanctify the people with their garments. 20 Neither ſhall they ſhave their heads, nor ſuffer their locks to grow long, they ſhall only poll their heads. 21 Neither ſhall any prieſt drink wine, when they enter into the inner court. 22 Neither ſhall they take for their wives a widow, or her that is put away: but they ſhall take maidens of the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael, or a widow that had a prieſt before. 23 And they ſhall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cauſe them to diſcern between the unclean and the clean. 24 And in controverſy they ſhall ſtand in judgment, and they ſhall judge it according to my judgments: and they ſhall keep my laws and my ſtatutes in all mine aſſemblies, and they ſhall hallow my ſabbaths. 25 And they ſhall come at no dead perſon to defile themſelves: but for father or for mother, or for ſon or for daughter, for brother, or for ſiſter that hath had no huſband, they may defile themſelves. 26 And after he is cleanſed, they ſhall reckon unto him ſeven days. 27 And in the day that he goeth into the ſanctuary unto the inner court to miniſter in the ſanctuary, he ſhall offer his ſin-offering, ſaith the Lord God. 28 And it ſhall be unto them for an inheritance: I am their inheritance: and ye ſhall give them no poſſepossession in Israel; I am their possession. 29 They shall eat the meat-offering, and the sin-offering, and the trespass-offering; and every dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs. 30 And the first of all the first-fruits of all things, and every oblation of all of every sort of your oblations shall be the priests; ye shall also give unto the priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house. 31 The priests shall not eat of any thing that is dead of itself or torn, whether it be fowl or beast.

And it was shut] After that the Glory of the Lord had entered that Way; Ch. xliii. 4. to signify that the Divine Presence would never forsake the Temple any more.

They shall not gird themselves with any Thing that causeth Sweat] With a woollen Girdle, which may make them sweat, during their laborious Services about the Altar, and make their Garments smell offensively. But the Chaldee Paraphrase renders it thus: They shall not be girt about their Loins, but be girt upon (or about) their Hearts; i. e. They shall not wear Girdles about their Middle, or under their Armpits, either of which may cause them to sweat, but shall wear them about their Breasts. So St. John describes the Lord appearing in the Habit of a High Priest, and girt about the Paps with a Golden Girdle, Rev. i. 13.

And they shall not sanctify the People with their Garments] By the Rules of the Law, Things immediately dedicated to God's Service, did convey some Degree of Holiness to common Things that touched them: So the Altar sanctified the Gift that was laid upon it: See Levit. vi. 27. Matt. xxiii. 13. Thus some Sort of Holiness might be derived to the Garments of the People by touching those of a Priest, which God would have prevented, to keep up an exact Difference between the Holy and Profane, Ver. 23.

Neither shall they shave their Heads] This Prescription is implied in those Words of the Law, Levit. xxi. 5. especially according to the Translation of the Septuagint, who render the Sentence, Thou shalt not shave thyself with Baldness [to make Baldness] upon thy Head for the Dead. They indeed understand it as an Expression of Mourning for the Dead, which agrees with the Sense of the parallel Texts, Levit. xix. 27, 28. Deut. xiv. 1. But the Words in the Original contain a general Prohibition, and consequently include the Times of Mourning as well as other Seasons. St. Jerome upon the Place, does with great Probability suppose, that the Jewish Priests were forbid to shave their Heads, thereby to distinguish them from several of the Heathen Priests, particularly the Egyptian Priests of Isis and Serapis, who had their Heads shaved and uncovered, which were Funeral Rites, and therefore proper to be used in the Worship of the Heathen Gods, who were no better than dead Men: See Baruch vi. 31. Learned Men have observed, That many other Jewish Laws were made, in Opposition to the Funeral Rites observed in the Heathen Worship.

Nor suffer their Locks to grow long] It is the Opinion of Dr. Spencer and Schindler, that this Law is likewise taken out of the same Chapter of Leviticus at the 10th Verse; Where our Translation renders the Original, He shall not uncover his Head. But the Chaldee Paraphrase translates the Words, He shall not nourish the Hair of his Head; which Sense several Interpreters follow: Letting the Hair grow long and neglected being a Sign of Mourning, as well as shaving it close to the Head.

And in Controversy they shall stand in Judgment, &c.] The Priests were to determine all Controversies relating to the Law, as well the Judicial as Ceremonial Part of it, which was brought before them: See Deut. xvii. 8, 9. and the People were to seek the Law at their Mouths, Mal. ii. 7. i. e. To enquire of them what was the Purport and Meaning of it, and to stand to their Determination. And when the supreme Judicial Power was placed in the Sanhedrim, the Majority of that Court consisted chiefly of such as had the chief Stations among the Priests: See Acts iv. 5, 6.

And the first of all First-fruits of all Things, and every Oblation of every Sort of your Oblations shall be the Priests] The Words translated First-fruits and Oblations, are in the Hebrew Biccurim and Trumah. The former imports the first ripe, or best of the Fruits, while they were growing in the Field. Compare Exod. xxiii. 19. with Numb. xviii. 12. The latter denotes an Oblation out of the Product of the Ground, after it was made fit for Use: As out of Corn after it is threshed and laid in Heaps in the Floor or Granary: And so of Oil and Wine, after they were pressed and fit for spending. These Oblations are by some Authors, particularly by Mr. Selden in his Treatise of Tithes, Ch. ii. esteemed to amount to the sixtieth Part of the whole Produce. Schindler rates the Biccurim at the lowest Proportion to be the sixtieth Part, and computes the Trumah at the fiftieth. Dr. Comber supposes the Biccurim to an hundredth Part, and the Trumah, at a Medium, to be the fiftieth.

CHAP. XLV.

The several Portions of Land appointed for the Sanctuary, the City, and the Prince; and Ordinances concerning the Provisions for ordinary and extraordinary Sacrifices.

Ver. 1. MOreover, when ye shall divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the Lord, an holy portion of the land: the length shall be the length of five and twenty thousand reeds, and the breadth shall be ten thousand: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about. 2 Of this there shall be for the sanctuary five hundred in length, five hundred in breadth, square round about; and fifty cubits round about, for the suburbs thereof. 3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the sanctuary, and the most holy place. 4 The holy portion of the land shall be for the priests the ministers of the sanctuary, which shall come near to minister unto the Lord, and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the sanctuary. 5 And the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall also the Levites the ministers of the house have for themselves, for a possession for twenty chambers. 6 And ye shall appoint the possession of the city five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel. 7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the city, from the west-side west-ward and from the east-side east-ward; and the length shall be over against one of the portions, from the west-border unto the east-border. 8 In the land shall be his possession in Israel, and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel according to their tribes. 9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: remove violence and spoil, and execute judgment and justice, take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God. 10 Ye shall shall have just balances, and a just ephah, and a just bath. 11 The ephah and the bath shall be of one measure, that the bath may contain the tenth part of an homer, and the ephah the tenth part of an homer: the measure thereof shall be after the homer. 12 And the shekel shall be twenty gerahs: twenty shekels, five and twenty shekels, fifteen shekels shall be your maneh. 13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer; the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of wheat, and ye shall give the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of barley. 14 Concerning the ordinance of oil, the bath of oil, ye shall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the cor, which is an homer of ten baths; for ten baths are an homer: 15 And one lamb out of the flock, out of two hundred, out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat-offering, and for a burnt-offering, and for peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God. 16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel. 17 And it shall be the princes part to give burnt-offerings, and meat offerings, and drink-offerings, in the feasts, and in the new-moons, and in the sabbaths, in all solemnities of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sin-offering, and the meat-offering, and the burnt-offering, and the peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for the house of Israel. 18 Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month, in the first day of the month, thou shalt take a young bullock without blemish, and cleanse the sanctuary. 19 And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin-offering, and put it upon the posts of the house, and upon the four corners of the settle of the altar, and upon the posts of the gate of the inner court. 20 And so thou shalt do the seventh day of the month, for every one that erreth, and for him that is simple: so shall ye reconcile the house. 21 In the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month, ye shall have the passover, a feast of seven days, unleavened bread shall be eaten. 22 And upon that day shall the prince prepare for himself, and for all the people of the land, a bullock for a sin-offering. 23 And seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt-offering to the Lord, seven bullocks, and seven rams without blemish, daily the seven days, and a kid of the goats daily for a sin-offering. 24 And he shall prepare a meat-offering of an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and an hin of oil for an ephah. 25 In the seventh month, in the fifteenth day of the month shall he do the like in the feast of the seven days, according to the sin-offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meat-offering, and according to the oil.

The Length shall be five and twenty thousand Reeds, and the Breadth shall be ten thousand] The Hebrew doth not express either Reeds or Cubits: Our Translation supplies the Word Reeds, but many Interpreters expound the Place of Cubits, which Sense they think is plainly determined by Ver. 3. where it is said, Of this Measure (viz. the Cubit Measure, mentioned Ver. 2.) shalt thou measure the Length of five and twenty thousand, &c. According to this Measure, the Portion here set apart will be almost seven Miles square; whereas if we measure by Reeds, it will arise to six Times as much, and can only be understood in a mystical Sense.

Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in Length, with five hundred in Breadth, square round about] If we understand these Dimensions of Cubits, it exactly agrees with the Opinion of the Jews, that the Temple stood in an Area of 500 Cubits square.

And it shall be a Place for their Houses] The Priests were divided into four and twenty Courses, 1 Chron. xxiv. who performed the publick Worship by Turns; so the Houses were for them to live in, who were not in their Course of waiting.

And the five and twenty thousand of Length, and ten thousand of Breadth, shall also the Levites have for themselves] The French Translation renders the Sense plainer thus, There shall be other five and twenty thousand, &c. See Ch. xlviii. 13. This appears to be the true Sense of the Place, because else there will be wanting 10,000 in Breadth, to make an exact Square of 25,000; see the Verse. The Levites being very numerous (they were reckoned 38,000 in David's Time, 1 Chron. xxiii. 3.) had as large a Piece of Ground allotted to them, as belonged to the Temple, and the whole priestly Order. The Word other is, upon a like Occasion, supplied by our Interpreters Ch. xlviii. 8.

The Ephah and the Bath shall be of one Measure] The Ephah was the Measure of Dry Things, as the Bath was of Liquid. The Homer was about ten Bushels, which amounts to about eighty Gallons in Liquid Things.

The Epha the tenth Part of an Homer] We must distinguish the Word Homer or Chomer, writ with a Cheth in the Hebrew, and Omer writ with an Ain. The Ephah is here said to be the tenth Part of an Homer, whereas the Omer is but the tenth Part of an Ephah, Exod. xvi. 36.

And the Shekel shall be twenty Gerahs] This is made the Standard of the Shekel, Exod. xxx. 13. which confutes the common Opinion, that the Weights of the Sanctuary were double to those of common Use. Bp. Cumberland computes a Gerah to be equivalent to an Attic Obolus, consisting of almost eleven Grains of Silver. The Shekel is usually valued at 2*s* 6*d* of our Money; but the same learned Author supposes it to be in Value but 2*s* 4*d* $\frac{1}{4}$ of our Money, and a little over.

Twenty Shekels, five and twenty Shekels, and fifteen Shekels shall be your Maneh] Maneh is the same with the Greek μνᾶ, and the Latin Mina, being both derived from it. A Maneh, or Mina, consists of sixty Shekels, i. e. thirty Ounces of Silver; which reckoning every Shekel at 2*s* 6*d* amounts to 7*l* 10*s*. The dividing the Maneh into twenty, five and twenty, and fifteen Shekels, supposes there were Coins of these several Values, which, taken all together, are to be of the same Weight with the Mina.

Concerning the Ordinance of Oil, a Bath of Oil, &c.] Or, Concerning the Ordinance of Oil, even the Bath of Oil. The Cor, and the Homer, are mentioned as containing the same Quantity; for a Bath is the tenth Part of a Cor, as an Ephah is the tenth Part of an Homer; and the tenth Part of a Bath of Oil is the hundredth Part of a Cor, which amounts to about six Pints of our Measure, according to Bp. Cumberland.

CHAP. XLVI.

More Ordinances relating to the Worship of Prince and People, &c. A Description of the Courts appointed for boiling and baking any Part of the Holy Oblations.

Ver. 1. THUS saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court that looketh toward the east, shall be shut the six working days: but on the sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new-moon it shall be opened. 2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall prepare his burnt-offering, and his peace-offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: then he shall go forth, but the gate gate ſhall not be ſhut until the evening. 3 Likewiſe the people of the land ſhall worſhip at the door of this gate before the Lord, in the ſabbaths, and in the new-moons. 4 And the burnt-offering that the prince ſhall offer unto the Lord in the ſabbath-day, ſhall be ſix lambs without blemiſh, and a ram without blemiſh. 5 And the meat-offering ſhall be an ephah for a ram, and the meat-offering for the lambs as he ſhall be able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah. 6 And in the day of the new-moon it ſhall be a young bullock without blemiſh, and ſix lambs, and a ram: they ſhall be without blemiſh. 7 And he ſhall prepare a meat-offering, an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram: and for the lambs according as his hand ſhall attain unto, and an hin of oil to an ephah. 8 And when the prince ſhall enter, he ſhall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he ſhall go forth by the way thereof. 9 But when the people of the land ſhall come before the Lord, in the ſolemn feaſts, he that entreth in by the way of the north-gate to worſhip, ſhall go out by the way of the ſouth-gate: and he that entreth by the way of the ſouth gate, ſhall go forth by the way of the north-gate: he ſhall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but ſhall go forth over againſt it. 10 And the prince in the midſt of them, when they go in, ſhall go in; and when they go forth, ſhall go forth. 11 And in the feaſts, and in the ſolemnities, the meat-offering ſhall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, and to the lambs as he is able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah. 12 Now when the prince ſhall prepare a voluntary burnt-offering or peace-offerings, voluntarily unto the Lord, one ſhall then open him the gate that looketh toward the eaſt, and he ſhall prepare his burnt-offering, and his peace-offerings, as he did on the ſabbath-day: then he ſhall go forth, and after his going forth, one ſhall ſhut the gate. 13 Thou ſhalt daily prepare a burnt-offering unto the Lord, of a lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh; thou ſhalt prepare it every morning. 14 And thou ſhalt prepare a meat-offering for it every morning, the ſixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oil, to temper with the fine flour; a meat-offering continually, by a perpetual ordinance unto the Lord. 15 Thus ſhall they prepare the lamb, and the meat-offering, and the oil, every morning, for a continual burnt-offering. 16 Thus ſaith the Lord God, If the prince give a gift unto any of his ſons, the inheritance thereof ſhall be his ſons, it ſhall be their poſſeſſion by inheritance. 17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his ſervants, then it ſhall be his to the year of liberty; after, it ſhall return to the prince: but his inheritance ſhall be his ſons for them. 18 Moreover the prince ſhall not take of the people's inheritance, by oppreſſion to thruſt them out of their poſſeſſion; but he ſhall give his ſons inheritance out of his own poſſeſſion: that my people be not ſcattered every man from his poſſeſſion. 19 After, he brought me through the entry, which was at the ſide of the gate, into the holy chambers of the prieſts, which looked toward the north: and behold, there was a place on the two ſides weſt-ward. 20 Then ſaid he unto me, This is the place where the prieſts ſhall boil the treſpaſs-offering and the ſin-offering, where they ſhall bake the meat-offering: that they bear them not out into the utter court, to ſanctify the people. 21 Then he brought me forth into the utter court, and cauſed me to paſs by the four corners of the court, and behold, in every corner of the court there was a court. 22 In the four corners of the court there were courts joined of forty cubits long, and thirty broad: theſe four corners were of one meaſure. 23 And there was a row of building round about in them, round about them four, and it was made with boiling-places under the rows round about. 24 Then ſaid he unto me, Theſe are the places of them that boil, where the miniſters of the houſe ſhall boil the ſacrifice of the people.

And the Burnt-offering that the Prince ſhall offer in the Sabbath Day, &c.] It was the Prince's Part to provide Sacrifices for the Sabbaths and other Feſtivals; ſee Ch. xlv. 17. This was a new Ordinance, whereupon the Number of the Beaſts that were to be offered, and the Proportions of the Meat and Drink-offerings, are different here from thoſe preſcribed in the Law: As will appear by comparing the 4th, 6th, 7th, and 14th Verſes of this Chapter, with Numb. xxviii. 9, 11, 12, 15.

He that entereth in by the North Gate to worſhip, ſhall go out by the Way of the South Gate] The Words imply the Reaſon why the People were not to come in at the Eaſt Gate, becauſe there being no Paſſage or Thorowfare out of the Temple Weſtward; if they had entered in at the Eaſt Gate, they muſt have returned the ſame Way they came in, which would have been turning their Back upon God, and the Place of his Reſidence. Dr. Spencer mentions this as a Rule in the Talmud, that they who came within the Holy Mount, ſhould enter in by the Way of the Right Hand, and go out by the Left; underſtanding the Right Hand of the Northern Part of the Temple, and the Left Hand of the Southern: So he is of Opinion, that God deſigned to take away that ſuperſtitious Diſtinction between the ſeveral Gates of the Temple, by commanding that every one ſhould go out the oppoſite Way to that by which he came in, whether it were toward the North or South.

CHAP. XLVII.

The Viſion of the Holy Waters; with a Deſcription of the ſeveral Bounds of the Holy Land.

Ver. 1. AFterward he brought me again unto the door of the houſe, and behold, waters iſſued out from under the threſhold of the houſe eaſt-ward: for the fore-front of the houſe ſtood toward the eaſt, and the waters came down from under from the right ſide of the houſe, at the ſouth ſide of the altar. 2 Then brought he me out of the way of the gate north-ward, and led me about the way without unto the utter gate by the way that looketh eaſt-ward, and behold, there ran out waters on the right ſide. 3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth eaſt-ward, he meaſured a thouſand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles. 4 Again he meaſured a thouſand, and brought me through the waters; the waters were to the knees: again he meaſured a thouſand, and brought me through; the waters were to the loins. 5 Afterward he meaſured a thouſand, and it was a river that I could not paſs over: for the waters were riſen, waters to ſwim in, a river that could not be paſſed over. 6 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, haſt thou ſeen this? then he brought me and cauſed me to return to the brink of the river. 7 Now when I had returned, behold, at the bank of the river were very many trees on the one ſide and on the other. 8 Then ſaid he unto me, Theſe waters iſſue out toward the eaſt-country, and go down into the deſart, and go into the ſea: which being brought forth into the ſea, the waters ſhall be healed. 9 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every thing that liveth, which moveth, whitherſoever the rivers ſhall come, ſhall live: and there ſhall be a very great multitude of fiſh, becauſe theſe waters ſhall come thither: for they ſhall be healed, and every thing ſhall live whither the river cometh. 10 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the fiſhers ſhall ſtand upon it, from En-gedi even unto En-eglaim; they ſhall be a place to ſpread forth nets, their fiſh ſhall be according to their kinds, as the fiſh of the great ſea, exceeding many. 11 But the miry places thereof, and the mariſhes thereof, ſhall not be healed, they ſhall be given to ſalt. 12 And by the river upon the bank thereof on this ſide and on that ſide, ſhall grow all trees for meat, whoſe leaf ſhall not fade, neither ſhall the fruit thereof be conſumed: it ſhall bring forth new fruit according to his months, becauſe their waters they iſſued out of the ſanctuary, and the fruit thereof ſhall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine. 13 Thus ſaith the Lord God, This ſhall be the border, whereby ye ſhall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Iſrael: Joſeph ſhall have two portions. 14 And ye ſhall inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers, and this land ſhall fall unto you for inheritance. 15 And this ſhall be the border of the land toward the north-ſide, from the great ſea, the way of Hethlon, as men go to Zedad: 16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the border of Damaſcus, and the border of Hamath; Hazor-hatticon, which is by the coaſt of Hauran. 17 And the border from the ſea, ſhall be Hazar-enan, the border of Damaſcus, and the north north-ward, and the border of Hamath: and this is the north-ſide. 18 And the eaſt-ſide ye ſhall meaſure from Hauran, and from Damaſcus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Iſrael by Jordan, from the border unto the eaſt-ſea: and this is the eaſt-ſide. 19 And the ſouth-ſide ſouth-ward from Tamar, even to the waters of ſtrife in Kadeſh, the river, to the great ſea: and this is the ſouth-ſide ſouth-ward. 20 The weſt-ſide alſo ſhall be the great ſea from the border, till a man come over againſt Hamath: this is the weſt-ſide. 21 So ſhall ye divide this land unto you, according to the tribes of Iſrael. 22 And it ſhall come to paſs, that ye ſhall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the ſtrangers that ſojourn among you, which ſhall beget children among you: and they ſhall be unto you as born in the country among the children of Iſrael, they ſhall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Iſrael. 23 And it ſhall come to paſs, that in what tribe the ſtranger ſojourneth there ſhall ye give him his inheritance, ſaith the Lord God.

And behold Waters iſſued out from under the Threſh Eaſtward] There was a great Quantity of Wat neceſſary for the Uſes of the Temple, for the waſhi the Bodies of thoſe that officiated, as well as the Sac fices which they offered. This was conveyed in Pip under-ground from the Fountain Etam, as Dr. Ligh foot obſerves from the Rabbins, and from Ariſteus, Eye-witneſs. Theſe Waters gave Occaſion to the V ſion here related.

And behold there run Waters out on the Right Sid On the South Side; ſee Ver. 1. Theſe were the ſpa Waters not uſed in the Service of the Temple, whic were conveyed away by the Eaſt Part of the Mou tain, and by Degrees increaſed its Stream, till it b came a River, and fell at laſt into the Dead Sea: S Ver. 8, 10. and Joel iii. 18.

He meaſured a thouſand Cubits, and he brought through the Waters, and the Waters were to the ancle &c.] The gradual Riſe of the Waters, repreſented this Viſion, denotes the large Effuſion of the Spir which was very remarkable at the firſt Publication the Goſpel, and its wonderful Increaſe from ſmall B ginnings; and will be ſo again, when God ſhall po the Spirit of Grace upon the Jews, in order to th Converſion; Zech. xii. 10. Iſa. liv. 13. The Suppli of Grace are often repreſented in the Holy Writer under the Metaphor of a River, and Streams waterin the dry and thirſty Earth, both cleanſing and makin fruitful the Ground where they paſs. The Metaph is probably taken from the River that watered Par diſe: See Rev. xxii. 1. and compare Zech. xiii. 1. xi 8. Iſa. xliv. 3.

Which being brought forth into the Sea, the Wate ſhall be healed] This is the Obſervation of all Write who deſcribe this Lake, that nothing can live in it And the Text here tells us, that theſe living Stream ſhall, by mixing with theſe Salt and brackiſh Water make them wholſome and fit for Uſe: Myſtically de noting the healing Virtue of God's Grace to cure th Corruptions and Vices of wicked Men. In the ſam myſtical Senſe muſt be explained the next Verſe.

And it ſhall come to paſs, that the Fiſhers ſhall ſtan upon it, from En-gaddi to En-eglaim] En-gaddi was Town that lay South-Weſt of the Lake of Sodom, the Dead Sea, called Hazezon-tamar, Gen. xiv. compared with 2 Chron. xx. 2. En-eglaim, or Engallim as St. Jerome reads the Word, is another on the Eaſt Si of the ſame Lake, where Jordan falls into it; upon th Confines of Moab, as may be conjectured from Iſa. x 8. which is confirmed by the parallel Text in Joel i 18. where it is ſaid, that a Fountain ſhall come forth the Houſe of the Lord, and ſhall water the Valley of Shi tim; which we know was in the Country of Moab ſee Numb. xxv. 1. So theſe two Places denote th whole Extent of that Lake, which the Prophet ſaith ſhall be full of Fiſh, ſtill proſecuting the Allegory begu in the foregoing Verſes.

But the miry Places ſhall not be healed, they ſhall given to Salt] By thoſe unſound and rotten Place may be underſtood Hypocrites; who ſhall receive n Benefit by theſe healing Waters, no more than ſom Sorts of Marſh-Land can be made fruitful: But after a the Care or Culture that can be beſtowed upon i continues barren and unprofitable, which the Hebr Language expreſſes by given to Salt. Saltneſs is equ valent to Barrenneſs in that Language: See Pſ. cvii. 3 Deut. xxix. 23. Jer. xvii. 6. ſo we read Judg. ix. 4 when Abimelech deſtroyed Sichem, he ſowed the Grou whereon it ſtood with Salt, to denote that it ſhould n ver be cultivated or inhabited again.

This ſhall be the Border, &c.] The Borders d ſcribed in the following Part of this Chapter, ſhall b the Limits or Boundaries of your Country. By the ſ veral Captivities both of Iſrael and Judah, the ſeven Limits or Borders belonging to the Inheritance of ea Tribe, were obliterated and forgotten: Whereupo here is a new Boundary or Diviſion made of the Hol Land, a full Poſſeſſion of which they have expected enjoy, if their Sins had not prevented ſuch a Bleſſin This may perhaps be the literal Senſe of the followi

Part of the Prophecy; tho' there is, without Queſtion, a myſtical Senſe implied under the literal Deſcription.

And to the Strangers that ſojourn among you] Foreigners never before had the Privilege of purchaſing or poſſeſſing any Inheritance among the Jews; ſo this myſtically denotes the incorporating the Gentiles into the ſame Church with the Jews; making them Fellow-Heirs, and of the ſame Body with them by the Goſpel, Epheſ. iii. 6.

CHAP. XLVIII.

A Deſcription of the ſeveral Portions of Land belonging to each Tribe; with the Portions allotted to the Sanctuary, City, Suburbs, and Prince; alſo the Meaſure and Gates of the New City.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the names of the tribes, from the north-end to the coaſt of the way of Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar-enan, the border of Damaſcus north-ward, to the coaſt of Hamath (for theſe are his ſides eaſt and weſt) a portion for Dan. 2 And by the border of Dan, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, a portion for Aſher. 3 And by the border of Aſher, from the eaſt-ſide even unto the weſt-ſide, a portion for Naphtali. 4 And by the border of Naphtali, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, a portion for Manaſſeh. 5 And by the border of Manaſſeh, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, a portion for Ephraim. 6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the eaſt-ſide even unto the weſt-ſide, a portion for Reuben. 7 And by the border of Reuben, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, a portion for Judah. 8 And by the border of Judah, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, ſhall be the offering which ye ſhall offer of five and twenty thouſand reeds in breadth, and in length as one of the other parts, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, and the ſanctuary ſhall be in the midſt of it. 9 The oblation that ye ſhall offer unto the Lord, ſhall be of five and twenty thouſand in length, and of ten thouſand in breadth. 10 And for them, even for the prieſts ſhall be this holy oblation, toward the north, five and twenty thouſand in length, and toward the weſt ten thouſand in breadth, and toward the eaſt ten thouſand in breadth, and toward the ſouth five and twenty thouſand in length, and the ſanctuary of the Lord ſhall be in the midſt thereof. 11 It ſhall be for the prieſts that are ſanctified, of the ſons of Zadok, which have kept my charge, which went not aſtray when the children of Iſrael went aſtray as the Levites went aſtray. 12 And this oblation of the land that is offered, ſhall be unto them a thing moſt holy by the border of the Levites. 13 And over againſt the border of the prieſts, the Levites ſhall have five and twenty thouſand in length, and ten thouſand in breadth: all the length ſhall be five and twenty thouſand, and the breadth ten thouſand. 14 And they ſhall not ſell of it, neither exchange, nor alienate the firſt-fruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord. 15 And the five thouſand that are left in the breadth over againſt the five and twenty thouſand, ſhall be a profane place for the city, for dwelling and for ſuburbs, and the city ſhall be in the midſt thereof. 16 And theſe ſhall be the meaſures thereof, the north-ſide four thouſand and five hundred, and the ſouth-ſide four thouſand and five hundred, and on the eaſt-ſide four thouſand and five hundred, and the weſt-ſide four thouſand and five hundred. 17 And the ſuburbs of the city ſhall be toward the north two hundred and fifty, and toward the ſouth two hundred and fifty, and toward the eaſt two hundred and fifty, and toward the weſt two hundred and fifty. 18 And the reſidue in length over againſt the oblation of the holy portion, ſhall be ten thouſand eaſt-ward, and ten thouſand weſt-ward: and it ſhall be over againſt the oblation of the holy portion, and the increaſe thereof ſhall be for food unto them that ſerve the city. 19 And they that ſerve the city, ſhall ſerve it out of all the tribes of Iſrael. 20 All the oblation ſhall be five and twenty thouſand, by five and twenty thouſand: ye ſhall offer the holy oblation four-ſquare, with the poſſeſſion of the city. 21 And the reſidue ſhall be for the prince on the one ſide and on the other of the holy oblation, and of the poſſeſſion of the city over againſt the five and twenty thouſand, of the oblation toward the eaſt-border, and weſt-ward over againſt the five and twenty thouſand toward the weſt-border, over againſt the portions for the prince, and it ſhall be the holy oblation, and the ſanctuary of the houſe ſhall be in the midſt thereof. 22 Moreover, from the poſſeſſion of the Levites, and from the poſſeſſion of the city, being in the midſt of that which is the princes, between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin, ſhall be for the prince. 23 As for the reſt of the tribes, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, Benjamin ſhall have a portion. 24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, Simeon ſhall have a portion. 25 And by the border of Simeon, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt ſide, Iſſachar a portion. 26 And by the border of Iſſachar, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, Zebulun a portion. 27 And by the border of Zebulun, from the eaſt-ſide unto the weſt-ſide, Gad a portion. 28 And by the border of Gad, at the ſouth-ſide, ſouth-ward, the border ſhall be even from Tamar unto the waters of ſtrife in Kadeſh, and to the river toward the great ſea. 29 This is the land which ye ſhall divide by lot unto the tribes of Iſrael for inheritance, and theſe are their portions, ſaith the Lord God. 30 And theſe are the goings out of the city on the north-ſide, four thouſand and five hundred meaſures. 31 And the gates of the city ſhall be after the names of the tribes of Iſrael, three gates north-ward; one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, one gate of Levi. 32 And at the eaſt-ſide four thouſand and five hundred: and three gates; and one gate of Joſeph, one gate of Benjamin, one gate of Dan. 33 And at the ſouth-ſide four thouſand and five hundred meaſures: and three gates; one gate of Simeon, one gate of Iſſachar, one gate of Zebulun. 34 At the weſt-ſide four thouſand and five hundred, with their three gates; one gate of Gad, one gate of Aſher, one gate of Naphtali. 35 It was round about eighteen thouſand meaſures: and the name of the city from that day ſhall be, The Lord is there.

And by the Border of Reuben — a Portion for Judah] From the firſt Verſe to the ſeventh, the Situation of ſeven ven of the twelve Tribes is deſcribed, which were placed on the North Side of the Holy Portion, the Length of Judea, from North to South, being divided into twelve equal Parts; ſee Ch. xlvii. 14. beſide the Allotment for the Holy Portion, and for the Prince; and the City and Temple being placed where they ſtood formerly, there muſt be ſeven Shares on the North Side of that Allotment, and but five on the South Side; for Jeruſalem did not ſtand in the Middle of the Holy Land, but more toward the South, as may appear to any one who conſults the Map of Judea.

But for the fuller explaining this Difficulty, we may reaſonably conclude, that Judah's Portion lay neareſt to that which was allotted for the Prieſts and Sanctuary, to be a Barrier and Defence to them againſt the Invaſion of Gog and Magog, or any other Enemies.

It is the Opinion of ſome learned Men, that ſo particular a Deſcription of the ſeveral Portions allotted to each Tribe, relates to the Jews Settlement in their own Country after their Converſion; ſeveral Paſſages in the Prophets looking that Way: See the xxxvith and xxxviith Chapters of this Prophecy. But without laying too great a Streſs upon this Opinion, we may fairly ſuppoſe ſome myſtical Senſe contained under this Deſcription. The twelve Tribes denote the pure Chriſtian Church in the New Teſtament: See Luke xxii. 30. Rev. vii. 4. Twelve is an Hieroglyphical Number in the ſame Book, denoting the true Church, built upon the Doctrine of the twelve Apoſtles: See Rev. xii. 1. xxi. 14. By the ſame Analogy the Number of an hundred and forty and four thouſand, Rev. vii. 4. xiv. 1. ſignifies the Church of pure Chriſtians, who continue ſtedfaſt in the Apoſtolical Doctrine, Twelve being the Square Root, out of which that Number ariſeth: So this Diviſion of the Land, among the twelve Tribes, may imply, that all true Chriſtians ſhall be equally Sharers in the Privileges of the Goſpel.

Ye ſhall offer the Oblation four-ſquare] So the Heavenly Jeruſalem is deſcribed as lying four-ſquare, Rev. xxi. 16. a ſquare Figure being the Emblem of Perpetuity, Strength, and Solidity. See Ch. xlii. 16—20.

A great Part of the Wiſdom of the Eaſtern Nations was wrapped up in Hieroglyphical Emblems and Numbers. The Symbols of Pythagoras are a remarkable Inſtance of this Sort of antient Learning. This Method God has thought fit to make uſe of to diſcover ſome myſterious Truth in his Word; ſuch as perhaps he thinks not convenient to be clearly revealed till its proper Time and Seaſon: Intending by ſuch obſcure Hints to encourage Men's ſearching into the more abſtruſe Parts of the Scriptures, and to ſhew that all human Knowledge may be made ſubſervient to Divine.

The Text before us, compared with its Parallel in the xliid Chapter of this Prophecy, and in the Revelations, plainly ſhews, that a Square is an Emblematical Figure. In like Manner the Number of Twelve is a ſacred Number. And the learned Mr. Potter, (ſays Lowth) in his Book of the Number 666, hath with great Acuteneſs reconciled the 12,000 Furlongs, the Meaſure of the New Jeruſalem in the Revelation, with the Meaſures of Ezekiel here, by interpreting them of ſolid Meaſures, and extracting the Root of each of them.

And the Name of that City from that Day ſhall be, The Lord is there] Jeruſalem was formerly called the City of God, Pſ. lxxxvii. 3. and the City of the great King, Pſ. xlviii. 2. But in this New Jeruſalem, God ſhall dwell in a more glorious Manner, and make it the Place of his perpetual Reſidence. So that every Part of that City ſhall be honoured with evident Tokens of the Divine Preſence; and every Member of it being dedicated to God's Service, and becoming an Habitation of God through his Spirit, ſhall have ſome Degree of the Holineſs of the Temple, where God had placed his Name, 1 Kings viii. 29. compare with Rev. xxi. 22. This is in a lower Degree fulfilled in all good Chriſtians, who are called the Temples of the living God, 2 Cor. vi. 16. 1 Pet. ii. 5. and an Habitation of God through the Spirit, Epheſ. ii. 22.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet DANIEL.

The ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Daniel was descended of the Royal Family of the Kings of Judah; so that in the Captivity of himself and his Companions, was fulfilled that Prophecy of Isaiah, that the King's Issue should be Eunuchs (or Officers) to the King of Babylon, Isa. xxxix. 7. The later Jews do not reckon Daniel among the Prophets; but herein they contradict the Sense of the more antient ones, and particularly of Josephus, who calls him one of the greatest of the Prophets, and saith, that he did not only foretel future Things, which was common to him with other Prophets, but also prefixed a Time for their coming to pass: Antiq. L. x. C. 12. Our Saviour's Authority is decisive in this Matter, who calls Daniel a Prophet, Matt. xxiv. 15. wherein he likewise spake the Sense of the Jews at that Time. And if we consider the important Subject of some of his Prophecies, wherein he plainly points out the Time of Christ's Coming and Sufferings; and the large Extent of others of them, giving an Account of the Succession of the Four Monarchies unto the End of the World, he may be justly reckoned among the first of that Order. Daniel and St. John had both of them the Honour of being Persons greatly beloved by God and Christ, (compare Dan. x. 11. with John xiii. 3.) so the latter, in his Revelation, doth more distinctly unfold those Events, which the former foretels in general Terms, as Mr. Mede has observed.

This Prophecy is writ partly in Hebrew, and partly in Chaldee; for which this Reason may be assigned; that those Parts of it, in which the Babylonian Empire was concerned, were writ in their Language, viz. from Ch. i. 4. to the End of the seventh Chapter, a great Part of which was probably entered into their publick Registers. See a like Instance Esth. ii. 23.

St. Jerome tells us in the Preface to his Commentary on this Prophecy, that Porphyry had the Boldness to affirm, that the Prophecies of Daniel relating to the Kings of Syria and Egypt, Ch. xi. were written after the Times of Antiochus Epiphanes: This was plainly granting the Truth of the Matters of Fact therein contained, as St. Jerome observes; and the Falsity of his Assertion clearly appears from hence, that this Prophecy was translated into Greek an hundred Years before Antiochus's Time, and that Translation was in the Hands of the Egyptians, who had no Kindness either for the Jews or their Religion. Nay farther, the Prophecies of Daniel, foretelling the great Successes of Alexander, Ch. viii. 5. xi. 3. were shewed to Alexander himself by the Jews, who thereupon obtained several Privileges from him, as Josephus informs us, Antiq. xi. C. 2.

Daniel lived in great Favour with Nebuchadnezzar and his Successors in the Babylonian Monarchy; his extraordinary Merits continued him in the same Degree of Favour under Darius and Cyrus, the two first Persian Monarchs; and as Josephus observes, ' he was the only Prophet that enjoyed a great ' Share of worldly Prosperity.' He must needs have lived to a great Age, it being near seventy Years from the Date of his first Prophecy, Ch. ii. 1. to that of his last, Ch. x. 1: our learned Chronologer, Bp. Loyd, supposes him to have been carried into Captivity when he was but twenty Years old; about ten Years after we find him famed for his Piety and Wisdom, as appears from Ezek. xiv. 14. xxviii. 3. His last Vision was in the third Year of Cyrus, Dan. x. 1. at which Time he was about ninety-four Years of Age, and it is not likely he lived much longer.

CHAP. I.

An Account of the Captivity of Daniel and his Companions, with the Manner of their Education at Babylon.

1 IN the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, unto Jerusalem, and besieged it. 2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into the treasure-house of his god. 3 And the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the kings seed, and of the princes; 4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well-favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability lity in them to ſtand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans. 5 And the king appointed them a daily proviſion of the kings meat, and of the wine which he drank: ſo nouriſhing them three years, that at the end thereof they might ſtand before the king. 6 Now among theſe were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah. 7 Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: for he gave unto Daniel the name of Belteſhazzar; and to Hananiah, of Shadrach; and to Miſhael, of Meſhach; and to Azariah, of Abed-nego. 8 But Daniel purpoſed in his heart, that he would not defile himſelf with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requeſted of the prince of the eunuchs, that he might not defile himſelf. 9 Now God had brought Daniel into favour and tender love with the prince of the eunuchs. 10 And the prince of the eunuchs ſaid unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why ſhould he ſee your faces, worſe liking than the children which are of your ſort? then ſhall ye make me endanger my head to the king. 11 Then ſaid Daniel to Melzar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had ſet over Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah, 12 Prove thy ſervants, I beſeech thee, ten days, and let them give us pulſe to eat, and water to drink. 13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the kings meat: and as thou ſeeſt, deal with thy ſervants. 14 So he conſented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days. 15 And at the end of ten days, their countenances appeared fairer, and fatter in fleſh than all the children which did eat the portion of the kings meat. 16 Thus Melzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they ſhould drink; and gave them pulſe. 17 As for theſe four children, God gave them knowledge and ſkill in all learning and wiſdom: and Daniel had underſtanding in all viſions and dreams. 18 Now at the end of the days that the king had ſaid he ſhould bring them in, then the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar. 19 And the king communed with them, and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah: therefore ſtood they before the king. 20 And in all matter of wiſdom and underſtanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and aſtrologers that were in all his realm. 21 And Daniel continued even unto the firſt year of king Cyrus.

In the third Year of the Reign of Jehoiakim King of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon to Jeruſalem] The Prophet Jeremiah makes the firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar coincident with the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, and from thence begins the Date of the ſeventy Years Captivity. See Jer. xxv. 1. i. 11. But here Daniel ſpeaks of Nebuchadnezzar as King of Babylon in the third Year of Jehoiakim. To this Objection Dr. Prideaux gives an eaſy Anſwer, That Daniel begins his Computation from the Time that Nebuchadnezzar was ſent by his Father on the Expedition again Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was toward the latter End of the third Year of Jehoiakim. In the Beginning of the following Year he conquered the Egyptians, which was the fourth Year of Jehoiakim. See Jer. xlvi. 2. And in the latter End of the ſame Year he came and beſieged Jeruſalem in the ninth Month, according to the Jews Account, who to this Day keep a Faſt on the 18th of that Month, in Memory of this Taking of Jeruſalem. At which Time Jehoiakim became tributary to the King of Babylon, and conſequently the ſeventy Years of Captivity and Vaſſalage to Babylon began.

Whom they might teach the Learning and Tongue of the Chaldeans] Beſides the Study of Politicks and the Art of War, the Learning chiefly valued among them was Aſtrology, or the Knowledge of the Heavenly Motions, the Interpretation of Dreams, and Architecture.

He gave unto Daniel the Name of Belteſhazzar] According to the Name of his God, as Nebuchadnezzar himſelf derives the Word, Ch. iv. 7. So the Name was derived from Bel, the chief Idol of Babylon, as Nebuchadnezzar had his own Name from Nebo, another of their Idols, mentioned Iſa. xlvi. 1. And Evil-merodach his Succeſſor, was named from their Idol Merodach, Jer. l. 2. It is probable, that the other Names impoſed upon Daniel's Companions, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, were derived from ſome of their Idols. Miſael, a Word derived from El, the Name of the true God, may probably have been changed into Meſhach, becauſe Sac was an Idol worſhipped by the Chaldeans.

But Daniel purpoſed in his Heart, that he would not defile himſelf with the Portion of the King's Meat] It was the Cuſtom of moſt Nations, before their Meals, to make an Oblation of ſome Part of what they eat and drank to their Gods, as a thankful Acknowledgment that every Thing they enjoyed was their Gift. Theſe Oblations were called Proſiciæ and Libamina among the Romans; ſo that every Entertainment had ſomething in it of the Nature of a Sacrifice. This Practice generally prevailing, made Daniel and his Friends look upon the Proviſions coming from the King's Table, as not better than Meats offered to Idols, and by being ſo offered, to be accounted unclean or polluted. See Ezek. iv. 13. compared with Acts xv. 20.

The Portion of the King's Meat. The Word in the Hebrew is Path-bag; from whence Scaliger derives the Word Ποτίσασις, mentioned in Athenæus, as a Diſh ſerved up to the Table of the Perſian Kings, being a Mixture of Corn and Wine together.

And Daniel had Underſtanding in all Viſions and Dreams] It was an Opinion generally received in the early Ages of the World, that Dreams, when they were attended with unuſual Circumſtances, did portend or ſignify ſome future Event. This Subject Tully handles at large in the firſt Book De Divinatione, and alledges ſome remarkable Inſtances of that Kind. Homer ſpeaks the general Senſe of his own Age, when he ſaith, Even a Dream comes from God. The Authority of Joſeph is ſtill more antient, who ſaith, Do not Interpretations [of Dreams] come from God? Gen. xl. 8. The next Evidence in Point of Antiquity is the Book of Job, where Eliphaz relates a Night-Viſion he himſelf had, which inſtructed him in a Truth of great Importance, Job iv. 12, &c. and xxxiii. 13, 14, 15. Elihu affirms, that God ſpeaks once, yea twice to Man —in a Dream, in a Viſion of the Night; which indeed was the common Way by which God revealed his Will to the Patriarchs of old, and afterward to the Prophets. See Gen. xxviii. 12, &c. xxxi. 11. Numb. xii. 6. To deſcend to later Times, the Son of Syrach, when he diſcourſes of the Vanity of Dreams, yet makes this Exception, Unleſs they be ſent from the moſt High, Eccluſ. xxxiv. 1—6.

He found them ten Times better than all the Magicians and Aſtrologers that were in all his Realm] The Words may be underſtood of thoſe that employed themſelves in the Lawful Search of natural Cauſes and Effects, and of the regular Motions of the Heavenly Bodies. For when Daniel made Interceſſion to the Captain of the Guard, that the Wiſe Men of Babylon ight not be ſlain, Ch. ii. 24. we cannot ſuppoſe all of em were ſuch as ſtudied unlawful Arts and Sciences, nce he himſelf was afterward made Maſter or Head er them; ib. Ver. 48. And if no Part of the Chal-an Learning might be lawfully ſtudied, they that ould not defile themſelves with the King's Meat, would ave refuſed to be inſtructed in that Way of Educa-on which he had appointed, as St. Jerome obſerves pon Ver. 8. In like Manner, the Wiſe Men men-oned Matt. ii. 1. called Μάγοι in the Original, may be ppoſed ſuch as employed themſelves in obſerving the lotions of the Heavenly Bodies, and might reaſonably ppoſe that the new Star they had ſeen, in that Re-ion of the Heavens which the Aſtrologers appropriated Judæa, did portend the Birth of that Prince whom e Jews expected ſhould be born about this Time, nd had ſpread ſuch an Expectation over a great Part f the World.

CHAP. II.

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream, revealed to, and interpreted by Daniel.

Ver. 1. AND in the ſecond year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar reamed dreams, wherewith his ſpirit was trou-bled, and his ſleep brake from him. 2 Then he king commanded to call the magicians, and he aſtrologers, and the ſorcerers, and the Chal-eans, for to ſhew the king his dreams: ſo they ame and ſtood before the king. 3 And the ing ſaid unto them, I have dreamed a dream, nd my ſpirit was troubled to know the dream. 4 Then ſpake the Chaldeans to the king in Sy-iack, O king, live for ever: tell thy ſervants he dream, and we will ſhew the interpretation. 5 The king anſwered and ſaid to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me: if ye will not make known unto me the dream, with the interpreta-ion thereof, ye ſhall be cut in pieces, and your houſes ſhall be made a dunghill. 6 But if ye hew the dream, and the interpretation thereof, e ſhall receive of me gifts and rewards, and reat honour: therefore ſhew me the dream, and he interpretation thereof. 7 They anſwered gain and ſaid, Let the king tell his ſervants the ream, and we will ſhew the interpretation of . 8 The king anſwered and ſaid, I know of ertainty that ye would gain the time, becauſe e ſee the thing is gone from me. 9 But if ye ill not make known unto me the dream, there but one decree for you: for ye have prepared ying and corrupt words to ſpeak before me, till he time be changed: therefore tell me the ream, and I ſhall know that ye can ſhew me he interpretation thereof. 10 The Chaldeans nſwered before the king, and ſaid, There is ot a man upon the earth that can ſhew the ings matter: therefore there is no king, lord, or ruler that aſked ſuch things at any magician, r aſtrologer, or Chaldean. 11 And it is a rare hing that the king requireth, and there is none ther that can ſhew it before the king, except he gods, whoſe dwelling is not with fleſh. 12 or this cauſe the king was angry and very fu-ious, and commanded to deſtroy all the wiſe-en of Babylon. 13 And the decree went forth hat the wiſe-men ſhould be ſlain; and they ought Daniel and his fellows to be ſlain. 14 Then Daniel anſwered with counſel and wiſdom o Arioch the captain of the kings guard, which as gone forth to ſlay the wiſe-men of Babylon: 15 He anſwered and ſaid to Arioch the kings captain, Why is the decree ſo haſty from the king? Then Arioch made the thing known to Daniel. 16 Then Daniel went in, and deſired of the king that he would give him time, and that he would ſhew the king the interpretation. 17 Then Daniel went to his houſe, and made the thing known to Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah his companions: 18 That they would deſire mercies of the God of heaven concerning this ſecret; that Daniel and his fellows ſhould not periſh with the reſt of the wiſe-men of Babylon. 19 Then was the ſecret revealed unto Daniel in a night-viſion: then Daniel bleſſed the God of heaven. 20 Daniel anſwered and ſaid, Bleſſed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wiſdom and might are his. 21 And he changeth the times and the ſeaſons: he removeth kings, and ſetteth up kings: he giveth wiſdom unto the wiſe, and knowledge to them that know underſtanding. 22 He revealeth the deep and ſecret things: he knoweth what is in the darkneſs, and the light dwelleth with him. 23 I thank thee, and praiſe thee, O thou God of my fathers, who haſt given me wiſdom and might, and haſt made known unto me now what we deſired of thee: for thou haſt now made known unto us the kings matter. 24 Therefore Daniel went in unto Arioch whom the king had ordained to deſtroy the wiſe men of Babylon: he went and ſaid thus unto him, Deſtroy not the wiſe-men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will ſhew unto the king the interpretation. 25 Then Arioch brought in Daniel before the king in haſte, and ſaid thus unto him, I have found a man of the captives of Judah, that will make known unto the king the interpretation. 26 The king anſwered and ſaid to Daniel, whoſe name was Belteſhazzar, Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have ſeen, and the interpretation thereof? 27 Daniel anſwered in the preſence of the king, and ſaid, The ſecret which the king hath demanded, cannot the wiſe-men, the aſtrologers, the magicians, the ſoothſayers ſhew unto the king; 28 But there is a God in heaven that revealeth ſecrets, and maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar, what ſhall be in the latter days. Thy dream, and the viſions of thy head upon thy bed, are theſe; 29 As for thee, O king, thy thoughts came into thy mind, upon thy bed, what ſhould come to paſs hereafter, and he that revealeth ſecrets maketh known unto thee what ſhall come to paſs. 30 But as for me, this ſecret is not revealed to me, for any wiſdom that I have more than any living, but for their ſakes that ſhall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mighteſt know the thoughts of thy heart. 31 Thou, O king, ſaweſt, and behold, a great image: this great image whoſe brightneſs was excellent, ſtood before thee, and the form thereof was terrible. 32 This images head was of fine gold, his breaſt and his arms of ſilver, his belly and his thighs of braſs, 33 His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay. 34 Thou ſaweſt till that a ſtone was cut out without hands, which ſmote the image upon his feet that were of iron and of clay, and bake them to pieces. 35 Then was the iron, the clay, the braſs, the ſilver and the gold broken to pieces together, and became like the chaff of the ſummer threſhing-floors, and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them; and the ſtone that ſmote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth. 36 This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king. 37 Thou, O king, art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and ſtrength, and glory. 38 And whereſoever the children of men dwell, the beaſts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art this head of gold. 39 And after thee ſhall ariſe another kingdom inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of braſs, which ſhall bear rule over all the earth. 40 And the fourth kingdom ſhall be ſtrong as iron: foraſmuch as iron breaketh in pieces, and ſubdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all theſe, ſhall it break in pieces, and bruiſe. 41 And whereas thou ſaweſt the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of iron: the kingdom ſhall be divided, but there ſhall be in it of the ſtrength of the iron, foraſmuch as thou ſaweſt the iron mixed with miry clay. 42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay; ſo the kingdom ſhall be partly ſtrong, and partly broken. 43 And whereas thou ſaweſt iron mixt with miry clay, they ſhall mingle themſelves with the ſeed of men: but they ſhall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay. 44 And in the days of theſe kings ſhall the God of heaven ſet up a kingdom, which ſhall never be deſtroyed: and the kingdom ſhall not be left to other people, but it ſhall break in pieces, and conſume all theſe kingdoms, and it ſhall ſtand for ever. 45 Foraſmuch as thou ſaweſt that the ſtone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the braſs, the clay, the ſilver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what ſhall come to paſs hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof ſure. 46 Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and worſhipped Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer an oblation and ſweet odours unto him. 47 The king anſwered unto Daniel, and ſaid, Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of ſecrets, ſeeing thou couldeſt reveal this ſecret. 48 Then the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many great gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief of the governors over all the wiſe-men of Babylon. 49 Then Daniel requeſted of the king, and he ſet Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego over the affairs of the province of Bābylon: but Daniel ſat in the gate of the king.

And in the ſecond Year of the Reign of King Nebuchadnezzar] This was the fourth Year of his Reign, according to the Scripture Computation, (ſee Note on Ch. i. 1.) For above three Years muſt have been expired ſince the Time of Daniel's Captivity: See Ch. i. 5, 8. But Daniel writing the following Hiſtory in Chaldee, for the Uſe of the Chaldeans, follows that Computation of Time which was in Uſe among them.

And the Sorcerers, and the Chaldeans] The Word Sorcerers is always taken in an ill Senſe by the ſacred Writers, for thoſe that conſult with evil Spirits. The Chaldeans were ſo much addicted to the Study of the Heavenly Motions, and to make Prognoſtications from thence, that the Word Chaldean is uſed both in Greek and Latin Writers for an Aſtrologer.

Then ſpake the Chaldeans to the King in Syriack] The antient Chaldee and the Syrian Language were the ſame: See Gen. xxxi. 47. Ezra iv. 7. This Language is found in its greateſt Purity, in the Books of Daniel and Ezra. The Jews in the Time of their Captivity mixed ſeveral Hebrew Words with the Chaldean Language, and this is the Chaldee in which the Targums upon the Law and the Prophets are writ, and is called the Hebrew in the New Teſtament. The Language ſpoken in Antioch, and other Parts of Syria, differing as a Dialect from the two former, and being written in a different Character, is what we now call the Syriack.

Then Daniel anſwered with Counſel and Wiſdom to Arioch the Captain of the King's Guard] With whom he was in Favour: See Ch. i. 9. The vulgar Latin tranſlates the former Part of the Sentence thus, Tunc Daniel requiſivit de Lege & Sententiâ, Daniel enquired concerning the Law and Decree, which the King had made for deſtroying the Wiſe Men. The Word Taam, tranſlated here Wiſdom, uſually ſignifies an Edict or publick Decree ſet forth by Authority.

The Soothſayers] This Word is not met with before among the ſeveral Sorts of Pretenders to Wiſdom among the Chaldeans, mentioned Ver. 2. The Chaldee Word is Gazerin, which ſome think anſwers the Latin Aruſpices; who pretended to foretel Events by Tokens found in the Entrails of the living Creatures which they ſacrificed.

This Image's Head was of fine Gold] The Babylonian Monarchy was arrived to the Height of Glory under Nebuchadnezzar; ſee Ver. 37, 38. who likewiſe improved and adorned the City of Babylon to ſuch a Degree, as to make it one of the Wonders of the World; as Dr. Prideaux ſhews at large in his Connect. So this Empire might juſtly be compared to a golden Head.

His Breaſts and his Arms of Silver] The ſecond Monarchy of the Medes and Perſians, will be inferior to the Firſt; ſee Ver. 39. Probably in reſpect of its Continuance; the Babylonian Monarchy, if we date its Beginning from Ninus, having laſted above 700 Years.

And his Thighs of Braſs, his Legs of Iron] The Emblems denote the Strength of the Third and Fourth Monarchies, and the irreſiſtable Force with which they ſubdued their Adverſaries. Iron and Braſs are the Emblems of Strength in the prophetical Writings; ſee Ver. 39, 40. Ch. iv. 15. vii. 19. Iſa. xlv. 2. xlviii. 4.

Thou ſaweſt till that a Stone was cut out without Hands, which ſmote the Image upon his Feet — and brake them to Pieces] A very proper Repreſentation how the whole Image was deſtroyed; viz. by a great Stone's falling upon the Feet of the Image, and breaking them to Pieces. In like Manner the Kingdom of Chriſt, a Kingdom of God's own erecting (ſee Ver. 45.) ſhall break to pieces the fourth and laſt Monarchy, in which the Remainders of the other three were comprehended; and ſhall at length put an End to all earthly Rule, Authority, and Power, 1 Cor. xv. 24.

The Jews unanimouſly agree that by the Stone is meant the Meſſiah: See their Authorities collected by the Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield's learned Defence of Chriſtianity, P. 122.

And the Stone that ſmote the Image, became a great Mountain, and filled the whole Earth] This denotes the Advancement and Increaſe of Chriſt's Kingdom, that it ſhould from ſmall Beginnings proceed to fill the whole Earth; as if a Stone by Degrees ſhould grow to be a Mountain. Thus Chriſt is deſcribed as going forth conquering and to conquer, Rev. vi. 2. Mr. Mede has very judiciouſly obſerved, that this Kingdom is deſcribed here under two States or Forms; the one to be called by way of Diſtinction, the Kingdom of Stone, the other the Kingdom of the Mountain. The first commenced upon the Erection of the fourth Kingdom, while the Statue continued on its Feet; the other was to be manifeſt under its laſt and weakeſt State. Chriſt, the Foundation of the Church, is often deſcribed as a Stone; ſee Iſa. xxviii. 16. Zech. iii. 9. and the Church in its flouriſhing Eſtate is repreſented as a Mountain, Iſa. ii. 2. Ezek. xx. 40. Rev. xxi. 10.

And another third Kingdom of Braſs which ſhall reign over all the Earth] The Grecian Monarchy ſhall extend its Conqueſts beyond the Bounds of the preceding Empires, even to thoſe Parts of the Eaſt, which none of the Perſian Monarchs had ever attempted to ſubdue.

And the fourth Kingdom ſhall be ſtrong as Iron] So it is repreſented as having great iron Teeth, Ch. vii. 7, 19. This fourth Kingdom can be no other than the Roman Empire. Some Commentators indeed have reckoned the Empire continued in Alexander's Succeſſors, as a diſtinct Kingdom from that which was ſet up by himſelf. But no Writer of the Hiſtory of theſe Times ſpeaks of it as ſuch: And this Notion plainly contradicts the Deſcription which Daniel gives of that Kingdom, Ch. viii. There the Prophet repreſents the third Kingdom as it were ſet up by Alexander, and continued under his Succeſſors, under the Figure of a Goat having one great Horn, and afterward, four others which ſtood up in his Stead, Ver. 8. And afterwards expreſly calls Alexander the firſt King, Ver. 21. and farther tells us, Ch. xi. 4. that his Kingdom ſhall be broken and divided toward the four Winds of Heaven. They that want farther Satisfaction, may ſee more Proofs of this Point in Mr. Mede's Diſſertation upon this Subject.

The Reaſon why the Spirit of God takes Notice of theſe Monarchies rather than any others, is, becauſe the People were Subjects to theſe Monarchies as they ſucceeded one another; and in their Succeſſion, a Line of Time is carried on to the Coming of Chriſt, who was to appear in the Times of the fourth Monarchy, and the Countries belonging to it were to be the chief Seat of Chriſt's Kingdom.

And whereas thou ſaweſt Iron mixed with miry Clay, they ſhall mingle themſelves with the Seed of Men, but they ſhall not cleave one to another] Theſe ten Kingdoms (ſignified by the ten Toes, Ver. 4.) ſhall be a Medley of People, of different Nations, Laws, and Cuſtoms; and altho' the Kings of the ſeveral Nations ſhall try to ſtrengthen themſelves by Marriage-Alliances into one another's Families, yet the different Intereſts which they purſue, will often make them engage in Wars with each other, and thereby weaken the common Strength.

Then the King Nebuchadnezzar fell on his Face and worſhipped Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer an Oblation and ſweet Odours unto him] Doing Reverence by Proſtration is not only an Act of Worſhip paid to God, but often given to Kings and great Men in the Old Teſtament, according to the Cuſtom of the Eaſtern Countries. See 2 Sam. ix. 6. xiv. 33. It was likewiſe an Expreſſion of Reverence paid to Prophets, on Account of the Sanctity of their Office, and not refuſed by them: See 1 Kings xviii. 7. Of this Kind was probably the Worſhip paid by the Leper to Chriſt, Matt. viii. 2. whom he took for a Prophet. But when other Circumſtances were added to it, which made it look like Divine Worſhip, then it was refuſed to be accepted, as in the Caſe of St. Peter, Acts x. 25. and of the Angel, Rev. xix. 10. The Adoration here deſcribed, ſeems to have been of the latter Kind, being joined with offering Incenſe, an Act of Worſhip peculiar to God alone: See Ezra vi. 10. For this Reaſon it is highly probable that Daniel refuſed the Honours offered to him, and put the King in Mind that he ſhould give God the Glory, as we find he does in the following Verſe. Nebuchadnezzar ſeems in a ſudden Tranſport to have looked upon Daniel as having ſomething more than Human in him: See Ch. iv. 8. juſt as the Barbarians thought of St. Paul, Acts xxviii. 6.

CHAP. III.

Nebuchadnezzar ſets up a golden Image, and commands all to worſhip it; which Daniel's three Friends refuſing, are thrown into the fiery Furnace, but are miraculouſly delivered.

Ver. 1. NEbuchadnezzar the king made an image of gold, whoſe height was threeſcore cubits, and the breadth thereof ſix cubits: he ſet it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. 2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king ſent to gather together the princes, the governors, and the captains, the judges, the treaſurers, the counſellors, the ſheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchadnezzar the king had ſet up. 3 Then the princes, the governors, and captains, the judges, the treaſurers, the counſellors, the ſheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces were gathered together unto the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had ſet up; and they ſtood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had ſet up. 4 Then an herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, O people, nations, and languages, 5 That at what time ye hear the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, dulcimer, and all kinds of muſick, ye fall down and worſhip the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath ſet up. 6 And whoſo falleth not down and worſhippeth, ſhall the ſame hour be caſt into the midſt of a burning fiery furnace. 7 Therefore at that time, when all the people heard the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and all kinds of muſick, all the people, the nations, and the languages fell down and worſhipped the golden image, that Nebuchadnezzar the king had ſet up. 8 Wherefore at that time certain Chaldeans came near and accuſed the Jews. 9 They ſpake and ſaid to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O king live for ever. 10 Thou, O king, haſt made a decree, that every man that ſhall hear the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of muſick, ſhall fall down and worſhip the golden image: 11 And whoſo falleth not down and worſhippeth, that he ſhould be caſt into the midſt of a burning fiery furnace. 12 There are certain Jews whom thou haſt ſet over the affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego: theſe men, O king, have not regarded thee, they ſerve not thy gods nor worſhip the golden image which thou haſt ſet up. 13 Then Nebuchadnezzar in his rage and fury commanded to bring Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego: then they brought theſe men before the king. 14 Nebuchadnezzar ſpake and ſaid unto them, Is it true, O Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego? do not ye ſerve my gods, nor worſhip the golden image which I have ſet up? 15 Now if ye be ready that at what time ye hear the ſound of the cornet, flute, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of muſick, ye fall down and worſhip the image which I have made, well: but if ye worſhip not, ye ſhall be caſt the ſame hour into the midſt of a burning fiery furnace; and who is that God that ſhall deliver you out of my hands? 16 Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego anſwered and ſaid to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to anſwer thee in this matter. 17 If it be ſo, our God whom we ſerve, is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king. 18 But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not ſerve thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image which thou haſt ſet up. 19 Then was Nebuchadnezzar full of fury, and the form of his viſage was changed againſt Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego: therefore he ſpake and commanded, that they ſhould heat the furnace one ſeven times more than it was wont to be heat. 20 And he commanded the moſt mighty men that were in his army, to bind Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, and to caſt them into the burning fiery furnace. 21 Then theſe men were bound in their coats, their hoſen, and their hats, and their other garments, and were caſt into the midſt of the burning fiery furnace. 22 Therefore becauſe the kings commandment was urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the flame of the fire ſlew thoſe men that took up Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego. 23 And theſe three men Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, fell down bound into the midſt of the burning fiery furnace. 24 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was aſtonied, and roſe up in haſte, and ſpake and ſaid unto his counſellors, Did we not caſt three men bound into the midſt of the fire? They anſwered and ſaid unto the king, True, O king. 25 He anſwered and ſaid, Lo, I ſee four men looſe, walking in the midſt of the fire, and they have no hurt; and the form of the fourth is like the ſon of God. 26 Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and ſpake and ſaid, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, ye ſervants of the moſt high God, come forth, and come hither. Then Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego came forth of the midſt of the fire. 27 And the princes, governors and captains, and the kings counſellors being gathered together, ſaw theſe men, upon whoſe bodies the fire had no power, nor was an hair of their head ſinged, neither were their coats changed, nor the ſmell of fire had paſſed on them. 28 Then Nebuchadnezzar ſpake, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the God of Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, who hath ſent his angel, and delivered his ſervants that truſted in him, and have changed the kings word, and yielded their bodies, that they might not ſerve nor worſhip any god, except their own God. 29 Therefore I make a decree, That every people, nation, and language, which ſpeak any thing amiſs againſt the God of Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abed-nego, ſhall be cut in pieces, and their houſes ſhall be made a dunghill; becauſe there is no other god that can deliver after this ſort. 30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meſhech, and Abednego in the province of Babylon.

Nebuchadnezzar made an Image of Gold, the Height thereof was threeſcore Cubits, and the Breadth thereof ſix Cubits] The Image was probably ſet up in Honour of Bel, whom Nebuchadnezzar worſhipped as his Tutelar Deity; and called Daniel after his Name.

The Proportion of this Image ſhews it to have been a very irregular Figure, no Man's Height being above ſix Times his Thickneſs. This makes Interpreters generally underſtand theſe ſixty Cubits of the Height of the Image and Pedeſtal taken together; and ſuppoſe the Image to have been thirty ſix Cubits, and the Pedeſtal twenty four. Diodorus Siculus giving an Account of the Plunder Xerxes had taken out of the Temple of Belus, mentions a Statue of Maſſy Gold which was forty Foot high, which Dr. Prideaux conjectures to have been this Statue; and then the Body of the Image would have been twenty ſeven Cubits high. The Greek Interpreter ſuppoſes this remarkable Story to have happened in the 18th Year of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign.

That at what Time ye hear the Sound of the Cornet, Harp, &c.] Some of the Names of theſe muſical Inſtruments have a great Affinity with the Greek Words of the ſame Signification; as the Word Karna, the Cornet, with Κέρας; Kithros the Harp, with Κίθαρις; Peſanterin, Pſaltery, with Ψαλτηριον; and Symphonia tranſlated Dulcimer, with Συμφωνία. This ſome account for, by ſuppoſing that the Traffick managed by the Phœnicians with Greece, ſee Ezek. xxvii. 13. and the tranſplanting the Eolian and Ionian Colonies into Aſia, which happened about an Age after the Deſtruction of Troy, brought theſe and other Greek Words into the Eaſtern Part of the World.

But, ſays Lowth, it is more probable that the Names were transferred from the Eaſtern Language into Greece. This is taken for granted in the Word Sambuca, derived from the Chaldee Subca, mentioned in the Text. In like Manner Kithros, from whence Cithara is derived, is probably taken from Citrus, i. e. the Citron Wood, of which the Inſtrument is made the beſt of which Kind grew in Media. This Opinion is confirmed by the Teſtimony of Strabo, L. x. p. 471. who ſaith, 'That the Names of Muſical Inſtruments, ſuch as Noblia, Sambuca, and Barbitos, were derived from barbarous Languages,' by which the Greeks denote the Eaſtern Tongues. The Words of Athenæus are to the ſame Purpoſe, L. iv. C. 22. where he ſaith, 'That the Phrygian and Lydian Harmony came from the Barbarians; i. e. the Eaſtern Nations to the Greeks.'

There is but one Objection againſt this Opinion, which is, That the Word Symphonia, here mentioned, is a Greek Compound. But Iſidore in his Origines deſcribes that Inſtrument to be hollow, ſomething like our Drum, and covered with Leather, which the Ancients played upon with a Stick or a Quill; from whence we may conclude, that the Affinity between this and the Greek Word is purely accidental.

Shall the ſame Hour] This is the firſt Place in the Old Teſtament, where we meet with the Diviſion of Time into Hours. The Greeks aſcribe the Invention of Hours to Anaximander, or Anaximenes; who probably learned it from the Chaldeans. See Herodot. L. ii. C. 109.

Our God whom we ſerve, is able to deliver us — and he will deliver us out of thine Hand] As we are firmly perſuaded of his Power to deliver us, ſo we truſt in his Mercy and Goodneſs that he will deliver us out of this imminent Danger. This they ſpake out of a well-grounded Hope, not from a certain Foreſight of being delivered; for ſuch an Aſſurance would have defeated the Worth of their Courage and Conſtancy in deſpiſing the Danger which threatened them.

CHAP. IV.

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream, foretelling the Loſs of his Kingly Power, as explained by Daniel, and fulfilled in the Event.

Ver. 1. NEbuchadnezzar the king unto all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth, Peace be multiplied unto you. 2 I thought it good to ſhew the ſigns and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me. 3 How great are his ſigns? and how mighty are his wonders? his kingdom kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation. 4 I Nebuchadnezzar was at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace: 5 I saw a dream which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed, and the visions of my head troubled me. 6 Therefore made I a decree, to bring in all the wise-men of Babylon before me, that they might make known unto me the interpretation of the dream. 7 Then came in the magicians, the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers: and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known unto me the interpretation thereof. 8 But at the last Daniel came in before me (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods) and before him I told the dream, saying, 9 O Belteshazzar, master of the magicians, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and the interpretation thereof. 10 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed; I saw, and behold, a tree in the midst of the earth, and the height thereof was great. 11 The tree grew, and was strong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof to the end of all the earth. 12 The leaves thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: the beasts of the field had shadow under it, and the fowls of the heaven dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh was fed of it. 13 I saw in the visions of my head upon my bed, and behold, a watcher, and an holy one came down from heaven. 14 He cried aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and cut off his branches, shake off his leaves, and scatter his fruit; let the beasts get away from under it, and the fowls from his branches. 15 Nevertheless, leave the stump of his roots in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts in the grass of the earth. 16 Let his heart be changed from mans, and let a beasts heart be given unto him, and let seven times pass over him. 17 This matter is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones: to the intent that the living may know, that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the basest of men. 18 This dream I king Nebuchadnezzar have seen: now thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof, forasmuch as all the wise-men of my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee. 19 Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) was astonied for one hour, and his thoughts troubled him: the king spake, and said, Belteshazzar, let not the dream, or the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies. 20 The tree that thou sawest, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof to all the earth; 21 Whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all; under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose branches the fowls of the heaven had their habitation: 22 It is thou, O king, that art grown and become strong: for thy greatness is grown and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominion to the end of the earth. 23 And whereas the king saw a watcher, and an holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, Hew the tree down, and destroy it, yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass in the tender grass of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him; 24 This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the most High, which is come upon my lord the king: 25 That they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over thee, till thou know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will. 26 And whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the tree-roots: thy kingdom shall be sure unto thee, after that thou shalt have known that the heavens do rule. 27 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by shewing mercy to the poor; if it may be a lengthening of thy tranquillity. 28 All this came upon the king Nebuchadnezzar. 29 At the end of twelve months he walked in the palace of the kingdom of Babylon. 30 The king spake, and said, Is not this great Babylon that I have built for the house of the kingdom, by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty? 31 While the word was in the kings mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, saying, O king Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is spoken, The kingdom is departed from thee. 32 And they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee, until thou know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will. 33 The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar; and he was driven from men, and did eat grass as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown like eagles feathers, and his nails like birds claws. 34 And at the end of the days, I Nebuchadnezzar lift up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me, and I blessed the most High, and I praised and honoured him that liveth for ever, whose dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation. 35 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and he doeth according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, or say unto him, What doest thou? 36 At the same time my reason returned unto me, and for the glory of my kingdom, mine honour and brightness returned unto me; and my counsellors and my lords sought unto me; and I was established in my kingdom, and excellent majesty was added unto me. 37 Now I Nebuchadnezzar praiſe and extol and honour the King of heaven, all whoſe works are truth, and his ways judgment, and thoſe that walk in pride he is able to abaſe.

Behold a Watcher, and an holy One came from Heaven] The Word Watcher is underſtood of ſome principal Angel; the Angelical Orders being deſcribed as always attending upon God's Throne, to receive and execute his Commands: See Pſ. ciii. 20. Matt. xviii. 10. and Ezek. i. 11, 24. For the ſame Reaſon they are called the Eyes of the Lord, Zech. iv. 10. In the Fragments of that antient Book, called the Prophecy of Enoch, quoted in the Epiſtle of St. Jude, the Angels are called Εγρήγοροι, the Greek Word which anſwers to Eir in the Text; and ſome Criticks derive the Iris of the Poets, whom they deſcribe as the Meſſenger of the Gods, from the Word Eir; tho' others take the Word Eir to differ only in the Chaldee Dialect from the Hebrew Tſeir, a Meſſenger. The Word Holy One, denotes ſuch of the Angels who kept their Station, and were not ſeduced from their Obedience, when the Evil Angels fell. See Ch. viii. 13. In the ſame Senſe the Word is taken Jude Ver. 14. The Lord cometh with ten thouſands of his Saints, or Holy Ones. Compare Deut. xxxiii. 2. Zech, xiv. 5. 1 Theſſ. iii. 13.

Let his Heart be changed from Man's, and let a Beaſt's Heart be given unto him] Let him loſe the Uſe of his Reaſon; ſee Ver. 34, 36. Scaliger thinks this Madneſs of Nebuchadnezzar is obſcurely hinted in a Fragment of Abydeneus, produced by Euſebius, Præp. Evang. L. ix. C. 41. where having repreſented the King from the Chaldean Writers to have faln into an Extaſy, and to have foretold the Deſtruction of that Empire by the Medes and Perſians; the Author adds, that immediately after uttering this Prophecy, he diſappeared, which Scaliger expounds of his being driven from his kingly State, and the Society of Men.

And let ſeven Times paſs over him] That is, ſeven Years; ſo the Expreſſion is taken, Ch. xi. 13. where the Hebrew reads, the King of the North ſhall come at the End of Times, that is, Years. So the Time, Times, and an Half, mentioned Ch. vii. 25. xii. 7. ſignify three Years and an half; and are accordingly explained by forty two Months, Rev. xi. 2. and by 1260 Days, Rev. xii. 7. both which Reckonings of Time are equivalent to three Years and an half.

This Matter is by Decree of the Watchers, and the Demand by the Word of the Holy Ones] It is called the Decree of the moſt High, Ver. 24. So the Expreſſion of the Text is an Alluſion to the Proceedings of earthly Princes, who publiſh their Decrees with the Advice of their chief Miniſters. Thus God is deſcribed as ſummoning all the Hoſt of Angels, and taking Reſolutions according to their Advice, 1 Kings xxii. 19. And Chriſt is repreſented as attended with Saints and Angels as his Aſſeſſors at the Day of Judgment. See Ch. vii. 22. of this Prophecy. 1 Cor. vi. 2, 3. 1 Tim. v. 11. Rev. xx. 4. The Words are capable of another Senſe, viz. That this Sentence was pronounced at the Requeſt of thoſe Angels whom God had appointed to preſide over the Affairs of the Babyloniſh Empire. Watchers and holy Ones are here ſpoken of in the Plural Number, whereas the Words are in the Singular, Ver. 13. which Difference may be thus accounted for; that the Sentence was pronounced at the joint Requeſt of many, but was to be put in Execution by one ſingle Angel.

CHAP. V.

A Judgment is denounced againſt Belſhazzar for his Sacrilege, by an Hand writing upon the Wall; which Daniel reads and interprets; and is fulfilled the ſame Night. 1

Ver. 1. BElſhazzar the king made a great feaſt to a thouſand of his lords, and dranк wine before the thouſand. 2 Belſhazza whiles he taſted the wine, commanded to brin the golden and ſilver veſſels, which his fath Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the temp which was in Jeruſalem, that the king and h princes, his wives and his concubines mig drink therein. 3 Then they brought the gold veſſels that were taken out of the temple of t houſe of God, which was at Jeruſalem; and t king and his princes, his wives and his conc bines drank in them. 4 They drunk wine, an praiſed the gods of gold, and of ſilver, of bra of iron, of wood, and of ſtone. 5 In the ſame ho came forth fingers of a mans hand, and wro over againſt the candleſtick upon the plaiſter the wall of the kings palace; and the king ſa the part of the hand that wrote. 6 Then t kings countenance was changed, and his thoug troubled him, ſo that the joints of his loins we looſed, and his knees ſmote one againſt anoth 7 The king cried aloud to bring in the aſtro gers, the Chaldeans, and the ſooth-ſayers: a the king ſpake and ſaid to the wiſe men of Ba lon, whoſoever ſhall read this writing, and ſh me the interpretation thereof, ſhall be cloth with ſcarlet, and have a chain of gold about neck, and ſhall be the third ruler in the kin dom. 8 Then came in all the kings wiſe m but they could not read the writing, nor ma known to the king the interpretation there 9 Then was king Belſhazzar greatly troubl and his countenance was changed in him, a his lords were aſtonied. 10 Now the queen reaſon of the words of the king and his lor came into the banquet-houſe; and the que ſpake and ſaid, O king, live for ever: let n thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy coun nance be changed. 11 There is a man in t kingdom, in whom is the ſpirit of the ho gods, and in the days of thy father light a underſtanding and wiſdom like the wiſdom the gods, was found in him; whom the ki Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the king, I ſay, t father made maſter of the magicians, aſtrologe Chaldeans, and ſooth ſayers; 12 Foraſmuch an excellent ſpirit, and knowledge, and und ſtanding, interpreting of dreams, and ſhewing hard ſentences, and diſſolving of doubts we found in the ſame Daniel, whom the king n med Belteſhazzar: now let Daniel be called, a he will ſhew the interpretation. 13 Then w Daniel brought in before the king; and the ki ſpake and ſaid unto Daniel, Art thou that D niel, which art of the children of the captivity Judah, whom the king my father brought o of Jewry? 14 I have even heard of thee, th the ſpirit of the gods is in thee, and light an and underſtanding, and excellent wiſdom is fou in thee. 15 And now the wiſe men, the aſtr logers have been brought in before me, th they ſhould read this writing, and make kno unto me the interpretation thereof: but th could not ſhew the interpretation of the thi 16 And I have heard of thee, that thou ca make interpretations, and diſſolve doubts: n if thou canſt read the writing, and make kno to me the interpretation thereof, thou ſhalt clothed with ſcarlet, and have a chain of g about thy neck, and ſhalt be the third ruler the kingdom. 17 Then Daniel anſwered a and before the king, Let thy gifts be to thyself, and give thy rewards to another, yet I will read the writing unto the king, and make known to him the interpretation. 18 O thou king, the most high God gave Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdom, and majesty, and glory, and honour. 19 And for the majesty that he gave him, all people, nations and languages trembled and feared before him: whom he would he slew, and whom he would he kept alive, and whom he would he set up, and whom he would he put down. 20 But when his heart was lifted up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him. 21 And he was driven from the sons of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till he knew that the most high God ruled in the kingdom of men, and that he appointeth over it whomsoever he will. 22 And thou his son, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all this: 23 But hast lifted up thyself against the Lord of heaven, and they have brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy lords, thy wives and thy concubines have drunk wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of silver and gold, of brass, iron, wood, and stone, which see not, nor hear, nor know: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, and whose are all thy ways, hast thou not glorified. 24 Then was the part of the hand sent from him, and this writing was written. 25 And this is the writing that was written, MENE MENE, TEKEL UPHARSIN. 26 This is the interpretation of the thing; MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdom, and finished it. 27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting. 28 PERES, thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians. 29 Then commanded Belshazzar, and they clothed Daniel with scarlet, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom. 30 In that night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slain. 31 And Darius the Median took the kingdom, being about threescore and two year old.

Belshazzar the King] This was the last King of the Babylonish Race, and therefore must be the same with Nabonnedus, so called by Berosus, and Naboandelus by Josephus. See this clearly proved by Dr. Prideaux's Script. Connect. Part. i. P. 114.

Belshazzar commanded to bring the Gold and Silver Vessels which his Father Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the Temple which was at Jerusalem] These Vessels were carried by Nebuchadnezzar into the Temple of his own God, Ch. i. 2. and set apart, as it seems, for Religious Uses. So this farther Profanation of them was contrary to the Rules of their own Religion, and may be supposed to have been done out of a drunken Frolick by Belshazzar.

Without question the Vessels and other Furniture, with which Solomon adorned the Temple, were extraordinary magnificent; since Nebuchadnezzar thought them worth carrying to Babylon, to furnish the Temple he had built there for his God Belus, a Structure that might be esteemed one of the Wonders of the World. Some of these Vessels were afterwards carried in Triumph to Rome by Titus, after he had conquered Jerusalem, as Josephus an Eye-witness asserts. Afterward, when Gisericus sacked Rome, he carried them away with the rest of his Booty; but when Justinian conquered Africk, he recovered them again, and sent them for a Present to the Church of Jerusalem. See Evagrius, L. iv. C. 17.

Which his Father Nebuchadnezzar had taken] Nebuchadnezzar was in truth his Grandfather; for he was the Son of Evil-Merodach by Nitocris his Queen; so he was the Grandson of Nebuchadnezzar: And thus the Prophecy of Jeremy was fulfilled, That all Nations should serve Nebuchadnezzar and his Son, and his Son's Son, Jer. xxvii. 7. It is usual in Scripture to call the Grandfather by the Name of the Father; see 2 Sam. ix. 7. 2 Kings viii. 26. compared with Ver. 18. 2 Chron. xv. 16. compared with Ch. xi. 20. Zech. i. 1. with Ezra vi. 14.

In the same Hour came forth Fingers of a Man's Hand] Next to Murder, no Sin is so remarkably punished in this World, as that of Sacrilege, as appears by innumerable Instances taken out of the Histories of all Ages, of Heathens and Infidels, as well as Jews and Christians. For, to profess a Religion to be true, and yet to offer Violence to the Places and Utensils dedicated to the Service of that Religion, is downright Impiety, and argues a Contempt of all Religion. Remarkable Examples of this kind in the Heathen Story are, the miserable End of the Phoceans, who robbed the Temple of Delphos, and were the Occasion of that War, which was called from thence the Holy War, an Account of which may be seen in Petavius; the Destruction of the Gauls in their Attempt upon the same Temple; and of Crassus, who plundered the Temple of Jerusalem, and that of the Syrian Goddess: These two last Stories are very particularly related by Dr. Prideaux, Par. ii. P. 26, and 202.

Grotius's Note upon this Place is worth observing, 'The Heathens thought it a great Impiety to convert 'sacred Things to common Uses; but now-a-days 'neither Princes nor People think there is any Harm 'in it: And can we expect that God should not visit 'for these Things?

Then came in all the King's wise Men, but they could not read the Writing] It was probably writ in the old Hebrew Characters, now called the Samaritan Character, which the Chaldeans were ignorant of.

Now the Queen, by reason of the Words of the King and his Lords, came into the Banquet-House] The King's Wives and Concubines sat with him at the Feast, Ver. 2. So the Person here mentioned must be the Queen-Mother Nitocris; a Lady famous for her Wisdom, who had the chief Management of the publick Affairs, and so is called the Queen by Way of Eminence.

Art thou that Daniel? &c.] Tho' his Grandfather had advanced Daniel to considerable Places of Honour, Ver. 11. yet Belshazzar knew nothing of him; which argues him to be a weak and vicious Prince, according to the Character Historians give of him, and that he left the Care of publick Affairs to his Mother, minding nothing but his Pleasures.

MENE, God hath numbred thy Kingdom and finished it] The determinate Number of Years which God hath appointed for the Continuance of thy Reign, and the Babylonish Monarchy is finished. So God is said to number the Months of Man's Life, and to appoint him Bounds which he cannot pass, Job xiv. 5. The Word MENE is doubled in another Verse, to shew that the Thing is certain, and established by God, as Joseph tells Pharaoh in like Case, Gen. xli. 32.

TEKEL, thou art weighed in the Balances, and found wanting] Wicked Men are often compared to Silver adulterated, and allayed with baser Metals, which makes it too light when weighed in the Balances. See Jer. vi. 30. Ezek. xxii. 18. Such was Belshazzar when weighed in the Scales of Divine Justice. Compare Job xxi. 6. Ps. xlii. 10. The same Comparison is used by Homer, when Hector's fatal Day approaches; and by Virgil at the Death of Turnus; and we may add, of Milton, when he introduces Satan preparing to fight with the Angels who guarded Paradiſe, to convince him of his Inequality for ſuch a Combat.

PERES, thy Kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Perſians] The Verb Paras, from whence Peres is derived, as an Appellative, ſignifies to divide or break. It is likewiſe the proper Name of the Perſians, who were to be Sharers in the Diviſion of the Babyloniſh Empire. UPHARSIN in the 25th Verſe, is a Particle of the Verb Pharas; it literally ſignifies, And they divide it.

In that Night was Belſhazzar King of the Chaldeans ſlain] He and all his Nobles were ſlain together in the Midſt of their Feaſting and Revelling, as Herodotus and Xenophon informs us. The latter relates the Story thus: 'That two Deſerters, Gadata and Gobryas, having aſſiſted ſome of the Perſian Army to kill the 'Guards, and ſeize upon the Palace, they entered into 'the Room where the King was, whom they found 'ſtanding up in a Poſture of Defence; but they ſoon 'diſpatched him, and thoſe that were with him.' Thus the Prophecy of Jeremy was accompliſhed, that Babylon ſhould be taken at the Time of a publick Feaſt, while her Princes and great Men, her Captains, her Rulers and mighty Men ſhould be drunken, and ſhould ſleep a perpetual Sleep, and not awaken; Ch. li. 39, 57.

And Darius the Median took the Kingdom] This Darius is ſaid to be of the Seed of the Medes, Ch. ix. 1. and is ſuppoſed by the moſt judicious Chronologers to be the ſame with Cyaxeres, the Son of Aſtyages. Him Cyrus made King of the Chaldeans, as being his Uncle by the Mother's Side, and his Partner in carrying on the War againſt the Babylonians, and left him the Palace of the King of Babylon to live there whenever he pleaſed, as Xenophon relates. Darius ſucceeded in the Empire, being Cyrus's Gift. Ptolemy's Canon ſuppoſes Cyrus to be the immediate Succeſſor of Nabonnedus, or Belſhazzar, and allots nine Years to his Reign; whereas Xenophon reckons two of theſe Years to Darius, and ſeven to Cyrus. The Chaldee Phraſe rendred here, Took the Kingdom, is tranſlated poſſeſſed the Kingdom, Ch. vii. 18. and means the ſame with ſucceeding in the Kingdom.

CHAP. VI.

Daniel being envied for his Advancement, is maliciouſly accuſed, and caſt into the Lion's Den, but miraculouſly delivered.

Ver. 1. IT pleaſed Darius to ſet over the kingdom an hundred and twenty princes, which ſhould be over the whole kingdom. 2 And over theſe, three preſidents (of whom Daniel was firſt) that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the king ſhould have no damage. 3 Then this Daniel was preferred above the preſidents and princes, becauſe an excellent ſpirit was in him; and the king thought to ſet him over the whole realm. 4 Then the preſidents and princes ſought to find occaſion againſt Daniel concerning the kingdom, but they could find none occaſion nor fault: foraſmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him. 5 Then ſaid theſe men, We ſhall not find any occaſion againſt this Daniel, except we find it againſt him concerning the law of his God. 6 Then theſe preſidents and princes aſſembled together to the king, and ſaid thus unto him, King Darius, live for ever. 7 All the preſidents of the kingdom, the governors, and the princes, the counſellors and the captains have conſulted together to eſtabliſh a royal ſtatute, and to make a firm decree, that whoſoever ſhall aſk a petition of any God or man for thirty days, ſave of thee, O king, he ſhall be caſt into the den of lions. 8 Now O king, eſtabliſh the decree, and ſign the writing; that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not. 9 Wherefore king Darius ſigned the writing and the decree. 10 Now when Daniel knew that the writing was ſigned, he went into his houſe; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jeruſalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime. 11 Then theſe men aſſembled, and found Daniel praying, and making ſupplication before his God. 12 Then they came near, and ſpake before the king concerning the kings decree, Haſt thou not ſigned a decree, that every man that ſhall aſk a petition of any God or man, within thirty days, ſave of thee, O king, ſhall be caſt into the den of lions? The king anſwered and ſaid, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not. 13 Then anſwered they and ſaid before the king, That Daniel which is of the children of the captivity of Judah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou haſt ſigned, but maketh his petition three times a day. 14 Then the king when he heard theſe words, was ſore diſpleaſed with himſelf, and ſet his heart on Daniel to deliver him: and he laboured till the going down of the ſun, to deliver him. 15 Then theſe men aſſembled unto the king, and ſaid unto the king, Know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Perſians is, that no decree nor ſtatute which the king eſtabliſheth, may be changed. 16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and caſt him into the den of lions; now the king ſpake and ſaid unto Daniel, Thy God whom thou ſerveſt continually, he will deliver thee. 17 And a ſtone was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den, and the king ſealed it with his own ſignet, and with the ſignet of his lords; that the purpoſe might not be changed concerning Daniel. 18 Then the king went to his palace, and paſſed the night faſting: neither were inſtruments of muſick brought before him, and his ſleep went from him. 19 Then the king aroſe very early in the morning, and went in haſte unto the den of lions. 20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel, and the king ſpake and ſaid to Daniel, O Daniel, ſervant of the living God, is thy God whom thou ſerveſt continually, able to deliver thee from the lions? 21 Then ſaid Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever. 22 My God hath ſent his angel, and hath ſhut the lions mouths that they have not hurt me: foraſmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and alſo before thee, O king, have I done no hurt. 23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they ſhould take Daniel up out of the den: ſo Daniel was taken up out of the den: and no manner of hurt was found upon him, becauſe he believed in his God. 24 And the king commanded, and they brought those men which had accuſed Daniel, and they caſt them into the den of lions, them, their children, and their wives; and the lions had the maſtery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces or ever ever they came at the bottom of the den. 25 Then king Darius wrote unto all people, nations, and languages that dwell in all the earth, Peace be multiplied unto you. 26 I make a decree, that in every dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and fear before the God of Daniel: for he is the living God, and ſtedfaſt for ever, and his kingdom that which ſhall not be deſtroyed, and his dominion ſhall be even unto the end. 27 He delivereth and reſcueth, and he worketh ſigns and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the lions. 28 So this Daniel proſpered in the reign of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus the Perſian.

It pleaſed Darius to ſet over the Kingdom an hundred and twenty Princes] According to the Number of the Provinces which were ſubject to the Medo-Perſian Empire. Theſe were afterwards enlarged to an hundred and twenty ſeven by the Victories of Cambyſes and Darius Hyſtaſpes. See Eſth. i. 1.

And over theſe three Preſidents, of whom Daniel was firſt] He had been appointed one of the principal Officers of State by Belſhazzar, Ch. v. 29. Darius came not to Babylon, but tarried at Ecbatane in Media, whither he ſent for Daniel, that he might be always near him, where it is likely he received this new Advancement. Joſephus informs us, that Daniel built an admirable Structure at Ecbatane, probably by Darius's Direction, which was afterwards made the Burial-place of the Kings of Media and Perſia, the Care of which Place was always committed to a Jewiſh Prieſt.

According to the Law of the Medes and Perſians that alereth not] After it be once enacted by the King, with the Conſent of his Counſellors. So Diodorus Siculus tells us, L. iv. of Darius the laſt King of Perſia, that he would have pardoned Charidemus after he was condemned to Death, but could not reverſe the Law that had paſſed againſt him. We may obſerve the Difference of Stile between this Text and that of Eſth. i. 19. Here the Words are, The Law of the Medes and Perſians, out of Regard to the King, who was a Mede; there it is ſtiled the Law of the Perſians and Medes, the King being a Perſian at that Time.

Them, their Children, and their Wives] According to the cruel Laws and Cuſtoms which prevailed in ſome Countries, of involving whole Families in the Puniſhment due to particular Perſons: In Oppoſition to which, that equitable Law was ordained by Moſes, that the Fathers ſhould not be put to Death for their Children, nor the Children for the Fathers, Deut. xxiv. 16.

In the Reign of Cyrus the Perſian] Who upon the Death of Darius took Poſſeſſion of the whole Monarchy of the Medes and Perſians, called from him the Perſian Monarchy. Ezra i. 2.

CHAP. VII.

Daniel's Viſion concerning the four Beaſts.

Ver. 1. IN the firſt year of Belſhazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream, and viſions of his head upon his bed: then he wrote the dream, and told the ſum of the matters. 2 Daniel ſpake, and ſaid, I ſaw in my viſion by night, and behold, the four winds of the heaven ſtrove upon the great ſea. 3 And four great beaſts came up from the ſea, diverſe one from another. 4 The firſt was like a lion, and had eagles wings: and I beheld till the wings thereof were pluckt, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made ſtand upon the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it. 5 And behold, another beaſt, a ſecond like to a bear, and it raiſed up itſelf on one ſide, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they ſaid thus unto it, Ariſe, devour much fleſh. 6 After this I beheld, and lo, another like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl, the beaſt had alſo four heads; and dominion was given to it. 7 After this I ſaw in the night-viſions, and behold, a fourth beaſt, dreadful and terrible, and ſtrong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and ſtamped the reſidue with the feet of it, and it was diverſe from all the beaſts that were before it, and it had ten horns. 8 I conſidered the horns, and behold, there came up among them another little horn, before whom there were three of the firſt horns pluckt up by the roots: and behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth ſpeaking great things. 9 I beheld, till the thrones were caſt down, and the Antient of days did ſit, whoſe garment was white as ſnow, and the hair of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire. 10 A fiery ſtream iſſued, and came forth from before him: thouſand thouſands miniſtred unto him, and ten thouſand times ten thouſand ſtood before him: the judgment was ſet, and the books were opened. 11 I beheld then, becauſe of the voice of the great words which the horn ſpake: I beheld even till the beaſt was ſlain, and his body deſtroyed, and given to the burning flame. 12 As concerning the reſt of the beaſts, they had their dominion taken away: yet their lives were prolonged for a ſeaſon and time. 13 I ſaw in the night-viſions, and behold, one like the Son of man, came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Antient of days, and they brought him near before him. 14 And there was given him dominion and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages ſhould ſerve him: his dominion is an everlaſting dominion, which ſhall not paſs away, and his kingdom that which ſhall not be deſtroyed. 15 I Daniel was grieved in my ſpirit in the midſt of my body, and the viſions of my head troubled me. 16 I came near unto one of them that ſtood by, and aſked him the truth of all this: ſo he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the things. 17 Theſe great beaſts, which are four, are four kings, which ſhall ariſe out of the earth. 18 But the ſaints of the moſt High ſhall take the kingdom, and poſſeſs the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever. 19 Then would I know the truth of the fourth beaſt, which was diverſe from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whoſe teeth were of iron, and his nails of braſs, which devoured, brake in pieces, and ſtamped the reſidue with his feet, 20 And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell, even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that ſpake very great things, whoſe look was more ſtout than his fellows. 21 I beheld, and the ſame horn made war with the ſaints, and prevailed againſt them; 22 Until the Antient of days came, and judgment was given to the ſaints of the moſt High; and the time came that the ſaints poſſeſſed the kingdom. 23 Thus he ſaid, The fourth beaſt ſhall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which which ſhall be diverſe from all kingdoms, and ſhall devour the whole earth, and ſhall tread it down, and break it in pieces. 24 And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that ſhall ariſe: and another ſhall riſe after them, and he ſhall be diverſe from the firſt, and he ſhall ſubdue three kings. 25 And he ſhall ſpeak great words againſt the moſt High, and ſhall wear out the ſaints of the moſt High, and think to change times and laws: and they ſhall be given into his hand, until a time and times and the dividing of time. 26 But the judgment ſhall ſit, and they ſhall take away his dominion, to conſume, and to deſtroy it unto the end. 27 And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatneſs of the kingdom under the whole heaven, ſhall be given to the people of the ſaints of the moſt High, whoſe kingdom is an everlaſting kingdom, and all dominions ſhall ſerve and obey him. 28 Hitherto is the end of the matter. As for me Daniel, my cogitations much troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

Behold the four Winds of Heaven ſtrove upon the great Sea] Denoting thoſe Commotions of the World, and the troubleſome State of Affairs, out of which Empires and Kingdoms commonly take their Riſe.

And four great Beaſts came up from the Sea] They took their Riſe from Wars and Commotions, which end in ſetting up the Conqueror to be a great Monarch over thoſe whom he hath ſubdued. Compare Rev. xiii. 1. The Reaſon why theſe Monarchies are repreſented by fierce and ſavage Beaſts, ſee in the Note upon Ch. ii. 31.

I beheld till the Wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the Earth] Or rather, wherewith it was lifted up from the Earth, as the Margin reads. There was a Stop put to the Progreſs of its Victories, by the frequent Irruptions of the Armies led by Cyrus and Darius, or Cyaxeres, againſt the Babylonians, for twenty Years together, before the final Overthrow of that Empire.

And behold another Beaſt, a ſecond like to a Bear, and it raiſed up itſelf on one Side] This Beaſt denotes the Perſian Empire, and its firſt beginning to advance itſelf, and arrive at Dominion. The Margin reads, And it raiſed up one Dominion; i. e. it made up one Empire out of the joint Powers of Media and Perſia.

And it had three Ribs in the Mouth of it] The learned Biſhop of Coventry and Litchfield explains theſe three Ribs to be Babylon, Lydia, and Egypt. It is certain that Lydia was conquered by Cyrus, from the famous Story of Cræſus the King thereof, whom he condemned to the Fire; and as Egypt had been conquered by Nebuchadnezzar, Ezek. xix. 19. ſo it ſtill continued tributary to Cyrus under the Government of Amaſis.

After this I beheld, and lo another like a Leopard, which had on the Back of it four Wings like a Fowl; the Beaſt had alſo four Heads] This third Beaſt denotes the Grecian Empire, begun by Alexander, and continued in his four Succeſſors: See Ch. viii. 8, 22. The four Wings ſignify the Swiftneſs of its Progreſs and Victories. See Ver. 5. of that Chapter. A Leopard is a Creature of extraordinary Swiftneſs, and jumps upon its Prey, as Naturaliſts obſerve.

Behold a fourth Beaſt dreadful and terrible, and ſtrong exceedingly] And for that Reaſon compared to Iron, Ch. ii. 40. This muſt mean the Roman Empire; ſee the Note upon that Place.

And it was diverſe from all the reſt of the Beaſts that were before it, and it had ten Horns] In this it was different from all the Beaſts or Empires that went before it; that its Dominion was to be divided into ten Kingdoms or Principalities, ſignified here by ten Horns, and by the ten Toes of the Image, Ch. ii. 41.

I beheld till the Thrones were caſt down] Or rather, pitched down, or placed. So the Greek Interpreter underſtands it, and the Verb in the Text is uſed in the ſame Senſe in the Chaldee Paraphraſe upon Jer. i. 15. where our Tranſlation reads, They ſhall ſet every one his Throne. The following Words, And the Antient of Days did ſit, juſtify this Tranſlation.

The Thrones here mentioned import, firſt of all, the Thrones of God and Chriſt; ſee Ver. 13, 14. and then thoſe of the Saints, who ſhall be Aſſeſſors with God and Chriſt at the Day of Judgment. See Ver. 22. Rev. xx. 4.

The fourth Monarchy being to continue till the Conſummation of all Things, the general Judgment is deſcribed in this and the following Verſes, wherein Sentence was to paſs upon this fourth Beaſt, and an End put to its Dominion.

And the Antient of Days did ſit, whoſe Garment was as white as Snow, and the Hair of his Head like pure Wool] The eternal Judge of the World: See Isa. xvi. 5. He that was from the Beginning, 1 John ii. 13. who is elſewhere deſcribed covering himſelf with Light as with a Garment, Pſ. civ. 2. and as a clear unſpotted Brightneſs, 1 John i. 5.

In this divine Repreſentation, there is Mention made of the Hair of the Head, as there is in that vouchſafed to Moſes and the Elders of Iſrael, of the Feet, Exod. xxiv. 10. yet we are not to ſuppoſe, that in either Place any determinate Shape or Figure like that of a Man was repreſented. See Deut. iv. 15. The Expreſſions only import, that both the upper and lower Part of this Divine Schechinah, was of an amazing inexpreſſible Brightneſs.

And the Books were opened] Both of God's Laws and Men's Actions. The Phraſe is an Alluſion to the Rolls and Records belonging to Courts of Judicature.

And concerning the reſt of the Beaſts, they had their Dominion taken away, yet their Lives were prolonged for a Seaſon and Time] As to the three firſt Monarchies, tho' the ſucceeding Monarchy took away the Dominion of that which went before, yet it was not done all at once, but by Degrees; and the Nations where thoſe Monarchies were ſeated, ſtill had a Being, tho' they changed their Maſters: Whereas the Deſtruction of the laſt Monarchy implied the putting an End to that Empire, and to all other earthly Governments; the Kingdom of Chriſt being then immediately to take Place. See Ver. 13, 14. Ch. ii. 34.

Behold, one like the Son of Man came in the Clouds of Heaven] One in the Shape and Likeneſs of a Man, but cloathed with ſuch Enſigns of Majeſty, as declare him to be an extraordinary Perſon. See Ver. 9. Compare Rev. i. 13. xiv. 14. indeed no leſs than the Meſſias, as the Deſcription of him that follows does declare. The two foregoing Verſes having explained why the fourth Beaſt was deſtroyed, this Part of the Viſion declares by whom it was done, repreſents Chriſt in his Judicial Capacity, and deſcribes him by that Title he often gives himſelf, the Son of Man, in Alluſion to this Place; particularly he alludes to this Text, Matt. xxvi. 64. where he ſpeaks of his coming in the Clouds of Heaven; by which Expreſſion he acknowledges himſelf to be the Meſſias, here deſcribed, and gave a direct Anſwer to the Queſtion there propoſed to him, Art thou the Chriſt, the Son of the Bleſſed? Compare Mark xiv. 61, 62. Rev. i. 7. Whereupon they condemned him as guilty of Blaſphemy. A learned Prelate, in his Defence of Chriſtianity from the antient Prophecies, P. 131. obſerves, that Adam, the Son of Man, was a known Name of the Meſſias among the Jewiſh Writers, which ſhews that they underſtood this Text as ſpoken of him.

But the Saints of the moſt High ſhall take the Kingdom] Thoſe earthly Kingdoms being taken away, or deſtroyed, as the Greek adds by Way of Explication, the ſucceeding Kingdom ſhall be that of Chriſt and his Saints; ſee Ver. 22. Inſtead of the moſt High, the Margin reads High ones, from the Chaldee. Sometimes the one true God is ſpoken of in the Plural Number by Way of Eminence: See Eccleſ. v. 8. Job. xxiv. 13. with where it is in the Hebrew — He is Holy Gods.

And the fourth Beaſt ſhall be diverſe from all Kingdoms] As being managed under different Forms of Government: Having the Form of a Commonwealth at the Beginning of its Greatneſs, and afterwards governed by Kings and Emperors; and in Proceſs of Time being divided into Ten Kingdoms or Principalities, and all of them under the Direction of one ſpiritual Head. See Rev. xvii. 13. and compare Ver. 7. of this Chapter.

And the ten Horns out of this Kingdom are ten Kings that ſhall ariſe] An Horn is an Emblem of Strength, ſo it comes to ſignify Power and Authority. See Deut. xxxiii. 17. Pſ. lxxxix. 17. and from hence it is applied to denote Sovereignty or Dominion. See Ch. viii. 21, 22. Rev. xvii. 12. Theſe ten Horns or Kingdoms ariſe out of the Diſſolution of the Roman Empire, which came to paſs about the Year of Chriſt 476. And it was divided into the following Principalities or Kingdoms, according to Mr. Mede. 1. Britons. 2. Saxons. 3. Franks. 4. Burgundians. 5. Viſigoths. 6. Suevians and Alans. 7. Vandals. 8. Almons. 9. Oſtrogoths; ſucceeded by the Longobards, firſt in Pannonia, and then in Italy. 10. Greeks.

The late learned Biſhop Lloyd hath given the following Liſts of the ten Kingdoms which aroſe out of the Diſſolution of the Roman Empire, and the Times of their Riſe.

I. Huns, erected their Kingdom in that Part of Pannonia and Dacia, which from them was called Hungary, about A. D. 356. II. Oſtrogoths ſetled themſelves in the Countries that reach from Rhetia to Mæſia, even to Thrace, about 377. and afterward came into Italy under Alaricus in 410. III. Viſigoths ſetled in the South Parts of France, and in Catalonia, about 378. IV. Franks ſeized upon Part of Germany and Gaul, A. D. 410. V. Vandals ſetled in Spain, afterward ſet up their Kingdom in Africa, A. D. 407. Their King Genſericus ſacked Rome 455. VI. Suevians and Alans ſeized the Weſtern Parts of Spain, A. D. 407. and invaded Italy 457. VII. Burgundians came out of Germany into that Part of Gaul, called from them Burgundy 407. VIII. Herules, Rugians, and Thoringians, ſetled in Italy under Doacer, about A. D. 476. IX. Saxons made themſelves Maſters of Great Britain about the ſame Time, 476. X. Longobards, called likewiſe Gepidæ, ſetled in Germany about Madgburgh, A. D. 383. and afterward ſucceeded the Heruli and Teuringi in Hungary, about the Year 826.

And another ſhall riſe after them] The Papacy took its Riſe from the ſame Cauſe, but did not arrive at direct Supremacy till the Year 606, when Pope Boniface uſurped the Title of univerſal Biſhop. Mr. Mede tranſlates the Words, Another ſhall ariſe behind him; i. e. in an unperceived Manner, ſo as the other Kings were not aware of his growing Greatneſs, till he overtopped them.

And he ſhall be diverſe from the reſt] His Authority will be Eccleſiaſtical, yet ſo as to lay Claim to Temporal Power too, and to aſſert a Right of diſpoſing of ſecular Affairs.

And he ſhall ſubdue three Kings] Or, Kingdoms, ſee Ver. 17. Mr. Mede explains theſe three Kingdoms to be, 1. The Exarchate of Ravenna, which Charles the Great recovered from the Lombards, and gave to the Pope. 2. The Kingdoms of the Greeks in Italy, of which the Emperor Leo Iſaurus was deprived by the Popes Gregory 2d and 3d: And, 3dly, The Kingdom of the Franks, or German Emperors: From whom the Popes wreſted the Election and Inveſtiture of themſelves and other Biſhops, and by Degrees took from them all the Juriſdiction they had in Italy; which was the Occaſion of grievous Wars for ſeveral Ages, between the Popes and the Emperors Henry IV. and his Succeſſors.

And ſhall think to change Times and Laws] To alter Governments and their Conſtitutions, compare Ch. ii. 21. 1 Chron. xxix. 30. This the Papacy hath done, by claiming a Power to depoſe Kings, and ſet up others in their Stead; and not only to abrogate Human Laws, but likewiſe to diſpenſe with Divine ones.

And they were given into his Hand until a Time, and Times, and the dividing of Time] Or, Half a Time, as the Hebrew expreſſeth it, Ch. xii. 7. from whence the Expreſſions are taken by St. John, Rev. xii. 14. i. e. for three Years and a half of prophetical Time: See Ch. iv. 16. The ſame Space of Time is expreſſed in other Places of the Revelation by two and forty Months, and by twelve hundred and threeſcore Days, Ch. xi. 2, 3.

Theſe Times of Antichriſt, ſome learned Men think to be typically repreſented in the Perſecution which Antiochus Epiphanes raiſed againſt the Jewiſh Church, and his Interdict of the publick Worſhip in the Temple, which Joſephus reckons to have laſted three Years and an half. Altho' computing from the Time that the Idol-Altar was ſet up, that Deſolation continued but three Years preciſely; as appears from Macc. i. 54. compared with Ch. iv. 52.

And the Greatneſs of the Kingdom under the whole Heaven ſhall be given to the Saints of the moſt High, &c.] This denotes the Reign of Chriſt on Earth, where the Saints are deſcribed as reigning with him. See Ver. 18, 22. compared with Rev. v. 10. xx. 4.

CHAP. VIII.

A Viſion of the Succeſſion of the Perſian and Grecian Monarchies; the Perſecution of the Jews, and the Profanation of the Temple.

Ver. 1. IN the third year of the reign of king Belſhazzar, a viſion appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the firſt. 2 And I ſaw in a viſion (and it came to paſs when I ſaw, that I was at Shuſhan in the palace, which is in the province of Elam) and I ſaw in a viſion, and I was by the river of Ulai. 3 Then I lifted up mine eyes, and ſaw, and behold, there ſtood before the river, a ram which had two horns and the two horns were high: but one was higher than the other, and the higher came up laſt. 4 I ſaw the ram puſhing weſt ward, and north-ward, and ſouth-ward: ſo that no beaſts might ſtand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand, but he did according to his will, and became great. 5 And as I was conſidering, behold, an he-goat came from the weſt on the face of the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes. 6 And he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had ſeen ſtanding before the river, and ran unto him in the fury of his power. 7 And I ſaw him come cloſe unto the ram, and he was moved with choler againſt him, and ſmote the ram, and brake his two horns, and there was no power in the ram to ſtand before him, but he caſt him down to the ground, and ſtamped upon him: and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his hand. 8 Therefore the he-goat waxed very great, and when he was ſtrong, the great horn was broken: and for it came up four notable ones, toward the four winds of heaven. 9 And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed exceeding great, toward the ſouth, and toward the eaſt, and toward the pleaſant land. 10 And it waxed great, even to the hoſt of heaven, and it caſt down ſome of the hoſt, and of the ſtars to the ground, and ſtamped upon them. 11 Yea, he magnified himſelf even to the prince of the hoſt, and by him him the daily ſacrifice was taken away, and the place of his ſanctuary was caſt down. 12 And an hoſt was given him againſt the daily ſacrifice by reaſon of tranſgreſſion, and it caſt down the truth to the ground, and it practiſed, and proſpered. 13 Then I heard one ſaint ſpeaking, and another ſaint ſaid unto that certain ſaint which ſpake, How long ſhall be the viſion concerning the daily ſacrifice, and the tranſgreſſion of deſolation, to give both the ſanctuary and the hoſt to be troden under foot? 14 And he ſaid unto me, Unto two thouſand and three hundred days; then ſhall the ſanctuary be cleanſed. 15 And it came to paſs when I, even I Daniel had ſeen the viſion, and ſought for the meaning, then, behold, there ſtood before me as the appearance of a man. 16 And I heard a mans voice between the banks of Ulai, which called, and ſaid, Gabriel, make this man to underſtand the viſion. 17 So he came near where I ſtood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he ſaid unto me, Underſtand, O ſon of man; for at the time of the end ſhall be the viſion. 18 Now as he was ſpeaking with me, I was in a deep ſleep on my face toward the ground: but he touched me, and ſet me upright. 19 And he ſaid, Behold, I will make thee know what ſhall be in the laſt end of the indignation: for at the time appointed the end ſhall be. 20 The ram which thou ſaweſt having two horns, are the kings of Media and Perſia. 21 And the rough goat is the king of Grecia, and the great horn that is between his eyes, is the firſt king. 22 Now that being broken, whereas four ſtood up for it, four kingdoms ſhall ſtand up out of the nation, but not in his power. 23 And in the latter time of their kingdom, when the tranſgreſſors are come to the full, a king of fierce countenance, and underſtanding dark ſentences, ſhall ſtand up. 24 And his power ſhall be mighty, but not by his own power: and he ſhall deſtroy wonderfully, and ſhall proſper, and practice, and ſhall deſtroy the mighty, and the holy people. 25 And through his policy alſo he ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his hand, and he ſhall magnify himſelf in his heart, and by peace ſhall deſtroy many: he ſhall alſo ſtand up againſt the prince of princes, but he ſhall be broken without hand. 26 And the viſion of the evening and the morning which was told, is true: wherefore ſhut thou up the viſion, for it ſhall be for many days. 27 And I Daniel fainted and was ſick certain days; afterward I roſe up and did the kings buſineſs, and I was aſtoniſhed at the viſion, but none underſtood it.

In the third Year of the Reign of King Belſhazzar] The foregoing Prophecy was writ in Chaldee, being a farther Explication of Nebuchadnezzar's Dream, interpreted Ch. ii. This Viſion that follows is writ in Hebrew, becauſe that Part of it which relates to Antiochus Epiphanes did chiefly concern the Jews.

I was at Shuſhan the Palace, which is in the Province of Elam] The Province of Elam, or Perſia, properly ſo called, was taken from Aſtyages King of Media by Nebuchadnezzar, according to the Prophecy of Jeremiah againſt Elam, Ch. xlix. 34. So it was ſubject to the King of Babylon when Daniel ſaw this Viſion; tho' afterwards the Viceroy of that Country revolted to Cyrus, and joined with him in taking Babylon. Daniel's reſiding in Shuſhan ſhews, that he ſtill continued in thoſe Poſts of Honour to which Nebuchadnezzar had advanced him.

And I was by the River Ulai] This River divides Suſiana, from the Province properly ſo called. See Pliny, L. vi. C. 27. tho' Elam is often taken in a larger Senſe, ſo as to comprehend Suſiana under it. It was uſual for Prophets to ſee Viſions by Rivers Sides; ſee Ch. x. 4. Ezek. i. 3. Such Places being proper for Retirement and Contemplation.

Behold there ſtood before the River a Ram which had two Horns, and the Horns were high] Horns are an Emblem of Power and Dominion. See Ch. vii. 24. So this Ram with two Horns denotes the Kingdoms of Media and Perſia united into one Government. The Hebrew reads one Ram, but the Adjective one means no more, than an Article prefixed to a Noun Subſtantive; and ſo it is uſed Ch. x. 5. 1 Sam. i. 1. The Ram was the Royal Enſign of the Perſians, and the Rams Head with Horns, the one higher, and the other lower, are ſtill to be ſeen among the Remains of the Ruins of Perſepolis, as Sir John Chardin takes Notice in his Travels.

But one was higher than the other, and the higher came up laſt] To denote that the Perſian King-dom tho' it was of a later Date, ſhould over-top that of the Medes, and make a greater Figure in the World, as it did from the Times of Cyrus. See Jer. li. 11.

I ſaw the Ram puſhing Weſtward] Perſia lay Eaſtward of Babylon; ſo all the Conqueſts of Cyrus over Syria, and the adjacent Countries, enlarged his Dominions Weſtward: But we may probably include under this Head Cyrus's Conqueſts in the Leſſer Aſia, particularly over Cræſus, whereby he carried his Victories as far as the Ægean Sea. And his Succeſſors were for ſome Time Maſters of a great Part of Greece, called the Weſt in the following Verſe.

And Northward] In the Conqueſts over the Iberians, Albanians, thoſe of Colchos and Armenia, and the adjacent Countries.

And Southward] This chiefly relates to Cambyſes Conqueſts over Egypt and Ethiopia, together with thoſe of Darius Hyſtaſpes over India, whence Ahaſuerus King of Perſia is ſaid to have reigned from India to Ethiopia, Eſth. i. 1.

And as I was conſidering, behold an He-Goat came from the Weſt on the Face of the whole Earth] An He-Goat was antiently the Emblem of Princes or Great Commanders: See Prov. xxx. 31. Zech. x. 3. Iſa. xiv. 9. where the Word tranſlated Chief ones, ſignifies in the Hebrew, Great Goats.

The Goat is deſcribed here as coming from the Weſt, that is, from Greece, on the Face of the whole Earth; i. e. carrying all before him as he went; denoting thereby the uninterrupted Succeſs of Alexander the Great. A Goat was the Emblem or Arms of Macedon, as we now-a-days expreſs it, ever ſince the time of King Caranus. See Juſtin's Hiſt. L. viii.

And touched not the Ground] Hereby is ſignified the Swiftneſs of his Conqueſts; for which he is here deſcribed as having four Wings of a Fowl, Ch. vii. 6. having in eight Years Time conquered all the Countries that lay between the Ægean Sea and the River Hyſpaſis in India.

And I ſaw him come cloſe unto the Ram, and was moved with Choler againſt him, and ſmote the Ram, and brake his two Horns] He made a quick and furious Onſet upon the Medo-Perſian Empire, and utterly broke it in two Engagements, the firſt at Iſſus, the ſecond at Arbela.

He caſt him down to the Ground and ſtamped upon him] See Ch. vii. 7. This Prophecy of Jaddus the High Prieſt ſhewed to him when Succeſs, he came to Jeruſalem, and thereby encouraged him to go on in his Expedition.

And when he was ſtrong the great Horn was broken] Alexander died in the Height of his Triumphs and Proſperity; ſee Ver. 21, 22.

And for it came up four notable ones toward the four Winds of Heaven] This the Angel explains by four Kingdoms ſtanding up inſtead of it, Ver. 22. Dr. Prideaux ſhews shews, that this Prophecy had its exact Completion upon the Partition of the Grecian Empire after the Battle of Ipsus, where Antigonus was killed. There were indeed Partitions of it under the Brother and Son of Alexander; but this was a Partition of it into Kingdoms, among so many Kings or independant Governors, represented here by Horns and by Heads, Ch. vii. 6. And these four Kings were, 1. Ptolemy, King of Egypt, Libya, Palestine, Arabia, and Cælo-Syria, which may be called the Southern Part of the Empire. 2. Cassander of Macedonia and Greece, which was the Western Part of it. 3. Lysimachus of Thrace and Asia, which was the Northern Part of it. 4. Seleucus of Syria and the Eastern Countries.

From the Description here given of the Empire of Alexander, and his four Successors, it is plain that the Prophet represents it as one and the same Empire; and the third in order of the four great Monarchies. For it is represented under the Emblem of one and the same He-Goat, having first one notable Horn in its Forehead, which is expresly called the first King, Ver. 21. and afterwards four growing up in the Room of it. This is a Confirmation of what was observed before upon Ch. ii. 40. that the fourth Kingdom must be the Roman Empire.

And out of one of them came forth a little Horn] From one of these four Successors of Alexander came forth Antiochus, afterwards called Epiphanes, or Illustrious, by his Flatterers, but indeed was a vile Person, to whom the Honour of the Kingdom did not belong, as the Angel gives his Character, Ch. xi. 21. Demetrius his elder Brother's Son being the rightful Heir.

This little Horn belonging to the third Head, or Monarchy, must not be confounded with the little Horn belonging to the fourth, mentioned Ch. vii. 8, 20. altho' this here spoken of may be allowed to be a Type or Figure of the latter.

Which waxed exceeding great toward the South] He took Advantage of Ptolemy Philometor: See 1 Macc. i. 16—19. and made himself Master of Egypt, called the South in several Places of the eleventh Chapter of this Prophecy.

And towards the East] Towards Armenia and Persia. See Ch. xi. 44.

And it cast down some of the Host, and of the Stars to the Ground] Persons of principal Dignity in the Church are called Stars, Rev. i. 20. In like Manner the Host of Heaven, in the preceding Words of this Verse, means the Jewish Church, and particularly the Priests and Levites, who are called the Host of Israel, a Title proper to Angels, from their constant Attendance on God's Service in the Temple, in Imitation of the Angelical Office. So here the Words express it, either that Antiochus should put an End to the Priests Ministration in the Service of God, by taking away the daily Sacrifice, Ver. 12. or else that he should cause some of them by Threats and Flatteries to turn Apostates. See Ch. xi. 32. and compare Rev. xi. 1.

Yea, he magnified himself even to the Prince of the Host] This some understand of the High Priest Onias, whom Antiochus deprived of his Office, and put in his Room Jason, an ungodly Wretch, who set up Heathen Rites in the Place of God's Worship, 2 Macc. iv. 13—17. But it may more probably be understood of God himself, the Lord whom the Jews served, compare Ver. 25. or else of Christ the High Priest over the House of God, whose Sanctuary this Temple is called in the following Words.

And an Host was given him against the daily Sacrifice by Reason of Transgression] Antiochus prospered so far in his Attempts against the Jews and their Religion, that he built a Citadel in the City of David, and placed a Garrison of Soldiers there, to disturb those that should come to worship God at the Temple: See 1 Macc. i. 33—36. This God permitted as a just Punishment for the Sins of the People; and particularly of those who professed a Willingness to forsake the Worship of God, and to join with the Heathens in their Idolatry: See 1 Macc. i. 11, &c. 2 Macc. iv. 13—17. Some translate the Words, And a set Time was appointed against the daily Sacrifice; for the Word Tsaba, Host, signifies likewise a set Time. See Ch. x. 1.

And another Saint said to that certain Saint which spake] By Saint understand Angel, several of whom are introduced in Daniel's Visions. The Word here rendered certain Saint, is translated in the Margin, The Numberer of Secrets, or the wonderful Numberer; and must mean a Person of extraordinary Rank, as being able to unfold those Secrets which were hid from other Angels; and is therefore justly supposed to mean the Son of God, called the wonderful Counsellor, Isa. ix. 6. as being acquainted with all God's Purposes and Designs. Compare 1 John i. 18. The Participle Medabbor, speaking, used here twice with relation to this Person, may denote him to be the Logos, or Word of God.

And he said unto me, Unto two thousand and three hundred Days; then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed] This Computation of Time, in its obvious Sense, contains something more than six Years and four Months, reckoning three hundred and sixty Days to a Year: And if we explain it with relation to the Persecution set on foot by Antiochus, we must date it not from the Height of that Persecution, when the daily Sacrifice was actually taken away, for that continued but just three Years. Compare 1 Macc. i. 54. with Ch. iv. 52. But we must date the Rise of it from those Transgressions which occasioned the Desolation. See 1 Macc. i. 11, &c. And so we may reasonably suppose the 2300 Days to commence some Time before Antiochus's Invasion of Judea, and his pillaging the Sanctuary, mentioned ib. Ver. 20, 21, 22. which Invasion was above two Years before the entire abolishing of God's Worship in the Temple, as appears from the 29th Verse of the same Chapter.

But since it is generally agreed, that the Persecution of Antiochus was a Type, or an imperfect Representation of a greater Desolation which Antichrist should make in the Church of God, (compare Ver. 13. here with Ch. xii. 11.) it is the Opinion of some learned Men, that these 2300 Days are a Line of Time that is to be extended to the End of the Times of Antichrist; taking each Day for a Year, according to the Genius of the Prophetical Writings: See Numb. xiv. 34. Ezek. iv. 6. according to which Sense the three Years and an half, mentioned Ch. vii. 25. and the seventy Weeks in the ninth Chapter, are explained by most Interpreters. According to this Opinion, these 2300 Days will be commensurate to the 1290, or 1335 Prophetical Days, or Years, mentioned Ch. xii. 11, 12. and then the Sanctuary will be thoroughly cleansed, and God's Indignation will come perfectly to an End, as it is expressed Ver. 9.

The Phrase here translated two thousand three hundred Days, is in the Original two thousand three hundred Mornings and Evenings; which is the Hebrew Way of expressing a natural Day, see Gen. 15. According to this Way of speaking, Christ is said to be three Days and three Nights in the Heart of the Earth, Matt. xii. 40. i. e. Part of three natural Days. And perhaps the Phrase may be here used, in Allusion to the daily Sacrifice, which was to be offered every Morning and Evening; the Taking away of which is here foretold.

Four Kingdoms shall stand up out of the Nation, but not in his Power] Four Kingdoms shall be set up by Alexander's Generals, who shall be of the same Nation with him, altho' not of his Posterity; nor shall they have that Power or Extent of Dominion which he possessed; See Ch. xi. 4.

And in the latter End of their Kingdom] Greece was the chief Province of this Empire, from whence it had its Original and its Name. The bringing this Country into Subjection to the Roman Power, was a manifest Indication of the Declension of the Third Monarchy, and the Advancement of the Fourth: This was remarkably brought to pass when Æmilius the Roman Consul vanquished Perseus King of Macedon, and thereby brought all Greece under the Power of the Romans; and this happened much about the Time when Antiochus Antiochus ſet up the Abomination of Deſolations in the Temple of Jeruſalem.

A King of a fierce Countenance, and underſtanding dark Sentences, ſhall ſtand up] One of a fierce and untractable Temper, without Pity or Compaſſion; compare Deut. xxviii. 50. One practiſed in Craft and Policy; ſee Ver. 25. eſpecially in the Arts of inveigling Men, and ſeducing them from their Religion. This Character may be juſtly applied to Antiochus Epiphanes; tho' in other Reſpects he behaved ſo unaccountably, that he might more properly be called Epimanes the Madman, than Epiphanes the Illuſtrious, as Polybius obſerves. This makes ſome Interpreters think, that the Character here given to Antiochus more properly belongs to Antichriſt, whoſe Type he was; an Obſervation that may be applied to ſome other Expreſſions in the following Verſes.

And his Power ſhall be mighty, but not by his own Power] He ſhall ſubdue Judea, Egypt, and ſeveral other Countries: See Ver. 9. and Ch. xi. 41, 42, 43. It is added here, that he ſhall not effect this by his own Power; which they that apply to Antiochus, underſtand either, 1ſt, of the Aſſiſtance which Eumenes, King of Pergamus, and his Brother Attalus gave him in keeping the Kingly Power he had uſurped; ſee Ch. xi. 21, 22. Or, 2dly, we may underſtand the Words of the Wickedneſs of Jaſon and Menelaus the High Prieſts, who joined with an irreligious Party among the Jews, and forwarded Antiochus's Deſigns to eſtabliſh Gentiliſm among them; 1 Macc. i. 11, &c. 2 Macc. iv. 7, &c. Or, 3dly, the Place may be underſtood of God's proſpering his Attempts, as a Puniſhment for the Tranſgreſſions of his People, Ver. 23. But the Expreſſion may be more fitly applied to Antichriſt, of whom Antiochus was the Type, who grew great, and carried on his Deſigns, not ſo much by his own Strength, as by the Power of the ten Kings, who afforded him their Arms and Aſſiſtance. See Rev. xvii. 13, 17.

But he ſhall be broken without Hand] By an immediate Judgment of God: Compare Job. xxxiv. 20. and Ch. ii. 45. God ſtruck him with a noiſome Diſeaſe, attended with horrible Torments both of Body and Mind: See 1 Macc. vi. 8—13. 2 Macc. ix. from the 5th Verſe to the End. The Hiſtory there given of his Death, agrees in many Particulars with Polybius's Account of it.

CHAP. IX.

The Prophet being ſatisfied from Jeremy's Prophecies, that the ſeventy Years Captivity was near expiring, prays for the Reſtoration of Jeruſalem. In Anſwer, Gabriel informs him that the City ſhould be rebuilt and repeopled, but after LXX Weeks of Years ſhould be utterly deſtroy'd for putting the MESSIAS to Death.

Ver. 1. IN the firſt year of Darius the ſon of Ahaſuerus, of the ſeed of the Medes, which was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans: 2 In the firſt year of his reign, I Daniel underſtood by books the number of the years, whereof the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet, that he would accompliſh ſeventy years in the deſolations of Jeruſalem. 3 And I ſet my face unto the Lord God, to ſeek by prayer and ſupplications, with faſting and ſackcloth, and aſhes. 4 And I prayed unto the Lord my God, and made my confeſſion, and ſaid, O Lord, the great and dreadful God, keeping the covenant, and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments: 5 We have ſinned and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled even by departing from thy precepts, and from thy judgments. 6 Neither have we hearkned unto thy ſervants the prophets, which ſpake in thy name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land. 7 O Lord, righteouſneſs belongeth unto thee, but unto us, confuſion of faces, as at this day: to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and unto all Iſrael that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries whither thou haſt driven them, becauſe of their treſpaſs that they have treſpaſſed againſt thee. 8 O Lord, to us belongeth confuſion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, becauſe we have ſinned againſt thee. 9 To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenneſſes, though we have rebelled againſt him. 10 Neither have we obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his laws which he ſet before us by his ſervants the prophets. 11 Yea, all Iſrael have tranſgreſſed thy law, even by departing that they might not obey thy voice, therefore the curſe is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the law of Moſes the ſervant of God, becauſe we have ſinned againſt him. 12 And he hath confirmed his words which he ſpake againſt us, and againſt our judges that judged us, by bringing upon us a great evil: for under the whole heaven hath not been done, as hath been done upon Jeruſalem. 13 As it is written in the law of Moſes, all this evil is come upon us: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and underſtand thy truth. 14 Therefore hath the Lord watched upon the evil, and brought it upon us: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we obeyed not his voice. 15 And now O Lord our God, that haſt brought thy people forth out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and haſt gotten thee renown as at this day: we have ſinned, we have done wickedly. 16 O Lord, according to all thy righteouſneſs, I beſeech thee, let thine anger and thy fury be turned away from thy city Jeruſalem, thy holy mountain: becauſe for our ſins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jeruſalem and thy people are become a reproach to all that are about us. 17 Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy ſervant, and his ſupplications, and cauſe thy face to ſhine upon thy ſanctuary that is deſolate, for the Lords ſake. 18 O my God, incline thine ear, and hear; open thine eyes, and behold our deſolations, and the city, which is called by thy name: for we do not preſent our ſupplications before thee for our righteouſneſſes, but for thy great mercies. 19 O Lord hear, O Lord forgive, O Lord hearken and do, defer not, for thine own ſake, O my God: for thy city, and thy people are called by thy name. 20 And whiles I was ſpeaking, and praying, and confeſſing my ſin, and the ſin of my people Iſrael, and preſenting my ſupplication before the Lord my God, for the holy mountain of my God: 21 Yea, whiles I was ſpeaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had ſeen in the viſion at the beginning, being cauſed to fly ſwiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation. 22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and ſaid, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee ſkill and underſtanding. 23 At the beginning of the ſupplications the com commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee; for thou art greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter, and consider the vision. 24 Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people, and upon thy holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most holy. 25 Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem, unto the Messiah the prince, shall be seven weeks; and threescore and two weeks the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times. 26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself: and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the city, and the sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined. 27 And he shall confirm the covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the overspreading of abominations, he shall make it desolate, even until the consummation, and that determined shall be poured upon the desolate.

In the first Year of Darius, the Son of Ahasuerus, of the Seed of the Medes] See Ch. v. 31. This is the same Person who is called Cyaxeres, the Son of Astyages, by the Heathen Historians, with whom Josephus agrees. His Father Astyages had the Name of Ahasuerus among the Jews, as appears by a Passage in Tobit, Ch. xiv. 15. where the taking of Nineveh is ascribed to Nebuchadonosor and Assuerus, who were the same as Nabupolassar, Nebuchadnezzar's Father, and Astyages; Nebuchadnezzar being a Name common to all the Babylonian Kings, as Pharaoh was to the Kings of Egypt.

I understood by Books] The several Prophecies of Jeremiah are called so many Books: See Jer. xxv. 13. xxix. 1. we may observe from hence, that the Prophets studied the Writings of those Prophets who were before them, for the more perfect understanding the Times when their Prophecies were to be fulfilled. The same they did by several of their own Prophecies: See 2 Pet. i. 11, 12.

Seventy Weeks are determined upon thy People and upon thy Holy City] To recite all the different Methods Chronologers have taken of computing these lxx Weeks, would be too large a Work for a Commentary. I shall therefore, with Mr. Lowth, only take Notice of three Opinions, which seem most agreeable to the Text. The first is that of Petavius Rationar. Tem. Par. 2. P. 154. and Archbishop Usher, Annal. V. T. ad An. P. J. 4260. These two learned Authors date the Beginning of this Prophecy from the 20th Year of Artaxerxes Logimanus, when he gave his Commission to Nehemiah to rebuild Jerusalem, Nehem. ii. 1. from which Time they reckon half of the Week here specified, Ver. 27. to be completed at the Death of Christ. But then these Authors suppose Artaxerxes to have begun his Reign nine Years sooner than the Historians commonly date it.

The second Opinion is that of Dr. Prideaux, who fixes the Date of this Prophecy to the seventh Year of Artaxerxes, when he gave a Commission to Ezra; to settle the State of the Jews at Jerusalem, to which Office he understands the Commandment to restore and build Jerusalem; from which Time he computes 490 Years to the Death of Christ.

The third Opinion is that of the late learned Bishop Lloyd, which may be seen in the Chronological Tables published by his Direction, Numb. 3d and 4th. He supposes the Years here specified to consist of 360 Days:

Such Years he affirms the Scripture always makes use of in the Computation of Time; as appears in the Years of Noah's Flood, Gen. vii. 11. compared with Ver. 24. and Ch. viii. 4. and from Rev. xii. 6. compared with Ver. 14. where 1260 Days are reckoned equivalent to three Years and an half, and to forty and two Months. The same Computation of Years was generally made use of in antient Times by all Nations, particularly by the Chaldeans, where Daniel now lived. The Reasons of this Opinion are at large set forth by Mr. Marshall, in his Treatise upon the lxx Weeks. The Bishop proceeding upon this Hypothesis, computes the Date of this Prophecy from the 20th Year of Artaxerxes, and reckons 69 Weeks of Years, or 483 Chaldean Years, from thence to the Year before Christ's Death. But then the last or single Week that remains to make up the Number of seventy, he separates from the rest, and begins it from the Year of Christ 63, in the latter Half of which the Sacrifice and Oblation were to cease, and the City and Sanctuary to be destroyed by the Romans; all which was fulfilled in the Year after Christ.

The Difference of these three Opinions, as to the main Point, the Completion of this Prophecy, is not very great; for as Bishop Chandler hath judiciously observed, 'The Commencement of the Weeks must be 'either from the seventh of Artaxerxes, which falls 'upon the 457th Year before An. Domini, or from 'the 20th of Artaxerxes. Add to 457 Years before 'Christ, 26 Years after Christ, (which is the Number 'that 483 Years, or sixty nine Weeks exceeds 457 'Years) and you are brought to the Beginning of 'John the Baptist's Preaching up the Advent of the 'Messias; add seven Years, or one Week to the former, 'and you come to the 33d Year of An. Domini, which 'was the Year of Jesus Christ's Death. Or else compute 490 Years, the whole lxx Weeks, from the '7th of Artaxerxes; by subtracting 457 Years (the 'Space of Time between that Year and the Beginning 'of Anno Domini) from 490, and there remains 33, 'the Year of our Lord's Death. Let the 20th of Artaxerxes be the Date of the lxx Weeks, which is the '445th Year before A. D. and reckon 69 Weeks of 'Chaldean Years; 70 Chaldee Years being equal to 69 'Julian; and so 478 Julian Years making 483 Chaldee Years, and they end in the 33d Year after Christ, 'or the Passover following. Any of these Reckonings 'are sufficient for our Purpose. It is rather to be 'wondered, how at this Distance of Time, learned 'Men have been able to come to any Exactness in 'these Matters.'

By seventy Weeks are to be understood seventy Weeks of Years, or seventy times seven, i. e. 490 Years; each Day being accounted for a Year, according to the prophetical Way of reckoning: See Numb. xiv. 34. Ezek. iv. 6. Daniel distinguished between these Weeks and the Weeks after the common reckoning, by calling the latter Weeks of Days, Ch. x. 2. according to the Sense of the Hebrew expressed in the Margin. And Isaiah distinguished a Natural Year from a Prophetical one, by calling it the Year of an Hireling, Isa. xvi. 14. xxi. 16.

The Jews numbered their Time by Sevens of Years; every seventh Year was a Year of Release, and after seven Times seven Years, i. e. 49 Years, came the Year of Jubilee. So the Computation of Time here made use of, alludes to Levit. xxv. 8. Thou shalt number seven Sabbaths (or rather Weeks) of Years, seven Times seven Years. The Hebrew Word Sabbath signifying the Number seven, as it is rendered Ἑβδομὰς by the LXX, in the latter Part of the Verse; and so the Greek Word Σάββατον is used Luke xviii. 12. xxiv. 1. Daniel, by examining the Prophecy of Jeremiah, had discovered how the seventy Years of the Captivity were near expiring; and here the Angel discovers to him another Line of Time, importing, that after the Restoration of Jerusalem, it should continue for a Period of Time consisting of seventy Times seven Years; which being expired, it should be finally destroyed. Seventy Weeks contain ten Jubilees, and Ten being the Number of Perfection, thoſe ſeventy Weeks denote the bringing in the moſt complete Jubilee, or Remiſſion, as the LXX render that Word; when all former Treſpaſſes ſhould be cancelled, and Men ſhould be reſtored to that heavenly Inheritance they had forfeited, by the Death of the Meſſias.

To finiſh the Tranſgreſſion, and to make an End of Sin, and to make Reconciliation for Iniquity, and to bring in everlaſting Righteouſneſs] This the Meſſiah did by making Atonement for Sin, and abſolving Men from the Guilt of it; by giving Men the beſt Rules and Aſſiſtances for the promoting true and inward Righteouſneſs; called here everlaſting Righteouſneſs, in Oppoſition to the Righteouſneſs of the Law, a great Part of which conſiſted in external Ordinances, impoſed on them for a Seaſon, till the Time of Reformation, Heb. ix. 10. where the Engliſh Text reads, to make an End of Sin, the Margin tranſlates it, to ſeal up Sin, following a various Reading in the Hebrew: But the Senſe comes all to one, for the Verb which ſignifies to ſeal up, denotes likewiſe the accompliſhing any Thing, and is applied to Sin, or the Puniſhment of it, Lam. iv. 22.

And to anoint the moſt Holy] The Word anoint, plainly alludes to the Name of Meſſiah, expreſſed in the following Verſe, which ſignifies in Hebrew, the anointed, and is tranſlated Chriſt in Greek: See John i. 41. To anoint here is the ſame as to conſecrate the Meſſiah, to be a Prieſt, Prophet, and King, all which Offices were conveyed by the Ceremony of anointing. The Meſſiah is ſtiled here the moſt Holy, upon the Account of his unſpotted Original, as well as his unblameable Life. See Luke i. 35. Acts iii. 14. Heb. vii. 26. Rev. iii. 7. The Words may be literally tranſlated, to anoint the Holy of Holies; an Expreſſion which uſually ſignifies the Inner Sanctuary, called the Holieſt of all, Heb. ix. 3. and it is very properly applied to the Meſſias, who was greater than the Temple, Matt. xii. 6. becauſe in him dwelt the Fulneſs of the Godhead, Col. ii. 9. whereupon he calls his Body the Temple, John ii. 21.

Unto Meſſiah the Prince] Anointing being the antient Ceremony of inveſting Perſons of the higheſt Offices and Dignities, the Name of Meſſias, or anointed, was in an eminent Manner appropriated to him, that was ſanctified or ſet apart, and ſent into the World under the higheſt Character of being the Redeemer of it. By that Name he was commonly known unto the Jews, John i. 41. iv. 25. and that Title was chiefly given to him on the Authority of this Prophecy. He is here called the Prince or Ruler, a Title often given to David: See 1 Sam. ix. 16. 2 Sam. v. 2. vii. 8. and applied to the Meſſiah himſelf, ſpoken of under the Name of David, Iſa. lv. 4. The Author of the firſt Book of Chronicles, probably alludes to this Place of Daniel, Ch. v. 2. Judah prevailed over his Brethren, and of him was the chief Ruler (the Nagid here in the Text) to come; as the Words may be beſt tranſlated. The Meſſiah was commonly known under the Title of King of Iſrael, or King of the Jews: See Matt. ii. 2. Luke xxiii. 2, 3. John i. 49. xix. 19.

Shall be ſeven Weeks, and threeſcore and two Weeks] A Colon ſhould be placed at the End of this Sentence, which is wrong placed in the Middle of it in our Engliſh Bibles. Seven Weeks and threeſcore and two Weeks put together, make ſixty nine Weeks of Years, or 583 Years. As the cutting off the Meſſiah is appropriated to the Period of threeſcore and two Weeks in the following Verſe, ſo the ſeven Weeks or forty nine Years here mentioned, muſt in all Probability be aſſigned to the Building of the Street and the Wall, whether we underſtand it literally, or metaphorically with Dr. Prideaux, for the reſtoring and ſetling the Jewiſh Church and State.

Biſhop Lloyd, who reckons the Date of this Prophecy from the 20th of Artaxerxes, concludes the ſeven Weeks, or 49 Years, in the 8th Year of Artaxerxes Mnemon, at which Time he ſuppoſes Malachi to have writ his Prophecy, and thereby finiſhed the Old Teſtament Canon, or ſealed up the Viſion and Prophecy, after whom the Jews were to look for no other Prophet till John Baptiſt: See Mal. iv. 4, 5. compared with Matt. xi. 13, 14.

But not for himſelf] The Juſt ſuffering for the Unjuſt, 1 Pet. iii. 18. The vulgar Latin renders the Words to this Senſe, And the People that deny him ſhall be no longer his. The Hebrew Phraſe is uſed in the ſame Senſe, Ch. xi. 17. Job xxxix. 16. To confirm this Interpretation, we are to ſuppoſe the Word People, which follows, to be underſtood here, and may with Biſhop Lloyd, tranſlate this and the following Sentence thus: And the People that deny him ſhall be no longer his, but the Prince's (i. e. the Meſſiah's) future People: The Hebrew Word Haba, as the Greek ἐρχόμενος which anſwers it, often ſignifying the future, or that which is to come: See Iſa. xxvii. 6. xliv. 7. Mark xi. 30. Rev. i. 4. This People that learned Prelate underſtands to be the Romans and their Empire, which was the Seat of the Chriſtian Church. So when our Saviour tells us, that before the End of the Jewiſh Nation the Goſpel ſhall be preached in all the World, Matt. xxiv. 14. and St. Paul ſpeaks to the ſame Purpoſe, Rom. x. 16. Col. i. 6, 23. we are there to underſtand the World of the Extent of the Roman Empire. And our Lord ſpeaking of the final Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation by the Romans, expreſſeth it by ſending forth HIS ARMIES to deſtroy the Murderers, and burn up their City, Matt. xxii. 7. which exactly agrees with the Words here following, ſhall deſtroy the City and Sanctuary.

And he ſhall confirm the Covenant for one Week] The former Part of the Verſe may be tranſlated thus; One Week ſhall confirm the Covenant with many; and the Midſt of, or the half Part of the Week, ſhall cauſe the Sacrifice and Oblation to ceaſe. Moſt Interpreters ſuppoſe the ſeventy Weeks to be completed at the Death of Chriſt, or at leaſt one half of the ſeventieth and laſt of them; accordingly they underſtand the confirming of the Covenant of the new Covenant, and the Terms of Salvation therein propoſed, firſt by John Baptiſt, as the Forerunner of Chriſt, and then by Chriſt himſelf. Compare Iſa. xliii. 6. lv. 3. Jer. xxxi. 31. Ezek. xvi. 60, 61, 62. They that confine the Promulgation of the New Covenant, to the firſt half of the ſeventieth Week, underſtand it of Chriſt's Preaching for three Years and an half, and then ſuffering in the Midſt of that Week.

They that underſtand the confirming the Covenant to be of the ſame Extent with the ſeventieth Week, ſuppoſe John Baptiſt's Preaching to have taken up three Years and a half, before Chriſt entered on his propheticaal Office, and tranſlate the following Words, In the half Part of the Week.

And from the over-ſpreading of the Abominations, he ſhall make it deſolate] Mr. Mede tranſlates the Words thus: And being a Deſolator, he ſhall command over all the Idols of Deſolations. Biſhop Lloyd, with ſome little Variation, renders them, And upon the Battlements ſhall be the Idols of the Deſolator. They both underſtand by the Phraſe the Roman Army, which is the Interpretation Chriſt himſelf gives of it, Luke xxi. 20. compared with Matt. xxiv. 15. The Word Kenaph, tranſlated Over-ſpreading, properly ſignifies a Wing, and may either ſignify an Army, as it is uſed Iſa. viii. 8. or elſe ſtand for the Battlements of the Temple, as the Greek Word πτερύγιον, which anſwers to it, plainly does, Matt. iv. 5. Here the Romans, after they had ſet the Temple on Fire, placed the idolatrous Enſigns of the Army, over-againſt the Eaſtern Gate of the Temple, and offered Sacrifices to them, as Joſephus expreſly tells us; and are the Abominations ſpoken of in the Text; each Standard having ſtampt upon it the Image of the Tutelar God of that Legion, to whom they offered Sacrifice.

And that determined ſhall be poured upon the Deſolate] Or, which is decreed, &c. Compare Ver. 11. of this Chapter. Mr. Mede tranſlates it, ſhall continue upon the Deſolate. The Words briefly declare thoſe terrible Calamities which made an entire Deſtruction of the City and People, and were executed upon them in the moſt dreadful Manner that any Nation ever ſuffered and with the moſt evident Tokens of a divine Vengeance upon them, according to the Relation of their own Hiſtorian Joſephus, who was an Eye-witneſs of thoſe Deſolations.

CHAP. X.

The three following Chapters contain the laſt Viſion of Daniel's Prophecy, wherein the ſeveral Succeſſions, both of the Perſian and Grecian Monarchies are repreſented, together with the Wars that ſhould be raiſed between the Kings of Syria and Egypt under the latter Monarchy, as far as the Times of Antiochus Epiphanes; who being the Type and Forerunner of Antichriſt, the latter Part of the Viſion from Ch. xi. 36. ſeems chiefly to relate to the Perſecutions of the Church in the Times of Antichriſt, till its being finally cleanſed from all thoſe Profanations, as Jeruſalem was purified from the Pollutions of Antiochus.

Ver. 1. IN the third year of Cyrus king of Perſia, a thing was revealed unto Daniel, (whoſe name was called Belteſhazzar) and the thing was true, but the time appointed was long, and he underſtood the thing, and had underſtanding of the viſion. 2 In thoſe days I Daniel was mourning three full weeks. 3 I ate no pleaſant bread, neither came fleſh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myſelf at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled. 4 And in the four and twentieth day of the firſt month, as I was by the ſide of the great river, which is Hiddekel: 5 Then I lift up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in linen, whoſe loins were girded with fine gold of Uphaz: 6 His body alſo was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet like in colour to poliſhed braſs, and the voice of his words like the voice of a multitude. 7 And I Daniel alone ſaw the viſion, for the men that were with me ſaw not the viſion: but a great quaking fell upon them, ſo that they fled to hide themſelves. 8 Therefore I was left alone, and ſaw this great viſion, and there remained no ſtrength in me: for my comeline ſs was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no ſtrength. 9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep ſleep on my face, and my face toward the ground. 10 And behold, an hand touched me, which ſet me upon my knees, and upon the palms of my hands. 11 And he ſaid unto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, underſtand the words that I ſpeak unto thee, and ſtand upright: for unto thee am I now ſent. And when he had ſpoken this word unto me, I ſtood trembling. 12 Then ſaid he unto me, Fear not Daniel: for from the firſt day that thou didſt ſet thine heart to underſtand, and to chaſten thyſelf before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words. 13 But the prince of the kingdom of Perſia withſtood me one and twenty days: but lo, Michael one of the chief princes came to help me, and I remained there with the kings of Perſia. 14 Now I am come to make thee underſtand what ſhall befal thy people in the latter days: for yet the viſion is for many days. 15 And when he had ſpoken ſuch words unto me, I ſet my face toward the ground, and I became dumb. 16 And behold, one like the ſimilitude of the ſons of men touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and ſpake, and ſaid unto him that ſtood before me, O my lord, by the viſion my ſorrows are turned upon me, and I have retained no ſtrength. 17 For how can the ſervant of this my lord, talk with this my lord? for as for me, ſtraightway there remained no ſtrength in me, neither is there breath left in me. 18 Then there came again and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he ſtrengthened me, 19 And ſaid, O man greatly beloved, fear not, peace be unto thee, be ſtrong, yea, be ſtrong. And when he had ſpoken unto me, I was ſtrengthened, and ſaid, Let my lord ſpeak; for thou haſt ſtrengthened me. 20 Then ſaid he, Knoweſt thou wherefore I come unto thee? and now will I return to fight with the prince of Perſia: and when I am gone forth, lo, the prince of Grecia ſhall come. 21 But I will ſhew thee that which is noted in the ſcripture of truth: and there is none that holdeth with me in theſe things, but Michael your prince.

In the third Year of Cyrus King of Perſia] Daniel muſt now have been above 90 Years of Age; he could not be leſs than 20 when he was carried Captive; and that was ſeventy-three Years before the Date of this Viſion; which was the laſt Daniel ſaw; and it is likely he himſelf ſurvived it not long.

In thoſe Days I Daniel was mourning three full Weeks] The Hebrew reads, three Weeks of Days. So we read of a Month of Days, Gen. xxix. 14. Numb. xi. 20. where the Engliſh reads a whole Month. But the Phraſe may be uſed here to diſtinguiſh them from the Weeks of Years propheſied of in the ixth Chapter.

Behold, a certain Man cloathed in Linen, whoſe Loins were girt about with fine Gold of Uphaz] He appeared in the Habit of an High-Prieſt: See Exod. xxviii. 4, 39. xxix. 5. The Deſcription St. John gives of Chriſt as High-Prieſt of the Church, Rev. i. 15. ſeems to be taken from this Place of Daniel, which proves that the Perſon here deſcribed can be no other than the Son of God; which may be farther confirmed by comparing the Perſon deſcribed here, and Ch. xii. 5, 6. with Rev. x. 2, 5, 6. who is there repreſented as ſetting his Right Foot upon the Sea, and his Left upon the Land, as Sovereign Lord of both Elements. Compare Matt. xxviii. 19.

And behold an Hand touched me] This ſeems to be a diſtinct Appearance from that deſcribed Ver. 5. not ſo terrible, but nearer approaching to an human Form; ſee Ver. 16. and may probably be ſuppoſed to be the Angel Gabriel, who had been ſent to Daniel on the like Occaſions. See Ch. viii. 17, 18. ix. 21. The Logos, or Son of God, in the Repreſentations made of him in the Old Teſtament, uſually appears with a Retinue of Angels attending him: See Gen. xviii. 2. And in this Prophecy, Ch. viii. 13, &c. we have a Viſion of ſeveral Angels attending upon one principal One: Compare Ch. xii. 5. The ſame Retinue of Angels may be obſerved in Zechary's Viſions, Ch. i. 8—13. ii. 3, 4, 8. iii. 3, 4, 7. The Angel who now appeared to Daniel, putting forth his Hand, raiſed him from the Ground, and reſtored him to his former Strength in ſome Degree. See Ch. viii. 18. ix. 21. Jer. i. 9. Ezek. ii. 2. Rev. i. 17.

And I am come for thy Words] To give an Anſwer to thy Requeſts, by the Direction of that divine Perſon, Ver. 5. upon whom I attend, Ch. viii. 15, 16, 17. ix. 11.

But the Princes of the Kingdom of Perſia withſtood me] The Princes of the Kingdom of Perſia and Græcia, mentioned here and Ver. 20. are ſuppoſed to be the the Guardian or Tutelar Angels of thoſe ſeveral Countries. That there were ſuch tutelar Angels, not only over private Perſons, (ſee Acts xii. 15.) but likewiſe over Provinces and Kingdoms, was an Opinion generally received. The four Spirits mentioned Zech. vi. 5. ſeem to be the Guardian Angels of the four great Empires. Every Heathen Nation thought their Country under the peculiar Protection of ſome tutelar Deity; and they looked upon the God of the Jews to be no other than that Deity who preſided over that Nation. See 1 Sam. iv. 1 Kings xx. 23, 28. 2 Kings xviii. 33, 34, 35. Iſa. x. 10, 11. This Notion was very much countenanced by a Paſſage in Deuteronomy, xxxii. 8. where the Septuagint tranſlate the Text thus, When the moſt High divided the Nations their Inheritance — he ſet the Bounds of the People according to the Number of the Angels of God; for the Lord's Portion is his People. As if the Senſe were, That the Government of other Nations was committed to ſo many tutelar Angels; whereas Iſrael was under the immediate Care and Government of God himſelf. This Opinion ſuppoſes the preſiding Angels here mentioned to have been good Angels; from whence it follows, that the Occaſion of their Contention was becauſe neither Party was yet acquainted with the Divine Will, to which they were all ready to ſubmit.

But others ſuppoſe thoſe Princes or Angels, who oppoſed Michael and Gabriel, to be evil Spirits, ſuch as are deſcribed by St. Paul under the Names of the Rulers of the Darkneſs of this World, having their Reſidence in the lower Regions of the Air, Epheſ. ii. 2. vi. 12. Theſe evil Spirits are ſometimes repreſented as Part of the heavenly Hoſt, both in reſpect to their original Station, and becauſe theſe are the Inſtruments of Providence, and have a Command over the inferior World, as far as God thinks fit to permit. See 1 Kings xxii. 19, &c. Job i. 6, 12, &c. They are likewiſe repreſented as Accuſers of good Men before God, and as aggravating their Faults, in order to have them delivered over to them, as the Executioners of God's Judgments. See Job i. 11. ii. 5. Zech. iii. 1. Rev. xii. 10. If we follow this Opinion, the Conteſt here will be of the ſame Nature with that of the Angel and Satan, Zech. iii. 1. and with the Diſpute that Michael the Archangel had with the Devil about the Body of Moſes, mentioned by St. Jude, Ver. 9.

The Prince of the Kingdom of Perſia withſtood me one and twenty Days] The Perſians, upon the Solicitations of the Jews Enemies, had put a Stop to the Building of the Temple, all the Time of Daniel's Humiliation: See Note on Ver. 2. And the Tutelar Genius of that Empire ſtill inſiſted, that they might be kept under thoſe Hardſhips, while the Angel Gabriel was doing them all the good Offices he could. In like Manner Satan is repreſented as eagerly oppoſing the Rebuilding of the Temple, and the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation, Zech. iii. 1, 2.

How can the Servant of this my Lord talk with this my Lord?] How can thy Servant, a poor mortal Man, maintain a Diſcourſe with a Perſon of your Rank and Dignity? The Words may be tranſlated thus, How can the Servant of this my Lord talk with that my Lord? i. e. with the other Perſon that firſt appeared to me with ſo majeſtick a Preſence, at whoſe Sight I was perfectly confounded; Ver. 5—9. The Pronoun Zeb, when it is doubled, often ſignifies two diſtinct Perſons or Things: See Exod. xiv. 20. Eccleſ. vi. 3. vii. 14, 18. Iſa. vi. 3.

And when I am gone forth, lo the Prince of Grecia ſhall come] When I am gone forth from the Divine Preſence, the tutelar Angel of the Grecian Empire will appear in the Court of Heaven, and offer his Reaſons for tranſlating the Empire from the Perſians to the Greeks, that the Jews may enjoy the Benefits of their Dominion; as a Government that will be more favourable to them than the Perſian Emperors were. Alexander and ſome of his Succeſſors beſtowed many Favours upon the Jews, as Joſephus relates, Antiq. L. xi, xii.

Ver. 1. ALSO I, in the firſt year of Darius the Mede, even I ſtood to confirm and to ſtrengthen him. 2 And now will I ſhew thee the truth, Behold, there ſhall ſtand up yet three kings in Perſia, and the fourth ſhall be far richer than they all: and by his ſtrength through his riches he ſhall ſtir up all againſt the realm of Grecia. 3 And a mighty king ſhall ſtand up, that ſhall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will. 4 And when he ſhall ſtand up, his kingdom ſhall be broken, and ſhall be divided toward the four winds of heaven; and not to his poſterity, nor according to his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdom ſhall be pluckt up, even for others beſides thoſe. 5 And the king of the ſouth ſhall be ſtrong, and one of his princes, and he ſhall be ſtrong above him, and have dominion: his dominion ſhall be a great dominion. 6 And in the end of years they ſhall join themſelves together; for the kings daughter of the ſouth ſhall come to the king of the north to make an agreement: but ſhe ſhall not retain the power of the arm, neither ſhall he ſtand, nor his arm; but ſhe ſhall be given up, and they that brought her, and he that begat her, and he that ſtrengthened her in theſe times. 7 But out of a branch of her roots ſhall one ſtand up in his eſtate, which ſhall come with an army, and ſhall enter into the fortreſs of the king of the north, and ſhall deal againſt them, and ſhall prevail: 8 And ſhall alſo carry captives into Egypt, their gods with their princes, and with their precious veſſels of ſilver and of gold, and he ſhall continue more years than the king of the north. 9 So the king of the ſouth ſhall come into his kingdom, and ſhall return into his own land. 10 But his ſons ſhall be ſtirred up, and ſhall aſſemble a multitude of great forces: and one ſhall certainly come and overflow, and paſs through: then ſhall he return, and be ſtirred up even to his fortreſs. 11 And the king of the ſouth ſhall be moved with choler, and ſhall come forth and fight with him, even with the king of the north: and he ſhall ſet forth a great multitude, but the multitude ſhall be given into his hand. 12 And when he hath taken away the multitude, his heart ſhall be lifted up, and he ſhall caſt down many ten thouſands; but he ſhall not be ſtrengthened by it. 13 For the king of the north ſhall return, and ſhall ſet forth a multitude greater than the former, and ſhall certainly come (after certain years) with a great army, and with much riches. 14 And in thoſe times there ſhall many ſtand up againſt the king of the ſouth: alſo the robbers of thy people ſhall exalt themſelves to eſtabliſh the viſion, but they ſhall fall. 15 So the king of the north ſhall come, and caſt up a mount, and take the moſt fenced cities: and the arms of the ſouth ſhall not withſtand, neither his choſen people, neither ſhall there be any ſtrength to withſtand. 16 But he that cometh againſt him, ſhall do according to his own will, and none ſhall ſtand before him: and he ſhall ſtand in the glorious land which by his hand ſhall be conſumed. 17 He ſhall alſo ſet his face to enter with the ſtrength of his whole kingdom, and upright ones with him: thus ſhall he do, and he ſhall give him the daughter of women corrupting her: but ſhe ſhall not ſtand on his ſide, neither be for him. 18 After this ſhall he turn his face unto the iſles, and ſhall take many: but a prince for his own behalf ſhall cauſe the reproach offered by him to ceaſe; without his own reproach he ſhall cauſe it to turn upon him. 19 Then he ſhall turn his face towards the fort of his own land: but he ſhall ſtumble and fall, and not be found. 20 Then ſhall ſtand up in his eſtate a raiſer of taxes in the glory of the kingdom; but within few days he ſhall be deſtroyed, neither in anger, nor in battel. 21 And in his eſtate ſhall ſtand up a vile perſon, to whom they ſhall not give the honour of the kingdom: but he ſhall come in peaceably, and obtain the kingdom by flatteries. 22 And with the arms of a flood ſhall they be overflown from before him, and ſhall be broken; yea, alſo the prince of the covenant. 23 And after the league made with him, he ſhall work deceitfully; for he ſhall come up, and ſhall become ſtrong with a ſmall people. 24 He ſhall enter peaceably even upon the fatteſt places of the province, and he ſhall do that which his fathers have not done, nor his fathers fathers, he ſhall ſcatter among them the prey and ſpoil, and riches: yea, and he ſhall forecaſt his devices againſt the ſtrong holds, even for a time. 25 And he ſhall ſtir up his power and his courage againſt the king of the ſouth with a great army, and the king of the ſouth ſhall be ſtirred up to battel with a very great and mighty army; but he ſhall not ſtand: for they ſhall forecaſt devices againſt him. 26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of his meat, ſhall deſtroy him, and his army ſhall overflow: and many ſhall fall down ſlain. 27 And both theſe kings hearts ſhall be to do miſchief, and they ſhall ſpeak lies at one table; but it ſhall not proſper: for yet the end ſhall be at the time appointed. 28 Then ſhall he return into his land with great riches, and his heart ſhall be againſt the holy covenant: and he ſhall do exploits, and return to his own land. 29 At the time appointed he ſhall return, and come toward the ſouth, but it ſhall not be as the former, or as the latter. 30 For the ſhips of Chittim ſhall come againſt him: therefore he ſhall be grieved and return, and have indignation againſt the holy covenant: ſo ſhall he do, he ſhall even return, and have intelligence with them that forſake the holy covenant. 31 And arms ſhall ſtand on his part, and they ſhall pollute the ſanctuary of ſtrength, and ſhall take away the daily ſacrifice, and they ſhall place the abomination that maketh deſolate. 32 And ſuch as do wickedly againſt the covenant, ſhall be corrupt by flatteries: but the people that do know their God, ſhall be ſtrong, and do exploits. 33 And they that underſtand among the people, ſhall inſtruct many: yet they ſhall fall by the ſword, and by flame, by captivity and by ſpoil many days. 34 Now when they ſhall fall, they ſhall be holpen with a little help: but many ſhall cleave to them with flatteries. 35 And ſome of them of underſtanding ſhall fall, to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, even to the time of the end: becauſe it is yet for a time appointed. 36 And the king ſhall do according to his will, and he ſhall exalt himſelf, and magnify himſelf above every god, and ſhall ſpeak marvellous things againſt the God of gods, and ſhall proſper till the indignation be accompliſhed: for that that is determined ſhall be done. 37 Neither ſhall he regard the god of his fathers, nor the deſire of women, nor regard any god: for he ſhall magnify himſelf above all. 38 But in his eſtate ſhall he honour the god of forces: and a god whom his fathers knew not, ſhall he honour with gold, and ſilver, and with precious ſtones, and pleaſant things. 39 Thus ſhall he do in the moſt ſtrong holds with a ſtrange god, whom he ſhall acknowledge and increaſe with glory: and he ſhall cauſe them to rule over many, and ſhall divide the land for gain. 40 And at the time of the end ſhall the king of the ſouth puſh at him, and the king of the north ſhall come againſt him like a whirlwind, with chariots, and with horſemen, and with many ſhips, and he ſhall enter into the countries, and ſhall overflow and paſs over. 41 He ſhall enter alſo into the glorious land, and many countries ſhall be overthrown: but theſe ſhall eſcape out of his hand, even Edom, and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon. 42 He ſhall ſtretch forth his hand alſo upon the countries, and the land of Egypt ſhall not eſcape. 43 But he ſhall have power over the treaſures of gold and of ſilver, and over all the precious things of Egypt: and the Libyans and the Ethiopians ſhall be at his ſteps. 44 But tidings out of the eaſt, and out of the north ſhall trouble him: therefore he ſhall go forth with great fury to deſtroy, and utterly to make away many. 45 And he ſhall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the ſeas in the glorious holy mountain: yet he ſhall come to his end, and none ſhall help him.

Alſo I in the firſt Year of Darius the Mede, even I, ſtood, to confirm and ſtrengthen him] This Verſe ſhould have been joined to the laſt Chapter: The Angel adds, that as he now joins with Michael in defending the Cauſe of the Jewiſh Nation; ſo at the Time of the Overthrow of the Babyloniſh Empire, he aſſiſted Michael in advancing Darius to the Succeſſion, which was the Occaſion of reſtoring the Jewiſh Captivity. The Word Him may relate either to Michael or Darius, and the Senſe, taking it either Way, is much the ſame.

There ſhall ſtand up yet three Kings in Perſia] After Cyrus ſhall ſucceed Cambyſes, Smerdis, and Darius Hyſtaſpes. So Ezra mentions two Kings, whom he calls Ahaſuerus and Artaxerxes (Names which were common to moſt of the Perſian Kings in the Jewiſh Hiſtory) who reigned between Cyrus and Darius Hyſtaſpes, Ezr. iv. 6, 7.

And the fourth ſhall be richer than they all] This plainly means Xerxes, who brought together an Army of above four Millions, according to Herodotus's Account; of eight Millions, as others ſay, to over-run the whole Country of Greece. Theſe Wars, carried on by Xerxes's Succeſſors, ended at laſt in the Conqueſt of the Perſian Monarchy by Alexander the Great. Upon this Account the Angel paſſes over the reſt of the Perſian Kings to relate the Succeſſes of Alexander; it being the chief Deſign of the former Part of this Viſion to foretel the Tranſlation of the Empire from the Perſians to the Greeks.

And a mighty King ſhall ſtand up, and do according to his Will] This denotes Alexander the Great, whoſe Succeſs was ſo uninterrupted, that no Body was able to put a Stop to the Progreſs of his Victories: See Ch. viii. 5.

And not to his Poſterity] Alexander had a Brother Aridæus, and two Sons Alexander and Hercules; theſe were all cut off in a few Years after his Death, to make Way for his Generals, who divided his Empire among themſelves. As to what more relates to Alexander and his Succeſſors, conſult the Notes on Ch. viii.

And the King of the South ſhall be ſtrong] By the King of the South, in this and the following Verſes, is meant the King of Egypt; and by the King of the North, the King of Syria. Theſe two Kings came at length to have the principal Share of Alexander's Dominions, and make the greateſt Figure among his Succeſſors. The Reaſon why they are only mentioned here, is, becauſe they only were concerned in the Affairs of the Jews; Judea bordering upon each of their Dominions, and ſometimes belonging to one, and ſometimes to the other of thoſe Princes. The King of the South here mentioned, denotes Ptolemy the firſt, the Son of Lagus, called by way of Diſtinction Ptolemy Soter. The Text ſaith of him, that he ſhould be ſtrong; for he had all Egypt and the adjacent Parts of Libya, under his Dominion, beſides Paleſtine, Cælo-Syria, and moſt of the Maritime Provinces of Leſſer Aſia.

And one of his Princes, and he ſhall be ſtrong above him, and have Dominion] Another of the Succeſſors of Alexander, Seleucus Nicator, the firſt King of the North, or of Syria; who by the Conqueſt of Lyſimachus King of Thrace, and Demetrius King of Macedon, obtained the Name of Nicator, i. e. Conqueror.

His Dominion ſhall be a great Dominion] He had under his Dominion all the Countries of the Eaſt, from Mount Taurus to the River Indus; and from thence Weſtward to the Egean Sea: Whereupon Appianus the Hiſtorian, reckons him among the moſt Potent of Alexander's Succeſſors.

And in the End of Years, they ſhall join themſelves together] In Proceſs of Time the Succeſſors of theſe two Kings, viz. Ptolemy Philadelphus, the Son of the former Ptolemy, and Antiochus Theus, the Grandſon of Seleucus Nicator, ſhall enter into a League or Confederacy with each other.

For the King's Daughter of the South ſhall come to the King of the North to make an Agreement] This League ſhall be concluded by the Marriage of Berenice, Daughter to Ptolemy Philadelphus, with Antiochus Theus King of Syria, altho' he had another Wife Laodice, and two Children by her, Seleucus Callinius, and Antiochus.

But ſhe ſhall not retain the Power of the Arm] She ſhall not be able to keep her Power or Intereſt with Antiochus: For as ſoon as her Father Ptolemy was dead, Antiochus divorced her, and recalled his former Wife Laodice and her Children.

Neither ſhall he ſtand, nor his Arm] Nor ſhall Antiochus himſelf long ſurvive; for Laodice being jealous of his fickle Temper, procured him to be poiſoned, and concealed his Death till her Son Seleucus had ſecured the Succeſſion.

But ſhe ſhall be given up, and they that brought her] Berenice, after ſhe had ſhut herſelf up in the Aſylum, or Place of Sanctuary at Daphne, was betrayed into her Enemies Hands, and baſely murdered with all thoſe that attended her out of Egypt.

And he that ſtrengthened her in theſe Times] Her Father who ſhould have ſupported her with his Intereſt under theſe Difficulties, but died himſelf a little before.

All theſe Particulars, and what are mentioned in the following Notes, are fully related in the Hiſtorical Accounts of thoſe Times, as may be ſeen by thoſe who will conſult the Authors referred to by St. Jerome, in his Commentaries upon Daniel, and Dr. Prideaux in his Script. Con.

But out of a Branch of her Root ſhall ſtand up one in his Eſtate, and ſhall enter into the Fortreſs of the King of the North] One of the ſame Stock or Original with Berenice, viz. her Brother Ptolemy Euergetes, ſhall ſucceed his Father in the Government of Egypt, and ſhall revenge his Siſter's Quarrel, by invading the Frontiers or Territories (ſee Ver. 10.) of Seleucus, and prevail againſt him.

And he ſhall alſo carry Captives into Egypt their Gods, with their Princes, &c.] St. Jerome tells us out of Writers extant in his Time, that Ptolemy made himſelf Maſter of all Syria and Cilicia, and paſſing the Euphrates, conquered as far as Babylon; and carried back into Egypt vaſt Plunder from all the conquered Provinces, together with 2500 Egyptian Idols, which Cambyſes upon his conquering Egypt, had carried into Perſia. This Action of his ſo highly obliged the Egyptians, that they gave him the Title of Euergetes, or, the Benefactor.

And he ſhall continue more Years than the King of the North] Ptolemy out-lived Seleucus the Space of four Years.

But his Sons ſhall be ſtirred up, and aſſemble a Multitude of great Forces] The Son of Seleucus, Seleucus Ceraunus, and Antiochus, called afterwards the Great, ſhall aſſemble a mighty Army, in order to recover all that their Father had loſt.

And he ſhall certainly come, and overflow, and paſs over] Antiochus ſhall certainly over-run Judea and Cælo-Syria, with other Provinces belonging to the King of Egypt; taking the Advantage of Ptolemy Euergetes's Death, and the Succeſſion of his Son Ptolemy Philopator, a weak and profligate Prince, under whoſe Reign he attempted the Recovery of Syria. We may obſerve the Text here ſpeaks only of a ſingle Perſon, viz. Antiochus, for his Brother Seleucus died in the Beginning of this Enterprize, having ſcarce reigned three Years. The Devaſtations of an Army are fitly compared to Inundations: See Ver. 22, 40. and Ch. ix. 6.

Then ſhall he return, and be ſtirred up even to his Fortreſs] Or, He ſhall again be ſtirred up, &c. At the Spring of the next Year he ſhall take the Field again, and encamp at Raphia, a Frontier Town upon the Borders of Egypt. See the Hiſtory of this Engagement in Polyb. L. v. P. 573. Edit. 8vo.

And the King of the South ſhall be moved with Choler, and ſhall come forth and fight with him, even with the King of the North] Ptolemy Philopator, the young King of Egypt, being enraged at the Attempts of Antiochus, ſhall come with a great Army to encounter him.

And he ſhall ſet forth a great Multitude] If we underſtand the Words of Ptolemy's Army, that conſiſted of 70,000 Foot, 5000 Horſe, and 73 Elephants. Antiochus's was little inferior to his, for he had 62,000 Foot, 6000 Horſe, and 62 Elephants.

But the Multitude ſhall be delivered into his Hand] The Army of Antiochus was diſcomfited by Ptolemy, 10,000 being ſlain, and 4000 taken Priſoners.

And he ſhall caſt down many ten Thouſands, but he ſhall not be ſtrengthened by it] Or, Tho' he ſhall caſt down — he ſhall not be ſtrengthened by it. He ſhall content himſelf with recovering the Provinces of Cælo-Syria and Paleſtine, and make no farther Advantages of this Victory; being willing to agree to a Peace, that he might ſecurely follow his Pleaſures.

For the King of the North ſhall return, and ſhall ſet forth a Multitude greater than the former, and ſhall certainly come (after certain Years) with a great Army, &c.] Fourteen Years after the ending of the former War, upon the Death of Philopator, and the ſucceeding of his Son Ptolemy Epiphanes, Antiochus the King of the North ſhall return into Cælo-Syria and Paleſtine, for the Recovery of thoſe Provinces, and ſhall bring with him a greater Army than he had in the former War, the ſame which he brought out of the Eaſt, his late Return from thence.

After certain Years. The Hebrew reads, At the End of Times, even Years; which Expreſſion confirms the Interpretation given before of the Word Times in this Prophecy. See Note on Ch. iv. 6.

And in thoſe Times many ſhall ſtand up againſt the King of the South] Antiochus King of Syria, and Ptolemy King of Macedon entered into a League to divide

Do

Dominions of Ptolemy Epiphanes King of Egypt, being then an Infant of six Years of Age. Agothoclea his Father's Concubine, and her Brother Agothocles, who managed every Thing under Ptolomy Philopator, were framing Projects to keep the Regency in their own Hands during the Minority of this Prince. And Scopas, one of his Generals, some Time afterwards formed a Scheme of usurping the Government over Egypt.

Also the Robbers of the People shall exalt themselves to establish the Vision, but they shall fall] The Apostates from the Jewish Law shall exalt themselves under the Favour of the King of Egypt and his Ministers, to accomplish what is said in the Writings of the Prophets concerning the Persecutions that should befal God's People, and the Punishments that should at length overtake those that forsake the Truth. These Apostates accordingly did fall, and were cut off by Antiochus; for in the 9th Year of Epiphanes's Reign, Antiochus made himself Master of Jerusalem, and cut off, or drove from thence all those Jews that were of Ptolemy's Party, and bestowed particular Favours on those that persevered in the Observance of the Law. Josephus gives a Copy of Antiochus's Decree in favour of their Temple, and the Service therein performed, and to secure it from being profaned.

So the King of the North shall come and take the most fenced Cities] Antiochus having vanquished the King of Egypt's Army under Scopas, at Paneas, near the Fountain-head of the River Jordan, he besieged and took first Sidon and Gaza, then all the other Cities of that District, viz. Abila, Samaria, and Gedara; and afterwards became Master of the whole Country. The Word Solleleth translated a Mount, does likewise signify Battering Engines for the throwing Stones, and such like offensive Artillery. See 2 Kings xix. 32. Jer. xxii. 24. xxxiii. 4.

And he shall stand in the glorious Land, which by his Hand shall be consumed] He shall make himself Master of Judea; which shall be consumed by the ravaging and plundering of his Soldiers. Jerusalem itself receiving great Damages during the Siege of the Garrison which Scopas left there; as appears by Antiochus's Decree for repairing the Ruins of the City, in Josephus.

And upright ones with him] Or rather, And he shall make Agreements with him; Yesharim here probably signifying the same as Mesharim does, Ver. 6. i. e. he shall make Proposals of concluding a Marriage between his own Daughter Cleopatra and King Ptolemy, to be consummated when they come of Age; which Offer being made by Eucles of Rhodes was accepted, and a Contract fully agreed between them.

Giving him the Daughter of Women, corrupting her] In making this Proposal of Marriage, his Intent was that she should betray her Husband to him, and by that Means become Master of Egypt; she is called the Daughter of Women, by Way of Excellence, either on Account of her Quality, or else because of her great Beauty.

But she shall not stand on his Side, neither be for him] When she was married to Ptolemy, she forsook the Interest of her Father, and embraced that of her Husband; and we find her joining with him in an Embassy to the Romans, to congratulate the Victory they had obtained over her own Father, as Dr. Prideaux observes out of Livy, L. 37.

And after this he shall turn his Face unto the Isles, and shall take many] Antiochus shall set out a great Fleet for reducing the Lesser Asia, which sailing along the Coasts of Cilicia, Pamphilia, Lycia, and Caria, took a great many of the Maritime Cities of those Provinces, and the Islands adjoining. All Countries lying upon the Sea-coasts are called Islands in the Hebrew Dialect, as hath been before observed.

But a Prince for his own Behalf shall cause the Reproach offered by him to cease; without his own Reproach he shall cause it to turn upon him] Or, But a Prince shall cause to cease his (i. e. Antiochus's) Reproach against him: Moreover he shall cause his Reproach to return upon him. The Particle Bilti, translated without, signifies likewise moreover. Lucius Scipio, the Roman Consul, made the Reproach, which Antiochus had offered to the Romans by that Invasion, to return upon his own Head, by overthrowing him in Battle at Mount Sipylus, and forcing him to quit all the Conquests he had made in the Lesser Asia. From this great Victory, whereby Asia was delivered out of the Hands of Antiochus, this Scipio had the Sir-name of Asiaticus. See the 37th Book of Livy's History.

Then he shall turn his Face toward the Fort of his own Land, but he shall stumble and fall] After this great Defeat, Antiochus returned back to Antioch, the chief Seat and Fortress of his Kingdom. From whence going into the Eastern Provinces, to raise the Money he was by Agreement to pay the Romans, and attempting to rob the Temple of Elymais, for that Purpose, he was slain there, and never returned again into Syria.

Then shall stand up in his Estate, a Raiser of Taxes, in the Glory of his Kingdom] Seleucus Philopater, the Son of Antiochus, shall succeed him in the Kingdom of Syria; compare Ver. 7. His Father by the Treaty of Peace was obliged to pay a thousand Talents for twelve Years together to the Romans; and it was the main Business of his Son's Reign to raise this Money upon his Subjects. His Necessities put him upon offering to seize the Treasures which were laid up in the Temple at Jerusalem; for which Attempt his Treasurer Heliodorus was miraculously punished: See 2 Macc. iii. 4, &c.

But within few Days he shall be destroyed, neither in Anger, nor in Battle] Dr. Prideaux translates this Sentence, Within few Years he shall be destroyed: The Word Yamim, Days, often signifying Years; which Sense suits best with the Event here foretold. For Seleucus reigned but eleven Years, which may be properly called a few, in comparison of the thirty-seven Years of his Father's Reign; and he came to his End neither by War abroad, nor by a Sedition at home, but was poisoned by Heliodorus his Treasurer, who designed to usurp the Kingdom to himself, as Appian relates it.

And in his Estate shall stand up a vile Person] This is a Description of Antiochus Epiphanes, the great Persecutor of the Jewish Nation and Religion. He is called here a vile Person, not for any Want of any Wit or Parts, but for the Extravagance of his Life and Actions, which made many doubt whether he had more of the Fool or Mad-man in him; so instead of Epiphanes the Illustrious, they called him Epimanes the Mad-man.

To whom they shall not give the Honour of the Kingdom, but he shall come in peaceably, and obtain the Kingdom by Flatteries] The Right of Succession did belong to Demetrius, the Son of Seleucus Philopator, and Nephew to Antiochus; but he being sent an Hostage to Rome by his Father Antiochus, took Advantage of his Absence, and by courting Eumenes King of Pergamus, and Attalus his Brother, with flattering Speeches and great Promises of Friendship, and Assistance against the Romans, prevailed with them to stand by him against the Usurper Heliodorus, and so came peaceably into the Possession of the Kingdom.

Yea also the Prince of the Covenant] Onias the High-priest as several interpret it, whom they suppose to be meant by the Prince of the Host, Ch. viii. 11. where the Prophet speaks of the Persecution of the Jews, of which the same Antiochus was the Author. This Antiochus was deposed and banished by him, and afterwards murder'd by one of his Lieutenants, 2 Macc. iv. 10, 34. But the following Verse inclines me to think, says Lowth, that Ptolemy Philometor is meant here; for he it is with whom the League there mentioned is made; and he was the principal Person that opposed Antiochus chiefly in his Pretensions to Cœlo-Syria and Palestine; in whose Name a War was carried on against Antiochus, the Success of which is foretold in the following Verses.

And after the League made with him, he shall work deceitfully] This League was made between Ptolemy Philometor and Antiochus in the Life-time of Cleopatra, and Palestine, as belonging to the King of Egypt by virtue of the Marriage-Articles between Ptolemy Epiphanes, phanes and Cleopatra, Antiochus without any regard to the League he had made with Philometor his Nephew, marched his Army towards the Frontiers of Egypt, and having obtained a Victory over the Egyptian Army, in a Battle fought between Mount Casius and Pelusium, he the next Year made himself Master of the greatest Part of Egypt, Philometor himself falling into his Hands; whom he pretended to take Care of as his Nephew, and to manage his Affairs as his Tutor and Guardian. But this belongs to the second Expedition mentioned Ver. 25.

And shall become strong with a small People] His Forces then were but small, as St. Jerome observes out of Sutorius, an Historian extant in his Time; at least in comparison with those that he brought with him in his second Expedition.

But he shall not stand, for they shall forecast Devices against him; yea, they that feed of the Portion of his Meat shall destroy him] The ill Success of Philometor's Expedition was chiefly owing to the Male-Administration of Lenæus, Eulæus, and other Ministers and Officers employed under him, and to the Treachery of Ptolomy Macron, who forsook Philometor's Interest, and went over to Antiochus.

And both these Kings Hearts shall be to do Mischief; and they shall speak Lies at one Table, but it shall not prosper] These two Kings shall meet at Memphis, and frequently eat at the same Table as Friends. Antiochus pretending to take Care of the Interests of his Nephew Philometor, especially after the Alexandrians had proclaimed his Brother Euergetes King; and Philometor seemingly confiding in his Uncle's Protection. But herein they designed to impose upon each other; Antiochus's Design being to seize the Kingdom of Egypt to himself, and Philometor's to disappoint those Designs of his, by coming to an Agreement with Euergetes and the Alexandrians. So this pretended Friendship broke out into open War, wherein Antiochus subdued all the Country as far as Memphis, and marched to Alexandria to besiege that City.

For yet the End shall be at the Time appointed] These Wars and Calamities are not yet come to an End, but shall be determined at the Time of God's Appointment.

And his Heart shall be against the Holy Covenant] While Antiochus was in Egypt, a false Report was spread over Judea that he was dead; whereupon Jason with his Party made himself Master of Jerusalem, in order to regain the Office of High-Priest, from which he had been turned out by the Fraud of his Brother Menelaus. Upon this, Antiochus supposing the whole Nation had revolted from him, marched with all Haste out of Egypt into Judea to quell this Rebellion; and taking Jerusalem by Force of Arms, he slew 40,000 of the Inhabitants in three Days Time, profaned the Temple, and took away all its Ornaments and Treasures; see 1 Macc. i. 20—28. 2 Macc. iv. 23, 24. v. 11—20.

At the Time appointed he shall return, and come toward the South, but it shall not be as the former, or as the latter] Antiochus shall make a third Expedition into Egypt in order to reduce Alexandria; but this Attempt shall not be attended with the same Success as the two former, for the Reason mentioned in the next Verse.

For Ships of Chittim shall come against him, therefore he shall be grieved and return] The Embassadors Popilius Lænus and his Companions coming in Ships from Macedonia and Greece, shall come to him, bringing peremptory Demands from the Romans, that he should desist from making War against Egypt, otherwise they would denounce War against him. This Message will make him, to his great Grief, return out of Egypt, and quit his Designs upon that Country. The Isles of Chittim, Jer. ii. 10. Ezek. xxvii. 6. signify the Coasts of the Mediterranean Sea, so as to comprehend both Italy and Greece.

And having Indignation against the Holy Covenant] Being enraged at this Disappointment, he shall vent his Fury against the Jewish Church and Nation; and send Apollonius with an Army of 72,000 Men to lay Jerusalem waste, and cause the Temple Worship to cease there; this happened two Years after the first taking of Jerusalem by Antiochus. Compare 1 Macc. i. 29—40. with 2 Macc. v. 24, 25, 26.

And they shall place the Abomination that maketh desolate] Idols are commonly called Abominations in Scripture; see Ch. ix. 27. In Agreement with that Usage of the Word, The Abomination of Desolation must signify the Idol which was placed upon the Altar of Burnt-offerings: See 1 Macc. i. 54, 59. As the Temple itself was dedicated by the Heathens to Jupiter Olympius, 2 Macc. vi. 2. so the Idol was probably the Image of Jupiter. This Idol is said to make Desolate, because it banished the true Worship of God, and his Worshippers from the Place. See 1 Macc. iv. 38.

And such as do wickedly against the Covenant, shall he corrupt by Flatterics] Such as Jason and Menelaus, who had bought the High-Priesthood of him, and became his Instruments in spoiling and prophaning the Temple, 2 Macc. iv. 13, 14. v. 15. and such other Apostates whom the King by fair Words and Promises brought over to comply with his Designs.

But many shall cleave to them with Flatteries] Not sincerely: Such were Joseph and Azarias, who engaged in the common Cause out of Ambition, and a Desire of Fame: 1 Macc. v. 56—62. Such were they who were found with Idols consecrated under their Cloaths, 2 Macc. xii. 40. Such was Rhodocus, who disclosed their Secrets to the Enemies, ibid. Ch. xiii. 21.

And the King shall do according to his Will] Antiochus was a Type and Forerunner of Antichrist; as hath been before observed. So the Angel makes a sudden Transition from the Type to the Antitype, or the Description of Antichrist himself; the Words of the following Verses being not at all applicable to Antiochus: And several Passages in the 12th Chapter shew that some Parts of this Prophecy belong to the latter Times, or Ages of the World. We may observe such a sudden Transition in our Saviour's Discourse, Matt. xxiv. from a Prediction of the Destruction of Jerusalem to a Description of the general Judgment.

Neither shall he regard the God of his Fathers] Antichrist is described as the seventh Head of the Roman Empire, Rev. xvii. 11. and as the sixth revived, ibid. and Ch. xiii. 3, 14. But before he arrived at his Dominion, the Worship of the Heathen Gods, which had prevailed under the sixth Head, was destroyed by the Christian Emperors.

Nor the Desire of Women] Mr. Mede observes, that the Expression properly signifies a Desire of Wives; i. e. of a married State, which should be discountenanced by the King here described. In like Manner forbidding to marry is a Character of some Antichristian Teachers, 1 Tim. iv. 3. The Word Desire signifies that Affection which married Persons have for each other: See Gen. iii. 16. Cant. vii. 10. Ezek. xxiv. 16.

But in his Estate shall he honour the God of Forces] Mr. Mede's Translation of this Verse seems most agreeable to the Origiual: Thus he interprets it: But (or for) together with God in his Seat shall he honour Mauzzims. This last Word, both the Greek and the Vulgar Latin, and several other Translations retain without interpreting it. The Word imports Protection, or a Protector, the Abstract being often used for the Concrete: See Ps. xxvii. 1. xxviii. 8. xxxi. 3, 5. The same Author supposes the Word here to denote Saints and Angels, in whom the Votaries of the Church of Rome place a great Trust and Confidence, and by their Protection in their Distress, and assign to some of them the Patronage of whole Countries, as is more largely expressed in the following Verse. To these, saith the Interpretation of the Text, shall the King here described give Honour and Worship in the Places dedicated to the Service of that God whom his Fathers knew not, as it follows.

Thus shall he do in the most strong Holds with a strange God] Acording to Mr. Mede, the Words should be thus translated: And he shall make the strong Holds (or Fortresses) of the Mauzzims jointly with (or to) strange (or foreign) God; i. e. He shall consecrate his Temples and religious Places jointly to the Honour of God and his Saints. Temples may fitly be called strong Holds, or Places of Defence, as being in the Opinion of those that pay their Devotions there, the Earnest of that Protection which they expect in Answer to their Prayers. So the Jewish Temple is called the Sanctuary of Strength, Ver. 31. of this Chapter, the Word Mauz being used in both Places. Compare Ps. xxvii. 5.

A strange God in the Old Testament, usually signifies a false God; but the Phrase being here used in Opposition to the Gods who were worshipped by the Gentile Ancestors of the Romans, it may properly denote the true God, whom the Athenians called by the Name of the strange God, Acts xvii. 23. For the entire Inscription of that Altar St. Paul takes Notice of here, is supposed to be, To the unknown and strange God; whom St. Paul tells them, they ignorantly worshipped, as not knowing him to be the one Supreme God.

And he shall cause them to rule over many and shall divide the Land for Gain] Or, distribute the Earth for a Reward; i. e. he shall assign whole Provinces and Kingdoms to the Protection of several Saints and Angels, to whom they may have Recourse as their Patrons; and shall give them suitable Titles and Honours, as a Reward of their Care and Protection.

Shall the King of the South push at him, and the King of the North shall come against him] They that understand this and the following Verses of Antiochus Epiphanes and Ptolemy Philometor, suppose that the Angel recapitulates what he said before, from Ver. 23. 'Tis certain these and the following Words can't be explained of any farther Wars between the King of Egypt and Syria; for Antiochus never made any farther Attempt upon Egypt, after the peremptory Demand of the Roman Ambassador, requiring him to desist from that Enterprize, mentioned Ver. 30. Whereupon venting all his Indignation against the Jews, he afterwards took a Journey into Persia, where he died, 1 Macc. vi. 1—6. 2 Macc. ix. 1—28.

These Difficulties attending the common Interpretation, Mr. Mede, by the King of the South, understands the Saracens, and by the King of the North, the Turks, who should both at different Times afflict the Western Parts of the World, where he supposes the Seat of Antichrist to be; the former being denoted by the Locusts, Rev. ix. 3. and the latter by the Euphratean Horsemen, described in the same Chapter, Ver. 15, 16, &c. as two Woes or Plagues sent to chastize the corrupt Part of Christendom, Ver. 12. The Saracen is called the King of the South, because that People are Inhabitants of Arabia Felix, which lay Southward of Palestine, whereas the Turks were originally Tartars or Scythians.

He shall also enter into the glorious Land] The Land of Judea; see Ver. 16. and Ch. viii. 9. If we understand this of Antiochus Epiphanes, his Invasion of Judea hath been described at large, Ver. 31, &c. If we expound it of the Turk, with Mr. Mede, he hath had Possession of the Holy Land for several Ages.

But these shall escape out of his Hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chief of the Children of Ammon] Grotius expounds the Words to this Sense; that Antiochus did not make War upon these People, because they readily complied with his Commands, and joined with him against the Jews; for which Cause Judas Maccabeus made War upon them, 1 Macc. v. 3, 4. Mr. Mede understands the Words of Arabia Petrea, whose Inhabitants were never subdued by the Turks.

The next two Verses Mr. Mede expounds of the final Conquest of Egypt by the Turks, A. C. 1517. after it had held out against them for a great while under the Mamalukes.

And the Libyans and Ethiopians shall be at his Steps] shall readily obey him and follow his Commands. St. Jerome observes upon the Place, that it is not recorded of Antiochus Epiphanes, that he ever marched so far as into these Countries, or had any Footing there. So Mr. Mede more probably expounds the Place of the Turks, who have extended their Dominion into these Parts of the World.

But Tidings out of thee, and out of the North shall trouble him] This Dr. Prideaux explains of Antiochus thus: That in the East, i. e. in Persia, his Taxes were not duly paid, which engaged him to take a Journey into Persia, to gather up the Arrears due to him there. And in the North, Artaxias, King of Armenia, had revolted from him. They that understand the Words of later Times, suppose them not yet fulfilled, and so not capable of a certain Interpretation.

And he shall plant the Tabernacles of his Palace between the Seas, in the glorious holy Mountain] If we apply the Words to Antiochus, the Sense will be, that he shall place the Ensigns of his Sovereignty as a Conqueror at Jerusalem; which was placed upon a mountainous Situation, between the Mediterranean and the Sea of Sodom, near the Middle of Judea, which had those two Seas for its Boundaries. To plant the Tabernacle of his Palace or Pavilion at Jerusalem, is an Expression denoting an entire Conquest, and is applied to Nebuchadnezzar in that Sense, Jer. xliii. 10. The holy Mountain oftentimes denotes the Christian Church in the prophetical Writings. And if we apply this Text to Antichrist, we may compare it with the Boasts of that proud Prince, who is supposed to be the Figure of Antichrist, Isa xiv. 13. where he saith, I will sit in the Midst of the Congregation, in the Sides of the North: And we may explain both these Texts by those Words of St. Paul, who describes Antichrist as sitting in the Temple of God, 2 Thess. ii. 4. meaning the Christian Church, as that Phrase commonly signifies in St. Paul's Writings.

Yet he shall come to his End, and none shall help him] He shall be broken without Hand, i. e. by a Judgment immediately inflicted by God, as it is said of Antiochus, Ch. viii. 25. The like Judgment is denounced against Antichrist, 2 Thess. ii. 8.

CHAP. XII.

Ver. 1. AND at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation, even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book. 2 And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt. 3 And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars for ever and ever. 4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. 5 Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the bank of the river, and the other on that side of the bank of the river. 6 And one said to the man clothed in linen, which was upon the waters of the river, How long shall it be to the end of these wonders? 7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was upon the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand, and his left hand unto heaven, and sware by him that liveth for ever, that it shall be for a time, times, and an half: and when he shall have accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished. 8 And I heard, but I understood not: then said I, O my lord, what shall be the end of these things? 9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel:

for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end. 10 Many shall be purified and made white and tried: but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand, but the wise shall understand. 11 And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abomination that maketh desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days, 12 Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. 13 But go thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest, and stand in thy lot at the end of the days.

At that Time shall Michael stand up, that great Prince that standeth for the Children of thy People] See Ch. x. 13, 21. He, as the Protector of the Jewish Nation, contended with the Devil about the Body of Moses, as St. Jude informs us, Ver. 9. from some antient Writing or Tradition. He is probably that Archangel who shall make that awful Summons to the Day of Judgment, mentioned 1 Thess. iv. 16. and as several Angels will be employed in gathering together God's Elect, Matt. xxiv. 31. so we may collect from this Place of Daniel, that it will be his Province to assemble those of the Jewish Nation.

And there shall be a Time of Trouble, as there never was since there was a Nation] The Scriptures speak of the extraordinary Appearances of God's Kingdom, as ushered in by great Tribulations: See Isa. xxvi. 20, 21. Jer. xxx. 7. Matt. xxiv. 21. So the Saints are said to have come out of great Tribulation, Rev. vii. 14. This some learned Men suppose to relate to the last Vial, Rev. xv. 18.

And many of them that sleep in the Dust shall awake] A plain Description both of the Just and Unjust; the Belief of which St. Paul speaks of, as grounded upon the Writings of the Law and the Prophets, Acts xxiv. 15, 16. xxvi. 6, 7, 8. and there is no Text so full to that Purpose as this before us. The Word many is sometimes equivalent to all; see Ch. ix. 17.

Many shall run to and fro, and Knowledge shall be increased] Many shall be inquisitive after Truth, and keep Correspondence with others for their Information; and the gradual Completion of this and other Prophecies, shall direct observing Readers to form a Judgment concerning those Particulars which are yet to be fulfilled.

From hence we may learn the Reason of the Obscurity of several Prophecies in Scripture; and it may be observed, that generally those Prophecies are most obscure, the Time of whose Completion is fartheſt off. For the same Reason, in interpreting the Prophecies relating to the latter Times of the World, the Judgment of latter Writers is to be preferred before that of the Antients; because the Moderns living nearer the Times when the Events were to be fulfilled, had surer Marks to guide them in their Expositions. Bishop Andrews hath a remarkable Passage to this Purpose, in his Tortura Torti, P. 186. Neque enim mirum, &c. 'It is 'no wonder, that what I have said concerning Rome's 'being the Seat of Antichrist described by St. John, is 'not clearly asserted in the Commentaries of the an-'tient Fathers upon the Revelation; that Book of Pro-'phecy was then sealed: And it is a certain Rule that 'every Prophecy is a Riddle before its Completion: 'So that tho' we grant those antient Worthies to have 'far exceeded us both in Gifts, and in Holiness; yet 'it is not to be wondred, if they had not such clear 'Apprehensions concerning this Matter, as we of 'latter Times have, by the Grace of God, attained, 'who see this Prophecy every Day fulfilled in our 'Sight.'

That it shall be for a Time, Times, and an half] Or, the dividing of Time, as it is expressed in the Chaldee, Ch. vii. 25. which contains in the literal Sense, three Years and an half; during which Time the publick Sacrifices and Worship were discontinued during the Persecution of Antiochus, the Figure of Antichrist. But this Line of Time is expresly applied to the Antichristian Persecution, Rev. xii. 14. and is further explained in that Chapter, Ver. 6. by twelve hundred and sixty Days; which is three Years and an half, reckoning three hundred and sixty Days to a Year. And if we suppose each Day to signify a Year, which is the prophetical Sense of the Word Day, this Period of Time denotes 1260 Years. See Ch. viii. 14. ix. 24.

And when he shall have accomplished to disperse the Power of the holy People, all these Things shall be finished] When the Jews Dispersion shall be ended, then the most remarkable Events contained in this Prophecy shall be fulfilled. The Restoration of the Jewish Nation is foretold by the Prophets as one of those signal Events to be brought to pass in the latter Days, or Times of the World. Mr. Mede makes this Text before us parallel with those Words of Christ, Luke xxi. 24. Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, until the Times of the Gentiles shall be fulfilled, i. e. till the Times of the fourth Monarchy be expired.

And from the Time that the daily Sacrifice shall be taken away, and the Abomination that maketh desolate shall be set up] The same Expressions made use of to describe Antiochus's Persecutions, Ch. xi. 31. are here applied to the Desolations made by Antichrist, of which the former was a Figure.

There shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety Days: Blessed is he that waiteth and cometh to the thousand two hundred and five and thirty Days] Here the Time allotted for the Persecutions of Antichrist, till the Church be entirely cleansed and purified, is enlarged from 1260 Days, denoted by Time, Times, and an half, Ver. 7. to 1290 Days, and then to 1335 Days. Mr. Mede wisely forbears giving an Interpretation of these Particulars, telling us, that Time would make them manifest. However, we may say in general that there may be a considerable Space of Time between the Fall of Antichrist, and the last Judgment which shall be inflicted upon him. Some learned Men who have compared the Prophecies of Daniel and the Revelation together, suppose the Interval of Time between the 1260 Days, and the 1335 Days, to be included within the Times of the seventh Trumpet, during which the seven Plagues will be fulfilled. See Rev. xi. 15, 18. and Ch. xv. 1, 7, 8.

For thou shalt rest, and stand in thy Lot at the End of the Days] The Prophet was now ninety Years of Age at least; so he could not expect to live much longer: And the Angel here tells him, that after his Life was ended, he should rest in Peace with the Souls of the Righteous; compare Isa. lvii. 2. Rev. xiv. 13. and at the Resurrection foretold, Ver. 2. of this Chapter, he should obtain a Share of that Happiness which is reserved for the faithful Servants of God, and shall be actually conferred at the Conclusion of the Times here specified, Ver. 12.

The Word Lot signifies a State and Condition of Life, Jer. xiii. 25. and is often used for an Inheritance, because the Land of Canaan was divided by Lot among the Israelites; as the promised Land was a Figure of the Better and Heavenly Country, which all the good Men among the Jews expected; so here it signifies the Heavenly Inheritance which belongs to the Heirs of Salvation.

A

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet HOSEA.

A general PREFACE to the Minor PROPHETS.

The Twelve Minor Prophets were always compriſed in one Book, called the Book of the Prophets, by St. Stephen, Acts vii. 42. and the Book of the twelve Prophets, by St. Cyprian, Epiſt. 59. The Son of Syrach ſpeaks of them under one and the ſame Character, Eccluſ. xlix. 12. Let the Bones of the twelve Prophets flouriſh out of their Place. And both Jewiſh and Chriſtian Writers, particularly Joſephus, L. 1. contr. Appion, and St. Jerome, Prolog. Galeat. When they mention the Canonical Books of the Old Teſtament to be in Number xxii. (a Number equal to the Letters of the Jewiſh Alphabet) comprehend the twelve Minor Prophets under one Book.

Theſe twelve Prophets are not placed exactly in the Order of Time when they lived, either in the Hebrew or Greek Copies: For Jonah, who was the eldeſt of them, is placed the ſixth in Order both in the Hebrew and Greek Bibles; there being in other Reſpects ſome little Difference between them; the Series of them ſtanding thus in the Greek: Hoſea, Amos, Micah, Joel, Obadiah, Jonas; but no Variation as to the reſt.

Hoſea, who is placed the firſt in Order, is as antient as any of them, except Jonah, having propheſied before the Captivity of the Ten Tribes, to whom he chiefly directs his Prophecy, and threatens them with a ſudden Deſtruction for their great and crying Sins, which he, in all Probability, lived to ſee brought upon them.

The ARGUMENT.

Hoſea, according to the Introduction to his Book, prophecied in the Reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Judah, and in the Days of Jeroboam the IId. King of Iſrael; and conſequently continued to be a Prophet, at leaſt ſeventy Years; unleſs we may ſuppoſe, (as ſome have done, ſee Calmet's Dict. under the Word Hoſea) that this is a ſpurious Title of ſome antient Tranſcriber's, and that the true Beginning of his Work is at the 7th Verſe, The Beginning of the Word by Hoſea. However this be, we may obſerve, that he ſpeaks poſitively of the Captivity of the Ten Tribes, and inveighs ſtrongly againſt their Diſorders; that he foretels that the Kingdom of Judah ſhould for ſome Time ſubſiſt after them, but that at length they too ſhould be carried away captive beyond the Euphrates; and, through the Whole, lays open the Sins, and declares the Judgments of God againſt a People, hardened, and irreclaimable.

CHAP. I.

Under the Figure of a Wife living in Whoredom, and bearing illegitimate Children, is repreſented the great Idolatry of the Ten Tribes; for which God caſt them off. A Promiſe of uniting Iſrael and Judah under one Head, the Meſſias. The Extinction of Jehu's Family foretold.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord that came unto Hoſea, the ſon of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh king of Iſrael. 2 The beginning of the word of the Lord by Hoſea: and the Lord ſaid to Hoſea, Go, take unto thee a wife of whoredoms and children of whoredoms: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord. 3 So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a ſon. 4 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Call his name Jezreel; for yet a little while, and I will avenge the blood of Jezreel upon the houſe of Jehu, and will cauſe to ceaſe the kingdom of the houſe of Iſrael. 5 And it ſhall come to paſs at that day, that I will break the bow of Iſrael in the valley of Jezreel. 6 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a daughter, and God ſaid unto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more have mercy upon the houſe of Iſrael; but I will utterly take them away. 7 But I will have mercy upon the houſe of Judah, and will ſave them by the Lord their God, and will not ſave them by bow, nor by ſword, nor by battel, by horſes, nor by horſe-men. 8 Now when ſhe had weaned Lo-ruhamah, ſhe conceived and bare a ſon. 9 Then

Then ſaid God, Call his name Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people, and I will not be your God. 10 Yet the number of the children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot be meaſured nor numbred; and it ſhall come to paſs, that in the place where it was ſaid unto them, Ye are not my people, there it ſhall be ſaid unto them, Ye are the ſons of the living God. 11 Then ſhall the children of Judah and the children of Iſrael be gathered together, and appoint themſelves one head, and they ſhall come up out of the land: for great ſhall be the day of Jezreel.

Go take thee a Wife of Whoredoms, and Children of Whoredoms, &c.] This may be probably underſtood of a Wife, who after her Marriage ſhould prove falſe to her Marriage Vow: This would make the Caſe more exactly parallel with that of the Iſraelites, who had departed from the true God, and polluted themſelves with Idolatry, called often in Scripture by the Names of Whoredom and Fornication. Taking the Words in this Senſe, there will be no Inconvenience in ſuppoſing this Relation to be literally true, and not barely a Figure or Parallel, as ſome Commentators underſtand it; and particularly the Chaldee Paraphraſt, who thus expreſſes the Senſe: Go utter a Prophecy againſt the rebellious City.

And the Lord ſaid unto him, Call his Name Jezreel] The Word ſignifies either the Arm of God, or the Seed of God, and is taken in both thoſe Senſes in the following Verſes. It does not ſeem proper to make an illegitimate Child an Earneſt of ſuch Acts of God's Juſtice and Mercy, as are implied in either of thoſe Senſes; and therefore 'tis probable that Jezreel was the Prophet's legitimate Son.

For yet a little while, and I will avenge the Blood of Jezreel upon the Houſe of Jehu] The Blood of Joram the Son of Ahab, whom, with all the reſt of Ahab's Family, Jehu ſlew in Jezreel: See 2 Kings x. 11. God made Jehu the Inſtrument of deſtroying the Houſe of Ahab, ib. Ver. 10, 30. but yet he was prompted to it by his own Ambition and Cruelty, without any Regard to God's Glory, whoſe Worſhip he forſook, and maintained that Idolatry which Jeroboam firſt ſet up.

I will break the Bow of Jezreel] This is commonly underſtood of that Invaſion of Iſrael which Tiglath Pileſer made, and is mentioned 2 Kings xv. 29. wherein he ſubdued a great Part of the Kingdom, and carried the Inhabitants away captive. The Aſſyrian Army having routed the Iſraelites in the Valley of Jezreel, a Place mentioned Joſh. xvii. 16. ix. 18. Judg. vi. 33. as being in the Border of Iſſachar. But the Expreſſion may mean no more than the Place where God's Arm, or Strength, will appear in ſubduing the Iſraelites; which is one Signification of the Word Jezreel. So Joel calls the Place where God will gather all Nations, the Valley of Jehoſhaphat; the Word ſignifying, the Valley of God's Judgment, Ch. iii. 2, 12.

But I will have Mercy on the Houſe of Judah, and will ſave them by the Lord their God] I will deliver the Kingdom of Judah out of the Hands of Sennacherib, not by any human Means, but by the Stroke of an Angel deſtroying his whole Army; 2 Kings ix. 35. Compare Zech. iv. 6. Interpreters obſerve, the Expreſſion may allude to the Salvation, to be accompliſhed by the Meſſias, who is God as well as Man; the LORD being ſpoken of as a diſtinct Perſon from the principal Author of the Salvation here promiſed. Compare xxxv. 4. xl. 9. To this Senſe the Chaldee paraphraſes it, I will ſave them by the Word of the LORD their God; a Title he elſewhere gives to the Meſſias. See the Biſhop of Cov. and Litch. Def. of Chriſtianity.

Yet the Number of the Children of Iſrael ſhall be as the Sand of the Sea, &c.] Tho' God caſts off the Ten Tribes, yet he will in due Time ſupply their Loſs by bringing great Numbers of true Iſraelites into the Church, not only of the Jews, but alſo of the Gentiles, and making them who before were Strangers to the Covenants of Promiſe, Fellow-Heirs with the Jews. See Rom. ix. 25, 29. 1 Pet. ii. 10.

Then ſhall the Children of Judah and the Children of Iſrael be gathered together, &c.] When the Fulneſs of the Gentiles is come in, this will be a Means of converting the Jews, and bringing them into the Church, Rom. ix. 25, 26.

And ſhall appoint themſelves one Head, and they ſhall come up out of the Land] Upon this will follow the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation, when they ſhall return into their own Country, from the ſeveral Diſperſions where they were ſcattered, and become one Nation or Kingdom under the Meſſias. Compare Ezek. xxxvii. 21, 22. Mic. ii. 13. Iſrael and Judah are joined together where this general Reſtoration is foretold. See Jer. iii. 18.

For great ſhall be the Day of Jezreel] The Word Jezreel has been before explained. God will ſignally exert his Arm, and ſhew his Power in the Reſtoration of his antient People, and ſubduing their Enemies; and thereby a numerous Offſpring of the Seed of Abraham ſhall be added to the Church.

CHAP. II.

The Ten Tribes reproved for their Ingratitude to God their Benefactor, and giving Glory to Idols.

Ver. 1. SAY ye unto your brethren, Ammi, and to your ſiſters, Ruhamah. 2 Plead with your mother, plead: for ſhe is not my wife, neither am I her huſband: let her therefore put away her whoredoms out of her ſight, and her adulteries from between her breaſts; 3 Leſt I ſtrip her naked, and ſet her as in the day that ſhe was born, and make her as a wilderneſs, and ſet her like a dry land, and ſlay her with thirſt. 4 And I will not have mercy upon her children; for they be the children of whoredoms. 5 For their mother hath played the harlot: ſhe that conceived them hath done ſhamefully: for ſhe ſaid, I will go after my lovers, that give me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, mine oil and my drink. 6 Therefore behold, I will hedge up thy way with thorns, and make a wall, that ſhe ſhall not find her paths. 7 And ſhe ſhall follow after her lovers, but ſhe ſhall not overtake them; and ſhe ſhall ſeek them, but ſhall not find them: then ſhall ſhe ſay, I will go and return to my firſt huſband, for then was it better with me than now. 8 For ſhe did not know that I gave her corn, and wine, and oil, and multiplied her ſilver and gold, which they prepared for Baal. 9 Therefore will I return, and take away my corn in the time thereof, and my wine in the ſeaſon thereof, and will recover my wool and my flax given to cover her nakedneſs. 10 And now will I diſcover her lewdneſs in the ſight of her lovers, and none ſhall deliver her out of mine hand. 11 I will alſo cauſe all her mirth to ceaſe, her feaſt days, her new-moons, and her ſabbaths, and all her ſolemn feaſts. 12 And I will deſtroy her vines and her fig-trees, whereof ſhe hath ſaid, Theſe are my rewards that my lovers have given me: and I will make them a foreſt, and the beaſts of the field ſhall eat them. 13 And I will viſit upon her the days of Baalim, wherein ſhe burnt incenſe to them, and ſhe decked herſelf with her ear-rings and her jewels, and ſhe went after her lovers, and forgat me, ſaith the Lord

Lord. 14 Therefore behold, I will allure her and bring her into the wilderneſs, and ſpeak comfortably unto her. 15 And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for a door of hope, and ſhe ſhall ſing there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when ſhe came up out of the land of Egypt. 16 And it ſhall be at that day, ſaith the Lord, that thou ſhalt call me Iſhi; and ſhalt call me no more Baali. 17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they ſhall no more be remembred by their name. 18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the beaſts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven, and with the creeping things of the ground: and I will break the bow and the ſword, and the battel out of the earth, and will make them to lie down ſafely. 19 And I will betroth thee unto me for ever, yea I will betroth thee unto me in righteouſneſs, and in judgment, and in loving kindneſs, and in mercies. 20 I will even betroth thee unto me in faithfulneſs, and thou ſhalt know the Lord. 21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, I will hear, ſaith the Lord, I will hear the heavens, and they ſhall hear the earth, 22 And the earth ſhall hear the corn and the wine and the oil, and they ſhall hear Jezreel. 23 And I will ſow her unto me in the earth, and I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy, and I will ſay to them which were not my people, Thou art my people; and they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God.

Say ye to your Brethren, Ammi, and to your Siſters, Ruhamah] Several Interpreters join this Verſe with the foregoing Chapter, to this Senſe: When the great Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation ſhall come to paſs, you may alter your Stile in ſpeaking to thoſe of your Brethren and Siſters, whom I had before diſowned, and you may call them my People, and ſuch as have obtained Mercy; ſee Ver. 23. This Interpretation gives the plaineſt and eaſieſt Senſe. However, other Expoſitors join this Verſe with the following Words, and tranſlate it thus, Ye that are my People, and have obtained Mercy, ſpeak to your Brothers and Siſters, and plead with your Mother — But this Senſe ſeems not ſo agreeable with the Context, which threatens the Ten Tribes with the Miſeries of their enſuing Captivity.

Plead with your Mother, plead; for ſhe is not my Wife, neither am I her Huſband] The Words are directed to thoſe pious Perſons that ſtill remained among the Ten Tribes, who are required to reprove and uſe their beſt Endeavours to reform that general Corruption which the Nation had contracted by its Idolatry; whereby they have broken the Covenant I had made with them, (frequently expreſſed in the Prophets by a Marriage-Contract: See Jer. iii. 1, 8. xxxi. 32.) and made a Separation or Divorce between them and me. See Iſa. l. 1.

For ſhe ſaid, I will go after my Lovers that gave me my Bread and my Water, &c.] By Lovers are meant, in the firſt Place, the Idols with which the Iſraelites committed ſpiritual Fornication: See Jer. iii. 1. and then the idolatrous Nations, whoſe Alliance the Iſraelites courted, and in order to it, practiſed their Idolatries: See Ver. 10. and Ezek. xvi. 37. The Word may be underſtood here in both Senſes: They aſcribed all the Plenty they enjoyed chiefly to the Favour of the falſe-gods which they worſhipped: See Jer. xliv. 17. and then they placed their Truſt and Confidence in their Confederacies they had made with the neighbouring Nations, and thought the Peace and Plenty they poſſeſſed, was very much owing to their Protection and Alliance.

Then ſhe ſhall ſay, I will go and return to my firſt Huſband, for then it was better with me than now] Her Afflictions will bring her to a Senſe of her Duty, and the Happineſs ſhe enjoyed ſo long as ſhe cleaved ſtedfaſtly to God: See Ch. v. 15. and compare Luke xv. 18.

I will viſit upon her the Days of Baalim, &c.] I will puniſh her for all the Wickedneſs ſhe has committed from the Days of Jeroboam, who firſt ſet up the Worſhip of falſe Gods: See Ch. xiii. 1. The chief God of every Country was called by the Name of Baal: So Baal-Peor was the God of the Moabites: Baal-zebub was the God of Ekron, 2 Kings i. 2. Baal-berith the God of the Phœnicians, Judg. viii. 33. Thoſe ſeveral Deities are called in the Plural Baalim: See Judg. iii. 7.

Therefore behold I will allure her] Here is a plain Alteration of the Stile from Threatnings to Promiſes: So the firſt Word of this Verſe ſhould be tranſlated, Nevertheleſs. See Iſa. xxx. 18.

I will allure her, and bring her into the Wilderneſs, &c.] Or, after I have brought her into the Wilderneſs. The State of the Jews is elſewhere expreſſed by a Wilderneſs State. See Ezek. xx. 35. It probably means here the Diſperſions of the Ten Tribes, ever ſince their firſt Captivity by Salmaneſer, 2 Kings xvii. 6.

This Verſe, and the following Part of the Chapter, import a general Promiſe of the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation; which is a Subject often treated of by the Prophets; particularly by Ezekiel, Ch. xxxiv, xxxvi, xxxvii.

And the Valley of Achor for a Door of Hope] As at the Iſraelites firſt Entrance into Canaan, their taking Poſſeſſion of the fruitful Valley of Achor, (ſee Iſa. lxv. 10.) gave them Encouragement to hope they ſhould become Owners of that whole Land flowing with Milk and Honey; the ſame auſpicious Tokens of the Divine Favour ſhould accompany them at their Return into their own Country.

Thou ſhalt call me Iſhi, and ſhall call me no more Baali] Whereas God had formerly renounced any Marriage-Relation with Iſrael by Reaſon of their Idolatry; (ſee Ver. 2.) He now declares himſelf reconciled to them again, ſee Ver. 20. and permits them to call him by the Name of Iſhi, i. e. Huſband; but not of Baali, i. e. Lord. The Word Baali often ſignifies an Huſband, and is particularly ſpoken of God, as he was by his Covenant-Relation an Huſband to his People: See Iſa. liv. 5. Jer. iii. 14. But becauſe the Word Baal had been ſo much prophaned by being given to Idols, he forbids it to be applied any more for himſelf. See the following Verſe.

I will hear the Heavens, and the Heavens ſhall hear the Earth, &c.] All Creatures ſhall anſwer the Wants and Deſires of my People: The Heavens ſhall anſwer the Wants of the Earth, in ſending down ſeaſonable Showers; and the Earth ſhall anſwer the Wants of Mankind in bringing forth Corn and Wine, and the Neceſſaries of Life; and the very Fruits of the Earth ſhall anſwer the Wiſhes of my People now returned into their own Land, by giving them due Nouriſhment.

And they ſhall hear Jezreel] This new State of the Church, increaſed by a numerous Acceſſion both of Jews and Gentiles, is fitly called Jezreel, the Word importing both THE SEED, and the Arm of God.

CHAP. III.

By the Figure of the Prophet's adulterous Wife returning Home, is ſignified, that Iſrael ſhall, in the latter Days, be reſtored to their antient Dignity and Privileges.

Ver. 1. THEN ſaid the Lord unto me, Go yet, love a woman (beloved of her friend, yet an adultereſs) according to the love of the Lord toward the children of Iſrael, who look to other gods, and love flagons of wine. 2 So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an half-homer of barley. 3 And I said unto her, Thou shalt abide for me many days, thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt not be for another man, so will I also be for thee. 4 For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim. 5 Afterward shall the children of Israel return, and seek the Lord their God, and David their king, and shall fear the Lord, and his goodness in the latter days.

Go yet love a Woman beloved of her Friend, yet an Adultéress] This is probably the same Woman mentioned, Ch. i. 3. who, upon her ill Life, was parted from her Husband; who yet had a Kindness for her still, and was willing to receive her upon Condition of her sincere Behaviour. The Hebrew Word Reang, Friend, is used for an Husband, Jer. iii. 20. Cant. v. 16.

According to the Love of the Lord toward the Children of Israel, who look to other Gods, and love Flagons of Wine] Hosea's thus dealing with a Wife who had injured him, exactly resembles the Favour which God hath shewed towards the Israelites; who, notwithstanding all their Obligations to him, retain an incurable Propensity to Idolatry, often called by the Name of spiritual Whoredom.

The Words which our Translation renders Flagons of Wine, may be translated, Cakes made of (dried) Grapes. Such were the Grapes, probably, which the Jews offered to the Queen of Heaven, Jer. vii. 18. xliv. 19. So Cant. ii. 5. The Word Ashish may rather signify Cakes, or Comfits, than Flagons; as our Translation renders it. The Expression signifies in general those Entertainments which they were Partakers of in the Idol Temples, Am. ii. 8. 1 Cor. x. 7, 21.

So I bought her for me for fifteen Pieces of Silver, and for an Homer of Barley, &c.] The Expression alludes to the Custom antiently practised of Men's buying their Wives; and it implies, that the Prophet made a new Espousal or Contract with her, as God intended to betroth Israel a second Time, Ch. ii. 19. and the Meanness of the Price offered, shews of how little Value the Israelites were in God's Sight, since their Apostasy from the Worship of God to Idolatry: Compare Zech. xi. 13. An Homer was about ten Bushels. See Ezek. xlv. 11.

Thou shalt not be for another Man, so will I also be for thee] The Word another is not in the Hebrew; so the Sentence may be thus translated more agreeably to the Original: Thou shalt not have an Husband, neither will I have thee (to my Wife) i. e. Thou shalt continue for some Time in a State of Widowhood. The Hebrew Phrase Lo Tehi Laish properly signifies, Thou shalt not have an Husband; and so it is rendred by our Interpreters, Ezek. xliv. 25. and to the same Sense, without the Negative Particle, Ruth i. 12. and so it is used by St. Paul, Rom. vii. 3.

Afterward the Children of Israel shall return, and seek the Lord their God, and David their King] The Messias is often called David by the Prophets, as being the Person that was to spring from his Loins, and in whom all the Promises made to David were to be fulfilled. See Isa. lv. 3, 4. Jer. xxx. 9. Ezek. xxxiv. 23. xxxvii. 24. So the Chaldee Paraphrase expounds this and the parallel Texts. David was a Type of the Messias: See Ps. lxxxix. 20—36. who therefore is called by the Name of David: So John Baptist is called Elias, Mal. iv. 5. because he was to resemble him, and to succeed him in his Office of reproving the People, and exhorting them to Repentance. The Expression can't be literally understood here, David himself having been dead long before the uttering of this Prophecy.

And shall fear the Lord their God and his Goodness in the latter Days] The Goodness of God in making them Partakers of the Mercies of the Gospel, shall engage them to yield an entire Obedience to him: Compare Jer. xxxii. 9. And this shall come to pass in the latter Days or Times of the World. The latter Days are often spoken of the Times of the Gospel. See Isa. ii. 1. Dan. ii. 28. But the Phrase does sometimes denote the very last Days of the Gospel Age, near which Time probably the Conversion of the Jews will be brought to pass. See Deut. iv. 30. Jer. xxx. 24. Ezek. xxxviii. 8, 16.

CHAP. IV.

Judgments denounced against the Sins both of the People and Priests of the Ten Tribes; and Judah exhorted to take Warning therefrom.

Ver. 1. HEAR the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land. 2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and blood toucheth blood. 3 Therefore shall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven, yea, the fishes of the sea also shall be taken away. 4 Yet let no man strive nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that strive with the priest. 5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the prophet also shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother. 6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children. 7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame. 8 They eat up the sin of my people, and they set their heart on their iniquity. 9 And there shall be like people, like priest: and I will punish them for their ways, and reward them their doings. 10 For they shall eat, and not have enough; they shall commit whoredom, and shall not increase: because they have left off to take heed to the Lord. 11 Whoredom, and wine, and new wine take away the heart. 12 My people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff declareth unto them: for the spirit of whoredoms hath caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God. 13 They sacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burn incense upon the hills, under oaks, and poplars, and elms, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall commit whoredom, and your spouses shall commit adultery. 14 I will not punish your daughters when they commit whoredom, nor your spouses when they commit adultery: for themselves are separated with whores, and they sacrifice with harlots: therefore the people that doth not understand, shall fall. 15 Though thou Israel play the harlot, yet let not Judah offend, and come not ye unto Gilgal, neither go ye up to Beth-aven, nor swear, The Lord liveth. 16 For Israel slideth back, as a backsliding heifer: now the Lord will feed them as a a lamb in a large place. 17 Ephraim is joined to idols: let him alone. 18 Their drink is sour: they have committed whoredom continually: her rulers with shame do love, Give ye. 19 The wind hath bound her up in her wings, and they shall be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing] Stealing and Swearing, i. e. False-swearing, are elsewhere joined together, because in the Jewish Courts of Justice, Men that were suspected of Theft, were obliged to purge themselves by Oath: And they often ventured to forswear themselves rather than discover the Truth. See Zech. v. 4. Prov. xxix. xxx. 9.

Let no Man strive or reprove another; for my People are as they that strive with the Priest] The Prophet speaks of the Israelites as one that despaired of their Amendment, and thought it lost Labour to reprove them, they being of that refractory Temper, as not to hearken to Instruction, and even to quarrel with the Priests themselves, when they admonished them of their Duty. This seems to be a Proverbial Expression to denote a stubborn and incorrigible Temper; for it was a capital Offence by the Law, for any one to behave himself in a presumptuous Manner against the Injunction of the Priest. See Deut. xvii. 12.

I will kill thy Mother] The Hebrew reads, I will cut off thy Mother, i. e. the whole State or Kingdom of Israel. Compare Ch. ii. 2. ix. 7, 8.

They eat up the Sin of my People, and they set their Hearts on their Iniquity] These idolatrous Priests, mentioned Ver. 6. live upon the Sin-offerings of the People; and were so far from restraining them, that they take Delight in seeing them commit Iniquity, because the more they sin, the greater is the Number of the Sin-offerings, which are the Priests Portion.

And their Staff declares unto them] This, learned Men suppose to be the same Kind of Divination with that made by Arrows, which is described Ezek. xxi. 21.

For themselves are separated with Whores, and sacrifice with Harlots] The Word rendred Harlot, signifies such as prostituted themselves in an Idol-Temple, in honour of the Idol. Such lewd Practices were frequent in the Gentile Temples dedicated to Venus, and such-like impure Deities: See Baruch vi. 23. From hence the Jews learned those filthy Customs: See 1 Kings xiv. 23, 24. xv. 12. The LXX render the Word very properly τετελεσμένων, such as are initiated into the Service of the Idol by such lewd Rites.

And come not ye to Gilgal, neither go up to Bethaven] Gilgal was a remarkable Place for the renewing the Rite of Circumcision, Josh. v. 9. There the People afterward used to offer Sacrifice, 1 Sam. xv. 21. After Jeroboam's setting up of Idolatry, it was noted for the Worship of false Gods, as appears by comparing this Text, with Ch. ix. 15. xii. 11. Am. iv. 4. v. 5. In those Places of Amos, as well as in this Verse, it is joined with Bethel, noted for the Worship of one of Jeroboam's Calves; called here Bethaven, and Ch. x. 5. Bethel originally signifies the House of God; that Name was given to it by Jacob, because of God's appearing to him there, Gen. xxviii. 17. But when it became the Seat of Idolatry, it was called Bethaven, i. e. the House of Vanity.

For Israel slideth back as a backsliding Heifer] The Word translated slideth back, properly signifies being headstrong and untractable; it is a Metaphor from Oxen or Heifers that draw their Neck back, and will not put it under the Yoke: See Jer. vii. 24. The Expression alludes to the Calves, called Heifers by the Septuagint, which they worshipped.

Now will the Lord feed them as a Lamb in a large place] The Expression seems Ironical; as if the Prophet had said, they were like headstrong Cattle, that would not be managed by their Leaders or Drivers: So God will suffer them to be scattered as Sheep without a Shepherd, in the large Country of Assyria, whither they shall be led captive.

Their Drink is sour] The Phrase may be metaphorical, to express the Corruption of their Manners: Compare Deut. xxxii. 32. Isa. i. 22. Or else, if we join it in Sense with the remaining Part of the Verse, it imports their excessive Drinking, till their Liquor turn sour in their Stomachs; and so the whole Verse taxes them with three great Vices, Drunkenness, Whoredom, and Bribery.

The Wind has bound her up in her Wings] The Words threaten them with going into Captivity; for it is common with the Prophets to speak what is Future by the Preterperfect Tense. See Isa. xxi. 9. God's Anger is often expressed by a blustering or tempestuous Wind: See Ch. xiii. 15. Jer. iv. 11, 12. li. 1. This Wind is said here to carry them away out of their Country; and then they will have Reason to be ashamed of their idolatrous Sacrifices, which have brought forth severe Judgments upon them.

CHAP. V.

This Chapter, and the next to the fourth Verse, threaten Judgments both against Israel and Judah for their manifold Sins, till they repent; upon which they may conceive Hopes of Pardon.

Ver. 1. HEAR ye this, O priests, and hearken, ye house of Israel, and give ye ear, O house of the king; for judgment is toward you, because ye have been a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread upon Tabor. 2 And the revolters are profound to make slaughter, though I have been a rebuker of them all. 3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou committest whoredom, and Israel is defiled. 4 They will not frame their doings to turn unto their God: for the spirit of whoredoms is in the midst of them, and they have not known the Lord. 5 And the pride of Israel doth testify to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Judah also shall fall with them. 6 They shall go with their flocks, and with their herds to seek the Lord: but they shall not find him, he hath withdrawn himself from them. 7 They have dealt treacherously against the Lord: for they have begotten strange children: now shall a month devour them with their portions. 8 Blow ye the cornet in Gibeah, and the trumpet in Ramah: cry aloud at Bethaven: after thee, O Benjamin. 9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel have I made known that which shall surely be. 10 The princes of Judah were like them that remove the bound: therefore I will pour out my wrath upon them like water. 11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in judgment: because he willingly walked after the commandment. 12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth: and to the house of Judah as rottenness. 13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah saw his wound, then went Ephraim to the Assyrian, and sent to king Jareb: yet could he not heal you, nor cure you of your wound. 14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a lion, and as a young lion to the house of Judah: I, even I will tear and go away; I will take away, and none shall rescue him. 15 I will go and return to my place, till they acknowledge their offence, and seek my face: in their affliction they will seek me early.

Hear

Hear this, O Prieſts] Or rather, O Princes, which Reading better agrees with the House of the King that follows: The Hebrew Word is of both Significations. So Gen. xliii. 45. and Exod. ii. 16. where it is in the Text, Prieſt of On and Midian; but the Margin reads, the Prince of On and Midian. Compare Ch. vi. 9.

For Judgment is towards you, becauſe you have been a Snare in Miſpeh, and a Net ſpread upon Tabor] Ye have laid Snares for others to tread upon them and kill them; ſee Ver. 2. juſt as Hunters ſpread their Nets upon Mountains and Hills in order to catch their Prey. Miſpeh and Tabor were two noted Mountains, the former on the hither Side of Jordan, the other on the farther Side of it, the ſame with Gilead.

And the Revolters are profound to make Slaughter] The Ringleaders in Idolatry and other Wickedneſs, lay deep Deſigns to enſnare Mens Lives: Compare Ch. iv. 4. vi. 9.

For they have begotten ſtrange Children] Strange Children may either mean Children begotten of Heathen Women, whom they took to Marriage contrary to the Law, Exod. xxiii. 32. Deut. vii. 2. or it may ſignify ſuch Children as were bred up in the idolatrous Practices of their Fathers.

Now ſhall a Month devour them and their Portions] If we underſtand this Verſe of Judah (which Interpretation the foregoing and following Verſes favour) the Words may be expounded of the Invaſion made upon Judah by Pekah King of Iſrael; of which ſee 2 Chron. xxviii. 6. By a Month's devouring them, is meant a ſudden and ſpeedy Deſtruction. Compare Zech. xi. 8.

The Princes of Judah were like them that remove the Bound] They have violated the moſt ſacred Laws of God, upon which not only the Ordinances of his Worſhip, but likewiſe the Rights and Properties of Men depend; and are become guilty of the ſame Injuſtice and Confuſion with thoſe that remove the antient Bounds or Land-marks: See Deut. xiv. 14. Criticks obſerve, that the Note of Similitude is ſometimes in Senſe equivalent to a ſtrong Affirmation: So Iſa. xiii. 6. It ſhall come as a Deſtruction from the Almighty; i. e. it ſhall be an apparent Inſtance of the Divine Vengeance. John i. 14. We beheld his Glory as of the only begotten Son of the Father; i. e. ſuch as proved him to be the only begotten Son of the Father.

Becauſe he willingly walked after the Commandments] This is commonly explained of Jeroboam's Command to his Subjects of forſaking the Worſhip of the true God; which they readily complied with. Of the ſame kind were the Statutes of Omri, which are mentioned Mic. vi. 16. But the LXX render it, He walked after Vanity, i. e. Idolatry; either reading Shave for Tſave; or elſe ſuppoſing the latter Word put for the former; as there are frequent Inſtances in the Hebrew Text, that Letters which are near the ſame Sound, are often changed for one another.

When Iſrael ſaw his Sickneſs, and Judah his Wound, then went Ephraim to the Aſſyrian, &c.] When the King of Iſrael ſaw himſelf too weak to contend with Pul King of Aſſyria, he ſent an Embaſſy to make him his Ally, and in order to it became his Tributary, that his Hand might be with him to confirm his Kingdom to him, 2 Kings xv. 15. which King is therefore called King Jareb, i. e. the King that ſhould plead for him, or defend his Cauſe againſt any that ſhould oppoſe him. So in like Manner ſhall Ahaz King of Judah implore the Aſſiſtance of Tiglath-Pileſer King of Aſſyria, againſt his Enemies, 2 Kings xvi. 7. 2 Chron. xxviii. 16, 17, 18.

Yet could he not heal you, or cure you of your Wound] Yet neither of theſe Alliances afforded any laſting Benefit, or Succour to thoſe that deſired their Help: Menahem's Son being after a ſhort Reign killed by Pekah; and Ahaz being rather diſtreſſed than helped by Tiglath-Pileſer: 2 Chron. xxviii. 21.

I will go and return to my Place, till they acknowledge their Offence, and ſeek my Face] I will withdraw myſelf from them, ſee Ver. 6. till by a ſincere Humiliation they implore my Favour. The Chaldee Paraphraſe expreſſes the Senſe thus; I will take away my Majeſtick Preſence, or Shekinah, from among them, and will return into Heaven. Ezekiel deſcribes the Deſtruction of the Temple and Kingdom, by God's removing his Glory from the Sanctuary and the City, Ezek. x. 4. xi. 23.

CHAP. VI.

God complains of their Incorrigibleneſs, and threatens his Judgments as a juſt Conſequent of their Sins.

Ver. 1. COME and let us return unto the Lord: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath ſmitten, and he will bind us up. 2 After two days will he revive us, in the third day he will raiſe us up, and we ſhall live in his ſight. 3 Then ſhall we know, if we follow on to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he ſhall come unto us as the rain; as the latter and former rain unto the earth. 4 O Ephraim, what ſhall I do unto thee? O Judah, what ſhall I do unto thee? for your goodneſs is as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away. 5 Therefore have I hewed them by the prophets: I have ſlain them by the words of my mouth, and thy judgments are as the light that goeth forth. 6 For I deſired mercy, and not ſacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt-offerings. 7 But they like men have tranſgreſſed the covenant: there have they dealt treacherouſly againſt me. 8 Gilead is a city of them that work iniquity; and is polluted with blood. 9 And as troops of robbers wait for a man, ſo the company of prieſts murder in the way by conſent: for they commit lewdneſs. 10 I have ſeen an horrible thing in the houſe of Iſrael: there is the whoredom of Ephraim, Iſrael is defiled. 11 Alſo, O Judah, he hath ſet an harveſt for thee, when I returned the captivity of my people.

The three firſt Verſes of this Chapter ſhould have been joined to the laſt.

After two Days he will revive us, in the third Day he will raiſe us up; &c.] A Deliverance from ſuch Miſeries or Calamities, from whence Men deſpair of a Recovery, is often repreſented as reſtoring them to Life after Death: See Pſ. xxx. 3. lxxi. 20. lxxxvi. 13. Particularly the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation is often deſcribed, as if it were a new Life from the Dead. See Ezek. xxxvii. 11. Two or three in Scripture denote a ſmall Number: See Iſa. xvii. 6. Matt. xviii. 20. Accordingly here it ſignifies a ſhort Space of Time: Compare Luke xiii. 32, 33. Dr. Wells thinks the Words primarily foretel Hezekiah's Recovery from his dangerous Sickneſs on the third Day, 2 Kings xx. 13. But it is certain, taking the Expreſſion in its true and natural Senſe, it is a plain Prediction of our Lord's Reſurrection, and referred to by St. Paul as a Proof of it, 1 Cor. xv. 4. The Prophets when they predicted temporal Deliverances, were often carried out beyond themſelves, and their firſt Subject, if I may ſo expreſs it, to foretel the more ſignal Mercies relating to the Times of the Goſpel.

His going forth is prepared as the Morning, &c.] The Comforts of the Goſpel are here expreſſed by two Things, which are very proper to enliven and exhilarate our Spirits, a fair Morning, and a kindly Seaſon, wherein the Earth plentifully yields her Increaſe, by a due Intermixture of Rain and Sun-ſhine.

For I deſired Mercy, and not Sacrifice] That is, rather than Sacrifice; I am better pleaſed with true Goodneſs, than with the exacteſt Obſervance of the external Duties of Religion, unleſs they proceed from a ſincere Principle of Obedience. See Mic. vi. 6, 7, 8. The Jews uſe to expreſs Compariſons by Negatives, or rejecting the Thing leſs worthy: So we are to underſtand that Expreſſion of the Prophet Joel, Ch. ii. 13. Rend your Heart, and not your Garments; and thoſe Words of Chriſt, John vi. 27. Labour not for the Meat which periſheth, but for that which endureth to everlaſting Life; i. e. for this rather than the former; and that Text of St. Peter, 1 Pet. iii. 3, 4. Whoſe adorning let it not be the outward adorning of plaiting the Hair, or wearing Gold, but let it be the hidden Man of the Heart.

Alſo, O Judah he hath ſet an Harveſt for thee, &c.] Or, an Harveſt is appointed for thee; the Active is uſed for the Impersonal: See Iſa. xliv. 18. i. e. thou haſt made thyſelf ripe for Deſtruction. Compare Jer. li. 33. Joel iii. 13. Mic. iv. 12. Rev. xiv. 15.

When I returned the Captivity of my People] The Senſe would be plainer, if the Words were rendered, When I would have turned away the Captivity of my People: When I would upon their Repentance have averted my Judgments, which will end in their Captivity. The Hebrew Language wants the Potential Mood, which is ſupplied by the Tenſes of the Indicative.

CHAP. VII.

The Prophet reproves the Sins of the Princes and great Men of Iſrael, and denounces Judgments againſt the People in general for their Hypocriſy.

Ver. 1. WHEN I would have healed Iſrael, then the iniquity of Ephraim was diſcovered, and the wickedneſs of Samaria: for they commit falſhood; and the thief cometh in, and the troop of robbers ſpoileth without. 2 And they conſider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickedneſs: now their own doings have beſet them about, they are before my face. 3 They make the king glad with their wickedneſs, and the princes with their lies. 4 They are all adulterers, as an oven heated by the baker, who ceaſeth from raiſing after he hath kneaded the dough, until it be leavened. 5 In the day of our king, the princes have made him ſick with bottles of wine, he ſtretched out his hand with ſcorners. 6 For they have made ready their heart like an oven, whiles they lie in wait: their baker ſleepeth all the night, in the morning it burneth as a flaming fire. 7 They are all hot as an oven, and have devoured their judges; all their kings are fallen, there is none among them that calleth unto me. 8 Ephraim, he hath mixed himſelf among the people, Ephraim is a cake not turned. 9 Strangers have devoured his ſtrength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray hairs are here and there upon him, yet he knoweth not. 10 And the pride of Iſrael teſtifieth to his face, and they do not return to the Lord their God, nor ſeek him for all this. 11 Ephraim alſo is like a ſilly dove without heart; they call to Egypt, they go to Aſſyria. 12 When they ſhall go, I will ſpread my net upon them, I will bring them down as the fowls of the heaven, I will chaſtiſe them as their congregation hath heard. 13 Wo unto them, for they have fled from me: deſtruction unto them, because they have tranſgreſſed againſt me: though I have redeemed them, yet they have ſpoken lies againſt me. 14 And they have not cried unto me with their heart, when they howled upon their beds: they aſſemble themſelves for corn and wine, and they rebel againſt me. 15 Though I have bound, and ſtrengthened their arms, yet do they imagine miſchief againſt me. 16 They return, but not to the moſt High: they are like a deceitful bow: their princes ſhall fall by the ſword for the rage of their tongue: this ſhall be their deriſion in the land of Egypt.

When I would have healed Iſrael, then the Iniquity of Ephraim was diſcovered, and the Wickedneſs of Samaria] When God was juſt averting his Judgment from Iſrael, the People gave him new Provocations, eſpecially the Inhabitants of Samaria, the principal Seat of the Kingdom: See Ver. 5.

For they commit Falſhood, and the Thief cometh in, &c.] Both great and ſmall ſeize other Men's Properties by the ſecret Methods of Fraud, and the open Violence of Rapine and Oppreſſion. See Ch. v. 1. vi. 10.

They make the King glad with their Wickedneſs, &c.] They ſtudy to pleaſe their Kings and great Men by complying with the Idolatry they have ſet up. The LXX reads, Kings, in the Plural Number; meaning the Succeſſion of the Kings of Iſrael from Jeroboam.

And their Princes with Lies] Which they ſpeak to pleaſe and flatter them. But the Word Lie ſometimes ſignifies an Idol, and the Practice of Idolatry, as being ſet up in direct Oppoſition to the true God: Compare Ver. 13. and Ch. xi. 12. x. 13. Heb. ii. 18. Rom. i. 25. This Senſe agrees very well with the Scope and Deſign of the Place.

Who ceaſeth from raiſing, after he hath kneaded the Dough, &c.] When the Oven is ſufficiently heated, the Baker doth not raiſe any more Fire, but thinks what he has made, enough to keep the Oven hot, till the Dough be fit to put into it. Some render the latter Part of the Sentence thus: Who ceaſeth from waking, or watching (his Oven;) to the ſame Senſe with that of Ver. 6. Their Baker ſleepeth all the Night.

For they have made ready their Heart like an Oven, while they lie in wait, &c.] This Verſe purſues the Metaphor begun in Ver. 4. As the Baker when he has thoroughly heated his Oven, if he lays himſelf down to ſleep in the Night, finds all in a Flame in the Morning; ſo the great Men of the Land kindle evil Deſires in their Hearts, and at the firſt Opportunity their hidden Deſigns break out like a Flame into open Action.

They are all hot as an Oven, and have devoured their Judges; all their Kings are fallen] The Flame of Civil Diſcord is ſpread among the People in general: This hath been the Deſtruction both of the inferior Magiſtrates, and of their Kings too; an Anarchy continuing for eleven Years after the Death of Jeroboam the Second; and afterward his Son Zachariah, and his Succeſſors, Shallum and Pekahiah, being ſlain by Conſpiracies formed againſt them, 2 Kings xv. 10, 14, 25.

Ephraim is a Cake not turned] Baked only on one Side; i. e. ſerving God by halves, and halting between his Service and the Worſhip of Idols. The Chaldee Paraphraſt interprets it, Before it is baked on both Sides, it is devoured by the greedy Enemies; the Metaphor being taken from the Ravenouſneſs of an hungry Stomach: This Senſe agrees very well with what follows.

They aſſemble themſelves for Corn and Wine, and they rebel againſt me] When they aſſembled themſelves to deprecate a Famine, they ſtill retained their diſobedient Temper toward me.

This ſhall be their Deriſion in the Land of Egypt] Their Blaſphemies and their other Enormities, ſhall be a juſt Cauſe of their Reproach to them, when they are Exiles in Egypt, whither many of them fled, or carried away captive: See Ch. iii. 6. Compare Ch. viii. 13. and Ezek. xxxvi. 20.

CHAP. VIII.

God's Judgments are denounced both againſt Judah and Iſrael, for their Idolatries and other Impieties.

Ver. 1. SET the trumpet to thy mouth: he ſhall come as an eagle againſt the houſe of the Lord, becauſe they have tranſgreſſed my covenant, and treſpaſſed againſt my law. 2 Iſrael ſhall cry unto me, My God, we know thee. 3 Iſrael hath caſt off the thing that is good: the enemy ſhall purſue him. 4 They have ſet up kings, but not by me: they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their ſilver and their gold have they made them idols, that they may be cut off. 5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath caſt thee off; mine anger is kindled againſt them: how long will it be ere they attain to innocency? 6 For from Iſrael was it alſo, the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calf of Samaria ſhall be broken in pieces. 7 For they have ſown the wind, and they ſhall reap the whirlwind: it hath no ſtalk: the bud ſhall yield no meal: if ſo be it yield, the ſtrangers ſhall ſwallow it up. 8 Iſrael is ſwallowed up: now ſhall they be among the Gentiles, as a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure. 9 For they are gone up to Aſſyria, a wild aſs alone by himſelf: Ephraim hath hired lovers. 10 Yea, though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they ſhall ſorrow a little for the burden of the king of princes. 11 Becauſe Ephraim hath made many altars to ſin, altars ſhall be unto him to ſin. 12 I have written to him the great things of my law, but they were counted as a ſtrange thing. 13 They ſacrifice fleſh for the ſacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it; but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſins: they ſhall return to Egypt. 14 For Iſrael hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples; and Judah hath multiplied fenced cities: but I will ſend a fire upon his cities, and it ſhall devour the palaces thereof.

Set a Trumpet to thy Mouth, he ſhall come as an Eagle againſt the Houſe of the Lord] Give Notice of the approaching Enemy. See Ch. v. 8. who is coming with all Speed and Fierceneſs, like a Bird of Prey, (ſee Deut. xxviii. 49.) againſt the City and Temple of Jeruſalem. By the Houſe of the Lord, may be meant God's Houſe in general, whom he formerly took a peculiar Care of, as his own Family: Compare Ch. ix. 15. This may probably denote Sennacherib's Invaſion.

Iſrael ſhall cry unto me, My God, we have known thee] Iſrael is placed in the Hebrew the laſt Word in the Verſe: So Dr. Wells joins it to the next Verſe, and underſtands the Verſe, of Judah; who ſhall cry unto God, as their Protector in the Times of their Fears, when the Invaſion mentioned in the foregoing Verſe threatned them: See Ch. v. 15. If we underſtand the Words of Iſrael, according as ours and moſt other Tranſlators render them, the Senſe of them is, That the Ten Tribes ſtill acknowledged the true God to be their God, and pretended that they had not forſaken him, but worſhipped him at Dan and Bethel, tho' under ſenſible Repreſentations; as we ſee Jehu at firſt pretended a great Zeal for the LORD, at the ſame Time that he worſhipped the Golden Calves, 1 Kings x. 16, 29.

They have ſet up Kings, but not by me, &c.] Shallum, Menahem, and Pekah, uſurped the Kingdom by Murder and Treachery; 2 Kings xv. 13, 14, 15. not by any Declaration of my Will, as Jeroboam and Jehu had done, or conſulting me by any Prophet.

For they have ſowed the Wind, and ſhall reap the Whirlwind] A proverbial Expreſſion, to ſignify, that as Men's Works are, ſo muſt their Reward be; that they who ſow Iniquity, ſhall reap Vanity, Prov. xxii. 8. their Labour ſhall be fruitleſs, or turn to their Hurt and Damage; Eccleſ. v. 16. and Ch. x. of this Prophecy. All the Pains the Kings of Iſrael and their Subjects take to enrich themſelves, and ſtrengthen their Kingdom, being built upon the Foundation of Apoſtaſy and Idolatry, ſhall turn to no better Account than Countrymen expect from a blaſted Crop of Corn; and whatever Advantage they make, it ſhall at laſt be a Prey to Foreigners, to the Kings of Syria and Aſſyria. See 2 Kings xii. 3, 4. xv. 29. xvii. 6.

And they ſhall ſorrow a little for the Burden of the King of Princes] They ſhall feel the Burdens and Oppreſſions laid upon them by the King of Aſſyria, who ſtiles himſelf King of Kings, as having Kings and Princes his Tributaries. See Iſa. x. 8. The Word Menat ſignifies in a little Time here, as it does Hag. ii. 6.

CHAP. IX.

The Captivity of the Ten Tribes is foretold as a Judgment for their manifold Sin.

Ver. 1. REJOICE not, O Iſrael, for joy, as other people: for thou haſt gone a whoring from thy God, thou haſt loved a reward upon every corn-floor. 2 The floor and the wine-preſs ſhall not feed them, and the new wine ſhall fail in her. 3 They ſhall not dwell in the Lords land; but Ephraim ſhall return to Egypt, and they ſhall eat unclean things in Aſſyria. 4 They ſhall not offer wine-offerings to the Lord, neither ſhall they be pleaſing unto him: their ſacrifices ſhall be unto them as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof ſhall be polluted: for their bread for their ſoul ſhall not come into the houſe of the Lord. 5 What will ye do in the ſolemn day, and in the day of the feaſt of the Lord? 6 For lo they are gone, becauſe of deſtruction: Egypt ſhall gather them up, Memphis ſhall bury them: the pleaſant places for their ſilver, nettles ſhall poſſeſs them: thorns ſhall be in their tabernacles. 7 The days of viſitation are come, the days of recompenſe are come Iſrael ſhall know it: the prophet is a fool, the ſpiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity, and the great hatred. 8 The watchman of Ephraim was with my God: but the prophet is a ſnare of a fowler in all his ways, and hatred in the houſe of his God. 9 They have deeply corrupted themſelves, as in the days of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will viſit their ſins. 10 I found Iſrael like grapes in the wilderneſs: I ſaw your fathers as the firſt-ripe in the fig-tree at her firſt time: but they went to Baal-peor, and ſeparated themſelves unto that ſhame; and their abominations were according as they loved. 11 As for Ephraim, their glory ſhall fly away like a bird; from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception. 12 Though they bring up their children, yet will I bereave them, that there ſhall not be a man left: yea, wo alſo to them when I depart from them. 13 Ephraim, as I ſaw Tyrus, is planted in a pleaſant place: but Ephraim ſhall bring forth his children to the murderer. 14 Give them, O Lord: what wilt thou give? gi ive them a miſcarrying womb, and dry breaſts.

5 All their wickedneſs is in Gilgal: for there I ated them: for the wickedneſs of their doings will drive them out of mine houſe, I will love hem no more: all their princes are revolters.
6 Ephraim is ſmitten, their root is dried up, hey ſhall bear no fruit: yea, though they bring orth, yet will I ſlay even the beloved fruit of heir womb. 17 My God will caſt them away, ecauſe they did not hearken unto him: and hey ſhall be wanderers among the nations.

Rejoice not, O Iſrael, for Joy, like other People] The Joy here mentioned may properly mean thoſe Rejoicings which were commonly made among the People at the End of Harveſt, when the Gentiles offered Sacrifices of Thankſgiving for the Plenty they enjoyed. The Prophet tells the Iſraelites, they had more highly offended by their Apoſtaſy, than the Gentiles did by their Ignorance: Compare Ezek. xvi. 47, 48.

For thou haſt gone a whoring from thy God; thou haſt loved a Reward from every Creature] Thou haſt broken the Covenant God made with thee, by ſerving other Gods; and haſt offered the Firſt-fruits, or Tithes of Increaſe, to Idols, as an Acknowledgment that the Plenty thou enjoyeſt was their Gift. See Ch. ii. 12. Jer. xliv. 17.

They ſhall not offer Wine-offerings to the Lord, &c.] A more particular Explanation of that Threatning denounced, Ch. iii. 4. that they ſhould be without a Sacrifice: They ſhould have no Opportunity in their Captivity to offer Meat-offerings, or Drink-offerings, to God, as they did upon the high Places, or in their Idolatrous Temples: See Am. iv. 4, 5. and ſometimes, perhaps, in the Temple at Jeruſalem; ſee Ver. 15. They themſelves ſhall be in the Condition of Mourners for the Dead, and by that Means be unqualified to offer any Thing to God; nor will their Offerings be acceptable. See Deut. xxvi. 14.

For their Bread for their Souls ſhall not come into the Houſe of the Lord] The Offerings they make for the Expiation of Souls (ſee Levit. xvii. 11.) ſhall not be fit to be brought into the Houſe of the Lord; and the Temple itſelf ſhall be left deſolate.

The Prophet is a Fool, the ſpiritual Man is mad] The falſe Prophets (ſee Ver. 8.) that pretend to ſpeak by the Spirit of God, and foretel nothing but Peace, ſhall be convinced of their Folly and Madneſs, when they ſee Things fall out otherwiſe than they had foretold. See Jer. vi. 14. xxxiii. 16, 17. Ezek. xiii. 10. Mic. ii. 11. Zeph. iii. 4.

I found Iſrael as Grapes in the Wilderneſs, &c.] After I had miraculouſly redeemed Iſrael out of Egypt, and brought them into the Wilderneſs, their Obedience was as grateful to me as early Grapes, or the firſt-ripe Figs, are to a thirſty Traveller: Compare Iſa. xxviii. 4. Mic. vii. 1. This relates to their firſt entering into Covenant with God, and their Promiſes of ready Obedience: See Exod. xix. 8. xxiv. 3. Deut. 27, 28, 29. and compare Ch. ii. 15. xi. 1. of this Prophecy.

All their Wickedneſs is in Gilgal; there I hated them] Or, therefore I hated them; ſo the Particle kam ſometimes ſignifies.

ſhall break down their altars: he ſhall ſpoil their images. 3 For now they ſhall ſay, We have no king, becauſe we feared not the Lord; what then ſhould a king do to us? 4 They have ſpoken words, ſwearing falſly in making a covenant: thus judgment ſpringeth up as hemlock in the furrows of the field. 5 The inhabitants of Samaria ſhall fear, becauſe of the calves of Bethaven: for the people thereof ſhall mourn over it, and the prieſts thereof that rejoiced on it, for the glory thereof, becauſe it is departed from it. 6 It ſhall be alſo carried unto Aſſyria for a preſent to king Jareb: Ephraim ſhall receive ſhame, and Iſrael ſhall be aſhamed of his own counſel. 7 As for Samaria, her king is cut off as the foam upon the water. 8 The high places alſo of Aven, the ſin of Iſrael ſhall be deſtroyed: the thorn and the thiſtle ſhall come up on their altars; and they ſhall ſay to the mountains, cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us. 9 O Iſrael, thou haſt ſinned from the days of Gibeah: there they ſtood: the battel in Gibeah againſt the children of iniquity did not overtake them. 10 It is in my deſire that I ſhould chaſtiſe them: and the people ſhall be gathered againſt them, when they ſhall bind themſelves in their two furrows. 11 And Ephraim is as an heifer, that is taught, and loveth to tread out the corn, but I paſſed over upon her fair neck: I will make Ephraim to ride: Judah ſhall plow, and Jacob ſhall break his clods. 12 Sow to yourſelves in righteouſneſs, reap in mercy: break up your fallow ground: for it is time to ſeek the Lord, till he come and rain righteouſneſs upon you. 13 Ye have plowed wickedneſs, ye have reaped iniquity, ye have eaten the fruit of lies: becauſe thou didſt truſt in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men. 14 Therefore ſhall a tumult ariſe among thy people, and all thy fortreſſes ſhall be ſpoiled, as Shalman ſpoiled Beth-arbel in the day of battel: the mother was daſhed in pieces upon her children. 15 So ſhall Beth-el do unto you, becauſe of your great wickedneſs: in a morning ſhall the king of Iſrael utterly be cut off.

Iſrael is an empty Vine, he bringeth forth Fruit unto himſelf] The Hebrew Word Bokek is capable of two contrary Significations; it may either ſignify empty, or emptying, (i. e. caſting) caſting the Fruit it giveth, the Senſe which our Tranſlators follow; or elſe it may ſignify nouriſhing; in which Senſe the LXX and vulgar Latin underſtand it, and which Dr. Pocock confirms from the Uſe of the Word in Arabick: And then the Words will import, that tho' Iſrael, like a flouriſhing Vine, abounded with Plenty of all Things, yet he brought forth no Fruit unto God, but abuſed his Bleſſings to the Encouragement of Sin and Idolatry; as it follows in the next Words.

We have no King, becauſe we feared not the Lord] This Verſe relates to the Time of Anarchy or an Interregnum, which continued for eight or nine Years, between the Murder of Pekah and the Settlement of Hoſhea in the Throne. Compare Ver. 7, and 15. and ſee Archbiſhop Uſher's Annals, ad A. M. 3265, and 3274.

Thus Judgment ſpringeth up like Hemlock in the Furrows of the Field] Injuſtice being publickly countenanced, encourages the ſame Practices in private Men's Dealings: Thus inſtead of Juſtice and Fair-dealing, Injuſtice increaſes every where, as bitter and poiſonous Weeds grow up in a Field, where there is no Care taken to deſtroy them: Compare Am. v. 7. vi. 11.

CHAP. X.

The Prophet continues to threaten Deſtruction to the Ten Tribes and their Idols; but exhorts them to Repentance and Reformation.

Ver. 1. ISrael is an empty vine, he bringeth forth fruit unto himſelf: according to the multitude of his fruit, he hath encreaſed the altars; according to the goodneſs of his land, they have made goodly images. 2 Their heart is divided: now ſhall they be found faulty: he

The

The Word Roſh is ſometimes tranſlated Gall, and in other Places Hemlock; and ſignifies ſome bitter poiſonous Herb, expreſſed by a Root of Bitterneſs, Heb. xii. 15.

The Inhabitants of Samaria ſhall fear becauſe of the Calves of Bethaven] Samaria here ſignifies the Kingdom of Iſrael, of which Samaria was the Capital City; ſee Ch. viii. 5, 6. The Inhabitants of that Kingdom ſhall be ſeized with Fear and Confuſion, when the Calf of Bethel (ſee Ch. iv. 15.) ſhall be carried away as a Preſent to Shalmaneſer, ſee Ver. 6. when he made the King and Kingdom of Iſrael Tributary; 2 Kings xvii. 3. The Jewiſh Writers have a Tradition, that the Golden Calf at Dan was taken away by Tiglath-Pileſer, when he ſubdued Galilee, 2 Kings xv. 29. and the other at Bethel by Order of Shalmaneſer. The Plural Number of the Word Calves, is an Enallage for the Singular; for the ſame Idol in this Verſe is ſpoken of in the Singular Number. Compare Ch. xiii. 2.

For the People thereof ſhall mourn over it, and the Prieſts thereof that rejoiced over it, &c.] Dr. Pocock obſerves, that the Word yagilu, tranſlated rejoiced, is alſo uſed in a contrary Signification, as ſeveral Hebrew Words are, for mourning or being ſorrowful; in which Senſe it is probably uſed, John iii. 32. Pſ. ii. 11. and then the Sentence here may be tranſlated Word for Word, and the Prieſts thereof ſhall ſorrow over it.

It ſhall be carried to Aſſyria, for a Preſent to King Jareb] King Jareb is a King that can plead their Cauſe, and take them into his Protection, as the Phraſe is explained, Ch. v. 13. there it probably means Tiglath-Pileſer King of Aſſyria, unto whom Menahem betook himſelf for Safety; and here it ſeems to denote Shalmaneſer, who took the Iſraelites into his Protection by making them Tributaries: See Note on Ver. 5.

As Shalman ſpoiled Beth-arbel in the Day of Battle] The Prophet compares the Deſtruction of Samaria to another terrible Deſolation, which the ſame Shalmaneſer, called here Shalman, made at Beth-arbel, a Place in Armenia (famous afterward for the Defeat of Darius, the laſt King of Perſia, by Alexander) where all the Inhabitants were put to the Sword, without any Diſtinction of either Age or Sex. Compare Ch. xiii. 16.

In a Morning ſhall the King of Iſrael be cut off] Suddenly ſhall Hoſea be deprived of his Kingdom, and an End put to the whole State and Government of Iſrael. The Expreſſion in the Hebrew denotes the firſt appearing in the Morning, to ſignify that it ſhall be done early and without Delay. So we read Pſ. xlvi. 3. God ſhall help her, and that right early; where the Hebrew reads, As the appearing of the Morning: And again Pſ. xc. 14. cxliii. 8. The ſame Thing is elſewhere expreſſed by riſing early, Jer. vii. 13. xxxv. 15. The Expreſſion here may allude to the Deſtruction of Pharaoh and his Army when the Morning appeared, Exod. xiv. 27.

CHAP. XI.

A Continuation of the Threatnings againſt Iſrael, but yet with Promiſes of ſhewing them Mercy.

Ver. 1. WHEN Iſrael was a child, then I loved him, and called my ſon out of Egypt. 2 As they called them, ſo they went from them: they ſacrificed unto Baalim, and burnt incenſe to graven images. 3 I taught Ephraim alſo to go, taking them by their arms, but they knew not that I healed them. 4 I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love, and I was to them as they that take off the yoke on their jaws, and I laid meat unto them. 5 He ſhall not return into the land of Egypt, but the Aſſyrian ſhall be his king, becauſe they refuſed to return. 6 And the ſword ſhall abide on his cities, and ſhall conſume his branches, and devour them, becauſe of their own counſels. 7 And my people are bent to back-ſliding from me: though they called them to the moſt High, none at all would exalt him. 8 How ſhall I give thee up, Ephraim? How ſhall I deliver thee, Iſrael? how ſhall I make thee as Admah? how ſhall I ſet thee as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me, my repentings are kindled together. 9 I will not execute the fierceneſs of mine anger, I will not return to deſtroy Ephraim; for I am God, and not man, the holy One in the midſt of thee, and I will not enter into the city. 10 They ſhall walk after the Lord: he ſhall roar like a lion: when he ſhall roar, then the children ſhall tremble from the weſt. 11 They ſhall tremble as a bird out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Aſſyria; and I will place them in their houſes, ſaith the Lord. 12 Ephraim compaſſeth me about with lies, and the houſe of Iſrael with deceit: but Judah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the ſaints.

When Iſrael was a Child, then I loved him] When this People was in the State of Childhood; i. e. in the Patriarchal Times, and during their Continuance under the Egyptian Bondage, from whence I delivered them.

And called my Son out of Egypt] Iſrael is called God's Son, and his Firſt-born, Exod. iv. 22, 23. and therein was an eminent Figure of the Meſſias, in whom all God's Promiſes are fulfilled. This Prophecy is applied by St. Matthew, Ch. ii. 15. to our LORD's Return out of Egypt, after his Flight thither in his Infancy: And the literal Senſe of the Words does more properly belong to him than to Iſrael; which is obſervable in many other Prophecies, which can but improperly be applied to thoſe of whom they were at firſt ſpoken, and taking them in their true and genuine Senſe, are only fulfilled in Chriſt. So particularly Pſ. xxii. 18, 22.

Though they called them to the moſt High, none at all would exalt him] This may relate to the ſeveral Calls God gave them by his Prophets; ſee Ver. 2. Dr. Wall underſtands it of the Invitation Hezekiah made to the People of Iſrael to join with him in celebrating the Paſſover, which ſome of the Ten Tribes accordingly accepted of, but others refuſed, 2 Chron. xxx. 1—11.

They ſhall walk after the Lord; he ſhall roar like a Lion] They ſhall follow God's Call, and comply with his Commands, when he ſhall convert them by an efficacious Call of his Providence, or powerful Preaching of the Goſpel. God's Voice is elſewhere compared to the Roaring of a Lion, becauſe of the Terror which accompanies it. See Joel iii. 16. Am. i. 8. Rev. x. 3.

When he ſhall roar, then the Children ſhall tremble from the Weſt] The Word tremble denotes the Motion which a Bird makes with her Wings when ſhe flies; ſee the following Verſe. So the Senſe is, That at this efficacious Call of God, his Children, the Remnant of Iſrael, who ſhall be accounted his Children and Heirs of the Promiſes made to the Fathers (ſee Ch. i. 10.) ſhall come in haſte from the ſeveral Places of their Diſperſion, and particularly from the Weſtern Parts of the World, ſee Zech. viii. 7. called the Sea in the Original, and expreſſed in Iſaiah, by the Iſlands of the Sea: See Iſa. xi. 11. and xxiv. 14.

Ephraim compaſſeth me about with Lies, &c.] In ſeveral Tranſlations this Verſe begins the 12th Chapter, as of right it ought to do: For the Reproof which God gives here of Iſrael, belongeth to the Subject of the following Chapter; and ſets forth the Ten Tribes abounding in all Manner of Idolatry and Wickedneſs.

But Judah yet ruleth with his God, and is faithful with the Saints] Judah keeps cloſe to that kingly Government which God ſetled in David's Family; and faithfully obſerves thoſe Ordinances which God gave is Saints by Moſes. See Deut. xxxiii. 3. by which hey were diſtinguiſhed to be an Holy Nation, and God's peculiar People. This relates to the Times f Hezekiah.

CHAP. XII.

The Prophet reproves both Iſrael and Judah for their Impieties, and reminds them of God's Favours to their Father Jacob.

Ver. 1. EPhraim feedeth on wind, and followeth after the eaſt-wind: he daily increaſeth lies and deſolation, and they do make a covenant with the Aſſyrians, and oil is carried into Egypt. 2 The Lord hath alſo a controverſy with Judah, and will puniſh Jacob according to his ways; according to his doings will he recompenſe him. 3 He took his brother by the heel in the womb, and by his ſtrength he had power with God: 4 Yea, he had power over the angel, and prevailed: he wept and made ſupplication unto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he ſpake with us. 5 Even the Lord God of hoſts, the Lord is his memorial. 6 Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually. 7 He is a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to oppreſs. 8 And Ephraim ſaid, Yet I am become rich, I have found me out ſubſtance: in all my labours they ſhall find none iniquity in me, that were ſin. 9 And I that am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, will yet make thee to dwell in tabernacles, as in the days of the ſolemn feaſt. 10 I have alſo ſpoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied viſions, and uſed ſimilitudes, by the miniſtery of the prophets. 11 Is there iniquity in Gilead? ſurely they are vanity, they ſacrifice bullocks in Gilgal; yea, their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the fields. 12 And Jacob fled into the country of Syria, and Iſrael ſerved for a wife, and for a wife he kept ſheep. 13 And by a prophet the Lord brought Iſrael out of Egypt, and by a prophet was he preſerved. 14 Ephraim provoked him to anger moſt bitterly: therefore ſhall he leave his blood upon him: and his reproach ſhall his Lord return unto him.

Ephraim feedeth on Wind, and followeth the Eaſt Wind] A proverbial Expreſſion to ſignify Labour in vain, or purſuing ſuch Meaſures as will bring Damage rather than Benefit; compare Ch. viii. 7. The Eaſt Wind was a parching Wind, which blaſted the Fruit of the Earth; thence it denotes Deſolation and Deſtruction: See Ch. xii. 15.

They do make a Covenant with the Aſſyrians, and Oil carried into Egypt] At the ſame Time that they engage themſelves to be Tributaries to the King of Aſſyria, they underhand ſend Preſents to the King of Egypt, that he ſhould aſſiſt them in ſhaking off that Yoke. See 2 Kings xvii. 4. The Land of Judah had Plenty of excellent Oil. See Deut. viii. 8. Ezek. xxvii. 17.

He took his Brother by the Heel in the Womb] From the mentioning of Jacob in the foregoing Verſe, the Prophet takes Occaſion to put his Poſterity in mind of the particular Favours God had ſhewed him, and beſtowed upon his Poſterity for his Sake. His taking his Brother by the Heel in the Womb, denoted that he obtained the Right of the Firſt-born, and deprived his Brother of it.

He is a Merchant, &c.] Inſtead of keeping Mercy and Judgment, Ver. 6. he loves thoſe Frauds and Deceits too commonly practiſed in buying and ſelling; and forgets thoſe Laws of God which requires the Uſe of juſt Weights and Meaſures. See Levit. xix. 35, 36. Prov. xi. 1.

Will yet make thee dwell in Tabernacles] I will in After-times return thy Captivity, and give thee quiet Poſſeſſion of thy own Land again, where you ſhall thankfully acknowledge your former Delivery out of the Land of Egypt, and your Settlement in your own Country; which was the Intent of keeping the Feaſt of Tabernacles. See Levit. xxiii. 42, 43. 2 Macc. x. 6. It was a Feaſt obſerved with extraordinary Expreſſions of Joy by the Jews; as appears from Neh. viii. 17. Zech. xiv. 16. John vii. 37.

Is there Iniquity in Gilead? Surely they are Vanity] If we read the former Part of the Verſe with an Interrogation, it might be more ſignificantly rendered, Is there not Iniquity in Gilead? So the Particle Im ſignifies, Eſth. iv. 14. Jer. xxxi. 20. However, the Words are in Senſe a vehement Affirmation; importing that the Idolatry practiſed in Gilead (ſee Ch. vi. 8.) could not preſerve him from being carried away captive by Tiglath-Pileſer, 2 Kings xv. 29.

They ſacrifice Bullocks in Gilgal; yea, their Altars are as Heaps in the Furrows of the Field] Notwithſtanding this Judgment of God upon Gilead, and the Country on the other Side Jordan, they continue to offer Sacrifices to their Idols in Gilgal: See Ch. iv. 15. Their Altars ſtand ſo thick, that they are diſcernable as Stones gathered up and laid in Heaps in the Fields: See Ch. viii. 11. x. 1. Some underſtand the Sentence as containing a Threatning, that their Altars ſhould be demoliſhed, and become ſo many ruinous Heaps; 2 Kings xix. 25. The Word, Gulim, Heaps, alludes to Gilgal, juſt before mentioned, a Name derived from the ſame Original. Some Commentators explain the whole Verſe to this Senſe: That the whole Kingdom of Iſrael, that Part which is beyond Jordan, where Gilead ſtood, as well as the other Parts on this Side that River, and particularly Gilgal, are polluted with Idolatry.

Therefore ſhall he leave his Blood upon him] Or, his Blood ſhall return upon him, as the Chaldee Paraphraſe renders it; his Wickedneſs will be the Cauſe of his Deſtruction: See Ch. xiii. 9.

CHAP. XIII.

A Continuation of God's Threatnings for their Sins; to which are added gracious Promiſes of Deliverance of Death, to be fulfilled under the Goſpel.

Ver. 1. WHEN Ephraim ſpake, trembling he exalted himſelf in Iſrael; but when he offended in Baal, he died. 2 And now they ſin more and more, and have made them molten images of their ſilver, and idols according to their own underſtanding, all of it the work of the crafts-men: they ſay of them, Let the men that ſacrifice, kiſs the calves. 3 Therefore they ſhall be as the morning cloud, and as the early dew that paſſeth away, as the chaff that is driven with the whirlwind out of the floor, and as the ſmoke out of the chimney. 4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou ſhalt know no God but me: for there is no ſaviour beſide me. 5 I did know thee in the wilderneſs in the land of great drought. 6 According to their paſture, ſo were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore have they forgotten me. 7 Therefore I will be unto them as a lion; as a leopard by the way will I obſerve them. 8 I will meet them as a bear that is bereaved of her whelps, and will rent the caul of their heart, and there will I devour them like a lion: the wild beaſt ſhall tear them. 9 O Iſrael, thou haſt deſtroyed thyſelf, but in me is thine help. 10 I will be thy king: where is any other that may ſave thee in all thy cities? and thy judges of whom thou ſaidſt, Give me a king and princes? 11 I gave thee a king in mine anger, and took him away in my wrath. 12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up: his ſin is hid. 13 The ſorrows of a travailing woman ſhall come upon him, he is an unwiſe ſon, for he ſhould not ſtay long in the place of the breaking forth of children. 14 I will ranſom them from the power of the grave: I will redeem them from death, O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy deſtruction; repentance ſhall be hid from mine eyes. 15 Though he be fruitful among his brethren, an eaſt-wind ſhall come, the wind of the Lord ſhall come up from the wilderneſs, and his ſpring ſhall become dry, and his fountain ſhall be dried up: he ſhall ſpoil the treaſure of all pleaſant veſſels. 16 Samaria ſhall become deſolate, for ſhe hath rebelled againſt her God: they ſhall fall by the ſword; their infants ſhall be daſhed in pieces, and their women with child ſhall be ript up.

When Ephraim ſpake trembling, he exalted himſelf in Iſrael] While he behaved himſelf obediently toward God, he was reckoned among the principal Tribes in Iſrael. Here Ephraim is ſpoken of as diſtinct from Iſrael; in other Places he is put for the whole Kingdom of the Ten Tribes. See Ch. v. 3.

They ſay of them, Let the Men that ſacrifice kiſs the Calves] Compare 1 Kings xix. 18. The Word Adoration properly ſignifies kiſſing the Hand, and making Obeiſance to the Object of Worſhip. So Job deſcribes the antient Idolatries paid to the Heavenly Bodies, Ch. xxxi. 26. Afterward the ſame outward Act of Worſhip was paid to Images; as appears by a noted Paſſage at the Beginning of Minucius Felix's Octavius. Sometimes they kiſſed the Image itſelf; as appears by the Deſcription Cicero gives of Hercules's Image, which Verres had took away, Act. 4. in Verrem.

According to their Paſtures ſo were they filled, &c.] The more Care I took to provide plentifully for them, both before and after they came into the Land of Promiſe, the more perverſe they ſhewed themſelves toward me; their Pride made them forget me their great Benefactor. The Expreſſion alludes to Deut. viii. 12—14. See likewiſe Ch. xxii. 15.

I gave thee a King in mine Anger, and took him away in my Wrath] I complied with your Requeſt in giving you your firſt King Saul, tho' I was juſtly diſpleaſed at it: See 1 Sam. viii. 7. x. 19. And of later Times I have ſuffered you to ſet up new Kings, after you had murdered their Predeceſſors. See Ch. viii. 4. and now I will take your preſent King Hoſhea, and at the ſame Time put an End to your Kingdom and Nation.

The Iniquity of Ephraim is bound up, his Iniquity is hid] Our Tranſlators ſeem to underſtand the Verſe in a favourable Senſe, as if God had promiſed not to execute that Vengeance upon Iſrael which was due to their Sins: But the Words rather imply a contrary Meaning, and may be better tranſlated, The Iniquity of Ephraim is treaſured up, his Sin is laid up, i. e. it is laid up in my Memory; and tho' the Puniſhment due to it has been reſpited for ſome Time, yet the Seaſon is come when it ſhall be put in Execution. The Sentence is equivalent to that Expreſſion in Job, Ch. xiv. 17. My Tranſgreſſion is ſealed up in a Bag; i. e. thou keepeſt an exact Account of it, as Men do of Money, to be forth-coming at a proper Occaſion. To the ſame Purpoſe are thoſe Words of Moſes, Deut. xxxii. 34, 35. Is not this laid up in Store for me, and ſealed up among my Treaſures? To me belongs Vengeance, &c. Compare Rom. ii. 5.

He is an unwiſe Son; for he ſhould not ſtay in the Place of the breaking forth of Children] The old Tranſlation reads it to a plainer Senſe: Elſe he would not ſtand ſtill like a ſtill-born Child. As a Child, if it could be ſuppoſed to have Underſtanding, would deliver itſelf out of the Straits of the Womb, and not tarry there to the manifeſt Danger of itſelf and the Mother: Compare 2 Kings xix. 3. So if Ephraim, or Iſrael, had acted wiſely, they would have prevented their approaching Deſtruction by a ſpeedy Reformation.

O Death! I will be thy Plagues: O Grave! I will be thy Deſtruction] It is uſual with the Prophets when they foretel temporal Deliverances, to be carried away beyond their firſt Views by the Impetus of the prophetick Spirit, to predict the greater Mercies and Deliverances which belong to the Goſpel-State: So here the Prophet takes Occaſion, from foretelling temporal Mercies, to enlarge his Views, and ſet forth that great and final Deliverance of the Faithful from the Power of Sin and Death, which ſhall be completed by Chriſt at his ſecond Coming, when he ſhall ſwallow up Death in Victory, 1 Cor. xv. 54. St. Paul underſtood the Words in this Senſe, in the following Verſe of that Chapter: O Death! where is thy Sting? O Grave! where is thy Victory? This will appear to any one that compares that Place with the Septuagint Tranſlation here; the Word Ehi, tranſlated I will, they render where; as it ſignifies, Ver. 10. of this Chapter. The Apoſtle indeed ſeems to quote this Text from his Memory, and rather repreſents the Senſe of it, than keeps cloſe to the Letter. However, the learned Dr. Pococke is of Opinion, in his Comment upon this Place, that the Hebrew Word Debareka, rendered by our Interpreters, thy Plagues, and by the LXX, thy Plea, Sentence or Judgment, is very properly tranſlated, the Sting, by St. Paul; the Word denoting in Arabick, the ſharp Point of a Bird's Claw; and the Word Deborah, a Bee, being probably ſo called from its Sting.

CHAP. XIV.

An earneſt Exhortation to Repentance, with God's gracious Promiſes of Pardon and Bleſſing.

Ver. 1. O Iſrael, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou haſt fallen by thine iniquity. 2 Take with you words, and turn to the Lord, ſay unto him, Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciouſly: ſo will we render the calves of our lips. 3 Aſhur ſhall not ſave us; we will not ride upon horſes, neither will we ſay any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherleſs findeth mercy. 4 I will heal their back-ſliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him. 5 I will be as the dew unto Iſrael: he ſhall grow as the lily, and caſt forth his roots as Lebanon. 6 His branches ſhall ſpread, and his beauty ſhall be as the olive-tree, and his ſmell as Lebanon. 7 They that dwell under his ſhadow ſhall return, they ſhall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine: the ſcent thereof ſhall be as the wine of Lebanon. 8 Ephraim ſhall ſay, What have I to do any more with idols? I have heard him, and obſerved him: I am like a green fir-tree. From me is thy fruit found. 9 Who is wiſe, and he ſhall underſtand theſe things? prudent, and he ſhall know them? for the ways of the Lord are right, and the juſt ſhall walk in them: but the tranſgreſſors ſhall fall therein.

We will render thee the Calves of our Lips] Inſtead of the Sacrifices of Calves, or Bullocks, we will offer to thee the Sacrifice of Prayer and Thankſgiving; which is the Fruit of our Lips, our reaſonable Service, and ſuch as properly belongs to the Times of the Goſpel. So that this Form of Confeſſion will be moſt ſuitable to the Jews to uſe upon their Converſion to Chriſtianity. St. Paul applies the Words to the Euchariſt, Heb. xiii. 15. the true Chriſtian Sacrifice; and follows the Septuagint Tranſlation of them, which expreſſes the Senſe rather than the Words.

Aſſur ſhall not ſave us; we will not ride upon Horſes] The firſt Part of the People's Repentance is deſcribed as conſiſting in relying ſolely upon God's Protection, and not putting their Truſt in human Strength; and then in renouncing all idolatrous Worſhip. The Iſraelites had formerly made an Alliance with the Aſſyrians, ſee Ch. v. 13. viii. 9. xii. 1. and they are often upbraided by the Prophets for their courting foreign Alliances, and particularly ſtrengthening themſelves with Horſes from Egypt and Aſſyria: See Iſa. xxx. 16. xxxvi. 8. 2 Chron. xvi. 7.

The Scent thereof ſhall be as the Wine of Lebanon] As fragrant and as pleaſing as the richeſt Wines, ſuch as were made near Lebanon; where there was a City called by the Greeks Ampeloeſſa, for the Excellency of its Wine; as is related by Pliny, L. v. C. 18.

Ephraim ſhall ſay, What have I to do any more with Idols? I have heard and obſerved him] This Verſe contains a Dialogue between God and Ephraim, or Iſrael his People, (ſo Ch. v. 3.) after their Converſion. They begin with declaring their utter Averſion to Idolatry: See Ver. 3. To which God graciouſly replies, that he has heard them confeſſing their Sins, and expreſſing their Abhorrence of them; compare Jer. xxxi. 18. and will obſerve them, (for the Verb aſharena is in the future Tenſe) i. e. will guide them with the Eye of his Providence and Mercy, as the LXX and Chaldee Paraphraſe expreſs the Senſe.

I am like a green Fir-tree; from me is thy Fruit found] Ephraim or Iſrael gratefully acknowledges that he is in a flouriſhing Condition; and then God puts him in Mind that his Fruitfulneſs is wholly owing to the Divine Bleſſing. Naturaliſts obſerve, that the Fir-tree is of itſelf unfruitful.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet JOEL.

The ARGUMENT.

If it were certain that the Minor Prophets were placed in the Order of Time wherein they lived, we might conclude that Joel propheſied before Amos, who was Contemporary with Uzziah King of Judah. Archbiſhop Uſher, in his Annals, ad A. M. 3197, makes the ſame Inference, becauſe Joel foretels that Drought, Ch. i. which Amos mentions as actually come to paſs, Ch. iv. 7, 8, 9. But to that Argument it may be anſwered, that the Drought there ſpoken of might probably be peculiar to the Kingdom of Iſrael. And as to the Precedence which the preſent Hebrew Copies give to Joel, the LXX place him the Fourth in Order, and Amos and Micah before him.

If we conſider the main Deſign of his Prophecy, we ſhall be apt to conclude, that it was uttered after the Captivity of the Ten Tribes; for he directs his Diſcourſe only to Judah, and ſpeaks diſtinctly of the Sacrifices and Oblations that were daily made in the Temple. Iſrael is indeed mentioned, Ch. iii. 2. but it is in relation to future Times, not to their preſent Condition at the Time when Joel propheſied.

CHAP. I.

A Deſcription of a terrible Famine that was coming upon the Land; with an Exhortation to proclaim a Faſt to be obſerved by the People.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord that came to Joel the ſon of Pethuel. 2 Hear this, ye old men, and give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land: hath this been in your days, or even in the days of your fathers? 3 Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children, and their children another generation. 4 That which the palmer-worm hath left, hath the locuſt eaten; and that which the locuſt hath left, hath the canker-worm eaten; and that which the canker-worm hath left, hath the caterpillar eaten. 5 Awake ye drunkards, and weep, and howl all ye drinkers of wine, becauſe of the new wine, for it is cut off from your mouth. 6 For a nation is come up upon my land, ſtrong, and without number, whoſe teeth are the teeth of a lion, and he hath the cheek-teeth of a great lion. 7 He hath laid my vine waſte, and barked my fig-tree: he hath made it clean bare, and caſt it away, the branches thereof are made white. 8 Lament like a virgin girded with ſackcloth for the huſband of her youth. 9 The meat-offering, and the drink-offering is cut off from the houſe of the Lord; the prieſts the Lords miniſters mourn. 10 The field field is wasted, the land mourneth; for the corn is wasted: the new wine is dried up, the oil languisheth. 11 Be ye ashamed, O ye husbandmen: howl, O ye vine-dressers, for the wheat and for the barley; because the harvest of the field is perished. 12 The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree languisheth, the pomegranate-tree, the palm-tree also, and the apple-tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: because joy is withered away from the sons of men. 13 Gird yourselves, and lament, ye priests: howl, ye ministers of the altar: come, lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meat-offering and the drink-offering is withholden from the house of your God. 14 Sanctify ye a fast, call a solemn assembly, gather the elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord. 15 Alas for the day: for the day of the Lord is at hand, and as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come. 16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes, yea, joy and gladness from the house of our God? 17 The seed is rotten under their clods, the garners are laid desolate, the barns are broken down; for the corn is withered. 18 How do the beasts groan? the herds of cattel are perplexed, because they have no pasture; yea, the flocks of sheep are made desolate. 19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt all the trees of the field. 20 The beasts of the field cry also unto thee: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

Hear ye this, ye old Men, and give Ear all ye Inhabitants of the Land, &c.] The Prophet shews how great and unparallelled this Dearth, by appealing to the Memory of the Antients, and the Observation of the present Generation, whether they ever knew or heard of any Thing like it; so that it deserved to be recorded as a Warning to After-ages. Compare Chap. ii. 2.

For a Nation is come upon my Land, strong and without Number] Insects are described as a Nation, or a People marching in order under their Leaders, both by sacred and prophane Writers, because of their Power to do Mischief, and their being irresistible both by human Strength or Art. Compare Ch. ii. 2, 25. Prov. xxx. 25, 26, 27.

He hath laid my Vine waste, and barked my Fig-tree, &c.] Bochart observes out of Pliny and other Writers, that Locusts and such noxious Creatures will not only destroy the Leaves and the Fruit, but even devour the very Bark and the Stock of those Trees upon which they fasten. Compare Ver. 12. The Word translated barked, is read but in this one Place of the Bible; so the LXX, and some others, render it to break off, and understand it of the upper Branches of the Tree; in which Sense it is used in the Arabick Language.

Lament like a Virgin girded with Sackcloth for the Husband of her Youth] The Words are an Apostrophe to the Land of Judea: The Prophet puts her in mind that she ought to be deeply affected with the sore Stroke of the Divine Vengeance, and express her inward Sense of those Calamities, with the same outward Expressions of Mourning, as a young Virgin that was betrothed to an Husband, and should lose him before they had lived together, would lament such an untimely Loss. It was common among the Jews, for Persons who were espoused, to spend some Time together in the House of the Woman's Friends, before the Husband took her Home, to live as Man and Wife together: See Gen. xix. 14. The Husband of her Youth is a Woman's first Husband, called elsewhere the Guide of her Youth, Prov. ii. 17. Jer. iii. 4. As the Wife of his Youth, Mal. ii. 15. is the first Wife.

The Fire hath devoured the Pastures of the Wilderness] The fiery Drought hath burnt up all the Pasture Grounds: See Ch. ii. 3. The Wilderness is sometimes opposed to the Hills or Mountains, and then it signifies the Plains; see Isa. lxiii. 13. Jer. ix. 10.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet describes the Locusts, and other noxious Insects, which were the Cause of the Famine; continues to exhort the People to Repentance, and shews the happy Consequent of it.

Ver. 1. BLOW ye the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord cometh, for it is nigh at hand; 2 A day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread upon the mountains: a great people and a strong, there hath not been ever the like, neither shall be any more after it, even to the years of many generations. 3 A fire devoureth before them, and behind them a flame burneth: the land is as the garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness, yea, and nothing shall escape them. 4 The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses, and as horsemen, so shall they run. 5 Like the noise of chariots on the tops of mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, as a strong people set in battel aray. 6 Before their face the people shall be much pained: all faces shall gather blackness. 7 They shall run like mighty men, they shall climb the wall like men of war, and they shall march every one on his ways, and they shall not break their ranks: 8 Neither shall one thrust another, they shall walk every one in his path: and when they fall upon the sword, they shall not be wounded. 9 They shall run to and fro in the city, they shall run upon the wall, they shall climb up upon the houses: they shall enter in at the windows like a thief. 10 The earth shall quake before them, the heavens shall tremble, the sun and the moon shall be dark, and the stars shall withdraw their shining; 11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his army: for his camp is very great: for he is strong that executeth his word, for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it? 12 Therefore also now, saith the Lord, turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning. 13 And rent your heart and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil. 14 Who knoweth if he will return and repent, and leave a blessing behind him, even a meat-offering and a drink-offering unto the Lord your God? 15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly, 16 Gather the people: sanctify the congregation: assemble the elders: gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet. 17 Let the priests, the ers of the Lord, weep between the porch and he altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people,

O Lord, and give not thine heritage to reproach; that the heathen ſhould rule over them:
herefore ſhould they ſay among the people,
Where is their God? 18 Then will the Lord be ealous for his land, and pity his people. 19
Yea, the Lord will anſwer and ſay unto his people, Behold, I will ſend you corn, and wine, nd oil, and ye ſhall be ſatisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen. 20 But I will remove far off from ou the northern army, and will drive him into a and barren and deſolate, with his face toward he eaſt-ſea, and his hinder part towards the ut-moſt ſea; and his ſtink ſhall come up, and his ill avour ſhall come up, becauſe he hath done reat things. 21 Fear not, O land; be glad nd rejoice: for the Lord will do great things.
22 Be not afraid, ye beaſts of the field: for the aſtures of the wilderneſs do ſpring, for the tree eareth her fruit, the fig-tree and the vine do ield their ſtrength. 23 Be glad then ye chilren of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cauſe to come down for ou the rain, the former rain, and the latter ain in the firſt month. 24 And the floors ſhall e full of wheat, and the fats ſhall overflow with ine and oil. 25 And I will reſtore to you the ears that the locuſt hath eaten, the cankerworm, and the caterpillar, and the palmer-worm, my great army which I ſent among you.
26 And ye ſhall eat in plenty, and be ſatisfied, nd praiſe the name of the Lord your God that ath dealt wondrouſly with you: and my people hall never be aſhamed. 27 And ye ſhall know hat I am in the midſt of Iſrael, and that I am he Lord your God, and none elſe: and my people ſhall never be aſhamed. 28 And it ſhall come o paſs afterward, that I will pour out my Spirit pon all fleſh, and your ſons and your daugh-ers ſhall propheſy, your old men ſhall dream reams, your young men ſhall ſee viſions. 29
And alſo upon the ſervants and upon the handmaids in thoſe days, will I pour out my Spirit.
30 And I will ſhew wonders in the heavens, and n the earth, blood and fire, and pillars of ſmoke.
31 The ſun ſhall be turned into darkneſs, and he moon into blood, before the great and the errible day of the Lord come. 32 And it ſhall come to paſs that whoſoever ſhall call on the name of the Lord ſhall be delivered: for in mount Zion and in Jeruſalem ſhall be deliver-nce, as the Lord hath ſaid, and in the remnant whom the Lord ſhall call.

Blow the Trumpet in Zion, and ſound an Alarm in my holy Mountain] The Prophet deſcribes the Locuſts and the Caterpillars as God's Army, Ver. 11. in purſuance of which Metaphor he exhorts the People to prepare to meet them, in the ſame Terms as if they were alarmed to encounter an Enemy, which was by ſounding of a Trumpet. This Ceremony was alſo uſed to publiſh the Times of the ſolemn Aſſemblies for the Worſhip of God. See Numb. x. 3, 9, 10. And this is the chief Uſe they were to make of it upon this Occaſion; ſee Ver. 15. For there was no other Way to avert the impending Judgment, but humbling themſelves before God with Faſting and Prayer: See ib.

A Day of Darkneſs, and Gloominеſs, a Day of Clouds and thick Darkneſs, as the Morning ſpread upon the Mountains] A Day wherein every Thing will look dark and diſmal: See Am. v. 18, 20. The Locuſts will intercept the Light of the Sun, and diffuſe a Darkneſs over the Land, in as ſwift a Manner as the Light ſpreads itſelf in the Morning. Travellers inform us, that theſe Inſects will of a ſudden cover the Sky like a Cloud. The LXX and Chaldee Paraphraſe join this Sentence to the following Words, As the Morning ſpread upon the Mountains, a People great and terrible ——

There has not been ever the like, &c.] The Locuſts which plagued Egypt are deſcribed after the ſame Manner, Exod. x. 14. Before them there were no ſuch Locuſts, neither after them ſhall be ſuch. In both Places we are to take it for a proverbial Expreſſion, to ſet forth the extraordinary Greatneſs of the Judgment, and not to underſtand it too ſtrictly according to the Grammatical Senſe of the Word. So we read of Hezekiah, that after him was none like him, among all the Kings of Judah, nor any that went before him, 2 Kings xviii. 5. and yet the ſame Character is given to Joſiah, ib. Ch. xxiii. 25.

The Appearance of them is as the Appearance of Horſes] See the ſame Compariſon Rev. ix. 7. Bochart obſerves that Locuſts reſemble Horſes, not only in their Swiftneſs, but alſo in the Shape of their Heads.

Like the Noiſe of Chariots on the Tops of the Mountains ſhall they leap] Compare Rev. ix. 9. Chariots were antiently a Part of the warlike Preparations, as appears by many Paſſages in Scripture. The Text ſays, that theſe Locuſts ſhall reſemble them in their Swiftneſs, Noiſe and Terror: Their Wings make ſuch a Noiſe, as if they were winged Fowls, ſaith Pliny in his Natural Hiſtory, L. xi. C. 29.

Neither ſhall they thruſt one another, they ſhall walk every one in his Path, &c.] Of the regular and orderly Motion of theſe Inſects, St. Jerome gives this Account from his own Experience, in his Notes upon the Place, Hoc nuper in hâc Provinciâ vidimus, &c. 'This 'we lately ſaw in our Part of the Country: For when 'Swarms of Locuſts came and filled the lower Region 'of the Air, they flew in ſuch Order, by the Divine 'Appointment, and kept their Places as exactly, as 'when ſeveral Tiles or party-coloured Stones are ſkil-'fully placed in a Pavement, ſo as not to be a Hair's 'breadth out of their ſeveral Ranks.'

And when they fall upon the Sword, they ſhall not be wounded] By reaſon of their Nimbleneſs, and the outward Coat of their Skin being ſo hard and ſmooth, no offenſive Weapon can touch them.

They ſhall run to and fro in the City, they ſhall run upon the Wall, &c.] We may have Recourſe to St. Jerome again for explaining this Paſſage: Nihil locuſtis invium eſt, &c. 'Every Place, ſaith he, lies open to 'them; for they infect not only the Fields and the 'Fruits of the Earth, but creep into Cities, Houſes, 'and the moſt ſecret Receſſes.'

And the Lord ſhall utter his Voice before his Army] Like a Leader or General, he ſhall encourage this his Army, and can make the meaneſt Parts of the Creation the Inſtruments of his Vengeance. God's Voice ſometimes denotes his Anger; the moſt terrible Way of declaring his Will is, when he ſpeaks to us by his Judgments. Compare Chap. iii. 16. Am. i. 2. Jer. xxv. 30.

That the Heathen ſhould rule over them] This Tranſlation of the Hebrew Word Maſhal, favours their Interpretation, who expound the Army deſcribed at the Beginning of the Chapter, of an hoſtile Invaſion: But if we underſtand thoſe Expreſſions only as a Metaphorical Deſcription of that grievous Deſtruction the Locuſts and other venemous Inſects ſhould make in the Land (which ſeems to be the true Expoſition) then this Sentence is to be tranſlated, That the Heathen ſhould uſe a By-word againſt them, as our Margin reads it; ſhould make them the Subject of their Scorn and Deriſion, as if they were forſaken by the God whom they worſhipped; and the Verb Maſhal is indifferently taken in either Signification. See Deut. xxviii. 37.

But I will remove from you the Northern Army, &c.]

The Locusts are described like an Army in the former Part of the Chapter. See Ver. 11. and here they are called the Northern Army, because they entred into the Land at Hamath, one of the Northern Borders of it, and pass'd quite through it, till they came to the Southern Parts about the Lake Asphaltites, which was barren and desolate ever since the Overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrha; and there they were either famished or devoured in the Lake, as the Egyptians were in the Red Sea, Exod. x. 9.

With his Face toward the East Sea, and his hinder Part toward the utmost Sea] Here the Lake of Asphaltites, or the Sea of Sodom, is called the East Sea (compare Ezek. xlvii. 8, 18. Zech. xiv. 8.) and opposed to the utmost or Western Sea, which is the Mediterranean Sea. See Deut. xi. 24.

And his Stink shall come up] St. Jerome, upon the Place, relates, That in his own Time, the Heaps of Locusts that were driven by the Winds into the Sea, afterwards putrified upon the Shore, and so corrupted the Air, as to bring a Pestilence.

For he hath given you the former Rain moderately] The Season for the former Rain was about the Middle of our October. The Hebrew Word rendered moderately, literally signifies according to Righteousness, and is equivalent with according to Judgment; Jer. x. 23. or, in Measure, Jer. xxx. 11. but some Interpreters translate it here plentifully. Our Margin reads, a Teacher of Righteousness; which Sense is followed by the Chaldee Paraphrast, and the vulgar Latin, and may be a proper Introduction to the Promise which follows, Ver. 28. of pouring God's Spirit upon all Flesh.

And the latter Rain in the first Month] Which was Nisan; partly answering to our March. The regular Season for this Rain was three Months before Harvest, Am. iv. 7. i. e. before Wheat-Harvest; which was later than Barley-Harvest in Judea. See Ruth ii. 23. 2 Sam. xxi. 9.

And it shall come to pass afterward] Or, in the last Days, as St. Peter explains the Phrase, Acts ii. 17. by which Expression Manasseh Ben Israel tells us, that all their wise Men understood the Times of the Messias: See the Bishop of Litchfield's Def. of the antient Prophecies, P. 123. So afterward and in the latter Days, are equivalent, Dan. ii. 28, 45.

I will pour out my Spirit upon all Flesh] The plentiful Effusion of the Holy Spirit is mentioned by the Prophets as a peculiar Character of the Gospel-State; and it is elsewhere compared to the pouring Waters upon thirsty Land, whereby it becomes fruitful. See Isa. xliv. 3. liv. 13. Jer. xxxi. 34. Ezek. xxxvi. 27. Compare with John vii. 39. So this Text, in Analogy to other parallel Places, is very fitly applied to the Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the first Believers, Acts ii. 17. All Flesh comprehends the Gentiles as well as the Jews; which Promise we see was punctually fulfilled, Acts x. 44. xi. 17. The Expression of the last Days, is another Indication that this Prophecy belongs to the Times of the Messias; for the Jews agree, that this Prophecy was sealed up with Malachi, and not to be restored till the Days of the Messias.

But, says Lowth, we need not confine this Prophecy to those early Times; but since many Prophecies have gradual Completions, we may suppose this Prophecy to imply, that there shall be another remarkable Effusion of the Spirit bestowed upon the Jews, in order to their Conversion in the latter Times of the World. See Isa. lix. 13. and Ezek. xxxix. 29. This Exposition agrees very well with some Expressions in this Prophecy, and makes a clearer Connection with the following Chapter.

Your Sons and your Daughters shall prophesy] The Gift of Prophecy was bestowed upon some Women under the Old Testament; as upon Miriam, Exod. xv. 20. Deborah, Judg. iv. 14. and Huldah, 2 Kings xxii. 14. But this Gift was more frequently poured upon them in the Times of the New. Thus we read of four Daughters of Philip the Evangelist, who did prophesy; Acts xxi. 9. and Church History affords us several other Instances; such as Perpetua, and Felicitas, who were Martyrs for the Christian Faith, Potamiana, mentioned by Eusebius, L. iv. C. 5. and others.

Your young Men shall see Visions] In Visions, the inspired Person was awake; but his external Senses being bound up, and, as it were, laid in a Trance, (see Numb. xxiv. 4.) he had a distinct Knowledge of the Things revealed to him, and that sometimes accompanied with external Representations; such was that Vision of St. Peter's, mentioned Acts x. 11. From Visions being applied to young Men, and Dreams to old, some have observed, that the Imagination is stronger in those that are young, than in the old; so that their Senses need not be bound up with Sleep, in order to make them capable of receiving heavenly Visions.

And I will shew Wonders in the Heaven, and in the Earth, &c.] This and the following Verse, principally point out the Destruction of the City and Temple of Jerusalem by the Romans, a Judgment inflicted on the Jewish Nation for their resisting the Holy Spirit, and Contempt of the Means of Grace. So Malachi, after he had foretold the Coming of the Messias, Ch. iii. 1. immediately adds, that his Coming should be attended with terrible Judgments upon the Disobedient ib. Ver. 2, 3, 5. and Ch. iv. 1.

For in Mount Sion, and in Jerusalem shall be Deliverance] The Gospel is described as taking its Rise from Jerusalem, and from thence being spread abroad into the World: See Ps. cx. 2. Isa. ii. 3. Accordingly Christ ordered his Disciples to preach the Gospel to all Nations, beginning at Jerusalem; Luke xxiv. 47. The Words may also imply, that the Christian Church often denoted by Mount Sion and Jerusalem, is the only Place of Salvation. See Obad. Ver. 17.

CHAP. III.

The Restoration of the Jews foretold, the Destruction of their Enemies, and the glorious State of the Church that should follow.

Ver. 1. FOR behold, in those days and in that time when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, 2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people, and for my heritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations, and parted my land. 3 And they have cast lots for my people, and have given a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that they might drink. 4 Yea, and what have ye to do with me, O Tyre and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestine? will ye render me a recompence? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I return your recompence upon your own head. 5 Because ye have taken my silver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly pleasant things. 6 The children also of Judah, and the children of Jerusalem have ye sold unto the Grecians, that ye might remove them far from their border. 7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place whither ye have sold them, and will return your recompence upon your own head. 8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people far off; for the Lord hath spoken it. 9 Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles: prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near, let them come up. 10 Beat your plow-shares into swords and your pruning-hooks into spears; let the weak say, I am strong. 11 Assemble yourselves and come all ye heathen, and gather yourselves together together round about: thither cauſe thy mighty ones to come down, O Lord. 12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to judge all the heathen round about. 13 Put ye in the ſickle, for the harveſt is ripe; come, get ye down, for the preſs is full, the fats overflow, for their wickedneſs is great. 14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of deciſion: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of deciſion. 15 The ſun and the moon ſhall be darkened, and the ſtars ſhall withdraw their ſhining. 16 The Lord alſo ſhall roar out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem, and the heavens and the earth ſhall ſhake; but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael. 17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, my holy mountain: then ſhall Jeruſalem be holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers paſs through her any more. 18 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the mountains ſhall drop down new wine, and the hills ſhall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah ſhall flow with waters, and a fountain ſhall come forth of the houſe of the Lord, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim. 19 Egypt ſhall be a deſolation, and Edom ſhall be a deſolate wilderneſs, for the violence againſt the children of Judah, becauſe they have ſhed innocent blood in their land. 20 But Judah ſhall dwell for ever, and Jeruſalem from generation to generation. 21 For I will cleanſe their blood that I have not cleanſed, for the Lord dwelleth in Zion.

For behold, in thoſe Days, and at that Time] The Time called the laſt Days, Ch. ii. 28. according to St. Paul's Interpretation, Acts ii. 17. which comprehends all that Time which reaches from the Firſt to the Second Appearance of the Meſſias. See Iſa. ii. 1. The Context ſhews that here is meant the latter Part of theſe laſt Days or Times.

When I ſhall bring again the Captivity of Judah and Jeruſalem] This is to be underſtood of the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation and their Capital City, which ſhall be brought to paſs in the latter Times of the World, according to many Predictions of the Prophets. The Prophet's mentioning only the Kingdom or Tribe of Judah, is a probable Argument that he was of that Tribe, and lived after the Captivity of the Ten Tribes.

I will alſo gather all Nations, and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoſhaphat] The Prophets ſpeak of a general Diſcomfiture of God's Enemies, in ſome deciſive Battle before the General Judgment; ſee Iſa. lxvi. 16. Such probably is the Battle of Gog and Magog, deſcribed Ezek. xxxix. and that of Armageddon, ſpoken of Rev. xvi. 14, 16. The Place of this remarkable Action is called the Valley of Jehoſhaphat; as if the Prophet had ſaid, the Place where the Lord will execute Judgment; for ſo the Word Jehoſhaphat ſignifies in the Original. So the Valley of Jezreel, Hoſ. i. 4. means where God's Arm or Strength will exert itſelf. The Expreſſion likewiſe alludes to the Valley of Berachah; as it was afterwards called, 2 Chron. xx. 26. which was famous for the Victory Jehoſaphat and his People obtained there over a great Confederacy of their Enemies. This Valley was not far from Jeruſalem, if it be the ſame with that deſcribed, Zech. xiv. 4.

Will ye render me a Recompence?] Do you think to vent your Spite againſt me by way of Retaliation for the Evils you have ſuffered from my People? Hardened Sinners come to that Degree of deſperate Boldneſs, as to proclaim Enmity againſt God, and ſhew their Reſentment toward him, for the hard Uſage they think they have received at his Hands. So Homer deſcribes Achilles's fierce Temper, at the Beginning of the 22d Iliad, thus ſpeaking to Apollo; —— Were it in my Power, my vengeful Arm ſhould ſoon return the Wrong.

The Children alſo of Judah, and the Children of Jeruſalem have ye ſold unto the Grecians] It was cuſtomary for the Merchants of the neighbouring Countries, (ſuch were thoſe of Tyre and Sidon here ſpoken of) to buy the Children of Iſrael for Slaves, of their Conquerors, in order to ſell them again: See 1 Macc. iii. 41. It is ſaid particularly of Javan, i. e. Greece, that they dealt in that Sort of Traffick of buying and ſelling of Slaves, Ezek. xxvii. 13. The Hiſtories which relate the Calamities of the Jews, ſpeak of great Numbers of them made Captives, and then ſold and diſperſed into foreign Countries: So 40,000 of them were ſold by Antiochus Epiphanes, 2 Macc. v. 14. and the greateſt Part of 97,000 at the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus.

And I will ſell your Sons and your Daughters into the Hands of the Children of Judah] This might probably come to paſs, when Alexander, after the taking of Tyre, ſold 91,000 of the Inhabitants for Slaves. Gaza, a conſiderable City upon the Coaſt of Paleſtine, (ſee Ver. 4.) at the ſame Time was ſacked, and the Women and Children ſold for Slaves. See Dr. Prideaux's Connect. of Script. Hiſt. Part i. B. 7.

Thither cauſe thy mighty ones to come down, O Lord] Thy mighty Angels, to diſcomfit their Enemies. Angels are often deſcribed as mighty in Strength: See Pſ. lxxviii. 25. ciii. 20. Rev. x. 1. and here they are ſpoken of as choſen Warriors proper to execute any Enterprize; as they are directed by God. Compare xiii. 3. and Ver. 13. of this Chapter.

Put ye in the Sickle, for the Harveſt is ripe] God will give his Commands to the Angels, who are the Reapers, Matt. xiii. 39. to cut off the Wicked by a ſpeedy Deſtruction; for their Iniquities are come to Maturity, and are ripe for Judgment. Compare Jer. li. 33. Hoſ. vi. 11. Matt. xiii. 38—41. Rev. xiv. 15.

Come, get you down, for the Preſs is full, &c.] The Angels are again commanded to go down from Heaven to the Valley of Deciſion, Ver. 14. The LXX, and the Chaldee Paraphraſe, render the Words, come, tread, deriving the Hebrew Word from Radah, which Verb ſtill retains that Senſe in the Arabick, as Dr. Pocock informs us.

Multitudes, Multitudes in the Valley of Deciſion] This makes it probable, that the Battle here ſpoken of is that of Gog and Magog, deſcribed Ezek. xxxviii, and xxxix. for there the Valley where Gog is ſaid to be buried, is called Hamon Gog, i. e. the Multitude of Gog, Ch. xxxix. 11. The Valley of Deciſion is the ſame as the Valley of Jehoſhaphat above-mentioned, the Place where the great Cauſe ſhall be decided betwixt God and his Enemies.

Then ſhall Jeruſalem be holy, and there ſhall no Stranger paſs through her any more] This Character belongs to the New Jeruſalem. Compare Iſa. xxxv. 8. lii. 1. lx. 11. Rev. xxi. 27. or it may be underſtood of the earthly Jeruſalem, as the Metropolis of the converted Jews. As the Inhabitants themſelves ſhall be Holy, ſo the City ſhall be called the Holy City, as in former Times it was: See Dan. ix. 16. Zech. viii. 3. Compare Iſa. xxiv. 23. Mic. iv. 17. Obad. Ver. 17. It ſhall no more be ſubject to be oppreſſed or polluted by Unbelievers. Compare Nah. i. 15.

The Mountains ſhall drop down new Wine, and the Hills ſhall flow with Milk] In the Milennium State there ſhall be Plenty of all Things. Vines were uſually planted upon Hills; (ſee Iſa. v. 1. Pſ. lxxx. 11.) theſe ſhall yield ſuch Plenty of Wine, as if the Mountains flowed down with it. The Flocks and the Herds that feed upon the Hills, ſhall afford the ſame Plenty of Milk. Compare Am. ix. 14.

And a Fountain ſhall come forth of the Houſe of the Lord] The Supplies of Grace are often repreſented by Rivers and plentiful Streams, both upon Account of their cleanſing Quality, as well as becauſe they enrich the Ground, and make it fruitful. Compare Iſa. xliv. 3. Ezek. xlvii. 1—11. Zech. xiii. 7. xiv. 8. This Fountain

Fountain is ſaid to come forth of the Houſe of the Lord; implying, that the Church is the Spring from whence all the Means of Grace are communicated to Believers.

And water the Valley of Shittim] So the Holy Waters, Ezek. xlvii. are deſcribed as running from the Altar as far as the Dead Sea, or the Lake Aſphaltites; the Eaſt Part of which bordered upon the Country of Moab, within whoſe Border was the Valley of Shittim; ſee Ver. 8, 10. of that Chapter. This denotes the plentiful Iſſues of Divine Grace; an Emblem of which was the Streams that iſſued out of the Rock, and followed the Iſraelites thro' a great Part of the Wilderneſs, 1 Cor. x. 4.

For I will cleanſe their Blood that I have not cleanſed] I will thoroughly cleanſe them from their Sins and Pollutions; neither ſhall they riſe up any more in Judgment againſt them. The Word Blood may ſignify Pollution in general; ſee Iſa. iv. 3. Ezek. xvi. 6. But the Words chiefly import, that God will pardon the Jews the great Crime of ſhedding the Blood of Chriſt, upon their ſincere Repentance; the Guilt of which they had imprecated upon themſelves and their Poſterity, Matt. xxvi. 15. and had felt the viſible Effects of God's Diſpleaſure upon that Account for ſeveral Ages.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet AMOS.

The ARGUMENT.

Amos was Contemporary with Hoſea, tho' he did not probably live ſo long, and flouriſhed in the Reigns of Uzziah, King of Judah, and Jeroboam the IId. King of Iſrael, but died before that of Hezekiah, and the Captivity of the Ten Tribes. St. Jerome gives him this Character, that tho' he was rude in Speech, yet not in Knowledge. Several of his Expreſſions are taken from ſuch Obſervations as are ſuitable to the Employment of a Shepherd: As, when he compares God's Anger to the Roaring of a Lion, Ch. i. 2. iii. 8. and the Gigantick Stature of the Amorites to the Height of Oaks and Cedars, Ch. ii. 9. alſo Ch. v. 8. But ſtill there are many beautiful Paſſages in this Prophecy, where the Expreſſions are very elegant, and the Pathos or Rhetorick very moving: Such are Ch. ii. 9, 10, 11. iv. 6, &c. v. 6—9. vi. 1—7. viii. 8, 10. ix. 2—6.

CHAP. I.

In this, and the Beginning of the ſecond Chapter, the Prophet denounces God's Judgments againſt the Countries bordering upon Judea; and then propheſies againſt Judea itſelf.

Ver. 1. THE words of Amos, who was among the herdmen of Tekoa, which he ſaw concerning Iſrael, in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh king of Iſrael, two years before the earthquake. 2 And he ſaid, The Lord will roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem: and the habitations of the ſhepherds ſhall mourn, and the top of Carmel ſhall wither. 3 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for four I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof: becauſe they have threſhed Gilead with threſhing-inſtruments of iron. 4 But I will ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, which ſhall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad. 5 I will break alſo the bar of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant from the plain of Aven, and him that holdeth the ſceptre from the houſe of Eden: and the people of Syria ſhall go into captivity unto Kir, ſaith the Lord. 6 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Gaza, and for four I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof: becauſe they carried away captive the whole captivity, to deliver them up to Edom. 7 But I will ſend a fire on the wall of Gaza, which ſhall devour the palaces thereof. 8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aſhdod, and him that holdeth the ſceptre from Aſhkelon, and I will turn mine hand againſt Ekron, and the remnant of the Philiſtines ſhall periſh, ſaith the Lord God. 9 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for four I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof: becauſe they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom, and remembred not the brotherly covenant. 10 But I will ſend a fire on the wall of Tyrus, which ſhall devour the palaces thereof. 11 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Edom, and for four I will not turn away the puniſhment thereof: becauſe he did purſue his brother with the ſword, and did caſt off all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, and kept his wrath for ever. 12 But I will ſend a fire upon Teman, which ſhall devour the palaces of Bozrah. 13 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for four I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they have ript up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border. 14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battel, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind. 15 And their king shall go into captivity, he, and his princes together, saith the Lord.

The Words of Amos, who was among the Herd-men of Tekoah] See Ch. vii. 4. Tekoah was in the Tribe of Judah, six Miles from Bethlehem, as St. Jerome informs us, who lived near it. The Wilderness of Tekoah, mentioned 2 Chron. xx. 20. made it a convenient Place for keeping Cattle.

Two Years before the Earthquake] Amos uttered his Prophecy at that Time, tho' it is probable he did not commit his Book, or Collection of Prophecies, to Writing, till after the Earthquake mentioned here, and again Zech. xiv. 15. where it is said to have happened in the Days of Uzziah. Josephus relates it as a Tradition among the Jews, that this Earthquake was sent as a Punishment for Uzziah's Presumption in invading the Priest's Office, for which he himself was struck with Leprosy, as we read 2 Chron. xxvi. 18, 19. and the whole City was terribly shaken with an Earthquake. This Judgment the Jews suppose to have befallen Uzziah in the 15th Year of his Reign; but Archbishop Usher, in his Annals, ad A. M. 3221. and other later Chronologers, think it did not happen till the latter Part of Uzziah's Life and Reign, because his Son Jotham took upon him the Government, who was not born till after Jeroboam's Death: So the Earthquake must have happened some Time before Uzziah's quitting the Government to his Son.

And the Habitations of the Shepherds shall mourn, and the Top of Carmel shall wither] The Want of Pasture here threatned, was occasioned by the Drought, which is foretold, Ch. iv. 7, 8. Carmel was a mountainous Tract of Ground, which ran thro' the two Tribes of Issachar and Zebulun; it is spoken of as one of the most fruitful Places in all Judea: See Isa. xxxiii. 9. xxxv. 2. upon which Account the Word is sometimes taken appellatively, and translated a fruitful Field, Isa. x. 18. xxix. 17.

For three Transgressions of Damascus, and for four, I will not turn away the Punishment thereof] The Prophet begins with denouncing his Judgments against Foreign Countries, and then comes to Judah and Israel. The first he threatens is Syria, the Head or Capital City of which was Damascus; for the several Transgressions they had committed, expressed by Three Transgressions and Four. It is a common Way of speaking to use a certain Number for an uncertain. So we read Job v. 19. He shall deliver thee in six Troubles, yea, in seven no Evil shall touch thee. See the like Phrase, Prov. vi. 16. Eccles. xi. 2. Mic. v. 5. So once and twice are used, Ps. lxxii. 11. twice and thrice, Job xxxiii. 29.

Because they have threshed Gilead with threshing Instruments of Iron] The Way of Threshing in the Eastern Countries, was by drawing heavy Planks with iron Wheels over the Corn, having sharp Stones fastened on the Boards. From whence the Phrase is used to signify the Weak being crushed by the Mighty. See Isa. xli. 15. Jer. li. 33. Here it denotes the Cruelties exercised by Hazael and Benhadad, Kings of Syria: See 2 Kings x. 32, 33. xiii. 3—7. where the sacred Historian, speaking in the Phrase of the Text, saith, that he made them like the Dust by threshing.

And cut off the Inhabitant from the Place of Aven] Or, Bikath Aven: The Word signifies the Place of Vanity; from whence some conjecture it was a Place in Syria remarkable for Idolatry; as Bethel is called Beth-aven for the same Reason.

And him that holdeth the Sceptre from the House of Eden] The House of Eden is equivalent to the House of Pleasure: So it may denote one of the pleasant Palaces belonging to the King of Syria, described by, him that holdeth that Sceptre. But Eden was likewise a Country bordering upon Syria, mentioned 2 Kings xix. 12. Ezek. xxvii. 23. Mr. Maundrell in his Travels observes, that not far from Damascus, there is a Plain still called the Valley of Bocat, which he supposes the same with Bikath-aven here mentioned; and there is a Place at this Time called Eden near it.

Him that holdeth the Sceptre — and the People of Syria, shall go into Captivity together] This was fulfilled when Tiglath-Pileser took Damascus, and carried the People of it captive to Kir, and slew Rezin their King, 2 Kings xvi. 9. Kir was a City in Media, mentioned Isa. xxii. 6. The vulgar Latin renders it Cyrene, both here and in the second of Kings, but that does not appear to have been under the King of Syria's Dominion.

And remembred not the brotherly Covenant] That strict League and Friendship begun between David and Hiram King of Tyre, 2 Sam. v. 11. and afterward continued by Solomon, 1 Kings v. 1. ix. 11.

CHAP. II.

After two short Denunciations against Moab and Judah, the Prophet proceeds to denounce God's Judgments against Israel.

Ver. 1. THUS saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for four I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because he burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime. 2 But I will send a fire upon Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of Kirioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet. 3 And I will cut off the judge from the midst thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord. 4 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Judah, and for four I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they have despised the law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to err, after the which their fathers have walked. 5 But I will send a fire upon Judah, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem. 6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for four I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes. 7 That pant after the dust of the earth on the head of the poor, and turn aside the way of the meek: and a man and his father will go in unto the same maid, to profane my holy name. 8 And they lay themselves down upon cloths laid to pledge, by every altar, and they drink the wine of the condemned in the house of their god. 9 Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks, yet I destroyed his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath. 10 Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you forty years through the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite. 11 And I raised up of your sons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Israel? saith the Lord. 12 But ye gave the Nazarites wine to drink, drink, and commanded the prophets, saying, Prophesy not. 13 Behold, I am pressed under you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves. 14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty deliver himself. 15 Neither shall he stand that handleth the bow, and he that is swift of foot shall not deliver himself, neither shall he that rideth the horse deliver himself. 16 And he that is couragious among the mighty, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

Because he burnt the Bones of the King of Edom to Lime] To plaister the Walls of his House with it, as the Chaldee Paraphrase explains the Text; which was a cruel Insulting over the Dead. A Piece of Barbarity resembling this, is told by Sir Paul Ricaut, of the Wall of the City of Philadelphia, made of the Bones of the Besieged, by the Prince that took it by Storm, in The present State of the Greek Church, Ch. ii. Some refer the Cruelty reproved in the Text, to the Story of the King of Moab, related 2 Kings iii. 27. But the Story there recited, seems rather to be understood of the King of Moab's own Son, than of the King of Edom's.

That pant after the Dust of the Earth on the Head of the Poor] The vulgar Latin hath given the best Sense of this Sentence: Qui conterunt super pulverem terræ capita pauperum: Who tread down the Heads of the Poor into the Dust of the Earth; i. e. they throw them into the Dust, and then trample upon them.

And they laid themselves down upon Cloths laid to pledge, by every Altar] This is to be understood of the Feasts that were made of part of their idolatrous Sacrifices, and were eaten in some Apartments of their Temples, according to the Custom both of the Jews and Gentiles; see 1 Sam. ix. 12, 13, 22. Isa. lvii. 7. Ezek. xxiii. 41. The Prophet reproves them not only for partaking of Things offered to Idols, but likewise for making Use of other Men's Furniture, left in their Hands for a Pledge, to set off their idolatrous Entertainments. Here was another Instance of their Unmercifulness, to detain Pledges received from the Poor, contrary to the Law, Exod. xxii. 26.

The Jews, as well as the Romans, used to lie along at their Meals on Couches, as appears by this Verse, compared with Ch. vi. 4. This Custom continued in After-times, as appears by several Places in the Gospels, where it is in the Original, Lay down to meat; tho' our Translation renders it, sat down. The Custom of sitting at Meals seems to be the more antient of the two. See Gen. xliii. 33. 1 Sam. ix. 22. xvi. 11. xxii. 25.

And they drink the Wine of the Condemned] The Drink-offerings, made with Wine, were a necessary Part of the Sacrifices: Some of which was likewise reserved for the Entertainment that followed: See Exod. xxxii. 6. This was provided out of the Fines or Mulcts of such as had been unjustly condemned, Ver. 6.

And of your young Men for Nazarites] A Nazarite signifies one separate, or set apart for the Service of God; see Numb. vi. 2, 5. Such were Sampson, Judg. xiii. 5. and John Baptist, Luke i. 15. Their Vow did often include in it, beside their abstaining from Wine, and not shaving their Heads, a constant Attendance upon God's Service, during the Time of their Separation. See 1 Macc. iii. 49. and Hos. ix. 10. We read of Women that departed not from the Temple, Exod. xxxviii. 8. such as Anna, Luke ii. 37. and there might be Men that constantly attended upon the Service there: And of such, says Lowth, I would upon second Thoughts, understand the Nazarites mentioned Lam. iv. 7. They are described in that Place as remarkable for their Youth and Beauty; and they are stiled young Men here. A Nazarite is always mentioned as a Title of Honour, and Joseph is called by way of Eminence, a Nazarite among his Brethren, as the Original imports, Gen. xlix. 26.

CHAP. III.

God's Judgments are threatened against the Twelve Tribes in general, and then against the Kingdom of Israel in particular.

Ver. 1. HEAR this word that the Lord hath spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying, 2 You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities: 3 Can two walk together, except they be agreed? 4 Will a lion roar in the forest, when he hath no prey? will a young lion cry out of his den, if he have taken nothing? 5 Can a bird fall in a snare upon the earth where no gin is for him? shall one take up a snare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all? 6 Shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people not be afraid? shall there be evil in a city, and the Lord hath not done it? 7 Surely, the Lord God will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets. 8 The lion hath roared, who will not fear? the Lord God hath spoken, who can but prophesy? 9 Publish in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble yourselves upon the mountains of Samaria: and behold the great tumults in the midst thereof, and the oppressed in the midst thereof. 10 For they know not to do right, saith the Lord; who store up violence and robbery in their palaces. 11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An adversary there shall be even round about the land; and he shall bring down thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled. 12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherd taketh out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear; so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria, in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus in a couch. 13 Hear ye, and testify in the house of Jacob, saith the Lord God, the God of hosts, 14 That in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel upon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth-el, and the horns of the altar shall be cut off, and fall to the ground. 15 And I will smite the winter-house with the summer-house, and the houses of ivory shall perish, and the great houses shall have an end, saith the Lord.

Can two walk together except they be agreed?] That is, as Friends: So neither can I behave myself toward you as a Friend or Benefactor, so long as you act in perfect Contradiction to my Nature and Laws by your manifold Sins.

Will a Lion roar in the Forest, when he hath no Prey?] So neither doth God denounce his Judgments, unless your Sins have made you proper Objects of his Displeasure.

Can a Bird fall in a Snare upon the Earth, where no Gin is for him?] God is said to watch over Sinners to bring Evil upon them, Jer. xxxi. 28. Dan. ix. 14. and thus he will deal by this People, unless they repent.

Shall one have taken up a Snare from the Earth, and have taken up nothing at all?] In like Manner you are not to expect that God should remove his Judgments.

ments, till they have attained their proper End, viz. the People's Repentance.

An Adversary shall be even round about the Land] Shalmaneser King of Assyria shall invade the Land on every Side, shall dismantle its Fortresses, and plunder its wealthy Palaces.

As the Shepherd taketh out of the Mouth of the Lion two Legs, or a Piece of an Ear, &c.] When a Lion hath for some Time ravaged the Flock, and is at last frighted away by the Noise of their Shepherds and their Dogs, or by throwing Darts and other offensive Weapons at him; in such a Case the Shepherd can hope to save but only some poor Remains of the Prey the Lion had seized upon. And thus shall it be at the Sacking of Samaria; but a small Remainder of the Inhabitants shall escape the Search of their Enemies, tho' they try to hide themselves in their most retired Apartments. Compare 1 Kings xx. 30. xxii. 25.

And in Damascus in a Couch] The Marginal Reading gives a better Sense, On the Bed's Feet. They that follow the Reading of the Text, explain it of those Israelites who fled for Refuge to Damascus, there being a Confederacy between Israel and Syria: See Isa. vii. 2. but were seized there upon the taking of Damascus: See Ch. i. 5. 2 Kings xvi. 9. compared with Chap. xv. 29. Tiglath-Pileser King of Assyria conquered both Israel and Syria. See the Places above-cited.

CHAP. IV.

The Prophet reproves the Ten Tribes for Luxury and Oppression, Idolatry and Impenitence, notwithstanding the severe Judgments already inflicted upon them.

Ver. 1. HEAR this word, ye kine of Bashan that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppress the poor, which crush the needy, which say to their masters, Bring, and let us drink. 2 The Lord God hath sworn by his holiness, that lo, the days shall come upon you, that he will take you away with hooks, and your posterity with fish-hooks. 3 And ye shall go out at the breaches, every cow at that which is before her, and ye shall cast them into the palace, saith the Lord. 4 Come to Beth-el and transgress, at Gilgal multiply transgression; and bring your sacrifices every morning, and your tithes after three years. 5 And offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, and proclaim and publish the free-offerings; for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God. 6 And I also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord. 7 And also I have withholden the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harvest, and I caused it to rain upon one city, and caused it not to rain upon another city: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered. 8 So two or three cities wandred unto one city, to drink water; but they were not satisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord. 9 I have smitten you with blasting and mildew; when your gardens and your vineyards, and your fig-trees, and your olive-trees increased, the palmer-worm devoured them: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord. 10 I have sent among you the pestilence after the manner of Egypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, and have taken away your horses, and I have made the stink of your camps to come up unto your nostrils: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord. 11 I have overthrown some of you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and ye were as a firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the Lord. 12 Therefore thus will I do unto thee, O Israel: and because I will do this unto thee, prepare to meet thy God, O Israel. 13 For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, the Lord, the God of hosts is his name.

Hear ye this Word, ye Kine of Bashan] The Luxury and Insolence of Oppression is often compared to the Wantonness of full-fed Cattle: See Ps. xxii. 12. lxviii. 30. Bashan was remarkable for the Richness of its Pastures and its Breed of Cattle; Numb. xxxii. 4. Deut. xxxii. 14. Ezek. xxxix. 18. Grotius, and some other Commentators suppose this to be meant of Women of Quality. See Ver. 3.

Which say to their Masters, Bring, and let us drink] If we explain the former Verse of Women, by their Masters, or Lords, as the Word is sometimes translated, may be understood their Husbands: See Gen. xviii. 12. or else by Masters we may understand those to whom they sold the Poor for Slaves: Compare Ch. ii. 6. and demanded the Money due for their Purchase, that they might spend it in a luxurious Manner. So the Text will be equivalent to that in Joel, Ch. iii. 3. They have sold a Girl for Wine, that they may drink.

And ye shall go out at the Breaches, every Cow at that which is before her] The Prophet pursues the Metaphor taken from the Kine of Bashan, Ver. 1. and tells the People, that as Cattle strive to get out of every Breach they can find in a Mound or Fence, so shall they with all possible Haste make their Escape at the several Breaches which shall be made in the Walls of Samaria. Compare 2 Kings xxv. 4. Ezek. xii. 12.

And ye shall cast them into the Palace] The Sentence may be thus translated, ye shall cast out yourselves, i. e. ye shall with haste betake yourselves to Harmon, so the vulgar Latin: Or to the Mountains of Mona; by which the Chaldee understand Armenia, others the Mountains of the Maonites, or Menuhims, as they are called Judg. x. 12. 2 Chron. xxvi 7. They are called Minæi by Strabo, and reckoned Inhabitants of Arabia Felix.

Come ye to Bethel, and transgress] A Permission spoken by way of Sarcasm and Irony, sharply upbraiding them as incorrigible, and not to be reformed by all the Reproofs and Admonitions that have been given them; like that of Ezekiel, Ch. xx. 39. Go ye, serve every Man his Idols.

And I also gave you Cleanness of Teeth in all your Cities] Or, For this Cause I have given you. The Famine I have sent upon the Cities and Territories of Israel, hath not brought you to a Sense of your Sins, or any sincere Purposes of Amendment.

And ye were as a Fire-brand plucked out of the Burning] Those that remained very narrowly escaped. A proverbial Expression used both in sacred and profane Authors, to signify a narrow Escape out of an imminent Danger. Compare Zech. iii. 2. 1 Cor. iii. 15. Jude Ver. 23.

CHAP. V.

The Prophet laments the Sins of Israel, and exhorts them to Repentance and Reformation.

Ver. 1. HEAR ye this word which I take up against you, even a lamentation, O house of Israel. 2 The virgin of Israel is fallen, she shall no more rise: she is forsaken upon her land, there is none to raise her up. 3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city that went out by a thousand, shall leave an hundred, and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leave ten to the house of Israel. 4 For thus saith the Lord unto the house of Israel, Seek ye me, and ye shall live. 5 But seek not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and pass not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall surely go into captivity, and Beth-el shall come to nought. 6 Seek the Lord and ye shall live, lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph, and devour it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el. 7 Ye who turn judgment to worm-wood, and leave off righteousness in the earth, 8 Seek him that maketh the seven stars and Orion, and turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night: that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth, the Lord is his name: 9 That strengtheneth the spoiled against the strong; so that the spoiled shall come against the fortress. 10 They hate him that rebuketh in the gate, and they abhor him that speaketh uprightly. 11 Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat; ye have built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them. 12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sins: they afflict the just, they take a bribe, and they turn aside the poor in the gate from their right. 13 Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in that time, for it is an evil time. 14 Seek good and not evil, that ye may live: and so the Lord the God of hosts shall be with you, as ye have spoken. 15 Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hosts will be gracious unto the remnant of Joseph. 16 Therefore the Lord the God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Wailing shall be in all streets, and they shall say in all the high-ways, Alas, alas! and they shall call the husbandman to mourning, and such as are skilful of lamentation, to wailing. 17 And in all vineyards shall be wailing: for I will pass through thee, saith the Lord. 18 Wo unto you that desire the day of the Lord: to what end is it for you? the day of the Lord is darkness and not light. 19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him. 20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkness, and not light? even very dark, and no brightness in it? 21 I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies. 22 Though ye offer me burnt-offerings, and your meat-offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace-offerings of your fat beasts. 23 Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs, for I will not hear the melody of thy viols. 24 But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream. 25 Have ye offered unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel? 26 But ye have borne the tabernacle of your Moloch and Chiun your images, the star of your god, which ye made to yourselves. 27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose name is the God of hosts.

The Virgin of Israel is fallen, she shall no more rise] She that never was conquered by any, is fallen from her Glory, and shall never be restored to her former State, as a Kingdom or Nation. Those Cities or Kingdoms are called Virgins which were never conquered: See Isa. xxiii. 12. xxxvii. 22. The Virgin of Israel may likewise import her that was espoused to God, as a chaste Virgin to an Husband: See 2 Cor. xi. 2. and had the Benefit of being under his Protection, but is now for her Idolatries and other Sins delivered up to the Will of her Enemies.

The City that went out by a thousand, shall leave an hundred, &c.] A City that was able to furnish out a thousand Men that were fit for War, shall have but an hundred of them left. And so it shall be in Proportion for any less Number; but one in ten of them shall escape the Sword, and other Chances of War.

And pass not to Beersheba] A Place remarkable for Abraham's dwelling there, and planting a Grove for the Worship of God, Gen. xxi. 33. xxii. 19. It is likely a Grove might still be continued there, and abused to Idolatry: See Ch. vii. 9. viii. 14. Beersheba did formerly belong to Judah: See 1 Kings xix. 3. but it seems in latter Times to have been taken from it by some of the Kings of Israel.

Lest he break out like Fire in the House of Joseph] The Ten Tribes are called by the Name of Joseph, as they are elsewhere by that of Ephraim, the Son of Joseph; because that was the chief Tribe of the Kingdom of Israel. See Ezek. xxxvii. 19.

Seek him that makes the seven Stars, and Orion] The Hebrew Names of these Constellations are Kimah and Kesil, which are translated to the same Sense, Job ix. 9. xxxviii. 31. These, and other Constellations were thought to have a great Influence upon the Seasons. See the Notes on the forementioned Place of Job. Whereupon their Rising and Setting used to be particularly taken Notice of by Husbandmen and Shepherds; whose Employment lying abroad, made them more observant of the heavenly Appearances. So this is an Instance of Providence very suitable to one of Amos's Profession to mention.

That turneth the Shadow of Death into the Morning, and maketh the Day dark with Night] The Vicissitude of Day and Night, and the Light's breaking out of Darkness, are just Matter of Astonishment, did not the constant Recourse of them lessen the Wonder. Clemens Alexandrinus cites these Verses out of Pindar to the same Sense.

God can create the Light,
And make it spring from darkest Night:
And when he covers o'er the Day,
The Darkness chases Light away.

That calleth for the Waters of the Sea, and poureth them out upon the Face of the Earth] Who commanded the Seas and Rivers to overflow the Earth in great Inundations. The Words may likewise be complained of raising Vapours out of the Sea, to supply Rain for the Earth, the Clouds retaining none of the Saltness of the Sea-water. Compare Job xxxviii. 34.

They hate him that reproveth in the Gate] The Oppressors of the Poor, see Ver. 11, 12. hate those Magistrates that would punish the Injurious, and do right to the oppressed. It was the Custom for Judges to execute their Office sitting in the Gates of the City. See Isa. xxix. 2. and Ver. 15. of this Chapter.

Forasmuch as your Treading is upon the Poor, and ye take from him Burdens of Wheat] Or choice Gifts, as the LXX render it, agreeable to the Sense of the Hebrew, where the Word Massah often signifies a Gift or Reward, (see Jer. xl. 5. Ezek. xx. 40.) and Bar the Choice or best of any Thing.

And such as are skilful in Lamentation to wailing] Le ſuch whoſe Profeſſion it is to make Lamentation at Funerals, join in this publick Mourning to make it more ſolemn. See Ver. 1.

Woe unto you that deſire the Day of the Lord] Infidels made a Mock at the Words of the Prophets, when they told them, The Day of the Lord is at Hand: See Joel ii. 2, 11. Zeph. i. 14. and out of a Principle of Unbelief they expreſſed their Deſire of ſeeing this Day, that they might be convinced of the Truth of ſuch Predictions by ocular Demonſtration. Compare Iſa. v. 19. Jer. xvii. 15. Ezek. xii. 22, 27. 2 Pet. iii. 4.

Yea, ye have borne the Tabernacle of your Moloch, and Chiun, your Images] Your Anceſtors Want of true Devotion toward me appears from hence, that they were ſo prone to continue in thoſe idolatrous Practices which they learnt in Egypt; to which they added the Worſhip of the Idols they ſaw in the Countries through which they travelled. See Levit. xvii. 3. xviii. 3. Numb. xvi. 39. xxv. 2. Joſh. xxiv. 14. Ezek. xx. 7, 16. xxiii. 3, 8. The Tabernacle of Moloch, was a Shrine with the Image of the Deity placed within it: Such were the Silver Shrines of Diana, Acts xix. 24. and the Theuſæ or Lecticæ among the Romans. Theſe their Votaries carried in Proceſſion, as a ſolemn Piece of Worſhip, or a Pledge of the Preſence of their Gods among them. See Iſa. xlvi. 7. Moloch is an Idol often mentioned in Scripture; to whom they offered their Children in Sacrifice. 'Tis probable the Iſraelites were addicted to this Kind of Worſhip in the Wilderneſs, becauſe it is ſo ſeverely prohibited by Moſes, Lev. xx. 2–5. Chiun is generally ſuppoſed by learned Men to be the ſame with Saturn. The ſame Idol was called Remphan, or Rephan, by the Egyptians; for which Reaſon the LXX Interpreters tranſlate Chiun by Rephan: Which is an Argument that thoſe Interpreters were Natives, or at leaſt Inhabitants of Egypt; as Dr. Hody obſerves.

The Star of your God] As the Heathens had Images that repreſented the heavenly Bodies; ſee 2 Kings xxiii. 11. 2 Chron. xxxiv. 4. So the Image of Chiun repreſented the Star Saturn, as that of Moloch did the Sun. If we ſuppoſe with ſome learned Men, that Remphan, or Rephan, was ſome famous Egyptian King; it was a common Opinion among the Heathens, to ſuppoſe the Souls of their deified Heroes to be placed in the Stars. So Virgil ſpeaks of the Star that appeared quickly after Cæſar's Death, Ecl. ix.

Ecce Dionæi proceſſit Cæſaris aſtrum.
See, Cæſar's Star is lighted in the Skies.

CHAP. VI.

A Reproof of thoſe who indulge themſelves in Eaſe and Pleaſure, inſenſible of God's afflicting Hand; for which Iſrael is threatened with Deſtruction.

Ver. 1. WO to them that are at eaſe in Zion, and truſt in the mountain of Samaria, which are named chief of the nations, to whom the houſe of Iſrael came. 2 Paſs ye unto Calneh, and ſee; and from thence go ye to Hemath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philiſtines: be they better than theſe kingdoms? or their border greater than your border? 3 Ye that put far away the evil day, and cauſe the ſeat of violence to come near; 4 That lie upon beds of ivory, and ſtretch themſelves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midſt of the ſtall; 5 That chant to the ſound of the viol, and invent to themſelves inſtruments of muſick, like David; 6 That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themſelves with the chief ointments: but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joſeph. 7 Therefore now ſhall they go captive with the firſt that go captive, and the banquet of them that ſtretched themſelves, ſhall be removed. 8 The Lord God hath ſworn by himſelf, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts, I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city, with all that is therein. 9 And it ſhall come to paſs, if there remain ten men in one houſe, that they ſhall die. 10 And a mans uncle ſhall take him up, and he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the houſe, and ſhall ſay unto him that is by the ſides of the houſe, Is there yet any with thee? and he ſhall ſay, No: then ſhall he ſay, Hold thy tongue; for we may not make mention of the name of the Lord. 11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will ſmite the great houſe with breaches, and the little houſe with clefts. 12 Shall horſes run upon the rock? will one plow there with oxen? for ye have turned judgment into gall, and the fruit of righteouſneſs into hemlock. 13 Ye which rejoice in a thing of nought, which ſay, Have we not taken to us horns by our own ſtrength? 14 But behold, I will raiſe up againſt you a nation, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts, and they ſhall afflict you from the entring in of Hemath, unto the river of the wilderneſs.

Which are named chief of the Nations, to whom the Houſe of Iſrael come] Sion or Jeruſalem, and Samaria, are the chief Seats of the two Kingdoms, whither is the greateſt Reſort of the whole Nation. The Word Gojim, Nations, uſually ſignifies the Heathen Nations, but ſometimes denotes the Jews, and is equivalent to Ammim. See Zeph. ii. 9. The Chaldee interprets it, who give Names to their Children according to the Names of the chief of the Heathen, to whom the Houſe of Iſrael apply themſelves for Protection. Thus, in the later Times, ſome of the Jews took the Names of Alexander, Antipater, Agrippa, and the like, to compliment ſome great Men among the Greeks or Romans of thoſe Names. The Jews making Alliances with the Heathens is often reproved by the Prophets. See 2 Chron. xvi. 7.

Thence go ye to Hemath the Great] St. Jerome ſuppoſes this to be the ſame City which was afterwards called Antioch. This was taken too by Sennacherib or ſome of his Predeceſſors. See 2 Kings xviii. 34. It is called here Hemath the Great, to diſtinguiſh it from another Hemath mentioned Ver. 14. which is the Boundary of Paleſtine, and therefore called the Entring in of Hemath, in that Verſe, and 1 Kings viii. 65. 2 Kings xiv. 25. That Town is ſince called Epiphania.

That lie upon Beds of Ivory, &c.] This and the two following Verſes are an elegant Deſcription of the ill Uſes Men too often make of a plentiful Fortune: That it ſhuts out all ſerious Conſiderations, makes them void of Compaſſion towards thoſe that are in Miſery, and to regard nothing but the preſent Gratification of their Senſes. Lying upon Beds of Ivory, and ſtretching themſelves upon their Couches, expreſs the Poſture they uſed at their Meals. See Ver. 7. and Ch. ii. 8.

If there remain ten Men in one Houſe, that they ſhall die] Thoſe that eſcape the Hands of the Enemy, ſhall die by the Peſtilence. Compare Ezek. v. 12.

And a Man's Unkle ſhall take him up] His neareſt Kinſman (as the Original Word ſignifies) muſt be forced to perform the laſt Office for him, and carry him to his Burial.

And he that burns him, to bring the Bones out of the Houſe] And is equivalent to or here. The Undertakers of a Funeral firſt burn the Body in order to carry out the remaining Bones to be buried. It was uſual to burn the Bodies of Kings and great Perſons with Odours and Spices. See Jer. xxxiv. 5. 2 Chron. xvi. 14. and it may be, they might uſe the ſame Cuſtom ſtom in this Caſe, for fear of Infection.

Then ſhall he ſay, Hold thy Tongue, for we may not make mention of the Name of the Lord] Silence beſt becomes ſuch aſtoniſhing Calamities: Or, it is to no purpoſe to call upon God, or to implore his Help in our Afflictions. An Expreſſion betokening Deſpair, joined with Impenitency; like that of Joram, 1 Kings vi. 33. What ſhould I wait for the Lord any longer? The Verb zacar, to remember, or make Mention, when it is ſpoken of God ſignifies this Worſhip.

Shall Horſes run upon a Rock, will one plow there with Oxen? For ye have turned Judgment into Gall, and the Fruit of Righteouſneſs into Hemlock] Your perverting of Judgment, and thereby making Oppreſſion the ſeeming Fruit or Effect of Righteouſneſs, is as much the inverting the Nature and Order of Things, as it would be to undertake to run a Race upon a Rock, or to cultivate it by plowing or ſowing there. The Word Reſh, tranſlated here and in other Places Gall, ſignifies a Weed growing among Corn, as bitter as Wormwood; and Laanath, rendered Hemlock, is tranſlated Wormwood, Ch. v. 7. and in other Places.

And ſay, Have we not taken to us Horns by our own Strength?] An Horn is often uſed in Scripture for Power, Strength, or Authority; the Metaphor being taken from the Horns of an Ox or Bullock, wherein his Strength lies. The Boaſt of the Iſraelites ſeems chiefly grounded upon the Succeſs their King Jeroboam the IId had, in reſtoring the antient Dominion of Iſrael, and recovering it from the Syrians, who had brought them very low. See 2 Kings xiii. 3, 7. xiv. 25.

But behold, I will raiſe up a Nation againſt you, and they ſhall afflict you from the Entering in of Hemath, to the River of the Wilderneſs] The Prophet means the Aſſyrians, who ſhould afflict them from one End of the Land unto the other. The Entring in of Hemath was the Northern Boundary of their Country, and the River of the Wilderneſs, is the ſame with the River of Egypt, Gen. xv. 18. Joſh. xv. 47. which ariſes out of Mount Paran, and is the Southermoſt Bound of Judea. It is called the Sea of the Plain, as our Interpretation renders it, Deut. iii. 17. or the Sea of the Wilderneſs, as it is tranſlated here; the Original Word Arabah being the ſame in both Places.

CHAP. VII.

By three ſeveral Viſions are repreſented the Judgments coming upon Iſrael. Amos being accuſed of Sedition by Amaziah, the Prieſt to Jeroboam, denounces Judgment againſt Amaziah and his Family.

Ver. 1. THUS hath the Lord God ſhewed unto me, and behold, he formed graſhoppers in the beginning of the ſhooting up of the latter growth, and lo, it was the latter growth after the kings mowings. 2 And it came to paſs that when they had made an end of eating the graſs of the land, then I ſaid, O Lord God, forgive, I beſeech thee; by whom ſhall Jacob ariſe? for he is ſmall. 3 The Lord repented for this: It ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord. 4 Thus hath the Lord God ſhewed unto me, and behold, the Lord God called to contend by fire, and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part. 5 Then ſaid I, O Lord God, ceaſe, I beſeech thee; by whom ſhall Jacob ariſe? for he is ſmall. 6 The Lord repented for this: This alſo ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord God. 7 Thus he ſhewed me, and behold, the Lord ſtood upon a wall made by a plumb-line, with a plumb-line in his hand. 8 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A plumb-line. Then ſaid the Lord, Behold, I will ſet a plumb-line in the midſt of my people Iſrael, I will not again paſs by them any more. 9 And the high places of Iſaac ſhall be deſolate, and the ſanctuaries of Iſrael ſhall be laid waſte; and I will riſe againſt the houſe of Jeroboam with the ſword. 10 Then Amaziah the prieſt of Beth-el ſent to Jeroboam king of Iſrael, ſaying, Amos hath conſpired againſt thee in the midſt of the houſe of Iſrael: the land is not able to bear all his words. 11 For thus Amos ſaith, Jeroboam ſhall die by the ſword, and Iſrael ſhall ſurely be led away captive out of their own land. 12 Alſo Amaziah ſaid unto Amos, O thou ſeer, go, flee thee away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread, and propheſy there. 13 But propheſy not again any more at Beth-el: for it is the king's chapel, and it is the kings court. 14 Then anſwered Amos, and ſaid to Amaziah, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophets ſon; but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of ſycomore fruit. 15 And the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord ſaid unto me, Go, propheſy unto my people Iſrael. 16 Now therefore hear thou the word of the Lord: thou ſayeſt, Propheſy not againſt Iſrael, and drop not thy word againſt the houſe of Iſaac. 17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Thy wife ſhall be an harlot in the city, and thy ſons and thy daughters ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy land ſhall be divided by line: and thou ſhalt die in a polluted land, and Iſrael ſhall ſurely go into captivity forth of his land.

He formed Graſhoppers in the Beginning of the Shooting up of the latter Growth] Moſt Commentators ſuppoſe this Viſion to denote the Invaſion of Pul King of Aſſyria, mentioned 2 Kings xv. 19. But this and the following Calamities may as probably relate to thoſe Tumults and Commotions which happened after Jeroboam's Death, during an Anarchy which laſted divers Years, from that Time till his Son's Settlement on the Throne, as appears by comparing the Times of the Kings of Iſrael and Judah. That was cutting Iſrael ſhort, after they had begun to flouriſh again after the proſperous Reign of Jeroboam, and ſo might fitly be repreſented by the Graſhoppers devouring the latter or ſecond Growth of Graſs.

It was the latter Growth after the King's Mowings] The firſt Crop of Graſs was ſet apart for the Uſe of the King's Stables.

The Lord called to contend by Fire, which devoured the great Deep, and did eat up a Part] This repreſents a ſorer Judgment than the former, and in the Opinion of moſt Expoſitors, denotes the Invaſion of Tiglath-Pileſer, King of Aſſyria, who carried away great Part of Iſrael captive, 2 Kings xv. 29. and it was properly repreſented by a raging Fire, which conſumed the Sea by turning it into Vapours, and then devoured a great Part of the Land.

The Lord ſtood by a Wall made by a Plumb-line] God's Judgments are ſometimes repreſented by a Line and a Plummet, to denote that they are meaſured out by the exacteſt Rules of Juſtice. See 2 Kings xxi. 13. Iſa. xxviii. 17. The Inſtruments which are deſigned for Building, are ſometimes uſed to mark out the Places which are to be pulled down or deſtroyed. See 2 Sam. viii. 2. Iſa. xxxiv. 11. Lam. ii. 8. The Viſion imports, that as God formerly built up his People, he would now pluck them down and deſtroy them. See Jer. i. 10. xxxi. 28.

And the high Places of Iſaac ſhall be deſolate] The Altar and Grove at Beerſheba, where Iſaac dwelt and built an Altar, Gen. xxvi. 25. xlvi. 1. This Place was afterward abuſed to Idolatry; ſee Ch. v. 5.

Then Amaziah, the Prieſt of Bethel, ſent to Jeroboam] This was a Prieſt, not of the Tribe of Levi, but ſuch an one as thoſe were, whom Jeroboam, the Firſt of that Name, had conſecrated to perform the idolatrous Service at Bethel, 1 Kings xii. 31.

Then anſwered Amos — I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophet's Son] I was not a Prophet by Profeſſion, nor bred up in the Schools of the Prophets, as thoſe uſually were who took that Office upon them. See 2 Kings ii. 5, &c. iv. 38. vi. 1.

But I was an Herdman] An Herdman or an Huſbandman, is ſpoken of as an Employment not conſiſtent with that of a Prophet, Zech. xiii. 5. except where there is an extraordinary Call.

And a Gatherer of Sycamore Fruit] One that gathered a Sort of wild Fig, by ſome called an Egyptian Fig. They that gathered it, opened the Skin, that the Fruit might ripen the ſooner. So the LXX interpret the Hebrew Word Boles, opening the Sycamine Fruit; which agrees with Pliny's Account of ordering this Fruit.

Thy Wife ſhall be an Harlot in the City] When Bethel ſhall be taken by the Aſſyrians, (ſee Hoſ. x. 5, 6.) the Soldiers ſhall abuſe thy Wife, and treat her as a common Harlot. Compare Iſaiah xiii. 16. Lam. v. 11. Zech. xiv. 2. and this ſhall befal her as a Puniſhment of her Idolatry, which is ſpiritual Whoredom. See Hoſ. iii. 14.

CHAP. VIII.

The Prophet by a fourth Viſion, gives Notice of the Certainty and Nearneſs of the Deſtruction of the Ten Tribes; foretels an Eclipſe of the Sun upon their ſolemn Feſtivals; and threatens a Famine of God's Word.

Ver. 1. THUS hath the Lord God ſhewed unto me, and behold a baſket of ſummer-fruit. 2 And he ſaid, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, a baſket of ſummer-fruit. Then ſaid the Lord unto me, The end is come upon my people Iſrael, I will not again paſs by them any more. 3 And the ſongs of the temple ſhall be howlings in that day, ſaith the Lord God: there ſhall be many dead bodies in every place, they ſhall caſt them forth with ſilence. 4 Hear this, O ye that ſwallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail, 5 ſaying, When will the new-moon be gone, that we may ſell corn? and the ſabbath, that we may ſet forth wheat, making the ephah ſmall, and the ſhekel great, and falſifying the balances by deceit? 6 That we may buy the poor for ſilver, and the needy for a pair of ſhoes; yea, and ſell the refuſe of the wheat? 7 The Lord hath ſworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works. 8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe up wholly as a flood; and it ſhall be caſt out and drowned, as by the flood of Egypt. 9 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord God, that I will cauſe the ſun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day. 10 And I will turn your feaſts into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation, and I will bring up ſackcloth upon all loins, and baldneſs upon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only ſon, and the end thereof as a bitter day. 11 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord God, that I will ſend a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord. 12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, and from the north even to the eaſt, they ſhall run to and fro to ſeek the word of the Lord, and ſhall not find it. 13 In that day ſhall the fair virgins and young men faint for thirſt. 14 They that ſwear by the ſin of Samaria, and ſay, Thy god, O Dan, liveth, and the manner of Beerſheba liveth; even they ſhall fall, and never riſe up again.

Behold a Baſket of Summer-fruit — Then ſaid the Lord unto me, An End is come upon my People Iſrael] The Baſket of ripe Summer-fruit, which Amos ſaw in a Viſion, was to denote that Iſrael's Sins were now ripe for Judgment; as the Time of Judgment was elſewhere expreſſed by an Harveſt or Vintage. See Joel iii. 13. The Hebrew Words, Kacks, Summer-fruit, and Kets, an End, have an Affinity in their Sound: Such Paranomaſias are to be found in other Texts of Scripture: See Iſa. xxiv. 17. Jer. i. 11, 12. Mic. i. 10, &c.

There ſhall be many dead Bodies in that Day: They ſhall caſt them forth in Silence] The Aſſyrians (ſee Ver. 3.) ſhall make ſuch a Slaughter among the People, that there will be no Opportunity of making publick Mournings and Lamentations at their Funerals, as was uſual in other Caſes: But their Friends will hurry them to their Graves with as much Silence and Privacy as they can. Compare Jer. xxii. 18.

Making the Ephah ſmall, and the Shekel great] The Ephah was the Meaſure wherewith they ſold, containing about one of our Buſhels. This they made ſmaller than a juſt Standard. The Shekel was the Money they received for the Price of their Goods: And by falſifying that Balance, when they weighed it, they diminiſhed its juſt Value, and demanded a greater Price for their Goods. So both ways they over-reached thoſe that dealt with them. See Mic. vi. 11.

The Lord hath ſworn by the Excellency of Jacob] By Himſelf, who is truly the Glory of Jacob or Iſrael, ſee Pſ. lxviii. 34. whatever Excellency or Advantage they make the Subject of their Glory. See Ch. vi. 8.

And it ſhall riſe up wholly like a Flood, &c.] Or a River. The LXX with a very ſmall Alteration in the Hebrew Points, give a plainer Senſe of the Words thus: Deſtruction ſhall riſe up like a Flood. The Calamity of an hoſtile Invaſion by the Aſſyrians, ſhall be like an Inundation, which in a ſhort Time over-runs a whole Country. Compare Iſa. viii. 7, 8. Jer. xlvi. 8. Dan. ix. 26.

And it ſhall be caſt out and drowned, as by the Flood of Egypt] Or rather, the River of Egypt. The Inhabitants of the Land ſhall be caſt out of their Poſſeſſions, or the Land itſelf ſhall be ſwallowed up, as Egypt is by the Inundation of the River Nile.

I will cauſe the Sun to go down at Noon, and I will darken the Earth in the clear Day] Calamitous Times are expreſſed by the failing of the Light of the Sun, and the Days being overſpread with Darkneſs. See Iſa. xiii. 10. lix. 9, 10. Job v. 14. xxii. 11. But Archbiſhop Uſher hath obſerved in his Annals, ad A. M. 3213, that about eleven Years after the Time that Amos propheſied, there were two great Eclipſes of the Sun, one at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, the other at the Time of the Paſſover. So the Text may poſſibly be underſtood of that Darkneſs; which, to be ſure, was looked upon as ominous, and gave Men more than ordinary Apprehenſions by falling out upon theſe ſolemn Feſtivals; which, if they were not celebrated with that extraordinary Solemnity among the Ten Tribes, as they were in Judea, where the Temple was ſituate, yet were obſerved by many of the Iſraelites, according to the Traditions they had received from their Fathers. See Ver. 5, of this Chapter, and Ch. iv. 4.

And from the North even to the Eaſt] The Prophet omits naming the South; becauſe the Idolaters, to whom he directs his Diſcourſe, would chuſe to enquire any where, rather than of the true Prophets of the Lord, (ſee 1 Kings xxii. 7. 2 Kings iii. 11.) who dwelt dwelt in the Tribe of Judah, that was ſituate in the Southern Parts of the Nation.

And the Manner of Beerſheba liveth] The LXX render it, The God of Beerſheba, expreſſing the Senſe rather than the Words. The Way or Manner ſignifies the ſame with the Way of Worſhip. In this Senſe it is probably taken, Hoſ. x. 13. and the Phraſe is often uſed ſo in the Acts; particularly Ch. xix. 23. xxiv. 14. Here it is taken metonymically for God, or Object of their Worſhip. Beerſheba was a Place noted for Idolatry; ſee Ch. v. 5.

CHAP. IX.

In a fifth Viſion is repreſented the Deſtruction of the Kingdom of Iſrael; but the Prophecy is concluded with Promiſes of reſtoring the Kingdom of David and the Jewiſh Nation, under the Meſſias.

Ver. 1. I Saw the Lord ſtanding upon the altar, and he ſaid, Smite the lintel of the door, that the poſts may ſhake: and cut them in the head all of them; and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: he that fleeth of them, ſhall not flee away; and he that eſcapeth of them, ſhall not be delivered. 2 Though they dig into hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down: 3 And though they hide themſelves in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence; and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottom of the ſea, thence will I command the ſerpent, and he ſhall bite them: 4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes upon them for evil, and not for good. 5 And the Lord God of hoſts is he that toucheth the land, and it ſhall melt, and all that dwell therein ſhall mourn, and it ſhall riſe up wholly like a flood, and ſhall be drowned, as by the flood of Egypt. 6 It is he that buildeth his ſtories in the heaven, and hath founded his troop in the earth, he that calleth for the waters of the ſea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: the Lord is his name. 7 Are ye not as children of the Ethiopians unto me, O children of Iſrael? ſaith the Lord. Have not I brought up Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiſtines from Caphtor, and the Aſſyrians from Kir? 8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are upon the ſinful kingdom, and I will deſtroy it from off the face of the earth; ſaving that I will not utterly deſtroy the houſe of Jacob, ſaith the Lord. 9 For lo, I will command, and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corn is ſifted in a ſive, yet ſhall not the leaſt grain fall upon the earth. 10 All the ſinners of my people ſhall die by the ſword, which ſay, The evil ſhall not overtake nor prevent us. 11 In that day will I raiſe up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and cloſe up the breaches thereof, and I will raiſe up his ruins, and I will build it as in the days of old: 12 That they may poſſeſs the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, which are called by my name, ſaith the Lord that doeth this. 13 Behold, the days come, ſaith the Lord, that the plow-man ſhall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes, him that ſoweth ſeed; and the mountains ſhall drop ſweet wine, and all the hills ſhall melt. 14 And I will bring again the captivity of my people of Iſrael, and they ſhall build the waſte cities, and inhabit them; and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof; they ſhall alſo make gardens, and eat the fruit of them. 15 And I will plant them upon their land, and they ſhall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given them, ſaith the Lord thy God.

I ſaw the Lord ſtanding upon the Altar] This muſt moſt probably be underſtood of the Altar at Bethel. Compare Ch. iii. 14. God's ſtanding upon the Altar may likewiſe denote the Deſtruction of the Idolaters themſelves, as ſo many Victims ſlain to atone the divine Vengeance. Compare Ezek. ix. 2. xxxix. 17. Iſa. xxxiv. 6. This Appearance of God was by a viſible and glorious Light, commonly called the Shekinah by the Jewiſh Writers.

Smite the Lintel of the Door, that the Poſts may ſhake] This denotes the approaching Ruin of that idolatrous Temple, which ſhould put an End to the Worſhip performed there. See Ch. viii. 3. The Altar of Burnt-offerings probably ſtood near the outward Door of the Temple, as it did at Jeruſalem.

Tho' they dig into Hell, thence ſhall mine Hand take them, &c.] Tho' they hide themſelves in the deepeſt Holes and Caverns of the Earth, (ſee Iſa. ii. 19.) or take Refuge in the higheſt Fortreſſes, they ſhall not eſcape my Vengeance.

And (or for) the Lord of Hoſts toucheth the Land, and it ſhall melt] The leaſt Token of God's Diſpleaſure will put the whole Frame of Nature out of Order. Compare Iſa. lxii. 1, 3. Mic. i. 4. Habak. iii. 10. And when God's Hand is viſibly ſtretched out againſt a Land, or People, they become altogether diſpirited; the ſtouteſt Men loſe their Courage; ſee Ch. ii. 16. their Hearts failing them for Fear, and out of a dreadful Expectation of the Miſeries that are coming upon them.

And hath founded his Troop in the Earth] The old Engliſh Tranſlation hath rendered the Senſe very perſpicuouſly thus: And hath laid the Foundation of his Globe of Elements in the Earth. The Word Aguddah, Troop, ſignifies the Collection of Elements and other Creatures, which furniſh the Earth, expreſſed by the Word Iſaba, the Hoſt, Gen. ii. 1.

Are ye not as the Children of the Ethiopians to me?] Are ye not under a Curſe, as the Ethiopians, the Poſterity of Ham, were, (ſee Gen. ix. 25.) by reaſon of your multiplied Sins and Apoſtaſies? Cuſhi or Cuſh often ſignifies the Arabians, but it is ſometimes underſtood of the Ethiopians, properly ſo called; ſee Iſa. xiii. 23.

Have I not brought up the Children of Iſrael out of the Land of Egypt? and the Philiſtines from Caphtor?] You may think my former Kindneſs in delivering you out of the Egyptian Bondage, and giving you the Land of Canaan, obliges me ſtill to be your Protector. But I have ſhewed the like Favour to other Nations, particularly to the Philiſtines, who had their Original from Caphtor, and afterward diſpoſſeſſed the old Inhabitants of Paleſtine, and dwelt in their Stead, (ſee Deut. ii. 23. and Jer. xlvii. 4.) and yet againſt theſe very Philiſtines I have denounced my Judgments for their Sins.

And the Syrians from Kir] Some Copies of the Engliſh Bible read Aſſyrians, but it is a Miſtake of the Print; the more correct Editions read Syrians, which anſwers the Hebrew Aram. Some underſtand the Words of the new Colonies which Tiglath-Pileſer tranſplanted from Kir, and placed in Syria, in the Room of the native Syrians, whom he had carried captive to Kir; ſee Ch. i. 5. But it may be underſtood of ſome more antient Removal of the Syrians from Kir, not elſewhere taken Notice of.

In that Day will I raiſe up the Tabernacle of David which is fallen down, &c.] At that Time (prefixed by my own ſecret Decree) I will reſtore the Kingdom to the Houſe and Family of David, in the Perſon the Meſſias, ſo often ſtiled in the Prophets the Seed or Offſpring of David, and known by that Title among the Jews of our Saviour's Age; Matt. xii. 23. xx. 30. xxi. 9. and whereas that Family had been for ſeveral Years before his Coming, reduced to a mean and obſcure Condition (ſee Mic. v. 2. Luke i. 48, 52.) it ſhall now recover its antient Splendor and Dignity. The Tabernacle of David is an Expreſſion met with but twice in Scripture, here, and Iſa. xvi. 5. It may alſo allude to his having been a Shepherd, and dwelling in Tents, before he was advanced to a Kingdom; but ſince that, reduced in his Family to as low a Condition as it was at firſt. But I conceive, ſays Lowth, the Phraſe does myſtically denote the Church, whereof the Meſſiah, here foretold, was to be the Head; which is elſewhere ſtiled God's Tabernacle, as being a Place of his eſpecial Reſidence, as the Tabernacle in the Wilderneſs was. Tobit underſtood this Text of the Days of the Meſſiah, Ch. xiii. 10. where he exhorts Sion to praiſe God, That his Tabernacle may again be built in her.

Behold the Days come, that the Plowman ſhall overtake the Reaper, &c.] As the Prophecy in the foregoing Verſe was to commence from the Coming of Chriſt, but not to receive its utmoſt Completion till the Fulneſs both of Jews and Gentiles come in to the Church; ſo this and the following Verſes ought to be underſtood of the happy State of the Milennium, which, ſays Lowth, may be ſuppoſed to begin after the Jews are reſtored to their Country. Compare Joel iii. 18. Then the Text ſays, The Plowman ſhall overtake the Reaper, and the Treader of Grapes him that ſoweth Seed: Where the Senſe would be clearer, if the Words were tranſlated, The Plowman ſhall meet the Reaper, &c. So the Chaldee and Septuagint underſtand the Place. To the ſame Senſe the Verb Niggaſh is often tranſlated in the Greek; and then the Words import, That there ſhould be ſuch an Increaſe of the Fruits of the Earth, that as ſoon as the Harveſt is got in, it will be Time to plow for the next Year, which was not uſual in thoſe hot Countries, where the Corn was ripe early in the Summer, in the Month of May or June at fartheſt. And in like Manner the Vintage ſhould be ſo plentiful, that whereas it uſed to begin in Auguſt, it ſhould not be over till the Seed-Time, the earlieſt Seaſon of which was November.

And the Mountains ſhall drop with ſweet Wine, and the Hills ſhall melt] That is, it ſhall flow down with Wine, or Milk. See Joel iii. 18. The Chaldee Paraphraſe, the Septuagint and vulgar Latin underſtand the Hebrew Verb, tranſlated melt, of being cultivated; the ſtony Ground being made ſofter by plowing and manuring. The Prophets ſometimes deſcribe the Days of the Meſſias, in the ſame Terms the Poets do the Golden Age. See Iſa. xxxv. 1. xli. 19. lv. 13. Hoſ. ii. 21, 22. Pſ. lxxxii. 16.

A N

O F

The Prophet OBADIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

Grotius, Huetius, and Dr. Lightfoot are of Opinion, that Obadiah was Cotemporary with the elder Prophets, Hoſea, Joel, and Amos: The Reaſon they chiefly alledge is, That the Compilers of the Old Teſtament Canon, had a Regard to the Order of Time in their placing the Minor Prophets. But this Reaſon ſeems to be of little Force, ſince we find that Jonah is placed the Fifth in Order, nay the Sixth in the Greek Copies, who was confeſſedly antienter than any of thoſe who are placed before him.

A more probable Opinion is, That Obadiah propheſied about the Time of the taking of Jeruſalem: And thereupon, in foretelling the Deſtruction of Edom, he uſes ſeveral Expreſſions which Jeremiah had done before him, ſpeaking upon that Subject; compare Obad. Ver. 1, 8. with Jer. xlix. 9—14, 15, 16. Ezekiel agrees with Jeremiah and Obadiah, in aſſigning the ſame Reaſon for the Judgments threatened againſt the Edomites, viz. their inſulting over the Jews in the Time of their Diſtreſs. See Ezek. xxv. 12. xxxv. 5, &c.

Biſhop Uſher in his Annals, ad A. M. 3419, ſuppoſes this Prophecy to have been fulfilled about five Years after the Taking of Jeruſalem.

The Prophet, after having denounced utter Deſtruction upon Edom, for their unnatural Enmity againſt the Jews, foretels the Reſtoration, and flouriſhing State in the latter Times.

1 THE viſion of Obadiah, Thus ſaith the Lord God, concerning Edom, We have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambaſſador is ſent among the heathen, Ariſe ye, and let us riſe up againſt her in battel. 2 Behold, I have made thee ſmall among the heathen: thou art greatly deſpiſed. 3 The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rock, whoſe habi-habitation is high, that ſaith in his heart, Who ſhall bring me down to the ground? 4 Though thou exalt thy ſelf as the eagle, and though thou ſet thy neſt among the ſtars, thence will I bring thee down, ſaith the Lord. 5 If thieves came to thee, if robbers by night, (how art thou cut off) would they not have ſtolen till they had enough? if the grape-gatherers came to thee, would they not leave ſome grapes? 6 How are the things of Eſau ſearched out? how are his hid things ſought up? 7 All the men of thy confederacy have brought thee even to the border: the men that were at peace with thee have deceived thee, and prevailed againſt thee: they that eat thy bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none underſtanding in him. 8 Shall I not in that day, ſaith the Lord, even deſtroy the wiſe men out of Edom, and underſtanding out of the mount of Eſau? 9 And thy mighty men, O Teman, ſhall be diſmayed, to the end that every one of the mount of Eſau may be cut off by ſlaughter. 10 For thy violence againſt thy brother Jacob, ſhame ſhall cover thee, and thou ſhalt be cut off for ever. 11 In the day that thou ſtoodeſt on the other ſide, in the day that the ſtrangers carried away captive his forces, and foreigners entred into his gates, and caſt lots upon Jeruſalem, even thou waſt as one of them. 12 But thou ſhouldeſt not have looked on the day of thy brother, in the day that he became a ſtranger; neither ſhouldeſt thou have rejoiced over the children of Judah in the day of their deſtruction; neither ſhouldeſt thou have ſpoken proudly in the day of diſtreſs. 13 Thou ſhouldeſt not have entred into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity; yea, thou ſhouldeſt not have looked on their affliction in the day of their calamity: nor have laid hands on their ſubſtance in the day of their calamity. 14 Neither ſhouldeſt thou have ſtood in the croſs-way, to cut off thoſe of his that did eſcape; neither ſhouldeſt thou have delivered up thoſe of his that did remain in the day of diſtreſs. 15 For the day of the Lord is near upon all the heathen: as thou haſt done, it ſhall be done unto thee, thy reward ſhall return upon thine own head. 16 For as ye have drunk upon my holy mountain, ſo ſhall all the heathen drink continually, yea, they ſhall drink, and they ſhall ſwallow down, and they ſhall be as though they had not been. 17 But upon mount Zion ſhall be deliverance, and there ſhall be holineſs, and the houſe of Jacob ſhall poſſeſs their poſſeſſions. 18 And the houſe of Jacob ſhall be a fire, and the houſe of Joſeph a flame, and the houſe of Eſau for ſtubble, and they ſhall kindle in them, and devour them, and there ſhall not be any remaining of the houſe of Eſau; for the Lord hath ſpoken it. 19 And they of the ſouth ſhall poſſeſs the mount of Eſau; and they of the plain, the Philiſtines: and they ſhall poſſeſs the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin ſhall poſſeſs Gilead. 20 And the captivity of this hoſt of the children of Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs that of the Canaanites, even unto Zarephath; and the captivity of Jeruſalem which is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſs the cities of the ſouth. 21 And ſaviours ſhall come upon mount Zion to judge the mount of Eſau, and the kingdom ſhall be the Lords.

We have heard a Rumour from the Lord, and an Ambaſſador is ſent among the Heathen] The Prophets ſometimes repreſent Almighty God as ſummoning Armies, and ſetting them in Array of Battle againſt thoſe People he deſigns to deſtroy: See Jer. ii. 27, 28. And here according to the Cuſtom of earthly Princes, he is deſcribed as ſending Ambaſſadors to invite the Nations to join in a Confederacy againſt the Idumeans. Compare Jer. xlix. 14. The Words are the ſame in both Places, only what Jeremiah ſpeaks in the Singular Number, is expreſſed here in the Plural, to intimate that Obadiah had received the ſame Commiſſion from God, which was ſignified to Jeremiah before.

I have made thee ſmall among the Heathen] Thou art contemptible in the Sight of the Chaldeans and their Confederates, who think they can eaſily ſubdue thee. This Verſe and the two following are almoſt Word for Word the ſame with Jer. xlix. 15, 16.

All the Men of thy Confederacy have brought thee even to thy Borders] The Confederates marched out with thee till they came to the Borders of thy Country, and then they treacherouſly joined with the Enemies Forces.

There is no Underſtanding in him: Shall I not in that Day — even deſtroy the wiſe Men out of Edom] Theſe two Sentences contain the ſame Senſe; and inſtruct us, that when God deſigns a People for Deſtruction, he deprives them of that Diſcretion and Foreſight which is neceſſary for the due Management of their Affairs. See Iſa. xiv. 11, 12.

And thou ſhalt be cut off for ever] The Nabatheans drove the Edomites out of their antient Habitations, ſince called Arabia Petræa; which Country they could never afterward recover. See Ezek. xxxv. 9. Mal. i. 3, 4. and Dr. Prideaux's Connect.

But thou ſhouldeſt not have looked on the Day of thy Brother] Thou oughteſt not to have taken Pleaſure at the Sight of thy Brother's Calamity. So the Expreſſion of looking upon an Enemy, ſignifies the beholding his Fall with Satisfaction, Pſ. liv. 7. lix. 10. xcii. 10. cxii. 8. Our Tranſlators render it in thoſe Places, See my Deſire upon my Enemies. Compare Mic. iv. 11. vii. 10.

Neither ſhouldeſt thou have delivered up thoſe that remain] Or, ſhut up thoſe, as the Margin reads. The Word ſignifies to ſhut up all the Ways of eſcaping to the conquered, in order to take them and deliver them to the Enemy; ſee Pſ. xxxi. 8. So the Greek Word which anſwers to it is taken, Gal. iii. 23. which ſhould be tranſlated, not ſhut up, but delivered over to the Faith, which ſhould afterwards be revealed; juſt as a School-maſter delivers up a Scholar when he comes to Age; as the Compariſon there follows.

For as ye have drunk upon my holy Mountain, ſo ſhall all the Heathen drink continually, &c.] Since ye, O my People, have drunk the Cup of my Wrath, which has been executed upon you in Mount Sion (ſee Ver. 17.) and at Jeruſalem, where my Name was placed; there is no Reaſon that thoſe who are Strangers and Foreigners to my Name and Worſhip, ſhould expect to be excuſed.

The Prophet ſpeaks of the Jews here, as already under a State of Captivity; as they actually were, before the Prophecy was fulfilled.

But upon Mount Sion ſhall be Deliverance] This was remarkably verified at the firſt Preaching of the Goſpel, when God's Law came forth from Sion, Iſa. ii. 3. Joel ii. 32. Pſ. cx. 2. And there ſhall be another Completion of it, at the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation, which is ſpoken of in this and the following Verſes.

And they of the South ſhall poſſeſs the Mount of Seir] They that dwelt in the Southern Parts of Judea, ſhall poſſeſs the mountainous Country of Edom, ſee Mal. i. 3. elſewhere called Mount Seir; Ezek. xxxv. 2. The Tribe of Judah, which inhabited the Southern Parts of Judea, bordered upon Edom. See Joſh. xv. 21. He

So they took up Jonah and cast him forth into the sea and the sea ceased from her raging. Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah and Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three Nights.

D. Cole sc.

Here it is foretold they ſhould enlarge their Borders that Way.

And they ſhall poſſeſs the Land of Ephraim, and the Fields of Samaria] The Prophet ſpeaks of thoſe Places as poſſeſſed by Idolaters, for ſo they were in his Time; viz. the Colony which the King of Aſſyria ſetled there, who ſerved their own Idols, together with the God of the Land, 2 Kings xvii. 24—33. So the Words import a Conqueſt of the Jews over their idolatrous Neighbours.

And the Captivity of this Hoſt of the Children of Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs that of the Canaanites, even unto Zarephath] The Ten Tribes, when they ſhall return from their Captivity, ſhall poſſeſs all the Country where the Canaanites formerly lived, even unto Zarephath, or Sarepta, a City near Sidon, in the northern Borders of Judea, 1 Kings xvii. 9. The Canaanites, properly ſo called, were antient Inhabitants of that Diſtrict. See Judg. i. 32, 33. Matt. xv. 21, 22.

And the Captivity of Jeruſalem, which is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſs the Cities of the South] Dr. Lightfoot, in his Chorographical Notes upon St. Luke, Ch. ii. ſuppoſes Sepharad to be a Part of the Country of Edom; and explains the Text of the Jews who were Captives in Edom, that they ſhould poſſeſs the Cities of the South that lay near that Country; ſee Ver. 19. others tranſlate the Sentence thus: The Captivity of Jeruſalem ſhall poſſeſs that which is in Sepharad, and the Cities of the South. In the former Part of the Verſe the Prophet mentioned the Reſettlement of the Ten Tribes after the Reſtoration; here he mentions that of Judah, under the Name of Jeruſalem. Iſrael and Judah are commonly joined together, as equally Sharers in the general Reſtoration of that Nation: See Jer. iii. 18. Of the latter it is here foretold, that they ſhould poſſeſs the Country called Sepharad. If that Word be taken as an Appellative, it ſignifies a Border, and may denote that Part of Arabia which borders upon the South of Judea, or the Cities of the South, here mentioned.

And Saviours ſhall come upon Mount Sion, to judge the Mount of Eſau] By Saviours may be underſtood the Leaders of the Jews, who ſhall fight their Battles, and vanquiſh their Enemies, denoted by the Inhabitants of Mount Eſau. In this Senſe the Word Saviour is taken, Judg. iii. 9. Iſa. xix. 20. Or we may underſtand the Word in a ſpiritual Senſe, for the Preachers of Salvation, whoſe Office it is to convert Unbelievers and Aliens to the Commonwealth of Iſrael: Compare Ver. 17. and Am. ix. 22. Inſtead of Saviours, the LXX, with a ſmall Alteration of the Hebrew Points, read, Thoſe that are ſaved, or eſcape: The ſame with the Remnant often mentioned in the Prophets, and particularly Joel ii. 32.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet JONAH.

The ARGUMENT.

is a very common Opinion among the Jews, ſays Calmet, that Jonah was the Widow of Zarephtha's Son; and this Opinion they found upon the Words of the Mother, when ſhe received her Son alive from the Prophet's Hand: By this I know that the Word of the Lord is in thy Mouth in Truth, 1 Kings xvii. 24. for therefore, ſay they, was the Child called the Son of Amittai, becauſe Amittai ſignifies Truth: A weak Reaſon indeed! and ſuch as is plainly repugnant to the Teſtimony of Scripture. For this we know for certain, that Jonah lived in the Reigns of Joaſh and Jeroboam II*d. Kings of* Iſrael, and therefore could not be the Widow of Zarephthah's Son, ſince the former of theſe two Princes did not begin to reign till 60 Years after the Tranſlation of Elijah. Others pretend that he was Son to the Shunamite Woman, whom the Prophet Eliſha raiſed from the Dead. But Shunan and Gath-hepher (where we are certain Jonah was born) were two quite different Places, the former in the Tribe of Iſſachar, the other in that of Zebulun; and therefore, we may conclude, that Amittai was the proper Name of Jonah's Father, who lived in a little Canton in the Tribe of Zebulun, called Hepher, or Hopher, wherein was the Town of Gath, which is generally believed to be the ſame with Jatopata, ſo famous for the Siege, which Joſephus, the Jewiſh Hiſtorian, there maintained againſt the Roman Army, a little before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

CHAP. I.

Jonah, being ſent by God to Nineveh, fleeth to Tarſhiſh, meets with a Tempeſt, is thrown into the Sea, and ſwallowed by a Fiſh.

1 NOW the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the ſon of Amittai, ſaying, 2 Ariſe, go to Nineveh that great city, and cry againſt it; for their wickedneſs is come up before me. 3 But Jonah roſe up to flee unto Tarſhiſh from the preſence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ſhip going to Tarſhiſh: ſo he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it to go with them unto Tarſhiſh, from the preſence of the Lord. 4 But the Lord ſent out a great wind into the ſea, and there there was a mighty tempeſt in the ſea, ſo that the ſhip was like to be broken. 5 Then the mariners were afraid and cried every man unto his god, and caſt forth the wares that were in the ſhip into the ſea, to lighten it of them: but Jonah was gone down into the ſides of the ſhip, and he lay, and was faſt aſleep. 6 So the ſhipmaſter came to him, and ſaid unto him, What meaneſt thou, O ſleeper? ariſe, call upon thy God, if ſo be that God will think upon us, that we periſh not. 7 And they ſaid every one to his fellow, Come, and let us caſt lots, that we may know for whoſe cauſe this evil is come upon us. So they caſt lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah. 8 Then ſaid they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whoſe cauſe this evil is upon us: what is thine occupation? and whence comeſt thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou? 9 And he ſaid unto them, I am an Hebrew, and I fear the Lord the God of heaven, which hath made the ſea and the dry land. 10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the preſence of the Lord, becauſe he had told them) 11 Then ſaid they unto him, What ſhall we do unto thee, that the ſea may be calm unto us? (for the ſea wrought, and was tempeſtuous) 12 And he ſaid unto them, Take me up, and caſt me forth into the ſea; ſo ſhall the ſea be calm unto you: for I know that for my ſake this great tempeſt is upon you. 13 Nevertheleſs the men rowed hard to bring it to the land, but they could not; for the ſea wrought, and was tempeſtuous againſt them. 14 Wherefore they cried unto the Lord, and ſaid, We beſeech thee, O Lord, we beſeech thee, let us not periſh for this mans life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, haſt done as it pleaſed thee. 15 So they took up Jonah, and caſt him forth into the ſea, and the ſea ceaſed from her raging. 16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a ſacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows. 17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fiſh to ſwallow up Jonah, and Jonah was in the belly of the fiſh three days and three nights.

And went down to Joppa] Joppa is a Sea-port Town in Paleſtine, upon the Mediterranean, and was formerly the only Port which the Jews had upon that Coaſt, whither all the Materials that were ſent from Tyre, towards the Building of Solomon's Temple, were brought and landed. The Town itſelf is very antient; for profane Authors reckon it was built before the Flood, and derive the Name of it from Joppa, the Daughter of Elolus, and the Wife of Cepheus, who was the Founder of it. Others are rather inclined to believe, that it was built by Japhet, and from him had the Name of Japha, which was afterwards moulded into Joppa, but is now generally called Jaffa, which comes nearer to the firſt Appellation. The Town is ſituated on a fine Plain, between Jamnia on the South, Cæſarea of Paleſtine to the North, and Rama or Ramula to the Eaſt; but at preſent is in a poor, mean Condition; nor is its Port, by any means good, by reaſon of the Rocks which project into the Sea. The chief Thing for which this Place was famous, in antient Pagan Hiſtory, is, the Expoſition of Andromeda, the Daughter of Cepheus, King of Egypt, who, for her Mother's Pride, was bound to a Rock, in order to be devoured by a Sea-monſter, but was delivered by the Valour and Bravery of Perſeus, who afterwards married her: For in the Times of Mela and Pliny, there were ſome Marks remaining (as they themſelves teſtify) of the Chains, wherewith the Royal Virgin was bound to the Rock, which projects into the Sea. But all this is mere Fiction, firſt grounded upon the Adventure of Jonah, who ſet ſail from this Port, and then improved with the Acceſſion of ſome particular Circumſtances. See Calmet upon this Text.

And he found a Ship going to Tarſhiſh] Learned Men ſuppoſe that there were ſeveral Places of that Name noted for Trade; one in Spain, another in India; and this might probably be in Cilicia. Ships of Tarſhiſh generally ſignify any Trading or Merchant Ships. See Iſa. ii. 16.

Why haſt thou done this?] You have been guilty of great Profanation to diſobey his Command, whom yourſelf acknowledge to be Lord and Maker of all Things.

And offered a Sacrifice unto the Lord, and made Vows] The Words may be tranſlated to a plainer Senſe thus: And offered Sacrifice unto the Lord, that is, they made Vows to do it as ſoon as they had Opportunity. The copulative Vau is ſometimes uſed by way of Explication; ſee Iſa. li. 19. This Senſe ſuits beſt here.

Now the Lord had prepared a great Fiſh to ſwallow up Jonah] Naturaliſts give an Account of ſome Sorts of Fiſh, which are large enough to ſwallow a Man, particularly the Canis Charcarias, or Dog-fiſh, called by ſome Writers, Lamia.

And Jonah was in the Belly of the Fiſh three Days and three Nights] The Hebrew Language hath no one Word to expreſs a natural Day; ſo what the Greek expreſs by Νυχθήμερον, they denote by a Day and a Night. Therefore the Space of Time ſubſiſting of one whole Revolution twenty-four Hours, and Part of two others, is fitly expreſſed in that Language, by three Days and three Nights. Such a Space of Time our Lord lay in the Grave; and we may from thence conclude, that Jonah, who was an eminent Figure of him in this Particular, was no longer in the Fiſh's Belly.

CHAP. II.

The Prayer of Jonah in the Fiſh's Belly; and his Deliverance from thence.

Ver. 1. THEN Jonah prayed unto the Lord his God out of the fiſhes belly, 2 And ſaid, I cried by reaſon of mine affliction unto the Lord, and he heard me; out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardeſt my voice. 3 For thou hadſt caſt me into the deep, in the midſt of the ſeas, and the floods compaſſed me about, all thy billows and thy waves paſſed over me. 4 Then I ſaid, I am caſt out of thy ſight; yet I will look again toward thy holy temple. 5 The waters compaſſed me about, even to the ſoul; the depth cloſed me round about, the weeds were wrapt about my head. 6 I went down to the bottoms of the mountains; the earth with her bars was about me for ever: yet haſt thou brought up my life from corruption, O Lord my God. 7 When my ſoul fainted within me, I remembred the Lord, and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple. 8 They that obſerve lying vanities, forſake their own mercy. 9 But I will ſacrifice unto thee with the voice of thankſgiving, I will pay that I have vowed: ſalvation is of the Lord. 10 And the Lord ſpake unto the fiſh, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land.

Out of the Belly of Hell cried I] The Word Sheol ſignifies the State of the Dead: See Iſa. xiv. 9. So it may moſt properly be rendered the Grave, as the Marg.

Margin reads; the Belly of the Fiſh was to Jonah inſtead of a Grave.

I went down to the Bottom of the Mountains, &c.] I went down to the Bottom of the Sea, where the Foundations of the Mountains lie: See Pſ. xxiv. 2. I found myſelf incloſed on every Side, ſo that I had no Proſpect of Deliverance.

And the Lord ſpake unto the Fiſh, &c.] God's Almighty Power is repreſented in Scripture, as bringing Things to paſs by his bare Will and Command: See Gen. i. 3. Rom. iv. 17. Huetius ſuppoſes, that Jonah's Deliverance from the Whale's Belly, gave Occaſion to the Greek Story, of Arion, who after he was caſt into the Sea, was conveyed by a Dolphin to the Port of Corinth.

CHAP. III.

Jonah is ſent again to the Ninevites, and preaches to them with good Succeſs.

Ver. 1. AND the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the ſecond time, ſaying, 2 Ariſe, go unto Nineveh that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee. 3 So Jonah aroſe and went unto Nineveh, according to the word of the Lord: (now Nineveh was an exceeding great city of three days journey) 4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a days journey, and he cried, and ſaid, Yet forty days and Nineveh ſhall be overthrown. 5 So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a faſt, and put on ſackcloth from the greateſt of them even to the leaſt of them. 6 For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he aroſe from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with ſackcloth, and ſat in aſhes. 7 And he cauſed it to be proclaimed, and publiſhed through Nineveh (by the decree of the king and his nobles) ſaying, Let neither man nor beaſt, herd nor flock taſte any thing; let them not feed nor drink water. 8 But let man and beaſt be covered with ſackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands. 9 Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we periſh not. 10 And God ſaw their works, that they turned from their evil way, and God repented of the evil that he had ſaid that he would do unto them, and he did it not.

Now Nineveh was an exceeding great City, of three Days Journey] The Hebrew reads, a City great to God; ſo the Mountains of God are the ſame with great Mountains, Pſ. xxxvi. 6. and the Cedars of God are tranſlated goodly Cedars, Pſ. lxxx. 10.

Diodorus Siculus informs us, that Nineveh was 480 Furlongs in Compaſs, which makes 60 of our Miles. See Dr. Prideaux, ad An. C. 612. So that it was bigger than Babylon, which, according to his Account, was but 48. Diodorus's Account agrees with the Deſcription the Prophet gives us, that it was three Days Journey in Compaſs: Twenty Miles was a Day's Journey in common Computation for a Foot Traveller.

Yet forty Days, and Nineveh ſhall be overthrown] We muſt not imagine however, ſays Stackhouſe, that, in his Addreſs to the People of Nineveh, the Prophet had nothing to ſay, but this one Sentence. This indeed was the Sum and Subſtance of his Preaching: But we may well preſume, that he took frequent Occaſions to expatiate upon it; by reminding them of the Number, and Nature, and ſeveral Aggravations of their Offences; by acquainting them with the Holineſs, Juſtice, and Omnipotence of God, which could not behold Iniquity without Deteſtation; the Juſtice, which, ſooner or later, would not ſuffer it to go unpuniſhed; and that Almighty Power which could, in a Moment, lay the ſtatelieſt Cities in Aſhes; by exhorting them to Repentance, from a Dread of his impending Judgments, and by inſtructing them in the Method of pacifying his Wrath, and effecting a Reconciliation with him.

So the People of Nineveh believed God, &c.] The Fame of the wonderful Works God had wrought for the Jews, ſays Lowth, was ſpread over the Eaſtern Parts of the World. This might make the Ninevites hearken to a Man of a Nation, that came to them as ſent by God. And it is likely that he gave them an Account of the miraculous Circumſtances that attended his own Miſſion. But without Queſtion, a Senſe of their own Guilt, and their deſerving whatever Puniſhment Heaven could inflict, was a principal Reaſon that moved them to have a Regard to his Meſſage. And by the Men of Nineveh's repenting at the Preaching of Jonah, God deſigned to upbraid the Stubbornneſs of his own People, and ſhame them, as it were into Repentance, for fear the Men of Nineveh ſhould riſe up in Judgment againſt them; as our Saviour ſpeaks of the Iſraelites in his own Time, Matt. xii. 41.

For Word came unto the King of Nineveh] Archbiſhop Uſher in his Annals, ad A. M. 3233, ſuppoſes this Prince to have been Pul, the King of Aſſyria, Nineveh being then the Capital City of that Empire; who afterward invaded the Kingdom of Iſrael, in the Days of Menahem, 2 Kings xv. 19. it being very agreeable to the Methods of Providence, to make uſe of an Heathen King that was penitent, to puniſh the Impenitency of God's own People Iſrael.

Let neither Man nor Beaſt, Herd nor Flock, taſte any Thing; let them not feed, nor drink Water] This was carrying their Abſtinence to a greater Severity, than what we find practiſed among the Jews. For, tho' in Times of publick Calamity, and on the Day of ſolemn Expiation, that they made their Children faſt, as we may gather from Joel ii. 16. yet we no where read of their extending that Rigour to their Cattle. Virgil indeed, in his 5th Eclogue, brings in a Shepherd telling his Companion, that, for the Death of Julius Cæſar, the Mourning was ſo general, that even the Sheep, and other Creatures, were not driven to Water. But then the Queſtion is, whether this may not be looked upon as a poetical Exaggeration. From Homer, and ſome other antient Authors we learn, that when any Hero, or other great Warrior died, to make his Horſes faſt for ſome Time, and to cut off Part of their Hair; nor may we forget mentioning, what ſome Hiſtorians tell us, of the People inhabiting the Canaries and Peru, viz. that in Time of great Drought, they ſhut up their Sheep and Goats, without giving them any Thing to eat, upon a Preſumption, that their loud Cries and Bleating will reach Heaven, and prevail with God to give them Rain.

And God repented him of the Evil which he ſaid he would do unto them, and he did it not] According to the general Declaration he hath made of his Will in this Caſe, Jer. xviii. 1. Therefore the Threatnings of temporal Evils are to be underſtood conditionally, viz. unleſs the Execution of them be ſuſpended by Mens Repentance.

Some of the Antients are of Opinion, ſays Stackhouſe, that tho' Jonah received no Orders from God to limit the Deſtruction of Nineveh to forty Days, becauſe there is no ſuch Time fixed in his Inſtructions, ſee Ver. 2. And therefore they ſuppoſe, that the Space of forty Days was an Addition of the Prophet's own, and, for that Reaſon, not exactly fulfilled: But there is no Reaſon for charging him with ſuch Falſification, ſince the Comminations of God are always conditional, and anſwer his gracious Purpoſes much better, when they are averted, than when they are executed.

And indeed, tho', in this Caſe, they were averted for awhile, yet, when the People relapſed into their former Impieties, the Prophet's Prediction did not fail of its Accompliſhment. For, if we take the forty Days to denote the forty Years, a Day for a Year, and the Overthrowing of Nineveh, not to ſignify its final Deſtruction, but only that antient Empire of the Aſſyrians, which had governed Aſia for above 300 Years, was deſtroyed under the effeminate King Sardanapalus; then was the Prophecy literally fulfilled, and from its Fulfilling we may date the Time of Jonah's Miſſion.

But tho' the Prophecy of Jonah was not fulfilled at the End of forty Days, as he expected, and, at the End of forty Years, there was only a Deſtruction of the Monarchy, and not of the City; yet his miraculous Preſervation in the Whale's Belly gave him ſuch Credit, that it was always believed, that the Time of its Accompliſhment was uncertain. To this Purpoſe we find Tobit giving his Son Tobias Inſtructions to depart out of Nineveh, becauſe thoſe Things which the Prophet Jonah ſpake, ſhould certainly come to paſs: And accordingly, before Tobias died, he heard of the Deſtruction of Nineveh, which was taken by Nebuchadonoſor and Ahaſuerus. See Tobit xiv. 8, &c. For theſe two Princes, being related by Marriage, entered into a Confederacy againſt the Aſſyrians, and, joining their Forces together, beſieged this City, and, after having taken it, and ſlain Saracus the King thereof, they utterly deſtroyed it, and from that Time made Babylon the Place of royal Reſidence, and the ſole Metropolis of the Aſſyrian Monarchy. Thus was the Prediction of Jonah concerning the Deſtruction of Nineveh, (tho' not in the Time which he had prefixed) fulfilled; nor can the Delay of it be looked upon as any Breach of the Divine Veracity.

CHAP. IV.

Jonah, repining at God's Mercy in ſparing the Ninevites, is reproved by the Type and Figure of the Gourd.

Ver. 1. BUT it diſpleaſed Jonah exceedingly, and he was very angry. 2 And he prayed unto the Lord, and ſaid, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my ſaying, when I was yet in my country? Therefore I fled before unto Tarſhiſh: for I knew that thou art a gracious God and merciful, ſlow to anger and of great kindneſs, and repenteſt thee of the evil. 3 Therefore now, O Lord, take I beſeech thee, my life from me; for it is better for me to die than to live. 4 Then ſaid the Lord, Doeſt thou well to be angry? 5 So Jonah went out of the city, and ſat on the eaſt-ſide of the city, and there made him a booth, and ſat under it in the ſhadow, till he might ſee what would become of the city. 6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a ſhadow over his head, to deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd. 7 But God prepared a worm when the morning roſe the next day, and it ſmote the gourd that it withered. 8 And it came to paſs when the ſun did ariſe, that God prepared a vehement eaſt-wind; and the ſun beat upon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wiſhed in himſelf to die, and ſaid, It is better for me to die than to live. 9 And God ſaid to Jonah, Doeſt thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he ſaid, I do well to be angry even unto death. 10 Then ſaid the Lord, Thou haſt had pity on the gourd, for the which thou haſt not laboured, neither madeſt it grow, which came up in a night, and periſhed in a night. 11 And ſhould not I ſpare Nineveh that great city, wherein are more than ſixſcore thouſand perſons, that cannot diſcern between their right hand and their left hand, and alſo much cattel?

But it diſpleaſed Jonah exceedingly, &c.] Jonah, ſays Stackhouſe, was a Man of an unhappy Temper, peeviſh, and paſſionate, and, in this Caſe, fearful of being accounted a falſe Prophet, of having his Miniſtry expoſed to Contempt, or his Perſon perhaps to Violence from the Ninevites, becauſe the Event did not anſwer the Prediction. And the proper Leſſon we are to learn from his Behaviour, is, — that the Gift of Prophecy does not alter Mens natural Tempers, nor ſet them above human Frailty. For we have this Treaſure in earthen Veſſels, that the Excellency of the Power may be of God, and not of us, 2 Cor. iv. 7.

Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beſeech thee, my Life from me, &c.] I had rather die, than live under the Imputation of being a falſe Prophet. Joſephus tells a Story parallel to this, concerning one Judas an Eſſene, who had foretold that Antigonus ſhould be murdered on a certain Day at Straton's Tower, which was another Name for the Town of Cæſarea; on the very ſame Day he ſaw this Antigonus in the Temple, at which he fell into a great Paſſion, and wiſhed himſelf dead. But before the Day was over, he received News that Antigonus was ſlain under that Tower of the Palace in Jeruſalem, which was called Straton's Tower.

So Jonah went out of the City] The Word ſhould have been tranſlated, Now Jonah had gone out of the City: For the Particulars related in the foregoing Verſes happened after his departing out of the City, and ſitting ſomewhere in View of it, expecting ſome extraordinary Judgment ſhould come upon it: But being diſappointed he broke out into that Expoſtulation with God already mentioned.

And ſat on the Eaſt Side of the City] Probably in ſome ſolitary Place, where he might not be diſcovered, and which did not lie in the Way toward his own Country, but quite oppoſite to it: So that if the Ninevites had a Mind to have purſued him, they might not apprehend him.

And God prepared a Gourd, &c.] Calmet obſerves, that the Word Kikajon, by the Septuagint, Arabick, and Syriack Verſions, is called a Gourd, but moſt of the Greek Tranſlators, following St. Jerome in this Particular, chuſe rather to render it Ivy. St. Jerome, however, acknowledges, that the Word Ivy does not anſwer the Signification of the Hebrew Kikajon, tho' he thinks it much better in this Place than Gourd, which, growing cloſe to the Earth, could not have ſhaded Jonah from the Heat of the Sun: For the Kikajon, according to him, is a Shrub, which grows in the ſandy Places of Paleſtine, and increaſes ſo ſuddenly, that in a few Days it comes to a conſiderable Height. It is ſupported by its Trunk, without being upheld by any Thing elſe; and by the Thickneſs of its Leaves, which reſemble thoſe of a Vine, affords, in hot Weather, a very agreeable Shade. See Calmet's Dict. under the Word Kikajon.

When the Sun did ariſe, God prepared a vehement Eaſt Wind, and the Sun did beat upon the Head of Jonah, that he fainted] The Winds in the hot Countries are often more ſuffocating than the Heat of the Sun, when they blow from the ſandy Deſarts; and they make the Sun give a more intenſe Heat. The Word Cariſhith, vehement, ſignifies likewiſe ſilent, as it is tranſlated in the Margin. Taking it in that Senſe, it denotes ſuch a Wind as cauſes a ſmall Motion in the Air, and makes it ſultry hot.

In which are more than ſixſcore thouſand Perſons that cannot diſcern between their right Hand and their left] That is, Infants who know neither Good nor Evil, as it is expreſſed Deut. i. 39. Iſa. vii. 15, 16. If we compute theſe at a Fifth Part of the Inhabitants of Nineveh, the whole will amount to ſix hundred thouſand Inhabitants; which are as few as can well be ſuppoſed to live in a City of ſuch large Dimenſions.

The

The Book of Jonah ends as abruptly as it begins: It begins with a Conjunctive Copulative, And the Word of the Lord came upon Jonah, (as it ſhould be read) which has made ſome Commentators think, that it was but an Appendix to ſome of his other Writings; and it ends without giving us any Manner of Account, either what became of the Ninevites, or of Jonah himſelf, after this Expedition. 'Tis likely indeed, from the compaſſionate Expreſſions, which God makes uſe of towards the Ninevites, that, for that Time, he reverſed their Doom; and 'tis not improbable that Jonah, when he had executed his Commiſſion, and been ſatisfied by God concerning his merciful Procedure, returned into Judea; but the Author of the Lives and Deaths of the Prophets (who goes under the Name of Epiphanius) tells us, that, returning from Nineveh, and being aſhamed to ſee that his Prediction was not fulfilled, he retired with his Mother to the City of Tyre, where he lived in the Plain of Sear, until he died, and was buried in the Cave of Cenezeus, Judge of Iſrael: But who the Author means by Cenezeus, unleſs it be Caleb, who is frequently ſurnamed the Kenezite (tho' we do not read of his ever being a Judge of Iſrael) or rather Othniel, who was the Son of Kenez, and one that judged Iſrael, we cannot tell. See Calmet's Dict. under the Word Jonah, and Howell's Hiſt.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet MICAH.

The ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Micah was probably of Judah, becauſe he reckons the Time of his Propheſying by the Reigns of the Kings of Judah. He is called the Moraſthite here, and Jer. xxvi. 18. from the Place of his Nativity, Moraſthi, which St. Jerome diſtinguiſhes from Mareſhah, mentioned Ch. i. 15. tho' he places them both in the Tribe of Judah.

CHAP. I.

An awful Deſcription of God's coming to execute Judgments, firſt upon Samaria, and then upon Jeruſalem.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord that came to Micah the Moraſthite in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria and Jeruſalem. 2 Hear, all ye people, hearken, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witneſs againſt you, the Lord from his holy temple. 3 For behold, the Lord cometh forth out of his place, and will come down, and tread upon the high places of the earth. 4 And the mountains ſhall be molten under him, and the valleys ſhall be cleft: as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are poured down a ſteep place. 5 For the tranſgreſſion of Jacob is all this, and for the ſins of the houſe of Iſrael. What is the tranſgreſſion of Jacob? is it not Samaria? and what are the high places of Judah? are they not Jeruſalem? 6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, and as plantings of a vineyard; and I will pour down the ſtones thereof into the valley, and I will diſcover the foundations thereof. 7 And all the graven images thereof ſhall be beaten to pieces, and all the hires thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I lay deſolate: for ſhe gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhall return to the hire of an harlot. 8 Therefore I will wail and howl, I will go ſtript and naked: I will make a wailing like the dragons, and mourning as the owls. 9 For her wound is incurable, for it is come unto Judah: he is come unto the gate of my people, even to Jeruſalem. 10 Declare ye it not at Gath, weep ye not at all: in the houſe of Aphrah roll thyſelf in the duſt. 11 Paſs ye away, thou inhabitant of Saphir, having thy ſhame naked; the inhabitant of Zaanan came not forth in the morning of Beth-ezel, he ſhall receive of you his ſtanding. 12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited carefully for good; but evil came down from the Lord unto the gate of Jeruſalem. 13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, bind the chariot to the ſwift beaſt: ſhe is the beginning of the ſin to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee. 14 Therefore ſhalt thou give preſents to Moreſheth-gath: the houſes of Achzib ſhall be a lie to the kings of Iſrael. 15 Yet will I bring an heir unto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah: he ſhall come unto Adullam the glory of Iſrael. 16 Make thee bald, and poll thee for thy delicate children, enlarge thy baldneſs as the eagle, for they are gone into captivity from thee.

For

For behold, the Lord cometh out of his Place] God is described as coming from Heaven to Judgment, because of the visible Effects of his Power and Presence upon the Earth: See Isa. xxvi. 21.

What is the Transgression of Jacob? is it not Samaria] Where is the chief Cause of Jacob's, or Israel's Sin and Apostasy? Is it not in Samaria, the chief Seat of that Kingdom, the Residence of the King and his Princes, who have set up the Idolatry of the golden Calves, and made it the established Religion of the Kingdom?

All the Hires thereof shall be burnt with Fire] That is, the City shall be destroyed; all its Wealth and Substance shall be consumed in the Fire; the Increase of which they looked upon as so many Rewards of their Idolatry. See Hos. ii. 12.

I will make a wailing like the Dragons] The Word Tannin is often translated a Dragon by our Interpreters; but it signifies most commonly some great Fish, such as a Whale or a Crocodile: See Isa. xxvii. 1. Ezek. xxix. 3. It seems to be taken for a Land Animal here, as Dr. Pocock observes upon the Place; and so it is taken Lam. iv. 3. where our English reads, The Sea Monsters draw out the Breasts: But the Text must be understood of a Land-Animal; Sea Monsters having no Breasts.

And mourning as the Owls] Compare Job xxx. 29. Ps. cii. 6. Bochart thinks the Word translated Owls, signifies properly an Ostrich. It is generally supposed that the Hebrew Yaanih from the loud Noise this Bird maketh. The Septuagint translate here by Σειρῆνες, Syrens, by which Vossius understands a Sort of Wasp or Hornet, of a melancholy Note; which Kind never goes in Swarms, but wanders about in a solitary Manner.

In the House of Aphrah roll thyself in the Dust] Or, wallow in the Ashes, as was commonly practised in Times of great Mourning. See Esth. iv. 3. Jer. vi. 20. The Word Aphrah signifies Dust; and the Prophet, it is likely, puts it here for Ophrah, a Town in the Tribe of Benjamin; that the Name may better suit their present Condition.

Pass ye away, thou Inhabitant of Saphir, having thy Shame naked] Or, Thy Nakedness uncovered. The Word Saphir imports a fair and delightful Habitation, and denotes either Samaria or Jerusalem. The Prophet threatens the Inhabitants of that Place, that they shall go into Captivity in a Way very unsuitable to their former Softness and Luxury; even without so much as a Covering to hide their Nakedness. See Isa. iii. 17. xlvii. 2, 3.

The Inhabitant of Zaanan came not forth to the Mourning of Beth-ezel] The Inhabitants of Zaanan were so much concerned to provide for their own Security, that they took no Notice of the mournful Condition of their Neighbour: So Beth-ezel signifies. Grotius supposes Zaanan to denote Zion, and Beth-ezel to signify Bethel, called here by another Name, importing the House of Separation, according to his Interpretation; because it was the principal Seat of idolatrous Worship.

He shall receive from you his Standing] The Inhabitant of Zaanan may make a Conjecture of his own Strength or Condition, whether he is like to stand or fall, by the Fate which he sees doth befal Beth-ezel.

For the Inhabitant of Maroth waited carefully for Good; but Evil came down] The Words may be better translated, Altho' the Inhabitant of Maroth waited for Good, yet Evil, &c. So the Particle Ki is translated when it is repeated in the Middle of the Sentence as it is here; 2 Sam. xxiii. 5. By Maroth, which signifies Bitterness, or Trouble, Grotius understands RAMOTH: There were several Ramahs expressed sometimes in the Plural Number; one in Mount Ephraim near Bethlehem, Jer. xxxi. 15.

Therefore shalt thou give Presents to Moresheth-gath] Either to defend thee against the Enemy, or to receive thee under their Protection. Moresheth-gath was probably a Place that once belonged to Gath of the Philistines.

The Houses of Achzib shall be a Lie unto the Kings of Israel] Achzib signifies a Lie. There is a Town of that Name belonging to the Tribe of Judah, mentioned Josh. xv. 44. This Place the Prophet foretels will answer its Name, and disappoint the Kings of Israel that depended upon its Strength and Assistance; see 2 Chron. xxi. 2. and Ch. xxviii. 19. Israel is sometimes used for Judah; see Ch. iii. 9, 10. so it may probably be taken here, and Ver. 15.

Yet I will bring an Heir to thee, O Inhabitant of Mareshah] This is another Town belonging to Judah, mentioned Josh. xv. 44. The Name signifies an Inheritance: So the Prophet, by way of Allusion, foretels that a new Heir shall come and take Possession of it, viz. a conquering Enemy.

He shall come to Adullam, the Glory of Israel] The Enemy shall enlarge his Conquests even to Adullam, one of the Frontier Cities of Judah, fortified by Rehoboam, 2 Chron. xi. 7. Israel is here put for Judah, as in the foregoing Verse. The Margin reads, The Glory of Israel shall come to Adullam; i. e. the great and honourable Men shall be forced to hide themselves from their Enemies, in the Cave of Adullam, as David did when he fled from Saul, 1 Sam. xxii. 1.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet reproves the Sins of Oppression, and Contempt of God's Word, but concludes with a Promise of Restoration.

Ver. 1. WO to them that devise iniquity, and work evil upon their beds: when the morning is light, they practise it, because it is in the power of their hand. 2 And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage. 3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family do I devise an evil, from which ye shall not remove your necks, neither shall ye go haughtily: for this time is evil. 4 In that day shall one take up a parable against you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, and say, We be utterly spoiled: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he removed it from me? turning away he hath divided our fields. 5 Therefore thou shalt have none that shall cast a cord by lot in the congregation of the Lord. 6 Prophesy ye not, say they to them that prophesy: they shall not prophesy to them, that they shall not take shame. 7 O thou that art named the house of Jacob, is the Spirit of the Lord straitned? are these his doings? do not my words do good to him that walketh uprightly? 8 Even of late my people is risen up as an enemy: ye pull off the robe with the garment, from them that pass by securely, as men averse from war. 9 The women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses, from their children have ye taken away my glory for ever. 10 Arise ye and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you even with a sore destruction. 11 If a man walking in the spirit and falshood, do lie, saying, I will prophesy unto thee of wine and of strong drink; he shall even be the prophet of this people. 12 I will surely assemble, O Jacob, all of thee: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel, I will put them together as the sheep of Bozrah, as the flock in the midst of their fold: they shall make great noise by reason of the multitude of men. 13 The breaker is come up before them: they have broken up, and and have paſſed through the gate, and are gone out by it, and their king ſhall paſs before them, and the Lord on the head of them.

Therefore thou ſhalt have none that ſhall caſt a Cord by Lot, in the Congregation of the Lord] Iſrael was the Lord's People, or Congregation; Deut. xxiii. 1, 2. they were the Lot of his Inheritance, Deut. xxxii. 9. and he divided their Land among them by Lot: But now they ſhall be expelled out of it, and ſent Captives into a foreign Country.

They ſhall not propheſy to them, that they will not take ſhame] Or rather, For they will not take ſhame. It is to no Purpoſe to propheſy to them, for they ſtill perſiſt in a ſhameleſs Courſe of Sin. Compare Zech. iii. 5. Jer. vi. 13. The latter Part of the Sentence may be thus tranſlated: Their Shame ſhall not depart, or be removed from them; i. e. God hath determined to bring that Shame upon them which their Sins deſerve.

Even of late my People is riſen up as an Enemy] This Dr. Wells refers to the Invaſion of Judah by Pekah, and the Devaſtations which followed upon it. See 2 Chron. xxviii. 5—8.

Ye pull off the Robe with the Garment from them that paſs by ſecurely] Or, Ye take the Robe from off the Garment, as Noldius tranſlates it. By the Robe is meant the upper Garment, called the Cloak, Luke vi. 29. where the Phraſe ſeems to be taken from this Place. The Words import, that the Iſraelites invaded their Countrymen of Judea, who had given them no Provocation, and were willing to live peaceably with them, and in a violent Manner ſtript them of all their Subſtance, even to their wearing Apparel.

From their Children have ye taken away my Glory for ever] Ye have taken their Children captive with a Deſign to ſell them to the Heathen (ſee Joel iii. 6.) that they may be bred up in Idolatry, and forfeit all their Right to the Privileges of my Temple and Worſhip. The Temple is called the Beauty of Holineſs, Pſ. xxix. 2. xcvi. 9. where the Word is the ſame which is here tranſlated Glory. Some underſtand the Words of Pekah and Rezin's Deſign to ſet up another King in Judah (ſee Iſa. vii. 6.) not allied to the Houſe of David, and thereby to defeat the Promiſes made to that Family, that the Meſſias ſhould deſcend from thence, and withal deprive the Poſterity of the Jews of the moſt glorious Part of God's Promiſes to them.

I will propheſy unto thee of Wine and ſtrong Drink, he ſhall even be the Prophet of this People] If a Prophet pretend to tell all Manner of Plenty and Proſperity, ſuch a one ſhall be hearkened to by this People, tho' it be never ſo unlikely to come to paſs. Such were thoſe that propheſied of Peace, whom Jeremiah reproves, Ch. vi. 14. viii. 11. and ſpake ſmooth Things to pleaſe their Hearers, Iſa. xxx. 10. The Words may be thus tranſlated: I will propheſy to thee for Wine and ſtrong Drink, i. e. if it appears both by his Words and Actions, that he doth not deſign the ſerving God, but his own Belly, as St. Paul ſpeaks Rom. xvi. 18. yet ſuch a one ſhall be followed by thoſe that love ſoothing Teachers. Compare Ch. iii. 5. Wine and ſtrong Drink are often mentioned together; the latter may beſt be explained in the Words of St. Jerome: Sicera Hebræo ſermone, &c. 'The Hebrew Word Sheker ſignifies any ſtrong Drink, whether it be made of any Sort of Grain (like our Malt) or with the Juice of Apples; or when a ſweet Liquor is made by the Infuſion of Honey, or when a Juice is preſſed out of the Dates of the Palm-tree, or Water hath a Strength and Colour added to it by the Infuſion of any other Fruit.'

The Breaker is come up before them] He that ſhall break the Bonds of their Captivity, or break through all Obſtacles that ſhall hinder their return Home. The Word Porets is uſually underſtood in a bad Senſe for a Thief or a Deſtroyer; but the Context here determines it in a more favourable Acceptation. To this Senſe the vulgar Latin renders it, Pandens iter, He that opens the Way. The Jewiſh Commentators generally underſtand the Breaker, and their King that follows, of the ſame Perſon, viz. the Meſſiah; as may be ſeen in Dr. Pocock upon the Place. Biſhop Pearſon cites the Words of Moſes Hadarſon to the ſame Purpoſe, in his Expoſition of the ſixth Article of the Creed. The Words ſeem parallel to that Expreſſion of Zechariah, Ch. xii. 8. As the Angel of the Lord before them, or, at the Head of them. Some of the Jews indeed, with a little Variation, expound their King of the Meſſiah; and the Breaker, of his Forerunner, Elijah; as Dr. Pocock obſerves. The Chaldee Paraphraſe tranſlates it, Thoſe that are ſaved, as if the Word were in a paſſive Form.

CHAP. III.

Both the Princes and the Prophets of Judah are reproved for their Sins, and the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem is foretold, as a Puniſhment for thoſe Enormities.

Ver. 1. AND I ſaid, Hear, I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and ye princes of the houſe of Iſrael; Is it not for you to know judgment? 2 Who hate the good, and love the evil, who pluck off their ſkin from off them, and their fleſh from off their bones: 3 Who alſo eat the fleſh off my people, and flay their ſkin from off them, and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as fleſh within the caldron. 4 Then ſhall they cry unto the Lord, but he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved themſelves ill in their doings. 5 Thus ſaith the Lord concerning the prophets that make my people err, that bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace: and he that putteth not into their mouths, they even prepare war againſt him. 6 Therefore night ſhall be unto you that ye ſhall not have a viſion, and it ſhall be dark unto you, that ye ſhall not divine, and the ſun ſhall go down over the prophets, and the day ſhall be dark over them. 7 Then ſhall the ſeers be aſhamed, and the diviners confounded: yea, they ſhall all cover their lips, for there is no anſwer of God. 8 But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of judgment, and of might, to declare unto Jacob his tranſgreſſion, and to Iſrael his ſin. 9 Hear this, I pray you, ye heads of the houſe of Jacob, and princes of the houſe of Iſrael, that abhor judgment, and pervert all equity. 10 They build up Zion with blood, and Jeruſalem with iniquity. 11 The heads thereof judge for reward, and the prieſts thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof divine for money: yet will they lean upon the Lord, and ſay, Is not the Lord among us? none evil can come upon us. 12 Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſake be plowed as a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become heaps, and the mountain of the houſe, as the high places of the foreſt.

And he that putteth not into their Mouth, they even declare War againſt him] If Men will not ſtill careſs and maintain them, they bring them into Trouble by raiſing falſe Accuſations againſt them, as if they were Enemies to the Government. Compare Ezek. xiii. 29.

Therefore Night ſhall be unto you, that ye ſhall not have a Viſion, &c.] The falſe Prophets ſhall ſee their own Prophecies confuted by Experience, ſo that they ſhall no more pretend to the Gift of Prophecy, and ſhall be covered with Shame and Confuſion for making falſe Pretences to it.

And the Sun ſhall go down over the Prophets, and the Day ſhall be dark over them] As they ſhall have no Light nor Revelation from Heaven, ſo dark Days or diſmal Calamities ſhall overtake them, as a juſt Puniſhment for their Frauds and Impoſtures. Compare Iſa. viii. 20. xxix. 10. Jer. xv. 9. Amos viii. 9, 10.

Yea, they ſhall cover their Lips, for there is no Anſwer from God] Men uſed to cover their Mouth, or their Face, when they were under any great Affliction. See Ezek. xxiv. 17. This likewiſe ſhewed that they were utterly ſilenced, and had nothing to ſay, either by way of Revelation from God, or in behalf of themſelves: Job xl. 4.

Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſake be plowed as a Field, &c.] This Prophecy had its utmoſt Completion in the final Deſtruction of the City and Temple by the Romans. See Jer. xxvi. 28.

CHAP. IV.

The Prophet foretels the Proclamation of the Goſpel, and the Increaſe of Chriſt's Kingdom in the latter Ages of the World; and encourages God's People againſt the Apprehenſion of the approaching Captivity.

Ver. 1. BUT in the laſt days it ſhall come to paſs, that the mountain of the houſe of the Lord ſhall be eſtabliſhed in the top of the mountains, and it ſhall be exalted above the hills, and people ſhall flow unto it. 2 And many nations ſhall come and ſay, Come and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the houſe of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law ſhall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jeruſalem. 3 And he ſhall judge among many people, and rebuke ſtrong nations afar off, and they ſhall beat their ſwords into plow-ſhares, and their ſpears into pruning-hooks: nation ſhall not lift up a ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they learn war any more. 4 But they ſhall ſit every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree, and none ſhall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hoſts hath ſpoken it. 5 For all people will walk every one in the name of his god, and we will walk in the name of the Lord our God for ever and ever. 6 In that day, ſaith the Lord, will I aſſemble her that halteth, and I will gather her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted; 7 And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was caſt far off, a ſtrong nation; and the Lord ſhall reign over them in mount Zion, from henceforth even for ever. 8 And thou, O tower of the flock, the ſtrong hold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee ſhall it come, even the firſt dominion, the kingdom ſhall come to the daughter of Jeruſalem. 9 Now why doſt thou cry out aloud? is there no king in thee? is thy counſellor periſhed? for pangs have taken thee as a woman in travail. 10 Be in pain, and labour to bring forth, O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail: for now ſhalt thou go forth out of the city, and thou ſhalt dwell in the field, and thou ſhalt go even to Babylon, there ſhalt thou be delivered: there the Lord ſhall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies. 11 Now alſo many nations are gathered againſt thee, that ſay, Let her be defiled, and let our eye look upon Zion. 12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither underſtand they his counſel: for he ſhall gather them as the ſheaves into the floor. 13 Ariſe and threſh, O daughter of Zion: for I will make thine horn iron, and I will make thy hoofs braſs, and thou ſhalt beat in pieces many people: and I will conſecrate their gain unto the Lord, and their ſubſtance unto the Lord of the whole earth.

That the Mountain of the Lord's Houſe ſhall be eſtabliſhed on the Tops of the Mountains] The Temple ſtanding upon Mount Moriah is often ſtiled God's Holy Mountain; from thence the Phraſe is taken to denote the Chriſtian Church in the prophetical Writings. See Iſa. xi. 9. lxvi. 20. Jer. xxxi. 23. Ezek. xx. 40. Joel iii. 17. Zech. viii. 3. Our Lord himſelf compares the Church to a City ſet on a Hill, Matt. v. 14.

And they ſhall beat their Swords into Plowſhares, &c.] It is obſervable, that our Saviour was born at a Time when there was Peace all the World over; after Auguſtus, having put an End to the Civil Wars, had ſhut up the Temple of Janus, in Token of his having procured a ſetled Peace.

In that Day will I aſſemble her that halteth] Or, I will heal her that halteth. Compare Zeph. iii. 19. for the Verb Aſaph, aſſemble, is tranſlated, 2 Kings v. 3—6. The Word which we render halteth, ſignifies in general one that is weak and feeble, or bowed down by any Diſeaſe or Calamity. See Pſ. xxxv. 15. xxxviii. 17.

And thou, O Tower of the Flock, the ſtrong Hold of the Daughter of Zion, unto thee ſhall it come, even the firſt Dominion, &c.] The Church, of which the earthly Jeruſalem was but a Figure, ſhall be the Seat of this Sovereign Dominion, which God ſhall render conſpicuous to the whole World, ſpoken of Ver. 7. The Tower of the Flock, or of Eder, is beſt explained by the ſtrong Hold of the Daughter of Sion, which follows. The Chaldee Paraphraſe expounds the Words of the Meſſiah, in whom the antient Kingdom ſhall be revived, i. e. the Kingdom of David the Bethlehemite; the Tower of Eder being in, or near Bethlehem, Gen. xxxv. 19, 21. This Notion is countenanced by Jonathan's Targum upon Gen. xxxv. 19. where mention being made in the Text, of the Tower of Eder, beyond which Iſrael ſpread his Tents, he adds by way of Explanation, From hence King Meſſias ſhall manifeſt himſelf in the latter Days.

There ſhalt thou be delivered, &c.] God ſhall wonderfully reſtore thy Captivity from thence by Cyrus, as he hath foretold by Iſaiah, a Prophet Contemporary with Micah: Iſa. xliv. 28. xlv. 1. Compare Ch. iv. 8, 11. of this Prophecy.

Ariſe and threſh, O Daughter of Zion; for I will make thine Horn Iron, and I will make thy Hoofs Braſs] The Expreſſions allude to the Manner of treading out the Corn in the Eaſtern Countries, which was by the Feet of Oxen. See Deut. xxv. 4. So Horn is equivalent to the Hoofs which follow. The Words, as they relate to Zion, may be expounded in a ſpiritual Senſe of bringing in the Gentiles to the Obedience of Chriſt. Or elſe we may ſuppoſe this Promiſe will be fulfilled when all the Enemies of the Church will be ſubdued, and the Saints reigning with Chriſt, ſhall have Power over the Nations, and ſhall rule the Refractory with a Rod of Iron, Rev. ii. 26, 27. Compare this Text with Ch. v. 8, 15. of this Prophecy, and with Iſa. xiv. 2. xli. 15. lx. 12. lxi. 5.

And I will conſecrate their Gain unto the Lord, and their Subſtance unto the Lord of the whole Earth] This denotes the Converſion of the Gentiles, which is elſe where expreſſed by their bringing Gifts and Offerings to God's Temple; becauſe that was the moſt ſolemn Part of religious Worſhip practiſed among the Jews. See Pſ. lxviii. 29. Iſa. xviii. 7. xxiii. 18. lx. 6, 9. The Word tranſlated conſecrate, properly ſignifies to devote, and alludes to the Action of Conquerors, who uſed to dedicate Part of their Booty to God, as a thankful Acknowledgment for their Victory.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

The Prophet, to comfort the Jews under the Calamities foretold in the laſt Chapter, foretels the Birth of Chriſt, whoſe Kingdom ſhould be victorious over all his Enemies.

Ver. 1. NOW gather thyſelf in troops, O daughter of troops: he hath laid ſiege againſt us: they ſhall ſmite the judge of Iſrael with a rod upon the cheek. 2 But thou Beth-lehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thouſands of Judah, yet out of thee ſhall he come forth unto me, that is to be ruler in Iſrael: whoſe goings forth have been from of old, from everlaſting. 3 Therefore will he give them up, until the time that ſhe which travaileth hath brought forth: then the remnant of his brethren ſhall return unto the children of Iſrael. 4 And he ſhall ſtand and feed in the ſtrength of the Lord, in the majeſty of the name of the Lord his God, and they ſhall abide: for now ſhall he be great unto the ends of the earth. 5 And this man ſhall be the peace when the Aſſyrian ſhall come into our land: and when he ſhall tread in our palaces, then ſhall we raiſe againſt him ſeven ſhepherds, and eight principal men. 6 And they ſhall waſte the land of Aſſyria with the ſword, and the land of Nimrod in the entrances thereof: thus ſhall he deliver us from the Aſſyrian when he cometh into our land, and when he treadeth within our borders. 7 And the remnant of Jacob ſhall be in the midſt of many people, as a dew from the Lord as the ſhowers upon the graſs, that tarrieth not for man, nor waiteth for the ſons of men. 8 And the remnant of Jacob ſhall be among the Gentiles in the midſt of many people, as a lion among the beaſts of the foreſt, as a young lion among the flocks of ſheep: who if he go through, both treadeth down, and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver. 9 Thine hand ſhall be lift up upon thine adverſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall be cut off. 10 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord, that I will cut off thy horſes out of the midſt of thee, and I will deſtroy the chariots: 11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and throw down all thy ſtrong holds: 12 And I will cut off witchcrafts out of thine hand, and thou ſhalt have no more ſoothſayers. 13 Thy graven images alſo will I cut off, and thy ſtanding images out of the midſt of thee, and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the work of thine hands. 14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the midſt of thee: ſo will I deſtroy thy cities. 15 And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury upon the heathen, ſuch as they have not heard.

Now gather thyſelf in Troops, O Daughter of Troops: He hath laid Siege againſt us] This Verſe is to be underſtood of ſome foreign Invaſion of Judea, by a Nation that had numerous Troops; and may relate to the Conqueſt of Judea by the Babylonians. The Daughter of Troops is a Phraſe of the ſame Kind with the Daughter of Affliction, i. e. one that is ſurrounded with Affliction: So the Son of Death is one condemned to die, 1 Sam. xx. 31. Pſ. cii. 20.

They ſhall ſmite the Judge of Iſrael with a Rod upon the Cheek] This may be underſtood of Zedekiah, who was treated in a contumelious Manner by the Babylonians, as a common Captive, 2 Kings xxv. 6, 7. Smiting on the Cheek ſignifies uſing one in a deſpiteful Manner; Lam. iii. 31. Matt. v. 39. The Judge of Iſrael is equivalent to the King of Iſrael; ſee Amos ii. 5.

But thou Bethlehem-Ephratah, tho' thou be little among the Thouſands of Judah] Ephrath, or Ephratah, was another Name for Bethlehem in the Tribe of Judah; ſee Gen. xxxv. 19. And both Names are joined together, to diſtinguiſh it from another Bethlehem in the Tribe of Zebulun, mentioned Joſh. xix. 15. It is called little among the Thouſands; i. e. among the Families, or Cities of Judah. Compare Judg. vi. 15. 2 Sam. x. 19. The Expreſſion is taken from the firſt Diviſion of the People into Thouſands, Hundreds, and their ſubordinate Diviſions. See Exod. xviii. 21—25. Both the City and Family of David were in a mean Condition at the Time of Chriſt's Birth; whereupon the Bleſſed Virgin, in her Song, thankfully commemorates God's extraordinary Favour in honouring that low Eſtate to which they were reduced, with the Birth of the Meſſiah, Luke i. 48—52, 53.

But the Word Tſair, little, hath likewiſe a contrary Signification, as many Hebrew Words have (ſee Iſa. xii. 17.) and ſignifies one of Note or Eſteem; in which Senſe it is taken by the Chaldee Paraphraſt upon Jer. xlviii. 4. and by ſome Copies of the LXX. Zech. xiii. 7. And in this Senſe St. Matthew underſtands the Text, and tranſlates it, Art not the leaſt among the Thouſands of Judah, Ch. ii. 6.

Yet out of thee he ſhall come unto me, that is to be Ruler of Iſrael] The Scribes and Phariſees underſtood this Text of the Birth of the Meſſiah, as appears from Matt. ii. 5, 6. and ſo did the Generality of the Jews of that Age, who ſpeak of it as an undoubted Truth, that Chriſt was to come of the Seed of David, and of the Town of Bethlehem where David was, John vii. 42. The Chaldee agrees with their Sentiments, and expreſly applies the Prophecy to the Meſſiah; and our Lord was born at Bethlehem by an eſpecial Act of Providence, that this Prophecy might plainly be fulfilled in him; ſee Luke ii. 4. To come forth is the ſame as to be born, ſee Gen. x. 14. xvii. 6. xxv. 25. 1 Chron. ii. 53. Iſaiah xi. 1.

Whoſe Goings forth have been from old, even from everlaſting] The Words do naturally import an Original, diſtinct from the Birth of Chriſt, mentioned in the foregoing Sentence; which is here declared to be from all Eternity; for ſo the Words Mikkedem (tranſlated here, from of Old; but rendred from Everlaſting, Habak. i. 12.) and Mimé Olam, from the Day of Eternity, do plainly ſignify; ſee Pſ. lv. 19. xc. 2. Prov. viii. 23. If we expound it with the Chaldee Paraphraſt, whoſe Name was foretold of old, the Expreſſion contains a plain Deſcription of the Meſſias.

Therefore will he give them up, until the Time that ſhe that travaileth hath brought forth] The Particle Laken, tranſlated therefore, ſhould be rendered nevertheleſs, here, and in ſome other Places, as Dr. Pocock obſerves. Notwithſtanding the Promiſe of ſo great Bleſſing, God will give up his People into the Hands of their Enemies, or leave them to be exerciſed with Troubles and Afflictions, till the appointed Time of the Deliverance cometh, which ſhall be greater than that from Babylon. See Ch. iv. 10. This Deliverance may be underſtood of the Church's bringing forth Children by the Preaching of the Goſpel: See Gal. iv. 27. will be more fully compleated in the general Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation, to be expected in the latter Ages. Compare Iſa. lxvi. 7, 8.

Then the Remnant of his Brethren ſhall return to the Children of Iſrael] Or, ſhall be converted with the Children of Iſrael. See Mal. iv. 6. Then the Remnant of the diſperſed Jews, ſee Ch. iv. 7. upon their Converſion, ſhall join themſelves to the true Iſraelites, and make one Church with them. Both the LXX, and Chaldee read, The Remnant of their Brethren. But if we follow the preſent Hebrew, we may underſtand it of of the Believers that ſhall be added to the Church, for Chriſt vouchſafes to call all Believers his Brethren, See Heb. ii. 11. Matt. xii. 50.

And this Man ſhall be the Peace] This Title in a peculiar Manner belongs to the Meſſiah, and is ſpoken of as a Bleſſing attending his Kingdom. See Iſa. ii. 4. ix. 6, 7. xi. 6. Hag. ii. 9. Zech. ix. 10. Pſ. lxxii. 7. Luke ii. 14. Epheſ. ii. 14. Heb. vii. 2. This Sentence may be beſt explained as coherent with the former Verſe.

When the Aſſyrian ſhall come into our Land, and when he ſhall tread in our Borders] The Senſe which Mr. Mede hath given to this Paſſage, ſeems moſt agreeable to the Scope and Deſign of the following Part of the Chapter. He expounds the Place of the general Deſtruction of ſome remarkable Enemy, or Enemies, to God and his Truth, which ſhould come to paſs before the Conſummation of all Things; an Event foretold in ſeveral Places of Scripture. Pſ. cx. 5, 6. Iſa. xxvi. 20, 21. xxxiv. 1, &c. This Name is probably called by the Name of the Aſſyrian by Iſaiah, Ch. xiv. 25. as well as by Micah here. Mr. Mede ingeniouſly conjectures, that this Name was given him by theſe two Prophets; becauſe that ever ſince the Invaſion of Sennacherib, the very Name of Aſſyrian carried Terror along with it, being eſteemed by the Jews as their moſt formidable Enemy.

Then we ſhall raiſe up againſt him ſeven Shepherds, and eight principal Men] Or, Rulers. Under his Conduct we ſhall be furniſhed with Commanders ſufficient to oppoſe the Enterprizes of the Enemy. Shepherds are elſewhere equivalent to Princes or Generals: See Jer. vi. 3. xxv. 34. Nah. iii. 18. The Words ſeven and eight are uſed for an indefinite Number. See Eccleſ. xi. 2. So once and twice, ſix and ſeven, are uſed, Job xxxiii. 14. v. 19.

And they ſhall waſte the Land of Aſſyria with the Sword, and the Land of Nimrod in the Entrances thereof] In its Borders where its Garriſons are, and its chief Strength lies. Aſſyria is called the Land of Nimrod, becauſe he was the firſt King thereof; as appears from Gen. x. 2. where the Marginal Reading rightly tranſlates the Text, Out of that Land he, i. e. Nimrod, ſpoken of Ver. 9, ſent out into Aſſyria, or invaded and conquer'd it, as the Phraſe went forth commonly ſignifies. See Pſ. lx. 10. Zech. xiv. 3.

And the Remnant of Judah ſhall be in the midſt of many People as a Dew from the Lord] That Remnant mentioned Ver. 3. and Ch. iv. 7. ſhall be the Inſtruments of converting thoſe Gentiles among whom they live: See lxvi. 12, 19. and thereupon may be fitly repreſented by the Dews and Rains which come from Heaven, and are the Means of making the Earth fruitful. Comapre Deut. xxxii. 2. Pſ. lxxxii. 6. Hoſ. vi. 3.

And the Remnant of Judah ſhall be in the midſt of the People, as a Lion among the Beaſts of the Foreſt] The former Verſe deſcribed the Benefits the converted Jews ſhould bring to thoſe Gentiles that were diſpoſed to embrace the Goſpel: This inſtructs us, what terrible Adverſaries they will prove to ſuch as perſiſt in their Enmity to them, and to the Truth. Compare Obad. Ver. 18, 19. Zech. xii. 6. and the Note on Ver. 5. of this Chapter.

CHAP. VI.

The Prophet upbraids the People for their Ingratitude toward God; inſtructs them in the true Way of performing acceptable Service to him; and reproves them for their Injuſtice and Idolatry.

Ver. 1. HEAR ye now what the Lord ſaith, Ariſe, contend thou before the mountains, and let the hills hear thy voice. 2 Hear ye, O mountains, the Lords controverſie, and ye ſtrong foundations of the earth; for the Lord hath a controverſie with his people, and he will plead with Iſrael. 3 O my people, what have I done unto thee, and wherein have I wearied thee? teſtifie againſt me. 4 For I brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſervants, and I ſent before thee Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam. 5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab conſulted, and what Balaam the ſon of Beor anſwered him from Shittim unto Gilgal, that ye may know the righteouſneſs of the Lord. 6 Wherewith ſhall I come before the Lord, and bow myſelf before the high God? ſhall I come before him with burnt-offerings, with calves of a year old? 7 Will the Lord be pleaſed with thouſands of rams, or with ten thouſands of rivers of oyl? ſhall I give my firſt-born for my tranſgreſſion, the fruit of my body for the ſin of my ſoul? 8 He hath ſhewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do juſtly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? 9 The Lords voice crieth unto the city, and the man of wiſdom ſhall ſee thy name: hear ye the rod, and who hath appointed it. 10 Are there yet the treaſures of wickedneſs in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſcant meaſure that is abominable? 11 Shall I count them pure with the wicked balances, and with the bag of deceitful weights? 12 For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have ſpoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth. 13 Therefore alſo will I make thee ſick in ſmiting thee, in making thee deſolate becauſe of thy ſins. 14 Thou ſhalt eat, but not be ſatisfied, and thy caſting down ſhall be in the midſt of thee, and thou ſhalt take hold, but ſhalt not deliver: and that which thou deliveredſt will I give up to the ſword. 15 Thou ſhalt ſow, but thou ſhalt not reap: thou ſhalt tread the olives, but thou ſhalt not anoint thee with oil; and ſweet wine, but ſhalt not drink wine. 16 For the ſtatutes of Omri are kept, and all the works of the houſe of Ahab, and ye walk in their counſels, that I ſhould make thee a deſolation, and the inhabitants thereof an hiſſing; therefore ye ſhall bear the reproach of my people.

Ariſe, contend thou before the Mountains] God often appeals to inanimate Creatures for the Juſtice of his Proceedings, thereby to upbraid the Stupidity of Men.

For Shittim unto Gilgal, that ye may know the Righteouſneſs of the Lord] To make the Senſe perfect, we may ſupply it from the Beginning of the Verſe, as the Chaldee Paraphraſt doth, Remember what I have done for you from Shittim unto Gilgal, i. e. from your encamping on the Plains of Moab near Shittim, by Jordan; ſee Numb. xxii. 1. compared with Ch. xxxiii. 48, 49. where you continued till you paſſed over that River and encamped in Gilgal in the Land of Canaan. See Joſh. ii. 1. compared with Ch. iv. 19. If you duly conſider theſe Things, you will be convinced of God's great Goodneſs to you, and his Faithfulneſs in fulfilling the Promiſes made to your Fathers.

A learned Prelate in his Defence of Chriſtianity from the antient Prophecies, ſuppoſes the Phraſe, From Shittim to Gilgal, to be a proverbial Expreſſion, for a ſudden Change of an Enemy's wicked Paſſions and Deſigns. And then the Words will imply thus much: Remember how I would not ſuffer Balaam, tho' when led to it by his Inclinations and Intereſts, to curſe you, tho' he removed from one Place to another, to find a ſeaſonable Time and Proſpect for his Enchantments, and ſurveyed the Army of Iſrael, going over them with his his Eye, from Shittim where they lay encamped, to the utmoſt Extremity of them overagainſt Gilgal, or Jericho, by Jordan:—See Joſh. iii. 1. compared with iv. 19. But the Lord thy God made him turn his Curſe into a Bleſſing, Deut. xxxiii. 5.

Shall I give my Firſt-born for my Tranſgreſſion] The People declare themſelves ready to ſacrifice their Firſt-born, tho' looked upon as the Strength and Stay of the Family, if that would appeaſe God's Wrath, and procure their Pardon. Such inhuman Sacrifices ſeveral of the idolatrous Jews offered to their Idols; for which they are ſeverely reproved by the Prophets. This and the foregoing Verſe are an exact Deſcription of the Temper of Hypocrites and habitual Sinners, who hope to obtain God's Favour by performing the external Duties of Religion; and are willing to purchaſe their own Pardon upon any Terms, but that of reforming their Lives.

He hath ſhewed thee, O Man, what is good, &c.] Both the Dictates of Reaſon, and the Laws of God, ſufficiently inform Men what is the ſubſtantial Part of their Duty; viz. The Practice of Juſtice and Mercy, and a reverent Behaviour towards God, and looking up to him as our Lord and Maker. This is a more acceptable Service than the moſt coſtly Sacrifices. Compare Deut. x. 12, 13. 1 Sam. xv. 22. Iſa. i. 11, &c. Hoſ. vi. 6.

And thy caſting down ſhall be in the Midſt of thee] The Miſeries that bring thee low, ſhall be like an incurable Diſeaſe in thy Bowels; ſee Ver. 13.

And thou ſhalt take hold, but ſhalt not deliver, &c.] Whatever Advantages thou ſhalt make by thy Induſtry, or whatever thou ſhalt gain by Conqueſt, thou ſhalt not be able to keep it, but it ſhall become a Prey to thine Enemies. A contrary Form of Speech we read in Iſaiah, Ch. v. 19. where the Prophet, ſpeaking how ſucceſsful the Attempts of their Enemies ſhould be, ſaith, They ſhall lay hold of the Prey, and ſhall carry it away ſafe, and none ſhall deliver it, or retake it. The Rabbins generally interpret the Text here to this ſenſe: Thou ſhalt conceive Seed, but ſhalt not be ſafely delivered of the Child; or, if thou be, it ſhall be ſlain by the Enemy. The Verb Palat here uſed, is ſpoken of Cattle which are delivered of their Young, Job xxi. 20.

For the Statutes of Omri are kept, and all the Works of the Houſe of Ahab] It is ſaid of Omri, That he did worſe than all that were before him, 1 Kings xvi. 25. and his Son Ahab added the Worſhip of Baal to the Idolatry of the Golden Calves, ib. Ver. 13. which is ſpoken of there as the worſe Degree of Idolatry, becauſe it was the introducing an Heathen Idol; whereas the Golden Calves were only an idolatrous Repreſentation of the true God. Manaſſeh followed Ahab in his Wickedneſs. See 2 Kings xxi. 5.

Therefore ſhall ye bear the Reproach of my People] The Prophet ſtill directs his Diſcourſe to the great and rich Men, Ver. 12, 15. and tells them, that ſince they have given the chief Occaſion to thoſe Reproaches, which Unbelievers have thrown out upon God's People, as if they were rejected and caſt off by him, therefore they ſhall bear the principal Share of that Shame and Contempt, wherewith their Enemies ſhall treat them. Compare Pſ. xlii. 10. Iſa. xxv. 8.

CHAP. VII.

The Prophet, in the Perſon of the Church, laments the Decay of Piety, and the Growth of Wickedneſs, and by Faith ſhe foreſees her future Reſtoration.

1 WO is me, for I am as when they have gathered the ſummer-fruits: the grape-gleanings of the vintage: there is no cluſter to eat: my ſoul deſired the firſt-ripe fruit. 2 The good man is periſhed out of the earth; and there is none upright among men: they all lie in wait for blood: they hunt every man his brother with a net. 3 That they may do evil with both hands earneſtly: the prince aſketh, and the judge aſketh for a reward: and the great man he uttereth his miſchievous deſire: ſo they wrap it up. 4 The beſt of them is as a briar: the moſt upright is ſharper than a thorn-hedge: the day of thy watchmen, and thy viſitation cometh; now ſhall be their perplexity. 5 Truſt ye not in a friend, put ye not confidence in a guide: keep the doors of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy boſom. 6 For the ſon diſhonoureth the father, the daughter riſeth up againſt her mother, the daughter-in-law againſt her mother-in-law: a mans enemies are the men of his own houſe. 7 Therefore I will look unto the Lord: I will wait for the God of my ſalvation: my God will hear me. 8 Rejoice not againſt me, O mine enemy: when I fall, I ſhall ariſe; when I ſit in darkneſs, the Lord ſhall be a light unto me. 9 I will bear the indignation of the Lord, becauſe I have ſinned againſt him, until he plead my cauſe, and execute judgment for me: he will bring me forth to the light, and I ſhall behold his righteouſneſs. 10 Then ſhe that is mine enemy ſhall ſee it, and ſhame ſhall cover her, which ſaid unto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes ſhall behold her: now ſhall ſhe be troden down as the mire of the ſtreets. 11 In the day that thy walls are to be built, in that day ſhall the decree be far removed. 12 In that day alſo he ſhall come even to thee from Aſſyria, and from the fortified cities, and from the fortreſs even to the river, and from ſea to ſea, and from mountain to mountain. 13 Notwithſtanding the land ſhall be deſolate becauſe of them that dwell therein, for the fruit of their doings. 14 Feed thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine heritage, which dwell ſolitarily in the wood, in the midſt of Carmel: let them feed in Baſhan and Gilead, as in the days of old. 15 According to the days of thy coming out of the land of Egypt will I ſhew unto him marvellous things. 16 The nations ſhall ſee and be confounded at all their might: they ſhall lay their hand upon their mouth, their ears ſhall be deaf. 17 They ſhall lick the duſt like a ſerpent, they ſhall move out of their holes like worms of the earth: they ſhall be afraid of the Lord our God, and ſhall fear becauſe of thee. 18 Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and paſſeth by the tranſgreſſion of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, becauſe he delighteth in mercy. 19 He will turn again, he will have compaſſion upon us: he will ſubdue our iniquities: and thou wilt caſt all their ſins into the depths of the ſea. 20 Thou wilt perform the truth to Jacob, and the mercy to Abraham, which thou haſt ſworn unto our fathers from the days of old.

Wo is me, for I am as when they have gathered the Summer-fruits] Good Men are become like a Gleaning after Harveſt or Vintage, ſcarce two or three to be found after the moſt diligent Search. Iſa. xvii. 6. xxiv. 13.

My Soul deſireth the firſt ripe Fruit] It would be the ſame Refreſhment to me, to meet with a truly pious Man, as it is to a thirſty Traveller to find the early Fruits in the Summer Seaſon. Iſaiah xxviii. 4. Hoſ. ix. 10.

So they wrap it up] The Prince, the Judge, and the great Men agreeing in their ill Deſigns, make a threefold Cord of Iniquity; or they twiſt one Sin upon another, the latter to maintain or cover the former. The Chaldee renders it, So they deprave or pervert it; i. e. the Soul or Mind; which Word is found in the Hebrew of the foregoing Sentence.

The Day of thy Watchmen, even thy Viſitation cometh] The Time of Vengeance is coming, which hath been foretold by the Prophets of antient Times, as well as the preſent, called here, Watchmen, as they are by Ezekiel, Ch. iii. 7. and by Hoſea, Ch. ix. 8. Then God will viſit for all the Sins thou haſt committed againſt him. Watchmen may ſignify Magiſtrates, as well as Prophets; ſee Iſa. lvi. 10. and then the Words import the Time when God will call both Princes and Prophets to account for their Faithfulneſs in the Diſcharge of their ſeveral Offices. See Ch. iii. 11.

In the Day that thy Walls ſhall be built, in that Day ſhall the Decree be far removed] When God ſhall viſit his People, and repair their decayed Eſtate, compare Am. ix. 11. then the tyrannical Edicts of their Perſecutors ſhall be utterly aboliſhed. This may partly relate to the recalling thoſe Edicts which put a Stop to the Rebuilding the City and Temple of Jeruſalem. See Ezra iv. 23, 24. vi. 14. Nehem. ii. 8, 17.

He ſhall come unto thee from Aſſyria, and from the fortified Cities, and from the Fortreſs even to the River, &c.] By the ſingle Perſon, He, is meant the People, or the Diſperſion of Iſrael; ſo the Chaldee Paraphraſt underſtands it: See Ver. 15. This Text, ſays Lowth, might more perſpicuouſly be tranſlated thus, He ſhall come unto thee from Aſſyria even to the Cities of Egypt, and from Egypt even to the River [Euphrates.] The Word Matſor, Fortreſs, likewiſe ſignifying Egypt, as Bochart obſerves. The Words imply, that the Jews ſhall return from their ſeveral Diſperſions whither they were ſcattered: This the Prophets elſewhere expreſs by their Return from Aſſyria and Egypt: See Iſa. xi. 15, 16. xix. 23, 24, 25. Hoſ. xi. 11. Zech. v. 10, 11.

According to the Days of thy coming out of Egypt, will I ſhew him marvellous Things] The Words are an Anſwer to the Prophet's Prayer in the foregoing Verſe; wherein God tells him, that the Wonders he will perform in bringing back his People into their own Country, ſhall be as conſpicuous as thoſe which he ſhewed in their Deliverance out of Egypt, and giving them the firſt Poſſeſſion of it. The Senſe is equivalent to that of Pſ. lxviii. 22. The Lord hath ſaid, I will bring my People again as I did from Baſhan, I will bring my People again from the Depths of the Sea.

They ſhall move out of their Hole like Worms of the Earth] They ſhall be afraid to ſtir out of their Lurking-holes; and if they creep out like Worms, they ſhall preſently hide their Heads again. See Pſ. xviii. 5.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet NAHUM.

The ARGUMENT.

The Deſtruction of Nineveh here propheſied of, is recorded in the Book of Tobit, Ch. xiv. 15. It is there ſaid to be taken by Nebuchadonoſor and Aſſuerus; which Account Archbiſhop Uſher in his Annals, A. M. 3378. Dr. Prideaux, and other learned Men, underſtand of Nabupolaſſar, Father to Nebuchadnezzar (called in the Greek Tranſlation Nebuchadonoſor) and Cyaxeres, King of Media, called by Daniel, Ahaſuerus, Dan. ix. 1. This remarkable Tranſaction is placed by Dr. Prideaux in the 29th Year of King Joſiah, about 24 Years before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; and the fitting it to this Time exactly agrees with the Account given by the Heathen Hiſtorians, Herodotus, and others; as St. Jerome has obſerved in his Preface upon Jonah. The Ninevites would not take Warning by Jonah's Prophecy; ſo not only Nahum, who probably lived in the Reign of Hezekiah, but alſo Zephaniah, who lived in the Time of Joſiah, foretold the Deſtruction of Nineveh, Ch. ii. 13.

CHAP. I.

This Chapter is in the Nature of a Preface to the ſucceeding Prophecy, and ſets forth God's Goodneſs to his People, and his Severity towards his Enemies.

Ver. 1. THE burden of Nineveh. The book of the viſion of Nahum the Elkoſhite. 2 God is jealous, and the Lord revengeth, the Lord revengeth and is furious, the Lord will take vengeance on his adverſaries; and he reſerveth wrath for his enemies. 3 The Lord is ſlow to anger, and great in power, and will not at all acquit the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlwind, and in the ſtorm, and the clouds are the duſt of his feet. 4 He rebuketh the ſea, and maketh it dry, and drieth up all the rivers: Baſhan languiſheth, and Carmel, and the flower of Lebanon languiſheth. 5 The mountains quake at him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his preſence, yea the world, and all that dwell therein. 6 Who can ſtand before before his indignation? and who can abide in the fierceneſs of his anger? his fury is poured out like fire, and the rocks are thrown down by him. 7 The Lord is good, a ſtrong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that truſt in him. 8 But with an overrunning flood he will make an utter end of the place thereof, and darkneſs ſhall purſue his enemies. 9 What do ye imagine againſt the Lord? he will make an utter end: affliction ſhall not riſe up the ſecond time. 10 For while they be folden together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they ſhall be devoured as ſtubble fully dry. 11 There is one come out of thee, that imagineth evil againſt the Lord: a wicked counſellor. 12 Thus ſaith the Lord, Though they be quiet, and likewiſe many, yet thus ſhall they be cut down, when he ſhall paſs through: though I have afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more. 13 For now will I break his yoke from off thee, and will burſt thy bonds in ſunder. 14 And the Lord hath given a commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name be ſown: out of the houſe of thy gods will I cut off the graven image, and the molten image, I will make thy grave, for thou art vile. 15 Behold upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace: O Judah, keep thy ſolemn feaſts, perform thy vows: for the wicked ſhall no more paſs through thee, he is utterly cut off.

The Book of the Viſion of Nahum the Elkoſhite] The Title of Elkoſhite is probably taken from the Name of the Place where he lived. St. Jerome informs us, that there was a Village in Galilee called Elkegai; the Ruins of which were ſhewed to him, when he travelled over thoſe Parts.

But with an over-running Flood he will make an utter End of the Place thereof] An Army's over-running a Country is often compared to an Inundation: See Iſa. viii. 7, 8. Dan. ix. 26. xi. 10, 20, 40. Thus God will bring the great City Nineveh to utter Ruin, ſo that there ſhall be no Remains thereof in After-times. For the Ruins which are to be ſeen of Moſul, are on the oppoſite Side of the River Tigris.

There is one come out of thee, that imagineth Evil, &c.] This probably is meant of Sennacherib, that uttered ſo many Reproaches and Blaſphemies againſt the true God. Nineveh was one of his Royal Seats at the time when Nahum delivered this Prophecy.

The Lord hath given a Commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy Name be ſown] God had decreed that Sennacherib's Family ſhould not long preſerve their Royal State and Dignity: His Son and Succeſſor, Eſarhaddon, was now probably at Man's Eſtate; for he ſucceeded his Father a little Time after his Defeat, 2 Kings xix. 37. and reigned with great Felicity almoſt forty Years; but his Succeſſor, or the next but one, was diſpoſſeſſed of his Kingdom by Nabupolaſſar Father of Nebuchadnezzar, whoſe Family enjoyed the Empire of Aſſyria, or Babylon, as it came then to be called, till the Conqueſt by Cyrus. Some explain the Words thus: Thou ſhalt do no more remarkable Actions, whereby thy Name may be remembered. So the Chaldee underſtands it.

I will make thy Grave, for thou art vile] We may apply the Senſe from the former Sentence. The Houſe of thine Idol ſhall be thy Grave, when thou ſhalt be diſhonourably ſlain by thine own Sons, 2 Kings xix. 37. as a juſt Puniſhment for thy Blaſphemies againſt the God of Iſrael. See Iſa. xix. 1. xlvi. 1. Jer. l. 2.

How beautiful are the Feet of him that bringeth good Tidings, that publiſheth Peace] The ſame Words are to be found in Iſaiah, Ch. lii. 6. There they relate to the joyful News of the Jews Return from Babylon, and in a more eminent Senſe to the glad Tidings of the Goſpel: Here they may be fitly underſtood of the good Tidings of the miraculous Defeat of Sennacherib's Army, and the Raiſing the Siege of Jeruſalem, which was the Conſequence of it; to which the following Words do plainly relate.

CHAP. II.

This and the following Chapter contain a Deſcription of the Taking of Nineveh by the Babylonians and Medes.

Ver. 1. HE that daſheth in pieces is come up before thy face: keep the munition, watch the way, make thy loins ſtrong, fortify thy power mightily. 2 For the Lord hath turned away the excellency of Jacob, as the excellency of Iſrael: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine-branches. 3 The ſhield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in ſcarlet: the chariots ſhall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation, and the fir-trees ſhall be terribly ſhaken. 4 The chariots ſhall rage in the ſtreets, they ſhall juſtle one againſt another in the broad ways: they ſhall ſeem like torches, they ſhall run like the lightnings. 5 He ſhall recount his worthies: they ſhall ſtumble in their walk: they ſhall make haſte to the wall thereof, and the defence ſhall be prepared. 6 The gates of the rivers ſhall be opened, and the palace ſhall be diſſolved. 7 And Huzzab ſhall be led away captive, ſhe ſhall be brought up, and her maids ſhall lead her as with the voice of doves, tabring upon their breaſts. 8 But Nineveh is of old like a pool of water: yet they ſhall flee away. Stand, ſtand, ſhall they cry; but none ſhall look back. 9 Take ye the ſpoil of ſilver, take the ſpoil of gold: for there is none end of the ſtore, and glory out of all the pleaſant furniture. 10 She is empty, and void, and waſte, and the heart melteth, and the knees ſmite together, and much pain is in all loins, and the faces of them all gather blackneſs. 11 Where is the dwelling of the lions, and the feeding-place of the young lions? where the lion, even the old lion walked, and the lions whelp, and none made them afraid. 12 The lion did tear in pieces enough for his whelps, and ſtrangled for his lioneſſes, and filled his holes with prey, and his dens with ravine. 13 Behold, I am againſt thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I will burn her chariots in the ſmoke, and the ſword ſhall devour thy young lions, and I will cut off thy prey from the earth, and the voice of thy meſſengers ſhall no more be heard.

He that daſheth in pieces is come up before thy Face] An Enemy that will break down thy Walls, and deſtroy thine Inhabitants, O Nineveh, is come to beſiege thee. The Words may be literally tranſlated, The Hammer is come up againſt thee; in the ſame Senſe as the Chaldeans are called the Hammer of the whole Earth, Jer. l. 23. The original Word indeed is not the ſame in both Places, but they are ſynonimous.

For the Lord hath turned away the Excellency of Jacob, as the Excellency of Iſrael] Some tranſlate the Words thus, The Lord hath returned [or will revenge] the Pride, or injurious Dealings againſt Jacob, and the Pride againſt Iſrael, i. e. he will requite the Injuries and and Oppreſſions, which Sennacherib and Shalmaneſer, the Kings of Aſſyria, have exerciſed upon Judah and Iſrael. This Interpretation agrees better with the Scope of the Text, than that which moſt Tranſlators follow, and ſuits very well with the Hebrew Idiom. Compare Joel iii. 19. Habak. ii. 8—17. and Obad. Ver. 10. where the ſecond of two Subſtantives is taken in the ſame Senſe by our Tranſlators.

He ſhall recount his Worthies, they ſhall ſtumble in their Walk] The King of Nineveh ſhall muſter together his choiceſt Troops, but they ſhall be diſordered, and give Way, or be diſcomfited as they march againſt the Enemy.

Huzzab ſhall be led away captive, ſhe ſhall be brought up] Rather, removed or taken away. Compare Jer. xlviii. 15. Pſ. cii. 24. By Huzzah the Chaldee underſtands the Queen of Nineveh: But the Word may probably mean Nineveh itſelf, the Word denoting a ſtrong and impregnable Fortreſs. If it be underſtood in this Senſe, in the next Words Nineveh is deſcribed as a great Princeſs carried Captive with her Maids of Honnour attending her, and bewailing her's and their Condition; denoting the leſſer Cities under her Juriſdiction, that ſhould be Sharers with her in the ſame Calamity. So Babylon is repreſented as a tender and delicate Lady, undergoing the Hardſhips of Captivity; Iſa. xlviii. 1—5, 7, 8.

Where is the Dwelling of the Lion, and feeding Place of the young Lions?] What is become of the ſtately Palaces of the King and Princes of Nineveh, who like ſo many Lions preyed upon the neighbouring Countries, and enriched their City with Spoils they took from others?

CHAP. III.

Ver. 1. WO to the bloody city, it is all full of lies and robbery, the prey departeth not. 2 The noiſe of a whip, and the noiſe of the rattling of the wheels, and of the pranſing horſes, and of the jumping chariots. 3 The horſman lifteth up both the bright ſword, and the glittering ſpear, and there is a multitude of ſlain, and a great number of carcaſes; and there is none end of their corpſes: they ſtumble upon their corpſes: 4 Becauſe of the multitude of the whoredoms of the well-favoured harlot, the miſtreſs of witchcrafts, that ſelleth nations through her whoredoms, and families through her witchcrafts. 5 Behold, I am againſt thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I will diſcover thy ſkirts upon thy face, and I will ſhew the nations thy nakedneſs, and the kingdoms thy ſhame. 6 And I will caſt abominable filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gazing-ſtock. 7 And it ſhall come to paſs, that all they that look upon thee, ſhall flee from thee, and ſay, Nineveh is laid waſte, who will bemoan her? Whence ſhall I ſeek comforters for thee? 8 Art thou better than populous No, that was ſituate among the rivers, that had the waters round about it, whoſe rampart was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea? 9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and it was infinite, Put and Lubim were thy helpers. 10 Yet was ſhe carried away, ſhe went into captivity: her young children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the top of all the ſtreets: and they caſt lots for her honourable men, and all her great men were bound in chains. 11 Thou alſo ſhalt be drunken: thou ſhalt be hid, thou alſo ſhalt ſeek ſtrength becauſe of the enemy. 12 All thy ſtrong holds ſhall be like fig-trees with the firſt-ripe figs: if they be ſhaken they ſhall even fall into the mouth of the eater. 13 Behold, thy people in the midſt of thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhall be ſet wide open unto thine enemies, the fire ſhall devour thy bars. 14 Draw thee waters for the ſiege, fortify thy ſtrong holds: go into clay and tread the mortar, make ſtrong the brick-kiln. 15 There ſhall the fire devour thee: the ſword ſhall cut thee off: it ſhall eat thee up like the canker-worm: make thyſelf many as the canker-worm, make thyſelf many as the locuſts. 16 Thou haſt multiplied thy merchants above the ſtars of heaven: the canker-worm ſpoileth and flieth away. 17 Thy crowned are as the locuſts, and thy captains as the great graſhoppers, which camp in the hedges in the cold day, but when the ſun ariſeth they flee away, and their place is not known where they are. 18 Thy ſhepherds ſlumber, O king of Aſſyria: thy nobles ſhall dwell in the duſt: thy people is ſcattered upon the mountains, and no man gathereth them. 19 There is no healing of thy bruiſe: thy wound is grievous: all that hear the bruit of thee ſhall clap the hands over thee; for upon whom hath not thy wickedneſs paſſed continually?

I will diſcover thy Skirts upon thy Face] I will ſend thee into Captivity naked and bare: See Iſa. xx. 4—8. xlvii. 2, 3. Jer. xiii. 22. Mic. i. 11. Thus will I expoſe thy Shame to the World; which was a Puniſhment often inflicted upon Harlots. See Ezek. xvi. 37.

Art thou better than populous No?] Which was ſacked, and its Inhabitants made Captives, as it follows. The Hebrew reads No Ammon; the ſame City which is called Hammōn No, Ezek. xxx. 15. and Ammon Minnu, Jer. xlvi. 25. where our Engliſh reads the Multitude of No, as it does render it populus No here; tho' the Place probably took its Name from Ham, the Founder of the Egyptian Kingdom (thence called the Land of Ham, Pſ. cvi. 22.) who was worſhipped there under the Name of Jupiter Hammon: Accordingly the LXX render it Dioſpolis, upon that Place of Jeremiah. It was likewiſe called Thebes, by Homer, who deſcribes it as famous for its hundred Gates.

Ethiopia and Egypt were her Strength] Dr. Prideaux, with great Reaſon, ſuppoſes this Calamity to have been brought upon No by Sennacherib, about three Years before he beſieged Jeruſalem, in the Time of Hezekiah. At that Time Sevechus, the Son of Sabacon, or So, mentioned 2 Kings xvii. 4. was King both of Egypt and Ethiopia; ſo they are mentioned here as Confederates, and Iſaiah foretels that they ſhould be vanquiſhed by Sargon, or Sennacherib; Ch. xx. 4. whereas the Deſtruction of No, foretold by Jeremiah Ch. xlvi. 25. and Ezek. xxx. 14. was, after this, brought to paſs by Nebuchadnezzar.

All thy ſtrong Holds ſhall be like Fig-trees with the firſt ripe Figs] As Figs drop off when they are ripe, ſo ſhall thy ſtrong Holds fall into the Enemies Hand upon the firſt Aſſault.

Thy crowned are as the Locuſts, &c.] The Word Minnazaraik may be literally rendered, the Nazarites; which Title is given to Perſons remarkable for their Youth and Beauty, Lam. iv. 7. Am. ii. 11. and ſo may not improperly be applied to the Officers in the Ninevites Army. Theſe the Prophets compares to Locuſts and Graſhoppers, both for their Numbers, as Ver. 15. and for another Quality, That they ſhun the Heat of the Battle, juſt as the Graſhoppers do the Heat of the Sun.

Thy Shepherds ſlumber, O King of Aſſyria, thy Nobles dwell in the Duſt] By Shepherds are meant Captains or Generals: Compare Jer. vi. 3. xxv. 34. Theſe are ſaid to ſlumber, as having loſt their Courage; or as being gone to their laſt Sleep, are dead and buried ried: Compare Pſ. lxxxvi. 5, 6. By the King of Aſſyria, Dr. Prideaux underſtands Saracus, who was now vanquiſhed by Nabupolaſſar (who had before poſſeſſed himſelf of the Kingdom of Babylon) and Cyaxeres the King of Media. The Fall of this Prince is elegantly deſcribed by Ezekiel, Ch. xxxi. 3, &c. The Words of Jeremiah, Ch. l. 18. I have puniſhed the King of Aſſyria, are to be underſtood of the ſame Perſon.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet HABAKKUK.

The ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Habakkuk was probably Contemporary with Jeremiah, and propheſied in the Reign of Joſiah; for the Subject of his Prophecy is the ſame with that of Jeremiah, and upon the ſame Occaſion, viz. the Deſtruction of Judah and Jeruſalem by the Chaldeans, for their heinous Sins and Provocations. We may obſerve, as Nahum, the preceding Prophet, foretold the Deſtruction of the Aſſyrians, who carried the Ten Tribes captive; ſo Habakkuk foretels the Judgments that ſhall come upon the Chaldeans, who compleated the Captivity of the two remaining Tribes.

CHAP. I.

The Prophet, foreſeeing the Deſolations that the Chaldeans would make among the Jews, expoſtulates with God about theſe Proceedings.

Ver. 1. THE burden which Habakkuk the prophet did ſee. 2 O Lord, how long ſhall I cry, and thou wilt not hear! even cry out unto thee of violence, and thou wilt not ſave! 3 Why doſt thou ſhew me iniquity, and cauſe me to behold grievance? for ſpoiling and violence are before me: and there are that raiſe up ſtrife and contention. 4 Therefore the law is ſlacked, and judgment doth never go forth: for the wicked doth compaſs about the righteous: therefore wrong judgment proceedeth. 5 Behold ye among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvellouſly: for I will work a work in your days, which ye will not believe though it be told you. 6 For lo, I raiſe up the Chaldeans, that bitter and haſty nation, which ſhall march through the breadth of the land, to poſſeſs the dwelling-places that are not theirs. 7 They are terrible and dreadful: their judgment and their dignity ſhall proceed of themſelves. 8 Their horſes alſo are ſwifter than the leopards, and are more fierce than the evening wolves: and their horſemen ſhall ſpread themſelves, and their horſemen ſhall come from far, they ſhall fly as the eagle that haſteth to eat. 9 They ſhall come all for violence: their faces ſhall ſup up as the eaſt-wind, and they ſhall gather the captivity as the ſand. 10 And they ſhall ſcoff at the kings, and the princes ſhall be a ſcorn unto them: they ſhall deride every ſtrong hold, for they ſhall heap duſt and take it. 11 Then ſhall his mind change, and he ſhall paſs over, and offend, imputing this his power unto his god. 12 Art thou not from everlaſting, O Lord my God, mine only One? we ſhall not die: O Lord, thou haſt ordained them for judgment, and O mighty God, thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for correction. 13 Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canſt not look on iniquity: wherefore lookeſt thou upon them that deal treacherouſly, and holdeſt thy tongue when the wicked devoureth the man that is more righteous than he? 14 And makeſt men as the fiſhes of the ſea, as the creeping things that have no ruler over them? 15 They take up all of them with the angle: they catch them in their net, and gather them in their drag; therefore they rejoice and are glad. 16 Therefore they ſacrifice unto their net, and burn incenſe unto their drag: becauſe by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous. 17 Shall they therefore empty their net, and not ſpare continually to ſlay the nations?

The Burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee] The Word Burden is explained of a burthenſome Prophecy, big with Ruin and Deſtruction. See Jer. xxiii. 33. But a learned Prelate, in his Defence of Chriſtianity, obſerves that the Hebrew, Maſſa, ſignifies no more than barely a Prophecy, and ſo is tranſlated in our Engliſh Bibles, Prov. xxxi. 1. and is often tranſlated by Viſion and Prophecy in the LXX and other antient Verſions; the Word being uſed in that Senſe, from the Prophet's bearing or feeling within him the Influence of God's Spirit; for which Reaſon they were called in Greek Θεοφόροι, Bearers of God, and Πνευματοφόροι.

Their Judgment and their Dignity ſhall proceed from themthemſelves] They will be their own Judges of what is right and wrong.

Their Horſes are more fierce than Evening Wolves] Or are wifter than Evening Wolves, when they go out for their Prey, and are pinched with Hunger. See Pſ. civ. 20. Jer. v. 6. The Words might be tranſlated to an eaſier Senſe; Their Horſes are fiercer than Evening Wolves, and ſhall ſpread themſelves, or ſhall be multiplied.

Their Faces ſhall ſup up as the Eaſt Wind] They ſhall deſtroy every Thing where they march, as the Eaſt Wind blaſts the Fruits of the Earth; compare Ezek. xvii. 10. Hoſ. xiii. 15. Some render the Words, Whatſoever they gather, they ſhall carry it toward the Eaſt, meaning to Babylon, which lay North-Eaſt from Judea.

For they ſhall heap Duſt, and take it] Caſt up Mountains againſt them, and ſo take them. See Jer. xxxii. 24. xxxiii. 4.

Then ſhall his Mind change, and he ſhall paſs over and tranſgreſs, &c.] The Prophet ſpeaks of the ſeveral Kings of Babylon as if they were one and the ſame Perſon; ſee Iſa. xxiii. 15. and ſaith, that he ſhall change his Mind with his Fortune, and impute his Succeſs to his Idol Belus; which was remarkably true of Belſhazzar, Nebuchadnezzar's Succeſſor; ſee Dan. v. 4. But we may underſtand the Words of Nebuchadnezzar himſelf, if we tranſlate the latter Part of the Verſe thus, This his Strength is his God, i. e. imputing all his Succeſs to his own Proweſs; ſee Ver. 16. and afterward for thoſe arrogant Words of his, mentioned Dan. vi. 30. he was degraded into a Beaſt.

And makeſt Men as the Fiſhes of the Sea, &c.] Suffereſt the Chaldeans to treat them no better than Fiſhes, who become a general Prey to the Fiſherman's Net or Angle.

Therefore they ſacrifice to their Net, and burn Incenſe to their Drag] They impute all their Victories to their Strength and Skill, and make no Acknowledgment to God for their Succeſs.

Shall they therefore empty their Net?] Carry away the Riches and Treaſures of their Conqueſts, ſee 2 Kings xxiv. 13. in order to undertake more; juſt as Fiſhermen empty their Nets to fill them again. But the Words may be rendered, ſhall he (ſee Ver. 10.) caſt, or ſpread, his Net? The Hebrew Verb is uſed of drawing a Sword or Spear: See Ezek. xxviii. 7. Pſ. xxxv. 3. To this Senſe the Greek and Chaldee here underſtand it.

CHAP. II.

God's Anſwer to the Prophet's Expoſtulations in the foregoing Chapter.

Ver. 1. I Will ſtand upon my watch, and ſet me upon the tower, and will watch to ſee what he will ſay unto me, and what I ſhall anſwer when I am reproved. 2 And the Lord anſwered me, and ſaid, Write the viſion, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it. 3 For the viſion is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it ſhall ſpeak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it, becauſe it will ſurely come, it will not tarry. 4 Behold, his ſoul which is lifted up, is not upright in him: but the juſt ſhall live by his faith. 5 Yea alſo, becauſe he tranſgreſſeth by wine, he is a proud man, neither keepeth at home, who enlargeth his deſire as hell, and is as death, and cannot be ſatisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people: 6 Shall not all theſe take up a parable againſt him, and a taunting proverb againſt him, and ſay, Wo to him that increaſeth that which is not his: how long? and to him that ladeth himſelf with thick clay. 7 Shall they not riſe up ſuddenly that ſhall bite thee, and awake that ſhall vex thee, and thou ſhalt be for booties unto them? 8 Becauſe thou haſt ſpoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people ſhall ſpoil thee: becauſe of mens blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein. 9 Wo to him that coveteth an evil covetouſneſs to his houſe, that he may ſet his neſt on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil. 10 Thou haſt conſulted ſhame to thy houſe, by cutting off many people, and haſt ſinned againſt thy ſoul. 11 For the ſtone ſhall cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber ſhall anſwer it. 12 Wo to him that buildeth a town with blood, and ſtabliſheth a city by iniquity. 13 Behold, is it not of the Lord of hoſts, that the people ſhall labour in the very fire, and the people ſhall weary themſelves for very vanity? 14 For the earth ſhall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the ſea. 15 Wo unto him that giveth his neighbour drink: that putteſt thy bottle to him, and makeſt him drunken alſo, that thou mayeſt look on their nakedneſs. 16 Thou art filled with ſhame for glory: drink thou alſo, and let thy foreſkin be uncovered: the cup of the Lords right hand ſhall be turned unto thee, and ſhameful ſpuing ſhall be on thy glory. 17 For the violence of Lebanon ſhall cover thee: and the ſpoil of beaſts, which made them afraid becauſe of mens blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein. 18 What profiteth the graven image, that the maker thereof hath graven it; the molten image, and a teacher of lies, that the maker of his work truſteth therein, to make him dumb idols? 19 Wo unto him that ſaith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb ſtone, Ariſe, it ſhall teach: behold, it is laid over with gold and ſilver, and there is no breath at all in the midſt of it. 20 But the Lord is in his holy temple: let all the earth keep ſilence before him.

Stand upon the Watch-tower, &c.] It was the Buſineſs of a Watch-man, in the Time of War, to deſcry from an eminent Station, what Meſſengers were coming, and to make known the Meſſage as ſoon as poſſible; ſee 2 Kings ix. 17, &c. The Prophet puts himſelf in ſuch a Poſture, that he may receive God's Anſwer to the Complaints he made in the foregoing Chapter.

For the Viſion is for an appointed Time] God has determined a ſet Time when it ſhall be fulfilled, and not before; compare Dan. viii. 19. xi. 27—35, 36. According to the common Tranſlation of the following Words, by this Viſion we are to underſtand the Deſtruction of the Babylonian Monarchy, which is plainly foretold from the 5th Verſe to the End of the Chapter, and is a proper Anſwer to the Complaint or Argument the Prophet had made in the foregoing Chapter. But our learned Biſhop, in his Defence of Chriſtianity, &c. obſerves, that the Prophet, by way of Preface to that Prediction, confirms the Jews in the general Expectation of their Deliverer the Meſſias, whoſe Coming had been ſo often promiſed, and which prophane Perſons began to queſtion, when they ſaw God give up his People into the Hands of a cruel and idolatrous Nation.

Yea alſo becauſe he tranſgreſſeth by Wine, he is a proud Man, neither keepeth he at home, &c.] The Words would yield a plainer Senſe, if they were thus tranſlated: Moreover (like) a Man tranſgreſſing by Wine, he is proud and ſhall not continue or proſper. To this Senſe the Chaldee Paraphraſe and vulgar Latin tim explain the Words; the Particle of Compariſon, as, being often underſtood. See Iſa. xxi. 8. The Prophet having aſſured the Jews of a Deliverance in God's appointed Time, proceeds now to denounce his Judgments againſt the Babylonian Monarchy, ſpeaking of it as comprized under one Perſon at the Head of it; ſee Note on Ch. i. 11. Here he deſcribes him as one intoxicated with his Succeſſes, and not knowing how to ſet any Bounds to his Ambition; but ſtill as his Conqueſts enlarge, his Deſire of having more increaſes. Hell or Death, and the Grave, are proverbial Emblems of an inſatiable Temper; ſee Prov. xxvii. 29. xxx. 16.

And to him that ladeth himſelf with thick Clay] His Gold and Silver, which is nothing originally but Earth or Clay, ſhall turn to no Benefit, but be rather his Burden; adding Weight to his Sins and Puniſhment.

Shall not they ſuddenly riſe that ſhall bite thee?] Cyrus took the City of Babylon (and thereby put an End to the Babylonian Empire) by a ſudden Aſſault, taking Advantage of a Feſtival, celebrated by Night according to Cuſtom, and then draining the River without being perceived, and making it fordable for his Army; according to the Account Herodotus and Xenophon give of the taking of Babylon, wherein they exactly agree with the Prophecy of Jeremiah, Ch. l, and li. foretelling the ſame Event.

For the Stone ſhall cry out of the Wall, and the Beam out of the Timber ſhall anſwer it] The Houſes and Towns which have been deſtroyed by the Chaldeans, ſhall cry for Vengeance againſt the Deſtroyers. 'Tis a great Queſtion, what is the proper Signification of the Hebrew Caphis, being found but in this one Place of the Bible: Our Tranſlators render it Beans; others think it ſignifies a Brick.

Wo to him that giveth to his Neighbour Drink, that puttеſt thy Bottle to him, &c.] The Deſolation of any Country is often compared to Drunkenneſs; ſee Jer. xxv. 15. ſo the King of Babylon, who ſubdued the neighbouring Countries round about him, and perhaps got an Advantage over ſome of them by Gifts and Preſents, or by counterfeit Leagues and Friendſhip, is compared to a Man that gets an Advantage over another by perſuading or forcing him to drink too much. The Word Chemath, tranſlated Bottle, ſignifies likewiſe that heating or poiſonous Quality which attends Wine taken in Exceſs; compare Hoſ. vii. 5. and is often taken for any poiſonous Juice: See Deut. xxxii. 24, 33. Job vi. 4. xx. 16. Pſ. lviii. 4.

For the Violence of Lebanon ſhall cover thee] God ſhall execute his Vengeance upon thee for the Violence thou haſt offered to the Temple at Jeruſalem, which is here compared to the Cedars of the Foreſt of Lebanon, for its Height and Statelineſs of its Buildings: Compare Zech. xi. 1. or elſe the Prophet compares the Cruelty of the Medes and Perſians to the Violence of wild Beaſts in the Foreſt of Lebanon: So the following Words import.

And the Spoil of Beaſts which made them afraid] The Relative which, added by our Tranſlators, obſcures the Text, which might be more plainly rendered, The Spoil of (or made by) Beaſts ſhall make them afraid; as the Septuagint and Chaldee, with a very little Alteration read the Text. As thou haſt ſpoiled others, without any Senſe of common Humanity; ſo the Army of the Conqueror ſhall deal by thee; ſee Ver. 8. and ſhall tare thee in Pieces, as wild Beaſts do their Prey. See Iſa. xiii. 15—18.

CHAP. III.

The Prophet, in a Hymn, compoſed in a lofty Stile, celebrates the wonderful Works of God.

Ver. 1. A Prayer of Habakkuk the prophet upon Sigionoth. 2 O Lord, I have heard thy ſpeech and was afraid: O Lord, revive thy work in the midſt of the years, in the midſt of the years make known; in wrath remember mercy. 3 God came from Teman, and the holy One from mount Paran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praiſe. 4 And his brightneſs was as the light, he had horns coming out of his hand, and there was the hiding of his power. 5 Before him went the peſtilence, and burning coals went forth at his feet. 6 He ſtood and meaſured the earth: he beheld, and drove aſunder the nations, and the everlaſting mountains were ſcattered, the perpetual hills did bow: his ways are everlaſting. 7 I ſaw the tents of Cuſhan in affliction: and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble. 8 Was the Lord diſpleaſed againſt the rivers? was thine anger againſt the rivers? was thy wrath againſt the ſea, that thou didſt ride upon thine horſes, and thy chariots of ſalvation? 9 Thy bow was made quite naked, according to the oaths of the tribes, even thy word. Selah. Thou didſt cleave the earth with rivers. 10 The mountains ſaw thee, and they trembled: the over flowing of the water paſſed by: the deep uttered his voice, and lift up his hands on high. 11 The ſun and moon ſtood ſtill in their habitation: at the light of thine arrows they went, and at the ſhining of thy glittering ſpear. 12 Thou didſt march through the land in indignation, thou didſt threſh the heathen in anger. 13 Thou wenteſt forth for the ſalvation of thy people, even for ſalvation with thine anointed; thou woundeſt the head out of the houſe of the wicked, by diſcovering the foundation unto the neck. Selah. 14 Thou didſt ſtrike through with his ſtaves the head of his villages: they came out as a whirlwind to ſcatter me: their rejoicing was as to devour the poor ſecretly. 15 Thou didſt walk through the ſea with thine horſes, through the heap of great waters. 16 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips quivered at the voice: rottenneſs entred into my bones, and I trembled in myſelf, that I might reſt in the day of trouble: when he cometh up unto the people, he will invade them with his troops. 17 Although the fig-tree ſhall not bloſſom, neither ſhall fruit be in the vines, the labour of the olive ſhall fail, and the fields ſhall yield no meat, the flock ſhall be cut off from the fold, and there ſhall be no herd in the ſtalls: 18 Yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my ſalvation. 19 The Lord God is my ſtrength, and he will make my feet like hinds feet, and he will make me to walk upon mine high places. To the chief ſinger on my ſtringed inſtruments.

O Lord, I have heard thy Speech and was afraid: O Lord, revive thy Work in the Midſt of the Years, in the Midſt of the Years make known, &c.] Or, make it known. I have heard what thou haſt revealed to me concerning thy Judgments upon thy People: The Terribleneſs of them ſtrikes me with a reverential Awe and Dread; compare Ver. 16. yet I earneſtly beg of thee, if it be thy gracious Will, to exert thy Power, and renew thy former Wonders for the Deliverance of thy People, before the 70 Years, determined for their Captivity be expired; and in the Midſt of Judgment to remember Mercy.

God came from Teman, and the Holy One from Mount Paran] The Prophet, to encourage the Faithful ſtill to truſt in God, recounts ſome of the remarkable Inſtances of the Protection he afforded their Forefathers in the Wilderneſs, where they were deſtitute of all viſible ſible Means of ſuſtaining themſelves. Firſt of all he takes Notice of the Wonders he did for them when they came near the Border of Edom, when the Edomites came out with a mighty Force to oppoſe their Paſſage; ſee Numb. xxi. 20. The like Wonders he had ſhewed in their former Journeys from Mount Sinai to Paran, Numb. x. 12. Compare Deut. xxxiii. 2.

He had Horns coming out of his Hands, and there was the Hiding of his Power] The Hebrew Word Keren, ſignifies both Horns, and Rays of Light, ſee Exod. xxiv. 29, 30. So the Marginal Reading is here to be preferred: He had bright Beams coming out of his Side — The Shekinah, or Symbol of the Divine Preſence, had Rays of Light iſſuing out on every Side, and yet that was but a Hiding or Veil to the Divine Majeſty, who covereth himſelf with Light as with a Garment, Pſ. civ. 2.

And the everlaſting Mountains were ſcattered, the perpetual Hills did bow] The Mountains and Hills are ſaid to quake at God's Preſence, Nah. i. 5. So here the whole Land of Canaan is ſaid to tremble, and even the Mountains themſelves, the moſt ſolid and impregnable Parts of it, becauſe the Hearts of the ſtouteſt of the old Inhabitants fainted, and loſt their Courage; ſee Joſh. ii. 24. By the Mountains and Hills may be meant the greater and leſſer Principalities or Kingdoms in the Land of Canaan, ſee Pſ. lii. 3. The Mountains and Hills are ſpoken of as Emblems of Eternity, becauſe Time ſeems no make no Change or Alteration in them; ſee Gen. xlix. 26. Deut. xxxiii. 15.

I ſaw the Tents of Cuſhan in Affliction, &c.] I beheld the Arabians, called Scenitæ, from their dwelling in Tents, and their Neighbours the Midianites, in great Conſternation, upon the Approach of the Iſraelites towards their Borders: See Numb. xxii. 3. Exod. xv. 15. whom they afterward deſtroyed in Battle, Numb. xxxi. 2, &c.

Thy Bow was made quite naked, according to the Oaths of the Tribes, even thy Word] Thou didſt fight for Iſrael, and didſt make bare thine Arm in their Defence, as evidently as if thou hadſt been ſeen with a Bow in thine Hand; that thou mighteſt fulfil the Oaths and Promiſes thou hadſt made to give the Tribes of Iſrael full Poſſeſſion of Canaan; thy Word being in itſelf as immutable, as when it is confirmed by the Solemnity of an Oath; ſee Heb. vi. 18.

The Deep uttered his Voice, and lift up his Hands on high] The Waters guſhed out of the Bottom of a Rock with a mighty Noiſe, as if the Fountains of the great Deep had been opened, Pſ. lxxviii. 16. and forced its Way upward, as a Man gets up an Aſcent by Strength of his Hands.

As the Light of thine Arrows they went, &c.] When the People marched againſt their Enemies, God ſent Hailſtones and Lightning from Heaven to diſcomfit them; ſee Joſh. x. 11. and compare Pſ. xviii. 14. cxliv. 6. Or the Words may be tranſlated thus; Thine Arrows went as the Light and Shining of thy glittering Spear. Hail-ſtones, the Artillery of Heaven, came down upon the Heads of the Enemies, accompanied with Thunder and Lightning. As the Blaze of Lightning is here elegantly compared to the Glittering of a Spear, ſo the Luſtre of Arms is often compared by the Poets, particularly Homer, to the Flaſhes of Lightning; ſo we read Iliad xi. Ver. 65.

His brazen Arms like Flames of Lightning ſhone,
Which the great Thunderer launches from his Arm.

By diſcovering the Foundations to the Neck] Or, raiſing the Foundations, as the Word Aroth ſignifies, Pſ. cxxxvii. 7. by undermining them from Bottom to Top.

Thou didſt ſtrike thro' with his Staves the Head of his Villages] Or, Thou didſt ſtrike thro' the Head of his Warriors among his Tribes, or Families. Thou didſt diſcomfit all the petty Kings of their ſeveral Clans, or Families, carrying on the War againſt Joſhua; ſee Joſh. xii. 9, &c. The Word Perazav, his Villages, in our Tranſlation, the Septuagint tranſlate Warriors, or Generals; and ſo they underſtand it, Judg. v. 7—11. which Senſe agrees beſt with this Place.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet ZEPHANIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

This Prophet lived in the Reign of Joſiah, as he himſelf informs us, and propheſied chiefly againſt Judah, who continued very corrupt, notwithſtanding the King's pious Zeal for Reformation, and the good Example he gave to his Subjects.

CHAP. I.

The Prophet denounces God's Judgments againſt Judah, for their Idolatry, and other heinous Sins.

Ver. 1. THE word of the Lord which came unto Zephaniah the ſon of Cuſhi, the ſon of Gedaliah, the ſon of Amariah, the ſon of Hizkiah, in the days of Joſiah, the ſon of Amon king of Judah. 2 I will utterly conſume all things from off the land, ſaith the Lord. 3 I will conſume man and beaſt: I will conſume the fowls of the heaven, and the fiſhes of the ſea, and the ſtumbling-blocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from off the land, ſaith the

the Lord. 4 I will alſo ſtretch out mine hand upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the chemarims with the prieſts; 5 And them that worſhip the hoſt of heaven upon the houſe-tops, and them that worſhip, and that ſwear by the Lord, and that ſwear by Malcham; 6 And them that are turned back from the Lord; and thoſe that have not ſought the Lord, nor enquired for him. 7 Hold thy peace at the preſence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a ſacrifice, he hath bid his gueſts. 8 And it ſhall come to paſs in the day of the Lords ſacrifice, that I will puniſh the princes, and the kings children, and all ſuch as are clothed with ſtrange apparel. 9 In the ſame day alſo will I puniſh all thoſe that leap on the threſhold, which fill their maſters houſes with violence and deceit. 10 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord, that there ſhall be the noiſe of a cry from the fiſh-gate, and an howling from the ſecond, and a great craſhing from the hills. 11 Howl ye inhabitants of Makteſh, for all the merchant-people are cut down: all they that bear ſilver are cut off. 12 And it ſhall come to paſs at that time, that I will ſearch Jeruſalem with candles, and puniſh the men that are ſetled on their lees; that ſay in their heart, The Lord will not do good, neither will he do evil. 13 Therefore their goods ſhall become a booty, and their houſes a deſolation: they ſhall alſo build houſes, but not inhabit them; and they ſhall plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof. 14 The great day of the Lord is near, it is near, and haſteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the Lord: the mighty man ſhall cry there bitterly. 15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and diſtreſs, a day of waſtneſs, and deſolation, a day of darkneſs and gloominеſs, a day of clouds and thick darkneſs, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarm againſt the fenced cities and againſt the high towers. 17 And I will bring diſtreſs upon men, that they ſhall walk like blind men, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord: and their blood ſhall be poured out as duſt, and their fleſh as the dung. 18 Neither their ſilver nor their gold ſhall be able to deliver them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land ſhall be devoured by the fire of his jealouſy: for he ſhall make even a ſpeedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

The Word of the Lord that came to Zephaniah, the ſon of Cuſhi — the Son of Hizkiah] Hizkiah is read with the ſame Points in the Hebrew as Hezekiah, the Name of the King of Judah: But Zephaniah being here reckoned as the fourth by Deſcent from Hizkiah, that Perſon cannot be the ſame with Hezekiah, there not being a ſufficient Diſtance of Time between them for four Deſcents.

And the Names of the Chemarims with the Prieſts] Or, the Names of the idolatrous Prieſts, for ſo the Word Chemarim is tranſlated, 2 Kings xxxiii. 5. compare Hoſ. x. 5. I will deſtroy theſe together with the Prieſts of the Tribe of Levi, who have joined in the Worſhip of Idols; ſee Ezek. xliv. 1.

And them that worſhip, and ſwear by the Lord, and that ſwear by Malcham] That join the Worſhip of Idols to that of the true God, who is a jealous God, and who will not admit of any Rival in his Worſhip. Malcham is the ſame with Moloch, to whom the People of Judah continued to offer their Children, as Jeremiah upbraids them, Ch. vii. 31. xix. 5. notwithſtanding the Reformation that Joſiah had made, 2 Kings xxiii. 10. Swearing is an Act of religious Worſhip, or a ſolemn Invocation of God, as a Witneſs and Judge, ſee Deut. x. 20. and therefore expreſly forbid to be uſed to Idols, Joſh. xxiii. 7.

And all ſuch as are cloathed with ſtrange Apparel] There were peculiar Veſtments belonging to the Worſhip of each Idol; ſee 2 Kings x. 22. So in after Times there were peculiar Habits belonging to the Prieſts of Saturn, and Prieſteſſes of Ceres, which are mentioned in the Martyrdom of Perpetua and Felicitas, C. 18. and in Tertullian, de Pollio, C. 4. The Text may likewiſe be explained of ſuch Men as wore Women's Apparel, and ſuch Women as wore that belonging to Men; which was contrary to an expreſs Law, Deut. xxii. 5. and was a Rite obſerved in the Worſhip of ſome Idols.

In the ſame Day alſo will I puniſh all thoſe that leap on the Threſhold] Or rather, leap over the Threſhold. The Expreſſion probably denotes ſome idolatrous Rite, like that which was practiſed in the Temple of Dagon, where the Prieſts did not tread upon the Threſhold, 1 Sam. v. 5. To this Senſe the Chaldee Paraphraſt interprets it of thoſe that walk after the Laws or Rites of the Philiſtines. Others expound it of thoſe who enter into other Men's Houſes, and take away their Goods by Violence; according to what follows; who fill their Maſter's Houſes with Violence and Deceit.

And it ſhall come to paſs that at that Time, I will ſearch Jeruſalem with Candles] I will deliver up Jeruſalem into the Hand of the Chaldeans, who ſhall let no Corner of it eſcape them, but ſhall diligently ſearch the Houſes, and plunder the Wealth of them. See the following Verſe.

And puniſh the Men that are ſetled on their Lees, &c.] Who having lived ſecurely in Eaſe and Plenty, have not God in all their Thoughts, but imagine that he doth not concern himſelf with the Affairs of the World, and that neither Good nor Evil are brought to paſs by his Providence.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet exhorts the Jews to Repentance before God's Judgments overtake them; which he likewiſe denounces againſt the neighbouring Countries.

Ver. 1. GAther yourſelves together, yea, gather together, O nation not deſired: 2 Before the decree bring forth, before the day paſs as the chaff, before the fierce anger of the Lord come upon you, before the day of the Lords anger come upon you. 3 Seek ye the Lord, all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgment, ſeek righteouſneſs, ſeek meekneſs: it may be, ye ſhall be hid in the day of the Lords anger. 4 For Gaza ſhall be forſaken, and Aſhkelon a deſolation: they ſhall drive out Aſhdod at the noon day, and Ekron ſhall be rooted up. 5 Wo unto the inhabitants of the ſea coaſts, the nation of the Cherethites: the word of the Lord is againſt you: O Canaan, the land of the Philiſtines, I will even deſtroy thee, that there ſhall be no inhabitant. 6 And the ſea-coaſt ſhall be dwellings and cottages for ſhepherds, and folds for flocks. 7 And the coaſt ſhall be for the remnant of the houſe of Judah, they ſhall feed thereupon, in the houſes of Aſhkelon ſhall they lie down in the evening: for the Lord their God ſhall viſit them, and turn away their captivity. 8 I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the children of Ammon, whereby they have reproached my my people, and magnified themſelves againſt their border. 9 Therefore as I live, ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Surely Moab ſhall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and ſalt-pits, and a perpetual deſolation, the reſidue of my people ſhall ſpoil them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſs them. 10 This ſhall they have for their pride, becauſe they have reproached and magnified themſelves againſt the people of the Lord of hoſts. 11 The Lord will be terrible unto them: for he will famiſh all the gods of the earth, and men ſhall worſhip him, every one from his place, even all the iſles of the heathen. 12 Ye Ethiopians alſo, ye ſhall be ſlain by my ſword. 13 And he will ſtretch out his hand againſt the north, and deſtroy Aſſyria, and will make Nineveh a deſolation, and dry like a wilderneſs. 14 And flocks ſhall lie down in the midſt of her, all the beaſts of the nations: both the cormorant and the bittern ſhall lodge in the upper lintels of it: their voice ſhall ſing in the windows, deſolation ſhall be in the threſholds: for he ſhall uncover the cedar-work. 15 This is the rejoicing city that dwelt careleſly, that ſaid in her heart, I am, and there is none beſide me: how is ſhe become a deſolation, a place for beaſts to lie down in! every one that paſſeth by her, ſhall hiſs and wag his hand.

O Nation not deſired] The Greek and the Chaldee interpret it; O Nation that will not receive Inſtruction, and is not to be amended but by the Diſcipline of God's Judgments. Glaſſius renders it to the ſame Senſe, O Nation not to be moved with Deſire, i. e. of growing better. The Word Nickſaph is taken for having a Deſire or Longing, Gen. xxxi. 30. Pſ. lxxxiv. 2.

Before the Decree bring forth, before the Day paſs as the Chaff] The Words are differently tranſlated by Interpreters, but much to the ſame Senſe. They may be rendered nearer to the Hebrew thus, Before the Day bring forth the Decree, which ſhall paſs away, as Chaff is diſperſed before the Wind. The Judgments of God, conſuming the Wicked, are often compared to the diſperſing of Chaff; ſee Job xxi. 18. Pſ. i. 3. Iſa. xvii. 13. Hoſ. xiii. 3.

For Gaza ſhall be deſolate, and Aſhkelon a Deſolation] There will be no eſcaping into the neighbouring Countries, ſuch as the Philiſtines are in particular; for their Cities ſhall likewiſe become a Prey to the Forces of Nebuchadnezzar; ſee Jer. xlvii. 1.

And the Coaſt ſhall be for the Remnant of the Houſe of Judah, &c.] The Sea-coaſt (Ver. 5.) ſhall in After-times belong to the Jews, who ſhall poſſeſs all the Philiſtines Country; as it appears they did in the firſt Times of Chriſtianity; ſee Acts viii. 26, 40. Thoſe that returned from the Captivity are called a Remnant, Hag. i. 12. ii. 2.

They ſhall feed thereupon, in the Houſes of Aſhkelon ſhall they lie down in the Evening] The Words are an Alluſion to what is ſaid Ver. 6. as the Cities of Gaza, Aſhkelon, &c. were Places for the wild Arabs, or other wandering People to pitch their Tents, and feed their Flocks; ſo they ſhall hereafter become the ſetled Habitations of the Jews; compare Iſa. lxv. 10.

And the Reſidue of my People ſhall ſpoil them, and the Remnant of my People ſhall poſſeſs them] Judas Maccabeus and his Brethren ſubdued the Ammonites, as appears from 1 Macc. v. 6. But this and the 7th Verſe will receive their utmoſt Completion at the general Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation: Thoſe that then eſcape, and return from their ſeveral Diſperſions are elſewhere called by the Name of the Reſidue and the Remnant; compare Ch. iii. 13. and Mic. iv. 7.

For he will famiſh all the Gods of the Earth] He will deprive them of their Worſhip and Sacrifices which the Gentiles thought to be the Food of their Gods; ſee Deut. xxxii. 38. The LXX render it, He will deſtroy their Gods. The Deſtruction of Idolatry is uſually mentioned, when the Prophets deſcribe the flouriſhing State of the Church, ſee Mic. v. 13, 14.

All the Beaſts of the Nations] The Chaldee interprets it, The ſeveral Kinds of wild Beaſts; as if the Hebrew Goji, Nations, were to be underſtood of the ſeveral Species of wild Beaſts, as the Word is uſed of ſeveral Sorts of Caterpillars, Joel i. 6. In like Manner the Ants are called a People, Prov. xxx. 25.

CHAP. III.

Jeruſalem is ſeverely reproved and threatned for her Sins; yet the Righteous are comforted with the Hopes of a general Converſion and Reſtoration of the Nation in God's Time.

Ver. 1. WO to her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppreſſing city. 2 She obeyed not the voice: ſhe received not correction: ſhe truſted not in the Lord: ſhe drew not near to her God. 3 Her princes within her are roaring lions; her judges are evening wolves, they gnaw not the bones till the morrow. 4 Her prophets are light and treacherous perſons: her prieſts have polluted the ſanctuary, they have done violence to the law. 5 The juſt Lord is in the midſt thereof: he will not do iniquity: every morning doth he bring his judgment to light, he faileth not, but the unjuſt knoweth no ſhame. 6 I have cut off the nations: their towers are deſolate, I made their ſtreets waſte, that none paſſeth by: their cities are deſtroyed, ſo that there is no man, that there is none inhabitant. 7 I ſaid, Surely thou wilt fear me: thou wilt receive inſtruction, ſo their dwelling ſhould not be cut off, howſoever I puniſhed them: but they roſe early, and corrupted all their doings. 8 Therefore wait ye upon me, ſaith the Lord, until the day that I riſe up to the prey: for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may aſſemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce anger: for all the earth ſhall be devoured with the fire of my jealouſy. 9 For then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the Lord, to ſerve him with one conſent. 10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, my ſuppliants, even the daughter of my diſperſed ſhall bring mine offering. 11 In that day ſhalt thou not be aſhamed for all thy doings, wherein thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt me: for then I will take away out of the midſt of thee them that rejoice in thy pride, and thou ſhalt no more be haughty becauſe of my holy mountain. 12 I will alſo leave in the midſt of thee an afflicted and poor people, and they ſhall truſt in the name of the Lord. 13 The remnant of Iſrael ſhall not do iniquity, nor ſpeak lies: neither ſhall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they ſhall feed and lie down, and none ſhall make them afraid. 14 Sing, O daughter of Zion, ſhout O Iſrael, be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jeruſalem. 15 The Lord hath taken away thy judgments, he hath caſt out thine enemy: the king of Iſrael, even the Lord is in the midſt of thee: thou ſhalt not ſee evil any more. 16 In that day it ſhall be ſaid to Jeruſalem, Fear thou thou not: and to Zion, Let not thine hands be slack. 17 The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy: he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing. 18 I will gather them that are sorrowful for the solemn assembly, who are of thee, to whom the reproach of it was a burden. 19 Behold, at that time I will undo all that afflict thee, and I will save her that halteth, and gather her that was driven out, and I will get them praise and fame in every land, where they have been put to shame. 20 At that time will I bring you again, even in the time that I gather you: for I will make you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turn back your captivity before your eyes, saith the Lord.

Wo unto her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing City] The City Jerusalem, which is defiled with the Sins of Luxury and Cruelty: see Ver. 3, 4.

Therefore wait upon me, saith the Lord, until the Day that I arise to the Prey] The Connection of this Verse with what went before, would better appear, if we translate the Particle laken, nevertheless, as it plainly signifies Jer. v. 2. Mic. v. 3. and in other Places. Notwithstanding these Provocations, saith God, I exhort the Godly among you to expect the fulfilling the Promises I have made of restoring the Jewish Nation to my wonted Favour, in the latter Ages of the World; in order to which great Crisis, I will execute remarkable Judgments upon the Unbelievers and Disobedient.

For then I will turn to the People a pure Language, &c.] Or, I will restore to the People a pure Language, i. e. I will turn them from their Idolatry and other Wickedness; see Ver. 13. to glorify me with one Mind and one Mouth. The same Thing is expressed by speaking the Language of Canaan; Isa. xix. 18. This is a Blessing reserved for the latter Ages, after the Conversion of the Jews, and the coming in of the Fulness of the Gentiles, when there shall be one Lord, and his Name shall be one, Zech. xiv. 9.

For I will take away out of the Midst of thee, them that rejoice in thy Pride, and thou shalt no more be haughty, because of my holy Mountain] I will purge out of thee those Hypocrites who continued in their Sins, and relied upon their outward Privileges, such as being of the Stock of Abraham, or having the Temple of the Lord placed among them, as if these would secure them from Guilt or Punishment; and therefore despised the Gentiles as not worthy of the same Favours with themselves.

I will also leave in thee an afflicted, and poor People] Or, a meek and poor People: The Blessings of the Gospel are peculiarly promised to the Poor; see Isa. xi. 4. xiv. 32. lxi. 1. Zech. xi. 11. Christ and his Apostles apply these Promises to those that were converted by his Preaching; Matt. v. 3. xi. 5. 1 Cor. i. 26, 27. James ii. 5. which Texts are meant of such as are endued with a true Spirit of Poverty, such as consists in a Lowliness of Mind, Contempt of the World, and a resigned Will. Afflictions are very useful to produce such a Temper of Mind, and therefore are often the Lot of true Disciples; see Acts xiv. 22. Heb. xii. 7. 1 Pet. i. 7. By the Afflicted may be meant those that come out of great Tribulation; see Ezek. xxxviii. 8. and Isa. iv. 2.

Sing, O Daughter of Zion, &c.] These Hymns of Joy properly belong to the Times of the Gospel, and especially to the triumphant State of the Church; compare Isa. xii. 6. liv. 1. Zech. ii. 10. xi. 9.

I will gather them that were sorrowful for the solemn Assembly, who are of thee, &c.] I will assemble those Israelites who are dispersed in their several Captivities, both that of Babylon, and those of following Times, who mourn for the Loss of the publick Assemblies; compare Lam. ii. 6. and were grieved at the Reproach wherewith their Enemies upbraided them, as if they were utterly forsaken of God; compare Ps. xlii. 3.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet HAGGAI.

The ARGUMENT.

Of what Family this Prophet was, he hath given us no Intimation; but the Time when he prophesied he has distinctly noted, viz. in the second Year of Darius Hystaspes. The Occasion of his Prophecy, was the Stop that was put to the Building of the Temple, after the Foundation had been laid, according to the Commandment of Cyrus, about seventeen Years before.

CHAP. I.

The Prophet reproves the Peoples Delays in rebuilding the Temple, and tells them this their Neglect, was the Cause they prospered no better: He encourages them to set about it, and promises God's Assistance.

Ver. 1. IN the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord by Haggai the prophet unto Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech the high priest, saying, 2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, This people say, ſay, The time is not come, the time that the Lords houſe ſhould be built. 3 Then came the word of the Lord by Haggai the prophet, ſaying, 4 Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your cieled houſes, and this houſe lie waſte? 5 Now therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Conſider your ways. 6 Ye have ſown much, and bring in little, ye eat, but ye have not enough: ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink: ye clothe you, but there is none warm: and he that earneth wages, earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes. 7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Conſider your ways. 8 Go up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the houſe; and I will take pleaſure in it, and I will be glorified, ſaith the Lord. 9 Ye looked for much, and lo it came to little; and when ye brought it home, I did blow upon it: why? ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Becauſe of mine houſe that is waſte, and ye run every man unto his own houſe. 10 Therefore the heaven over you is ſtayed from dew, and the earth is ſtayed from her fruit. 11 And I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the corn, and upon the new wine, and upon the oil, and upon that which the ground bringeth forth, and upon men, and upon cattel, and upon all the labour of the hands. 12 Then Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel, and Joſhua the ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt, with all the remnant of the people obeyed the voice of the Lord their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, (as the Lord their God had ſent him) and the people did fear before the Lord. 13 Then ſpake Haggai the Lords meſſenger in the Lords meſſage unto the people, ſaying, I am with you, ſaith the Lord. 14 And the Lord ſtirred up the ſpirit of Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and the ſpirit of Joſhua the ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt, and the ſpirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came and did work in the houſe of the Lord of hoſts their God: 15 In the four and twentieth day of the ſixth month, in the ſecond year of Darius the king.

In the ſecond Year of Darius the King] Compare Ezra iv. 24. v. 12. This is the ſame Darius who is called in the Heathen Writers Darius Hyſtaſpes; ſee the Note upon Ch. ii. 3. and Zech. i. 11.

Came the Word of the Lord by Haggai unto Zerubbabel the Son of Shealtiel, Governor of Judah] Called Zorobabel the Son of Salathiel, Luke iii. 27. Matt. i. 12. He was Grandſon to Jeconiah King of Judah, who was carried Captive to Babylon; ſee 1 Chron. iii. 17—19. whom King Cyrus made Æchmalotarches, or Governor of the Jews who returned from the Captivity; as being the eldeſt Son of the Royal Family. He had the Name of Shezbazzar given him by the Chaldeans; ſee Ezra i. 8. compared with Ch. ii. 2. as Daniel was called by them Belteſhazzar, Dan i. 7.

And unto Joſhua the Son of Joſedech the High Prieſt] Called Jeſhua in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah. His Father Joſedeck, or Jehozadak, was carried Captive to Babylon; ſee 1 Chron. vi. 15.

Conſider your Ways; ye have ſown much, and bring in little, &c.] Conſider both your Ingratitude in neglecting to reſtore my Houſe and Worſhip, and what you have got by theſe your Dealings, viz. how none of your Undertakings thrive, or are ſucceſsful; nor do you enjoy the Fruits of your Labours; ſee Mic. vi. 15. Ezek. viii. 10.

And when ye brought it home, I did blow upon it] Or, I had blown upon it. I had blaſted the Fruits of the Earth while they were in the Field; ſee Ver. 11. Ch. ii. 17.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet encourages the Builders by a Prediction of the future Glory of the Temple; and foretels the ſetting up the Kingdom of Chriſt, under the Name of Zerubbabel.

Ver. 1. IN the ſeventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the Lord by the prophet Haggai, ſaying, 2 Speak now to Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel governor of Judah, and to Joſhua the ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt, and to the reſidue of the people, ſaying, 3 Who is left among you that ſaw this houſe in her firſt glory? and how do you ſee it now? is it not in your eyes in compariſon of it, as nothing? 4 Yet now be ſtrong, O Zerubbabel, ſaith the Lord, and be ſtrong, O Joſhua, ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt, and be ſtrong all ye people of the land, ſaith the Lord, and work: for I am with you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts; 5 According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of Egypt, ſo my ſpirit remaineth among you: fear ye not. 6 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Yet once, it is a little while, and I will ſhake the heavens, and the earth, and the ſea, and the dry land: 7 And I will ſhake all nations, and the deſire of all nations ſhall come, and I will fill this houſe with glory, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 8 The ſilver is mine, and the gold is mine, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 9 The glory of this latter houſe ſhall be greater than of the former, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: and in this place will I give peace, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 10 In the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the ſecond year of Darius, came the word of the Lord by Haggai the prophet, ſaying, 11 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Aſk now the prieſts concerning the law, ſaying, 12 If one bear holy fleſh in the ſkirt of his garment, and with his ſkirt do touch bread, or pottage, or wine, or oyl, or any meat, ſhall it be holy? And the prieſts anſwered and ſaid, No. 13 Then ſaid Haggai, If one that is unclean by a dead body, touch any of theſe, ſhall it be unclean? And the prieſts anſwered and ſaid, It ſhall be unclean. 14 Then anſwered Haggai, and ſaid, So is this people, and ſo is this nation before me, ſaith the Lord; and ſo is every work of their hands, and that which they offer there is unclean. 15 And now, I pray you, conſider from this day and upward, from before a ſtone was laid upon a ſtone in the temple of the Lord. 16 Since thoſe days were, when one came to an heap of twenty meaſures, there were but ten: when one came to the preſs fat for to draw out fifty veſſels out of the preſs, there were but twenty. 17 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildew, and with hail, in all the labours of your hands, yet ye turned not to me, ſaith the Lord. 18 Conſider now from this day, and upward from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords temple was laid, conſider it. 19 Is the ſeed yet in the barn? yea, as yet the wine, and the fig-tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive-tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſs you. 20 And again the word of the Lord came unto Haggai in the four and twentieth day of the month, ſaying, 21 Speak to Zerubbabel governor of Judah, ſaying, I will ſhake the heavens and the earth, 22 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will deſtroy the ſtrength of the kingdoms of the heathen, and I will overthrow the chariots, and thoſe that ride in them, and the horſes and their riders ſhall come down, every one by the ſword of his brother. 23 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſervant, the ſon of Shealtiel, ſaith the Lord, and will make thee as a ſignet: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

Who is left among you that ſaw this Houſe in her firſt Glory, &c.] When the Foundation of the Houſe was laid in the ſecond Year of Cyrus, many of the antient Men that had ſeen the firſt Houſe, wept to ſee how much the ſecond Temple would fall ſhort of the Glory of the firſt; Ezra iii. 12. The ſecond Year of Cyrus was 53 Years after the Deſtruction of the firſt Temple, ſo the oldeſt Men among thoſe that returned home, might very well remember how glorious that was. This Prophecy was uttered 15 Years after the Foundations of the ſecond Temple were laid; ſo there might ſome ſtill ſurvive who ſaw the firſt. This is an evident Proof, that the Darius mentioned in this Prophecy, muſt be Darius Hyſtaſpes: For they that ſuppoſe Darius Nothus to be here meant, muſt allow the Diſtance of 166 Years between the Deſtruction of the firſt Temple, and the Time of this Prophecy: And it can't be imagined that any Number of Men could be capable of comparing the Difference between the two Temples, at that Diſtance of Time; ſee this further proved in the Note upon Zech. i. 12.

Yet once it is a little while] Or, once more, as the LXX render it, whom St. Paul follows, Heb. xii. 26. The Phraſe implies ſuch an Alteration as ſhall not give Way to any further Change, as the Apoſtle there expounds it. The Space of Time from this Prophecy to the Coming of the Meſſias, may be called a little while, in Compariſon of the ſeveral Ages expired ſince the firſt Promiſe of a Redeemer. A learned Prelate, in his Defence of Chriſtianity, &c. tranſlates the Words to this Senſe: After one Kingdom (viz. the Grecian, which ſucceeded the Perſian Monarchy, at this Time ſubſiſting) it is but a little while, and (or, after that) I will ſhake all Nations.

I will ſhake the Heaven and the Earth, and the Sea, and the dry Land] Great Commotions and Changes in the World are expreſſed by ſhaking the Heaven, and the Earth; ſee Ezek. xxv. 15. xxxviii. 19. Joel iii. 16. Theſe Expreſſions may denote here the great Commotions that ſhould be in the Roman Empire from Julius Cæſar, till near the Birth of Chriſt: Or, it may in general ſignify, the introducing ſuch a Kingdom or Religion, of which the Meſſiah is to be the Head; which ſhall in the End break in Pieces and deſtroy all the other Dominions of the World.

The Glory of this latter Houſe ſhall be greater than that of the former, and in this Place will I give Peace] The Glory of this ſecond Temple ſhall exceed that of the former, not in Riches or coſtly Ornaments, but in this Reſpect, that there the Prince of Peace ſhall make his Appearance, and the Goſpel of Peace ſhall be preached and publiſhed; ſee Iſa. ix. 6. Mic. v. 5. Epheſ. ii. 14. The modern Jews expect a third Temple in which this Prophecy will be verified; whereas the Prophet ſpeaks of the ſame Temple, which they then ſaw, and was in their Eyes as nothing, in Compariſon of the former. The antient Jews ſpeak of the Temple, from the Time of Zerubbabel to its Deſtruction under Veſpaſian, as one and the ſame Temple, and particularly Joſephus.

Since thoſe Days were, when one came to an Heap of twenty Meaſures, there were but ten, &c.] The Fruits of the Earth did not yield their uſual Increaſe, becauſe of the unkindly Seaſons wherewith I puniſhed them. See the following Verſe, and Ch. i. 2. Zech. viii. 10.

Conſider now from this Day and upward, &c.] The Word mollah, upward, ſignifies likewiſe forward, ſee 1 Sam. xvi. 13. and ſo it ſhould be tranſlated here. In the 15th Verſe the Prophet exhorted them to reflect upon the Calamities they had ſuffered from the Time the Building of the Temple was left off. Now he bids them look forward from the Day the Building was renewed, ſee Ch. i. 15. and they would find a viſible Change of Affairs for the better.

In that Day I will take thee, O Zerubbabel my Servant — and make thee as a Signet, &c.] I will inveſt thee with my Power and Authority, as the Head of my Church, and Judge of the World. So Kings depute their Viceroys by giving them their Signet, ſee Gen. xli. 42. which was particularly the Cuſtom of the Perſian Monarchy, whoſe Deputy Zerubbabel was; ſee Eſth. iii. 10. viii. 2. Or elſe the Expreſſion may denote one particularly near and dear unto God, who was always under his Eye and Care; compare Jer. xxii. 24. Cant. viii. 6. This could not be fulfilled in Zerubbabel, who did not in all Likelihood live many Years after the finiſhing of the Temple; and, to be ſure, did not ſee any of thoſe great Changes here foretold: And therefore the Meſſias muſt be here deſcribed under the Name of Zerubbabel; as he elſewhere is under that of David.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet ZECHARIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

Zechariah was the Son of Barachiah, and the Grandſon of Iddo, Ezra v. 1. vi. 14. the Grandſon being often called the Son in the Scriptures. He was Contemporary with Haggai, and propheſied in the ſecond Year of Darius Hyſtaſpes. There is an Iddo mentioned Nehem. xii. 14. among thoſe Levites that came from Babylon with Zerubbabel; from whence Dr. Allix infers, that the Prophet Zechariah his Grandſon, muſt have propheſied ſome conſiderable Time after the firſt Return from the Captivity, and therefore would underſtand the Darius here mentioned to be Darius Nothus. This Argument is altogether incluſive; for if Iddo was advanced in Years when he returned, he might have a Grandſon 30 Years of Age in the ſecond Year of Darius Hyſtaſpes, which was 16 or 17 after the firſt of Cyrus. And it appears that Zechariah was a young Man when he ſaw the Viſion related at the Beginning of this Prophecy; ſee Ch. ii. 4. Beſides, there is no Neceſſity of ſuppoſing the Iddo that was Grandfather of Zechariah, to be the ſame Perſon that is mentioned in Nehemiah. In the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah there is Mention of two Ezra's; compare Ezra vii. 1. with Nehem. xii. 1. of two Nehemiah's; compare Nehem. i. 1. with Ch. iii. 16. and there is a Daniel mentioned Ezra viii. 16. a diſtinct Perſon from the famous Prophet of that Name. And it may as well be ſuppoſed that there were two Iddo's.

The Deſign of the firſt Part of this Prophecy is the ſame as that of Haggai, viz. To encourage the Jews to go on with rebuilding the Temple, by giving them Aſſurance of God's Aſſiſtance and Protection; from whence he proceeds to foretel the Glory of the Chriſtian Church, the true Temple or Houſe of God, under its great High-Prieſt and Governor, Jeſus Chriſt, of whom Zerubbabel and Joſhua the High-Prieſt were Figures. The latter Part of the Prophecy, from Ch. ix. probably relates to the State of the Jews under the Maccabees, and then foretels their rejecting the Meſſias, and their Converſion afterwards, and ſome remarkable Paſſages that ſhould happen to them in the latter Ages of the World.

CHAP. I.

After an Exhortation to Repentance, the Prophet relates two Viſions, implying the Reſtoration of the Jewiſh State, and Security from their Enemies, while they were rebuilding the Temple.

Ver. 1. IN the eighth month, in the ſecond year of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah, the ſon of Barachiah, the ſon of Iddo the prophet, ſaying, 2 The Lord hath been ſore diſpleaſed with your fathers. 3 Therefore ſay thou unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Turn ye unto me, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I will turn unto you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 4 Be ye not as your fathers, unto whom the former prophets have cried, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Turn ye now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings: but they did not hear, nor hearken unto me, ſaith the Lord. 5 Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for ever? 6 But my words and my ſtatutes, which I commanded my ſervants the prophets, did they not take hold of your fathers? and they returned and ſaid, Like as the Lord of hoſts thought to do unto us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, ſo hath he dealt with us. 7 Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Sebat, in the ſecond year of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah, the ſon of Barachiah, the ſon of Iddo the prophet, ſaying, 8 I ſaw by night, and behold, a man riding upon a red horſe, and he ſtood among the myrtle-trees that were in the bottom, and behind him were there red horſes, ſpeckled and white. 9 Then ſaid I, O my lord, what are theſe? And the angel that talked with me, ſaid unto me, I will ſhew thee what theſe be. 10 And the man that ſtood among the myrtle-trees anſwered and ſaid, Theſe are they whom the Lord hath ſent to walk to and fro through the earth. 11 And they anſwered the angel of the Lord that ſtood among the myrtle-trees, and ſaid, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and behold, all the earth ſitteth ſtill, and is at reſt. 12 Then the angel of the Lord anſwered, and ſaid, O Lord

Lord of hosts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Jerusalem, and on the cities of Judah, against which thou hast had indignation these threescore and ten years? 13 And the Lord answered the angel that talked with me, with good words, and comfortable words. 14 So the angel that communed with me, said unto me, Cry thou, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I am jealous for Jerusalem, and for Zion with a great jealousy. 15 And I am very sore displeased with the heathen that are at ease: for I was but a little displeased, and they helped forward the affliction. 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I am returned to Jerusalem with mercies: my house shall be built in it, saith the Lord of hosts, and a line shall be stretched forth upon Jerusalem. 17 Cry yet, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, My cities through prosperity shall yet be spread abroad, and the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet choose Jerusalem. 18 Then lift I up mine eyes, and saw, and behold four horns. 19 And I said unto the angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem. 20 And the Lord shewed me four carpenters. 21 Then said I, What come these to do? And he spake, saying, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, so that no man did lift up his head: but these are come to fray them, to cast out the horns of the Gentiles, which lift up their horn over the land of Judah to scatter it.

The eleventh Month, which is the Month Sebat] This is the Chaldee Name of the eleventh Month; as Nisan, Elul, Chisleu, Tebeth and Adar, are the Names of other Months mentioned in the Books written after the Captivity. The Jews distinguish their Months only by the Order of their Succession, as the First, Second, &c. So that if the Books of Kings were writ by Jeremiah, as some suppose, the Chaldee Names of the Months which occur 1 Kings vi. 2—38, were added afterward by Ezra.

I saw by Night, and behold a Man riding upon a red Horse] A red Horse is an Emblem of War and Bloodshed, see Rev. vi. 4. The Man, or Angel, Ver. 11. riding upon him, denotes the Logos, or Son of God, appearing as the Captain of God's Hosts or Armies; see Josh. v. 13, 14.

And he stood among the Myrtle Trees that were in the Bottom] As if he and his Companions were refreshing themselves in a shady Valley, after the Fatigues of War. Or, as others say, it denotes the Delight which Christ, the Logos, takes to dwell with or be among his People who are of a meek and humble Spirit, intimated by the Myrtle, which is a low Shrub, and grows in Valleys or shady Places. The Vision denotes the Peace which ensued after Darius had executed God's Vengeance upon the Inhabitants of Babylon.

And behind them were red Horses, speckled and white] These may denote the various Successes of Darius's Army during his Reign, which were sometimes fortunate, and other Times not so.

And the Man that stood among the Myrtle Trees, answered and said] This was an Angel of an Order superior to him that was mentioned Ver. 9. who presents that Angel, and takes upon him to return an answer to the Prophet's Question, or else sends an Answer to Zechariah by that Angel mentioned Ver. 9. Christ sent his Revelation to St. John by an Angel, Rev. i. 1.

Against which thou hast had Indignation these threescore and ten Years] There are three Ways of computing the seventy Years Captivity taken Notice of in Scripture. The first is, beginning from the 4th Year of Jehoiachim to the first of Cyrus; this is Jeremiah's Account, Jer. xxv. 1, 11. which Daniel follows, Dan. ix. 2. Another may be computed from the besieging Jerusalem, and in the 9th Year of Zedekiah, and in the 10th Month, for which a solemn Fast was kept by the Jews: Compare 2 Kings xxv. 1. with Zech. viii. 19. This Computation ends in the second Year of Darius, which is the Reckoning Zechariah here follows. Or, lastly, if we compute the Beginning of the seventy Years from the Destruction of Jerusalem, and the first Temple, which came to pass in the eleventh Year of the same Reign, ib. Ver. 2. they will be accomplished in the 4th Year of Darius; and this Computation agrees with what is said below, Ch. vii. 1, 5. The two last Ways of reckoning the seventy Years may be reduced to one, only by supposing that the Prophet in this Verse sets down a complete Number for an incomplete, and calls that Space of Time seventy Years, which wanted very little of it: A Way of speaking, of which several Instances may be produced.

Then I lift up mine Eyes, and saw, and behold four Horns] Horns often signify the Power and Strength of Princes or People, the Metaphor being taken from those Cattle whose Strength lies in their Horns. The four Horns may denote the Samaritans, the Arabians, the Ammonites, and the Philistines, who were the great Hinderers of the Jews rebuilding their Temple; see Nehem. iv. 7. or else they may signify in general those their Enemies, among whom they were dispersed to the four Winds of Heaven; Ch. ii. 6.

CHAP. II.

The flourishing State of Jerusalem is foretold, and the Jews, still remaining in Babylon, are warned to leave it, that they may not be involved in the Calamities which were coming upon it.

Ver. 1. I Lift up mine eyes again, and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring-line in his hand. 2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said unto me, To measure Jerusalem, to see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof. 3 And behold, the angel that talked with me, went forth, and another angel went out to meet him, 4 And said unto him, Run, speak to this young man, saying, Jerusalem shall be inhabited as towns without walls for the multitude of men and cattel therein. 5 For I, saith the Lord, will be unto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the midst of her. 6 Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the north, saith the Lord: for I have spread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, saith the Lord. 7 Deliver thyself, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babylon. 8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, After the glory hath he sent me unto the nations which spoiled you, for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye. 9 For behold, I will shake mine hand upon them, and they shall be a spoil to their servants: and ye shall know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me. 10 Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion: for lo, I come, and I will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord. 11 And many nations shall be joined to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the midst of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me unto thee. 12 And the Lord shall inherit Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall choose Jerusalem again. 13 Be silent, O all all fleſh, before the Lord: for he is raiſed up out of his holy habitation.

Behold a Man with a meaſuring Line in his Hand, &c.] An Angel in human Appearance, ſee Ver. 3. This Angel appeared with a meaſuring Line in his Hand, to take the Proportions of the City in order to the rebuilding it, as Architects uſed to do. See Ezek. xi. 3.

Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the Land of the North] Chaldea, and Babylon the principal City of it, are called by that Name, becauſe they lay Northward of Judea; ſee Jer. i. 14. iv. 6. vi. 6. The Jews who ſtill remained in Babylon and the Country thereabout, are exhorted to return with all Speed from thence, for a Reaſon aſſigned, Ver. 9.

After the Glory he hath ſent me unto the Nations that ſpoiled you] After I have given you the Promiſe of reſtoring Jeruſalem to ſuch a glorious State, (ſo the Chaldee explains it) I, the Prophet Zechariah, am ſent to execute God's Judgments upon the Chaldeans, who ſpoiled you of all your Wealth and Ornaments.

For behold I will ſhake mine Hand upon them, and they ſhall be a Spoil to their Servants] The Words are a Continuation of God's Meſſage, who proceeds to ſpeak thus to the Jews by Zechariah: I will hold my Rod over the Babylonians; compare Iſa. xi. 15. xix. 16. and I will deliver their City into the Hand of the Perſians, who were formerly their Servants; ſee Iſa. xxii. 6. who ſhall become Maſters of its Wealth. This Threatning was fulfilled when Darius took Babylon after a Siege of twenty Months, beat down its Walls, and put 3000 of the principal Citizens to Death; as Dr. Prideaux relates in his Script. Connect.

And many Nations ſhall be joined to the Lord in that Day, and ſhall be my People] The Church ſhall be enlarged by the Acceſſion of the Gentiles to it; and ſhall receive a farther Increaſe, when upon the Converſion of the Jews, the Fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall be brought into it. This Promiſe relates chiefly to the latter Times; compare Ch. viii. 21, 22, 23.

And the Lord ſhall inherit Judah, his Portion, in the holy Land] God ſhall give viſible Tokens that the Land of Judea and its Inhabitants are his peculiar People; according to the Tenor of that Covenant he made with their Fathers, The Land is his, Levit. xxv. 23. and therefore is called the Holy Land, as Jeruſalem is named the Holy City; where the Temple ſhall again be built, a Token of his Preſence; and as the People ſhall conſtantly profeſs themſelves his Worſhippers, ſo he will afford them gracious Inſtances of his Favour and Protection. This may perhaps be more fully verified at the general Reſtoration of the Nation.

CHAP. III.

Under the Figure of Joſhua the High Prieſt, cloathed with new prieſtly Attire, is ſet forth the Glory of Chriſt, as the Corner Stone of the Church.

Ver. 1. AND he ſhewed me Joſhua the high prieſt, ſtanding before the angel of the Lord, and Satan ſtanding at his right hand to reſiſt him. 2 And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan, even the Lord that hath choſen Jeruſalem, rebuke thee: is not this a brand pluckt out of the fire? 3 Now Joſhua was clothed with filthy garments, and ſtood before the angel. 4 And he anſwered, and ſpake unto thoſe that ſtood before him, ſaying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And unto him he ſaid, Behold, I have cauſed thine iniquity to paſs from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment. 5 And I ſaid let them ſet a fair mitre upon his head: ſo they ſet a fair mitre upon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the angel of the Lord ſtood by. 6 And the angel of the Lord proteſted unto Joſhua, ſaying, 7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, If thou wilt walk in my ways, and if thou wilt keep my charge, then thou ſhalt alſo judge my houſe, and ſhalt alſo keep my courts, and I will give thee places to walk among theſe that ſtand by. 8 Hear now, O Joſhua the high prieſt, thou and thy fellows that ſit before thee: for they are men wondred at: for behold, I will bring forth my ſervant the BRANCH. 9 For behold, the ſtone that I have laid before Joſhua: upon one ſtone ſhall be ſeven eyes, behold, I will engrave the graving thereof, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day. 10 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, ſhall ye call every man his neighbour under the vine, and under the fig-tree.

And Satan ſtanding at his right Hand to reſiſt him] That is, to be his Accuſer, as the Devil is called, Rev. xii. 10. ſo here he is repreſented as aggravating the Faults, or Infirmities of Joſhua, the Repreſentative of the whole Body of the Jews (ſee the following Words) by this Means to prevail with God to permit the Jews to be ſtill under the Power of their Adverſaries. So the Prince, or Tutelar Angel, of the Kingdom of Perſia, is repreſented as reſiſting the Angel Gabriel, Dan. x. 13, 20. It was the Cuſtom in the Courts of Judicature, for the Accuſer to ſtand at the right Hand of the Accuſed; ſee Pſ. cix. 6.

And the Lord ſaid unto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan, even the Lord that hath choſen Jeruſalem] The Logos, or Son of God, ſaid unto Satan, The LORD, even God the Father, rebuke thee, and not ſuffer thy miſchievous Imagination againſt Jeruſalem and the Temple to proſper: He that hath choſen that Place for his eſpecial Reſidence. This Text ſeems parallel with Gen. xix. 24. where it is ſaid, The LORD rained Fire from the LORD out of Heaven; a Text alledged both by antient and modern Writers, to prove, that a Diſtinction of Perſons in the Bleſſed Trinity, was a Doctrine delivered in the Old Teſtament, tho' but imperfectly. The Words may be rendered, The Lord hath rebuked thee, or rejected thy Plea, having long ago choſen Jeruſalem.

Now Joſhua was cloathed with filthy Garments] Denoting the Sins and Pollutions of the People, of whom he was the Repreſentative; ſee Ver. 2, 4. The Sins particularly taken Notice of, might be their marrying with Strangers, contrary to the Law; ſee Ezra ix. 2, 11, 12. Neh. xiii. 24. ſo the Chaldee underſtands it.

And unto him [i. e. Joſhua] he ſaid, I have cauſed thine Iniquity to paſs from thee, and I will clothe thee with Change of Raiment] In Token of my pardoning the publick and national Sins of the Jews, and that I will reſtore them to a more proſperous Condition, I have commanded the Angels, my Attendants, to clothe thee with new and clean Raiment, an Emblem of Purity, Rev. xix. 8. as well as of Joyfulneſs and Proſperity; ſee Eccleſ. ix. 8. Iſa. xli. 10. The Word rendered in our Engliſh, Change of Raiment, the LXX tranſlate ποδήρη, a Garment down to the Feet, meaning the Linen Ephod, which was the Prieſts Habit; regarding the Senſe rather than the literal Tranſlation of the Word.

And I will give thee Places to walk among theſe that ſtand by] Or, ſtand before me; ſee Ch. iv. 14. Hereafter I will give thee a Place in Heaven among theſe Angels my Attendants. The Prieſthood under the Old Teſtament, and the Evangelical Miniſtry under the New, is compared to the Angelical Office; ſee Mal. ii. 7. Rev. i. 20. So they that diſcharge this Office well, ſhall have an eminent Degree of Glory in Heaven, and be made equal to the Angels themſelves; ſee Matt. xix. 28. xxiv. 47. Luke xxii. 29, 30.

For they are Men wondered at] The Margin reads, Men of Wonder. The Word Mophet ſignifies not only a Wonder, but likewiſe a Sign, or a Type. Thus Iſaiah's walking barefoot, was for a Sign and a Wonder (or rather a Type or Example) to Egypt and Ethiopia, Iſa. xx. 3. i. e. a Sign or Emblem that they ſhould be carried away Captive without any Covering to their Nakedneſs. So the Word is uſed again, Iſa. viii. 18. So when Ezekiel was commanded to dig through the Wall, and carry out his Goods in the Twilight, Ch. xii. 7. he was therein a Sign [Mophet] Ver. 11, 12. to the Jews, and to Zedekiah himſelf; foreſhewing what he and they ſhould do, when Jeruſalem was taken by the Chaldean Army. So Ezek. xxiv. 24. he is ſaid to be a Sign unto them in not mourning for the Death of his Wife; becauſe according to all that he had done ſhould they do; where the ſame Word is uſed in the Original. The Word is to be underſtood in this Senſe in the Text before us, which ſhould be tranſlated, They are Men intended for Signs or Tokens, they are Typical Men, as a learned Prelate, in his Defence of Chriſtianity, &c. tranſlates the Phraſe. To the ſame Senſe the Vulgar Latin tranſlates it, Viri portendentes, Men that foreſhew ſomething to come. They, with Joſhua the High-prieſt at the Head of them, are a Figure of the Reſtoration of the Church under the Government of the Meſſias.

For behold I will bring forth my Servant the Branch] I will point out, or foretel, the Coming of the Meſſiah into the World, as a Perſon altogether diſtinct from Joſhua, or any other preſent among you, and I will make him known unto you under the Name of the BRANCH: A Title often given to the Meſſiah in the Prophets, as deſcending from the Stock of David. He is elſewhere called God's Servant in an eminent Senſe, becauſe he was ſanctified and ſent into the World upon a Meſſage of the higheſt Importance. See Iſa. xlii. 1. xlix. 3. lii. 13. liii. 11. Ezek. xxxiv. 23, 24. The Word Tſemach, Branch, the LXX render here and in moſt of the parallel Texts Ἀνατολὴ, the Eaſt, or Sun-riſing; from whence it is applied to Chriſt, Luke i. 78. and is tranſlated there the Day-ſpring: Thence the Name of Oriens, was probably given to the ſuppoſed King of the Jews, in the Roman Writers. See Tacit. L. v. C. 13.

Upon one Stone ſhall be ſeven Eyes: Behold I will engrave the Engraving thereof, ſaith the Lord of Hoſts] As it is uſual to adorn the principal Stones of a Building with Carvings and Hieroglyphicks, ſuch as Heads, Eyes, and the like; ſo will I perform in Reality what Artiſts do in Imagery; viz. I will appoint the ſeven Angels of the higheſt Order to attend upon the Meſſias, repreſented by this Stone, and to execute his Commands all the World over, for the Good of his Church; compare Ch. iv. 10. Rev. v. 6. the one Stone here mentioned, is the ſame with the Head-ſtone, Ch. iv. 7. and might be better tranſlated here, the chief, or principal Stone; in which Senſe the Word Achad is uſed, Gen. xlviii. 22. as the Chaldee there explains it.

CHAP. IV.

Under the Figure of the Golden Candleſtick and two Olive Trees, is repreſented the Succeſs of Zerubbabel and Joſhua, in rebuilding and finiſhing the Temple.

Ver. 1. AND the angel that talked with me, came again and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his ſleep, 2 And ſaid unto me, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I have looked, and behold, a candleſtick all of gold, with a bowl upon the top of it, and his ſeven lamps thereon, and ſeven pipes to the ſeven lamps, which were upon the top thereof: 3 And two olive-trees by it, one upon the right ſide of the bowl, and the other upon the left ſide thereof. 4 So I anſwered and ſpake to the angel that talked with me, ſaying, What are theſe, my lord? 5 Then the angel that talked with me, anſwered, and ſaid unto me, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? And I ſaid, No, my lord. 6 Then he anſwered and ſpake unto me, ſaying, This is the word of the Lord unto Zerubbabel, ſaying, not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 7 Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou ſhalt become a plain, and he ſhall bring forth the head-ſtone thereof with ſhoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it. 8 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this houſe, his hands ſhall alſo finiſh it; and thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoſts hath ſent me unto you. 10 For who hath deſpiſed the day of ſmall things? for they ſhall rejoice, and ſhall ſee the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel with thoſe ſeven, they are the eyes of the Lord, which run to and fro through the whole earth. 11 Then anſwered I and ſaid unto him, What are theſe two olive trees upon the right ſide of the candleſtick, and upon the left ſide thereof? 12 And I anſwered again, and ſaid unto him, What be theſe two olive-branches, which through the two golden pipes empty the golden oil out of themſelves? 13 And he anſwered me and ſaid, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? And I ſaid, No, my lord. 14 Then ſaid he, Theſe are the two anointed ones, that ſtand by the Lord of the whole earth.

I have looked, and behold, a Candleſtick all of Gold] This figured the Temple-Service, and the whole Polity of the Jewiſh Conſtitution, which depended upon the Reſtoration of the Temple.

And his ſeven Lamps thereon] According to the Faſhion of the Golden Candleſtick in the Temple, Exod. xxv. 37. as that Candleſtick figuratively ſignified the Church, whoſe Office it was to enlighten others; ſee Rev. i. 20. ſo the ſeven Lamps myſtically repreſented the ſeven Spirits of God, Rev. iv. 5. i. e. the various Diſpenſations of his Providence over it: Compare Ver. 10. of this Chapter.

And two Olive Trees by it] Which did in a ſecret and unperceivable Manner convey Oil for ſupplying the Lamps; ſee Ver. 6.

Not by Might, not by Power, but by my Spirit, ſaith the Lord of Hoſts] Zerubbabel and Joſhua, with the Jews under their Conduct, ſhall finiſh the Temple, and re-eſtabliſh the Jewiſh State, not by Force of Arms, or of human Power, but by the ſecret Aſſiſtances of my Providence; juſt as the Lamps are ſupplied with Oil in a ſecret and inviſible Manner; ſee Ver. 12, 14.

And he ſhall bring forth the Head-ſtone thereof with Shoutings, ſaying, Grace, Grace, unto it] He ſhall put the Top or finiſhing Stone upon the Walls of the Temple; which Action the Standers-by ſhall accompany with their Wiſhes and Prayers, that God's Grace and Favour will protect that holy Place ſo happily finiſhed, and with ſuch joyful Acclamations as they uſed at laying its Foundations; ſee Ezra x. 10, 11. the chief, or principal Stone, mentioned Ch. iii. 9. denoted the Meſſias, called the Branch, Ver. 8. and the Words before us myſtically repreſent the ſame Perſon; viz. That God ſhall bring forth, or bring him into the World as the Top or Head-ſtone, the laſt and finiſhing Ornament and Perfection (expreſſed by Grace, Grace, i. e. the chief Grace) of the Church, God's ſpiritual Houſe, Eph. ii. 21. To this Senſe the Chaldee Paraphraſe expounds the Words, His Meſſias ſhall come forth, who was named from all Eternity, and ſhall obtain the Empire of all the Kingdoms of the Earth:

And St. Jerome tells us upon the Place, that the antient Jews explained it so.

With those seven, they are the Eyes of the Lord which run to and fro through the whole Earth] The LXX translate the Words to a better Sense, taking them for a distinct Sentence from what goes before, These seven are the Eyes of the Lord, &c. The Sentence relates to the Head-stone, Ver. 7. upon which these seven Eyes were to be engraved, Ch. iii. 9. hieroglyphically representing the Angelical Ministry, which always attend upon this Head or Prince of the Church. The Scriptures mention this as a Prerogative of the Messias, that the Angels were to minister to him, see Ps. xci. 11, 12. Matt. iv. 11. John i. 51. 1 Tim. iii. 16. and it is a Saying recorded by the oldest Writers among the Jews, That the Messias should be higher than the Angels; a Doctrine often delivered by St. Paul, Eph. i. 21. Phil. ii. 10. Heb. i. 4.

These are the two anointed ones, that stand by the Lord of the whole Earth] These signify the Kingdom and the Priesthood, as they were then exercised by Zerubbabel and Joshua (and belonged to their respective Families) who having finished the Temple, and restored the publick Worship of God, would constantly attend upon his Service, and take Care it be duely performed there. The Candlestick represented the Jewish Church and Temple, Ver. 2. and these two, Zerubbabel and Joshua, supply the Place of the two Olive Trees, that feed it with Oil, and keep it bright and burning. To stand before the Lord (for so the Words should be rendered, as they are Ch. vi. 5.) and to minister to him, are the same: See Deut. x. 8. 1 Kings xvii. 1.

By the Representation of a flying Roll, God's Judgments are denounced against Robbery and Perjury. Another Vision of the Ephah and Woman, &c.

Ver. 1. THEN I turned, and lift up mine eyes, and looked and behold, a flying roll. 2 And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying roll, the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits. 3 Then said he unto me, This is the curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth: for every one that stealeth, shall be cut off as on this side, according to it: and every one that sweareth, shall be cut off as on that side, according to it. 4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that sweareth falsly by my name: and it shall remain in the midst of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and the stones thereof. 5 Then the angel that talked with me, went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth. 6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth. 7 And behold, there was lift up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah. 8 And he said, This is wickedness; and he cast it into the midst of the ephah, and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof. 9 Then lift I up mine eyes and looked, and behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings, (for they had wings like the wings of a stork) and they lift up the ephah between the earth and the heaven. 10 Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah? 11 And he said unto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar; and it shall be established, and set there upon her own base.

And behold a flying Roll] The Roll of a Book, as it is expressed Jer. xxxvi. 1. Ezek. ii. 9. The antient Way of writing being upon Scrolls of Parchment. It is described as flying, to denote the Swiftness of God's Judgments.

For every one that stealeth shall be cut off as on this Side, according to it, &c.] The Roll was written upon both Sides, as that mentioned Ezek. ii. 10. On one Side was contained the Judgments against Stealing, and on the other against Forswearing. These two Sins are joined together, because in the Jewish Courts Men were compelled to purge themselves by Oath, in the Case of Theft; so they often would forswear themselves, rather than discover the Truth. See Hos. iv. 2. Prov. xxix. 24. xxx. 9. Stealing may particularly denote the Defrauding the Temple of the Tithes and Offerings that were to be brought thither for the maintaining of God's Worship; a Sin for which the Jews of that Age are severely reproved. See Mal. i. 8, &c. iii. 8, 9. Neh. xiii. 10, 11.

And I said, What is it? and he said, This is an Ephah that goeth forth] Dr. Wells observes, that this Vessel or Barrel, was made in the Shape of an Ephah; yet it was of a much bigger Size, large enough to contain a Woman in it; which was the Reason Zechariah did not know what it was. An Ephah contained about the Quantity of our Bushel, and being the Measure of dry Things, denotes the Jews unjust Dealings in buying and selling. See Am. viii. 5.

He said moreover, This is their Resemblance thro' all the Earth] Or, through all the Land. By this you may make an Estimate of their unjust Dealings all the Land over, compare Ver. 3, 4. The LXX give a very easy Sense of the Words; This is their Iniquity throughout all the Land, changing only a Letter in the original Text, and reading Onam for Enam.

And he said, This is Wickedness] Publick States or Societies are oftentimes represented by Women, and as the Mothers of their People or Inhabitants, as we see in the antient Coins. By the same Analogy corrupt Societies are figuratively expressed by Harlots, and Women of lewd Characters; such as Aholah and Aholibah, described Ezek. xxiii. so here the corrupt State of the Jews is set forth by a wicked Woman.

And he cast it into the Midst of the Ephah, and he cast the Weight of Lead upon the Mouth thereof] To signify, that when a People have filled up the Measure of their Iniquity, they sink under the Weight of their Sins, and cannot escape the Judgment of God.

I looked, and behold, there came out two Women, and the Wind was in their Wings, &c.] These may probably signify the Empires of Assyria and Babylon. Empires and Kingdoms are commonly described as having Wings, to denote the Swiftness of their Conquests. See Deut. xxviii. 49. Jer. xix. 22. Hos. viii. 1.

And they lift up the Ephah between the Earth and Heaven] That is, The Assyrians carried away captive the Ten Tribes, and then the Babylonians took away the Remainder of the Jews, and made an entire Riddance of the Land.

And he said unto me, To build it an House in the Land of Shinar, and it shall be established, &c.] Or, to build her, i. e. the Woman, an House, &c. The Design of the Vision is to instruct the Jews, that as their Fathers were carried into a Seventy-Years Captivity to Babylon; so if their Posterity should not take Warning by their Punishment, a worse Captivity should befal them, one of so long a Continuance as should make them despair of ever returning home, and resolve to settle themselves in those Countries where they were dispersed. This is expressed by removing them to Babylon, which was a proverbial Expression for utter Ruin and Desolation; just like that of sending them to Egypt, which God threatens the Jews with the Prophets, as a Judgment of which they had the moſt dreadful Apprehenſion; ſo it became a proverbial Speech for extreme Miſery: See Deut. xxviii. 64. Iſa. x. 24. Hoſ. viii. 13. ix. 3.

CHAP. VI.

The Viſion of the four Chariots drawn by ſeveral Sorts of Horſes; and that of the Crowns put upon the Head of Joſhua.

Ver. 1. AND I turned, and lift up mine eyes and looked, and behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of braſs. 2 In the firſt chariot were red horſes, and in the ſecond chariot black horſes, 3 And in the third chariot white horſes, and in the fourth chariot griſled and bay horſes. 4 Then I anſwered, and ſaid unto the angel that talked with me, What are theſe, my lord? 5 And the angel anſwered and ſaid unto me, Theſe are the four ſpirits of the heavens, which go forth from ſtanding before the Lord of all the earth. 6 The black horſes which are therein, go forth into the north-country, and the white go forth after them; and the griſled go forth toward the ſouth-country. 7 And the bay went forth, and ſought to go, that they might walk to and fro through the earth: and he ſaid, Get ye hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro through the earth. 8 Then cried he upon me, and ſpake unto me, ſaying, Behold, theſe that go toward the north country have quieted my ſpirit in the north-country. 9 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Heldai, of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah, which are come from Babylon, and come thou the ſame day, and go into the houſe of Joſiah the ſon of Zephaniah; 11 Then take ſilver and gold, and make crowns, and ſet them upon the head of Joſhua, the ſon of Joſedech the high prieſt; 12 And ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, ſaying, Behold the man whoſe name is the BRANCH, and he ſhall grow up out of his place, and he ſhall build the temple of the Lord: 13 Even he ſhall build the temple of the Lord, and he ſhall bear the glory, and ſhall ſit and rule upon his throne, and he ſhall be a prieſt upon his throne, and the counſel of peace ſhall be between them both. 14 And the crowns ſhall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Jedaiah, and to Hen the ſon of Zephaniah, for a memorial in the temple of the Lord. 15 And they that are far off ſhall come and build in the temple of the Lord, and ye ſhall know that the Lord of hoſts hath ſent me unto you. And this ſhall come to paſs, if ye will diligently obey the voice of the Lord your God.

Behold there came four Chariots from between two Mountains, and the Mountains were Mountains of Braſs] Horſes and Chariots are the uſual Emblems of Conquerors; ſee Iſa. xxi. 7, 9. and Ch. x. 3. of this Prophecy. The four Chariots denote the four Great Empires which ſubdued the biggeſt Part of the then known World. And they are repreſented as coming from between two Mountains; becauſe Mountains are the natural Barriers which divide Kingdoms, which are here, tho' they be as ſtrong as Braſs, ſuppoſed to be broke thro' by thoſe that invade and conquer their Neighbours. And it is obſervable, that ſome of the mighty Conquerors owed the Beginning of their Greatneſs to their ſucceſsful Paſſage thro' the Streights of Mountains, where a ſmall Force might have maintained the Paſſes againſt a powerful Army. So the Beginning of Alexander's againſt the Perſians, was his paſſing thro' the Portæ Ciliciæ without any Oppoſition: The like Succeſs the Roman Emperor Severus had againſt Peſcenninus Niger at the ſame Place. And the great Incurſions the Turks made thro' the Portiæ Caſpiæ, was the firſt Step towards making them formidable in the World.

In the firſt Chariot were red Horſes] To ſignify the bloody Cruelties of the Babyloniſh Empire, eſpecially towards the Jews.

And in the ſecond Chariot were black Horſes] Black is the Colour of Mourning; compare Rev. vi. 5. ſo this denotes the ſad and mournful Eſtate of the Jews under the Succeſſors of Cyrus in the Perſian Empire, when their Enemies forged Calumnies againſt them, and thereby put a Stop to the Building of the Temple; ſee Ezra iv. 4, 5. &c. Neh. iv. 1, 2, 4, &c. ix. 36, 37. and the whole Nation was in Danger of being deſtroyed by the Intereſt of Haman in the Perſian Court.

And in the third Chariot were white Horſes] Signifying the Victories of Alexander, the third great Monarch, and his Kindneſs to the Jews in confirming their Religion, Laws, and Liberties. Conquerors uſed to ride on white Horſes in the Days of Triumph, ſee Rev. vi. 2.

And in the fourth Chariot were griſled and bay Horſes] Or ſtrong Horſes, as the vulgar Latin renders the Word. Theſe may denote the various Forms of the Roman Government, the fourth Empire. Compare Dan. ii. 33, 40, 41. and Ver. 6, 7.

The black Horſes which are therein, go forth into the North Country] The black Horſes which thou ſaweſt in the Viſion belonging to the ſecond Chariot, and denoting the Perſian Empire, go forth to conquer the Babylonians, often expreſſed by the North in the Prophets. The Angel ſaith nothing of the red Horſes, belonging to the firſt Chariot, becauſe that Empire was at an End.

And the griſled go forth into the South Country] This probably denotes the Romans conquering Egypt, frequently called the South Country in Scripture; ſee Dan. xi. 6, &c. This was the laſt Country the Romans ſubdued under Auguſtus, whereby they became Maſters of the greateſt Part of the known World.

And the bay went forth and ſought to go, that they might walk through the Earth] Theſe ſeem to ſignify another Branch of the Roman Empire, that extended their Conqueſts in the latter Times; and theſe can be no other than the Goths and Vandals, whoſe Power roſe out of the Ruins of the firſt Roman Empire, and who ſet up the Kingdom of the Ten Horns, mentioned Rev. xiii. 1. xvii. 3.

Then take Silver and Gold, and make Crowns, and ſet them upon the Head of Joſhua] To ſignify, that the Meſſias, the BRANCH, ſpoken of in the next Verſe, of whom Joſhua was a Type, ſhould be both a King and Prieſt, and ſo ſhould have a Right to wear the two Crowns that belong to each of thoſe Officers.

And he ſhall build the Temple of the Lord] This Text the Chaldee Paraphraſt underſtands of the Meſſias, and ſo it was underſtood by the Jews in the Time of our Saviour. Herod at that Time had a Mind to be thought the Meſſias, his Flatterers had put this Thought in his Head, who from thence were called the Herodians, Matt. xxii. 16. as many of the antient Writers ſuppoſe. This put him upon Rebuilding the Temple, a Work foretold in this Place to be undertook by the Meſſias, tho' meant of God's ſpiritual Temple the Church.

He ſhall bear the Glory, and ſhall ſit and rule upon his Throne, and ſhall be a Prieſt upon his Throne] This is a plain Deſcription of Chriſt, who was foretold to be both a King and Prieſt, Pſ. cx. 4. who ſhould bear the Glory of a King, and withal perform the Office of a Prieſt. The antient Jews expected their Meſſias ſhould ſhould retain both theſe Characters. The Author of the firſt Book of Maccabees informs us Ch. xiv. 41. that in Gratitude to Simon, the Brother of Judas Maccabeus, they appointed him their Governor and High Prieſt for ever (i. e. himſelf and his Poſterity) until there ſhould ariſe a faithful Prophet, or till the faithful Prophet ſhould ariſe, meaning the Meſſias; compare Hebrews iii. 2.

CHAP. VII.

Some Jews were ſent from Babylon to enquire whether they ſhould continue the Faſts appointed on Account of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the Captivity: From whence the Prophet takes Occaſion to preſs the Obſervance of the weightier Matters of the Law, viz. Judgment and Mercy.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs, in the fourth year of king Darius, that the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth month, even in Chiſleu; 2 When they had ſent unto the houſe of God, Sherezer and Regemmelech, and their men to pray before the Lord. 3 And to ſpeak unto the prieſts which were in the houſe of the Lord of hoſts, and to the prophets, ſaying, Should I weep in the fifth month, ſeparating myſelf, as I have done theſe ſo many years? 4 Then came the word of the Lord of hoſts unto me, ſaying, 5 Speak unto all the people of the land, and to the prieſts, ſaying, When ye faſted and mourned in the fifth and ſeventh month, even thoſe ſeventy years, did ye at all faſt unto me, even to me? 6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drink, did not ye eat for yourſelves, and drink for yourſelves? 7 Should ye not hear the words which the Lord hath cried by the former prophets, when Jeruſalem was inhabited, and in proſperity, and the cities thereof round about her, when men inhabited the ſouth and the plain? 8 And the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah, ſaying, 9 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, ſaying, Execute true judgment, and ſhew mercy and compaſſions every man to his brother. 10 And oppreſs not the widow, nor the fatherleſs, the ſtranger, nor the poor, and let none of you imagine evil againſt his brother in your heart. 11 But they refuſed to hearken, and pulled away the ſhoulder, and ſtopped their ears, that they ſhould not hear. 12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant ſtone, leſt they ſhould hear the law, and the words, which the Lord of hoſts hath ſent in his Spirit by the former prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hoſts. 13 Therefore it is come to paſs, that, as he cried, and they would not hear; ſo they cried, and I would not hear, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 14 But I ſcattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations whom they knew not: thus the land was deſolate after them, that no man paſſed through nor returned: for they laid the pleaſant land deſolate.

Should I weep in the fifth Month, ſeparating myſelf, as I have done, theſe ſo many Years] The Faſt of the fifth Month was kept, becauſe in the fifth Month, anſwering to our Month of July, the City and Temple were burnt by the Chaldeans, 2 Kings xxv. 8. in Memory of which grievous Judgment, the Jews had kept a ſolemn Faſt, from that Time until now; refraining from all worldly Buſineſs and Pleaſure, and employing themſelves in the religious Exerciſe of Prayer and Humiliation; ſee Ch. xii. 12, 13, 14. The Queſtion they now propoſed, was, Whether it was proper for them ſtill to continue this Faſt, when the Eccleſiaſtical and Civil State was in a great Meaſure reſtored, and the Judgment for which they mourned, was removed?

When ye faſted and mourned in the fifth and ſeventh Month] The Jews obſerved four ſolemn Faſts, in relation to the Calamities that attended the Captivity: Two of them are mentioned in this Chapter, and two in the next, Ver. 19. Beſide the Faſt in the fifth Month, taken Notice of Ver. 3. they kept another in the ſeventh Month, anſwering chiefly to our Septemb. in Memory of the Murder of Gedaliah, which happened in that Month, 2 Kings xxv. 25. whereupon all the Remainder of the Jews were diſperſed into ſeveral Lands, and the Deſolation of Judea compleated, Jer. xli. 17, 18.

CHAP. VIII.

God promiſes to continue his Favour to thoſe that are returned from Captivity; and the general Reſtoration of his People, and the Enlargement of his Church by the coming in of the Gentiles.

Ver. 1. AGain the word of the Lord of hoſts came to me, ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I was jealous for Zion with great jealouſy, and I was jealous for her with great fury. 3 Thus ſaith the Lord, I am returned unto Zion, and will dwell in the midſt of Jeruſalem, and Jeruſalem ſhall be called a city of truth; and the mountain of the Lord of hoſts the holy mountain. 4 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, There ſhall yet old men and old women dwell in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and every man with his ſtaff in his hand for very age. 5 And the ſtreets of the city ſhall be full of boys and girls playing in the ſtreets thereof. 6 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, If it be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in theſe days, ſhould it alſo be marvellous in mine eyes? ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will ſave my people, from the eaſt-country, and from the weſt-country, 8 And I will bring them, and they ſhall dwell in the midſt of Jeruſalem, and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteouſneſs. 9 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Let your hands be ſtrong, ye that hear in theſe days theſe words by the mouth of the prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the houſe of the Lord of hoſts was laid, that the temple might be built. 10 For before theſe days there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beaſt, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in, becauſe of the affliction: for I ſet all men, every one againſt his neighbour. 11 But now I will not be unto the reſidue of this people, as in the former days, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 12 For the ſeed ſhall be proſperous, the vine ſhall give her fruit, and the ground ſhall give her increaſe, and the heavens ſhall give their dew, and I will cauſe the remnant of this people to poſſeſs all theſe things. 13 And it ſhall come to paſs, that as ye were a curſe among the heathen, O houſe of Judah and houſe of Iſrael; ſo will I ſave you, and ye ſhall be a bleſſing: fear not, but let your hands be ſtrong. 14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, As I thought to puniſh you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I repented not; 15 So again have I thought in theſe days to do well unto Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah: fear ye not. 16 Theſe are the things that ye ſhall do, Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour: execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates. 17 And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts againſt his neighbour, and love no falſe oath: for all theſe are things that I hate, ſaith the Lord. 18 And the word of the Lord of hoſts came unto me, ſaying, 19 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, The faſt of the fourth month, and the faſt of the fifth, and the faſt of the ſeventh, and the faſt of the tenth ſhall be to the houſe of Judah joy and gladneſs, and cheerful feaſts; therefore love the truth and peace. 20 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, It ſhall yet come to paſs, that there ſhall come people, and the inhabitants of many cities. 21 And the inhabitants of one city ſhall go to another, ſaying, Let us go ſpeedily to pray before the Lord, and to ſeek the Lord of hoſts: I will go alſo. 22 Yea, many people and ſtrong nations ſhall come to ſeek the Lord of hoſts in Jeruſalem, and to pray before the Lord. 23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, In thoſe days it ſhall come to paſs, that ten men ſhall take hold out of all languages of the nations, even ſhall take hold of the ſkirt of him that is a Jew, ſaying, We will go with you; for we have heard that God is with you.

I will ſave my People from the Eaſt Country, and from the Weſt Country] The Words of the Original may be literally tranſlated thus: From the riſing to the going down of the Sun, which ſignifies from all Parts of the World; compare Pſ. l. 1. cxiii. 3. Mal. i. 11. This denotes the general Reſtoration of the Jewiſh Nation from their ſeveral Diſperſions, compare Ver. 13, 20, 23. an Event foretold by moſt of the Prophets of the Old Teſtament. The Weſt Country here mentioned, hath a particular relation to their preſent Diſperſion, great Numbers of them being in theſe latter Ages in the Weſtern Parts of the World.

For before theſe Days there was no Hire for Man, nor any Hire for Beaſt] Or rather, There was no Reward for Man, nor any Reward for Beaſt; ſo the Word ſekar often ſignifies; ſee Iſa. xl. 10. lxii. 11. i. e. the Fruits of the Earth would not pay the Labour of thoſe that manured it; ſee Hag. i. 9, 10, 11. ii. 16, 17.

Ten Men — out of the Languages of all Nations, ſhall take hold of the Skirt of him that is a Jew, ſaying, We will go with thee] Chriſtians are ſometimes called by the Name of Jews, as being thoſe to whom the Promiſes made to the Fathers of the Jewiſh Nation do chiefly belong: See Rom. ii. 28, 29. Rev. ii. 2. In this Senſe the Word is here to be underſtood. The Text imports the Heathen applying themſelves to the Chriſtians, eſpecially to the Paſtors and Miniſters of the Church, for Inſtruction, in order to qualify themſelves for Admittance into the Church. Ten Men is a figurative Expreſſion, putting a certain Number for an uncertain, ſee Eccluſ. xxv. 9. ſo the Number ſeven is uſed, Iſa. iv. 1. Mic. v. 5. To take hold of another, is a Geſture of entreating his friendly Aſſiſtance; ſee Iſa. iii. 6. iv. 1.

CHAP. IX.

This Chapter begins a new Prophecy; foretelling the Conqueſts of Alexander the Great over Syria, Phœnicia, and Paleſtine; and God's Providence over his Temple; the peaceable Coming of the Meſſias; and the Conqueſts of the Jews over the Princes of the Grecian Monarchy.

Ver. 1. THE burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadrach, and Damaſcus ſhall be the reſt thereof: when the eyes of man, as of all the tribes of Iſrael ſhall be toward the Lord. 2 And Hamath alſo ſhall border thereby; Tyrus and Zidon, though it be very wiſe. 3 And Tyrus did build herſelf a ſtrong hold, and heaped up ſilver as the duſt, and fine gold as the mire of the ſtreets. 4 Behold, the Lord will caſt her out, and he will ſmite her power in the ſea, and ſhe ſhall be devoured with fire. 5 Aſhkelon ſhall ſee it, and fear; Gaza alſo ſhall ſee it, and be very ſorrowful, and Ekron: for her expectation ſhall be aſhamed, and the king ſhall periſh from Gaza, and Aſhkelon ſhall not be inhabited. 6 And a baſtard ſhall dwell in Aſhdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philiſtines. 7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, even he ſhall be for our God, and he ſhall be as a governor in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebuſite. 8 And I will encamp about mine houſe becauſe of the army, becauſe of him that paſſeth by, and becauſe of him that returneth; and no oppreſſor ſhall paſs through them any more: for now have I ſeen with mine eyes. 9 Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion: ſhout, O daughter of Jeruſalem: behold, thy king cometh unto thee: he is juſt, and having ſalvation, lowly, and riding upon an aſs, and upon a colt the foal of an aſs. 10 And I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim, and the horſe from Jeruſalem, and the battle bow ſhall be cut off; and he ſhall ſpeak peace unto the heathen: and his dominion ſhall be from ſea even to ſea, and from the river even to the ends of the earth. 11 As for thee alſo, by the blood of thy covenant, I have ſent forth thy priſoners out of the pit, wherein is no water. 12 Turn ye to the ſtrong hold, ye priſoners of hope, even to day do I declare, that I will render double unto thee: 13 When I have bent Judah for me, filled the bow with Ephraim, and raiſed up thy ſons, O Zion, againſt thy ſons, O Greece, and made thee as the ſword of a mighty man: 14 And the Lord ſhall be ſeen over them, and his arrows ſhall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God ſhall blow the trumpet, and ſhall go with whirlwinds of the ſouth. 15 The Lord of hoſts ſhall defend them, and they ſhall devour, and ſubdue with ſling-ſtones, and they ſhall drink, and make a noiſe as through wine, and they ſhall be filled like bowls, and as the corners of the altar. 16 And the Lord their God ſhall ſave them in that day as the flock of his people, for they ſhall be as the ſtones of a crown, lifted up as an enſign upon his land. 17 For how great is his goodneſs, and how great is his beauty? corn ſhall make the young men cheerful, and new wine the maids.

The Burden of the Word of the Lord in the Land of Hadrach] Hadrach is not elſewhere mentioned as the Name of a Country; the Context ſhews it muſt mean ſome Part of Syria, of which Damaſcus was the Capital pital City. The Words may moſt probably be underſtood of Alexander the Great's conquering Syria: Damaſcus being at the ſame Time betrayed to him, and all Darius's Treaſure, which was laid up there, delivered into his Hands; as Dr. Prideaux relates the Story out of Arian and Curtius.

And Damaſcus ſhall be the Reſt thereof] The Words may ſignify that Damaſcus was the chief Stay and Support of Syria, whoſe Strength they relied on for their Security; or that the Judgment here threatened ſhould particularly afflict Damaſcus; in which Senſe the Verb Nuach is uſed, Iſa. xxx. 32. where the Text may be literally tranſlated, The Staff or Stroke which the Lord ſhall cauſe to reſt upon him; ſee likewiſe Ch. xxv. 10.

And Hamath alſo ſhall border thereby] The Senſe would be plainer thus; And againſt Hamath alſo which borders thereby; importing that Hamath ſhall not eſcape the Conqueror's Forces. There were two Hamaths; here is probably meant that Hamath which was on the Northern Border of Judea, and is ſpoken of in the Text as a bordering City.

For the King ſhall periſh from Gaza] That City was taken by Alexander after a two Months Siege; 10,000 of the Inhabitants ſlain, and the Governor Betis dragged round the City till he was dead. King is a general Word for any Governor, in Hebrew. Strabo, ſpeaking of Gaza, ſaith, 'It was formerly a 'City of Note, but was deſtroyed by Alexander the 'Great, and remained deſart or uninhabited.' And ſo it is called Acts viii. 26. and is to be diſtinguiſhed from Gaza the Sea-port, otherwiſe called Majuma; the old Gaza being a Mile from the Sea.

And a Baſtard ſhall dwell in Aſhdod] By a Baſtard the LXX and moſt Interpreters underſtand Foreigners, ſuch as were not the native Inhabitants of the Place; and they underſtood it either of Alexander's Conqueſts in thoſe Parts of Paleſtine, where the Natives were deſtroyed, or expelled out of their Habitations, and Strangers placed in their Room; or elſe of the Exploits of Judas Maccabeus againſt the Philiſtines, 1 Macc. v. 68. and of Jonathan, who ſet Fire to Azotus, and burnt and deſtroyed 8000 Men there, Ch. x. 84, 85. To this Senſe the Chaldee Paraphraſe underſtands the Text, and renders it, The Family of Iſrael ſhall dwell in Aſhdod, who before were in it as Strangers. A Collection or Succeſſion of Perſons is ſometimes expreſſed in the ſingular Number; ſee Ch. xi. 16.

And I will take away his Blood out of his Mouth, and his Abominations from between his Teeth] He ſhall be brought down ſo low, that he ſhall not be in a Condition to oppoſe his Neighbours, as he did formerly; but they ſhall be delivered from his Cruelty, juſt as the Prey is taken out of the Mouth of a wild Beaſt, when he is juſt about to devour it.

And he ſhall be a Governor in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebuſite] They ſhall be equally capable of Places of Honour and Truſt with the Jews themſelves, who ſhall look upon the Philiſtines as their Fellow-Citizens, juſt as the Iſraelites treated the Jebuſites, the antient Inhabitants of Jeruſalem. See Judg. i. 21.

By the Blood of thy Covenant, I have ſent forth thy Priſoners out of the Pit wherein is no Water] The Words import the Deliverance of Mankind from the Bondage of Sin and Satan, by Virtue of the Covenant ſealed with the Blood of Chriſt, compare Heb. xiii. 20. The Condition of Men enſlaved by Sin and Ignorance, is often compared to that of Priſoners confined in Chains and Darkneſs, ſee Iſa. xlii. 7. lxi. 1. By the Pit is meant the loweſt Part of the Priſon called the Dungeon, compare Iſa. li. 14. and ſo the Hebrew Bôr is tranſlated Jer. xxxvii. 16. xxxviii. 6. Lam. iii. 53, 55. And its having no Water, is a Deſcription of ſuch a Dungeon as that into which Jeremiah was thrown.

Turn ye to the ſtrong Hold, ye Priſoners of Hope] Ye that are under any Bondage or Oppreſſion, do not deſpair, but rely upon God's Promiſes for Deliverance; apply yourſelves to Him who is a ſtrong Tower of Defence in Time of Trouble.

CHAP. X.

The Prophet deters the Jews from ſeeking to Idols, by putting them in Mind of the Calamities brought upon their Forefathers.

Ver. 1. ASK ye of the Lord rain in the time of the latter rain, ſo the Lord ſhall make bright clouds, and give them ſhowers of rain, to every one graſs in the field. 2 For the idols have ſpoken vanity, and the diviners have ſeen a lie, and have told falſe dreams; they comfort in vain: therefore they went their way as a flock, they were troubled, becauſe there was no ſhepherd. 3 Mine anger was kindled againſt the ſhepherds, and I puniſhed the goats: for the Lord of hoſts hath viſited his flock the houſe of Judah, and hath made them as his goodly horſe in the battel. 4 Out of him came forth the corner, out of him the nail, out of him the battel-bow, out of him every oppreſſor together. 5 And they ſhall be as mighty men, which tread down their enemies in the mire of the ſtreets in the battel, and they ſhall fight, becauſe the Lord is with them, and the riders on horſes ſhall be confounded. 6 And I will ſtrengthen the houſe of Judah, and I will ſave the houſe of Joſeph, and I will bring them again to place them; for I have mercy upon them: and they ſhall be as though I had not caſt them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will hear them. 7 And they of Ephraim ſhall be like a mighty man, and their heart ſhall rejoice, as through wine: yea, their children ſhall ſee it, and be glad, their heart ſhall rejoice in the Lord. 8 I will hiſs for them, and gather them, for I have redeemed them: and they ſhall increaſe as they have increaſed. 9 And I will ſow them among the people: and they ſhall remember me in far countrys, and they ſhall live with their children, and turn again. 10 I will bring them again alſo out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Aſſyria, and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, and place ſhall not be found for them. 11 And he ſhall paſs through the ſea with affliction, and ſhall ſmite the waves in the ſea, and all the deeps of the river ſhall dry up: and the pride of Aſſyria ſhall be brought down, and the ſceptre of Egypt ſhall depart away. 12 And I will ſtrengthen them in the Lord, and they ſhall walk up and down in his name, ſaith the Lord.

An eminent Divine underſtands the three firſt Verſes of this Chapter, of the Jews that remained in Babylon, who either conſulted the Idols of the Gentiles, or elſe ſuch falſe Prophets among the Jews there as were addicted to Divination, and ſuch like idolatrous Practices; compare Jer. xxix. 8, 15, 24. Theſe all propheſied Drought, Famine, and ſuch like Calamities to thoſe Jews that ſhould return into Judea; and therefore are called vain Comforters; ſuch as Job complained of, Ch. xvi. 2. By this Means ſome of the People were detained at Babylon without any Form of Government among themſelves, and were as a Flock without a Shepherd. Shepherds and Goats, Ver. 3. he explains of the great Men of the Jews who ſtaid behind at Babylon: Theſe he diſtinguiſhes from thoſe that returned Home, who are called God's Flock, in the following Words.

Out of him came forth the Corner, out of him the Nail, &c.] Or, ſhall come forth. It is owing to God's God's Favour that they have a Captain, or Ruler, to support their Commonwealth: Such was in an eminent Manner Judas Maccabeus; that they have a ſettled State and Government, whereon private Men may rely for the Security of their Lives and Properties. The Word Pinnah, tranſlated Corner, ſignifies likewiſe a Prince or Leader; and ſo it is taken, Numb. xxiv. 17. Judg. xx. 2. 1 Sam. xiv. 38. Iſa. xix. 13. The Word rendred Nail ſignifies any Perſon on whom others have a Dependance (ſee Iſa. xxii. 23, 25.) as alſo the publick Settlement of a State, Ezra ix. 8.

Out of him every Oppreſſor together] As the Greek Word Tyrant was at firſt equivalent in Signification to a King, but afterwards degenerated into a worſe Denomination: So the Hebrew Nogeſh uſually ſignifies an Oppreſſor, but is ſometimes taken in a general Senſe for a Prince or Governor; ſo it probably ſignifies Iſa. lx. 17. where our Engliſh renders it, Make thine Exactors Righteouſneſs. But the Chaldee Paraphraſe expreſſes it by Shultanim, Princes. The LXX tranſlate it, Ἐπισκόπους, Overſeers; which made ſome of the Fathers apply that Text to the Biſhops of the Chriſtian Church. This Senſe of the Word agrees beſt with the Scope of the Place, and the Chaldee underſtands it ſo here. Thus the Word may be underſtood, Ch. ix. 8. ſo as to ſignify the Commander or General of an Army.

I will hiſs for them, and gather them, for I have redeemed them] I will ſummon them from diſtant Countries by a certain Signal, as a Shepherd calls his Flock together with his Whiſtle, compare Iſa. v. 26. vii. 18. which ſhall aſſemble them together, in order to bring them back into their own Country, Ver. 10. for I will redeem them out of the Hand of their Enemies. The Prophets often ſpeak of a Thing future, as if it were already accompliſhed.

And he ſhall paſs thro' the Sea with Affliction, and ſhall ſmite the Waves of the Sea, and all the Deeps of the Rivers ſhall be dried up] The Senſe might be more properly expreſſed thus, And he (Iſrael) ſhall paſs thro' the Streights of the Sea; ſo the LXX and the vulgar Latin underſtand it, meaning a Branch of the Red Sea; and (God) ſhall ſmite the Waves of the Sea, &c. The Expreſſions allude to the miraculous Paſſage of the Iſraelites over an Arm of the Red Sea, when God dried up the Waters of that Sea, or River, before them; Exod. xiv. 21. Joſh. ii. 10. And this imports that God would do as great Things for them as he did formerly for their Fathers; to this Senſe the Chaldee expounds the Words. See the foregoing Verſe, and Iſa. xi. 15. If we would diſtinguiſh betwixt the Sea and Rivers, we may underſtand the River of Jordan, whoſe Waters were dried up to make a Paſſage for the Iſraelites into the Land of Promiſe.

CHAP. XI.

The Prophet repreſenting the Perſon of the Meſſias, declares the ungrateful Requitals the Jews had made him, when he undertook the Office of a Shepherd, in guiding and governing them; for which he threatens to deſtroy their City and Temple, and to give them up into the Hands of cruel Governors.

Ver. 1. OPEN thy doors, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour thy cedars. 2 Howl fir-tree, for the cedar is fallen; becauſe the mighty are ſpoiled: howl, O ye oaks of Baſhan, for the foreſt of the vintage is come down. 3 There is a voice of the howling of the ſhepherds; for their glory is ſpoiled: a voice of the roaring of young lions; for the pride of Jordan is ſpoiled. 4 Thus ſaith the Lord my God, Feed the flock of the ſlaughter. 5 Whoſe poſſeſſors ſlay them, and hold themſelves not guilty: and they that ſell them, ſay, Bleſſed be the Lord, for I am rich: and their own ſhepherds pity them not. 6 For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the Lord: but lo, I will deliver the men every one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king, and they ſhall ſmite the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them. 7 And I will feed the flock of ſlaughter, even you, O poor of the flock: and I took unto me two ſtaves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the flock. 8 Three ſhepherds alſo I cut off in one month, and my ſoul lothed them, and their ſoul alſo abhorred me. 9 Then ſaid I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that is to be cut off, let it be cut off; and let the reſt eat, every one the fleſh of another. 10 And I took my ſtaff, even Beauty, and cut it aſunder, that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the people. 11 And it was broken in that day: and ſo the poor of the flock that waited upon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord. 12 And I ſaid unto them, If ye think good, give me my price; and if not, forbear: So they weighed for my price thirty pieces of ſilver. 13 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Caſt it unto the potter: a goodly price that I was priſed at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of ſilver, and caſt them to the potter in the houſe of the Lord. 14 Then I cut aſunder mine other ſtaff, even Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Iſrael. 15 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Take unto thee yet the inſtruments of a fooliſh ſhepherd. 16 For lo, I will raiſe up a ſhepherd in the land, which ſhall not viſit thoſe that be cut off, neither ſhall ſeek the young one, nor heal that that is broken, nor feed that that ſtandeth ſtill: but he ſhall eat the fleſh of the fat, and tear their claws in pieces. 17 Wo to the idol ſhepherd that leaveth the flock: the ſword ſhall be upon his arm, and upon his right eye: his arm ſhall be clean dried up, and his right eye ſhall be utterly darkened.

Open thy Doors, O Lebanon, that the Fire may devour thy Cedars] By Lebanon moſt Interpreters underſtand the Temple, whoſe ſtately Buildings reſembled the tall Cedars of that Foreſt. There is a remarkable Story mentioned in the Jewiſh Writers to this Purpoſe. Some Time before the Deſtruction of the Temple, the Doors of it opened of their own Accord; a Circumſtance atteſted by Joſephus. Then R. Johanan, a Diſciple of R. Hillel, directing his Speech to the Temple ſaid, I know thy Deſtruction is at Hand, according to the Prophecy of Zechariah; Open thy Doors, O Lebanon, &c.

Howl Fir-tree, for the Cedar is fallen, &c.] By the ſeveral Sorts of Trees are meant the ſeveral Orders and Degrees of Men, who ſhall be Sharers in the common Deſtruction.

There is a Voice of the Howling of the Shepherds] By Shepherds are meant the chief Rulers of the Jews.

A Voice of the Roaring of young Lions] So he calls the Princes and Governors of the Jews, becauſe they devoured the People by their Oppreſſions; ſee Zeph. iii. 3.

For the Pride of Jordan is ſpoiled] The Lion may be called the Pride of the Foreſt, as being the ſtatelieſt Beaſt that rules there; as Beaſts that prey upon others are called the Children of Pride, Job xli. 34. Lions are ſtiled here the Pride of Jordan, becauſe they lay in the Thickets about the Banks of Jordan. The Words may be rendered the Swelling of Jordan, as they are trantranſlated, Jer. xlix. 19. At the Time of the Swelling, or overflowing of Jordan, the Lions were raiſed out of their Coverts, and infeſted the Country.

Thus ſaith the Lord my God, feed the Flock of the Slaughter] A learned Prelate obſerves, that the Actions of the Prophets are ſometimes Typical, i. e. they repreſent in themſelves the Perſons and Circumſtances of others. So here Zechariah was commanded by God to act the Part of Chriſt, the good Shepherd, and to feed the Flock of the Slaughter, that Flock which their Shepherds deſtroyed, inſtead of feeding them.

And I took unto me two Staves, the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands] By the Staff, called Beauty, is intimated his Favour, Gentleneſs, or Kindneſs towards his People; ſo the Word ſignifies Pſ. xc. 17. and this was remarkably verified in our Saviour Chriſt, whoſe gracious Words, and beneficial Works, were conſpicuous thro' the whole Courſe of his Life. The other Staff he called Bands, by which is meant that Bond of the New Covenant (as the Words of Ezekiel may be underſtood, Ch. xx. 37.) whereby he intended to unite both the Kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah under himſelf as their Head and King, ſee Ezek. xxxvii. 22. and then afterwards to unite the Jews and Gentiles, by breaking down the Partition Wall that was between them; ſee John x. 16. Eph. ii. 14.

Three Shepherds alſo I cut off in one Month] We may probably explain theſe three Shepherds of the Chief Prieſts, Scribes, and Elders of the Jews. Chriſt expoſed theſe as blind Guides, and thereby leſſened their Authority among the People; which contributed very much to the ſpreading of the Goſpel; ſee John xii. 19. One Month ſeems a proverbial Expreſſion for a ſhort Time; ſee Hoſ. v. 7.

And the Lord ſaid unto me caſt it unto the Potter, a goodly Price that I was prized at of them] God commanded the Prophet in a Viſion, as perſonating Chriſt, to caſt the Money in a contemptuous Manner to the Potter, as a Reward only ſuitable to his Labour, and as a Price only fit for ſuch Wares as he ſold, which were of the meaneſt Value; ſee Lam. iv. 2.

This whole Tranſaction, performed by Zechariah in a Viſion, was deſigned to be an exact Repreſentation of the ſeveral Circumſtances that attended the betraying the Meſſiah by Judas, the Price the Chief Prieſts put upon him, to whom, as the Governors of the Temple, the Money was returned, and the Uſe to which the Money was applied.

CHAP. XII.

The former Part of this Chapter, and ſeveral Paſſages in the xivth, relate to the Invaſion made upon the Inhabitants of Judea and Jeruſalem, in the latter Times of the World, probably after their Return to, and Settlement in their own Land.

Ver. 1. THE burden of the word of the Lord for Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, which ſtretcheth forth the heavens, and layeth the foundation of the earth, and formeth the ſpirit of man within him. 2 Behold, I will make Jeruſalem a cup of trembling unto all the people round about, when they ſhall be in the ſiege both againſt Judah, and againſt Jeruſalem. 3 And in that day will I make Jeruſalem a burdenſome ſtone for all people: all that burden themſelves with it, ſhall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together againſt it. 4 In that day, ſaith the Lord, I will ſmite every horſe with aſtoniſhment, and his rider with madneſs, and I will open mine eyes upon the houſe of Judah, and will ſmite every horſe of the people with blindneſs. 5 And the governors of Judah ſhall ſay in their heart, The inhabitants of Jeruſalem ſhall be my ſtrength in the Lord of hoſts their God. 6 In that day will I make the governors of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a ſheaf; and they ſhall devour all the people round about, on the right hand and on the left: and Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited again, in her own place, even in Jeruſalem. 7 The Lord alſo ſhall ſave the tents of Judah firſt, that the glory of the houſe of David, and the glory of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, do not magnifie themſelves againſt Judah. 8 In that day ſhall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and he that is feeble among them at that day ſhall be as David; and the houſe of David ſhall be as God, as the angel of the Lord before them. 9 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will ſeek to deſtroy all the nations that come againſt Jeruſalem. 10 And I will pour upon the houſe of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, the Spirit of grace and of ſupplications, and they ſhall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they ſhall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only ſon, and ſhall be in bitterneſs for him, as one that is in bitterneſs for his firſt-born. 11 In that day ſhall there be a great mourning in Jeruſalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon. 12 And the land ſhall mourn, every family apart, the family of the houſe of David apart, and their wives apart: the family of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wives apart: 13 The family of the houſe of Levi apart, and their wives apart: the family of Shimei apart, and their wives apart: 14 All the families that remain, every family apart, and their wives apart.

And in that Day] This Prophecy may probably be underſtood of the Invaſions, which the Enemies of God and his Truth ſhall attempt againſt the Jews after their Converſion.

Will I make Jeruſalem a burdenſome Stone for all People] St. Jerome upon the Place thinks, that a burdenſome Stone is an Expreſſion taken from an Exerciſe kept up in Judea in his Time, where young Men us'd to make Trial of their Strength by lifting great Stones as high as they could. In ſuch an Exerciſe where Men undertook to lift a Stone too heavy for their Strength, they were in Danger of its falling upon them, or bruiſing or cruſhing them to Pieces. To the ſame Senſe Chriſt ſaith, On whomſoever this Stone ſhall fall, it will grind him to Powder, Matt. xxi. 24. The ſame Danger ſhall they incur, who enter into Acts of Hoſtility with the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

In that Day I will ſmite every Horſe with Aſtoniſhment, and his Rider with Madneſs, &c.] The Turks are famous for their Cavalry, wherein the Strength of their Armies conſiſts; ſo in order to their Diſcomfiture God will ſend a Diſtraction among the Horſes and their Riders, who ſhall be put into ſuch a Confuſion as to fall foul one upon another, ſee Ch. xiv. 13. and not be able to diſtinguiſh between their Friends and their Foes; they ſhall be as if they were ſtruck with Blindneſs; juſt as the Syrian Army was when they ſurrounded the Door of Eliſha, 2 Kings vi. 18.

And the Houſe of David ſhall be as God, as the Angel of the Lord before them] The Meſſias, who is the principal Branch of the Houſe of David, ſhall lead them on, as he formerly went before the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs, and conducted them to the Land of Canaan, by the Name of the Angel of God's Preſence.

And they ſhall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they ſhall mourn over him as one that mourneth for his only Son] The Words point out the outward Means whereby their Converſion ſhall be wrought, viz. that the LORD, i. e. the Meſſias, ſhall ere, &c.

Ch. xiv. 5. i. e. Chriſt ſhall appear in the Heavens, ſitting on a bright Cloud, as his Coming is deſcribed, Rev. xiv. 14. compare Ch. i. 7. Dan. vii. 13. This is probably meant by the Sign of the Son of Man in Heaven, mentioned Matt. xxiv. 30. compared with Mark xiii. 26. This Sight ſhall ſtrike them with Horror and Aſtoniſhment for their Sin in rejecting me their God, whom their Fathers put to an ignominious Death, and themſelves have by their Blaſphemies crucified afreſh. Then they ſhall beg Pardon for their own and their Fathers Sins, with the deepeſt Signs of Mourning and Humiliation, expreſſed by a proverbial Speech, as equal to the Mourning of a Father for an only Son.

The Jews themſelves have applied this Text to the Meſſias, as may be ſeen in Grotius's Notes upon the Place, and Bp. Pearſon's Expoſition of the fourth Article of the Creed. David did before deſcribe his Sufferings under the Figure of piercing his Hands and his Feet, Pſ. xxii. 16. and Iſaiah foretold he ſhould be wounded for our Tranſgreſſions, Ch. liii. 5.

In that Day there ſhall be a great Mourning in Jeruſalem, like the Mourning of Hadadrimmon, in the Valley of Megiddo] Joſiah was ſlain at, or near Megiddo, 2 Kings xxiii. 29. it may be the Field where the Battle was fought might be called Hadadrimmon. St. Jerome ſaith it was a Place near Jezreel, called in his Time Maximiniapolis. The Valley, or Plain of Jezreel, was a large Plain, ſee Joſh. xvii. 16. called the Plain of Eſdraelon, Judith i. 8. it comprehended the Valley of Megiddo in it. There the Lamentation for Joſiah began, which was continued from thence to Jeruſalem, whither his Body was brought to be buried, where all Judah mourned for him, and appointed an Anniverſary Commemoration and Lamentation for him; 2 Chron. xxxv. 24, 25. So the Mourning for Joſiah became a Proverb for a publick and ſolemn Lamentation: Such a National Humiliation ſhall the Jews obſerve for their crucifying the Meſſias.

CHAP. XIII.

Pardon promiſed to the Jews upon their Converſion, and being cleanſed from Idolatry, and the falſe Pretences to Prophecy, upon their Belief in Chriſt; whoſe Death is foretold, and the ſaving a third Part of that People, after a ſevere Trial.

Ver. 1 IN that day there ſhall be a fountain opened to the houſe of David, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, for ſin, and for uncleanneſs. 2 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, that I will cut off the names of the idols out of the land, and they ſhall no more be remembred: and alſo I will cauſe the prophets, and the unclean ſpirit to paſs out of the land. 3 And it ſhall come to paſs, that when any ſhall yet propheſy, then his father and his mother that begat him, ſhall ſay unto him, Thou ſhalt not live; for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother, that begat him, ſhall thruſt him through when he propheſieth. 4 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the prophets ſhall be aſhamed every one of his viſion, when he hath propheſied: neither ſhall they wear a rough garment to deceive: 5 But he ſhall ſay, I am no prophet, I am an huſbandman; for man taught me to keep cattel from my youth. 6 And one ſhall ſay unto him, What are theſe wounds in thine hands? Then he ſhall anſwer, Thoſe with which I was wounded in the houſe of my friends. 7 Awake, O ſword, againſt my ſhepherd, and againſt the man that is my fellow, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: ſmite the ſhepherd, and the ſheep ſhall be ſcattered: and I will turn mine hand upon the little ones. 8 And it ſhall come to paſs, that in all the land, ſaith the Lord, two parts therein ſhall be cut off, and die, but the third ſhall be left therein. 9 And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as ſilver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried: they ſhall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will ſay, It is my people; and they ſhall ſay, The Lord is my God.

In that Day ſhall a Fountain be opened to the Houſe of David, and to the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, for Sin and for Uncleanneſs] The Houſe of David, with the other Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, upon their ſolemn Humiliation, deſcribed Ch. xii. 13, 14. and believing in him whom they had crucified and rejected, ſhall obtain a full and free Pardon of all their Sins, being admitted into the Church of Chriſt by Baptiſm; ſee Acts ii. 38, 39. xiii. 38, 39. The Word Fountain properly expreſſes the Chriſtian Baptiſm, which was often adminiſtered in Fountains and Rivers; and likewiſe alludes to the Jewiſh Waſhings, which were uſually performed in running Waters, and were performed for the Expiation of legal Pollutions, expreſſed here by the Word Niddah, which properly ſignifies Separation from the Company of others; a Cenſure inflicted by the Law on unclean Perſons. Kimchi underſtands it of the Captivity or Deſtruction of the Jews, inflicted upon them for their Sins, which ſequeſtered them from their own Land, and made them unfit to attend upon God's Worſhip; as unclean Perſons were excluded from the Precincts of the Temple; compare Ezekiel xxxvi. 17.

And alſo I will cauſe the Prophets, and the unclean Spirit to paſs out of the Land] By the Prophets are here meant the falſe Prophets, as the LXX tranſlate it. The unclean Spirit is the ſame as a lying Spirit, or a falſe Pretence to Prophecy and Inſpiration.

Neither ſhall they wear a rough Garment to deceive] The Prophets uſed to wear hairy or rough Garments; ſee Iſa. xx. 2. this they did, partly in Imitation of Elijah, who was ſo clad, 2 Kings i. 8. and partly becauſe it was a deſpicable or mournful Habit, and ſuitable to their Office, which was to denounce God's Judgments againſt Pride and Luxury. The Words import, that theſe Prophets ſhall diſown their former Pretences, and no longer wear ſuch a Garment, as a Badge of their Profeſſion.

And one ſhall ſay unto him, What are theſe Wounds in thy Hands?] When ſuch a ſevere Inquiſition is made againſt falſe Prophets, every one ſhall be ready to obſerve what Marks or Characters are printed upon the Hands of ſuch a Pretender, and to aſk him, How they came there? And he ſhall anſwer in his own Juſtification, This is not the Mark or Character of any Idol, but only a Token that I am a Servant belonging to ſuch a Family. It was an antient Cuſtom for Maſters to ſet a Mark upon their Slaves or Goods; and there was ſometimes a particular Mark or Character imprinted upon the Worſhippers of certain Idols; ſo we read in the third Book of Maccabees, that the Worſhippers of Bacchus had an Ivy Leaf imprinted on their Bodies. Such Impreſſions were often made upon the Hands, to which that Expreſſion alludes, Rev. xiii. 16. of receiving the Mark of the Beaſt upon the right Hand. Several Interpreters underſtand theſe Words of the Wounds of Chriſt; but, ſays Lowth, I conceive the following Words more properly belong to that Subject.

Awake, O Sword, againſt my Shepherd, and againſt the Man that is my Fellow] Here begins a new Prophecy, importing that the Meſſias, the great Shepherd, as he is deſcribed in this Prophecy, Ch. xi. 4, &c. and in Iſaiah xl. 11. Ezek. xxxiv. 23. tho' in reſpect to his Divine Nature he be equal with God the Father, Phil. ii. 6. yet ſhall be delivered up to Death, by God's determinate minate Counſel and Appointment; ſee Acts ii. 23. iv. 28. A Sword is put for any Inſtrument of the Divine Juſtice.

And I will turn mine Hand upon the little ones] This Sentence may be tranſlated in two contrary Senſes. The Hebrew Phraſe rendered here turn mine Hand, may ſignify either to puniſh or to ſpare; in the former Senſe it is taken Pſ. lxxxi. 14. in the latter, Ezek. xx. 22. where our Tranſlators render it, I withdrew my Hand. In like Manner the Word Tſair, ſignifies great as well as little; ſee Mic. v. 2. viz. it is tranſlated to this Senſe in ſome Copies of the LXX. and ſo Dr. Pocock underſtands it here. If we follow our Engliſh Tranſlation, the Senſe may be, I will ſhew Mercy to my little Flock, diſpirited by the Death of their Maſter, and will quickly ſhew him to them alive again, to their Joy and Comfort. If we tranſlate the Words, I will turn my Hand upon the great ones, they denounce a ſevere Judgment againſt the Jewiſh Rulers, for their Sin in crucifying Chriſt; agreeably to the Import of the following Words.

CHAP. XIV.

The Beginning of this Chapter is a Continuation of the taking of Jeruſalem by the Romans; then follows the Jews final Victory over their Enemies in the latter Times; and concludes with the glorious State of Jeruſalem, which ſhould follow.

Ver. 1. BEhold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy ſpoil ſhall be divided in the midſt of thee. 2 For I will gather all nations againſt Jeruſalem to battel, and the city ſhall be taken, and the houſes rifled, and the women raviſhed, and half of the city ſhall go forth into captivity, and the reſidue of the people ſhall not be cut off from the city. 3 Then ſhall the Lord go forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when he fought in the day of battel. 4 And his feet ſhall ſtand in that day upon the mount of Olives, which is before Jeruſalem on the eaſt, and the mount of Olives ſhall cleave in the midſt thereof toward the eaſt, and toward the weſt, and there ſhall be a very great valley: and half of the mountain ſhall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the ſouth. 5 And ye ſhall flee to the valley of the mountains: for the valley of the mountains ſhall reach unto Azal: yea, ye ſhall flee like as ye fled from before the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah: and the Lord my God ſhall come, and all the ſaints with thee. 6 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the light ſhall not be clear, nor dark. 7 But it ſhall be one day which ſhall be known to the Lord, not day, nor night: but it ſhall come to paſs that at evening-time it ſhall be light. 8 And it ſhall be in that day, that living waters ſhall go out from Jeruſalem: half of them toward the former ſea, and half of them toward the hinder ſea: in ſummer and in winter ſhall it be. 9 And the Lord ſhall be king over all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one Lord, and his name one. 10 All the land ſhall be turned as a plain from Geba to Rimmon, ſouth of Jeruſalem: and it ſhall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place: from Benjamins gate unto the place of the firſt gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel unto the kings wine-preſſes. 11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more utter deſtruction, but Jeruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited. 12 And this ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all the people, that have fought againſt Jeruſalem: Their fleſh ſhall conſume away while they ſtand upon their feet, and their eyes ſhall conſume away in their holes, and their tongue ſhall conſume away in their mouth. 13 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a great tumult from the Lord ſhall be among them, and they ſhall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe up againſt the hand of his neighbour. 14 And Judah alſo ſhall fight at Jeruſalem; and the wealth of all the heathen round about ſhall be gathered together, gold, and ſilver, and apparel in great abundance. 15 And ſo ſhall be the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camel, and of the aſs, and of all the beaſts that ſhall be in theſe tents, as this plague. 16 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is left of all the nations which came againſt Jeruſalem, ſhall even go up from year to year to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſts, and to keep the feaſt of tabernacles. 17 And it ſhall be, that whoſo will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jeruſalem, to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſts, even upon them ſhall be no rain. 18 And if the family of Egypt go not up, and come not, that have no rain: there ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite the heathen that come not up to keep the feaſt of tabernacles. 19 This ſhall be the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all nations that come not up to keep the feaſt of tabernacles. 20 In that day ſhall there be upon the bells of the horſes, HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD; and the pots in the Lords houſe ſhall be like the bowls before the altar. 21 Yea, every pot in Jeruſalem, and in Judah ſhall be Holineſs unto the Lord of hoſts: and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and in that day there ſhall be no more the Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoſts.

And his Feet ſhall ſtand in that Day upon the Mount of Olives, which is before Jeruſalem on the Eaſt] The Glory of the Lord, i. e. the Shekinah or Symbol of God's Preſence, when it departed from the City and Temple, ſetled itſelf upon the Mount of Olives, Ezek. xi. 23. So when God ſhall return to Jeruſalem, and make it the Seat of his Preſence again, it ſhall return by the ſame Way it departed; ſee Ezek. xliii. 2. We may add, that when our Lord aſcended from the Mount of Olives, the Angels told his Diſciples, he ſhould come again in like Manner, i. e. in a viſible and glorious Appearance at the ſame Place, Acts i. 11, 12.

And the Mount of Olives ſhall cleave in the Midſt thereof, toward the Eaſt, and toward the Weſt, and there ſhall be a very great Valley] By an Earthquake, ſuch as was in the Time of King Uzziah, ſee Amos i. 1. the Middle of Mount Olivet ſhall cleave aſunder, and ſink into a deep Valley, ſo as to leave the two Points or Tops of the Hill, North and South, ſtill ſtanding. Mount Olivet had three Tops or Eminences, one on the North Point, another on the South, and the third in the Middle, from whence Chriſt aſcended, and where Chriſtians in After-times erected a Croſs in Memory of his Aſcenſion there.

The 6th and 7th Verſes may be expounded with reſpect to the Jews, that their Condition ſhall be for ſome Time not altogether proſperous, nor yet quite deſperate. The great Criſis of their Affairs ſhall be in a Day which God alone knows; unlike to our Days; dark dark at the Beginning and clear in the End, when the Light is not expected.

And it shall be in that Day, that living Waters shall go out of Jerusalem] The Supplies of Grace are often represented in Scripture by Rivers and Streams of Water, which both cleanse and make fruitful the Ground thro' which they pass; see Ezek. xlvii. 1. Joel iii. 18. Here they are described as coming out of Jerusalem; in Ezekiel and Joel they are said to come out of the Temple; both Descriptions intimating, that the Church is the Spring from whence all the Means of Grace are communicated to Believers.

Half of them toward the former Sea, and half of them toward the hinder Sea] The first denotes the Sea or Lake of Sodom, being toward the East Country; the latter signifies the Mediterranean, or Western Sea. The Expression imports, that the whole Land shall have a plentiful Share of these Blessings which are here described under the Metaphor of living Waters.

And the Land shall be turned as a Plain from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem] The Mountains about Jerusalem (see Ps. cxxv. 2.) shall be levelled, perhaps, by the Earthquake before mentioned, from Geba Northward to Rimmon Southward of Jerusalem. The Expressions may signify, that all Impediments shall be removed that oppose the Advancement of Christ's Kingdom.

And so shall be the Plague of the House, &c.] This is to be joined to the 12th Verse, the 13th and 14th, being read in a Parenthesis: Both Man and Beast shall be consumed in one common Destruction.

And if the Family of Egypt go not up, and come not, that have no Rain, there shall be the Plague wherewith the Lord will smite the Heathen] Altho' the Fruitfulness of Egypt, especially the upper Part of it, depends not upon Rain; yet if the Jews that dwell there, or the rest of the Inhabitants, do not join in the solemn Acts of Christian Worship (see Ver. 16.) they shall suffer the same Plague of Famine with which others are threatned, i. e. the Nile shall not overflow, as the Targum explains it; from whence a Famine will ensue.

In that Day there shall be upon the Bells of the Horses, HOLINESS TO THE LORD] A very learned Person supposes that this and the following Verse, imply in them a Promise of an universal Peace, a Blessing often spoken of in the Prophets, as concomitant of the flourishing State of Christ's Kingdom. Taking this to be the general Import of the Place, the first Part of the Verse implies, that the Bridles, or Trappings of the Horses, as the Chaldee explains the Word Metsilloth, i. e. the necessary Furniture of War, shall no more be applied to its former Use, but shall be looked upon as sacred, and laid up in the Armory of God's House, for a Memorial of the good Success God had given his People against their Enemies. See 2 Chron. xxiii. 9.

And the Pots in the Lord's House shall be like the Bowls before the Altar] In pursuance of this Interpretation, by the Word Siroth, Pots, we are to understand Helmets, called so because of their Shape, being made like a Pot. These, saith the Text, shall be like the Bowls or Vials before the Altar; no more to be prophaned in War or Bloodshed. In the Hebrew, Words made up of Letters of the same Organ, have often an Affinity of Sense. So Sarah, a Word near a-kin to Siroth, signifies a Coat of Mail; and the Words Sheriah and Sherion are used in the same Sense.

AN EXPOSITION OF The Prophet MALACHI.

The ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Malachi was in all Likelihood Contemporary with Nehemiah. His Prophecy supposes the Temple to be built, and the Worship of God setled there; but blames the Priests and Levites for not attending upon the publick Worship; and the People for offering the Lame and the Blind, and robbing God of his Tithes and Offerings, Ch iii. 10. which agrees very well with the Abuses we read of, Neh. x. 33, 39. xiii. 10, 11, 12. as his reproving them for marrying strange Wives, Ch. ii. 11. exactly answers Neh. x. 30. xiii. 23, &c.

Bishop Lloyd dates this Prophecy something later than Nehemiah's Time, about 397 Years before Christ; at which Time, according to his Computation, the first Seven of Daniel's Weeks, or 49 Years, was expired; which Time, as he explains the Words, was allotted for sealing up the Vision and Prophecy, Dan. ix. 24. i. e. for compleating the Canon of the Old Testament. The Words of Malachi, Ch. iv. 4, 5. import, that after him the Jews were not to expect a Succession of Prophets: Whereupon he exhorts them carefully to observe the Law of Moses, and to look for no other Prophet, till Elias, the Forerunner of the Messias, should come.

CHAP. I.

God reproves the Jews for their Ingratitude, and blames both Priest and People for their irreverent and careless Performance of the publick Worship.

Ver. 1. THE burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by Malachi. 2 I have loved you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? was not Esau Jacobs brother? saith the Lord, yet I loved Jacob, 3 And

And I hated Eſau, and laid his mountains and his heritage waſte, for the dragons of the wilderneſs. 4 Whereas Edom ſaith, We are impoveriſhed, but we will return and build the deſolate places: thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, They ſhall build, but I will throw down; and they ſhall call them the border of wickedneſs, and the people againſt whom the Lord hath indignation for ever. 5 And your eyes ſhall ſee, and ye ſhall ſay, The Lord will be magnified from the border of Iſrael. 6 A ſon honoureth his father, and a ſervant his maſter: if then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a maſter, where is my fear? ſaith the Lord of hoſts unto you, O prieſts, that deſpiſe my name: and ye ſay, Wherein have we deſpiſed thy name? 7 Ye offer polluted bread upon mine altar; and ye ſay, Wherein have we polluted thee? In that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is contemptible. 8 And if ye offer the blind for ſacrifice, is it not evil? and if ye offer the lame and ſick, is it not evil? offer it now unto thy governor, will he be pleaſed with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 9 And now I pray you, beſeech God that he will be gracious unto us: this hath been by your means: will he regard your perſons, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 10 Who is there even among you that would ſhut the doors for nought? neither do ye kindle fire on mine altar for nought, I have no pleaſure in you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand. 11 For from the riſing of the ſun even unto the going down of the ſame, my name ſhall be great among the Gentiles, and in every place incenſe ſhall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering: for my name ſhall be great among the heathen, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 12 But ye have profaned it, in that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, even his meat is contemptible. 13 Ye ſaid alſo, Behold, what a wearineſs is it, and ye have ſnuffed at it, ſaith the Lord of hoſts; and ye brought that which was torn, and the lame, and the ſick: thus ye brought an offering: ſhould I accept this of your hands? ſaith the Lord. 14 But curſed be the deceiver, which hath in his flock a male, and voweth and ſacrificeth unto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and my name is dreadful among the heathen.

Was not Eſau Jacob's Brother? ſaith the Lord; yet I loved Jacob; and I hated Eſau, and laid his Mountains waſte] I have all along ſhewed a particular Kindneſs to Jacob and his Family, above that of Eſau, tho' they were both the Sons of Iſaac; and have lately given a ſignal Proof of it in that I have reſtored you to your own Country again, after your Captivity; whereas I have ſcattered the Edomites, and diſpoſſeſſed them of Mount Seir, their antient Inheritance, Deut. ii. 5. by the Nabatheans, to which they ſhall never be reſtored again: Compare Jer. xlix. 18. Ezek. xxxv. 7, 9. Hating is ſometimes uſed comparatively for a leſs Degree of Love; ſee Gen. xxix. 31. Luke xiv. 26. St. Paul alledges this Text, Rom. ix. 13. to prove that God might juſtly reject the Jews for their rejecting the Goſpel, notwithſtanding his Promiſes made to Abraham's Seed; ſince he had from the Beginning beſtowed particular Favours upon one Branch of his Poſterity, from which others were excluded.

Ye offer polluted Bread upon mine Altar — the Table of the Lord] The Words Altar and Table denote the ſame Thing; compare Ezek. xli. 22. What was conſumed upon the Altar, was God's Portion, and is called the Bread of God, Levit. xxi. 6. and the Food of the Lord, Ch. iii. 11, 16. as our Tranſlation renders it, but it is in the Hebrew, the Bread of the Lord. So by polluted Bread is meant maimed and blemiſhed Sacrifices, as it is particularly expreſſed Ver. 8.

Who is there even among you that would ſhut the Doors for nought?] You do not attend upon my Service in the Temple, out of any Zeal or Affection for it, but purely with regard to your own Profit and Advantage, which makes both your Perſons and your Offerings unacceptable to me: And under the Goſpel I will put an End both to your Prieſthood and the Sacrifices which you offer; ſee the following Verſe. The Words for nought, are not in the Hebrew, but are ſupplied by our Interpreters. The LXX render the Sentence to this Senſe, It is through you, (or through your Fault) that the Doors will be ſhut, you would be content to have the Doors of the Temple quite ſhut up, and God's Worſhip wholly intermitted.

But ye have profaned it, in that ye ſay, the Table of the Lord is polluted, &c.] But ye have profaned mine Altar, and in your careleſs Performance of my Service there, you do as good as ſay, there is no Difference between what is offered upon it, and other common Meats: Thus you render my Sacrifices contemptible in the Sight of the People. The Word Nib, Fruit, is applied to Sacrifice, ſee Iſa. lvii. 19. where the Fruit of the Lips, is explained of the Sacrifice of Praiſe and Thankſgiving, Heb. xiii. 15. The Oclo, his Meat, may be underſtood either of that Part of the Sacrifice, which was immediately offered upon the Altar, and is called the Food of the Lord, Ver. 7. or elſe of the Remainder of the Sacrifice which God allotted to the Prieſt, and to thoſe that made the Offering, but was ſtill eſteemed an hallowed Thing, as having been conſecrated to God; ſee Numb. xviii. 9, 10. Levit. xix. 8.

The Prophet continues his Reproof to the Prieſts for their Unfaithfulneſs in their Office; and reproves the People for their Fondneſs for ſtrange Marriages.

Ver. 1. AND now, O ye prieſts, this commandment is for you. 2 If ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory unto my name, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I will even ſend a curſe upon you, and I will curſe your bleſſings: yea, I have curſed them already, becauſe ye do not lay it to heart. 3 Behold, I will corrupt your ſeed, and ſpread dung upon your faces, even the dung of your ſolemn feaſts, and one ſhall take you away with it. 4 And ye ſhall know that I have ſent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be with Levi, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gave them to him, for the fear wherewith he feared me, and was afraid before my name. 6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity. 7 For the prieſts lips ſhould keep knowledge, and they ſhould ſeek the law at his mouth: for he is the meſſenger of the Lord of hoſts. 8 But ye are departed out of the way: ye have cauſed many to ſtumble at the law: ye have corrupted the covenant of Levi, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 9 Therefore have I alſo made you contemptible and baſe before fore all the people, according as ye have not kept my ways, but have been partial in the law. 10 Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherouſly every man againſt his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers? 11 Judah hath dealt treacherouſly, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Jeruſalem: for Judah hath profaned the holineſs of the Lord which he loved, and hath married the daughter of a ſtrange god. 12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: the maſter and the ſcholar out of the tabernacles of Jacob, and him that offereth an offering unto the Lord of hoſts. 13 And this have ye done again, covering the altar of the Lord with tears, with weeping, and with crying out, inſomuch that he regardeth not the offering any more, or receiveth it with good will at your hand. 14 Yet ye ſay, Wherefore? Becauſe the Lord hath been witneſs between thee and the wife of thy youth, againſt whom thou haſt dealt treacherouſly: yet is ſhe thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant. 15 And did not he make one? yet had he the reſidue of the ſpirit: and wherefore one? that he might ſeek a godly ſeed: therefore take heed to your ſpirit, and let none deal treacherouſly againſt the wife of his youth. 16 For the Lord the God of Iſrael ſaith, that he hateth putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: therefore take heed to your ſpirit, that ye deal not treacherouſly. 17 Ye have wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye ſay, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye ſay, Every one that doeth evil, is good in the ſight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them; or, Where is the God of judgment?

My Covenant with him was of Life and Peace, and I gave it him] The Prophet ſpeaks of the Succeſſion of the antient Prieſts, ſuch as Aaron, Eleazar, Phineas, and their Succeſſors, as of one ſingle Perſon under the Name of Levi (compare Zech. xi. 16.) and ſaith, I give him my Covenant of Happineſs and Security, or I promiſed him a ſecure Enjoyment of his Office of the Prieſthood. The Words allude to Numb. xxv. 12, 13. where God ſpeaks to Phineas, I give him my Covenant of Peace, and he ſhall have it, and his Seed after him, even the Covenant of an everlaſting Prieſthood: Where Peace ſignifies the ſame with Security, as it often does; i. e. a ſecure Poſſeſſion of the Prieſthood, without any Diſturbance or Interruption, expreſſed by an everlaſting Prieſthood in the following Words: In which Senſe the Phraſe is uſed, Ezek. xxxiv. 25. xxxvii. 26.

Have we not all one Father? hath not one God created us?] Here a new Section begins, wherein the Prophet ſeverely reproves the People's Sin of marrying ſtrange Wives, which grew much in Practice in Ezra and Nehemiah's Time, who expreſs a great Deteſtation of it, Ezra ix. 1. Neh. xiii. 23. The Prophet here begins his Expoſtulation with putting them in mind, that they owned one God and Father, in Oppoſition to the Idols of the Heathen, and therefore ſhould deal with one another as Brethren, being nearly allied by fleſhly as well as ſpiritual Relation.

For Judah hath profaned the Holineſs of the Lord which he loved] This Sin implies the Profanation of God's holy People, which he ſet apart for his own Worſhip and Service; a Profanation of the Temple, when the Prieſts who officiated there, were guilty of the ſame Crime; ſee Ver. 12. and laſtly, Profanation of the Covenant of God made with their Fathers, whereby he ſeparated them from the reſt of the World; and in order to preſerve that Diſtinction, forbid them to intermarry with Idolaters; Deut. vii. 3. God hath expreſſed a tender Regard for theſe three Sorts of Holineſs, and threatened ſevere Puniſhment to thoſe that break the Laws made to preſerve them.

And hath married the Daughter of a ſtrange God] God calls himſelf the Father of his own People, and owns them under the Relation of Sons and Daughters; ſee Ver. 10. 2 Cor. vi. 18. and by Conſequence Idolaters bear the ſame Relation to the Gods which they worſhip.

The Maſter and Scholar out of the Tabernacle of Jacob] He that perſuades or inſtructs others that theſe Marriages are lawful, and he that follows ſuch Advice. The Expreſſion ſeems to comprehend both Prieſt and People. The Words may relate to one of the Prieſts of Jehoiadah's Family, who had contracted ſuch a Marriage, and by his Example given Encouragement to that wicked Practice: Nehem. xiii. 28, 29. The Hebrew reads, He that makes, and he that anſwers: It ſeems to be a proverbial Speech, denoting a Maſter and Scholar, as our Interpreters render it. An Inſtructor is deſcribed as one that wakeneth the Ear of his Diſciple; Iſa. l. 4.

And did not he make one? yet had he the Reſidue of the Spirit; and wherefore one? that he might ſeek a godly Seed] Among various Interpretations of the Words, this ſeems moſt probable; That the Prophet puts the Jews in mind of the firſt Inſtitution of Marriage in Paradiſe, (as Chriſt did afterward upon a like Occaſion, Matt. xix. 5.) and tells them God made but one Man at firſt, and made the Woman out of him, when he could have created more Women, if he had pleaſed; to inſtruct Men that this was the true Pattern of Marriage, ordained for true Love and undivided Affection, and beſt ſerving the chief End of Matrimony, viz. the religious Education of Children; whereas in Polygamy the Children are brought up with more or leſs Care, in Proportion to the Affection Men bear to their Wives.

For one covereth Violence with his Garment, Or, And when one puts Violence upon his Garment, or, covers his Garment with Violence; as Dr. Pocock tranſlates it; who hath given the cleareſt Senſe of this Phraſe, and ſhewed out of ſeveral Eaſtern Writers, that they uſually call a Wife by the Name of a Garment; the Expreſſion of Moſes, Deut. xxii. 30. agreeing with this Way of ſpeaking. According to this Interpretation, the Senſe of the Text will be, that God hates divorcing a former Wife to take in one of a ſtrange Nation; and he hates that any ſhould bring into his Family an Illegitimate Wife over and above one that he had legally married before.

CHAP. III.

This and the next Chapter, which are not divided in ſome Tranſlations, contain a Prophecy of the Coming of the Meſſiah, and his Fore-runner John Baptiſt under the Name of Elias; and the terrible Judgments which ſhall come upon the Jews for rejecting the Goſpel?

Ver. 1. BEhold, I will ſend my meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me; and the Lord whom ye ſeek, ſhall ſuddenly come to his temple: even the meſſenger of the covenant whom ye delight in: behold, he ſhall come, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiners fire, and like fullers ſoap. 3 And he ſhall ſit as a refiner and purifier of ſilver: and he ſhall purifie the ſons of Levi, and purge them as gold and ſilver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righ-teouſneſs. 4 Then ſhall the offering of Judah and Jeruſalem be pleaſant unto the Lord, as in the days of old, and as in former years. 5 And I will come near to you to judgment, and I will be a ſwift witneſs againſt the ſorcerers, and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that oppreſs the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherleſs, and that turn aſide the ſtranger from his right, and fear not me, ſaith the Lord of hoſts 6 For I am the Lord, I change not: therefore ye ſons of Jacob are not conſumed. 7 Even from the days of your fathers ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them: return unto me, and I will return unto you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: but ye ſaid, Wherein ſhall we return? 8 Will a man rob God? yet ye have robbed me: but ye ſay, Wherein have we robbed thee? in tithes and offerings. 9 Ye are curſed with a curſe: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation. 10 Bring ye all the tithes into the ſtore-houſe, that there may be meat in mine houſe, and prove me now herewith, ſaith the Lord of hoſt, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a bleſſing, that there ſhall not be room enough to receive it. 11 And I will rebuke the devourer for your ſakes, and he ſhall not deſtroy the fruits of your ground; neither ſhall your vine caſt her fruit before the time in the field, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 12 And all nations ſhall call you bleſſed: for ye ſhall be a delightſome land, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 13 Your words have been ſtout againſt me, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, What have we ſpoken ſo much againſt thee? 14 Ye have ſaid, It is vain to ſerve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the Lord of hoſts? 15 And now we call the proud happy: yea, they that work wickedneſs are ſet up; yea, they that tempt God are even delivered. 16 Then they that feared the Lord, ſpake often one to another, and the Lord hearkned and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him, for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name. 17 And they ſhall be mine, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, in that day when I make up my jewels, and I will ſpare them as a man ſpareth his own ſon that ſerveth him. 18 Then ſhall ye return and diſcern between the righteous and the wicked; between him that ſerveth God, and him that ſerveth him not.

Behold, I will ſend my Meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the Way before me] To ſilence the Cavils of Unbelievers mentioned in the laſt Verſe of the foregoing Chapter, the Prophet here foretels the Coming of the Meſſias, who ſhould ſet all Things right; and of his Harbinger, who ſhould prepare Men for his Reception. Whoever compares this Verſe with Iſa. xl. 2, &c. may eaſily diſcern that they ſpeak of the ſame Event. The Meſſenger whoſe Office it is to prepare the Way before the Lord, who is ſaid here to be coming ſuddenly after this his Fore-runner, is deſcribed in Iſaiah as preparing the Way of the Lord, who is ſpoken of as coming, and his Glory juſt ready to be revealed; Ver. 5, 9. This proves that this Prophecy is juſtly applied by all the Evangeliſts to John Baptiſt, who is deſcribed under the Perſon of Elias, in the following Chapter, whom all the Jews, both antient and modern, expected ſhould come as a Fore-runner of the Meſſias. The Meſſenger, or Prophet, here foretold to be the Lord's Harbinger, was to be as much inferior to the Lord himſelf, as Servants are to a great Perſon of whoſe Arrival they give Notice. This John Baptiſt often confeſſed, Matt. iii. 11. John i. 26. iii. 28. and ſo much appears by the following Words.

And the Lord whom ye ſeek, ſhall ſuddenly come to his Temple, even the Meſſenger of the Covenant whom ye delight in] The Perſon whoſe Coming is ſolemnly proclaimed, is ſtill deſcribed by the Name of the LORD. Aden in the Hebrew, is the ſame whom David called his LORD, Pſ. cx. 1. and who is LORD of the Temple where he will make his Appearance. He is farther deſcribed as the Meſſenger, or Angel of the Covenant: The ſame who is called the Angel of God's Preſence, Iſa. lxiii. 9. The Angel that delivered the Law upon Mount Sinai, as St. Stephen ſpeaks, expreſſing the Senſe of the Jews of his Time, Acts vii. 38. and is appointed to be the Mediator of the New Covenant, which the Prophets foretold ſhould take Place under the Meſſias, Jer. xxxi. 31. Iſa. xlii. 6. lv. 5. Another Character given of him, is, that he is the Perſon ye delight in, whoſe Coming is ſo much deſired, the Time of it being the Subject of your Search and Enquiry, and the Expectation of it your Comfort and Delight. This great Perſon, ſaith the Prophet, ſhall come to his Temple, which ye have deſpiſed and profaned, Ch. i. 7, &c. and make the Glory of the latter Houſe greater than that of the former, Hag. ii. 9. He ſhall chuſe this Place to publiſh his Doctrine; and do ſeveral of his Miracles, as we find he did in the Hiſtory of the Goſpels.

But who may abide the Day of his coming? who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth?] The Coming of Chriſt here, and in ſeveral other Places, comprehends all the Effects and Conſequents of his Coming, and denotes not only a Time of Mercy to thoſe that embrace the Goſpel, but likewiſe a Time of Judgment upon the Diſobedient. See Matt. iii. 7, 12. Rom. i. 18.

For he is like a Refiner's Fire, and like Fuller's Soap] The divine Judgments are often called a fiery Trial, ſuch as ſeparates the pure Metal from the Droſs, purifies the former, and conſumes the latter; ſee Iſa. i. 25. iv. 2. Zech. xiii. 9. The Word Borith is tranſlated Soap here, and Jer. ii. 22. St. Jerom informs us, it was an Herb the Fullers uſed to take Spots out of Cloaths.

He ſhall ſit as a Refiner, — and he ſhall purify the Sons of Levi, and purge them as Gold and Silver, that they may offer to the Lord an Offering in Righteouſneſs] He ſhall perform the Office of a Refiner and Purifier: And whereas the Miſcarriages of the Sons of Levi have been very great, (particularly thoſe which are taken Notice of, and reproved in the foregoing Chapter) the Meſſias, when he comes, will reform thoſe Abuſes, and purify the Worſhip of God from ſuch Corruptions. The Senſe of the Verſe, as applied to the Chriſtian Church, is, that all Chriſtians, being made an holy Prieſthood, ſhall offer up with pure Hearts and Minds Spiritual Sacrifices acceptable to God, 1 Pet. ii. 5. And as all that profeſs the Religion of Chriſt are commanded to be holy in all Manner of Converſation, ib. Ch. i. 15. ſo a blameleſs Behaviour is more ſtrictly required in the Chriſtian Prieſthood.

And the Lord hearkened and heard, and a Book of Remembrance was written before him, &c.] God took eſpecial Notice of what theſe pious Perſons did and ſaid (in the foregoing Words) and it was as ſafely laid up in his Memory; as if it had been entered in the Regiſter, in order to be produced at the Day of Judgment, to their Praiſe and Honour.

And they ſhall be mine, ſaith the Lord, in the Day that I make up my Jewels] It ſhall appear how dear they are to me, when the Time comes that I ſeparate the Precious from the Vile, the Veſſels of Honour from thoſe of Diſhonour, 2 Tim. ii. 20. But the Words may more properly be tranſlated thus, They ſhall be to me a peculiar Treaſure, in the Day that I ſhall make or appoint for that Purpoſe; compare Ch. iv. 3. At which Time I will ſet a Mark of Diſtinction upon thoſe my Favourites. The Word Segullah, in its primimary Senſe, denotes that Privilege and Preheminence which the Jews had above all other Nations, of being God's peculiar People; ſo it is uſed Exod. xix. 5. Deut. vii. 6. Pſ. cxxxv. 4. expreſſed in the Greek by λαὸς περίποιος, from whence it is applied to Chriſtians by St. Peter, 1 Ep. ii. 9. and St. Paul, Tit. ii. 14. all the Privileges of the Jewiſh Church being transferred in an eminent Manner upon the Chriſtians.

CHAP. IV.

The Prophet foretels the general Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, for rejecting the Meſſias; comforts the well diſpoſed among them, and exhorts them to prepare for his Coming, and to obſerve the Law of Moſes; and promiſes to ſend Elijah, as the Forerunner of Chriſt.

Ver. 1. FOR behold, the day cometh that ſhall burn as an oven, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly ſhall be ſtubble, and the day that cometh ſhall burn them up, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, that it ſhall leave them neither root nor branch. 2 But unto you that fear my name, ſhall the ſun of righteouſneſs ariſe with healing in his wings; and ye ſhall go forth and grow up as calves of the ſtall. 3 And ye ſhall tread down the wicked; for they ſhall be aſhes under the ſoles of your feet, in the day that I ſhall do this, ſaith the Lord of hoſts. 4 Remember ye the law of Moſes my ſervant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Iſrael, with the ſtatutes and judgments. 5 Behold, I will ſend you Elijah the prophet, before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord. 6 And he ſhall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, leſt I come and ſmite the earth with a curſe.

But unto you that fear my Name, ſhall the Son of Righteouſneſs ariſe with healing in his Wings] The Meſſias is elſewhere called the Eaſt, or Sun-riſing; ſee Iſa. lx. 1, 2. and the Hebrew Word Tſemath, tranſlated Branch in our Engliſh, is rendered the Eaſt by the Chaldee and LXX; ſee Zech. iii. 8. So the Church is deſcribed, Rev. xii. 1. as cloathed with the Sun; i. e. adorned with Graces communicated to her by Chriſt. He is called here the Sun of Righteouſneſs with healing in his Wings; to ſignify that his Light conſiſts in clearing up Mens Underſtanding, and chaſing away the Darkneſs of their Minds; whoſe Rays and kindly Warmth will heal all the Diſeaſes of their Souls.

And ye ſhall go forth, and grow up as Calves of the Stall] You ſhall be warned by God to go forth of Jeruſalem, before it be moleſted by the Roman Army, as Euſebius relates they were; by which Means you ſhall be reſcued from the common Deſtruction that ſhall come upon the Unbelievers, and ſhall continue thriving and vigorous (compare Pſ. xcii. 14.) when the reſt of your Nation ſhall be conſumed with divers kinds of Death.

Remember ye the Law of Moſes my Servant, which I commanded to him in Horeb, &c.] You are not to expect any Succeſſion of Prophets for the Time to come, till the Forerunner of the Meſſias appears; ſo your chief Care muſt be to attend upon the Inſtructions Moſes has given to all Iſrael in his Law, the moſt ſolemn Part of which was delivered to him in an audible Manner upon Mount Horeb, Exod. xix. 9. Deut. iv. 10. This your Lawgiver plainly ſpeaks of the Meſſias, and inſtructs you to expect his Coming, and to obey his Commands, Deut. xviii. 15. It was the Senſe of the antient Jews, that the Gift of Prophecy was ſealed up with Malachi. The Son of Syrach, having before mentioned Iſaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel, ſpeaks of the twelve Minor Prophets, as compleating that Part of the Old Teſtament Canon, Eccluſ. xlix. 10. and the latter Jews agree with him in this Sentiment, as appears by the Authorities cited by the Bp. of Coventry and Litchfield's Defence of Chriſtianity, P. 83.

Behold I will ſend you Elijah the Prophet] The ſame Perſon who is called the Meſſenger or Forerunner of the Meſſias, Ch. iii. 1. It was the unanimous Senſe of the Jews, that Elias ſhould firſt come and reſtore all Things, Mark ix. 12. John i. 21. Our Saviour hath interpreted this Elias to be John Baptiſt, Matt. xi. 14. xvii. 12, 13. who is called by the Name of Elias, becauſe he came in the Spirit and Power of Elias, Luke i. 17. he reſembled him in his Office of reproving the Jews and exhorting them to Repentance; juſt as the Meſſias is called by the Name of David in the Prophets, becauſe all the Promiſes made to David, were to be fulfilled in him; ſee Hoſ. iii. 5.

And he ſhall turn the Heart of the Fathers to the Children, and the Heart of the Children to their Fathers] It will be his Office to put an End to thoſe religious Differences (ſuch was that of the Phariſees and the Sadducees) which divided the neareſt Relations from each other, and to make them all join in the Duties of Repentance and Reformation, and thereby prepare themſelves for the Reception of the Meſſias; ſee Matt. iii. 7. This was the Deſign of his Miſſion, tho' his Preaching did not always meet with Succeſs, no more than the true Elias had in the Time of Ahab.

This ſeems the moſt probable Explication of the Words, taking them in that Senſe wherein our Tranſlation and the LXX underſtand them, which is followed by St. Luke, Ch. i. 17. But a more eaſy Senſe may be given of them, if we tranſlate the Hebrew Prepoſition al, not to, but with; in which Senſe it is often uſed. Then the Sentence will run thus, He ſhall turn the Heart of the Fathers with the Children, and the Heart of the Children with the Fathers; i. e. his Preaching ſhall produce a general Reformation in the Minds and Manners of all Sorts of Perſons; ſee Matt. iii. 5. xxi. 32. Dr. Hammond and Lud. de Dieu are of Opinion, that the Prepoſition ἐπὶ in St. Luke, may be underſtood in the ſame Senſe.

Leſt I come and ſmite the Earth with a Curſe] The Words might be better tranſlated, Leſt I come and ſmite the Land, (of Judea) with utter Deſtruction. So the Word Cherem is tranſlated by our Interpreters, Numb. xxi. 2. Deut. vii. 2. xiii. 15. Joſh. vi. 21. Zech. xiv. 11. The utter Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation and Country is here threatned upon their rejecting the Preaching of John Baptiſt, and refuſing to hearken to his Teſtimony concerning the Meſſias, that ſhould come after him.

The End of the Prophets.

APO-

APOCRYPHA.

An EXPOSITION of the first Book of ESDRAS.

The ARGUMENT.

The Books which are placed at the End of the Prophets, under the Title of APOCRYPHA, were written after the Prophecy of the Old Teſtament was ſealed up in the Perſon of Malachi, not dictated by any inſpired Writer, but were written by Godly Men for the Inſtruction and Edification of the Church. In which Conduct of Providence we may obſerve, how careful God has always been that his People ſhould never be deſtitute of the Means of ſerving and worſhipping him in an acceptable Manner, till the Fulneſs of Time was come when the Meſſiah ſhould be revealed, who ſhould declare the Mind and Will of God in a more large and perfect Manner than before had been done, and in whom were to be fulfilled all the Prophecies and Promiſes which had been publiſhed under the Moſaic Diſpenſation. 'Tis true, theſe Apocryphal Books were never received by the Church into the Canon of Holy Scripture, for this Reaſon; becauſe they do not carry in them thoſe Marks of Divine Inſpiration, which are moſt evidently inſcribed on all the Books of ſacred Writ. However, as they contain a Multitude of wiſe and moral Leſſons for the Inſtruction of our Duty both towards God and towards Man; as alſo the Hiſtory of the People of Iſrael, and God's Dealings with them, eſpecially during that Period of Time when the Maccabees fought their Battles and defended them againſt their Enemies, they have been always read and regarded with Veneration, as the Works of pious Men, zealous for the Honour of God and the Service of his Church.

As to Eſdras, whoſe Name is prefixed to the two firſt Books in this Collection, we have a full Account of him in Ch. viii. of the firſt Book; in which Book he relates the Return of the Iſraelites from their Captivity in Babylon, together with their Behaviour at and after their Arrival at Jeruſalem; in which Account he agrees in many Things with that written by Ezra and Nehemiah; but as he diſagrees in others, and adds ſeveral Things not very conſiſtent with Probability, this Book is juſtly placed among the Apocryphal.

CHAP. I.

Joſias his Charge to the Prieſts and Levites. A great Paſſover is kept. His Death lamented. His Succeſſors. The Temple, City and People are deſtroyed; and the reſt are carried captive to Babylon.

Ver. 1. AND Joſias held the feaſt of the paſſover in Jeruſalem unto his Lord, and offered the paſſover the fourteenth day of the firſt month. 2 Having ſet the prieſts according to their daily courſes, being arayed in long garments, in the temple of the Lord. 3 And he ſpake unto the Levites, the holy miniſters of Iſrael, that they ſhould hallow themſelves unto the Lord, to ſet the holy ark of the Lord in the houſe that king Solomon the ſon of David had built. 4 And ſaid, Ye ſhall no more bear the ark upon your ſhoulders: now therefore ſerve the Lord your God, and miniſter unto his people Iſrael, and prepare you after your families and kindreds, 5 According as David the king of Iſrael preſcribed, and according to the magnificence of Solomon his ſon: and ſtanding in the temple, according to the ſeveral dignity of the families of you the Levites, who miniſter in the preſence of your brethren the children of Iſrael, 6 Offer the paſſover in order, and make ready the ſacrifices for your brethren, and keep the paſſover, according to the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto Moſes. 7 And unto the people that was found there, Joſias gave thirty thouſand lambs and kids, and three thouſand calves: theſe things were given of the kings allowance, according as he promiſed to the people, to the prieſts, and to the Levites. 8 And Helkias, Zecharias, and Syelus, the governors of the temple, gave to the prieſts for the paſſover, two thouſand and ſix hundred ſheep, and three hundred calves. 9 And Jeconias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Aſſabias, and Ochiel, and Joram, captains over thouſands, gave to the Levites for the paſſover, five thouſand ſheep, and ſeven hundred calves. 10 And when theſe things were done, the prieſts and Levites, having the unleavened bread, ſtood in very comely order, according to the kindreds, 11 And according to the ſeveral dignities of the fathers before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moſes: and thus thus did they in the morning. 12 And they roasted the passover with fire, as appertaineth: as for the sacrifices, they sod them in brass pots and pans with a good savour, 13 And set them before all the people: and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the priests their brethren, the sons of Aaron. 14 For the priests offered the fat until night: and the Levites prepared for themselves, and the priests their brethren the sons of Aaron. 15 The holy singers also, the sons of Asaph were in their order, according to the appointment of David, to wit, Asaph, Zacharias, and Jeduthun, who was of the kings retinue. 16 Moreover, the porters were at every gate, it was not lawful for any to go from his ordinary service: for their brethren the Levites prepared for them. 17 Thus were the things that belonged to the sacrifices of the Lord accomplished in that day, that they might hold the passover, 18 And offer sacrifices upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josias. 19 So the children of Israel which were present, held the passover at that time, and the feast of sweet bread seven days. 20 And such a passover was not kept in Israel, since the time of the prophet Samuel. 21 Yea, all the kings of Israel held not such a passover as Josias, and the priests, and the Levites, and the Jews held with all Israel, that were found dwelling at Jerusalem. 22 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josias was this passover kept. 23 And the works of Josias were upright before his Lord, with an heart full of godliness. 24 As for the things that came to pass in his time, they were written in former times concerning those that sinned, and did wickedly against the Lord, above all people and kingdoms, and how they grieved him exceedingly, so that the words of the Lord rose up against Israel. 25 Now after all these acts of Josias, it came to pass, that Pharaoh the king of Egypt came to raise war at Carchamis upon Euphrates, and Josias went out against him. 26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, O king of Judea? 27 I am not sent out from the Lord God against thee: for my war is upon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, yea, the Lord is with me, hasting me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord. 28 Howbeit, Josias did not turn back his chariot from him, but undertook to fight with him, not regarding the words of the prophet Jeremy spoken by the mouth of the Lord: 29 But joined battle with him in the plain of Magiddo, and the princes came against king Josias. 30 Then said the king unto his servants, Carry me away out of the battle; for I am very weak: and immediately his servants took him away out of the battel. 31 Then gat he up upon his second chariot, and being brought back to Jerusalem, died, and was buried in his fathers sepulchre. 32 And in all Jewry they mourned for Josias, yea, Jeremy the prophet lamented for Josias, and the chief men with the women made lamentation for him unto this day: and this was given out for an ordinance to be done continually in all the nation of Israel. 33 These things are written in the book of the stories of the kings of Judah, and every one of the acts that Josias did, and his glory, and his understanding in the law of the Lord, and the things that he had done before, and the things now recited, are reported in the book of the kings of Israel and Judea. 34 And the people took Joachaz the son of Josias, and made him king instead of Josias his father, when he was twenty and three years old. 35 And he reigned in Judea and in Jerusalem three months: and then the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem. 36 And he set a tax upon the land of an hundred talents of silver, and one talent of gold. 37 The king of Egypt also made king Joacim his brother king of Judea and Jerusalem. 38 And he bound Joacim and the nobles: but Zaraces his brother he apprehended, and brought him out of Egypt. 39 Five and twenty years old was Joacim when he was made king in the land of Judea and Jerusalem, and he did evil before the Lord. 40 Wherefore against him, Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon came up, and bound him with a chain of brass, and carried him unto Babylon. 41 Nabuchodonosor also took of the holy vessels of the Lord, and carried them away, and set them in his own temple at Babylon. 42 But those things that are recorded of him, and of his uncleanness and impiety, are written in the chronicles of the kings. 43 And Joacim his son reigned in his stead: he was made king being eighteen years old; 44 And reigned but three months and ten days in Jerusalem, and did evil before the Lord. 45 So after a year Nabuchodonosor sent, and caused him to be brought into Babylon, with the holy vessels of the Lord. 46 And made Zedekias king of Judea and Jerusalem, when he was one and twenty years old, and he reigned eleven years: 47 And he did evil also in the sight of the Lord, and cared not for the words that were spoken unto him by the prophet Jeremy, from the mouth of the Lord. 48 And after that king Nebuchodonosor had made him to swear by the name of the Lord, he forswore himself, and rebelled, and hardening his neck, and his heart, he transgressed the laws of the Lord God of Israel. 49 The governors also of the people, and of the priests did many things against the laws, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and defiled the temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Jerusalem. 50 Nevertheless, the God of their fathers sent by his messenger to call them back, because he spared them, and his tabernacle also. 51 But they had his messengers in derision; and look when the Lord spake unto them, they made a sport of his prophets: 52 So far forth, that he being wroth with his people for their great ungodliness, commanded the kings of the Chaldees to come up against them; 53 Who slew their young men with the sword, yea, even within the compass of their holy temple, and spared neither young man nor maid, old man nor child among them, for he delivered all into their hands. 54 And they took all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the ark of God, and the kings treasures, and carried them away into Babylon. 55 As for the house of the Lord, they burnt it, brake down the walls of Jerusalem, set fire upon her towers: 56 And as for her glorious things, they never ceased till they had conſumed and brought them all to nought: and the people that were not ſlain with the ſword, he carried unto Babylon: 57 Who became ſervants to him and his children, till the Perſians reigned, to fulfil the word of the Lord, ſpoken by the mouth of Jeremy: 58 Until the land had enjoyed her ſabbaths, the whole time of her deſolation ſhall ſhe reſt, until the full term of ſeventy years.

The firſt Verſe of this Chapter beginning with the Copulative And, ſeems to intimate, as if ſomething preceding had been ſaid upon the ſame Subject; which, however, does not neceſſarily follow; becauſe it is a Practice common with the ſacred Penmen, to begin their Diſcourſes in the ſame Manner, of which many Inſtances might be produced from the Old Teſtament; one of which is 2 Kings xxiii. which begins with the ſame Word, and from whence Eſdras ſeems to have taken his Account, tho' he has dreſſed it in another Form, but introduces it with the ſame initial Word.

Eſdras begins his Relation, of what happened to the Jews, immediately after their Return from Babylon, with what was tranſacted in Judea a little before their being carried thither; in order, I ſuppoſe, to connect this Part of the Hiſtory of the Jews, and to ſhew by what Means the Captivity was brought about, and in what Manner they were at length releaſed from it, and how they were re-eſtabliſhed in their Government.

CHAP. I.

God moves Cyrus to build the Temple, and gives the Jews Leave to return and contribute to it; and delivers them the Veſſels which had been taken from thence. Artaxerxes forbids them to proceed in the Building.

Ver. 1. IN the firſt year of Cyrus king of the Perſians, that the word of the Lord might be accompliſhed, that he had promiſed by the mouth of Jeremy. 2 The Lord raiſed up the ſpirit of Cyrus, the king of the Perſians, and he made proclamation through all his kingdom, and alſo by writing, 3 Saying, Thus ſaith Cyrus king of the Perſians, The Lord of Iſrael, the moſt high Lord hath made me king of the whole world, 4 And commanded me to build him an houſe at Jeruſalem in Jewry. 5 If therefore there be any of you that are of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord be with him, and let him go up to Jeruſalem that is in Judea, and build the houſe of the Lord of Iſrael: for he is the Lord that dwelleth in Jeruſalem. 6 Whoſoever then dwell in the places about, let them help him, (thoſe, I ſay, that are his neighbours) with gold, and with ſilver, 7 With gifts, with horſes, and with cattel, and other things which have been ſet forth by vow for the temple of the Lord at Jeruſalem. 8 Then the chief of the families of Judea, and of the tribes of Benjamin ſtood up: the prieſts alſo and the Levites, and all they whoſe mind the Lord had moved to go up, and to build an houſe for the Lord at Jeruſalem. 9 And they that dwelt round about them, and helped them in all things, with ſilver and gold, with horſes and cattel, and with very many free gifts of a great number, whoſe minds were ſtirred up thereto. 10 King Cyrus alſo brought forth the holy veſſels which Nabuchodonoſor had carried away from Jeruſalem, and had ſet up in his temple of idols. 11 Now when Cyrus king of the Perſians had brought them forth, he delivered them to Mithridates his treaſurer: 12 And by him they were delivered to Sanabaſſar the governor of Judea. 13 And this was the number of them, a thouſand golden cups, and a thouſand of ſilver, cenſers of ſilver twenty nine, vials of gold thirty, and of ſilver two thouſand four hundred and ten, and a thouſand other veſſels. 14 So all the veſſels of gold and of ſilver, which were carried away, were five thouſand four hundred threeſcore and nine. 15 Theſe were brought back by Sanabaſſar, together with them of the captivity, from Babylon to Jeruſalem. 16 But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Perſians, Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, Beeltethmus, and Semellius the ſecretary, with others that were in commiſſion with them, dwelling in Samaria, and other places, wrote unto him againſt them that dwelt in Judea and Jeruſalem, theſe letters following; 17 To king Artaxerxes our lord, Thy ſervants Rathumus the ſtory-writer, and Semellius the ſcribe, and the reſt of their counſel, and the judges that are in Celoſyria and Phenice. 18 Be it now known to the lord the king, that the Jews that are come up from you to us, being come into Jeruſalem (the rebellious and wicked city) do build the market-places, and repair the walls of it, and do lay the foundation of the temple. 19 Now if this city and the walls thereof be made up again, they will not only refuſe to give tribute, but alſo rebel againſt kings. 20 And foraſmuch as the things pertaining to the temple, are now in hand, we think it meet not to neglect ſuch a matter, 21 But to ſpeak unto our lord the king, to the intent, that if it be thy pleaſure, it may be ſought out in the books of thy fathers: 22 And thou ſhalt find in the chronicles what is written concerning theſe things, and ſhalt underſtand that that city was rebellious, troubling both kings and cities: 23 And that the Jews were rebellious, and raiſed always wars therein; for the which cauſe even this city was made deſolate. 24 Wherefore now we do declare unto thee, (O lord the king) that if this city be built again, and the walls thereof ſet up anew, thou ſhalt from henceforth have no paſſage into Celoſyria and Phenice. 25 Then the king wrote back again to Rathumus the ſtory-writer, to Beeltethmus, to Semellius the ſcribe, and to the reſt that were in commiſſion, and dwellers in Samaria and Syria, and Phenice, after this manner; 26 I have read the epiſtle which ye have ſent unto me: therefore I commanded to make diligent ſearch, and it hath been found, that that city was from the beginning, practiſing againſt kings. 27 And the men therein were given to rebellion and war, and that mighty kings and fierce were in Jeruſalem, who reigned and exacted tributes in Celoſyria and Phenice. 28 Now therefore I have commanded to hinder thoſe men from building the city, and heed to be taken that there be no more done in it: 29 And that thoſe wicked workers proceed no further to the annoyance of kings. 30 Then king Artaxerxes his letters being read, Rathumus and Semellius the ſcribe and the reſt that were in commiſſion with them removing in haſte towards Jeruſalem with a troop of horſemen, and a multitude of people in battel aray, began to hinder the builders, and the building of the temple in Jeruſalem ceaſ ceaſed until the ſecond year of the reign of Darius king of the Perſians.

That the Word of the Lord might be accompliſhed that he had promiſed by the Mouth of Jeremy] The Return of the Jews from their Captivity was an Event frequently promiſed and foretold by the Prophets, particularly Jeremiah, ſee Ch. xxiii. 3. xxiv. 5. xxvii. 22. xxix. 10. and many other Places of the ſame Prophecy. Iſaiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel are frequent in their Predictions of this happy Revolution in the Jewiſh State; and as all thoſe Paſſages have been already ſufficiently explained in our Notes upon them, there is no Occaſion for our being any further particular here.

In the Catalogue of Veſſels brought from Babylon, the Reader, by comparing this Account with that given by Ezra, will ſee a good deal of Difference; but in this, as in all other Inſtances of the ſame Kind, we muſt give the Preference of Credit to the inſpired Penmen.

CHAP. III.

A Contention between three young Men for the Maſtery in Wiſdom; the Victory is adjudged to him who declared for Truth.

Ver. 1. NOW when Darius reigned, he made a great feaſt unto all his ſubjects, and unto all his houſhold, and unto all the princes of Media and Perſia, 2 And to all the governors and captains, and lieutenants that were under him, from India unto Ethiopia, of an hundred twenty and ſeven provinces. 3 And when they had eaten and drunken, and being ſatisfied, were gone home, then Darius the king went into his bed-chamber and ſlept, and ſoon after awaked. 4 Then three young men that were of the guard, that kept the kings body, ſpake one to another, 5 Let every one of us ſpeak a ſentence: he that ſhall overcome, and whoſe ſentence ſhall ſeem wiſer than the others, unto him ſhall the king Darius give great gifts, and great things in token of victory: 6 As to be clothed in purple, to drink in gold, and to ſleep upon gold, and a chariot, with bridles of gold, and an head-tire of fine linen, and a chain about his neck: 7 And he ſhall ſit next to Darius, becauſe of his wiſdom, and ſhall be called Darius his couſin. 8 And then every one wrote his ſentence, ſealed it, and laid it under king Darius his pillow, 9 And ſaid, that when the king is riſen, ſome will give him the writings, and of whoſe ſide the king and the three princes of Perſia ſhall judge, that his ſentence is the wiſeſt, to him ſhall the victory be given, as was appointed. 10 The firſt wrote, Wine is the ſtrongeſt. 11 The ſecond wrote, The king is the ſtrongeſt. 12 The third wrote, Women are ſtrongeſt, but above all things, Truth beareth away the victory. 13 Now when the king was riſen up, they took their writings, and delivered them unto him, and ſo he read them. 14 And ſending forth, he called all the princes of Perſia and Media, and the governors, and the captains, and the lieutenants, and the chief officers, 15 And ſat him down in the royal ſeat of judgment, and the writings were read before them. 16 And he ſaid, Call the young men, and they ſhall declare their own ſentences. So they were called and came in. 17 And he ſpake unto them, Declare unto us your mind concerning the writings. Then began the firſt who had ſpoken of the ſtrength of wine; 18 And he ſaid thus, O ye men, how exceeding ſtrong is wine! it cauſeth all men to err that drink it: 19 It maketh the mind of the king, and of the fatherleſs child to be all one: of the bondman, and of the freeman, of the poor man, and of the rich: 20 It turneth alſo every thought into jollity and mirth, ſo that a man remembreth neither ſorrow nor debt: 21 And it maketh every heart rich, ſo that a man remembreth neither king nor governor; and it maketh to ſpeak all things by talents: 22 And when they are in their cups, they forget their love both to friends and brethren, and a little after draw out ſwords: 23 But when they are from the wine, they remember not what they have done. 24 O ye men, is not wine the ſtrongeſt, that inforceth to do thus? And when he had ſo ſpoken, he held his peace.

Darius, we are told in the firſt Verſe, made a great Feaſt unto all his Subjects, Houſhold, and Princes of Media and Perſia; but on what Occaſion it is not ſaid: However, at the Concluſion of it, we find three young Men laying their Heads together how to make themſelves rich and famous by a Contention for Superiority in Wiſdom; and promiſe one another, that he who proved victorious, ſhould be moſt ſplendidly rewarded by the King; ſee Ver. 6, 7. But how they could promiſe themſelves ſuch high Rewards, which lay wholly in the Pleaſure of the King to beſtow, ſeems not eaſily reconcilable to Probability: It appears to me therefore, more like a Fiction, invented by the Author to ſet off the Character of Zorobabel, who gained the Prize in this Contention, and who was afterwards ſent as Governor of Judea after the Return of the People from their Captivity.

CHAP. IV.

Ver. 1. THEN the ſecond, that had ſpoken of the ſtrength of the king, began to ſay, 2 O ye men, do not men excel in ſtrength, that bear rule over ſea and land, and all things in them? 3 But yet the king is more mighty: for he is lord of all theſe things, and hath dominion over them, and whatſoever he commandeth them, they do. 4 If he bid them make war the one againſt the other, they do it: if he ſend them out againſt the enemies, they go: and break down mountains, walls, and towers. 5 They ſlay, and are ſlain, and tranſgreſs not the kings commandment: if they get the victory, they bring all to the king, as well the ſpoil, as all things elſe. 6 Likewiſe for thoſe that are no ſoldiers, and have not to do with wars, but uſe huſbandry, when they have reaped again that which they had ſown, they bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute unto the king. 7 And yet he is but one man: if he command to kill, they kill; if he command to ſpare, they ſpare: 8 If he command to ſmite, they ſmite; if he command to make deſolate, they make deſolate; if he command to build, they build: 9 If he command to cut down, they cut down; if he command to plant, they plant. 10 So all his people, and his armies obey him: furthermore, he lieth down, he eateth and drinketh, and taketh his reſt: 11 And theſe keep (watch) round about him, neither may any one depart, and do his own buſineſs, neither neither disobey they him in any thing. 12 O ye men, how should not the king be mightiest, when in such sort he is obeyed? And he held his tongue. 13 Then the third, who had spoken of women, and of the truth, (this was Zorobabel) began to speak. 14 O ye men, it is not the great king, nor the multitude of men, neither is it wine that excelleth; who is it then that ruleth them, or hath the lordship over them? are they not women? 15 Women have borne the king, and all the people that bear rule by sea and land. 16 Even of them came they: and they nourished them up that planted the vineyards, from whence the wine cometh. 17 These also make garments for men, these bring glory unto men; and without women cannot men be. 18 Yea, and if men have gathered together gold and silver, or any other goodly thing, do they not love a woman which is comely in favour and beauty? 19 And letting all those things go, do they not gape, and even with open mouth fix their eyes fast on her; and have not all men more desire unto her, than unto silver or gold, or any goodly thing whatsoever? 20 A man leaveth his own father that brought him up, and his own country, and cleaveth unto his wife. 21 He sticks not to spend his life with his wife, and remembreth neither father nor mother, nor country. 22 By this also you must know, that women have dominion over you: do ye not labour and toil, and give and bring all to the woman? 23 Yea, a man taketh his sword, and goeth his way to rob and to steal, to sail upon the sea, and upon rivers; 24 And looketh upon a lion, and goeth into darkness; and when he hath stolen, spoiled, and robbed, he bringeth it to his love. 25 Wherefore a man loveth his wife better than father or mother. 26 Yea, many there be that have run out of their wits for women, and become servants for their sakes. 27 Many also have perished, have erred, and sinned for women. 28 And now do ye not believe me? is not the king great in his power? do not all regions fear to touch him? 29 Yet did I see him and Apame the kings concubine, the daughter of the admirable Bartacus sitting at the right hand of the king, 30 And taking the crown from the kings head and setting it upon her own head, she also stroke the king with her left hand. 31 And yet for all this, the king gaped and gazed upon her with open mouth: if she laughed upon him, he laughed also: but if she took any displeasure at him, the king was fain to flatter, that she might be reconciled to him again. 32 O ye men, how can it be but women should be strong, seeing they do thus? 33 Then the king and the princes looked one upon another: so he began to speak of the truth. 34 O ye men, are not women strong? great is the earth, high is the heaven, swift is the sun in his course, for he compasseth the heavens round about, and fetcheth his course again to his own place in one day. 35 Is he not great that maketh these things? therefore great is the truth, and stronger than all things. 36 All the earth calleth upon the truth, and the heaven blesseth it, all works shake and tremble at it, and with it is no unrighteous thing. 37 Wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, all the children of men are wicked, and such are all their wicked works, and there is no truth in them; in their unrighteousness also they shall perish. 38 As for the truth, it endureth, and is always strong, it liveth, and conquereth for evermore. 39 With her there is no accepting of persons, or rewards, but she doeth the things that are just, and refraineth from all unjust and wicked things, and all men do well like of her works. 40 Neither in her judgment is any unrighteousness, and she is the strength, kingdom, power and majesty of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth. 41 And with that he held his peace: and all the people then shouted, and said, Great is truth, and mighty above all things. 42 Then said the king unto him, Ask what thou wilt, more than is appointed in the writing, and we will give it thee, because thou art found wisest, and thou shalt sit next me, and shalt be called my cousin. 43 Then said he unto the king, remember thy vow which thou hast vowed, to build Jerusalem in the day when thou camest to thy kingdom. 44 And to send away all the vessels that were taken away out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he vowed to destroy Babylon, and to send them again thither. 45 Thou also hast vowed to build up the temple which the Edomites burnt when Judea was made desolate by the Chaldees. 46 And now, O lord the king, this is that which I require, and which I desire of thee, and this is the princely liberality, proceeding from thyself: I desire therefore, that thou may make good the vow, the performance whereof with thine own mouth thou hast vowed to the King of heaven. 47 Then Darius the king stood up, and kissed him, and wrote letters for him unto all the treasurers, and lieutenants, and captains, and governors, that they should safely convey on their way, both him, and all those that go up with him to build Jerusalem. 48 He wrote letters also unto the lieutenants that were in Celesyria and Phenice, and unto them in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus unto Jerusalem, and that they should build the city with him. 49 Moreover, he wrote for all the Jews that went out of his realm up into Jewry, concerning their freedom, that no officer, no ruler, no lieutenant, nor treasurer, should forcibly enter into their doors; 50 And that all the country which they hold, should be free without tribute; and that the Edomites should give over the villages of the Jews, which then they held: 51 Yea, that there should be yearly given twenty talents to the building the temple, until the time that it were built; 52 And other ten talents yearly to maintain the burnt-offerings upon the altar every day, (as they had a commandment to offer seventeen) 53 And that all they that went from Babylon to build the city, should have free liberty, as well they as their posterity, and all the priests that went away. 54 He wrote also concerning the charges, and the priests vestments wherein they minister; 55 And likewise for the charges of the Levites, to be given them, and the day that the house were finished, and Jerusalem builded up. 56 And he commanded to give to all that kept the city, pensions and wages. 57 He sent away also all the vessels from Babylon that Cyrus had set apart, and that Cyrus had given in commandment, the ſame charged he alſo to be done, and ſent unto Jeruſalem. 58 Now when this young man was gone forth, he lifted up his face to heaven toward Jeruſalem, and praiſed the King of heaven, 59 And ſaid, From thee cometh victory, from thee cometh wiſdom, and thine is the glory, and I am thy ſervant. 60 Bleſſed art thou, who haſt given me wiſdom: for to thee I give thanks, O Lord of our fathers. 61 And ſo he took the letters, and went out and came unto Babylon, and told it all his brethren. 62 And they praiſed the God of their fathers; becauſe he had given them freedom and liberty. 63 To go up and to build Jeruſalem, and the temple which is called by his name: and they feaſted with inſtruments of muſick and gladneſs, ſeven days.

Thou alſo haſt vowed to build up the Temple which the Edomites burnt when Judea was made deſolate by the Chaldeans] This is a Piece of Hiſtory which I don't remember is mentioned by any of the ſacred Hiſtorians. We are indeed frequently told of the Enmity or Grudge which the Edomites, or Children of Eſau, conſtantly bore to their Brethren the Iſraelites, and that they laid hold of every Occaſion to diſtreſs and oppreſs them; and therefore it is not improbable that they took the Opportunity, of the Sacking of Jeruſalem by the Chaldeans, of lending a helping Hand in completing the Deſtruction of the Jews, by burning down their Temple, which perhaps the Chaldeans, ſeeing the Grandeur of the Structure, and the ſacred Uſes to which it was applied, had too great a Veneration for to deſtroy; for even the Heathens, in the Conqueſts and Depredations which they made upon their Enemies, generally ſhewed a Regard to the Temples of the Gods, whether true or falſe.

CHAP. V.

A Liſt of the Jews that returned home; the Altar is ſet up in its Place; the Foundation of the Temple is laid; but the Progreſs of the Work is hindered for a Time.

Ver. 1. AFter this were the principal men of the families choſen according to their tribes, to go up with their wives and ſons, and daughters, with their men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and their cattel. 2 And Darius ſent with them a thouſand horſemen till they had brought them back to Jeruſalem ſafely, and with muſical [inſtruments] tabrets and flutes. 3 And all their brethren played, and he made them go up together with them. 4 And theſe are the names of the men which went up, according to their families, amongſt their tribes, after their ſeveral heads. 5 The prieſts, the ſons of Phinees, the ſon of Aaron: Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, the ſon of Saraias, and Joacim the ſon of Zorobabel, the ſon of Salathiel of the houſe of David, out of the kindred of Phares, of the tribe of Juda; 6 Who ſpake wiſe ſentences before Darius the king of Perſia, in the ſecond year of his reign, in the month Niſan, which is the firſt month. 7 And theſe are they of Jewry, that came up from the captivity, where they dwelt as ſtrangers, whom Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon. And they returned unto Jeruſalem, and to the other parts of Jewry, every man to his own city, who came with Zorobabel, with Jeſus, Nehemias, and Zacharias, and Reeſaias, Enenius, Mardocheus, Beelſarus, Aſpharaſus, Reelius, Roimus, and Baana, their guides. 9 The number of them of the nation, and their governors, ſons of Phoros, two thouſand an hundred ſeventy and two: the ſons of Saphat, four hundred ſeventy and two: 10 The ſons of Ares, ſeven hundred fifty and ſix. 11 The ſons of Phaath Moab, two thouſand eight hundred and twelve: 12 The ſons of Elam, a thouſand two hundred fifty and four: the ſons of Zathui, nine hundred forty and five: the ſons of Corbe, ſeven hundred and five: the ſons of Bani, ſix hundred forty and eight: 13 The ſons of Bebai, ſix hundred twenty and three: the ſons of Sadas, three thouſand two hundred twenty and two: 14 The ſons of Adonikam, ſix hundred ſixty and ſeven: the ſon of Bagoi, two thouſand ſixty and ſix: the ſons of Adin, four hundred fifty and four: 15 The ſons of Aterezias, ninety and two: the ſons of Ceilan, and Azetas, threeſcore and ſeven: the ſons of Azuran, four hundred thirty and two: 16 The ſons of Ananias, an hundred and one: the ſons of Arom, thirty two, and the ſons of Baſſa three hundred twenty and three: the ſons of Azephurith, an hundred and two: 17 The ſons of Meterus, three thouſand and five: the ſons of Bethlomon, an hundred twenty and three: 18 They of Netophah, fifty and five: they of Anathoth, an hundred fifty and eight: they of Bethſamos, forty and two: 19 They of Kiriathiarius, twenty and five: they of Caphira and Peroth, ſeven hundred forty and three: they of Pira, ſeven hundred: 20 They of Chadias and Ammidioi, four hundred twenty and two: they of Cirama, and Gabdes, ſix hundred twenty and one: 21 They of Macalon, an hundred twenty and two: they of Betolius, fifty and two: the ſons of Nephis, an hundred fifty and ſix: 22 The ſons of Calamolalus, and Onus, ſeven hundred twenty and five: the ſons of Jerechus, two hundred forty and five: 23 The ſons of Annaas, three thouſand three hundred and thirty. 24 The prieſts: the ſons of Jüddu, the ſon of Jeſus, among the ſons of Sanaſib, nine hundred ſeventy and two: the ſons of Meruth, a thouſand fifty and two: 25 The ſons of Phaſſaron, a thouſand forty and ſeven: the ſons of Carme, a thouſand and ſeventeen. 26 The Levites: the ſons of Jeſſue, and Cadmiel, and Banuas, and Sudias, ſeventy and four. 27 The holy ſingers: the ſons of Aſaph, an hundred twenty and eight. 28 The porters: the ſons of Salum, the ſons of Jatal, the ſons of Talmon, the ſons of Dacobi, the ſons of Teta, the ſons of Sami, in all an hundred thirty and nine. 29 The ſervants of the temple: the ſons of Eſau, the ſons of Aſipha, the ſons of Tabaoth, the ſons of Ceras, the ſons of Sud, the ſons of Phaleas, the ſons of Labana, the ſons of Graba, 30 The ſons of Acua, the ſons of Uta, the ſons of Cetab, the ſons of Agaba, the ſons of Subai, the ſons of Anan, the ſons of Cathua, the ſons of Geddur, 31 The ſons of Airus, the ſons of Daiſan, the ſons of Noeba, the ſons of Chaſeba, the ſons of Gazera, the ſons of Azia, the ſons of Phinees, the ſons of Azara, the ſons of Baſtai, the ſons of Aſana, the ſons of Meani, the ſons of Naphiſi, the ſons of Acub, the ſons of Aſipha, the ſons of Aſſur, the ſons of Pharacim, the ſons of Baſaloth, 32 The ſons of Meeda, the ſons of Coutha, the ſons of Charea, the ſons of Chareus, the ſons of Aſerer, the ſons of Thomoi, the ſons of Naſith, the ſons of Atipha. 33 The ſons of the ſervants of Solomon: the ſons of Azaphion, the ſons of Pharira, the ſons of Jeeli, the ſons of Lozon, the ſons of Iſdael, the ſons of Sapheth. 34 The ſons of Hagia, the ſons of Phacareth, the ſons of Saby, the ſons of Sarothie, the ſons of Maſias, the ſons of Gar, the ſons of Addus, the ſons of Suba, the ſons of Apherra, the ſons of Barodis, the ſons of Sabat, the ſons of Allom. 35 All the miniſters of the temple, and the ſons of the ſervants of Solomon, were three hundred ſeventy and two. 36 Theſe came up from Thermeleth, and Thelerſas, Caraathalar leading them, and Aalar. 37 Neither could they ſhew their families, nor their ſtock, how they were of Iſrael: the ſons of Ladan, the ſons of Ban, the ſons of Necodan, ſix hundred fifty and two. 38 And of the prieſts that uſurped the office of the prieſthood, and were not found, the ſons of Obdia: the ſons of Accoz, the ſons of Addus, who married Augia, one of the daughters of Berzelus, and was named after his name. 39 And when the deſcription of the kindred of theſe men was ſought in the regiſter, and was not found, they were removed from executing the office of the prieſthood. 40 For unto them ſaid Nehemias, and Atharias, that they ſhould not be partakers of the holy things till there aroſe up an high prieſt, clothed with doctrine and truth. 41 So of Iſrael from them of twelve years old and upward, they were all in number forty thouſand, beſides men-ſervants and women-ſervants, two thouſand three hundred and ſixty. 42 Their men-ſervants and handmaids were ſeven thouſand three hundred forty and ſeven: the ſinging-men and ſinging-women, two hundred forty and five, 43 Four hundred thirty and five camels, ſeven thouſand thirty and ſix horſes, two hundred forty and five mules, five thouſand five hundred twenty and five beaſts uſed to the yoke. 44 And certain of the chief of their families, when they came to the temple of God that is in Jeruſalem, vowed to ſet up the houſe again in his own place, according to their ability, 45 And to give into the holy treaſury of the works, a thouſand pounds of gold, five thouſand of ſilver, an hundred prieſtly veſtments. 46 And ſo dwelt the prieſts and the Levites, and the people in Jeruſalem, and in the country: the ſingers alſo, and the porters, and all Iſrael in their villages. 47 But when the ſeventh month was at hand, and when the children of Iſrael were every man in his own place, they came altogether with one conſent into the open place of the firſt gate, which is towards the eaſt. 48 Then ſtood up Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and his brethren the prieſts, and Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and his brethren, and made ready the altar of the God of Iſrael, 49 To offer burnt-ſacrifices upon it, according as it is expreſly commanded in the book of Moſes the man of God. 50 And there were gathered unto them out of the other nations of the land, and they erected the altar upon his own place, becauſe all the nations of the land were at enmity with them, and oppreſſed them, and they offered ſacrifices according to the time, and burnt-offerings to the Lord, both morning and evening. 51 Alſo they held the feaſt of tabernacles, as it is commanded in the law, and offered ſacrifices daily as was meet: 52 And after that, the continual oblations, and the ſacrifice of the ſabbaths, and of the new-moons, and of all holy feaſts. 53 And all they that had made any vow to God, began to offer ſacrifices to God, from the firſt day of the ſeventh month, although the temple of the Lord was not yet built. 54 And they gave unto the maſons and carpenters money, meat and drink with cheerfulneſs. 55 Unto them of Sidon alſo and Tyre, they gave carts, that they ſhould bring cedar-trees from Libanus, which ſhould be brought by flotes to the haven of Joppe, according as it was commanded them by Cyrus king of the Perſians. 56 And in the ſecond year, and ſecond month after his coming to the temple of God at Jeruſalem, began Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and their brethren, and the prieſts and the Levites, and all they that were come unto Jeruſalem out of the captivity: 57 And they laid the foundation of the houſe of God, in the firſt day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year after they were come to Jewry and Jeruſalem. 58 And they appointed the Levites from twenty years old, over the works of the Lord. Then ſtood up Jeſus and his ſons and brethren, and Cadmiel his brother, and the ſons of Madiabun, with the ſons of Joda, the ſon of Eliadun, with their ſons and brethren, all Levites, with one accord, ſetters forward of the buſineſs, labouring to advance the works in the houſe of God. So the workmen built the temple of the Lord. 59 And the prieſts ſtood arayed in their veſtments, with muſical inſtruments, and trumpets, and the Levites the ſons of Aſaph had cymbals, 60 Singing ſongs of thankſgiving, and praiſing the Lord, according as David the king of Iſrael had ordained. 61 And they ſung with loud voices ſongs to the praiſe of the Lord: becauſe his mercy and glory is for ever in all Iſrael. 62 And all the people ſounded trumpets, and ſhouted with a loud voice, ſinging ſongs of thankſgiving unto the Lord, for the rearing up of the houſe of the Lord. 63 Alſo of the prieſts and Levites, and of the chief of their families, the antients who had ſeen the former houſe, came to the building of this with weeping and great crying. 64 But many with trumpets and joy ſhouted with loud voice. 65 Inſomuch that the trumpets might not be heard for the weeping of the people: yet the multitude ſounded marvellouſly, ſo that it was heard afar off. 66 Wherefore when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what that noiſe of trumpets ſhould mean. 67 And they perceived that they that were of the captivity did build the temple unto the Lord God of Iſrael. 68 So they went to Zorobabel and Jeſus, and to the chief of the families, and ſaid unto them, We will build together with you. 69 For we likewiſe, as you, do obey your Lord, and do ſacrifice unto him from the days of Azbazareth the king of the Aſſyrians, who brought us hither. 70 Then Zorobabel and Jeſus, and the chief of the families of Iſrael, ſaid unto them, It is not for us and you to build together an houſe unto the Lord our God. 71 We ourſelves alone will build unto the Lord of Iſrael, according as Cyrus the king of the Perſians hath commanded us. 72 But the heathen of the land lying heavy upon the inhabitants of Judea, and holding them ſtrait, hindred their building: 73 And by their ſecret plots, and popular perſwaſions and commotions, they hindred the finiſhing of the building, all the time that king Cyrus lived: ſo they were hindred from building for the ſpace of two years, until the reign of Darius.

And Joacim the Son of Zorobabel] It is obſerved in the Margin, that this Place is corrupted; for Joachim was the Son of Joſedech, Nehem. xii. 10. and not Zorobabel, who was of the Tribe of Judah.

The true Numbers of the Names contained in the following Catalogue, we muſt look for in Nehem. vii. 8, &c. for here the Numbers are very much varied, as well as the Names.

CHAP. VI.

The Prophets ſtir up the People to build the Temple. Darius is ſolicited to hinder it, but inſtead thereof encourages the Work, and threatens thoſe that hinder it.

Ver. 1. NOW in the ſecond year of the reign of Darius, Aggeus, and Zacharias the ſon of Addo the prophets propheſied unto the Jews in Jewry and Jeruſalem, in the name of the Lord God of Iſrael which was upon them. 2 Then ſtood up Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec, and began to build the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, the prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them. 3 At the ſame time came unto them Siſinnes the governor of Syria, and Phenice with Sathrabuzanes, and his companions, and ſaid unto them, 4 By whoſe appointment do you build this houſe and this roof, and perform all the other things? and who are the workmen that perform theſe things? 5 Nevertheleſs, the elders of the Jews obtained favour: becauſe the Lord had viſited the captivity. 6 And they were not hindred from building, until ſuch time as ſignification was given unto Darius concerning them, and an anſwer received. 7 The copy of the letters which Siſinnes governor of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes with their companions, rulers in Syria and Phenice, wrote, and ſent unto Darius; To king Darius greeting. 8 Let all things be known unto our lord the king, that being come into the country of Judea, and entred into the city of Jeruſalem, we found in the city of Jeruſalem, the antients of the Jews that were of the captivity, 9 Building an houſe unto the Lord, great and new, of hewen and coſtly ſtones, and the timber already laid upon the walls. 10 And thoſe works are done with great ſpeed, and the work goeth on proſperouſly in their hands, and with all glory and diligence is it made. 11 Then aſked we thoſe elders, ſaying, By whoſe commandment build ye this houſe, and lay the foundations of theſe works? 12 Therefore to the intent that we might give knowledge unto thee by writing, we demanded of them who were the chief doers, and we required of them the names in writing of their principal men. 13 So they gave us this anſwer, We are the ſervants of the Lord which made heaven and earth. 14 And as for this houſe, it was builded many years ago, by a king of Iſrael great and ſtrong, and was finiſhed. 15 But when our fathers provoked God unto wrath, and ſinned againſt the Lord of Iſrael, which is in heaven, he gave them over into the power of Nabuchodonoſor, king of Babylon, of the Chaldees: 16 Who pulled down the houſe, and burnt it, and carried away the people captives unto Babylon. 17 But in the firſt year that king Cyrus reigned over the country of Babylon, Cyrus the king wrote to build up this houſe. 18 And the holy veſſels of gold and of ſilver that Nabuchodonoſor had carried away out of the houſe at Jeruſalem and had ſet them in his own temple, thoſe Cyrus the king brought forth again out of the temple at Babylon, and they were delivered to Zorobabel, and to Sanabaſſarus the ruler, 19 With commandment that he ſhould carry away the ſame veſſels, and put them in the temple at Jeruſalem, and that the temple of the Lord ſhould be built in his place. 20 Then the ſame Sanabaſſarus being come hither, laid the foundations of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, and from that time to this, being ſtill a building, it is not yet fully ended. 21 Now therefore if it ſeem good unto the king, let ſearch be made among the records of king Cyrus. 22 And if it be found that the building of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem hath been done with the conſent of king Cyrus, and if our lord the king be ſo minded, let him ſignify unto us thereof. 23 Then commanded king Darius to ſeek among the records at Babylon: and ſo at Ecbatana the palace which is in the country of Media, there was found a roll wherein theſe things were recorded. 24 In the firſt year of the reign of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded that the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem ſhould be built again, where they do ſacrifice with continual fire. 25 Whoſe height ſhall be ſixty cubits, and the breadth ſixty cubits, with three rows of hewen ſtones, and one row of new wood of that country, and the expences thereof to be given out of the houſe of king Cyrus. 26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, both of gold and ſilver that Nabuchodonoſor took out of the houſe at Jeruſalem, and brought to Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to the houſe at Jeruſalem, and be ſet in the place where they were before. 27 And alſo he commanded, that Siſinnes the governor of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, and their companions, and thoſe which were appointed rulers in Syria and Phenice, ſhould be careful not to meddle with the place, but ſuffer Zorobabel the ſervant of the Lord, and governor of Judea, and the elders of the Jews to build the houſe of the Lord in that place. 28 I have commanded alſo to have it built up whole again, and that they look diligently to help thoſe that be of the captivity of the Jews, till the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed. 29 And out of the tribute of Celoſyria, and Phenice, a portion carefully to be given theſe men, for the ſacrifices of the Lord, that is, to Zorobabel the governor, for bullocks, and rams, and lambs, 30 And alſo corn, ſalt, wine, and oyl, and that continually every year without further queſtion, according as the prieſts that be in Jeruſalem ſhall ſignify ſignify to be daily ſpent: 31 That offerings may be made to the moſt high God, for the king and for his children, and that they may pray for their lives. 32 And he commanded that whoſoever ſhould tranſgreſs, yea, or make light of any thing afore ſpoken, or written, out of his own houſe ſhould a tree be taken, and he thereon be hanged, and all his goods ſeized for the king. 33 The Lord therefore, whoſe name is there called upon, utterly deſtroy every king and nation, that ſtretcheth out his hand to hinder or endamage that houſe of the Lord in Jeruſalem. 34 I Darius the king have ordained, that according unto theſe things it be done with diligence.

The Contents of this Chapter are more conciſely and perſpicuouſly related by Ezra, Ch. v. and vi. to our Notes on which we muſt refer the Reader for Explanation of any Difficulties he may meet with.

CHAP. VII.

Siſinnes and others help forward the Building. The Temple is finiſhed, and dedicated; and the Paſſover kept.

Ver. 1. THEN Siſinnes the governor of Celoſyria and Phenice, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, following the commandments of king Darius, 2 Did very carefully overſee the holy works, aſſiſting the antients of the Jews and governors of the temple. 3 And ſo the holy works proſpered, when Aggeus and Zacharias the prophets propheſied. 4 And they finiſhed theſe things by the commandment of the Lord God of Iſrael, and with the conſent of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of Perſia. 5 And thus was the holy houſe finiſhed, in the three and twentieth day of the month Adar, in the ſixth year of Darius king of the Perſians. 6 And the children of Iſrael, the prieſts, and the Levites, and other that were of the captivity, that were added unto them, did according to the things written in the book of Moſes. 7 And to the dedication of the temple of the Lord, they offered an hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs; 8 And twelve goats for the ſin of all Iſrael, according to the number of the chief of the tribes of Iſrael. 9 The prieſts alſo and the Levites ſtood arayed in their veſtments, according to their kindreds, in the ſervices of the Lord God of Iſrael, according to the book of Moſes: and the porters at every gate. 10 And the children of Iſrael, that were of the captivity, held the paſſover the fourteenth day of the firſt month, after that the prieſts and the Levites were ſanctified. 11 They that were of the captivity were not all ſanctified together: but the Levites were all ſanctified together. 12 And ſo they offered the paſſover for all them of the captivity, and for their brethren the prieſts, and for themſelves. 13 And the children of Iſrael that came out of the captivity did eat, even all they that had ſeparated themſelves from the abominations of the people of the land, and ſought the Lord. 14 And they kept the feaſt of unleavened bread ſeven days, making merry before the Lord: 15 For that he had turned the counſel of the king of Aſſyria towards them, to ſtrengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Iſrael.

As this whole Chapter is contained in the vith of Ezra, there is no Occaſion for any further Remarks upon it.

CHAP. VIII.

Eſdras brings the Kings Commiſſion to build; the Copy of it; the Number of thoſe that came with him; laments the Sins of his People, and ſwears the Prieſts to put away their ſtrange Wives.

Ver. 1. AND after theſe things, when Artaxerxes, the king of the Perſians reigned, came Eſdras the ſon of Saraias, the ſon of Ezerias, the ſon of Helchiah, the ſon of Salum, 2 The ſon of Sadduc, the ſon of Achitob, the ſon of Amarias, the ſon of Ezias, the ſon of Memeroth, the ſon of Zaraias, the ſon of Savias, the ſon of Boccas, the ſon of Abiſum, the ſon of Phinees, the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron, the chief prieſt. 3 This Eſdras went up from Babylon as a ſcribe, being very ready in the law of Moſes, that was given by the God of Iſrael. 4 And the king did him honour: for he found grace in his ſight in all his requeſts. 5 There went up with him alſo certain of the children of Iſrael, of the prieſts, of the Levites, of the holy ſingers, porters, and miniſters of the temple, unto Jeruſalem, 6 In the ſeventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes, in the fifth month, (this was the kings ſeventh year) for they went from Babylon in the firſt day of the firſt month, and came to Jeruſalem according to the proſperous journey which the Lord gave them. 7 For Eſdras had very great ſkill, ſo that he omitted nothing of the law and commandments of the Lord, but taught all Iſrael the ordinances and judgments. 8 Now the copy of the commiſſion which was written from Artaxerxes the king, and came to Eſdras the prieſt, and reader of the law of the Lord, is this that followeth; 9 King Artaxerxes unto Eſdras the prieſt, and reader of the law of the Lord, ſendeth greeting. 10 Having determined to deal graciouſly, I have given order that ſuch of the nation of the Jews, and of the prieſts and Levites, being within our realm, as are willing and deſirous, ſhould go with thee unto Jeruſalem. 11 As many therefore as have a mind thereunto, let them depart with thee, as it hath ſeemed good both to me, and my ſeven friends the counſellors; 12 That they may look unto the affairs of Judea and Jeruſalem, agreeably to that which is in the law of the Lord; 13 And carry the gifts unto the Lord of Iſrael to Jeruſalem, which I and my friends have vowed, and all the gold and ſilver that in the country of Babylon can be found, to the Lord in Jeruſalem, 14 With that alſo which is given of the people for the temple of the Lord their God at Jeruſalem: and that ſilver and gold may be collected for bullocks, rams, and lambs, and things thereunto appertaining. 15 To the end that they may offer ſacrifices unto the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jeruſalem. 16 And whatſoever thou and thy brethren will do with the ſilver and gold, that do according to the will of thy God. 17 And the holy veſſels of the Lord, which are given thee, for the uſe of the temple of thy God which is in Jeruſalem, thou ſhalt ſet before thy God in Jeruſalem. 18 And whatſoever thing elſe thou ſhalt remember for the uſe of the temple of thy God, thou ſhalt give it out of the kings treaſury. 19 And I king Artaxerxes have alſo commanded the keepers of the treaſures in Syria and Phenice, that whatſoever Eſdras the prieſt, and the reader of the law of the moſt high God ſhall ſend for, they ſhould give it him with ſpeed, 20 To the ſum of an hundred talents of ſilver, likewiſe alſo of wheat, even to an hundred cors, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance. 21 Let all things be performed after the law of God diligently, unto the moſt high God, that wrath come not upon the kingdom of the king and his ſons. 22 I command you alſo, that ye require no tax, nor any other impoſition of any of the prieſts or Levites, or holy ſingers, or porters, or miniſters of the temple, or of any that have doings in this temple, and that no man have authority to impoſe any thing upon them. 23 And thou Eſdras, according to the wiſdom of God, ordain judges and juſtices, that they may judge in all Syria and Phenice, all thoſe that know the law of thy God; and thoſe that know it not, thou ſhalt teach. 24 And whoſoever ſhall tranſgreſs the law of thy God, and of the king, ſhall be puniſhed diligently, whether it be by death or other puniſhment, by penalty of money, or by impriſonment. 25 Then ſaid Eſdras the ſcribe, Bleſſed be the only Lord God of my fathers, who hath put theſe things into the heart of the king, to glorify his houſe that is in Jeruſalem, 26 And hath honoured me in the ſight of the king and his counſellors, and all his friends and nobles. 27 Therefore was I encouraged by the help of the Lord my God, and gathered together men of Iſrael to go up with me. 28 And theſe are the chief according to their families and ſeveral dignities, that went up with me from Babylon in the reign of king Artaxerxes. 29 Of the ſons of Phinees, Gerſon: of the ſons of Ithamar, Gamael: of the ſons of David, Lettus, the ſon of Sechenias: 30 Of the ſons of Pharez, Zacharias; and with him were counted an hundred and fifty men: 31 Of the ſons of Pahath Moab, Eliaonias, the ſon of Zaraias, and with him two hundred men: 32 Of the ſons of Zathoe, Sechenius, the ſon of Jezelus, and with him three hundred men: Of the ſons of Adin, Obeth the ſon of Jonathan, and with him two hundred and fifty men: 33 Of the ſons of Elam, Joſias ſon of Gotholias, and with him ſeventy men: 34 Of the ſons of Saphatias, Zaraias ſon of Michael, and with him threeſcore and ten men: 35 Of the ſons of Joab, Abadias ſon of Jezelus, and with him two hundred and twelve men: 36 Of the ſons of Banid, Aſſamoth ſon of Joſaphias, and with him an hundred and threeſcore men: 37 Of the ſons of Babi, Zacharias ſon of Bebai, and with him ſeventy and eight men: 38 Of the ſons of Aſgath, Johannes ſon of Acatan, and with him an hundred and ten men: 39 Of the ſons of Adonicam the laſt, and theſe are the names of them, Eliphalet, Jeuel, and Samaias, and with them ſeventy men: 40 Of the ſons of Bago, Uthi, the ſon of Iſtalcurus, and with him ſeventy men. 41 And theſe I gathered together to the river called Theras, where we pitched our tents three days; and then I ſurveyed them. 42 But when I had found there none of the prieſts and Levites,

43 Then ſent I unto Eleazar, and Iduel, and Maſman, 44 And Alnathan, and Mamaias, and Joribas, and Nathan, Eunatan, Zacharias, and Moſollamon, principal men, and learned. 45 And I bade them that they ſhould go unto Saddeus the captain, who was in the place of the treaſury: 46 And commanded them that they ſhould ſpeak unto Daddeus, and to his brethren, and to the treaſurers in that place, to ſend us ſuch men as might execute the prieſts office in the houſe of the Lord. 47 And by the mighty hand of our Lord they brought unto us ſkilful men of the ſons of Moli, the ſon of Levi, the ſon of Iſrael, Aſebebia and his ſons, and his brethren, who were eighteen. 48 And Aſebia, and Annuus, and Oſaias his brother of the ſons of Channuneus, and their ſons were twenty men. 49 And of the ſervants of the temple whom David had ordained, and the principal men, for the ſervice of the Levites (to wit) the ſervants of the temple, two hundred and twenty, the catalogue of whoſe names were ſhewed. 50 And there I vowed a faſt unto the young men before our Lord, to deſire of him a proſperous journey, both for us, and them that were with us, for our children, and for the cattel. 51 For I was aſhamed to aſk the king footmen and horſemen, and conduct for ſafeguard againſt our adverſaries. 52 For we had ſaid unto the king, that the power of the Lord our God ſhould be with them that ſeek him, to ſupport them in all ways. 53 And again we beſought our Lord, as touching theſe things, and found him favourable unto us. 54 Then I ſeparated twelve of the chief of the prieſts, Eſebrias and Aſſanias, and ten men of their brethren with them. 55 And I weighed them the gold, and the ſilver, and the holy veſſels of the houſe of our Lord, which the king and his councel, and the princes, and all Iſrael had given. 56 And when I had weighed it, I delivered unto them ſix hundred and fifty talents of ſilver, and ſilver veſſels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of gold, 57 And twenty golden veſſels, and twelve veſſels of braſs, even of fine braſs glittering like gold. 58 And I ſaid unto them, Both you are holy unto the Lord, and the veſſels are holy, and the gold and the ſilver is a vow unto the Lord, the Lord of our fathers. 59 Watch ye, and keep them till ye deliver them to the chief of the prieſts and Levites, and to the principal men of the families of Iſrael in Jeruſalem, into the chambers of the houſe of our God. 60 So the prieſts and the Levites, who had received the ſilver, and the gold, and the veſſels, brought them unto Jeruſalem into the temple of the Lord. 61 And from the river Theras we departed the twelfth day of the firſt month, and came to Jeruſalem by the mighty hand of our Lord, which was with us: and from the beginning of our journey, the Lord delivered us from every enemy, and ſo we came to Jeruſalem. 62 And when we had been there three days, the gold and ſilver that was weighed, was delivered into the houſe of our Lord, on the fourth day, unto Marmoth the prieſt, the ſon of Iri. 63 And with him was Eleazar the ſon of Phinees, and with them were Joſabad the ſon of Jeſu, and Moeth the ſon of Sabban, Levites: all was delivered them by number and weight. 64 And all the weight of them was written up the ſame hour. 65 Moreover, they that were come out of the captivity, offered ſacrifice unto the Lord God of Iſrael, even twelve bullocks for all Iſrael, fourſcore and ſixteen rams, 66 Threeſcore and twelve lambs, goats for a peace-offering, twelve, all of them a ſacrifice to the Lord. 67 And they delivered the kings commandments unto the kings ſtewards, and to the governors of Celoſyria and Phenice, and they honoured the people, and the temple of God. 68 Now when theſe things were done, the rulers came unto me, and ſaid, 69 The nation of Iſrael, the princes, the prieſts, and Levites, have not put away from them the ſtrange people of the land, nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, Hittites, Phereſites, Jebuſites, and the Moabites, Egyptians, and Edomites. 70 For both they and their ſons have married with their daughters, and the holy ſeed is mixed with the ſtrange people of the land; and from the beginning of this matter, the rulers and the great men have been partakers of this iniquity. 71 And aſſoon as I had heard theſe things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and pulled off the hair from off my head and beard, and ſat me down ſad, and very heavy. 72 So all they that were then moved at the word of the Lord God of Iſrael, aſſembled unto me, whilſt I mourned for the iniquity: but I ſat ſtill full of heavineſs until the evening ſacrifice. 73 Then riſing up from the faſt, with my clothes and the holy garment rent, and bowing my knees, and ſtretching forth my hand unto the Lord, 74 I ſaid, O Lord, I am confounded, and aſhamed before thy face; 75 For our ſins are multiplied above our heads, and our ignorances have reached up unto heaven. 76 For ever ſince the time of our fathers, we have been, and are in great ſin, even unto this day. 77 And for our ſins and our fathers, we with our brethren, and our kings, and our prieſts, were given up unto the kings of the earth, to the ſword, and to captivity, and for a prey with ſhame unto this day. 78 And now in ſome meaſure hath mercy been ſhewed unto us from thee, O Lord, that there ſhould be left us a root and a name in the place of thy ſanctuary; 79 And to diſcover unto us a light in the houſe of the Lord our God, and to give us food in the time of our ſervitude. 80 Yea, when we were in bondage, we were not forſaken of our Lord; but he made us gracious before the kings of Perſia, ſo that they gave us food; 81 Yea, and honoured the temple of our Lord, and raiſed up the deſolate Sion, that they have given us a ſure abiding in Jewry and Jeruſalem. 82 And now, O Lord, what ſhall we ſay, having theſe things? for we have tranſgreſſed thy commandments which thou gaveſt by the hand of thy ſervants the prophets, ſaying, 83 That the land which ye enter into to poſſeſs as an heritage, is a land polluted with the pollutions of the ſtrangers of the land, and they have filled it with their uncleanneſs. 84 Therefore now ſhall ye not join your daughters unto their ſons, neither ſhall ye take their daughters unto your ſons. 85 Moreover, you ſhall never ſeek to have peace with them, that ye may be ſtrong, and eat the good things of the land, and that ye may leave the inheritance of the land unto your children for evermore. 86 And all that is befallen is done unto us for our wicked works and great ſins: for thou, O Lord, didſt make our ſins light, 87 And didſt give unto us ſuch a root but we have turned back again to tranſgreſs thy law: and to mingle ourſelves with the uncleanneſs of the nations of the land. 88 Mighteſt not thou be angry with us to deſtroy us, till thou hadſt left us neither root, ſeed, nor name? 89 O Lord of Iſrael, thou art true: for we are left a root this day. 90 Behold, now are we before thee in our iniquities, for we cannot ſtand any longer by reaſon of theſe things before thee. 91 And as Eſdras in his prayer made his confeſſion weeping, and lying flat upon the ground before the temple, there gathered unto him from Jeruſalem, a very great multitude of men, and women, and children: for there was great weeping among the multitude. 92 Then Jechonias the ſon of Jeelus, one of the ſons of Iſrael called out, and ſaid, O Eſdras, we have ſinned againſt the Lord God, we have married ſtrange women of the nations of the land, and now is all Iſrael aloft. 93 Let us make an oath to the Lord, that we will put away all our wives which we have taken of the heathen, with their children, 94 Like as thou haſt decreed, and as many as do obey the law of the Lord. 95 Ariſe, and put in execution: for to thee doth this matter appertain, and we will be with thee: do valiantly. 96 So Eſdras aroſe, and took an oath of the chief of the prieſts and Levites of all Iſrael, to do after theſe things; and ſo they ſware.

Eſdras the Son of Seraias, &c.] If we compare the Account which Eſdras here gives of his Extraction and Family, with the Genealogy of Ezra, Ch. vii. we ſhall find it exactly the ſame, only with a ſmall Variation in the Spelling of the Names. This is a ſufficient Proof that this Eſdras, whoever he was, deſires to paſs for Ezra the Scribe and inſpired Writer, who has given us the true and genuine Relation of what paſſed at Jeruſalem, after the Captivity, in regard to the rebuilding of the Temple, the Contentions of the Jews with their Enemies, and of his reforming the Abuſes that were practiſed among the Heads and Chiefs of the People; and therefore whenever we find any Difference in the Accounts given by them, we may depend upon Ezra's as the trueſt, ſince the other is only an Imitator, or a Copier of the inſpired Writer, and wrote his Hiſtory very probably, many Years after the Facts he relates were done; whereas Ezra was an Eye and an Ear-Witneſs of, and had himſelf a very large Share in thoſe Tranſactions he has deſcribed.

CHAP. IX.

The People promiſe to put away the ſtrange Wives; who did ſo; the Law read to the People, who weep, but are admoniſhed of its being a Feſtival Day.

Ver. 1. THEN Eſdras riſing from the court of the temple, went to the chamber of Joanan the ſon of Eliaſib, 2 And remained there, and did eat no meat, nor drink water, mourning for the great iniquities of the multitude. 3 And there was a proclamation in all Jewry, and Jeruſalem, to all them that were of the captivity, that they ſhould be gathered together at Jeruſalem: 4 And that whoſoever met not there, within two or three days, according as the elders that bare rule appointed, their cattel ſhould be ſeized to the uſe of the temple, and himſelf himself cast out from them that were of the captivity. 5 And in three days were all they of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin gathered together at Jerusalem the twentieth day of the ninth month. 6 And all the multitude sat trembling in the broad court of the temple, because of the present foul weather. 7 So Esdras arose up and said unto them, Ye have transgressed the law in marrying strange wives, thereby to increase the sins of Israel. 8 And now by confessing give glory unto the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And do his will, and separate yourselves from the heathen of the land, and from the strange women. 10 Then cried the whole multitude, and said with a loud voice, Like as thou hast spoken, so will we do. 11 But forasmuch as the people are many, and it is foul weather, so that we cannot stand without, and this is not a work of a day, or two, seeing our sin in these things is spread far: 12 Therefore let the rulers of the multitude stay, and let all them of our habitations that have strange wives, come at the time appointed, 13 And with them the rulers and judges of every place, till we turn away the wrath of the Lord from us, for this matter. 14 Then Jonathan the son of Azael, and Ezechias the son of Theocanus, accordingly took this matter upon them: and Mosollam, and Levis, and Sabbatheus helped them. 15 And they that were of the captivity did according to all these things. 16 And Esdras the priest chose unto him the principal men of their families, all by name: and in the first day of the tenth month, they sat together to examine the matter. 17 So their cause that held strange wives was brought to an end in the first day of the first month. 18 And of the priests that were come together, and had strange wives, there were found: 19 Of the sons of Jesus, the son of Josedec, and his brethren, Matthelas, and Eleazar, and Joribus, and Joadanus. 20 And they gave their hands to put away their wives, and to offer rams, to make reconcilement for their errors. 21 And of the sons of Emmer; Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Eanes, and Sameius, and Hiereel, and Azarias. 22 And of the sons of Phaisur; Elionas, Massias, Ismael, and Nathanael, and Ocidelus, and Talsas. 23 And of the Levites; Jozabad, and Semis, and Colius who was called Calitas, and Patheus, and Judas, and Jonas. 24 Of the holy singers; Eleazurus, Bacchurus. 25 Of the porters, Sallumus, and Tolbanes. 26 Of them of Israel, of the sons of Phoros; Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazar, and Asibias, and Baanias. 27 Of the sons of Ela; Matthanias, Zacharias, and Hierielus, and Hieremoth, and Aedias. 28 And of the sons of Zamoth; Eliadas, Elisimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and Sabatus, and Sardeus. 29 Of the sons of Bebai; Johannes, and Anathas, and Josabad, and Amatheis. 30 Of the sons of Mani; Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedeus, Jasubus, Jasael, and Hieremoth. 31 And of the sons of Addi; Naathus, and Mooslas, Lacunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and Sesthell, Baluus, and Manasseas. 32 And of the sons of Annas; Elionas, and Aseas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon Chosameus. 33 And of the sons of Asom; Altaneus, and Matthias, and Bannaia, Eliphalet, and Manasses, and Semei. 34 And of the sons of Maani; Jeremias, Momdis, Omaerus, Juel, Mabdai, and Pelias, and Anos, Carabasion, and Euasibus, and Mamnitanaimus, Eliasis, Bannus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias: and of the sons of Ozora; Sesis, Esril, Azaelus, Samatus, Zambis Josiphus. 35 And of the sons of Ethma; Mazitias, Zabadaias, Edes, Juel, Banaias. 36 All these had taken strange wives, and they put them away with their children. 37 And the priests and Levites, and they that were of Israel dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, in the first day of the seventh month: so the children of Israel were in their habitations. 38 And the whole multitude came together with one accord, into the broad place of the holy porch toward the east. 39 And they spake unto Esdras the priest and reader, that he would bring the law of Moses, that was given of the Lord God of Israel. 40 So Esdras the chief priest, brought the law unto the whole multitude from man to woman, and to all the priests to hear the law in the first day of the seventh month. 41 And he read in the broad court before the holy porch, from morning unto mid-day, before both men and women; and all the multitude gave heed unto the law. 42 And Esdras the priest, and reader of the law, stood up upon a pulpit of wood which was made for that purpose. 43 And there stood up by him Matathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezecias, Balasamus, upon the right hand. 44 And upon his left hand stood Phaldaius, Misael, Melchias, Lothasubus, and Nabarias. 45 Then took Esdras the book of the law, before the multitude: for he sat honourably in the first place in the sight of them all. 46 And when he opened the law, they stood all straight up. So Esdras blessed the Lord God most high, the God of hosts Almighty. 47 And all the people answered, Amen; and lifting up their hands, they fell to the ground, and worshipped the Lord. 48 Also Jesus, Anus, Sarabius, Adinus, Jacubus, Sabatteus, Auteas, Maianeas, and Calitas, Azarias, and Joazabdus, and Ananias, Biatas the Levites taught the law of the Lord, making them withal to understand it. 49 Then spake Attharates unto Esdras the chief priest and reader, and to the Levites that taught the multitude, even to all, saying, 50 This day is holy unto the Lord; (for they all wept when they heard the law) 51 Go then and eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send part to them that have nothing. 52 For this day is holy unto the Lord, and be not sorrowful; for the Lord will bring you to honour. 53 So the Levites published all things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sorrowful. 54 Then went they their way, every one to eat and drink, and make merry, and to give part to them that had nothing, and to make great cheer. 55 Because they understood the words wherein they were instructed, and for the which they had been assembled.

The Reformation of the Abuse of marrying strange Women, which Esdras here relates as brought about by his Means and Management, the Reader will find more exactly and clearly set forth by Ezra, Chap. ix. 10. to which we therefore refer him.

A N

An EXPOSITION of the ſecond Book of ESDRAS.

The ARGUMENT.

This Book, which is extant only in Latin, was written by one who was by Nation a Jew, and by Profeſſion a Chriſtian, a little while after the Death of Domitian the Emperor: Of whom, as alſo of his Predeceſſors in the Empire, he ſpeaks ſo plainly, that there is no Doubt to be made of it. The End (as it ſeemeth) of it was to comfort his Nation, in the laſt Deſolation which was newly befallen them by the Romans; whoſe Power fearing to provoke, as much as he feared to kindle the Jews Hatred againſt Chriſtianity, he conceals himſelf under the old and true Name of Ezra, or Eſdras. And under divers Terms and Narrations, taken from what had befallen the Jews in the taking of this City by the Babylonians, and during their antient Captivity, he endeavours to ſtrengthen his Nation in the Expectation of Deliverance and Redemption thro' Chriſt, if they turned to him and to the Faith of his Goſpel. As for the reſt, either to gain the Favour of the Jews, by framing himſelf to their Opinions; or becauſe he was indeed infected with their Fables, he mixes many of them with his grave and evangelical Sentences, Doctrines, and Predictions, many of which are taken from the Sayings and Diſcourſes of our Saviour and his Apoſtles; and indeed he affects a Reſemblance and Imitation of the Revelation of St. John. But the great Number of Fables, Vanities, and Jewiſh Dotages, of which this Book is full, have marked it out, in all Times, for Apocrypha of the loweſt Eſteem, and of no Authority.

CHAP. I.

Eſdras is commanded to reprove the People; God threatens to caſt them off, and to give their Houſes to a People of more Grace than they.

Ver. 1. THE ſecond book of the prophet Eſdras, the ſon of Saraias, the ſon of Azarias, the ſon of Helkias, the ſon of Sadamias, the ſon of Sadoc, the ſon of Achitob, 2 The ſon of Achias, the ſon of Phinees, the ſon of Eli, the ſon of Amarias, the ſon of Aziei, the ſon of Marimoth, the ſon of Arna, the ſon of Ozias, the ſon of Borith, the ſon of Abiſei, the ſon of Phinees, the ſon of Eleazar, 3 The ſon of Aaron, of the tribe of Levi, which was captive in the land of the Medes, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of the Perſians. 4 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 5 Go thy way, and ſhew my people their ſinful deeds, and their children their wickedneſs, which they have done againſt me, that they may tell their childrens children. 6 Becauſe the ſins of their fathers are increaſed in them: for they have forgotten me, and have offered unto ſtrange gods. 7 Am not I even he that brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage? but they have provoked me unto wrath, and deſpiſed my counſels. 8 Pull thou off then the hair of thy head, and caſt all evil upon them, for they have not been obedient unto my law, but it is a rebellious people. 9 How long ſhall I forbear them unto whom I have done ſo much good? 10 Many kings have I deſtroyed for their ſakes; Pharaoh with his ſervants, and all his power have I ſmitten down. 11 All the nations have I deſtroyed before them, and in the eaſt I have ſcattered the people of two provinces, even of Tyrus and Sidon, and have ſlain all their enemies. 12 Speak thou therefore unto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, 13 I led you through the ſea, and in the beginning gave you a large and ſafe paſſage; I gave you Moſes for a leader, and Aaron for a prieſt. 14 I gave you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders have I done among you, yet have you forgotten me, ſaith the Lord. 15 Thus ſaith the almighty Lord, The quails were as a token for you, I gave you tents for your ſafeguard: nevertheleſs you murmured there, 16 And triumphed not in my name for the deſtruction of your enemies, but ever to this day do ye yet murmur. 17 Where are the benefits that I have done for you? when you were hungry and thirſty in the wilderneſs, did you not cry unto me, 18 Saying, Why haſt thou brought us into this wilderneſs to kill us? it had been better for us to have ſerved the Egyptians, than to die in this wilderneſs. 19 Then had I pity upon your mournings, and gave you manna to eat; ſo ye did eat angels bread. 20 When ye were thirſty, did I not cleave the rock, and waters flowed out to your fill? for the heat, I covered you with the leaves of the trees. 21 I divided among you a fruitful land, I caſt out the Canaanites, the Pherezites, and the Philiſtines before you: what ſhall I yet do more for you? ſaith the Lord. 22 Thus ſaith the almighty Lord, When you were in the wilderneſs, in the river of the Amorites, being a-thirſt, and blaſpheming my name, 23 I gave you not fire for your blaſphemies, but caſt a tree in the water, and made the river ſweet. 24 What ſhall I do unto thee, O Jacob? thou Juda wouldeſt not obey me: I will turn me to other nations, and unto thoſe will I give my name, name, that they may keep my ſtatutes. 25 Seeing ye have forſaken me, I will forſake you alſo; when ye deſire me to be gracious unto you, I ſhall have no mercy upon you. 26 Whenſoever you ſhall call upon me, I will not hear you: for ye have defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are ſwift to commit manſlaughter. 27 Ye have not as it were forſaken me, but your own ſelves, ſaith the Lord. 28 Thus ſaith the almighty Lord, Have I not prayed you as a father his ſons, as a mother her daughters, and a nurſe her young babes; 29 That ye would be my people, and I ſhould be your God; that ye would be my children, and I ſhould be your Father? 30 I gathered you together, as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings: but now what ſhall I do unto you? I will caſt you out from my face. 31 When you offer unto me, I will turn my face from you: for your ſolemn feaſt-days, your new moons, and your circumciſions have I forſaken. 32 I ſent unto you my ſervants the prophets, whom ye have taken and ſlain, and torn their bodies in pieces, whoſe blood I will require of your hands, ſaith the Lord. 33 Thus ſaith the almighty Lord, Your houſe is deſolate, I will caſt you out as the wind doth ſtubble. 34 And your children ſhall not be fruitful, for they have deſpiſed my commandment, and done the thing that is evil before me. 35 Your houſes will I give to a people that ſhall come; which not having heard of me, yet ſhall believe me; to whom I have ſhewed no ſigns, yet they ſhall do that I have commanded them. 36 They have ſeen no prophets, yet they ſhall call their ſins to remembrance, and acknowledge them. 37 I take to witneſs the grace of the people to come, whoſe little ones rejoice in gladneſs: and though they have not ſeen me with bodily eyes, yet in ſpirit they believe the thing that I ſay. 38 And now, brother, behold what glory; and ſee the people that cometh from the eaſt: 39 Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, Oſeas, Amos, and Micheas, Joel, Abdias, and Jonas, 40 Nahum, and Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zachary, and Malachy, which is called alſo an angel of the Lord.

Eſdras, in order to convince them of the Heinouſneſs of their Crimes, and their ungrateful Behaviour towards God, reminds them of the numberleſs Benefits which their Anceſtors had received at his Hand; and from ſuch Arguments urges them to repent of their evil Doings, and in Caſe of their Refuſal, threatens them with utter Deſtruction.

Amongſt other Acts of divine Goodneſs which Eſdras recites, he ſays, Ver. 30. I have gathered you together, as a Hen gathereth her Chickens under her Wings; a Saying of our bleſſed Saviour, Matt. xxiii. 37. which ſhews that our Author had read the Goſpels. The latter Part of Ver. 37. is another Proof of the ſame Thing, and is apparently taken from the Anſwer of Chriſt to the incredulous Apoſtle Thomas, John xx. 29. Bleſſed are they that have not ſeen, and yet have believed.

CHAP. II.

God complains of his People, but comforts them with Promiſes of glorious Things. Upon Iſrael's Obſtinacy, the Gentiles are called. Eſdras ſees the Son of God, and thoſe that are crowned by him.

Ver. 1. THUS ſaith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, and I gave them my commandments by my ſervants the prophets; whom they would not hear, but deſpiſed my counſels. 2 The mother that bare them, ſaith unto them, Go your way, ye children, for I am a widow, and forſaken. 3 I brought you up with gladneſs, but with ſorrow and heavineſs have I loſt you: for ye have ſinned before the Lord your God, and done that thing that is evil before him. 4 But what ſhall I now do unto you? I am a widow and forſaken: go your way, O my children, and aſk mercy of the Lord. 5 As for me, O Father, I call upon thee for a witneſs over the mother of theſe children which would not keep my covenant, 6 That thou bring them to confuſion, and their mother to a ſpoil, that there may be no offſpring of them. 7 Let them be ſcattered abroad among the heathen, let their names be put out of the earth: for they have deſpiſed my covenant. 8 Wo be unto thee, Aſſur, thou that hideſt the unrighteous in thee; O thou wicked people, remember what I did unto Sodom and Gomorrha; 9 Whoſe land lieth in clods of pitch and heaps of aſhes: even ſo alſo will I do unto them that hear me not, ſaith the almighty Lord. 10 Thus ſaith the Lord unto Eſdras, Tell my people, that I will give them the kingdom of Jeruſalem, which I would have given unto Iſrael, 11 Their glory alſo will I take unto me, and give theſe the everlaſting tabernacles which I had prepared for them. 12 They ſhall have the tree of life for an ointment of ſweet ſavour, they ſhall neither labour nor be weary. 13 Go, and ye ſhall receive: pray for few days unto you, that they may be ſhortned: the kingdom is already prepared for you: watch. 14 Take heaven and earth to witneſs; for I have broken the evil in pieces, and created the good: for I live, ſaith the Lord. 15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them up with gladneſs, make their feet as faſt as a pillar: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the Lord. 16 And thoſe that be dead will I raiſe up again from their places, and bring them out of the graves: for I have known my name in Iſrael. 17 Fear not, thou mother of the children: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the Lord. 18 For thy help will I ſend my ſervants Eſay and Jeremie, after whoſe counſel I have ſanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with divers fruits, 19 And as many fountains flowing with milk and honey, and ſeven mighty mountains whereupon there grow roſes, and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with joy. 20 Do right to the widow, judge for the fatherleſs, give to the poor, defend the orphan, clothe the naked, 21 Heal the broken and the weak, laugh not a lame man to ſcorn, defend the maimed, and let the blind man come into the ſight of my clearneſs. 22 Keep the old and young within thy walls. 23 Whereſoever thou findeſt the dead, take them and bury them, and I will give thee the firſt place in my reſurrection. 24 Abide ſtill, O my people, and take thy reſt, for thy quietneſs ſhall come. 25 Nouriſh thy children, O thou good nurſe; ſtabliſh their feet. 26 As for the ſervants whom I have given thee, there ſhall not one of them periſh; for I will require them from among thy number. 27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heavineſs cometh, others ſhall weep and be ſorrowful, but thou ſhalt be merry and have abundance. 28 The heathen ſhall envy thee, but they ſhall be able to do nothing againſt thee, ſaith the Lord. 29 My hands ſhall cover thee, ſo that thy children ſhall not ſee hell. 30 Be joyful, O thou mother with thy children; for I will deliver thee, ſaith the Lord. 31 Remember thy children that ſleep, for I ſhall bring them out of the ſides of the earth, and ſhew mercy unto them, for I am merciful, ſaith the Lord Almighty. 32 Embrace thy children until I come and ſhew mercy unto them: for my wells run over, and my grace ſhall not fail. 33 I Eſdras received a charge of the Lord upon the mount Oreb, that I ſhould go unto Iſrael; but when I came unto them, they ſet me at nought, and deſpiſed the commandment of the Lord. 34 And therefore I ſay unto you, O ye heathen, that hear and underſtand, Look for your Shepherd, he ſhall give you everlaſting reſt; for he is nigh at hand that ſhall come in the end of the world. 35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdom, for the everlaſting light ſhall ſhine upon you for evermore. 36 Flee the ſhadow of this world, receive the joyfulneſs of your glory: I teſtify my Saviour openly. 37 O receive the gift that is given you, and be glad, giving thanks unto him that hath called you to the heavenly kingdom. 38 Ariſe up and ſtand, behold the number of thoſe that be ſealed in the feaſt of the Lord. 39 Which are departed from the ſhadow of the world, and have received glorious garments of the Lord. 40 Take thy number, O Sion, and ſhut up thoſe of thine that are cloathed in white, which have fulfilled the law of the Lord. 41 The number of thy children, whom thou longedſt for, is fulfilled: beſeech the power of the Lord, that thy people which have been called from the beginning, may be hallowed. 42 I Eſdras ſaw upon the mount Sion a great people, whom I could not number, and they all praiſed the Lord with ſongs. 43 And in the midſt of them there was a young man of a high ſtature, taller than all the reſt, and upon every one of their heads he ſet crowns, and was more exalted; which I marvelled at greatly. 44 So I aſked the angel, and ſaid, Sir, what are theſe? 45 He anſwered and ſaid unto me, Theſe be they that have put off the mortal cloathing, and put on the immortal, and have confeſſed the name of God: now are they crowned, and receive palms. 46 Then ſaid I unto the angel, What young perſon is it that crowneth them, and giveth them palms in their hands? 47 So he anſwered, and ſaid unto me, It is the Son of God, whom they have confeſſed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them that ſtood ſo ſtifly for the name of the Lord. 48 Then the angel ſaid unto me, Go thy way, and tell my people what manner of things, and how great wonders of the Lord thy God thou haſt ſeen.

The Doctrine of the Reſurrection was very little underſtood under the Moſaic Diſpenſation, but is one of the Fundamentals of the Chriſtian Religion. In this Chapter we have ſeveral plain Intimations that Eſdras was perſuaded of this great Truth; ſee Ver. 16, 23, 31. which he could find no where ſo well explained as in the Hiſtory of our bleſſed Saviour.

The Exhortations given to the Heathen in the 33d, and following Verſes, evidently refer to the Times of the Goſpel.

Eſdras, Ver. 42, to the End, relates a Viſion, wherein he had a View of the glorified Church, and of the Son of God; which bears ſo near a Reſemblance to that which St. John had, Rev. ix. that we muſt conclude it was copied from it.

CHAP. III.

Eſdras is troubled for the Afflictions of Iſrael; yet complains, that the Heathen, who were Lords over them, were more wicked than they.

Ver. 1. IN the thirtieth year, after the ruin of the city, I was in Babylon, and lay troubled upon my bed, and my thoughts came up over my heart. 2 For I ſaw the deſolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon. 3 And my ſpirit was ſore moved, ſo that I began to ſpeak words full of fear, to the moſt High, and ſaid, 4 O Lord, who beareſt rule, thou ſpakeſt at the beginning, when thou didſt plant the earth, (and that thyſelf alone,) and commandedſt the people, 5 And gaveſt a body unto Adam, without ſoul, which was the workmanſhip of thine hands, and didſt breathe into him the breath of life, and he was made living before thee. 6 And thou leddeſt him into paradiſe, which thy right hand had planted, before ever the earth came forward. 7 And unto him thou gaveſt commandment to love thy way: which he tranſgreſſed, and immediately thou appointedſt death in him, and in his generations, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds out of number. 8 And every people walked after their own will, and did wonderful things before thee, and deſpiſed thy commandments. 9 And again in proceſs of time thou broughteſt the flood upon thoſe that dwelt in the world, and deſtroyedſt them. 10 And it came to paſs in every of them, that as death was to Adam, ſo was the flood to theſe. 11 Nevertheleſs, one of them thou lefteſt, namely, Noah with his houſhold, of whom came all righteous men. 12 And it happened, that when they that dwelt upon the earth, began to multiply, and had gotten them many children, and were a great people, they began again to be more ungodly than the firſt. 13 Now when they lived ſo wickedly before thee, thou didſt chooſe thee a man from among them, whoſe name was Abraham. 14 Him thou lovedſt, and unto him only thou ſhewedſt thy will: 15 And madeſt an everlaſting covenant with him, promiſing him that thou wouldeſt never forſake his ſeed. 16 And unto him thou gaveſt Iſaac, and unto Iſaac alſo thou gaveſt Jacob and Eſau. As for Jacob, thou didſt chooſe him to thee, and put by Eſau: and ſo Jacob became a great multitude. 17 And it came to paſs, that when thou leddeſt his ſeed out of Egypt, thou broughteſt them up to the mount Sina. 18 And bowing the heavens, thou didſt ſet faſt the earth, movedſt the whole world, and madeſt the depths to tremble, and troubledſt the men of that age. 19 And thy glory went through four gates, of fire, and of earthquake, and of wind, and of cold; that thou mighteſt give the law unto the ſeed of Jacob, and diligence unto the generation of Iſra-

20 And yet tookeſt thou not away from them a wicked heart, that thy law might bring forth fruit in them. 21 For the firſt Adam bearing a wicked heart, tranſgreſſed, and was overcome; and ſo be all they that are born of him. 22 Thus infirmity was made permanent: and the law (alſo) in the heart of the people, with the malignity of the root; ſo that the good departed away, and the evil abode ſtill. 23 So the times paſſed away, and the years were brought to an end: then didſt thou raiſe thee up a ſervant called David: 24 Whom thou commandedſt to build a city unto thy name, and to offer incenſe and oblations unto thee therein. 25 When this was done many years, then they that inhabited the city forſook thee, 26 And in all things did even as Adam and all his generations had done: for they alſo had a wicked heart. 27 And ſo thou gaveſt thy city over into the hands of thine enemies. 28 Are their deeds then any better that inhabit Babylon, that they ſhould therefore have the dominion over Sion? 29 For when I came thither, and had ſeen impieties without number, then my ſoul ſaw many evil-doers in this thirtieth year, ſo that my heart failed me. 30 For I have ſeen how thou ſuffereſt them ſinning, and haſt ſpared wicked doers: and haſt deſtroyed thy people, and haſt preſerved thine enemies, and haſt not ſignified it. 31 I do not remember how this way may be left: Are they then of Babylon better than they of Sion? 32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee beſides Iſrael? or what generation hath ſo believed thy covenants as Jacob? 33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I have gone here and there through the heathen, and I ſee that they flow in wealth, and think not upon thy commandments. 34 Weigh thou therefore our wickedneſs now in the balance, and theirs alſo that dwell in the world; and ſo ſhall thy name no where be found but in Iſrael. 35 Or when was it that they which dwell upon the earth have not ſinned in thy ſight? or what people hath ſo kept thy commandments? 36 Thou ſhalt find that Iſrael by name hath kept thy precepts; but not the heathen.

Eſdras, after reciting the peculiar Favours by which God had formerly diſtinguiſhed Iſrael from all the reſt of Mankind; ſeems at a Loſs to account for his preſent dealing with them in a more ſevere Manner than he dealt even with the Heathen, whoſe Sins, tho' they were much more daring and enormous, yet had they a greater Share of worldly Happineſs and Proſperity than even his own People Iſrael enjoyed: Not conſidering, that the greater Degrees of Knowledge which Iſrael had attained of the Divine Being, his Will and Law, the ſtricter ſhould have been their Conformity thereto; inſtead of which, they were guilty of all manner of Impieties, even Idolatry itſelf, and therefore were juſtly puniſhed by thoſe heavy Judgments which God brought upon them: Whereas the Heathen, not being favoured with any Revelation of the Divine Will, had nothing for their Guide but the Light of Nature, which is too often extinguiſhed, even in Perſons who profeſs the pureſt Religion that ever was revealed from Heaven, by the Predominance of unruly Paſſions and ungoverned Appetites; how much more, may we ſuppoſe, did the Heathen, who had no Opportunities of a better Information, give themſelves up to the Enjoyment of their Luſts without Limit or Reſtraint?

CHAP. IV.

The Angel convinces Eſdras of his Ignorance in God's Judgments.

Ver. 1. AND the angel that was ſent unto me, whoſe name was Uriel, gave me an anſwer, 2 And ſaid, Thy heart hath gone too far in this world, and thinkeſt thou to comprehend the way of the moſt High? 3 Then ſaid I, Yea, my lord: and he anſwered me, and ſaid, I am ſent to ſhew thee three ways, and to ſet forth three ſimilitudes before thee: 4 Whereof if thou canſt declare me one, I will ſhew thee alſo the way that thou deſireſt to ſee, and I ſhall ſhew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh. 5 And I ſaid, Tell on, my lord. Then ſaid he unto me, Go thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or meaſure me the blaſt of the wind, or call me again the day that is paſt. 6 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, What man is able to do that, that thou ſhouldeſt aſk ſuch things of me? 7 And he ſaid unto me, If I ſhould aſk thee how great dwellings are in the midſt of the ſea, or how many ſprings are in the beginning of the deep, or how many ſprings are above the firmament, or which are the out goings of paradiſe: 8 Peradventure thou wouldeſt ſay unto me, I never went down into the deep, nor as yet into hell, neither did I ever climb up into heaven. 9 Nevertheleſs, now have I aſked thee but only of the fire and wind, and of the day wherethrough thou haſt paſſed, and of things from which thou canſt not be ſeparated, and yet canſt thou give me no anſwer of them. 10 He ſaid moreover unto me, Thine own things, and ſuch as are grown up with thee, canſt thou not know; 11 How ſhould thy veſſel then be able to comprehend the way of the Higheſt, and the world being now outwardly corrupted, to underſtand the corruption that is evident in my ſight? 12 Then ſaid I unto him, It were better that we were not at all, than that we ſhould ſtill live in wickedneſs, and to ſuffer, and not to know wherefore. 13 He anſwered me and ſaid, I went into a foreſt into a plain, and the trees took counſel, 14 And ſaid, Come, let us go and make war againſt the ſea, that it may depart away before us, and that we may make us more woods. 15 The floods of the ſea alſo in like manner took counſel, and ſaid, Come, let us go up and ſubdue the woods of the plain, that there alſo we may make us another country. 16 The thought of the wood was in vain, for the fire came and conſumed it. 17 The thought of the floods of the ſea came likewiſe to nought, for the ſand ſtood up and ſtopped them. 18 If thou wert judge now betwixt theſe two, whom wouldeſt thou begin to juſtify? or whom wouldeſt thou condemn? 19 I anſwered and ſaid, Verily it is a fooliſh thought that they have both deviſed, for the ground is given unto the wood, and the ſea alſo hath his place to bear his floods. 20 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, Thou haſt given a right judgment, but why judgeſt thou not thy ſelf alſo? 21 For like as the ground is given unto the wood, and the ſea to his floods: even ſo they that dwell upon the earth may underſtand nothing, but that which is upon the earth: and he that dwelleth above the heavens, may only underſtand the things that are above the height of the heavens. 22 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, I beſeech thee, O Lord, let me have underſtanding. 23 For it was not my mind to be curious of the high things, but of ſuch as paſs by us daily, namely, wherefore Iſrael is given up as a reproach to the heathen, and for what cauſe the people whom thou haſt loved, is given over unto ungodly nations, and why the law of our forefathers is brought to nought, and the written covenants come to none effect, 24 And we paſs away out of the world as graſhoppers, and our life is aſtoniſhment and fear, and we are not worthy to obtain mercy. 25 What will he then do unto his name, whereby we are called? of theſe things have I aſked. 26 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, The more thou ſearcheſt, the more thou ſhalt marvel, for the world haſteth faſt to paſs away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promiſed to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of unrighteouſneſs and infirmities. 28 But as concerning the things whereof thou aſkeſt me, I will tell thee; for the evil is ſown, but the deſtruction thereof is not yet come. 29 If therefore that which is ſown be not turned upſide down, and if the place where the evil is ſown paſs not away, then cannot it come that is ſown with good. 30 For the grain of evil ſeed hath been ſown in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much ungodlineſs hath it brought up unto this time? and how much ſhall it yet bring forth until the time of threſhing come? 31 Ponder now by thyſelf, how great fruit of wickedneſs the grain of evil ſeed hath brought forth. 32 And when the ears ſhall be cut down which are without number, how great a floor ſhall they fill? 33 Then I anſwered, and ſaid, How, and when ſhall theſe things come to paſs? wherefore are our years few and evil? 34 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Do not thou haſten above the moſt Higheſt: for thy haſte is in vain to be above him, for thou haſt much exceeded. 35 Did not the ſouls alſo of the righteous aſk queſtion of theſe things in their chambers, ſaying, How long ſhall I hope on this faſhion? when cometh the fruit of the floor of our reward? 36 And unto theſe things Uriel the archangel gave them anſwer, and ſaid, Even when the number of ſeeds is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance. 37 By meaſure hath he meaſured the times, and by number hath he numbred the times; and he doth not move, nor ſtir them, until the ſaid meaſure be fulfilled. 38 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, even we all are full of impiety. 39 And for our ſakes peradventure it is that the floors of the righteous are not filled, becauſe of the ſins of them that dwell upon the earth. 40 So he anſwered me and ſaid, Go thy way to a woman with child, and aſk of her when ſhe hath fulfilled her nine months, if her womb may keep the birth any longer within her. 41 Then ſaid I, No, Lord, that can ſhe not. And he ſaid unto me, In the grave, the chambers of ſouls are like the womb of a woman: 42 For like as a woman that travaileth maketh haſte to eſcape the neceſſity of the travail: even ſo do theſe places haſte to deliver thoſe things that are committed unto them. 43 From the beginning look what thou deſireſt to ſee, it ſhall be ſhewed thee. 44 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, If I have found favour in thy ſight, and if it be poſſible, and if I be meet therefore, 45 Shew me then whether there be more to come than is paſt, or more paſt than is to come. 46 What is paſt I know, but what is for to come I know not. 47 And he ſaid unto me, Stand up upon the right ſide, and I ſhall expound the ſimilitude unto thee. 48 So I ſtood and ſaw, and behold, an hot burning oven paſſed by before me: and it happened, that when the ſmoak was gone by, I looked, and behold the flame remained ſtill. 49 After this, there paſſed by before me, a watry cloud, and ſent down much rain with a ſtorm, and when the ſtormy rain was paſt, the drops remained ſtill. 50 Then ſaid he unto me, Conſider with thyſelf; as the rain is more than the drops, and as the fire is greater than the ſmoak: but the drops and the ſmoak remain behind: ſo the quantity which is paſt, did more exceed. 51 Then I prayed, and ſaid, May I live, thinkeſt thou, until that time? or what ſhall happen in thoſe days? 52 He anſwered me, and ſaid, As for the tokens whereof thou aſkeſt me, I may tell thee of them in part: but as touching thy life, I am not ſent to ſhew thee, for I do not know it.

In this Chapter the Angel Uriel is introduced as anſwering the Doubts which Eſdras in the foregoing, had raiſed concerning the harſh Proceedings of Providence with the People of Iſrael; which he does by ſhewing him, in ſeveral Similitudes, how impoſſible it is for him to comprehend the Ways of God.

The latter Part of the Chapter conſiſts of ſuch fabulous and unintelligible Stuff that it would be miſpending my own and the Reader's Time to attempt to explain or expound it.

CHAP. V.

A Continuation of the ſame Subject.

Ver. 1. NEvertheleſs, as concerning the tokens, behold, the days ſhall come, that they which dwell upon earth, ſhall be taken in a great number, and the way of truth ſhall be hidden, and the land ſhall be barren of faith. 2 But iniquity ſhall be increaſed above that which now thou ſeeſt, or that thou haſt heard long ago. 3 And the land that thou ſeeſt now to have rule, ſhalt thou ſee waſted ſuddenly. 4 But if the moſt High grant thee to live, thou ſhalt ſee after the third trumpet, that the ſun ſhall ſuddenly ſhine again in the night, and the moon thrice in the day. 5 And blood ſhall drop out of the wood, and the ſtone ſhall give his voice, and the people ſhall be troubled. 6 And even he ſhall rule, whom they look not for, that dwell upon the earth, and the fowls ſhall take their flight away together. 7 And the Sodomitiſh ſea ſhall caſt out fiſh, and make a noiſe in the night, which many have not known: but they ſhall all hear the voice thereof. 8 There ſhall be a confuſion alſo in many places, and the fire ſhall be oft ſent out again, and the wild beaſts ſhall change their places, and menſtruous women ſhall bring forth monſters. 9 And ſalt waters ſhall be found in the ſweet, and all friends ſhall deſtroy one another; then ſhall wit hide it ſelf, and underſtanding withdraw it ſelf into his ſecret chamber, 10 And

10 And ſhall be ſought of many, and yet not be found: then ſhall unrighteouſneſs and incontinency be multiplied upon earth. 11 One land alſo ſhall aſk another, and ſay, Is righteouſneſs that maketh a man righteous gone through thee? And it ſhall ſay, No. 12 At the ſame time ſhall men hope, but nothing obtain: they ſhall labour, but their ways ſhall not proſper. 13 To ſhew thee ſuch tokens I have leave; and if thou wilt pray again, and weep as now, and faſt ſeven days, thou ſhalt hear yet greater things. 14 Then I awaked, and an extream fearfulneſs went through all my body, and my mind was troubled, ſo that it fainted. 15 So the angel that was come to talk with me, held me, comforted me, and ſet me up upon my feet. 16 And in the ſecond night it came to paſs, that Salathiel the captain of the people came unto me, ſaying, Where haſt thou been? and why is thy countenance ſo heavy? 17 Knoweſt thou not that Iſrael is committed unto thee in the land of their captivity? 18 Up then, and eat bread, and forſake us not, as the ſhepherd that leaveth his flock in the hands of cruel wolves. 19 Then ſaid I unto him, Go thy ways from me, and come not nigh me: And he heard what I ſaid, and went from me. 20 And ſo I faſted ſeven days, mourning and weeping, like as Uriel the angel commanded me. 21 And after ſeven days, ſo it was that the thoughts of my heart were very grievous unto me again. 22 And my ſoul recovered the ſpirit of underſtanding, and I began to talk with the moſt High again, 23 And ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, of every wood of the earth, and of all the trees thereof, thou haſt choſen thee one only vine: 24 And of all lands of the whole world thou haſt choſen thee one pit, and of all the flowers thereof, one lily: 25 And of all the depths of the ſea thou haſt filled thee one river: and of all builded cities, thou haſt hallowed Sion unto thyſelf: 26 And of all the fowls that are created, thou haſt named thee one dove: and of all the cattel that are made, thou haſt provided thee one ſheep: 27 And among all the multitude of peoples, thou haſt gotten thee one people: and unto this people whom thou lovedſt, thou gaveſt a law that is approved of all. 28 And now, O Lord, why haſt thou given this one people over unto many? and upon the one root haſt thou prepared others, and why haſt thou ſcattered thy only one people among many? 29 And they which did gainſay thy promiſes, and believed not thy covenants, have troden them down. 30 If thou didſt ſo much hate thy people, yet ſhouldeſt thou puniſh them with thine own hands. 31 Now when I had ſpoken theſe words, the angel that came to me the night afore, was ſent unto me, 32 And ſaid unto me, Hear me, and I will inſtruct thee; hearken to the thing that I ſay, and I ſhall tell thee more. 33 And I ſaid, Speak on my Lord: Then ſaid he unto me, Thou art ſore troubled in mind for Iſraels ſake: loveſt thou that people better than he that made them? 34 And I ſaid, No, Lord, but of very grief have I ſpoken: for my reins pain me every hour, while I labour to comprehend the way of the moſt High, and to ſeek out part of his judgment. 35 And he ſaid unto me, Thou canſt not: and I ſaid, Wherefore Lord? wherefore was I born then? or why was not my mothers womb then my grave, that I might not have ſeen the travel of Jacob, and the weariſom toil of the ſtock of Iſrael? 36 And he ſaid unto me, Number me the things that are not yet come, gather me together the drops that are ſcattered abroad, make me the flowers green again that are withered, 37 Open me the places that are cloſed, and bring me forth the winds that in them are ſhut up, ſhew me the image of a voice: and then I will declare to thee the thing that thou laboureſt to know. 38 And I ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, who may know theſe things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men? 39 As for me, I am unwiſe: how may I then ſpeak of theſe things whereof thou aſkeſt me? 40 Then ſaid he unto me, Like as thou canſt do none of theſe things that I have ſpoken of, even ſo canſt thou not find out my judgment, or in the end the love that I have promiſed unto my people. 41 And I ſaid, Behold, O Lord, yet art thou nigh unto them that be reſerved till the end: and what ſhall they do that have been before me, or we (that be now) or they that ſhall come after us? 42 And he ſaid unto me, I will liken my judgment unto a ring: like as there is no ſlackneſs of the laſt, even ſo there is no ſwiftneſs of the firſt. 43 So I anſwered, and ſaid, Couldeſt thou not make thoſe that have been made, and be now, and that are for to come, at once; that thou mighteſt ſhew thy judgment the ſooner? 44 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, The creature may not haſte above the maker, neither may the world hold them at once that ſhall be created therein. 45 And I ſaid, As thou haſt ſaid unto thy ſervant, that thou which giveſt life to all, haſt given life at once to the creature that thou haſt created, and the creature bare it: even ſo it might now alſo bear them that now be preſent at once. 46 And he ſaid unto me, Aſk the womb of a woman, and ſay unto her, If thou bringeſt forth children, why doſt thou it not together, but one after another? pray her therefore to bring forth ten children at once. 47 And I ſaid, She cannot: but muſt do it by diſtance of time. 48 Then ſaid he unto me, Even ſo have I given the womb of the earth to thoſe that be ſown in it, in their times. 49 For like as a young child may not bring forth the things that belong to the aged, even ſo have I diſpoſed the world which I created. 50 And I aſked, and ſaid, Seeing thou haſt now given me the way, I will proceed to ſpeak before thee: for our mother, of whom thou haſt told me that ſhe is young, draweth now nigh unto age. 51 He anſwered me, and ſaid, Aſk a woman that beareth children, and ſhe ſhall tell thee. 52 Say unto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou haſt now brought forth, like thoſe that were before, but leſs of ſtature? 53 And ſhe ſhall anſwer thee, They that be born in the ſtrength of youth, are of one faſhion, and they that are born in the time of age, (when the womb faileth) are otherwiſe. 54 Conſider thou therefore alſo, how that ye are leſs of ſtature than thoſe that were before you. 55 And ſo are they that come after you, leſs than ye, as the creatures which now begin to be old, and have paſſed over the ſtrength of youth. 56 Then

Then ſaid I, Lord, I beſeech thee, if I have found favour in thy ſight, ſhew thy ſervant by whom thou viſiteſt thy creature.

Eſdras, in deſcribing the Tokens mentioned in the firſt and twelve following Verſes, had certainly an Eye to that Paſſage in St. Matthew, Ch. xxiv. 12, &c. where our Saviour declares the Signs of the Coming of the Son of Man to judge the Jews, and the World at the laſt Day; but has diſguiſed our Saviour's aweful and ſolemn Declaration with ſuch abſurd and ridiculous Notions of his own, that we juſtly regard his whole Diſcourſe as merely apocryphal. The other Parts of this Chapter are wrote much in the ſame Strain, and to be ranked in the ſame Claſs.

CHAP. VI.

God's Omnipotence. The next World ſhall immediately ſucceed this. The Signs of the latter Times. The Works of Creation enumerated, but God's People denied the Enjoyment of them.

Ver. 1. AND he ſaid unto me, In the beginning, when the earth was made, before the borders of the world ſtood, or ever the winds blew, 2 Before it thundered and lightened, or ever the foundations of paradiſe were laid, 3 Before the fair flowers were ſeen, or ever the moveable powers were eſtabliſhed, before the innumerable multitude of angels were gathered together, 4 Or ever the heights of the air were lifted up, before the meaſures of the firmament were named, or ever the chimneys in Sion were hot, 5 And ere the preſent years were ſought out, and or ever the inventions of them that now ſin, were turned, before they were ſealed that have gathered faith for a treaſure: 6 Then did I conſider theſe things, and they all were made through me alone, and through none other: by me alſo they ſhall be ended, and by none other. 7 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, What ſhall be the parting aſunder of the times? or when ſhall be the end of the firſt, and the beginning of it that followeth? 8 And he ſaid unto me, From Abraham unto Iſaac, when Jacob and Eſau were born of him, Jacobs hand held firſt the heel of Eſau. 9 For Eſau is the end of the world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth. 10 The hand of man is betwixt the heel and the hand: other queſtion, Eſdras, aſk thou not. 11 I anſwered then, and ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, if I have found favour in thy ſight, 12 I beſeech thee, ſhew thy ſervant the end of thy tokens, whereof thou ſhewedſt me part the laſt night. 13 So he anſwered, and ſaid unto me, Stand up upon thy feet, and hear a mighty ſounding voice. 14 And it ſhall be as it were a great motion, but the place where thou ſtandeſt ſhall not be moved. 15 And therefore when it ſpeaketh, be not afraid: for the word is of the end, and the foundation of the earth is underſtood. 16 And why? becauſe the ſpeech of theſe things trembleth and is moved: for it knoweth that the end of theſe things muſt be changed. 17 And it happened that when I had heard it, I ſtood up upon my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voice that ſpake, and the ſound of it was like the ſound of many waters. 18 And it ſaid, Behold, the days come, that I will begin to draw nigh, and to viſit them that dwell upon the earth, 19 And will begin to make inquiſition of them what they be that have hurt unjuſtly with their unrighteouſneſs, and when the affliction of Sion ſhall be fulfilled. 20 And when the world that ſhall begin to vaniſh away, ſhall be finiſhed, then will I ſhew theſe tokens: the book ſhall be opened before the firmament, and they ſhall ſee altogether. 21 And the children of a year old ſhall ſpeak with their voices, the women with child ſhall bring forth untimely children of three or four months old, and they ſhall live and be raiſed up. 22 And ſuddenly ſhall the ſown places appear unſown, the full ſtore-houſes ſhall ſuddenly be found empty. 23 And the trumpet ſhall give a ſound, which when every man heareth, they ſhall be ſuddenly afraid. 24 At that time ſhall friends fight one againſt another like enemies, and the earth ſhall ſtand in fear with thoſe that dwell therein, the ſprings of the fountains ſhall ſtand ſtill, and in three hours they ſhall not run. 25 Whoſoever remaineth from all theſe that I have told thee, ſhall eſcape, and ſee my ſalvation, and the end of your world. 26 And the men that are received ſhall ſee it, who have not taſted death from their birth: and the heart of the inhabitants ſhall be changed, and turned into another meaning. 27 For evil ſhall be put out, and deceit ſhall be quenched. 28 As for faith, it ſhall flouriſh, corruption ſhall be overcome, and the truth which hath been ſo long without fruit, ſhall be declared. 29 And when he talked with me, behold, I looked by little and little upon him before whom I ſtood. 30 And theſe words ſaid he unto me, I am come to ſhew thee the time of the night to come. 31 If thou wilt pray yet more, and faſt ſeven days again, I ſhall tell thee greater things by day, than I have heard. 32 For thy voice is heard before the moſt High: for the Mighty hath ſeen thy righteous dealing, he hath ſeen alſo thy chaſtity, which thou haſt had ever ſince thy youth. 33 And therefore hath he ſent me to ſhew thee all theſe things, and to ſay unto thee, Be of good comfort and fear not. 34 And haſten not with the times that are paſt, to think vain things, that thou mayeſt not haſten from the latter times. 35 And it came to paſs after this, that I wept again, and faſted ſeven days in like manner, that I might fulfil the three weeks, which he told me. 36 And in the eighth night was my heart vexed within me again, and I began to ſpeak before the moſt High. 37 For my ſpirit was greatly ſet on fire, and my ſoul was in diſtreſs. 38 And I ſaid, O Lord, thou ſpakeſt from the beginning of the creation, even the firſt day, and ſaideſt thus, Let heaven and earth be made; and thy word was a perfect work. 39 And then was the ſpirit, and darkneſſes, and ſilence were on every ſide; the ſound of mans voice was not yet formed. 40 Then commandedſt thou a fair light to come forth of thy treaſures, that thy work might appear. 41 Upon the ſecond day thou madeſt the ſpirit of the firmament, and commandedſt it to part aſunder, and to make a diviſion betwixt the waters, that the one part might go up, and the other remain beneath. 42 Upon the third day thou didſt command that the waters ſhould be gathered in the ſeventh part of the earth: ſix parts haſt thou dried up and kept them, to the intent that of theſe ſome being being planted of God, and tilled, might ſerve thee: 43 For as ſoon as thy word went forth, the work was made. 44 For immediately there was great and innumerable fruit, and many and divers pleaſures for the taſte, and flowers of unchangeable colour, and odours of wonderful ſmell: and this was done the third day. 45 Upon the fourth day thou commandedſt that the ſun ſhould ſhine, and the moon give her light, and the ſtars ſhould be in order: 46 And gaveſt them a charge to do ſervice unto man that was to be made. 47 Upon the fifth day thou ſaidſt unto the ſeventh part, where the waters were gathered, that it ſhould bring forth living creatures, fowls and fiſhes: and ſo it came to paſs. 48 For the dumb water, and without life, brought forth living things at the commandment of God, that all people might praiſe thy wondrous works. 49 Then didſt thou ordain two living creatures, the one thou calledſt Enoch and the other Leviathan; 50 And didſt ſeparate the one from the other: for the ſeventh part (namely where the water was gathered together) might not hold them both. 51 Unto Enoch thou gaveſt one part, which was dried up the third day, that he ſhould dwell in the ſame part, wherein are a thouſand hills. 52 But unto Leviathan thou gaveſt the ſeventh part, namely the moiſt, and haſt kept him to be devoured of whom thou wilt, and when. 53 Upon the ſixth day thou gaveſt commandment unto the earth, that before thee it ſhould bring forth beaſts, cattel, and creeping things: 54 And after theſe, Adam alſo, whom thou madeſt lord of all thy creatures: of him come we all, and the people alſo whom thou haſt choſen. 55 All this have I ſpoken before thee, O Lord, becauſe thou madeſt the world for our ſakes. 56 As for the other people, which alſo come of Adam, thou haſt ſaid that they are nothing, but be like unto ſpittle, and haſt likened the abundance of them unto a drop that falleth from a veſſel. 57 And now, O Lord, behold, theſe heathen, which have ever been reputed as nothing, have begun to be lords over us, and to devour us. 58 But we thy people (whom thou haſt called thy firſt-born, thy only begotten, and thy fervent lover) are given into their hands. 59 If the world now be made for our ſakes, why do we not poſſeſs an inheritance with the world? how long ſhall this endure?

In this Chapter, Ver. 20, &c. Eſdras produces ſome more Tokens of the laſt Times, in which he manifeſtly imitates the Predictions of our Saviour; and Ver. 25, &c. gives ſtrong Intimations of the glorious State of the Church upon Earth, after the End of this World, as was foretold by St. John, Rev. xx.

The Way of Life is narrow. Chriſt foretold. God did not make Paradiſe in vain.

1 AND when I had made an end of ſpeaking theſe words, there was ſent unto me the angel which had been ſent unto me the nights afore. 2 And he ſaid unto me, Up Eſdras, and hear the words that I am come to tell thee. 3 And I ſaid, Speak on, my God. Then ſaid he unto me, The ſea is ſet in a wide place, that it might be deep and great. 4 But put the caſe the entrance were narrow, and like a river, 5 Who then could go into the ſea to look upon it, and to rule it? if he went not through the narrow, how could he come into the broad? 6 There is alſo another thing. A city is builded and ſet upon a broad field, and is full of all good things: 7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and is ſet in a dangerous place to fall, like as if there were a fire on the right hand, and on the left a deep water: 8 And one only path between them both, even between the fire and the water, ſo ſmall that there could but one man go there at once. 9 If this city now were given unto a man for an inheritance, if he never ſhall paſs the danger ſet before it, how ſhall he receive this inheritance? 10 And I ſaid, It is ſo, Lord. Then ſaid he unto me, Even ſo alſo is Iſraels portion. 11 Becauſe for their ſakes I made the world: and when Adam tranſgreſſed my ſtatutes, then was decreed that now is done. 12 Then were the entrances of this world made narrow, full of ſorrow and travel: they are but few and evil, full of perils, and very painful. 13 For the entrances of the elder world were wide and ſure, and brought immortal fruit. 14 If then they that live, labour not to enter theſe ſtrait and vain things, they can never receive thoſe that are laid up for them. 15 Now therefore, why diſquieteſt thou thyſelf, ſeeing thou art but a corruptible man? and why art thou moved, whereas thou art but mortal? 16 Why haſt thou not conſidered in thy mind this thing that is to come, rather than that which is preſent? 17 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, O Lord, that beareſt rule, thou haſt ordained in thy law, that the righteous ſhould inherit theſe things, but that the ungodly ſhould periſh. 18 Nevertheleſs, the righteous ſhall ſuffer ſtrait things, and hope for wide: for they that have done wickedly, have ſuffered the ſtrait things, and yet ſhall not ſee the wide. 19 And he ſaid unto me, There is no judge above God, and none that hath underſtanding above the Higheſt. 20 For there be many that periſh in this life, becauſe they deſpiſe the law of God that is ſet before them. 21 For God hath given ſtrait commandment to ſuch as came, what they ſhould do to live, even as they came, and what they ſhould obſerve to avoid puniſhment. 22 Nevertheleſs, they were not obedient unto him; but ſpake againſt him, and imagined vain things, 23 And deceived themſelves by their wicked deeds, and ſaid of the moſt High, that he is not, and knew not his ways: 24 But his law have they deſpiſed, and denied his covenants; in his ſtatutes have they not been faithful, and have not performed his works. 25 And therefore, Eſdras, for the empty are empty things, and for the full are the full things. 26 Behold, the time ſhall come, that theſe tokens which I have told thee, ſhall come to paſs, and the bride ſhall appear, and ſhe coming forth, ſhall be ſeen, that now is withdrawn from the earth. 27 And whoſoever is delivered from the foreſaid evils, ſhall ſee my wonders. 28 For my Son Jeſus ſhall be revealed, with thoſe that be with him, and they that remain, ſhall rejoice within four hundred years. 29 After theſe years ſhall my Son Chriſt die, and all men that have life. 30 And the world ſhall be turned into the old ſilence ſeven days, like as in the former former judgments: ſo that no man ſhall remain. 31 And after ſeven days, the world that yet awaketh not, ſhall be raiſed up, and that ſhall die that is corrupt. 32 And the earth ſhall reſtore thoſe that are aſleep in her, and ſo ſhall the duſt thoſe that dwell in ſilence, and the ſecret places ſhall deliver thoſe ſouls that were committed unto them. 33 And the moſt High ſhall appear upon the ſeat of judgment, and miſery ſhall paſs away, and the long-ſuffering ſhall have an end. 34 But judgment only ſhall remain, truth ſhall ſtand, and faith ſhall wax ſtrong. 35 And the work ſhall follow, and the reward ſhall be ſhewed, and the good deeds ſhall be of force, and wicked deeds ſhall bear no rule. 36 Then ſaid I, Abraham prayed firſt for the Sodomites, and Moſes for the fathers that ſinned in the wilderneſs: 37 And Jeſus after him for Iſrael in the time of Achan: 38 And Samuel, and David for the deſtruction: and Solomon for them that ſhould come to the ſanctuary: 39 And Helias for thoſe that received rain, and for the dead that he might live: 40 And Ezekias for the people in the time of Sennacherib: and many for many. 41 Even ſo now, ſeeing corruption is grown up, and wickedneſs increaſed, and the righteous have prayed for the ungodly: wherefore ſhall it not be ſo now alſo? 42 He anſwered me, and ſaid, This preſent life is not the end where much glory doth abide; therefore have they prayed for the weak. 43 But the day of doom ſhall be the end of this time, and the beginning of the immortality for to come, wherein corruption is paſt, 44 Intemperancy is at an end, infidelity is cut off, righteouſneſs is grown, and truth is ſprung up. 45 Then ſhall no man be able to ſave him that is deſtroyed, nor to oppreſs him that hath gotten the victory. 46 I anſwered then, and ſaid, This is my firſt and laſt ſaying, That it had been better not to have given the earth unto Adam: or elſe when it was given him, to have reſtrained him from ſinning. 47 For what profit is it for men now in this preſent time to live in heavineſs, and after death to look for puniſhment? 48 O thou Adam, what haſt thou done? for though it was thou that ſinned, thou art not fallen alone, but we all that come of thee. 49 For what profit is it unto us, if there be promiſed us an immortal time, whereas we have done the works that bring death? 50 And that there is promiſed us an everlaſting hope, whereas ourſelves being moſt wicked, are made vain? 51 And that there are laid up for us dwellings of health and ſafety, whereas we have lived wickedly? 52 And that the glory of the moſt High is kept to defend them which have led a wary life, whereas we have walked in the moſt wicked ways of all? 53 And that there ſhould be ſhewed a paradiſe, whoſe fruit endureth for ever, wherein is ſecurity and medicine, ſith we ſhall not enter into it? 54 (For we have walked in unpleaſant places) 55 And that the faces of them which have uſed abſtinence, ſhall ſhine above the ſtars, whereas our faces ſhall be blacker than darkneſs? 56 For while we lived and committed iniquity, we conſidered not that we ſhould begin to ſuffer for it after death. 57 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, This is the condition of the battel, which man that is born upon the earth ſhall fight? 58 That if he be overcome, he ſhall ſuffer as thou haſt ſaid: but if he get the victory, he ſhall receive the thing that I ſay. 59 For this is the life whereof Moſes ſpake unto the people while he lived, ſaying, Chooſe thee life that thou mayeſt live. 60 Nevertheleſs, they believed not him, nor yet the prophets after him, no nor me which have ſpoken unto them, 61 That there ſhould not be ſuch heavineſs in their deſtruction, as ſhall be joy over them that are perſwaded to ſalvation. 62 I anſwered then and ſaid, I know, Lord, that the moſt High is called merciful, in that he hath mercy upon them which are not yet come into the world, 63 And upon thoſe alſo that turn to his law; 64 And that he is patient, and long ſuffereth thoſe that have ſinned as his creatures; 65 And that he is bountiful, for he is ready to give where it needeth; 66 And that he is of great mercy, for he multiplieth more and more mercies to them that are preſent, and that are paſt, and alſo to them which are to come. 67 For if he ſhall not multiply his mercies, the world would not continue with them that inherit therein. 68 And he pardoneth; for if he did not ſo of his goodneſs, that they which have committed iniquities, might be eaſed of them; the ten thouſandth part of men ſhould not remain living. 69 And being judge, if he ſhould not forgive them that are cured with his word, and put out the multitude of contentions, 70 There ſhould be very few left peradventure in an innumerable multitude.

Ver. 28. Eſdras ſays, that Jeſus ſhould be revealed within four hundred Years: If by this he means that Jeſus Chriſt ſhould appear in the Fleſh within 400 Years of the Jews Return from the Captivity (which is the Time when Ezra wrote, and whoſe Perſon Eſdras aſſumes) he is miſtaken; for we have made it appear, from the Opinions of the Learned, in our Explanation of the lxx Weeks, Dan. ix. that it was 490 Years from the Return of the Captivity to the Birth of Chriſt.

At the 31ſt and four following Verſes, Eſdras foretels the Reſurrection from the Dead, and the laſt Judgment which ſhall immediately follow; which, no doubt, he collected from the Hiſtory of the Goſpels.

CHAP. VIII.

Many created, but few ſaved. Eſdras expoſtulates with God why he deſtroys the Works of his Hands, and prays him to regard the People which only ſerve him. Glory is prepared only for the Righteous.

Ver. 1. AND he anſwered me, ſaying, The moſt High hath made this world for many, but the world to come for few. 2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, Eſdras; As when thou aſketh the earth, it ſhall ſay unto thee, that it giveth much mold whereof earthen veſſels are made, but little duſt that gold cometh of: even ſo is the courſe of this preſent world. 3 There be many created, but few ſhall be ſaved. 4 So anſwered I, and ſaid, Swallow then down, O my ſoul, underſtanding, and devour wiſdom. 5 For thou haſt agreed to give ear, and art willing to propheſy: for thou haſt no longer ſpace than only to live. 6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſervant, that we may pray before thee, and thou give us ſeed unto our heart, and culture to our

our underſtanding, that there may come fruit of it; how ſhall each man live that is corrupt, who beareth the place of a man? 7 For thou art alone, and we all one workmanſhip of thine hands, like as thou haſt ſaid. 8 For when the body is faſhioned now in the mothers womb, and thou giveſt it members, thy creature is preſerved in fire and water, and nine months doth thy workmanſhip endure thy creature which is created in her. 9 But that which keepeth, and is kept, ſhall both be preſerved: and when the time cometh, the womb preſerved delivereth up the things that grew in it. 10 For thou haſt commanded out of the parts of the body, that is to ſay, out of the breaſts, milk to be given, which is the fruit of the breaſts, 11 That the thing which is faſhioned, may be nouriſhed for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it to thy mercy. 12 Thou broughteſt it up with thy righteouſneſs, and nurturedſt it in thy law, and reformedſt it with thy judgment. 13 And thou ſhalt mortify it as thy creature, and quicken it as thy work. 14 If therefore thou ſhalt deſtroy him, which with ſo great labour was faſhioned, it is an eaſy thing to be ordained by thy commandment, that the thing which was made might be preſerved. 15 Now therefore, Lord, I will ſpeak (touching man in general, thou knoweſt beſt) but touching the people, for whoſe ſake I am ſorry; 16 And for thine inheritance, for whoſe cauſe I mourn; and for Iſrael, for whom I am heavy; and for Jacob, for whoſe ſake I am troubled: 17 Therefore will I begin to pray before thee, for myſelf and for them: for I ſee the falls of us that dwell in the land. 18 But I have heard the ſwiftneſs of the judge which is to come. 19 Therefore hear my voice, and underſtand my words, and I ſhall ſpeak before thee: this is the beginning of the words of Eſdras, before he was taken up: and I ſaid, 20 O Lord, thou that dwelleth in everlaſtingneſs, which beholdeth from above, things in the heaven and in the air, 21 Whoſe throne is ineſtimable, whoſe glory may not be comprehended, before whom the hoſts of angels ſtand with trembling. 22 (Whoſe ſervice is converſant in wind and fire) whoſe word is true, and ſayings conſtant, whoſe commandment is ſtrong, and ordinance fearful, 23 Whoſe look drieth up the depths, and indignation maketh the mountains to melt away, which the truth witneſſeth: 24 O hear the prayer of thy ſervant, and give ear to the petition of thy creature. 25 For while I live, I will ſpeak, and ſo long as I have underſtanding, I will anſwer. 26 O look not upon the ſins of thy people: but on them which ſerve thee in truth. 27 Regard not the wicked inventions of the heathen, but the deſire of thoſe that keep thy teſtimonies in afflictions. 28 Think not upon thoſe that have walked feignedly before thee: but remember them which according to thy will have known thy fear. 29 Let it not be thy will to deſtroy them which have lived like beaſts; but to look upon them that have clearly taught thy law. 30 Take thou no indignation at them which are deemed worſe than beaſts: but love them that alway put their truſt in thy righteouſneſs and glory. 31 For we and our fathers do languiſh of ſuch diſeaſes: but becauſe of us ſinners thou ſhalt be called merciful. 32 For if thou haſt a deſire to have mercy upon us, thou ſhalt be called merciful, to us namely, that have no works of righteouſneſs. 33 For the juſt which have many good works laid up with thee, ſhall out of their own deeds receive reward. 34 For what is man that thou ſhouldeſt take diſpleaſure at him? or what is a corruptible generation, that thou ſhouldeſt be ſo bitter toward it? 35 For in truth there is no man among them that be born, but he hath dealt wickedly, and among the faithful there is none which hath not done amiſs. 36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteouſneſs, and thy goodneſs ſhall be declared, if thou be merciful unto them, which have not confidence of good works. 37 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, Some things haſt thou ſpoken aright, and according unto thy words it ſhall be. 38 For indeed I will not think on the diſpoſition of them which have ſinned before death, before judgment, before deſtruction. 39 But I will rejoice over the diſpoſition of the righteous, and I will remember alſo their pilgrimage, and the ſalvation, and the reward that they ſhall have. 40 Like as I have ſpoken now, ſo ſhall it come to paſs. 41 For as the huſbandman ſoweth much ſeed upon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet the thing that is ſown good in his ſeaſon, cometh not up, neither doth all that is planted take root: even ſo is it of them that are ſown in the world, they ſhall not all be ſaved. 42 I anſwered then, and ſaid, If I have found grace, let me ſpeak. 43 Like as the huſbandmans ſeed periſheth, if it come not up, and receive not thy rain in due ſeaſon, or if there come too much rain, and corrupt it: 44 Even ſo periſheth man alſo which is formed with thy hands, and is called thine own image, becauſe thou art like unto him, for whoſe ſake thou haſt made all things, and likened him unto the huſbandmans ſeed. 45 Be not wroth with us, but ſpare thy people, and have mercy upon thine own inheritance: for thou art merciful unto thy creature. 46 Then anſwered he me, and ſaid, Things preſent are for the preſent, and things to come, for ſuch as be to come. 47 For thou comeſt far ſhort, that thou ſhouldeſt be able to love my creature more than I: but I have oft-times drawn nigh unto thee, and unto it, but never to the unrighteous. 48 In this alſo thou art marvellous before the moſt High: 49 In that thou haſt humbled thyſelf as it becometh thee, and haſt not judged thyſelf worthy to be much glorified among the righteous. 50 For many great miſeries ſhall be done to them that in the latter time ſhall dwell in the world, becauſe they have walked in great pride. 51 But underſtand thou for thyſelf, and ſeek out the glory for ſuch as be like thee. 52 For unto you paradiſe is opened, the tree of life is planted, the time to come is prepared, plenteouſneſs is made ready, a city is builded, and reſt is allowed, yea, perfect goodneſs and wiſdom. 53 The root of evil is ſealed up from you, weakneſs and the moth is hid from you, and corruption is fled into hell to be forgotten: 54 Sorrows are paſſed, and in the end is ſhewed the treaſure of immortality. 55 And therefore aſk thou no more queſtions concerning the multitude of them that periſh. 56 For when they had taken liberty, they deſpiſed

the moſt High, thought ſcorn of his law, and forſook his ways. 57 Moreover, they have troden down his righteous, 58 And ſaid in their heart, that there is no God; yea, and that knowing they muſt die. 59 For as the things aforeſaid ſhall receive you, ſo thirſt and pain are prepared for them: for it was not his will that men ſhould come to nought. 60 But they which be created, have defiled the name of him that made them, and were unthankful unto him which prepared life for them. 61 And therefore is my judgment now at hand. 62 Theſe things have I not ſhewed unto all men, but unto thee, and a few like thee. Then anſwered I, and ſaid, 63 Behold, O Lord, now haſt thou ſhewed me the multitude of the wonders which thou wilt begin to do in the laſt times: but at what time thou haſt not ſhewed me.

In this Diſcourſe Eſdras ſeems to have taken his Text from Matt. xx. 16. For many be called, but few choſen; which he illuſtrates by ſeveral Arguments and Similitudes, too obvious to need any Explanation.

CHAP. IX.

The ſame Argument purſued as in the foregoing Chapter.

Ver. 1. HE anſwered me then, and ſaid, Meaſure thou the time diligently in itſelf: and when thou ſeeſt part of the ſigns paſt which I have told thee before, 2 Then ſhalt thou underſtand that it is the very ſame time wherein the Higheſt will begin to viſit the world which he made. 3 Therefore when there ſhall be ſeen earthquakes, and uproars of the people in the world: 4 Then ſhalt thou well underſtand, that the moſt High ſpake of thoſe things from the days that were before thee, even from the beginning. 5 For like as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning, and an end, and the end is manifeſt: 6 Even ſo the times alſo of the Higheſt have plain beginnings in wonders and powerful works, and endings in effects and ſigns. 7 And every one that ſhall be ſaved, and ſhall be able to eſcape by his works, and by faith, whereby ye have believed, 8 Shall be preſerved from the ſaid perils, and ſhall ſee my ſalvation in my land, and within my borders: for I have ſanctified them for me from the beginning. 9 Then ſhall they be in pitiful caſe, which now have abuſed my ways: and they that have caſt them away deſpitefully, ſhall dwell in torments. 10 For ſuch as in their life have received benefits, and have not known me; 11 And they that have lothed my law, while they had yet liberty, and when as yet place of repentance was open unto them, underſtood not, but deſpiſed it; 12 The ſame muſt know it after death by pain. 13 And therefore be thou not curious, how the ungodly ſhall be puniſhed, and when: but enquire how the righteous ſhall be ſaved, whoſe the world is, and for whom the world is created. 14 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, 15 I have ſaid before, and now do ſpeak, and will ſpeak it alſo hereafter; that there be many more of them which periſh, than of them which ſhall be ſaved: 16 Like as a wave is greater than a drop. 17 And he anſwered me, ſaying, Like as the field is, ſo is alſo the ſeed; as the flowers be, ſuch are the colours alſo; ſuch as the workman is, ſuch alſo is the work; and as the husbandman is himſelf, ſo is his husbandry alſo: for it was the time of the world. 18 And now when I prepared the world, which was not yet made, even for them to dwell in that now live, no man ſpake againſt me. 19 For then every one obeyed, but now the manners of them which are created in this world that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual ſeed, and by a law which is unſearchable, rid themſelves. 20 So I conſidered the world, and behold, there was peril, becauſe of the devices that were come into it, 21 And I ſaw, and ſpared it greatly, and have kept me a grape of the cluſter, and a plant of a great people. 22 Let the multitude periſh then, which was born in vain, and let my grape be kept, and my plant: for with great labour have I made it perfect. 23 Nevertheleſs, if thou wilt ceaſe yet ſeven days more, (but thou ſhalt not faſt in them, 24 But go into a field of flowers, where no houſe is builded, and eat only the flowers of the field; taſte no fleſh, drink no wine, but eat flowers only) 25 And pray unto the Higheſt continually, then will I come and talk with thee. 26 So I went my way into the field which is called Ardath, like as he commanded me; and there I ſat amongſt the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meat of the ſame ſatisfied me. 27 After ſeven days I ſat upon the graſs, and my heart was vexed within me, like as before. 28 And I opened my mouth, and began to talk before the moſt High, and ſaid, 29 O Lord, thou that ſhewedſt thyſelf unto us, thou waſt ſhewed unto our fathers in the wilderneſs, in a place where no man treadeth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt. 30 And thou ſpakeſt, ſaying, Hear me, O Iſrael, and mark my words, thou ſeed of Jacob. 31 For behold, I ſow my law in you, and it ſhall bring fruit in you, and ye ſhall be honoured in it for ever. 32 But our fathers which received the law, kept it not, and obſerved not thy ordinances: and though the fruit of thy law did not periſh, neither could it, for it was thine; 33 Yet they that received it, periſhed, becauſe they kept not the thing that was ſown in them. 34 And lo, it is a cuſtom, when the ground hath received ſeed, or the ſea a ſhip, or any veſſel meat or drink, that, that being periſhed wherein it was ſown, or caſt into, 35 That thing alſo which was ſown or caſt therein, or received, doth periſh, and remaineth not with us: but with us it hath not happened ſo. 36 For we that have received the law periſh by ſin, and our heart alſo which received it. 37 Notwithſtanding the law periſheth not, but remaineth in his force. 38 And when I ſpake theſe things in my heart, I looked back with mine eyes, and upon the right ſide I ſaw a woman, and behold, ſhe mourned and wept with a loud voice, and was much grieved in heart, and her cloaths were rent, and ſhe had aſhes upon her head. 39 Then let I my thoughts go that I was in, and turned me unto her, 40 And ſaid unto her, Wherefore weepeſt thou? why art thou ſo grieved in thy mind? 41 And ſhe ſaid unto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewail myſelf, myſelf, and add unto my ſorrow, for I am ſore vexed in my mind, and brought very low. 42 And I ſaid unto her, What aileth thee? tell me. 43 She ſaid unto me, I thy ſervant have been barren, and had no child, though I had an huſband thirty years. 44 And thoſe thirty years I did nothing elſe day and night, and every hour, but make my prayer to the Higheſt. 45 After thirty years God heard me thine handmaid, looked upon my miſery, conſidered my trouble, and gave me a ſon: and I was very glad of him, ſo was my huſband alſo, and all my neighbours, and we gave great honour unto the Almighty. 46 And I nouriſhed him with great travel. 47 So when he grew up, and came to the time that he ſhould have a wife, I made a feaſt.

In this Chapter are couched ſeveral Evangelical Doctrines, which Eſdras, no doubt, collected out of the Goſpels. In the 3d Verſe he gives us ſome of the Signs of the laſt Times, almoſt in the Words of St. Matthew, Ch. xxiv. 7. In the 7th Verſe he ſpeaks of Faith and good Works, whereby we are to be ſaved, agreeable to the Doctrines taught by our Saviour and his Apoſtles; and Ver. 11, 12, 13. he tells us that thoſe ſhall be puniſhed after Death who do not repent of their Sins while they have Life and Liberty ſo to do.

CHAP. X.

The Viſion of the Woman explained.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs, that when my ſon was entred into his wedding-chamber, he fell down and died. 2 Then we all overthrew the lights, and all my neighbours roſe up to comfort me: ſo I took my reſt unto the ſecond day at night. 3 And it came to paſs, when they had all left off to comfort me, to the end I might be quiet: then roſe I up by night, and fled, and came hither into this field, as thou ſeeſt. 4 And I do now purpoſe not to return into the city, but here to ſtay, and neither to eat nor drink, but continually to mourn, and to faſt until I die. 5 Then left I the meditations wherein I was, and ſpake to her in anger, ſaying, 6 Thou fooliſh woman above all other, ſeeſt thou not our mourning, and what hapneth unto us? 7 How that Sion our mother is full of all heavineſs, and much humbled, mourning very ſore? 8 And now ſeeing we all mourn, and are ſad, for we are all in heavineſs, art thou grieved for one ſon? 9 For aſk the earth, and ſhe ſhall tell thee, that it is ſhe which ought to mourn, for the fall of ſo many that grow upon her. 10 For out of her came all at the firſt, and out of her ſhall all others come, and behold, they walk almoſt all into deſtruction, and a multitude of them is utterly rooted out. 11 Who then ſhould make more mourning than ſhe that hath loſt ſo great a multitude, and not thou which art ſorry but for one? 12 But if thou ſayeſt unto me, My lamentation is not like the earths, becauſe I have loſt the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with pains, and bare with ſorrows; 13 But the earth not ſo: for the multitude preſent in it, according to the courſe of the earth, is gone, as it came: 14 Then ſay I unto thee, like as thou haſt brought forth with labour, even ſo the earth alſo hath given her fruit, namely man, ever ſince the beginning, unto him that made her. 15 Now therefore keep thy ſorrow to thyſelf, and bear with a good courage that which hath befallen thee. 16 For if thou ſhalt acknowledge the determination of God to be juſt, thou ſhalt both receive thy ſon in time, and ſhalt be commended amongſt women. 17 Go thy way then into the city, to thine huſband. 18 And ſhe ſaid unto me, That will I not do: I will not go into the city, but here will I die. 19 So I proceeded to ſpeak further unto her, and ſaid, 20 Do not ſo, but be counſelled by me: for how many are the adverſaries of Sion? be comforted in regard of the ſorrow of Jeruſalem. 21 For thou ſeeſt that our ſanctuary is laid waſte, our altar broken down, our temple deſtroyed: 22 Our pſaltery is laid on the ground, our ſong is put to ſilence, our rejoicing is at an end, the light of our candleſtick is put out, the ark of our covenant is ſpoiled, our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called upon us, is almoſt prophaned: our children are put to ſhame, our prieſts are burnt, our Levites are gone into captivity, our virgins are defiled, and our wives raviſhed, our righteous men carried away, our little ones deſtroyed, our young men are brought in bondage, and our ſtrong men are become weak: 23 And which is the greateſt of all, the ſeal of Sion hath now loſt her honour: for ſhe is delivered into the hands of them that hate us. 24 And therefore ſhake off thy great heavineſs, and put away the multitude of ſorrows, that the Mighty may be merciful unto thee again, and the Higheſt ſhall give thee reſt, and eaſe from thy labour, 25 And it came to paſs, while I was talking with her, behold, her face upon a ſudden ſhined exceedingly, and her countenance gliſtered, ſo that I was afraid of her, and muſed what it might be. 26 And behold, ſuddenly ſhe made a great cry, very fearful: ſo that the earth ſhook at the noiſe of the woman. 27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared unto me no more, but there was a city builded, and a large place ſhewed it ſelf from the foundations: then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid, 28 Where is Uriel the angel, who came unto me at the firſt? for he hath cauſed me to fall into many trances, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. 29 And as I was ſpeaking theſe words, behold, he came unto me, and looked upon me. 30 And lo, I lay as one that had been dead, and mine underſtanding was taken from me: and he took me by the right hand, and comforted me, and ſet me upon my feet, and ſaid unto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why art thou ſo diſquieted? and why is thine underſtanding troubled, and the thoughts of thine heart? 32 And I ſaid, Becauſe thou haſt forſaken me, and yet I did according to thy words, and I went into the field, and lo I have ſeen, and yet ſee that I am not able to expreſs. 33 And he ſaid unto me, Stand up manfully, and I will adviſe thee. 34 Then ſaid I, Speak on, my lord, in me; only forſake me not, leſt I die fruſtrate of my hope. 35 For I have ſeen that I knew not, and hear that I do not know. 36 Or is my ſenſe deceived, or my ſoul in a dream? 37 Now therefore, I beſeech thee, that thou wilt ſhew thy ſervant this viſion. 38 He anſwered me then and ſaid, Hear me, and I ſhall inform thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the Higheſt will reveal many ſecret things unto thee. 39 He hath ſeen that thy way is right: for that thou ſorroweſt continually for thy people, and makeſt great lamentation for Sion. 40 This therefore is the meaning of the viſion which thou lately ſaweſt: 41 Thou ſaweſt a woman mourning, and thou beganſt to comfort her: 42 But now ſeeſt thou the likeneſs of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city builded. 43 And whereas ſhe told thee of the death of her ſon, this is the ſolution: 44 This woman whom thou ſaweſt, is Sion: and whereas ſhe ſaid unto thee, (even ſhe whom thou ſeeſt as a city builded) 45 Whereas, I ſay, ſhe ſaid unto thee, that ſhe hath been thirty years barren: thoſe are the thirty years wherein there was no offering made in her. 46 But after thirty years Solomon builded the city, and offered offerings: and then bare the barren a ſon. 47 And whereas ſhe told thee, that ſhe nouriſhed him with labour: that was the dwelling in Jeruſalem. 48 But whereas ſhe ſaid unto thee, That my ſon coming into his marriage-chamber, happened to have a fall and died: this was the deſtruction that came to Jeruſalem. 49 And behold, thou ſaweſt her likeneſs, and becauſe ſhe mourned for her ſon, thou beganſt to comfort her: and of theſe things which have chanced, theſe are to be opened unto thee. 50 For now the moſt High ſeeth that thou art grieved unfeignedly, and ſuffereſt from thy whole heart for her, ſo hath he ſhewed thee the brightneſs of her glory, and the comelineſs of her beauty: 51 And therefore I bade thee remain in the field, where no houſe was builded. 52 For I knew that the Higheſt would ſhew this unto thee. 53 Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field, where no foundation of any building was. 54 For in the place wherein the Higheſt beginneth to ſhew his city, there can no mans building be able to ſtand. 55 And therefore fear not, let not thine heart be affrighted, but go thy way in, and ſee the beauty and greatneſs of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to ſee. 56 And then ſhalt thou hear as much as thine ears may comprehend. 57 For thou art bleſſed above many other, and art called with the Higheſt, and ſo are but few. 58 But to morrow at night thou ſhalt remain here, 59 And ſo ſhall the Higheſt ſhew thee viſions of the high things, which the moſt High will do unto them that dwell upon earth in the laſt days. So I ſlept that night, and another, like as he commanded me.

In this fabulous Viſion of the Woman, Eſdras deſcribes the miſerable State of Sion; but it wants no other Explanation than what the Angel has given.

CHAP. XI.

The Viſion of the Eagle, and of the Lion.

Ver. 1. THEN ſaw I a dream, and behold, there came up from the ſea an eagle, which had twelve feathered wings, and three heads. 2 And I ſaw, and behold, ſhe ſpread her wings over all the earth, and all the winds of the air blew on her, and were gathered together. 3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers there grew other contrary feathers; and they became little feathers and ſmall. 4 But her heads were at reſt: the head in the midſt was greater then the other, yet reſted it with the reſidue. 5 Moreover, I beheld, and lo, the eagle flew with her feathers, and reigned upon earth, and over them that dwelt therein. 6 And I ſaw that all things under heaven were ſubject unto her, and no man ſpake againſt her, no not one creature upon earth. 7 And I beheld, and lo, the eagle roſe upon her talons, and ſpake to her feathers, ſaying, 8 Watch not all at once: ſleep every one in his own place, and watch by courſe. 9 But let the heads be preſerved for the laſt. 10 And I beheld, and lo, the voice went not out of her heads, but from the midſt of her body. 11 And I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them. 12 And I looked, and behold, on the right ſide there aroſe one feather, and reigned over all the earth; 13 And ſo it was, that when it reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more: ſo the next following ſtood up, and reigned, and had a great time; 14 And it happened, that when it reigned, the end of it came alſo, like as the firſt, ſo that it appeared no more. 15 Then came there a voice unto it, and ſaid, 16 Hear thou that haſt borne rule over the earth ſo long: this I ſay unto thee before thou beginneſt to appear no more, 17 There ſhall none after thee attain unto thy time, neither unto the half thereof. 18 Then aroſe the third, and reigned as the other before, and appeared no more alſo. 19 So went it with all the reſidue one after another, as that every one reigned, and then appeared no more. 20 Then I beheld, and lo, in proceſs of time, the feathers that followed ſtood up upon the right ſide, that they might rule alſo, and ſome of them ruled; but within a while they appeared no more: 21 For ſome of them were ſet up, but ruled not. 22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelve feathers appeared no more, nor the two little feathers: 23 And there was no more upon the eagles body, but three heads that reſted, and ſix little wings. 24 Then ſaw I alſo, that two little feathers divided themſelves from the ſix, and remained under the head that was upon the right ſide: for the four continued in their place. 25 And I beheld, and lo, the feathers that were under the wing, thought to ſet up themſelves, and to have the rule. 26 And I beheld, and lo, there was one ſet up, but ſhortly it appeared no more. 27 And the ſecond was ſooner away than the firſt. 28 And I beheld, and lo, the two that remained thought alſo in themſelves to reign: 29 And when they ſo thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads, that were at reſt, namely, it that was in the midſt, for that was greater than the two other heads. 30 And then I ſaw that the two other heads were joined with it. 31 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eat up the two feathers under the wing that would have reigned. 32 But this head put the whole earth in fear, and bare rule in it over all thoſe that dwelt upon the earth, with much oppreſſion; and it had the governance of the world, more than all the wings that had been. 33 And after this I beheld, and lo, the head that was in the midſt ſuddenly appeared no more, like as the wings. 34 But there remained the two heads, which alſo in like ſort ruled upon the earth, and over thoſe that that dwelt therein. 35 And I beheld, and lo, the head upon the right side devoured it that was upon the left side. 36 Then I heard a voice, which said unto me, Look before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest. 37 And I beheld, and lo, as it were a roaring lion chased out of the wood: and I saw that he sent out a mans voice unto the eagle, and said, 38 Hear thou, I will talk with thee, and the Highest shall say unto thee, 39 Art not thou it that remainest of the four beasts, whom I made to reign in my world, that the end of their times might come through them? 40 And the fourth came, and overcame all the beasts that were past, and had power over the world with great fearfulness, and over the whole compass of the earth, with much wicked oppression, and so long time dwelt he upon the earth with deceit. 41 For the earth hast thou not judged with truth. 42 For thou hast afflicted the meek, thou hast hurt the peaceable, thou hast loved liars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast down the walls of such as did thee no harm. 43 Therefore is thy wrongful dealing come up unto the Highest, and thy pride unto the Mighty. 44 The Highest also hath looked upon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and his abominations are fulfilled. 45 And therefore appear no more, thou eagle, nor thy horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, nor thy hurtful claws, nor all thy vain body: 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and may return, being delivered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the judgment and mercy of him that made her.

The Romans had the Eagle pourtrayed on their Ensigns and Standards; and therefore this Vision must be explained of that People, as will more particularly appear in the Contents of the next Chapter.

CHAP. XII.

The Vision of the Eagle interpreted.

Ver. 1. AND it came to pass, whiles the lion spake these words unto the eagle, I saw, 2 And behold, the head that remained, and the four wings appeared no more, and the two went unto it, and set themselves up to reign, and their kingdom was small, and full of uproar. 3 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great fear: then awaked I out of the trouble and trance of my mind, and from great fear, and said unto my spirit, 4 Lo, this hast thou done unto me, in that thou searchest out the ways of the Highest. 5 Lo, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weak in my spirit; and little strength is there in me, for the great fear wherewith I was affrighted this night. 6 Therefore will I now beseech the Highest, that he will comfort me unto the end. 7 And I said, Lord that beareſt rule, if I have found grace before thy sight, and if I am justified with thee before many others, and if my prayer indeed be come up before thy face; 8 Comfort me then, and shew me thy servant the interpretation, and plain difference of this fearful vision, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soul. 9 For thou hast judged me worthy to shew me the last times. 10 And he said unto me, This is the interpretation of the vision: 11 The eagle whom thou sawest come up from the sea, is the kingdom which was seen in the vision of thy brother Daniel. 12 But it was not expounded unto him, therefore now I declare it unto thee. 13 Behold, the days will come, that there shall rise up a kingdom upon earth, and it shall be feared above all the kingdoms that were before it. 14 In the same shall twelve kings reign, one after another: 15 Whereof the second shall begin to reign, and shall have more time than any of the twelve. 16 And this do the twelve wings signify which thou sawest. 17 As for the voice which thou heardest speak, and that thou sawest not to go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation: 18 That after the time of that kingdom, there shall arise great strivings, and it shall stand in peril of falling: nevertheless it shall not then fall, but shall be restored again to his beginning. 19 And whereas thou sawest the eight small under-feathers, sticking to her wings, this is the interpretation: 20 That in him there shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their years swift. 21 And two of them shall perish: the middle time approaching, four shall be kept until their end begin to approach: but two shall be kept unto the end. 22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation: 23 In his last days shall the most High raise up three kingdoms, and renew many things therein, and they shall have the dominion of the earth, 24 And of those that dwell therein with much oppression, above all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the eagle. 25 For these are they that shall accomplish his wickedness, and that shall finish his last end. 26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die upon his bed, and yet with pain. 27 For the two that remain shall be slain with the sword. 28 For the sword of the one shall devour the other: but at the last shall he fall through the sword himself. 29 And whereas thou sawest two feathers under the wings, passing over the head that is on the right side; 30 It signifieth, that these are they whom the Highest hath kept unto their end: this is the small kingdom, and full of trouble, as thou sawest. 31 And the lion whom thou sawest rising up out of the wood, and roaring, and speaking to the eagle, and rebuking her for her unrighteousness, with all the words which thou hast heard. 32 This is the anointed which the Highest hath kept for them, and for their wickedness unto the end: he shall reprove them, and shall upbraid them with their cruelty. 33 For he shall set them before him alive in judgment, and shall rebuke them and correct them. 34 For the rest of my people shall he deliver with mercy, those that have been preserved upon my borders, and he shall make them joyful until the coming of the day of judgment, whereof I have spoken unto thee from the beginning. 35 This is the dream that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations. 36 Thou only hast been meet to know this secret of the Highest,

Higheſt. 37 Therefore write all theſe things that thou haſt ſeen in a book, and hide them. 38 And teach them to the wiſe of the people, whoſe hearts thou knoweſt may comprehend and keep theſe ſecrets. 39 But wait thou here thyſelf yet ſeven days more, that it may be ſhewed thee whatſoever it pleaſeth the Higheſt to declare unto thee. And with that he went his way. 40 And it came to paſs, when all the people ſaw that the ſeven days were paſt, and I not come again into the city, they gathered them all together, from the leaſt unto the greateſt, and came unto me, and ſaid, 41 What have we offended thee? and what evil have we done againſt thee, that thou forſakeſt us, and ſitteſt here in this place? 42 For of all the prophets thou only art left us, as a cluſter of the vintage, and as a candle in a dark place, and as a haven or ſhip preſerved from the tempeſt. 43 Art not the evils which are come to us ſufficient? 44 If thou ſhalt forſake us, how much better had it been for us, if we alſo had been burnt in the mids of Sion? 45 For we are not better than they that died there. And they wept with a loud voice. Then anſwered I them, and ſaid, 46 Be of good comfort, O Iſrael, and be not heavy, thou houſe of Jacob: 47 For the Higheſt hath you in remembrance, and the Mighty hath not forgotten you in temptation. 48 As for me, I have not forſaken you, neither am I departed from you: but am come into this place, to pray for the deſolation of Sion, and that I might ſeek mercy for the low eſtate of your ſanctuary. 49 And now go your way home every man, and after theſe days will I come unto you. 50 So the people went their way into the city, like as I commanded them: 51 But I remained ſtill in the field ſeven days, as the angel commanded me, and did eat only in thoſe days of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbs.

The Angel, in the Explication of this Viſion, tells Eſdras, Ver. 11. that the Eagle is the Kingdom which was ſeen in the Viſion of Daniel; and if the Reader will conſult our Notes upon Dan. vii. 7. where there is a Deſcription of the fourth Beaſt, he will find, that the Roman Empire is repreſented by that Beaſt; which is what Eſdras here refers to.

By the twelve Kings, who, it's ſaid, Ver. 14. ſhall reign one after another, may be meant the twelve Cæſars; the ſecond of whom, Auguſtus Cæſar, reigned much longer than any of the reſt of them, as is ſaid, Ver. 15.

As to the Angel's Interpretation, and the ſeveral Kings and Kingdoms which were to ariſe out of the Roman Government, we do not well underſtand, and can only gueſs at his Meaning: But, as we apprehend, he means the ſame Thing as Daniel does, in his Viſion of the fourth Beaſt, Ch. vii. 7. we muſt refer the Reader to our Notes upon that Place.

CHAP. XIII.

The Viſion of a Man coming out of the Sea.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs after ſeven days, I dreamed a dream by night. 2 And lo, there aroſe a wind from the ſea, that it moved all the waves thereof. 3 And I beheld, and lo, that man waxed ſtrong with the thouſands of heaven: and when he turned his countenance to look, all the things trembled that were ſeen under him. 4 And whenſoever the voice went out of his mouth, all they burnt that heard his voice, like as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire. 5 And after this I beheld, and lo, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the four winds of the heaven, to ſubdue the man that came out of the ſea. 6 But I beheld, and lo, he had graven himſelf a great mountain, and flew up upon it. 7 But I would have ſeen the region, or place whereout the hill was graven, and I could not. 8 And after this I beheld, and lo, all they which were gathered together to ſubdue him, were ſore afraid, and yet durſt fight. 9 And lo, as he ſaw the violence of the multitude that came, he neither lift up his hand, nor held ſword, nor any inſtrument of war. 10 But only I ſaw that he ſent out of his mouth as it had been a blaſt of fire, and out of his lips a flaming breath, and out of his tongue he caſt out ſparks and tempeſts. 11 And they were all mixt together; the blaſt of fire, the flaming breath, and the great tempeſt; and fell with violence upon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them up every one, ſo that upon a ſudden, of an innumerable multitude nothing was to be perceived, but only duſt and ſmell of ſmoak: when I ſaw this I was afraid. 12 Afterward I ſaw the ſame man come down from the mountain, and call unto him another peaceable multitude. 13 And there came much people unto him, whereof ſome were glad, ſome were ſorry, ſome of them were bound, and other ſome brought of them that were offered: then was I ſick through great fear, and I awaked, and ſaid, 14 Thou haſt ſhewed thy ſervant theſe wonders from the beginning, and haſt counted me worthy that thou ſhouldeſt receive my prayer: 15 Shew me now yet the interpretation of this dream. 16 For as I conceive in mine underſtanding, wo unto them that ſhall be left in thoſe days; and much more wo unto them that are not left behind. 17 For they that were not left were in heavineſs. 18 Now underſtand I the things that are laid up in the latter days which ſhall happen unto them, and to thoſe that are left behind. 19 Therefore are they come into great perils, and many neceſſities, like as theſe dreams declare. 20 Yet is it eaſier for him that is in danger, to come into theſe things, than to paſs away as a cloud out of the world, and not to ſee the things that happen in the laſt days. And he anſwered unto me, and ſaid, 21 The interpretation of the viſion ſhall I ſhew thee, and I will open unto thee the thing that thou haſt required. 22 Whereas thou haſt ſpoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation: 23 He that ſhall endure the peril in that time, hath kept himſelf: they that be fallen into danger, are ſuch as have works and faith towards the Almighty. 24 Know this therefore, that they which be left behind, are more bleſſed than they that be dead. 25 This is the meaning of the viſion, Whereas thou ſaweſt a man coming up from the midſt of the ſea: 26 The ſame is he whom God the Higheſt hath kept a great ſeaſon, which by his own ſelf ſhall deliver his creature: and he ſhall order them that are left behind. 27 And whereas thou ſaweſt, that out of his mouth there came as a blaſt of wind, and fire, and ſtorm; 28 And that he held neither neither ſword, nor any inſtrument of war, but that the ruſhing in of him deſtroyed the whole multitude that came to ſubdue him; this is the interpretation: 29 Behold, the days come, when the moſt High will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth. 30 And he ſhall come to the aſtoniſhment of them that dwell on the earth. 31 And one ſhall undertake to fight againſt another, one city againſt another, one place againſt another, one people againſt another, and one realm againſt another. 32 And the time ſhall be when theſe things ſhall come to paſs, and the ſigns ſhall happen which I ſhewed thee before, and then ſhall my Son be declared, whom thou ſaweſt as a man aſcending. 33 And when all the people hear his voice, every man ſhall in their own land leave the battel they have one againſt another. 34 And an innumerable multitude ſhall be gathered together, as thou ſaweſt them willing to come, and to overcome him by fighting. 35 But he ſhall ſtand upon the top of the mount Sion. 36 And Sion ſhall come, and ſhall be ſhewed to all men, being prepared and builded like as thou ſaweſt the hill graven without hands. 37 And this my Son ſhall rebuke the wicked inventions of thoſe nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempeſt; 38 And ſhall lay before them their evil thoughts, and the torments wherewith they ſhall begin to be tormented, which are like unto a flame: and he ſhall deſtroy them without labour, by the law which is like unto fire. 39 And whereas thou ſaweſt that he gathered another peaceable multitude unto him; 40 Thoſe are the ten tribes which were carried away priſoners out of their own land, in the time of Oſea the king, whom Salmanaſſar the king of Aſſyria led away captive, and he carried them over the waters, and ſo came they into another land. 41 But they took this counſel among themſelves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankind dwelt, 42 That they might there keep their ſtatutes, which they never kept in their own land. 43 And they entred into Euphrates by the narrow paſſages of the river. 44 For the moſt High then ſhewed ſigns for them, and held ſtill the flood till they were paſſed over. 45 For through that country there was a great way to go; namely, of a year and a half: and the ſame region is called Arſareth. 46 Then dwelt they there until the latter time; and now when they ſhall begin to come, 47 The Higheſt ſhall ſtay the ſprings of the ſtream again, that they may go through: therefore ſaweſt thou the multitude with peace. 48 But thoſe that be left behind of thy people, are they that are found within my borders. 49 Now when he deſtroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he ſhall defend his people that remain. 50 And then ſhall he ſhew them great wonders. 51 Then ſaid I, O Lord, that beareſt rule, ſhew me this: Wherefore have I ſeen the man coming up from the midſt of the ſea? 52 And he ſaid unto me, Like as thou canſt neither ſeek out, nor know the things that are in the deep of the ſea: even ſo can no man upon the earth ſee my Son, or thoſe that be with him, but in the daytime. 53 This is the interpretation of the dream which thou ſaweſt, and whereby thou only art here lightened. 54 For thou haſt forſaken thine own way, and applied thy diligence unto my law, and ſought it. 55 Thy life haſt thou ordered in wiſdom, and haſt called underſtanding thy mother. 56 And therefore have I ſhewed thee the treaſures of the Higheſt: after other three days I will ſpeak other things unto thee, and declare unto thee mighty and wondrous things. 57 Then went I forth into the field, giving praiſe and thanks greatly unto the moſt High, becauſe of his wonders which he did in time, 58 And becauſe he governeth the ſame, and ſuch things as fall in their ſeaſons: and there I ſat three days.

In this Chapter Eſdras propheſies of the Coming of Jeſus Chriſt the Son of God, to releaſe his People from their Afflictions and Oppreſſions, in the latter Times; particularly the Ten Tribes, who, he ſays, left the Country where they were carried captive, and went into a very diſtant Region called Arſareth, or, as the Margin has it, Ararath: But relates the Story with ſo many fabulous Circumſtances, that we can only gueſs at his Meaning; and his Account of the Peregrination and Reſidence of the Ten Tribes being unſupported by any other Author, antient or modern, ſacred or prophane, little Credit can be given to it.

CHAP. XIV.

Eſdras his Viſion of the Buſh, and the Diſcourſe he had with the Divine Being.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs upon the third day, I ſat under an oak, and behold, there came a voice out of a buſh over againſt me, and ſaid, Eſdras, Eſdras. 2 And I ſaid, Here am I, Lord; and I ſtood up upon my feet. 3 Then ſaid he unto me, In the buſh I did manifeſtly reveal myſelf unto Moſes, and talked with him, when my people ſerved in Egypt. 4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him up to the mount of Sinai, where I held him by me a long ſeaſon, 5 And told him many wondrous things, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times, and the end: and commanded him, ſaying, 6 Theſe words ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide. 7 And now I ſay unto thee, 8 That thou lay up in thy heart the ſigns that I have ſhewed, and the dreams that thou haſt ſeen, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard: 9 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and from henceforth thou ſhalt remain with my ſon, and with ſuch as be like thee, until the times be ended. 10 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times begin to wax old. 11 For the world is divided into twelve parts, and the ten parts of it are gone already, and half of a tenth part: 12 And there remaineth that which is after the half of the tenth part. 13 Now therefore ſet thine houſe in order, and reprove thy people, comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble, and now renounce corruption. 14 Let go from thee mortal thoughts, caſt away the burdens of man, put off now the weak nature, 15 And ſet aſide the thoughts that are moſt heavy unto thee, and haſt thee to flee from theſe times. 16 For yet greater evils than thoſe which thou haſt ſeen happen, ſhall be done hereafter. 17 For look how much the world ſhall be weaker through age, ſo much the more ſhall evils increaſe upon them that dwell therein.

18 For the truth is fled far away, and leasing is hard at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come which thou hast seen. 19 Then answered I before thee, and said, 20 Behold, Lord, I will go as thou hast commanded me, and reprove the people which are present: but they that shall be born afterward, who shall admonish them? thus the world is set in darkness, and they that dwell therein are without light. 21 For thy law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shall begin. 22 But if I have found grace before thee, send the Holy Ghost into me, and I shall write all that hath been done in the world since the beginning, which were written in thy law, that men may find thy path, and that they which will live in the latter days, may live. 23 And he answered me, saying, Go thy way, gather the people together, and say unto them, that they seek thee not for forty days. 24 But look thou prepare thee many box-trees, and take with thee Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, these five which are ready to write swiftly. 25 And come hither, and I shall light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write. 26 And when thou hast done, some things shalt thou publish, and some things shalt thou shew secretly to the wise: to morrow this hour shalt thou begin to write. 27 Then went I forth as he commanded, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Hear these words, O Israel. 29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were delivered: 30 And received the law of life, which they kept not, which ye also have transgressed after them. 31 Then was the land, even the land of Sion, parted among you by lot: but your fathers, and ye yourselves have done unrighteousness, and have not kept the ways which the Highest commanded you. 32 And forasmuch as he is a righteous Judge, he took from you in time the thing that he had given you. 33 And now are you here, and your brethren amongst you. 34 Therefore if so be that you will subdue your own understanding, and reform your hearts, ye shall be kept alive, and after death ye shall obtain mercy. 35 For after death shall the judgment come, when we shall live again: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the ungodly shall be declared. 36 Let no man therefore come unto me now, nor seek after me these forty days. 37 So I took the five men as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there. 38 And the next day, behold, a voice called me, saying, Esdras, open thy mouth, and drink that I give thee to drink. 39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire. 40 And I took it, and drank: and when I had drunk of it, my heart uttered understanding, and wisdom grew in my breast, for my spirit strengthened my memory. 41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more. 42 The Highest gave understanding unto the five men, and they wrote the wonderful visions of the night that were told, which they knew not: and they sat forty days, and they wrote in the day, and at night they ate bread. 43 As for me, I spake in the day, and I held not my tongue by night. 44 In forty days they wrote two hundred and four books. 45 And it came to pass when the forty days were fulfilled, that the Highest spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and unworthy may read it. 46 But keep the seventy last, that thou mayest deliver them only to such as be wise among the people. 47 For in them is the spring of understanding, the fountain of wisdom, and the stream of knowledge. 48 And I did so.

What is the Drift and Design of Esdras in this Chapter, I confess is past my Comprehension; unless it be (tho' in very obscure Terms) to intimate, that the old Law given by Moses is abolished, and to point out the new Law, which was revealed to Mankind by Jesus Christ our Saviour.

CHAP. XV.

The Prophecy here declared is certain. God's Vengeance upon the Wicked, and upon Egypt. An horrible Vision. Babylon and Asia are threatened.

Ver. 1. BEhold, speak thou in the ears of my people the words of prophecy, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord. 2 And cause them to be written in paper: for they are faithful and true. 3 Fear not the imaginations against thee, let not the incredulity of them trouble thee, that speak against thee. 4 For all the unfaithful shall die in their unfaithfulness. 5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues upon the world; the sword, famine, death and destruction. 6 For wickedness hath exceedingly polluted the whole earth, and their hurtful works are fulfilled. 7 Therefore saith the Lord, 8 I will hold my tongue no more as touching their wickedness which they profanely commit, neither will I suffer them in those things, in which they wickedly exercise themselves: behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth unto me, and the souls of the just complain continually. 9 And therefore saith the Lord, I will surely avenge them, and receive unto me all the innocent blood from among them. 10 Behold, my people is led as a flock to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt. 11 But I will bring them with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arm, and smite Egypt with plagues, as before, and will destroy all the land thereof. 12 Egypt shall mourn, and the foundation of it shall be smitten with the plague and punishment that God shall bring upon it. 13 They that till the ground shall mourn: for their seeds shall fail through the blasting and hail, and with a fearful constellation. 14 Wo to the world, and them that dwell therein. 15 For the sword and their destruction draweth nigh, and one people shall stand up to fight against another, and swords in their hands. 16 For there shall be sedition among men, and invading one another; they shall not regard their kings nor princes, and the course of their actions shall stand in their power. 17 A man shall desire to go into a city, and shall not be able. 18 For because of their pride, the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be deſtroyed, and men ſhall be afraid. 19 A man ſhall have no pity upon his neighbour, but ſhall deſtroy their houſes with the ſword, and ſpoil their goods, becauſe of the lack of bread, and for great tribulation. 20 Behold, ſaith God, I will call together all the kings of the earth to reverence me, which are from the riſing of the ſun, from the ſouth, from the eaſt, and Libanus: to turn themſelves one againſt another, and repay the things that they have done to them. 21 Like as they do yet this day unto my choſen, ſo will I do alſo, and recompenſe in their boſom. Thus ſaith the Lord God, 22 My right hand ſhall not ſpare the ſinners, and my ſword ſhall not ceaſe over them that ſhed innocent blood upon the earth. 23 The fire is gone forth from his wrath, and hath conſumed the foundations of the earth, and the ſinners like the ſtraw that is kindled. 24 Wo to them that ſin, and keep not my commandments, ſaith the Lord: 25 I will not ſpare them: go your way ye children from the power, defile not my ſanctuary. 26 For the Lord knoweth all them that ſin againſt him, and therefore delivereth he them unto death and deſtruction. 27 For now are the plagues come upon the whole earth, and ye ſhall remain in them: for God ſhall not deliver you, becauſe ye have ſinned againſt him. 28 Behold, an horrible viſion, and the appearance thereof from the eaſt: 29 Where the nations of the dragons of Arabia ſhall come out with many chariots, and the multitude of them ſhall be carried as the wind upon earth, that all they which hear them, may fear and tremble. 30 Alſo the Carmanians raging in wrath ſhall go forth as the wild boars of the wood, and with great power ſhall they come, and join battel with them, and ſhall waſte a portion of the land of the Aſſyrians. 31 And then ſhall the dragons have the upper hand, remembring their nature; and if they ſhall turn themſelves, conſpiring together in great power to perſecute them, 32 Then theſe ſhall be troubled, and keep ſilence through their power, and ſhall flee. 33 And from the land of the Aſſyrians ſhall the enemy beſiege them, and conſume ſome of them, and in their hoſt ſhall be fear, and dread, and ſtrife among their kings. 34 Behold, clouds from the eaſt, and from the north, unto the ſouth, and they are very horrible to look upon, full of wrath and ſtorm. 35 They ſhall ſmite one upon another, and they ſhall ſmite down a great multitude of ſtars upon the earth, even their own ſtar; and blood ſhall be from the ſword unto the belly, 36 And dung of men unto the camels hough. 37 And there ſhall be great fearfulneſs and trembling upon earth: and they that ſee the wrath ſhall be afraid, and trembling ſhall come upon them. 38 And then ſhall there come great ſtorms from the ſouth, and from the north, and another part from the weſt. 39 And ſtrong winds ſhall ariſe from the eaſt, and ſhall open it, and the cloud which he raiſed up in wrath, and the ſtar ſtirred to cauſe fear toward the eaſt and weſt-wind, ſhall be deſtroyed. 40 The great and mighty clouds ſhall be lifted up full of wrath, and the ſtar, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein; and they ſhall pour out over every high and eminent place, an horrible ſtar. 41 Fire and hail, and flying ſwords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all rivers with the abundance of great waters. 42 And they ſhall break down the cities, and walls, mountains and hills, trees of the wood, and graſs of the meadows, and their corn. 43 And they ſhall go ſtedfaſtly unto Babylon, and make her afraid. 44 They ſhall come to her and beſiege her, the ſtar and all wrath ſhall they pour out upon her, then ſhall the duſt and ſmoak go up unto the heaven, and all that be about her ſhall bewail her. 45 And they that remain under her, ſhall do ſervice unto them that have put her in fear. 46 And thou Aſia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and art the glory of her perſon: 47 Wo be unto thee, thou wretch, becauſe thou haſt made thy ſelf like unto her, and haſt deckt thy daughters in whoredom, that they might pleaſe and glory in thy lovers, which have alway deſired to commit whoredom with thee. 48 Thou haſt followed her that is hated in all her works and inventions: therefore ſaith God, 49 I will ſend plagues upon thee, widowhood, poverty, famine, ſword and peſtilence, to waſte thy houſes with deſtruction and death. 50 And the glory of thy power ſhall be dried up as a flower, when the heat ſhall ariſe that is ſent over thee. 51 Thou ſhalt be weakened as a poor woman with ſtripes, and as one chaſtiſed with wounds, ſo that the mighty and lovers ſhall not be able to receive thee. 52 Would I with jealouſy have ſo proceeded againſt thee, ſaith the Lord, 53 If thou hadſt not alway ſlain my choſen, exalting the ſtroke of thine hands, and ſaying over their dead, when thou waſt drunken, 54 Set forth the beauty of thy countenance? 55 The reward of thy whoredom ſhall be in thy boſom, therefore ſhalt thou receive recompenſe. 56 Like as thou haſt done unto my choſen, ſaith the Lord, even ſo ſhall God do unto thee, and ſhall deliver thee into miſchief. 57 Thy children ſhall die of hunger, and thou ſhalt fall through the ſword: thy cities ſhall be broken down, and all thine ſhall periſh with the ſword in the field. 58 They that be in the mountains ſhall die of hunger, and eat their own fleſh, and drink their own blood, for very hunger of bread, and thirſt of water. 59 Thou as unhappy ſhalt come through the ſea, and receive plagues again. 60 And in the paſſage they ſhall ruſh on the idle city, and ſhall deſtroy ſome portion of thy land, and conſume part of thy glory, and ſhall return to Babylon that was deſtroyed. 61 And thou ſhalt be caſt down by them as ſtubble, and they ſhall be unto thee as fire: 62 And ſhall conſume thee and thy cities, thy land and thy mountains; all thy woods and thy fruitful trees ſhall they burn up with fire. 63 Thy children ſhall they carry away captive, and look what thou haſt, they ſhall ſpoil it, and marr the beauty of thy face.

God threatens the ſevereſt Judgments againſt thoſe that have been the Perſecutors of his People, to the 28th Verſe: But the Meaning of the Nations of the Dragons of Arabia, and ſeveral Paſſages that follow, is paſt my Skill to explain, with any Probability of Succeſs, or Satisfaction to myſelf, and therefore, I ſuppoſe, will be none to the Reader; whom I muſt leave to judge for himſelf.

CHAP. XVI.

Babylon and other Places are threatened with unavoidable Plagues. The Servants of God muſt look for Troubles.

Ver. 1. WO be unto thee, Babylon and Aſia: wo be unto thee, Egypt and Syria. 2 Gird up yourſelves with cloaths of ſack and hair, bewail your children and be ſorry; for your deſtruction is at hand. 3 A ſword is ſent upon you, and who may turn it back? 4 A fire is ſent among you, and who may quench it? 5 Plagues are ſent unto you, and what is he that may drive them away? 6 May any man drive away an hungry lion in the wood? or may any one quench the fire in ſtubble when it hath begun to burn? 7 May one turn again the arrow that is ſhot of a ſtrong archer? 8 The mighty Lord ſendeth the plagues, and who is he that can drive them away? 9 A fire ſhall go forth from his wrath, and who is he that may quench it? 10 He ſhall caſt lightnings, and who ſhall not fear? he ſhall thunder, and who ſhall not be afraid? 11 The Lord ſhall threaten, and who ſhall not be utterly beaten to powder at his preſence? 12 The earth quaketh, and the foundations thereof, the ſea ariſeth up with waves from the deep, and the waves of it are troubled, and the fiſhes thereof alſo before the Lord, and before the glory of his power. 13 For ſtrong is his right hand that bendeth the bow, his arrows that he ſhooteth are ſharp, and ſhall not miſs when they begin to be ſhot into the ends of the world. 14 Behold, the plagues are ſent, and ſhall not return again, until they come upon the earth. 15 The fire is kindled, and ſhall not be put out, till it conſume the foundation of the earth. 16 Like as an arrow which is ſhot of a mighty archer, returneth not backward: even ſo the plagues that ſhall be ſent upon earth, ſhall not return again. 17 Wo is me, wo is me, who will deliver me in thoſe days? 18 The beginning of ſorrows and great mournings; the beginning of famine and great dearth; the beginning of wars, and the powers ſhall ſtand in fear; the beginning of evils: what ſhall I do when theſe evils ſhall come? 19 Behold, famine and plague, tribulation and anguiſh are ſent as ſcourges for amendment. 20 But for all theſe things they ſhall not turn from their wickedneſs, nor be alway mindful of thy ſcourges. 21 Behold, victuals ſhall be ſo good cheap upon earth, that they ſhall think themſelves to be in good caſe, and even then ſhall evils grow upon earth, ſword, famine, and great confuſion. 22 For many of them that dwell upon earth, ſhall periſh of famine; and the other that eſcape the hunger, ſhall the ſword deſtroy. 23 And the dead ſhall be caſt out as dung, and there ſhall be no man to comfort them: for the earth ſhall be waſted, and the cities ſhall be caſt down. 24 There ſhall be no man left to till the earth, and to ſow it. 25 The trees ſhall give fruit, and who ſhall gather them? 26 The grapes ſhall ripen, and who ſhall tread them? for all places ſhall be deſolate of men: 27 So that one man ſhall deſire to ſee another, and to hear his voice. 28 For of a city there ſhall be ten left, and two of the field, which ſhall hide themſelves in the thick groves, and in the clefts of the rocks. 29 As in an orchard of olives, upon every tree there are left three or four olives; 30 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left ſome cluſters of them that diligently ſeek through the vineyard: 31 Even ſo in thoſe days there ſhall be three or four left by them that ſearch their houſes with the ſword. 32 And the earth ſhall be laid waſte, and the fields thereof ſhall wax old, and her ways, and all her paths ſhall grow full of thorns, becauſe no man ſhall travel therethrough. 33 The virgins ſhall mourn, having no bridegrooms; the women ſhall mourn, having no huſbands; their daughters ſhall mourn, having no helpers. 34 In the wars ſhall their bridegrooms be deſtroyed, and their huſbands ſhall periſh of famine. 35 Hear now theſe things, and underſtand them, ye ſervants of the Lord. 36 Behold the word of the Lord, receive it: believe not the gods of whom the Lord ſpake. 37 Behold, the plagues draw nigh, and are not ſlack. 38 As when a woman with child in the ninth month bringeth forth her ſon, within two or three hours of her birth, great pains compaſs her womb, which pains when the child cometh forth, they ſlack not a moment: 39 Even ſo ſhall not the plagues be ſlack to come upon the earth, and the world ſhall mourn, and ſorrow ſhall come upon it on every ſide. 40 O my people, hear my word: make you ready to the battel, and in thoſe evils, be even as pilgrims upon the earth. 41 He that ſelleth, let him be as he that fleeth away: and he that buyeth, as one that will loſe: 42 He that occupieth merchandiſe, as he that had no profit by it: and he that buildeth, as he that ſhall not dwell therein: 43 He that ſoweth, as if he ſhould not reap: ſo alſo he that planteth the vineyard, as he that ſhall not gather the grapes: 44 They that marry, as they that ſhall get no children; and they that marry not, as the widowers. 45 And therefore they that labour, labour in vain. 46 For ſtrangers ſhall reap their fruits, and ſpoil their goods, overthrow their houſes, and take their children captives, for in captivity and famine ſhall they get children. 47 And they that occupy their merchandiſe with robbery, the more they deck their cities, their houſes, their poſſeſſions, and their own perſons: 48 The more will I be angry with them for their ſins, ſaith the Lord. 49 Like as an whore envieth a right honeſt and vertuous woman: 50 So ſhall righteouſneſs hate iniquity, when ſhe decketh herſelf, and ſhall accuſe her to her face, when he cometh that ſhall defend him that diligently ſearcheth out every ſin upon earth. 51 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the works thereof. 52 For yet a little, and iniquity ſhall be taken away out of the earth, and righteouſneſs ſhall reign among you. 53 Let not the ſinner ſay that he hath not ſinned: for God ſhall burn coals of fire upon his head, which ſaith before the Lord God and his glory, I have not ſinned. 54 Behold, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts. 55 Which ſpake but the word, Let the earth be made, and it was made: Let the heaven be made, and it was created. 56 In his word were the ſtars made, and he knoweth the number of them. 57 He ſearcheth the deep, and the trea-treaſures thereof; he hath meaſured the ſea, and what it containeth. 58 He hath ſhut the ſea in the midſt of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth upon the waters. 59 He ſpreadeth out the heavens like a vault, upon the waters hath he founded it. 60 In the deſart hath he made ſprings of water, and pools upon the tops of the mountains, that the floods might pour down from the high rocks to water the earth. 61 He made man, and put his heart in the midſt of the body, and gave him breath, life, and underſtanding. 62 Yea, and the Spirit of Almighty God, which made all things, and ſearcheth out all hidden things in the ſecrets of the earth, 63 Surely he knoweth your inventions, and what you think in your hearts, even them that ſin, and would hide their ſin. 64 Therefore hath the Lord exactly ſearched out all your works, and he will put you all to ſhame. 65 And when your ſins are brought forth, ye ſhall be aſhamed before men, and your own ſins ſhall be your accuſers in that day. 66 What will ye do? or how will you hide your ſins before God and his angels? 67 Behold, God himſelf is the judge, fear him: leave off from your ſins, and forget your iniquities to meddle no more with them for ever; ſo ſhall God lead you forth, and deliver you from all trouble. 68 For behold, the burning wrath of a great multitude is kindled over you, and they ſhall take away certain of you, and feed you being idle with things offered unto idols. 69 And they that conſent unto them ſhall be had in deriſion, and in reproach, and troden under foot. 70 For there ſhall be in every place, and in the next cities a great inſurrection upon thoſe that fear the Lord. 71 They ſhall be like mad-men, ſparing none, but ſtill ſpoiling and deſtroying thoſe that fear the Lord. 72 For they ſhall waſte and take away their goods, and caſt them out of their houſes. 73 Then ſhall they be known who are my choſen, and they ſhall be tried as the gold in the fire. 74 Hear, O ye, my beloved, ſaith the Lord: behold, the days of trouble are at hand, but I will deliver you from the ſame. 75 Be ye not afraid, neither doubt, for God is your guide, 76 And the guide of them who keep my commandments and precepts, ſaith the Lord God: Let not your ſins weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift up themſelves. 77 Wo be unto them that are bound with their ſins, and covered with their iniquities: like as a field is covered over with buſhes, and the path thereof covered with thorns, that no man may travel through. 78 It is left undreſſed, and is caſt into the fire, to be conſumed therewith.

The Places mentioned in the firſt Verſe, tho' they were always ſore Enemies to Iſrael, and therefore may here be literally meant; yet, I apprehend, may figuratively denote all thoſe Princes, Nations and Kingdoms that have perſecuted the Church of God in all Ages; for which he will puniſh them in the moſt ſignal and exemplary Manner, with War, Famine, Peſtilence, and Sword.

From Ver. 71. to the End, Eſdras foretels that Perſecutions ſhall attend the Righteous, but that God will deliver them from their Troubles.

The Inſpiration, which this counterfeit Eſdras all along pretends to, is ſo full of Abſurdities and Inconſiſtencies, that we have all the Reaſon in the World to account it ſpurious and apocryphal.

An EXPOSITION of the Book of TOBIT.

The ARGUMENT.

This Book of Tobit was never held, either by the Jews or antient Chriſtians, to be canonical, tho' the Church of Rome, by a Decree of the Council of Trent, thought fit to receive it as ſuch; but it was inſerted in the ſacred Hiſtory, becauſe it has been allowed by the Generality of Chriſtian Fathers, to be a true Hiſtory of this particular Family, a good Exemplar of Charity and Benevolence, and an excellent Pattern of paternal Care, and filial Obedience. The Book itſelf is ſuppoſed to have been wrote, the former Part of it by Tobit, and the latter by his Son; at leaſt it is thought, that they left behind them Memoirs of their Family, and ſuch Materials, as a late Author, who lived very likely either in, or after the Captivity (becauſe the Words Raphael, Gabriel, and Michael are allowed to be Babyloniſh) might compile and digeſt it into proper Order. It is not doubted, but that the Original of this Book was either in Hebrew, or Chaldee. St. Jerom having met with a Chaldee Copy of it, did not queſtion but that he had got the Original, and accordingly employed a Man, that was perfectly well ſkilled in that Language, to render it into Hebrew, whilſt himſelf tranſlated it into Latin; and this is the Verſion which the Church of Rome chiefly eſteems. But before this Verſion, there was another (which is reckoned the moſt antient) done into Greek; but who the Author of it was, or from what Language he tranſlated it, we have but ſmall Foundation for Conjecture; tho' ſome have been apt to think, that it came from the ſame Fountain from whence St. Jerom had his, but that the Tranſlator had taken ſuch Freedoms with the Text, as obliged him to re-tranſlate it. The Latin Tranſlation, which was in Uſe before St. Jerom appeared, ſeems to have been taken from the the Greek, tho' in many Places it varies from it, by abridging ſometimes, and ſometimes amplifying the Narration: The Hebrew Copies, publiſhed by Fagius and Munſter, are nothing but Tranſlations (and thoſe very modern ones) from the Greek or Latin Verſions, tho' in many Places of the Book, they take the Freedom to vary from them. That of Munſter is ſuppoſed to have been done by himſelf, and that of Fagius by the Jews of Conſtantinople, in the Year 1517, and has ſo near a Conformity to the Greek, that no manner of Doubt is to be made of its being deſcended from thence. Theſe are the ſeveral Verſions that we have of the Book of Tobit, which as it was not received into the Canon of the Jews, was not therefore admitted into that of the antient Chriſtian Authors, who confined themſelves to thoſe Books which the Jews acknowledge to be canonical. 'Tis certain, that neither Joſephus, nor Philo, nor any of the antient Jewiſh Writers make Mention of that Copy which St. Jerom took ſo much Pains about, nor do they regiſter it among their ſacred Books. Fagius pretends, that this Book of Tobit does not contain a true Hiſtory, but a pious Fiction only, wherein, under borrowed Names, the Characters of a Father and a Son, truely pious, are ſet forth; and our learned Prideaux ſeems to go farther, when he tells us, 'That there are ſome Matters in it, which are not ſo reconci-

'lable to a rational Credibility, which look indeed more like the Fictions of Homer, than the Wri'tings of a ſacred Hiſtorian, and gives ſuch an Objection againſt the Book as does not lie againſt any 'other.' But notwithſtanding theſe Allegations, we may be aſſured, that the Jews had all along a great Regard for this Book. Origen, in his Epiſtle to Africanus, tells us, that the antient Chriſtians read it, tho' they placed it among their apocryphal Writings. St. Jerom acknowledges, that tho' they did not receive it into their Canon, yet they admitted it among their Hagiographa. Grotius owns, that they read this Book, and looked upon it as a true Hiſtory; and our own Prideaux confeſſes, that it is of great Uſe to repreſent to us the Duties of Charity and Patience, in the Example of Tobit's ready helping his Brethren in Diſtreſs, to the utmoſt of his Power; and his bearing with a pious Submiſſion, the Calamities of his Captivity, Poverty, and Blindneſs, as long as they were inflicted on him.

CHAP. I.

Tobit's Lineage and Piety; his Marriage; Captivity; Preferment; Charity; his Flight, and Return to Nineveh.

Ver. 1. THE book of the words of Tobit, ſon of Tobiel, the ſon of Ananiel, the ſon of Aduel, the ſon of Gabael, of the ſeed of Aſael, of the tribe of Nephthali, 2 Who in the time of Enemeſſar king of the Aſſyrians, was led captive out of Thiſbe, which is at the right hand of that city, which is called properly Nephthali in Galilee above Aſer. 3 I Tobit have walked all the days of my life in the way of truth and juſtice, and I did many alms-deeds to my brethren, and my Nation who came with me to Nineve into the land of the Aſſyrians. 4 And when I was in mine own country in the land of Iſrael, being but young, all the tribe of Nephthali my father, fell from the houſe of Jeruſalem, which was choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael, that all the tribes ſhould ſacrifice there, where the temple of the habitation of the moſt High was conſecrated and built for all ages. 5 Now all the tribes which together revolted, and the houſe of my father Nephthali, ſacrificed unto the heifer Baal. 6 But I alone went often to Jeruſalem at the feaſts, as it was ordained unto all the people of Iſrael, by an everlaſting decree, having the firſt-fruits and tenths of increaſe, with that which was firſt ſhorn; and them gave I at the altar to the prieſts the children of Aaron. 7 The firſt tenth part of all increaſe I gave to the ſons of Aaron, who miniſtred at Jeruſalem: another tenth part I ſold away, and went and ſpent it every year at Jeruſalem: 8 And the third I gave unto them to whom it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me, becauſe I was left an orphan by my father. 9 Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine own kindred, and of her I begat Tobias. 10 And when we were carried away captives to Nineve, all my brethren, and thoſe that were of my kindred, did eat of the bread of the Gentiles. 11 But I kept myſelf from eating. 12 Becauſe I remembred God with all my heart. 13 And the moſt High gave me grace and favour before Enemeſſar, ſo that I was his purveyor. 14 And I went into Media, and left in truſt with Gabael the brother of Gabrias at Rages a city of Media, ten talents of ſilver. 15 Now when Enemeſſar was dead, Sennacherib his ſon reigned in his ſtead; whoſe eſtate was troubled, that I could not go into Media. 16 And in the time of Enemeſſar, I gave many alms to my brethren, and gave my bread to the hungry, 17 And my cloaths to the naked: and if I ſaw any of my nation dead, or caſt about the walls of Nineve, I buried him. 18 And if the king Sennacherib had ſlain any, when he was come, and fled from Judea, I buried them privily, (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were ſought for of the king. 19 And when one of the Ninevites went and complained of me to the king, that I buried them, and hid myſelf; underſtanding that I was ſought for to be put to death, I withdrew myſelf for fear. 20 Then all my goods were forcibly taken away, neither was there any thing left me, beſides my wife Anna, and my ſon Tobias. 21 And there paſſed not five and fifty days, before two of his ſons killed him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his ſon reigned in his ſtead; who appointed over his fathers accounts, and over all his affairs, Achiacharus my brother Anaels ſon. 22 And Achiacharus intreating for me, I returned to Nineve: now Achiacharus was cup-bearer, and keeper of the ſignet, and ſteward and overſeer of the accounts: and Sarchedonus appointed him next unto him: and he was my brothers ſon.

CHAP. II.

Tobit's Diligence in burying the Dead; becomes blind. His Wife takes in Work to get a Living. Her Huſband and ſhe fall out about a Kid.

Ver. 1. NOW when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was reſtored unto me with my ſon Tobias, in the feaſt of Pentecoſt, which is the holy feaſt of the ſeven weeks, there was a good dinner prepared for me, in the which I ſat down to eat. 2 And when I ſaw abundance of meat, I ſaid to my ſon, Go and bring what poor man ſoever thou ſhalt find out of our brethren, who is mindful of the Lord; and lo, I tarry for thee. 3 But he came again, and ſaid, Father, one of our nation is ſtrangled, and is caſt out in the market-place. 4 Then before I had taſted of any meat, I ſtarted up, and took him up into a room, until the going down of the ſun. 5 Then I returned and waſhed myſelf, and ate my meat in heavineſs, 6 Remembring that propheſy of Amos, as he ſaid, Your feaſts ſhall be turned into mourning, and all your mirth into lamentation. 7 Therefore I wept: and after the going down of the ſun, I went and made a grave, and buried him. 8 But my neighbours mocked me, and ſaid, This man is not yet afraid to be put to death for this matter: who fled away, and yet lo, he burieth the dead again. 9 The ſame night alſo I returned from the burial, and ſlept by the wall of my court-yard, being polluted, and my face was uncovered: 10 And I knew not that there were ſparrows in the wall, and mine eyes being open, the ſparrows muted warm dung into mine eyes, and a whiteneſs came in mine eyes, and I went to the phyſicians, but they helped me not: moreover Achiacharus did nouriſh me, until I went into Elymais. 11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to do. 12 And when ſhe had ſent them home to the owners, they payed her wages, and gave her alſo beſides a kid. 13 And when it was in my houſe, and began to cry, I ſaid unto her, From whence is this kid? is it not ſtoln? render it to the owners, for it is not lawful to eat any thing that is ſtoln. 14 But ſhe replied upon me, It was given for a gift more than the wages: howbeit, I did not believe her, but bade her render it to the owners: and I was abaſhed at her. But ſhe replied upon me, Where are thine alms, and thy righteous deeds? Behold, thou and all thy works are known.

In the firſt Part of this Chapter, Tobit relates an Act of his Charity and Humanity in burying the dead Corpſe of an Iſraelite, who had been murdered, and denied common Burial. This Inſtance of Cruelty ſhews, in ſome Meaſure, the Hardſhips the Iſraelites laboured under in their Captivity, and brought to Tobit's Mind that Prophecy of Amos, Ch. viii. 10. I will turn your Feaſts into Mourning, and all your Songs into Lamentation.

The Sparrows muted warm Dung into mine Eyes, and a Whiteneſs came in mine Eyes, &c.] It ſhould be tranſlated Swallows, as the Hebrew Word ſignifies. That the Dung of Swallows is of a very hot and cauſtick Quality, and, when dropt into the Eye, muſt needs be injurious to the Sight, as being apt to cauſe an Inflammation, and thereby a Concretion of Humours, which, in Proceſs of Time, may produce a white Film, that will obſtruct the Light from the optick Nerves; and that the Gall of a Fiſh (eſpecially of the Fiſh Callionimus) is of excellent Uſe to remove all ſuch Specks and Obſtructions to the Sight (as Tobit's was, and by which Means he was cured, ſee Ch. xi. 11, 12, 13.) we have the Teſtimony of ſome of the greateſt Men, Phyſicians and Naturaliſts, to produce in Confirmation of this Part of Tobit's Hiſtory.

CHAP. III.

Tobit is vexed with his Wife's Taunts. Sara being reproached, grieves and prays. An Angel is ſent to relieve both her and Tobit.

Ver. 1. THEN I being grieved did weep, and in my ſorrow prayed, ſaying, 2 O Lord, thou art juſt, and all thy works and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou judgeſt truly and juſtly for ever. 3 Remember me, and look on me; puniſh me not for my ſins and ignorances, and the ſins of my fathers, who have ſinned before thee: 4 For they obeyed not thy commandments; wherefore thou haſt delivered us for a ſpoil, and unto captivity, and unto death, and for a proverb of reproach to all the nations among whom we are diſperſed. 5 And now thy judgments are many and true: Deal with me according to my ſins, and my fathers: becauſe we have not kept thy commandments, neither have walked in truth before thee. 6 Now therefore deal with me as ſeemeth beſt unto thee, and command my ſpirit to be taken from me, that I may be diſſolved, and become earth: for it is profitable for me to die, rather than to live, becauſe I have heard falſe reproaches, and have much ſorrow: command therefore that I may now be delivered out of this diſtreſs, and go into the everlaſting place: turn not thy face away from me. 7 It came to paſs the ſame day, that in Ecbatane a city of Media, Sara the daughter of Raguel was alſo reproached by her fathers maids; 8 Becauſe that ſhe had been married to ſeven huſbands, whom Aſmodeus the evil ſpirit had killed before they had lien with her. Doſt thou not know, ſaid they, that thou haſt ſtrangled thine huſbands? thou haſt had already ſeven huſbands, neither waſt thou named after any of them. 9 Wherefore doſt thou beat us for them? If they be dead, go thy ways after them, let us never ſee of thee either ſon or daughter. 10 When ſhe heard theſe things, ſhe was very ſorrowful, ſo that ſhe thought to have ſtrangled herſelf, and ſhe ſaid, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this, it ſhall be a reproach unto him, and I ſhall bring his old age with ſorrow unto the grave. 11 Then ſhe prayed toward the window, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious name is bleſſed, and honourable for ever: let all thy works praiſe thee for ever. 12 And now, O Lord, I ſet mine eyes and my face toward thee, 13 And ſay, Take me out of the earth, that I may hear no more the reproach. 14 Thou knoweſt, Lord, that I am pure from all ſin with man, 15

And that I never polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my father, neither hath he any child to be his heir, neither any near kinſman, nor any ſon of his alive, to whom I may keep myſelf for a wife: my ſeven huſbands are already dead, and why ſhould I live? but if it pleaſe not thee that I ſhould die, command ſome regard to be had of me, and pity taken of me, that I hear no more reproach. 16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the majeſty of the great God. 17 And Raphael was ſent to heal them both, that is, to ſcale away the whiteneſs of Tobits eyes, and to give Sara the daughter of Raguel, for a wife to Tobias the ſon of Tobit; and to bind Aſmodeus the evil ſpirit, becauſe ſhe belonged to Tobias by right of inheritance. The ſelf-ſame time came Tobit home, and entred into his houſe, and Sara the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper chamber.

Wherefore doſt thou beat us for them?] From this Paſſage it ſeems, as if Sara, who had been married to ſeven Huſbands, and never enjoyed by either of them, was ſo extremely chagrin'd on that Account, that ſhe vented her Paſſion upon her Father's Maids; which is natural enough to ſuppoſe; ſince a Diſappointment of this Kind is a Mortification not eaſily ſupported, eſpecially by one who had been ſeven Times a Bride, and never once enjoyed the Firſt-fruits of her Marriage.

CHAP. IV.

Tobit inſtructs his Son in his future Conduct, and tells him of the Money which he had depoſited in the Hands of Gabael.

Ver. 1. IN that day Tobit remembred the money which he had committed to Gabael in Rages of Media. 2 And ſaid with himſelf, I have wiſhed for death; wherefore do I not call for my ſon Tobias, that I may ſignify to him of the money before I die? 3 And when he had called him, he ſaid, My ſon, when I am dead, bury me, and deſpiſe not thy mother, but honour her all the days of thy life, and do that which ſhall pleaſe her, and grieve her not. 4 Remember, my ſon, that ſhe ſaw many dangers for thee, when thou waſt in her womb; and when ſhe is dead, bury her by me in one grave. 5 My ſon, be mindful of the Lord our God all thy days, and let not thy will be ſet to ſin, or to tranſgreſs his commandments: do uprightly all thy life long, and follow not the ways of unrighteouſneſs. 6 For if thou deal truly, thy doings ſhall proſperouſly ſucceed to thee, and to all them that live juſtly. 7 Give alms of thy ſubſtance: and when thou giveſt alms, let not thine eye be envious, neither turn thy face from any poor, and the face of God ſhall not be turned away from thee. 8 If thou haſt abundance, give alms accordingly: if thou have but a little, be not afraid to give according to that little. 9 For thou layeſt up a good treaſure for thyſelf againſt the day of neceſſity. 10 Becauſe that alms do deliver from death, and ſuffereth not to come into darkneſs. 11 For alms is a good gift unto all that give it in the ſight of the moſt High. 12 Beware of all whoredom, my ſon, and chiefly take a wife of the ſeed of thy fathers, and take not a ſtrange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers tribe: for we are the children of the prophets, Noe, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: remember, my ſon, that our fathers from the beginning, even that they all married wives of their own kindred, and were bleſſed in their children, and their ſeed ſhall inherit the land. 13 Now therefore, my ſon, love thy brethren, and deſpiſe not in thy heart thy brethren, the ſons and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is deſtruction and much trouble, and in lewdneſs is decay and great want: for lewdneſs is the mother of famine. 14 Let not the wages of any man which hath wrought for thee, tarry with thee, but give him it out of hand: for if thou ſerve God, he will alſo repay thee: be circumſpect, my ſon, in all things thou doeſt, and be wiſe in all thy converſation. 15 Do that to no man which thou hateſt: drink not wine to make thee drunken; neither let drunkenneſs go with thee in thy journey. 16 Give of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and according to thine abundance give alms; and let not thine eye be envious when thou giveſt alms. 17 Pour out thy bread on the burial of the juſt, but give nothing to the wicked. 18 Aſk counſel of all that are wiſe, and deſpiſe not any counſel that is profitable. 19 Bleſs the Lord thy God alway, and deſire of him, that thy ways may be directed, and that all thy paths and counſels may proſper: for every nation hath not counſel, but the Lord himſelf giveth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will; now therefore, my ſon, remember my commandments, neither let them be put out of thy mind. 20 And now I ſignify this to thee, that I committed ten talents to Gabael, the ſon of Gabrias at Rages in Media. 21 And fear not, my ſon, that we are made poor: for thou haſt much wealth, if thou fear God, and depart from all ſin, and do that which is pleaſing in his ſight.

This Chapter, in the Inſtance of Tobit, exhibits a very pious Example of paternal Regard for the Welfare and Proſperity of a Son. In Tobit's Inſtructions are obſervable his Tenderneſs, his Piety, his Prudence, his ſtrict Regard to the Honour of God, and his affectionate Concern for the future Happineſs of his only Son Tobias; and his Advice is ſo judiciouſly calculated for that End, that Tobias could not miſs the Way, nor fail of Succeſs, if he governed his Conduct by theſe Rules; as it's preſumed he did, from the good Account we have of him in the following Chapters.

CHAP. V.

Raphael, in the Diſguiſe of a Man, is hired to go with Tobias into Media; they depart together, but Tobias's Mother is grieved.

Ver. 1. TObias then anſwered and ſaid, Father, I will do all things which thou haſt commanded me. 2 But how can I receive the money, ſeeing I know him not? 3 Then he gave him the hand-writing, and ſaid unto him, Seek thee a man which may go with thee while I yet live, and I will give him wages: and go and receive the money. 4 Therefore when he went to ſeek a man, he found Raphael that was an angel. 5 But he knew not; and he ſaid unto him, Canſt thou go with me to Rages? and and knoweſt thou thoſe places well? 6 To whom the angel ſaid, I will go with thee, and I know the way well: for I have lodged with our brother Gabael. 7 Then Tobias ſaid unto him, Tarry for me till I tell my father. 8 Then he ſaid unto him, Go, and tarry not: ſo he went in, and ſaid to his father, Behold, I have found one which will go with me. Then he ſaid, Call him unto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be a truſty man to go with thee. 9 So he called him, and he came in, and they ſaluted one another. 10 Then Tobit ſaid unto him, Brother, ſhew me of what tribe and family thou art. 11 To whom he ſaid, Doſt thou ſeek for a tribe or family, or an hired man to go with thy ſon? Then Tobit ſaid unto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and name. 12 Then he ſaid, I am Azarias, the ſon of Ananias the great, and of thy brethren. 13 Then Tobit ſaid, Thou art welcome, brother, be not now angry with me, becauſe I have inquired to know thy tribe and thy family, for thou art my brother, of an honeſt and good ſtock: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, ſons of that great Samaias: as we went together to Jeruſalem to worſhip, and offered the firſt-born, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not ſeduced with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a good ſtock. 14 But tell me, what wages ſhall I give thee? wilt thou a drachme a day and things neceſſary, as to mine own ſon? 15 Yea, moreover, if ye return ſafe, I will add ſomething to thy wages. 16 So they were well pleaſed. Then ſaid he to Tobias, Prepare thyſelf for the journey, and God ſend you a good journey. And when his ſon had prepared all things for the journey, his father ſaid, Go thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heaven proſper your journey, and the angel of God keep you company. So they went forth both, and the young mans dog with them. 17 But Anna his mother wept, and ſaid to Tobit, Why haſt thou ſent away our ſon? is he not the ſtaff of our hand in going in and out before us? 18 Be not greedy (to add) money to money: but let it be as refuſe in reſpect of our child. 19 For that which the Lord hath given us to live with, doth ſuffice us. 20 Then ſaid Tobit to her, Take no care, my ſiſter; he ſhall return in ſafety, and thine eyes ſhall ſee him. 21 For the good angel will keep him company, and his journey ſhall be proſperous, and he ſhall return ſafe. 22 Then ſhe made an end of weeping.

That good Angels are appointed by God to be the Guardians of particular Men, and, in Execution of this their Office, do frequently aſſume human Shapes, to guide them in their Journeys, and to deliver them from all Dangers, is a Doctrine as antient as the Patriarch Jacob's Time, embraced by Chriſtians, and believed by the wiſeſt Heathens. See Gen. xlviii. 16. Pſ. xxxiv. 7. Matt. xviii. 10. Acts xii. 15. Heſiod, Plato, and Apuleius; and that every Man, in like Manner, has an evil Angel, or Genius whereof ſome preſide over one Vice, and ſome over another; inſomuch that there are Demons of Avarice, Demons of Pride, and Demons of Impurity, &c. each endeavouring to enſnare the Perſon he attends with a complexional Temptation, is another Poſition, that has been almoſt generally received, not only in the Jewiſh and Chriſtian, but in the Pagan Theology likewiſe: For Proof of which conſult Buxtorf, Baſnage, Orpheus, Plutarch. 1 Pet. v. 8. Matt. vii. 32, 33. Luke xiii. 11, 16. See Stackhouſe's Diſſert. on Tobit.

Then he ſaid, I am Azarias, the Son of Ananias the great, and of thy Brethren] That this good Angel, perſonating an Iſraelite, (ſays the laſt cited Author) and calling himſelf Azarias, the Son of Ananias, was not guilty of any Lie or Prevarication, is plain from Caſes of the like Nature. For, as the Picture is uſually called by the Perſon it repreſents, and he, who in Tragedy, acts the Part of Cato, does, for that Time, go under his Name; ſo Raphael being ſent by God in the Form and Appearance of a young Man, was, in that Capacity, to act and ſpeak as if he had been ſuch. Nor was there any Fallacy in aſſuming the Name of Azarias, which ſignifies God's Help, or Aſſiſtance, ſince he was manifeſtly ſent for this very Purpoſe, that he might be a Guide and Aſſiſtant to Tobias in his Journey, and therefore very prudently concealed his Quality of an Angel, that he might more conveniently execute his Commiſſion.

CHAP. VI.

Tobias going into the River, a Fiſh makes at him, which the Angel commands him to catch, and take out its Liver, Heart, and Gall; bids him marry Sara, Raguel's Daughter, and inſtructs him how to drive away the evil Spirit.

Ver. 1. AND as they went on their journey, they came in the evening to the river Tigris, and they lodged there. 2 And when the young man went down to waſh himſelf, a fiſh leaped out of the river, and would have devoured him. 3 Then the angel ſaid unto him, Take the fiſh: and the young man laid hold of the fiſh, and drew it to land. 4 To whom the angel ſaid, Open the fiſh, and take the heart, and the liver, and the gall, and put them up ſafely. 5 So the young man did as the angel commanded him; and when they had roaſted the fiſh, they did eat it: then they both went on their way, till they drew near to Ecbatane. 6 Then the young man ſaid to the angel, Brother Azarias, to what uſe is the heart, and the liver, and the gall of the fiſh? 7 And he ſaid unto him, Touching the heart, and the liver, if a devil or an evil ſpirit trouble any, we muſt make a ſmoak thereof before the man or the woman, and the party ſhall be no more vexed. 8 As for the gall, it is good to anoint a man that hath whiteneſs in his eyes, and he ſhall be healed. 9 And when they were come near to Rages, 10 The angel ſaid to the young man, Brother, to day we ſhall lodge with Raguel, who is thy couſin; he alſo hath one only daughter named Sara; I will ſpeak for her that ſhe may be given thee for a wife. 11 For to thee doth the right of her appertain, ſeeing thou only art of her kindred. 12 And the maid is fair and wiſe: now therefore hear me, and I will ſpeak to her father; and when we return from Rages, we will celebrate the marriage: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another according to the law of Moſes, but he ſhall be guilty of death, becauſe the right of inheritance doth rather appertain to thee than to any other. 13 Then the young man anſwered the angel, I have heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hath been given to ſeven men, who all died in the marriage-chamber. 14 And now I am the only ſon of my father, and I am afraid, leſt if I go in unto her, I die as the other before: for a wicked wicked ſpirit loveth her, which hurteth no body, but thoſe which come unto her; wherefore I alſo fear leſt I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life (becauſe of me) to the grave with ſorrow: for they have no other ſon to bury them. 15 Then the angel ſaid unto him, Doſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gave thee, that thou ſhouldeſt marry a wife of thine own kindred? wherefore hear me, O my brother, for ſhe ſhall be given thee to wife; and make thou no reckoning of the evil ſpirit; for this ſame night ſhall ſhe be given thee in marriage. 16 And when thou ſhalt come into the marriage-chamber, thou ſhalt take the aſhes of perfume, and ſhalt lay upon them ſome of the heart and liver of the fiſh, and ſhalt make a ſmoak with it: 17 And the devil ſhall ſmell it, and flee away, and never come again any more: but when thou ſhalt come to her, riſe up both of you, and pray to God which is merciful, who will have pity on you, and ſave you: fear not, for ſhe is appointed unto thee from the beginning; and thou ſhalt preſerve her, and ſhe ſhall go with thee: moreover, I ſuppoſe that ſhe ſhall bear thee children. Now when Tobias had heard theſe things, he loved her, and his heart was effectually joined to her.

And the Devil ſhall ſmell it, and flee away] Thoſe who are of Opinion, ſays Stackhouſe, that Demons, or evil Angels, were inveſted with certain material Forms, wherein they ſnuffed up the Perfumes, and feaſted themſelves upon the Odours of the Incenſe and Sacrifices that were offered to them, have an eaſy Way of ſolving this Difficulty, by ſuppoſing that the Smell of the burnt Heart and Liver of the Fiſh, was offenſive to Aſmodeus, even as they pretend, that in ſome Herbs, Plants, Stones, and other natural Things, there is a certain Virtue to drive away Demons, and to hinder them from coming into ſuch a determinate Place. The Chaldeans, among whom the Book of Tobit was writ, and the Iſraelites, for whoſe Uſe and Inſtruction it was wrote, might both be of this Opinion: — That Demons, as not abſolutely diveſted of all Matter, were capable of the ſame Senſations and Impreſſions that belonged to corporeal Subſtances; and therefore, in Accommodation to the vulgar Idea, and Prejudice of the People, the Author of this Hiſtory might expreſs himſelf, as tho' the Expulſion of this evil Spirit was effected by a natural Cauſe, the Smoak of the Fiſh, even tho', at the ſame Time, he ſufficiently intimates, that it was by a Divine Power that it came to paſs, becauſe we find the Angel thus enjoining Tobias, When thou ſhalt come to thy Wife Sara, riſe up both of you, and pray to God, &c. Ver. 17.

Upon the contrary Suppoſition, that this Demon was a Being incorporeal (and this is the Suppoſition concerning the Angelical Nature, which generally prevails) we may ſafely conclude, that the Smoak of the Fiſh's Entrails could have no direct and phyſical Effect upon him; that his fleeing away therefore was occaſioned by a ſupernatural Power, in the Exerciſe of which, the Angel, appointed to attend Tobias, was the principal Inſtrument; that he ordered the burning of the Fiſh's Entrails, as a Sign when the evil Spirit, by his ſuperior Power, ſhould be chaced away; or, in the ſame Senſe, as our bleſſed Saviour ſpread Clay upon the Eyes of the Man that was born blind, and ordered him to waſh in the Pool of Siloah, viz. not as the Cauſe, but the Proof of his Cure; and that he ſent him away into the uttermoſt Parts of Egypt (Ch. viii. 3.) that is, into the Deſarts of the upper Egypt, becauſe our Saviour intimates, that ſuch is the uſual Habitation of evil Spirits, when he repreſents them, as walking through dry Places, ſeeking Reſt, and finding none, Matt. xii. 43.

CHAP. VII.

Raguel informs Tobias of what had befal his Daughter, and gives her to him in Marriage.

Ver. 1. AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel, and Sara met them: and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhe brought them into the houſe. 2 Then ſaid Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my couſin! 3 And Raguel aſked them, From whence are you, brethren? To whom they ſaid, We are of the ſons of Nephthalim, which are captives in Nineve. 4 Then he ſaid to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinſman? And they ſaid, We know him. Then ſaid he, Is he in good health? 5 And they ſaid, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias ſaid, He is my father. 6 Then Raguel leaped up, and kiſſed him, and wept, 7 And bleſſed him, and ſaid unto him, Thou art the ſon of an honeſt and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was ſorrowful, and wept. 8 And likewiſe Edna his wife and Sara his daughter wept. Moreover, they entertained them cheerfully, and after that they had killed a ram of the flock, they ſet ſtore of meat on the table. Then ſaid Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, ſpeak of thoſe things of which thou didſt talk in the way, and let this buſineſs be diſpatched. 9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel: and Raguel ſaid to Tobias, Eat and drink, and make merry: 10 For it is meet that thou ſhouldeſt marry my daughter: nevertheleſs, I will declare unto thee the truth. 11 I have given my daughter in marriage to ſeven men, who died that night they came in unto her: nevertheleſs, for the preſent be merry. But Tobias ſaid, I will eat nothing here, till we agree, and ſwear one to another. 12 Raguel ſaid, Then take her from henceforth according to the manner, for thou art her couſin, and ſhe is thine, and the merciful God give you good ſucceſs in all things. 13 Then he called his daughter Sara, and ſhe came to her father, and he took her by the hand, and gave her to be wife to Tobias, ſaying, Behold, take her after the law of Moſes, and lead her away to thy father: and he bleſſed them, 14 And called Edna his wife, and took paper, and did write an inſtrument of covenants, and ſealed it. 15 Then they began to eat. 16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and ſaid unto her, Siſter, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither. 17 Which when ſhe had done as he had bidden her, ſhe brought her thither, and ſhe wept, and ſhe received the tears of her daughter, and ſaid unto her, 18 Be of good comfort, my daughter, the Lord of heaven and earth give thee joy for this thy ſorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

Here is a plain Narrative and Converſation that paſſed between Raguel and his Kinſman Tobias, on the latter's Arrival at the Houſe of the former; upon which we have nothing to remark more than only to obſerve, in what an artleſs and eaſy Manner the Story is told, and the Sincerity and Heartineſs of the Friends converſing together; each diſcovering ſuch a frank and generous Diſpoſition, as was almoſt peculiar to thoſe antient Times, when Fraud, Deceit, and Impoſition were were not, as now, the moſt noted Characteriſticks of the Age.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias, as he was inſtructed, drives away the evil Spirit. He and his Wife riſe up and pray. Raguel unexpectedly finding him alive, praiſes God, and makes a wedding Feaſt.

Ver. 1, AND when they had ſupped, they brought Tobias in unto her. 2 And as he went, he remembred the words of Raphael, and took the aſhes of the perfumes, and put the heart, and the liver of the fiſh thereupon, and made a ſmoak therewith. 3 The which ſmell when the evil ſpirit had ſmelled, he fled into the utmoſt parts of Egypt, and the angel bound him. 4 And after that they were both ſhut in together, Tobias roſe out of the bed, and ſaid, Siſter, ariſe, and let us pray, that God would have pity on us. 5 Then began Tobias to ſay, Bleſſed art thou, O God of our fathers, and bleſſed is thy holy and glorious name for ever; let the heavens bleſs thee and all thy creatures. 6 Thou madeſt Adam, and gaveſt him Eve his wife for an helper and ſtay: of them came mankind: Thou haſt ſaid, It is not good that man ſhould be alone; let us make unto him an aid like unto himſelf. 7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my ſiſter for luſt, but uprightly: therefore mercifully ordain, that we may become aged together. 8 And ſhe ſaid with him, Amen. 9 So they ſlept both that night. And Raguel aroſe, and went and made a grave, 10 Saying, I fear leſt he alſo be dead. 11 But when Raguel was come into his houſe, 12 He ſaid unto his wife Edna, Send one of the maids, and let her ſee whether he be alive: if he be not, that we may bury him, and no man know it. 13 So the maid opened the door, and went in, and found them both aſleep, 14 And came forth, and told them that he was alive. 15 Then Raguel praiſed God, and ſaid, O God, thou art worthy to be praiſed with all pure and holy praiſe; therefore let thy ſaints praiſe thee with all thy creatures; and let all thine angels, and thine elect praiſe thee for ever. 16 Thou art to be praiſed, for thou haſt made me joyful; and that is not come to me which I ſuſpected; but thou haſt dealt with us according to thy great mercy. 17 Thou art to be praiſed, becauſe thou haſt had mercy of two that were the only begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finiſh their life in health, with joy and mercy. 18 Then Raguel bade his ſervants to fill the grave. 19 And he kept the wedding-feaſt fourteen days. 20 For before the days of the marriage were finiſhed, Raguel had ſaid unto him by an oath, that he ſhould not depart till the fourteen days of the marriage were expired, 21 And then he ſhould take the half of the goods, and go in ſafety to his father; and ſhould have the reſt when I and my wife be dead.

He fled into the utmoſt Parts of Egypt, and the Angel bound him] That good Angels have a ſuperior Power and Controul over the bad, and, by the Divine Authority can curb and reſtrain their Malice, (which is all that we need underſtand by their binding them up) is evident from a Paſſage in the Revelations very reſemblant to what we read here concerning Raphael and Aſmodeus: I ſaw an Angel come down from Heaven, having the Key of the bottomleſs Pit, and a great Chain in his Hand, and he laid hold on the Dragon, the old Serpent, which is the Devil and Satan, and bound him a thouſand Years, and caſt him into the bottomleſs Pit, and ſhut him up, and ſet a Seal upon him, that he ſhould deceive the Nations no more, Rev. xx. 1, &c.

CHAP. IX.

The Angel, by Tobias's Order, fetches the Money from Gabael, and brings him with it.

Ver. 1. THEN Tobias called Raphael, and ſaid unto him, 2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a ſervant, and two camels, and go to Rages of Media, to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding. 3 For Raguel hath ſworn that I ſhall not depart. 4 But my father counteth the days, and if I tarry long, he will be very ſorry. 5 So Raphael went out, and lodged with Gabael, and gave him the hand-writing; who brought forth bags which were ſealed up, and gave them to him. 6 And early in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding, and Tobias bleſſed his wife.

We ſhall only obſerve here, that Tobias, in the Midſt of all his nuptial Feſtivities, is mindful of the Care and Concern of his Father for him, in Caſe he ſhould overſtay his Time.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his Wife's Solicitude for their Son; ſhe will not be comforted. Raguel diſmiſſes Tobias and his Wife, and bleſſes them.

Ver. 1. NOW Tobit his father counted every day: and when the days of the journey were expired, and they came not, 2 Then Tobit ſaid, Are they detained? or is Gabael dead, and there is no man to give him the money? 3 Therefore he was very ſorry. 4 Then his wife ſaid unto him, My ſon is dead, ſeeing he ſtayeth long; and ſhe began to bewail him, and ſaid, 5 Now I care for nothing, my ſon, ſince I have let thee go, the light of mine eyes. 6 To whom Tobit ſaid, Hold thy peace, take no care, for he is ſafe. 7 But ſhe ſaid, Hold thy peace, and deceive me not; my ſon is dead: and ſhe went out every day into the way which they went, and did eat no meat on the day-time, and ceaſed not whole nights to bewail her ſon Tobias, until the fourteen days of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had ſworn that he ſhould ſpend there. Then Tobias ſaid to Raguel, Let me go, for my father and my mother look no more to ſee me. 8 But his father-in-law ſaid unto him, Tarry with me, and I will ſend to thy father, and they ſhall declare unto him how things go with thee. 9 But Tobias ſaid, No, but let me go to my father. 10 Then Raguel aroſe, and gave him Sara his wife, and half his goods, ſervants, and cattel, and money: 11 And he bleſſed them, and ſent them away, ſaying, The God of heaven give you a proſperous journey, my children. 12 And he ſaid to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother-in-law, which are now thy parents, that I may hear good report of thee:

and he kiſſed her. Edna alſo ſaid to Tobias, The Lord of heaven reſtore thee, my dear brother, and grant that I may ſee thy children of my daughter Sara before I die, that I may rejoice before the Lord: behold, I commit my daughter unto thee of ſpecial truſt; wherefore do not entreat her evil.

That which chiefly deſerves our Notice here is, the paſſionate Concern which the two old People are under for their Son, who had exceeded the Time appointed for his Return by ſome Days. Tobit indeed reaſons coolly about the Matter, and ſuppoſes that ſomething unexpected had happened which occaſioned his Son's Stay; but the old Woman (Female like) ſets no Bounds to her Paſſion, is ſure he is dead, and therefore gives herſelf no Reſt Night nor Day, nor a Moment's Time to deliberate, whether ſhe had not the ſame Reaſon, as her Huſband had, to be calm and patient, at leaſt till they had had ſome News of their Son, and had learnt the Occaſion of his ſtaying ſo long. The Son, likewiſe, ſhews as pious a Regard for his antient Parents, and, as it were, tares himſelf and his Bride away out of the Boſom of her Father and Mother, contrary to their Inclinations, who earneſtly deſired their Company for a longer Time.

CHAP. XI.

Old Anna ſees her Son coming, and his Father meets him at the Door. Tobias ſtrikes his Father's Eyes with the Gall, which recovers his Sight. Tobit praiſes God, and bleſſes his Daughter-in-law.

Ver. 1. AFter theſe things Tobias went his way praiſing God that he had given him a proſperous journey, and bleſſed Raguel, and Edna his wife, and went on his way till they drew near unto Nineve. 2 Then Raphael ſaid to Tobias, Thou knoweſt brother, how thou didſt leave thy father. 3 Let us haſte before thy wife, and prepare the houſe: 4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fiſh. So they went their way, and the dog went after them. 5 Now Anna ſat looking about towards the way for her ſon. 6 And when ſhe eſpied him coming, ſhe ſaid to his father, Behold, thy ſon cometh, and the man that went with him. 7 Then ſaid Raphael, I know Tobias, that thy father will open his eyes. 8 Therefore anoint thou his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he ſhall rub, and the whiteneſs ſhall fall away, and he ſhall ſee thee. 9 Then Anna ran forth, and fell upon the neck of her ſon, and ſaid unto him, Seeing I have ſeen thee, my ſon, from henceforth I am content to die; and they wept both. 10 Tobit alſo went forth toward the door, and ſtumbled: but his ſon ran unto him, 11 And took hold of his father; and he ſtrake of the gall on his fathers eyes, ſaying, Be of good hope, my father. 12 And when his eyes began to ſmart, he rubbed them; 13 And the whiteneſs pilled away from the corners of his eyes: and when he ſaw his ſon, he fell upon his neck. 14 And he wept and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou, O God, and bleſſed is thy name for ever, and bleſſed are all thine holy angels: 15 For thou haſt ſcourged and haſt taken pity on me: for behold, I ſee my ſon Tobias. And his ſon went in rejoicing, and told his father the great things that had hapned to him in Media. 16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter-in-law, at the gate of Nineve, rejoicing and praiſing God: and they which ſaw him go, marvelled, becauſe he had received his ſight. 17 But Tobit gave thanks before them, becauſe God had mercy on him. And when he came near to Sara his daughter-in-law, he bleſſed her, ſaying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be bleſſed, which hath brought thee unto us, and bleſſed be thy father and thy mother. And there was joy amongſt all his brethren which were at Nineve. 18 And Achiacharus, and Naſbas his brothers ſon came. 19 And Tobias wedding was kept ſeven days with great joy.

Old Anna, under the greateſt Anxiety for her Son, ſat continually at her Door watching to ſee him coming; and ſhe had no ſooner ſet her Eyes upon him, but ſhe was as much tranſported with Joy as ſhe had been before dejected with Sorrow and extreme Solicitude; extravagant in both! Old Tobit, hearing the News of his Son's Arrival, was greatly joy'd at it, and, blind as he was, haſtens forward to meet him, but wanting a Guide to direct his Steps, he ſtumbles; but in that Inſtant finds himſelf in the Arms of his dear Tobias. Tobias, tho' overjoyed to ſee his Father, after ſo long Abſence, yet did not forget the Directions which his angelick Companion had given him, but ſtrikes his Father's Eyes with the Fiſh's Gall, and cures his Blindneſs. This was a new Addition to their Felicity, and gave Tobit a freſh Opportunity of praiſing God for his exceeding Goodneſs to him and his Family.

CHAP. XII.

Tobit's Generoſity to the Angel, who exhorts them to praiſe God, diſcovers himſelf, and diſappears.

Ver. 1. THEN Tobit called his ſon Tobias, and ſaid unto him, My ſon, ſee that the man have his wages which went with thee, and thou muſt give him more. 2 And Tobias ſaid unto him, O father, it is no harm to me to give him half of thoſe things which I have brought. 3 For he hath brought me again to thee in ſafety, and made whole my wife, and brought me the money, and likewiſe healed thee. 4 Then the old man ſaid, It is due unto him. 5 So he called the angel, and he ſaid unto him, Take half of all that ye have brought, and go away in ſafety. 6 Then he took them both apart, and ſaid unto them, Bleſs God, praiſe him, and magnify him, and praiſe him for the things which he hath done unto you in the ſight of all that live. It is good to praiſe God, and exalt his name, and honourably to ſhew forth the works of God; therefore be not ſlack to praiſe him. 7 It is good to keep cloſe the ſecrets of a king, but it is honourable to reveal the works of God: do that which is good, and no evil ſhall touch you. 8 Prayer is good with faſting, and alms, and righteouſneſs: a little with righteouſneſs is better than much with unrighteouſneſs: it is better to give alms than to lay up gold: 9 For alms doth deliver from death, and ſhall purge away all ſin. Thoſe that exerciſe alms and righteouſneſs, ſhall be filled with life: 10 But they that ſin, are enemies to their own life. 11 Surely, I will keep cloſe nothing from you. For I ſaid, It was good to keep cloſe the ſecrets of a king, but that it was honourable to reveal the works of God. 12 Now therefore when thou didſt pray and Sara thy daughter-in-law, I did bring the remembrance of your prayers before the holy One; and when thou didſt bury the dead, I was with thee likewiſe. 13 And when thou didſt not delay to riſe up, and leave thy dinner, to go and cover the dead, thy good deed was not hid from me: but I was with thee. 14 And now God hath ſent me to heal thee, and Sara thy daughter-in-law. 15 I am Raphael, one of the ſeven holy angels, which preſent the prayers of the ſaints, and which go in and out before the glory of the holy One. 16 Then they were both troubled, and fell upon their faces: for they feared. 17 But he ſaid unto them, Fear not, for it ſhall go well with you; praiſe God therefore. 18 For not of any favour of mine, but by the will of our God I came; wherefore praiſe him for ever. 19 All theſe days I did appear unto you; but I did neither eat nor drink, but you did ſee a viſion. 20 Now therefore give God thanks: for I go up to him that ſent me, but write all things that are done in a book. 21 And when they aroſe, they ſaw him no more. 22 Then they confeſſed the great and wonderful works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared unto them.

I am Raphael, one of the ſeven holy Angels, which preſent the Prayers of the Saints] That the Angels are continually employed in Acts of Beneficence to good and righteous Men, has been before hinted; but that they are Interceſſors with God, or preſent the Prayers of the Saints, as it is here phraſed, is a Notion not ſupported by any Text in the ſacred Writings, tho' perhaps it might be entertained by many good People among the Jews under the Moſaic Diſpenſation. There is, however, one Paſſage in the New Teſtament, which ſeems to countenance this Opinion; and that is Rev. viii. 3. where we read, that an Angel having a golden Cenſer, had much Incenſe given unto him, that he ſhould offer it with the Prayers of all Saints: But by this Angel, Junius, and other learned Men, underſtand the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the Mediator of the New Covenant, and the only Interceſſor between God and Man.

I did neither eat nor drink, but you did ſee a Viſion] Whether Angels are Beings purely ſpiritual, or have ſome corporeal Mixture in them, is a Diſpute which has been much agitated among the Learned; if the former, then, it's ſaid, they can have no digeſtive Faculties, and, conſequently, can neither eat nor drink: But if they are partly ſpiritual and partly corporeal, then they may be capable of receiving Food and Nouriſhment; and this Opinion ſeems to prevail moſt among the Learned; and in that Inſtance of the three Angels eating of the Repaſt which Abraham had provided for them, Gen. xviii. 8. it is generally ſuppoſed, that they did really, and bonâ fide, eat, and receive into their Bodies the Food that was ſet before them, and that they did actually digeſt and concoct what they ſo eat. But as it is impoſſible for us to be acquainted with the Nature of Angels, and the Manner of their Subſiſtence, all that has been, or can be ſaid upon the Subject, is mere Conjecture.

CHAP. XIII.

Tobit writes a Thankſgiving unto God.

Ver. 1. THEN Tobit wrote a prayer of rejoicing, and ſaid, Bleſſed be God that liveth for ever, and bleſſed be his kingdom. 2 For he doth ſcourge, and hath mercy: he leadeth down to hell, and bringeth up again: neither is there any that can avoid his hand. 3 Confeſs him before the Gentiles, ye children of Iſrael: for he hath ſcattered us among them. 4 There declare his greatneſs, and extol him before all the living: for he is our Lord, and he is the God our Father for ever. 5 And he will ſcourge us for our iniquities, and will have mercy again, and will gather us out of all nations, among whom he hath ſcattered us. 6 If you turn to him with your whole heart, and with your whole mind, and deal uprightly before him, then will he turn unto you, and will not hide his face from you. Therefore ſee what he will do with you, and confeſs him with your whole mouth, and praiſe the Lord of might, and extol the everlaſting King. In the land of my captivity do I praiſe him, and declare his might and majeſty to a ſinful nation. O ye ſinners, turn and do juſtice before him: who can tell if he will accept you, and have mercy on you? 7 I will extol my God, and my ſoul ſhall praiſe the King of heaven, and ſhall rejoice in his greatneſs. 8 Let all men ſpeak, and let all praiſe him for his righteouſneſs. 9 O Jeruſalem the holy city, he will ſcourge thee for thy childrens works, and will have mercy again on the ſons of the righteous. 10 Give praiſe to the Lord, for he is good: and praiſe the everlaſting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee again with joy, and let him make joyful there in thee thoſe that are captives, and love in thee for ever thoſe that are miſerable. 11 Many nations ſhall come from far to the name of the Lord God with gifts in their hands, even gifts to the King of heaven; all generations ſhall praiſe thee with great joy. 12 Curſed are all they which hate thee, and bleſſed ſhall all be which love thee ever. 13 Rejoice and be glad for the children of the juſt: for they ſhall be gathered together, and ſhall bleſs the Lord of the juſt. 14 O bleſſed are they which love thee, for they ſhall rejoice in thy peace: bleſſed are they which have been ſorrowful for all thy ſcourges; for they ſhall rejoice for thee, when they have ſeen all thy glory, and ſhall be glad for ever. 15 Let my ſoul bleſs God the great king. 16 For Jeruſalem ſhall be built up with ſapphires, and emeralds, and precious ſtone: thy walls, and towers, and battlements, with pure gold. 17 And the ſtreets of Jeruſalem ſhall be paved with beryl, and carbuncle, and ſtones of Ophir. 18 And all her ſtreets ſhall ſay, Alleluia; and they ſhall praiſe him, ſaying, Bleſſed be God which hath extolled it for ever.

Tobit's Heart being full of Gratitude for the late ſignal Mercies he had received from God, indites this Song of Thankſgiving, in which he excites the captive Iſraelites to extol and confeſs God before the Gentiles, and exhorts them, from his own Example, to praiſe him in the Midſt of a ſinful Nation, and foretels the future Glory of Jeruſalem and the Temple, and the happy State of the Church.

CHAP. XIV.

Tobit exhorts his Son to leave Nineveh, and ſo avoid the Deſtruction that would befal that City, according to the Prophecy of Jonah. He and his Wife die, and are buried. Tobias removes to Ecbatane, where he dies, having firſt heard of the Deſtruction of Nineveh.

Ver.

Ver. 1. SO Tobit made an end of praiſing God. 2 And he was eight and fifty years old when he loſt his ſight, which was reſtored to him after eight years: and he gave alms, and he increaſed in the fear of the Lord God, and praiſed him. 3 And when he was very aged, he called his ſon, and the ſix ſons of his ſon, and ſaid to him, My ſon, take thy children; for behold I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life. 4 Go into Media, my ſon, for I ſurely believe thoſe things which Jonas the prophet ſpake of Nineve, that it ſhall be overthrown, and that for a time peace ſhall rather be in Media; and that our brethren ſhall lie ſcattered in the earth from that good land; and Jeruſalem ſhall be deſolate, and the houſe of God in it ſhall be burned, and ſhall be deſolate for a time; 5 And that again God will have mercy on them, and bring them again into the land where they ſhall build a temple, but not like to the firſt, until the time of that age be fulfilled; and afterward they ſhall return from all places of their captivity, and build up Jeruſalem gloriouſly, and the houſe of God ſhall be built in it for ever, with a glorious building, as the prophets have ſpoken thereof. 6 And all nations ſhall turn, and fear the Lord God truly, and ſhall bury their idols. 7 So ſhall all nations praiſe the Lord, and his people ſhall confeſs God, and the Lord ſhall exalt his people; and all thoſe which love the Lord God in truth and juſtice, ſhall rejoice, ſhewing mercy to our brethren. 8 And now, my ſon, depart out of Nineve, becauſe that thoſe things which the prophet Jonas ſpake ſhall ſurely come to paſs. 9 But keep thou the law and the commandments, and ſhew thyſelf merciful and juſt, that it may go well with thee. 10 And bury me decently, and thy mother with me, but tarry no longer at Nineve. Remember, my ſon, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him up, how out of light he brought him into darkneſs, and how he rewarded him again: yet Achiacharus was ſaved, but the other had his reward: for he went down into darkneſs. Manaſſes gave alms, and eſcaped the ſnares of death which they had ſet for him: but Aman fell into the ſnare, and periſhed. 11 Wherefore now, my ſon, conſider what alms doth, and how righteouſneſs doth deliver. When he had ſaid theſe things, he gave up the ghoſt in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fifty years old, and he buried him honourably. 12 And when Anna his mother was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias departed with his wife and children to Ecbatane, to Raguel his father-in-law. 13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father and mother-in-law honourably; and he inherited their ſubſtance, and his father Tobits. 14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and ſeven and twenty years old. 15 But before he died, he heard of the deſtruction of Nineve, which was taken by Nabuchodonoſor and Aſſuerus: and before his death he rejoiced over Nineve.

With regard to the Deſtruction of Nineveh, foretold by Jonah the Prophet, and here referred to, Ver. 4, 15. the Reader may be fully ſatisfied in every Difficulty that wants Explanation, by conſulting our Notes on the ſeveral Chapters of the Book of Jonah.

By Aman and Achiacharus, mentioned Ver. 10. Tobit, probably, ſay ſome, means Haman and Mordecai, there being no ſmall Reſemblance in their Names. But if we conſider, that Tobit was of the Tribe of Nephthali, and that with the reſt of his Brethren, together with the Ten Tribes, was carried away captive by Salmaneſer King of Aſſyria, long before the Deportation of Judah and Benjamin, of which laſt Mordecai was, and went with them into Captivity; it is therefore impoſſible that Tobit could refer to a Story which fell out, perhaps, ſome Years after his Deceaſe.

However this be, as Stackhouſe obſerves, we cannot hold ourſelves concerned for the Vindication of every Expreſſion in a Book, which the reformed Church has not thought fit to receive into her Canon of Scripture. 'Tis ſufficient for our preſent Purpoſe, that the hiſtorical Ground-plot of it be true, whatever may be ſaid as to ſome particular Paſſages in it; and tho' its figurative and poetical Stile, as well as near Conformity to the Theology then in Vogue, may give ſome Umbrage to a Reader, that will not be ſo candid, as to think with St. Jerom, that many Things are ſpoken in the ſacred Scripture, according to the Opinion of that Time, and not according to that which the Truth of the Thing contained.

An EXPOSITION of the Book of JUDETH.

The ARGUMENT.

It is a great Diſpute among the Learned, whether this Hiſtory of Judeth was tranſacted before, or after the Babyloniſh Captivity. Thoſe who maintain the latter Opinion, found a great deal upon the Words of the Hiſtory itſelf, wherein the Author (according to the Greek Verſion, Ch. iv. 3.) expreſly tells us, that the Iſraelites were newly returned from their Captivity, and all the People of Judea were lately gathered together, and the Veſſels, and the Altar, and the Houſe were ſanctified after their Profanation: And, wherein it is farther affirmed, that they were led Captives into a Land that was not theirs, that the Temple of their God was caſt to the Ground, and their Cities taken by their their Enemies; but now they are come up from the Places, where they were ſcattered, and have poſſeſſed Jeruſalem, Ch. v. 18, 19. — It is in vain, ſay they, to endeavour to correct the Senſe of theſe Paſſages. The bare reading of them, and the firſt Impreſſion they make upon the Mind, naturally leads one to ſay, that this Hiſtory was not tranſacted, till after the Return from the Captivity, which, in a great Meaſure, is confirmed by the Opinion of almoſt all the Antients, and a great many of the Moderns; but then they widely diſagree in their Computations of the Period of Time, when this remarkable Event happened. For ſome place it under Cambyſes, the Son of Cyrus; others under Xerxes; others under Darius; and others again under Antiochus Epiphanes, in the Time of the Maccabees; which laſt Opinion is the more tenable, if we will but allow, that a Feaſt was inſtituted in Commemoration of it, as we read in the Vulgate, but in none of the other Tranſlations. Thoſe who maintain, that this Tranſaction happened before the Captivity, are, in like Manner, divided: For, ſome place it under Manaſſeh, and others under Zedekiah. Thoſe who contend for Zedekiah's Reign, make the Nabuchadonoſor in the Book of Judith, and the Nebuchadnezzar in the 2*d of* Kings, the ſame Perſon; and as it is poſitively ſaid in the 2*d Chapter of* Judith, that he put his General Holofernes on this Expedition, in the firſt Month of the eighteenth Year of his Reign, which was the 9*th of* Zedekiah King of Judah, Holofernes's Death, and the Siege of Jeruſalem happened, they ſay, in the ſame Year; only it muſt be ſuppoſed, that the Attempt againſt Bethulia was in the Beginning of the Year, and the Siege of Jeruſalem at the End of it. The Captivity therefore, from which the Jews are ſaid to have newly returned, muſt be that in Jehoiakim's Time, for that in Zedekiah's continued 70 Years, before which Nebuchadnezzar had quite ſubdued Arphaxad, King of the Medes, and demoliſhed Ecbatana. And as for the Bethulians enjoying Peace, during the Life of Judith, it may be ſuppoſed, that Nebuchadnezzar, being employed two Years in the Siege of Jeruſalem, might ſpend ſome Years in reducing other Parts of the Country; and ſeeing Bethulia was a Place naturally ſtrong, and ſituated among the Mountains, he might be unwilling to foil his Army before it, and, (eſpecially conſidering the ill Succeſs of his General) to make any freſh Attempt upon it, until he had ſubdued all the reſt. Thoſe again, who contend for Manaſſeh's Reign, make the Nabuchodonoſor in Judith to be the ſame with Saoſduchinus in Ptolemy, and Arphaxad the ſame with Phraortes, mentioned by Herodotus; and that, as theſe two Princes made War with one another, wherein Phraortes was vanquiſhed, and periſhed with his Army, all the other Things recorded of Saoſduchinus and his General might happen without Inconſiſtency. For the Captivity there mentioned, might be that, from whence Manaſſeh, with ſome of his Subjects, had lately returned, when the Temple, which had been profaned, was purified again, and the Service of the Sanctuary reſtored to its antient Dignity, 2 Chron. xxxiii. 1. This is a ſhort State of the ſeveral Opinions concerning the Date of this Tranſaction, and the laſt of theſe ſeems to be the beſt founded. See Prideaux's Connect. and Calmet's Preface.

Diodate, however, will not allow this to be a true Hiſtory, and gives ſeveral ſolid Reaſons in ſupport of his Opinion, which, for Brevity's ſake, we muſt omit; and ſays, it is a feigned Narration, wrote in a Taſte then agreeable to the Jews, as well as other Nations; for a moral Repreſentation of the Church, under the Name of Bethulia, which ſignifies Virgin of the Lord; of the Aſſaults of the World againſt her; and of the Devil, the Prince thereof, ſignified by Nebuchadnezzar; and of the Victory over them, not by ſecular Powers, but by the Faith and Prayers of the Godly, who are repreſented by Judith.

But, tho' the Jews and antient Chriſtians did not receive this Book of Judith into their Canon of Scripture, yet they looked upon it as a true Hiſtory; and, accordingly, Clement, in his Epiſtle to the Corinthians, has cited it, as well as the Author of the Apoſtolick Conſtitutions, which go under his Name; and, as St. Athanaſius, or the Writer of the Synopſis, that is aſcribed to him, gives a ſummary Account of it, even as he does of the other ſacred Books; it has at leaſt the Appearance of Credibility, tho', for good Reaſons, placed among the apocryphal Parts of Scripture.

CHAP. I.

Arphaxad fortifies Ecbatane. Nabuchadonoſor makes War againſt him, and craves Aid; threatens thoſe that would not aſſiſt him; kills Arphaxad, and returns to Nineveh.

Ver. 1. IN the twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadonoſor, who reigned in Nineve the great city, (in the days of Arphaxad, which reigned over the Medes in Ecbatane, 2 And built in Ecbatane walls round about, of ſtones hewn three cubits broad and ſix cubits long, and made the height of the wall ſeventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits: 3 And ſet the towers thereof upon the gates of it, an hundred cubits high, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threeſcore cubits. 4 And he made the gates thereof, even gates that were raiſed to the height of ſeventy cubits, and the breadth of them was forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the ſetting in aray of his footmen) 5 Even in thoſe days king Nabuchodonoſor made war with king Arphaxad in the great plain, which is the plain in the borders of Ragau. 6 And there came unto him all they that dwelt in the hill-country, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaſpe, and the plain of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations of the ſons of Chelod, aſſembled themſelves to the battel. 7 Then Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, ſent unto all that dwelt in Perſia, and to all that dwelt weſt-ward, and to thoſe that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damaſcus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt upon the ſea-coaſt, 8 And to thoſe amongſt the nations that were of Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galilee, and the great plain of Eſdrelom, 9 And to all that were in Samaria and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan unto Jeruſalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the river of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Rameſſe, and all the land of Geſem, 10 Until you come beyond Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, until you come to the borders of Ethiopia. 11 But all the inhabitants of the land made light of the commandment of Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, neither went they with him to the battel: for they were not afraid of him: yea, he was before them as one man, and they ſent away his ambaſſadors from them without effect and diſgrace. 12 Therefore Nabuchodonoſor was very angry with all this country, and ſware by his throne and kingdom, that he would ſurely be avenged upon all thoſe coaſts of Cilicia, and Damaſcus, and Syria, and that he would ſlay with the ſword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till you come to the borders of the two ſeas. 13 Then he marched in battle-aray, with his power againſt king Arphaxad, in the ſeventeenth year, and he prevailed in his battel: for he overthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horſe-men, and all his chariots, 14 And became lord of his cities, and came unto Ecbatane, and took the towers, and ſpoiled the ſtreets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into ſhame. 15 He took alſo Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau, and ſmote him through with his darts, and deſtroyed him utterly that day. 16 So he returned afterward to Nineve, both he and all his company of ſundry nations, being a very great multitude of men of war, and there he took his eaſe and banqueted, both he and his army, an hundred and twenty days.

In the twelfth Year of Nabuchodonoſor] This Nabuchodonoſor, ſays Calmet, is the ſame Prince whom Herodotus calls Saoſduchinus, who, after the Death of Eſarhaddon, (the ſame who took Advantage of Maſſimoridicus's dying without Iſſue, and united the Kingdom of Babylon to that of Aſſyria) ſucceeded in his Acquiſitions; and the Reaſon why the Author of this Book of Judith, who apparently wrote either in Babylon, or ſome other Part of Chaldee, calls him Nabuchodonoſor, is, becauſe this was the common Name (as Pharaoh was in Egypt) of the Kings of that Country.

Made War againſt Arphaxad] Our learned Prideaux and Primate Uſher are of Opinion, that this Arphaxad was the Perſon, whom profane Hiſtorians call Dejoces, the firſt King of the Medes, and Founder of Ecbatane: But the Account which the Book of Judith gives of Arphaxad, and of the Circumſtances of his Death, ſeems to be more applicable to what Herodotus relates of Phraortes, his Son and Succeſſor. For, as Arphaxad had many Nations under his Dominion, and fell in Battle againſt the King of Aſſyria, Ver. 6, 15. of this Chapter, ſo Herodotus tells us of Phraortes, 'That, having ſubdued the Perſians, and made them 'Part of his Empire, he ſoon overcame the reſt of the 'People of the Upper-Aſia, (i. e. all that lay North of 'Mount Taurus, to the River Halys) paſſing from 'Nation to Nation, and always attended with Victory; 'until, coming with an Army againſt the Aſſyrians, 'with an Intent to beſiege Nineveh their Capital, he 'was vanquiſhed, and ſlain, in the two and twentieth 'Year of his Reign.' Dejoces indeed is ſaid, by Herodotus, to have been the firſt Founder of Ecbatane; but as the Undertaking was very great, it is not improbable, but he left enough to his Succeſſor, Phraortes, to complete: So that all the Works which the Author of Judith aſcribes to Arphaxad, might be his.

Which is in the Plain of the Borders of Ragau] The Plains of Ragau are very probably thoſe which lie about Rages, a Town of Media, ſtanding upon the Mountains of Ecbatane, and diſtant about a Day's Journey from that City.

And came unto Ecbatane] This City, Herodotus ſays expreſly, was built by Dejoces, the firſt King of the Medes: But that Author is wrong in aſcribing the Honour of the whole Work to him, which his Son Phraortes, at leaſt, finiſhed and beautified to ſuch a Degree, that, tho' the Scripture is ſilent, profane Authors have given us a very advantageous Account of it. The City, according to them, was ſituated on a ſpacious Eminence, and into it Dejoces had brought together the whole Nation of the Medes, who never before had lived in any Thing but Caves and Huts, diſperſed up and down in the Country, which great Concourſe of People made it very large and populous. It was encompaſſed with ſeven Walls, at equal Diſtance from each other. The firſt was loweſt, and equal in Circumference with thoſe of Athens, i. e. according to Thucydides, an hundred and ſeventy eight Furlongs. The reſt roſe gradually, and over-looked each other, about the Height of a Battlement. The Battlements were of different Colours. The firſt was white; the ſecond black; the third red; the fourth blue; the fifth of a deep red; the ſixth of a Silver, and the ſeventh of a Gold Colour; and for this Reaſon, as Bochart has obſerved, this City was uſually called by the Antients, Agliata, which, in the Arabian Language, ſignifies a Thing of different and diſtinct Colours. The royal Palace and Treaſury ſtood within the ſeventh Wall; and the Palace alone (according to Polybius) was ſeven Furlongs round, and built with all the Coſt and Skill that a ſtately Edifice did require; for ſome of its Beams are ſaid to have been Silver, and the reſt of Cedar, which were ſtrengthened with Plates of Gold. See Calmet's Com. and Dict. and Wells's Geography of the Old Teſtament.

CHAP. II.

Holofernes is appointed General; his Charge, Army, and Proviſion; the Places which he won and deſtroyed.

Ver. 1. AND in the eighteenth year, the two and twentieth day of the firſt month, there was talk in the houſe of Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, that he ſhould, as he ſaid, avenge himſelf on all the earth. 2 So he called unto him all his officers, and all his nobles, and communicated with them his ſecret counſel, and concluded the afflicting of the whole earth out of his own mouth. 3 Then they decreed to deſtroy all fleſh that did not obey the commandment of his mouth. 4 And when he had ended his counſel, Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, called Holofernes the chief captain of his army, which was next unto him, and ſaid unto him, 5 Thus ſaith the great king, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou ſhalt go forth from my preſence, and take with thee men that truſt in their own ſtrength, of footmen an hundred and twenty thouſand; and the number of horſes with their riders, twelve thouſand. 6 And thou ſhalt go againſt all the weſt-country, becauſe they diſobeyed my commandment. 7 And thou ſhalt declare unto them, that they prepare for me earth and water: for I will go forth in my wrath againſt them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine army, and I will give them for a ſpoil unto them: 8 So that their ſlain ſhall fill their valleys and brooks, and the river ſhall be filled with their dead till it overflow. 9 And I will lead them captives to the utmoſt parts of all the earth. 10 Thou therefore ſhalt go forth, and take before.

forehand for me all their coasts: and if they will yield themselves unto thee, thou shalt reserve them for me till the day of their punishment. 11 But concerning them that rebel, let not thine eyes spare them; but put them to the slaughter, and spoil them whersoever thou goest. 12 For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, whatsoever I have spoken, that will I do by mine hand. 13 And take thou heed that thou transgress none of the commandments of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I have commanded thee, and defer not to do them. 14 Then Holofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors and captains, and the officers of the army of Assur, 15 And he mustered the chosen men for the battel, as his lord had commanded him, unto an hundred and twenty thousand, and twelve thousand archers on horseback. 16 And he ranged them as a great army is ordered for the war. 17 And he took camels and asses for their carriages, a very great number; and sheep, and oxen, and goats without number, for their provision: 18 And plenty of victual for every man of the army, and very much gold and silver out of the kings house. 19 Then he went forth, and all his power, to go before king Nabuchodonosor in the voyage, and to cover all the face of the earth west-ward with their chariots and horsemen, and their chosen footmen. 20 A great multitude also of sundry countries came with them like locusts, and like the sand of the earth: for the multitude was without number. 21 And they went forth of Nineve three days journey toward the plain of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth near the mountain, which is at the left hand of the upper Cilicia. 22 Then he took all his army, his footmen, and horsemen, and chariots, and went from thence into the hill-country; 23 And destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wilderness, at the south of the land of the Chellians. 24 Then he went over Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were upon the river Arbonai, till you come to the sea. 25 And he took the borders of Cilicia, and killed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the south, over against Arabia. 26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt up their tabernacles, and spoiled their sheep-cotes. 27 Then he went down into the plain of Damascus, in the time of wheat-harvest, and burnt up all their fields, and destroyed their flocks and herds, also he spoiled their cities, and utterly wasted their countries, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword. 28 Therefore the fear and dread of him fell upon all the inhabitants of the sea-coasts, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur, and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jemnaan; and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him greatly.

Holofernes the chief Captain of his Army] Some Commentators are of Opinion, that the Word Holofernes is of Persian Extract, in the same Manner as Tisaphernes, Intaphernes, &c. But others imagine, that this General was a Native either of Pontus or Cappadocia. Polybius makes mention of one of that Name, who, having conquered Cappadocia, soon lost it again, because he was for changing the antient Custom of the Country, and introducing Drunkenness, together with Feasts and Songs to Bacchus; whereupon Casaubon conjectures, that this was the same Holofernes that commanded Nabuchodonosor's Forces, as it must be own'd, that his Riot and Debauchery, as well as the Rapidity of his Conquests, makes him not unlike him.

And thou shalt declare unto them, that they prepare for me Earth and Water] After the Manner of the Kings of Persia, to whom Earth and Water were wont to be given, to acknowledge that they were Lords of Land and Sea. Herodotus.

CHAP. III.

They on the Sea-coasts sue for Peace; which Holofernes grants, but destroys their Gods, that they might worship only Nabuchodonosor. He draws near to Judea.

Ver. 1. SO they sent ambassadors unto him to treat of peace, saying, 2 Behold, we the servants of Nabuchodonosor the great king, lie before thee; use us as shall be good in thy sight. 3 Behold our houses, and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and flocks, and herds, and all the lodges of our tents lie before thy face; use them as it pleaseth thee. 4 Behold, even our cities, and the inhabitants thereof are thy servants; come and deal with them as seemeth good unto thee. 5 So the men came to Holofernes, and declared unto him after this manner. 6 Then came he down toward the sea-coast, both he and his army, and set garisons in the high cities, and took out of them chosen men for aid. 7 So they and all the country round about received them with garlands, with dances, and with timbrels. 8 Yet he did cast down their frontiers, and cut down their groves: for he had decreed to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, and that all tongues and tribes should call upon him as god: 9 Also he came over against Esdraelon near unto Judea, over against the great strait of Judea. 10 And he pitched between Geba and Scythopolis, and there he tarried a whole month, that he might gather together all the carriages of his army.

There is nothing in this Chapter that claims our Notice, except the impious Vanity of Nabuchodonosor, in assuming to himself the Honours due only to the supreme Governor of the World; as he did in ordaining by a publick Decree, that all Tongues and Tribes should call upon him as God, Ver. 8. a Height of Pride and Insolence, which, one would imagine, none who considers himself as a frail mortal Creature, subject to Diseases, and liable to every Accident, could arrive at! But Grandeur and Elevation are apt to intoxicate Mens Brains, and make 'em forget that they are made of no better Clay than the rest of Mankind, and that their Bodies, after their Dissolution, will be reduced to no finer a Dust than that of the meanest Inhabitant of the Grave.

The Jews, being afraid of Holofernes, fortify the Hills. The Bethulians guard the Passages. All Israel fast and pray.

Ver. 1. NOW the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Holofernes the chief captain of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and and after what manner he had ſpoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought. 2 Therefore they were exceedingly afraid of him, and were troubled for Jeruſalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God: 3 For they were newly returned from the captivity, and all the people of Judea were lately gathered together: and the veſſels, and the altar, and the houſe were ſanctified after the profanation. 4 Therefore they ſent into all the coaſts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoron, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Eſora, and to the valley of Salem: 5 And poſſeſſed themſelves beforehand of all the tops of the high mountains, and fortified the villages that were in them, and laid up victuals for the proviſion of war: for their fields were of late reaped. 6 Alſo Joacim the high prieſt which was in thoſe days in Jeruſalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia, and Betomeſtham, which is over againſt Eſdraelon toward the open country near to Dothaim, 7 Charging them to keep the paſſages of the hill-country: for by them there was an entrance into Judea, and it was eaſy to ſtop them that would come up, becauſe the paſſage was ſtrait, for two men at the moſt. 8 And the children of Iſrael did as Joacim the high prieſt had commanded them, with the antients of all the people of Iſrael which dwelt at Jeruſalem. 9 Then every man of Iſrael cried to God with great fervency, and with great vehemency did they humble their ſouls: 10 Both they, and their wives, and their children, and their cattel, and every ſtranger, and hireling, and their ſervants bought with money, put ſackcloth upon their loins. 11 Thus every man and woman, and the little children, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, fell before the temple, and caſt aſhes upon their heads, and ſpread out their ſackcloth before the face of the Lord: alſo they put ſackcloth about the altar, 12 And cried to the God of Iſrael all with one conſent earneſtly, that he would not give their children for a prey, and their wives for a ſpoil, and the cities of their inheritance to deſtruction, and the ſanctuary to profanation and reproach, and for the nations to rejoice at. 13 So God heard their prayers, and looked upon their afflictions: for the people faſted many days in all Judea and Jeruſalem, before the ſanctuary of the Lord Almighty. 14 And Joacim the high prieſt, and all the prieſts that ſtood before the Lord, and they which miniſtred unto the Lord, had their loins girt with ſackcloth, and offered the daily burnt-offerings, with the vows and free-gifts of the people, 15 And had aſhes on their mitres, and cried unto the Lord with all their power, that he would look upon all the houſe of Iſrael graciouſly.

Joacim the High-Prieſt — wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia] Our modern Travellers to the Holy Land almoſt unanimouſly agree, that Bethulia is ſituate in the Tribe of Zebulun, about a League from Tiberias towards the Weſt, where they pretend that ſome Marks of Holofernes's Camp are ſtill to be ſeen: But ſome great Men are apt to ſuſpect the Report of theſe Travellers, who are too much accuſtomed to take up with the Traditions of the Country, tho' there is not always the greateſt Certainty in them. This, however, is inconteſtible, that both Judeth and her Huſband were of the Tribe of Simeon, Jud. viii. 1. and ix. 2. and for what Purpoſe they ſhould remove to ſo great a Diſtance from their own Inheritance, and ſettle in another Tribe, we cannot ſee. Since therefore the Scripture takes Notice of a Place in the Tribe of Simeon, named Bethel, or Bethuel, Joſh. xix. 4. a Place dependent on Gaza of the Philiſtines, and famous for its Temples, which were very remarkable, both for their Antiquity and fine Structure, (from whence, not unlikely, it had its Name Bethul, or the Houſe of the Lord) there is much more Reaſon to conclude, that this was the Place; ſince the other, which Travellers talk of, in the Tribe of Zebulun, muſt be of too modern a Date to be the City intended here, becauſe we find neither Joſhua, nor Joſephus, nor Euſebius, nor St. Jerom, making any Mention of it. See Calmet's Diſſert. and Com.

CHAP. V.

Achior gives Holofernes a ſhort Hiſtory of the Jews; but his Account is not agreeable to the Officers of the Army.

Ver. 1. THEN was it declared to Holofernes the chief captain of the army of Aſſur, that the children of Iſrael had prepared for war, and had ſhut up the paſſages of the hill-country, and had fortified all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the champian countries. 2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captains of Ammon, and all the governors of the ſea-coaſt. 3 And he ſaid unto them, Tell me now, ye ſons of Chanaan, who this people is that dwelleth in the hill-country, and what are the cities that they inhabit, and what is the multitude of their army, and wherein is their power and ſtrength, and what king is ſet over them, or captain of their army. 4 And why have they determined not to come and meet me, more than all the inhabitants of the weſt? 5 Then ſaid Achior, the captain of all the ſons of Ammon, Let my lord now hear a word from the mouth of thy ſervant, and I will declare unto thee the truth, concerning this people which dwelleth near thee, and inhabiteth the hill-countries: and there ſhall no lie come out of the mouth of thy ſervant. 6 This people are deſcended of the Chaldeans: 7 And they ſojourned heretofore in Meſopotamia, becauſe they would not follow the gods of their fathers which were in the land of Chaldea. 8 For they left the way of their anceſtors, and worſhipped the God of heaven, the God whom they knew: ſo they caſt them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Meſopotamia, and ſojourned there many days. 9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they ſojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan: where they dwelt, and were increaſed with gold and ſilver, and with very much cattel. 10 But when a famine covered all the land of Chanaan, they went down into Egypt, and ſojourned there, while they were nouriſhed, and became there a great multitude, ſo that one could not number their nation. 11 Therefore the king of Egypt roſe up againſt them, and dealt ſubtilly with them, and brought them low with labouring in brick, and made them ſlaves. 12 Then they cried unto their God, and he ſmote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: ſo the Egyptians caſt them out of their ſight. 13 And God dried the red ſea before them, 14 And brought them to mount Sina, and Cades Barne, and caſt forth forth all that dwelt in the wilderneſs. 15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they deſtroyed by their ſtrength all them of Elebon, and paſſing over Jordan they poſſeſſed all the hill-country. 16 And they caſt forth before them the Chanaanite, the Pherezite, the Jebuſite, and the Sychemite, and all the Gergeſites, and they dwelt in that country many days. 17 And whilſt they ſinned not before their God, they proſpered, becauſe the God that hateth iniquity was with them. 18 But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were deſtroyed in many battels very ſore, and were led captives into a land that was not theirs, and the temple of their God was caſt to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies. 19 But now are they returned to their God, and are come up from the places where they were ſcattered, and have poſſeſſed Jeruſalem, where their ſanctuary is, and are ſeated in the hill-country; for it was deſolate. 20 Now therefore my lord and governor, if there be any error in this people, and they ſin againſt their God, let us conſider that this ſhall be their ruin, and let us go up, and we ſhall overcome them. 21 But if there be no iniquity in their nation, let my lord now paſs by, leſt their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproach before all the world. 22 And when Achior had finiſhed theſe ſayings, all the people ſtanding round about the tent, murmured, and the chief men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the ſea-ſide, and in Moab, ſpake that he ſhould kill him. 23 For, ſay they, we will not be afraid of the face of the children of Iſrael: for lo, it is a people that have no ſtrength, nor power for a ſtrong battel. 24 Now therefore, lord Holofernes, we will go up, and they ſhall be a prey to be devoured of all thine army.

The Preparations which the Jews made to oppoſe the Paſſage of Holofernes and his Army into their Country, were enough to irritate a Man of this General's haughty Temper, which ſeems to have been of the ſame Caſt with that of his Maſter, and to imagine, that there was no Power in Heaven or Earth able to withſtand his mighty Force. However, we find that Achior, one of his Officers, was no Sycophant, but gave a fair and impartial Narrative of the Jews, from their Original to that Inſtant; which many of the other Commanders who heard him, being Canaanites, knew, as well as he, to be true; but having lately ſubmitted themſelves to the haughty Conqueror, were too much terrified at his Greatneſs to acknowledge; and perhaps were glad to have the Jews once more involved in Ruin and Deſtruction.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blaſphemes God; threatens Achior, and ſends him away; the Bethulians receive and hear him, fall to Prayer, and comfort him.

Ver. 1. AND when the tumult of men that were about the counſel was ceaſed, Holofernes the chief captain of the army of Aſſur, ſaid unto Achior and all the Moabites, before all the company of other nations, 2 And who art thou, Achior, and the hirelings of Ephraim, that thou haſt propheſied amongſt us as to day, and haſt ſaid, that we ſhould not make war with the people of Iſrael, becauſe their God will defend them? and who is God but Nabuchodonoſor? 3 He will ſend his power, and will deſtroy them from the face of the earth, and their God ſhall not deliver them: but we his ſervants will deſtroy them as one man; for they are not able to ſuſtain the power of our horſes. 4 For with them we will tread them under foot, and their mountains ſhall be drunken with their blood, and their fields ſhall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footſteps ſhall not be able to ſtand before us, for they ſhall utterly periſh, ſaith king Nabuchodonoſor, lord of all the earth; for he ſaid, None of my words ſhall be in vain. 5 And thou Achior, an hireling of Ammon, which haſt ſpoken theſe words in the day of thine iniquity, ſhalt ſee my face no more from this day, until I take vengeance of this nation that came out of Egypt. 6 And then ſhall the ſword of mine army, and the multitude of them that ſerve me, paſs through thy ſides, and thou ſhalt fall among their ſlain, when I return. 7 Now therefore my ſervants ſhall bring thee back into the hill-country, and ſhall ſet thee in one of the cities of the paſſages. 8 And thou ſhalt not periſh till thou be deſtroyed with them. 9 And if thou perſwade thyſelf in thy mind, that they ſhall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I have ſpoken it, and none of my words ſhall be in vain. 10 Then Holofernes commanded his ſervants that waited in his tent, to take Achior, and bring him to Bethulia, and deliver him into the hands of the children of Iſrael. 11 So his ſervants took him, and brought him out of the camp into the plain, and they went from the midſt of the plain into the hill-country, and came unto the fountains that were under Bethulia. 12 And when the men of the city ſaw them, they took up their weapons, and went out of the city to the top of the hill: and every man that uſed a ſling, kept them from coming up, by caſting of ſtones againſt them. 13 Nevertheleſs, having gotten privily under the hill, they bound Achior, and caſt him down, and left him at the foot of the hill, and returned to their lord. 14 But the Iſraelites deſcended from their city, and came unto him, and looſed him, and brought him into Bethulia, and preſented him to the governors of the city: 15 Which were in thoſe days, Ozias the ſon of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the ſon of Gothoniel, and Charmis the ſon of Melchiel. 16 And they called together all the antients of the city, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the aſſembly, and they ſet Achior in the midſt of all their people. Then Ozias aſked him of that which was done. 17 And he anſwered and declared unto them the words of the councel of Holofernes, and all the words that he had ſpoken in the midſt of the princes of Aſſur, and whatſoever Holofernes had ſpoken proudly againſt the houſe of Iſrael. 18 Then the people fell down and worſhipped God, and cried unto God, ſaying, 19 O Lord God of heaven, behold their pride, and pity the low eſtate of our nation, and look upon the face of thoſe that are ſanctified unto thee this day. 20 Then they comforted Achior, and praiſed him greatly. 21 And Ozias took him out of the aſſembly unto his houſe, and made a feaſt to the elders, and they called on the God of Iſrael all that night for help.

This Chapter is remarkable only for Holofernes's blaſphemous and inſolent Speech againſt God. However, 'tis worth obſerving, how truly this impious Boaſter propheſied his own Deſtruction, when he told Achior, that he ſhould ſee his Face no more from that Day, till he had taken Vengeance of that Nation that came out of Egypt, Ver. 5. for in little more than a Month afterwards, he was cut off by Judith, and the Iſraelites thereby free'd from the Calamities that were threatened them by this powerful Invader.

CHAP. VII.

Holofernes beſieges Bethulia, and ſtops up their Fountains. The People faint, and murmur againſt their Governors, who promiſe to ſurrender in five Days, if not relieved.

Ver. 1. THE next day Holofernes commanded all his army, and all his people which were come to take his part, that they ſhould remove their camp againſt Bethulia, to take aforehand the aſcents of the hill-country, and to make war againſt the children of Iſrael. 2 Then their ſtrong men removed their camps in that day, and the army of the men of war was an hundred and ſeventy thouſand footmen, and twelve thouſand horſemen, beſides the baggage, and other men that were afoot amongſt them, a very great multitude. 3 And they camped in the valley near unto Bethulia, by the fountain, and they ſpread themſelves in breadth over Dothaim, even to Belmaim, and in length from Bethulia unto Cyamon, which is over againſt Eſdraelom. 4 Now the children of Iſrael, when they ſaw the multitude of them, were greatly troubled, and ſaid every one to his neighbour, Now will theſe men lick up the face of the earth; for neither the high mountains, nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to bear their weight. 5 Then every man took up his weapons of war, and when they had kindled fires upon their towers, they remained and watched all that night. 6 But in the ſecond day Holofernes brought forth all his horſemen, in the ſight of the children of Iſrael, which were in Bethulia, 7 And viewed the paſſages up to the city, and came to the fountains of their waters, and took them, and ſet gariſons of men of war over them, and he himſelf removed towards his people. 8 Then came unto him all the chief of the children of Eſau, and all the governors of the people of Moab, and the captains of the ſea-coaſts, and ſaid, 9 Let our lord now hear a word, that there be not an overthrow in thine army. 10 For this people of the children of Iſrael do not truſt in their ſpears, but in the height of the mountains wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſy to come up to the tops of their mountains. 11 Now therefore, my lord, fight not againſt them in battle-aray, and there ſhall not ſo much as one man of thy people periſh. 12 Remain in thy camp, and keep all the men of thine army, and let thy ſervants get into their hands the fountain of water, which iſſueth forth of the foot of the fountain: 13 (For all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water thence) ſo ſhall thirſt kill them, and they ſhall give up their city, and we and our people ſhall go up to the tops of the mountains that are near, and will camp upon them, to watch that none go out of the city. 14 So they and their wives and their children ſhall be conſumed with famine, and before the ſword come againſt them, they ſhall be overthrown in the ſtreets where they dwell. 15 Thus ſhalt thou render them an evil reward: becauſe they rebelled, and met not thy perſon peaceably. 16 And theſe words pleaſed Holofernes, and all his ſervants, and he appointed to do as they had ſpoken. 17 So the camp of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thouſand of the Aſſyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and took the waters, and the fountains of the waters of the children of Iſrael. 18 Then the children of Eſau went up with the children of Ammon, and camped in the hill-country, over againſt Dothaim: and they ſent ſome of them toward the ſouth, and toward the eaſt, over againſt Ekrebel, which is near unto Chuſi, that is upon the brook Mochmur; and the reſt of the army of the Aſſyrians camped in the plain, and covered the face of the whole land; and their tents and carriages were pitched to a very great multitude. 19 Then the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord their God, becauſe their heart failed, for all their enemies had compaſſed them round about, and there was no way to eſcape out from among them. 20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots, and horſemen, four and thirty days, ſo that all their veſſels of water failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia. 21 And the ciſterns were emptied, and they had not water to drink their fill for one day; for they gave them drink by meaſure. 22 Therefore their young children were out of heart, and their women and young men fainted for thirſt, and fell down in the ſtreets of the city, and by the paſſages of the gates, and there was no longer any ſtrength in them. 23 Then all the people aſſembled to Ozias, and to the chief of the city, both young men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid before all the elders, 24 God be judge between us and you: for you have done us great injury, in that you have not required peace of the children of Aſſur. 25 For now we have no helper: but God hath ſold us into their hands, that we ſhould be thrown down before them with thirſt, and great deſtruction. 26 Now therefore call them unto you, and deliver the whole city for a ſpoil to the people of Holofernes, and to all his army. 27 For it is better for us to be made a ſpoil unto them, than to die for thirſt: for we will be his ſervants, that our ſouls may live, and not ſee the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wives nor our children to die. 28 We take to witneſs againſt you the heaven, and the earth, and our God, and Lord of our fathers, which puniſheth us according to our ſins, and the ſins of our fathers, that he do not according as we have ſaid this day. 29 Then there was great weeping with one conſent in the midſt of the aſſembly, and they cried unto the Lord God with a loud voice. 30 Then ſaid Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage, let us yet endure five days, in the which ſpace the Lord our God may turn his mercy towards us; for he will not forſake us utterly. 31 And if theſe days paſs, and there come no help unto us, I will do according to your word. 32 And he diſperſed the people every one to their own charge; and they went went unto the walls and towers of their city, and sent the women and children into their houses: and they were very low brought in the city.

The Edomites were always inveterate Enemies to their Brethren the Israelites, ever since their Father Esau was tricked out of his Birthright by his Brother Jacob, and took every Opportunity to distress them, or to join with their Enemies in destroying them. Here we have a flagrant Instance of that antient Enmity which they still bore towards them, in advising the General to take such Measures, as they were morally sure must inevitably reduce the Jews to the utmost Streights; which was, to take Possession of the Fountains of Water by which the City of Bethulia was supplied. This was done accordingly, and the poor Bethulians were brought so very low, that, despairing of Relief, they were very urgent with their Governors to surrender the City to the Mercy of the Enemy.

CHAP. VIII.

Judith's Family and Condition. She blames the Governors for their Promise to surrender, and advises them to trust in God. They excuse their Promise; she acquaints them with her Design in general, but not with Particulars.

Ver. 1. NOW at that time Judith heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the son of Ox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Elcia, the son of Ananias, the son of Gedeon, the son of Raphaim, the son of Achito, the son of Elihu, the son of Eliab, the son of Nathanael, the son of Samael, the son of Salasadai, the son of Israel. 2 And Manasses was her husband, of her tribe and kindred, who died in the barley-harvest. 3 For as he stood overseeing them that bound sheaves in the field, the heat came upon his head, and he fell on his bed, and died in the city of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers, in the field between Dothaim and Balamo. 4 So Judith was a widow in her house three years and four months. 5 And she made her a tent upon the top of her house, and put on sackcloth upon her loins, and wore her widows apparel. 6 And she fasted all the days of her widowhood, save the eves of the sabbaths, and the sabbaths, and the eves of the new moons, and the new moons, and the feasts, and solemn days of the house of Israel. 7 She was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and silver, and men-servants, and maid-servants, and cattel, and lands, and she remained upon them. 8 And there was none that gave her an ill word; for she feared God greatly. 9 Now when she heard the evil words of the people against the governor, that they fainted for lack of water (for Judith had heard all the words that Ozias had spoken unto them, and that he had sworn to deliver the city unto the Assyrians after five days) 10 Then she sent her waiting-woman that had the government of all things that she had, to call Ozias, and Chabris, and Charmis, the antients of the city. 11 And they came unto her, and she said unto them, Hear me now, O ye governors of the inhabitants of Bethulia, for your words that you have spoken before the people this day are not right, touching this oath which ye made and pronounced between God and you, and have promised to deliver the city to our enemies, unless within these days the Lord turn to help you. 12 And now, who are you that have tempted God this day, and stand instead of God amongst the children of men? 13 And now try the Lord Almighty, but you shall never know any thing. 14 For you cannot find the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceive the things that he thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his mind, or comprehend his purpose? Nay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger. 15 For if he will not help us within these five days, he hath power to defend us when he will, even every day, or to destroy us before our enemies. 16 Do not bind the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that he may be threatned; neither is he as the son of man, that he should be wavering. 17 Therefore let us wait for salvation of him, and call upon him to help us, and he will hear our voice, if it please him. 18 For there arose none in our age, neither is there any now in these days, neither tribe nor family, nor people, nor city among us, which worship gods made with hands, as hath been afore-time. 19 For the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a spoil, and had a great fall before our enemies. 20 But we know none other god, therefore we trust that he will not despise us, nor any of our nation. 21 For if we be taken so, all Judea shall lie waste, and our sanctuary shall be spoiled, and he will require the profanation thereof at our mouth. 22 And the slaughter of our brethren, and the captivity of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turn upon our heads among the Gentiles, whersoever we shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence, and a reproach to all them that possess us. 23 For our servitude shall not be directed to favour: but the Lord our God shall turn it to dishonour. 24 Now therefore, O brethren, let us shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend upon us, and the sanctuary, and the house, and the altar rest upon us. 25 Moreover, let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth us even as he did our fathers. 26 Remember what things he did to Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and what happened to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheep of Laban his mothers brother. 27 For he hath not tried us in the fire, as he did them, for the examination of their hearts, neither hath he taken vengeance of us: but the Lord doth scourge them that come near unto him to admonish them. 28 Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that may gainsay thy words. 29 For this is not the first day wherein thy wisdom is manifested; but from the beginning of thy days all the people have known thy understanding, because the disposition of thine heart is good. 30 But the people were very thirsty, and compelled us to do unto them as we have spoken, and to bring an oath upon ourselves, which we will not break. 31 Therefore now pray thou for us, because thou art a godly woman, and the Lord will send us rain to fill our cisterns, and we shall faint no more. 32 Then said Judith unto them, Hear me, and I will will do a thing which ſhall go throughout all generations, to the children of our nation. 33 You ſhall ſtand this night in the gate, and I will go forth with my waiting-woman: and within the days that you have promiſed to deliver the city to our enemies, the Lord will viſit Iſrael by mine hand. 34 But enquire not you of mine act: for I will not declare it unto you, till the things be finiſhed that I do. 35 Then ſaid Ozias and the princes unto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies. 36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

In this Chapter we have the Family and Character of Judith, the Heroine of this Hiſtory. She was, it ſeems, rich and well-born; but what rendered her much more illuſtrious was, her Virtue, and the pious Regard ſhe retained for the Memory of her deceaſed Huſband; tho' in the Prime of her Youth and Beauty, yet ſhe put herſelf under the ſtricteſt Diſcipline, mortifying her Body by faſting, and other Severities, ſeeming determined to continue ever the Widow of one Man; a rare Example of Conjugal Affection! But her Piety to God, and Love to her Country, raiſed her Character to the higheſt Pitch of Female Glory. The firſt we may obſerve in her many Acts of Devotion; and the laſt ſhe manifeſted in a very hazardous Enterprize, which ſhe undertook for the Relief and Succour of her People who were in the greateſt Diſtreſs; and the Succeſs with which her noble Attempt was crowned, ſhews that Providence always concerns itſelf in the Protection and Defence of true Piety and unfeigned Virtue.

CHAP. IX.

Judith's Humiliation and Prayer.

Ver. 1. THEN Judith fell upon her face, and put aſhes upon her head, and uncovered the ſackcloth wherewith ſhe was clothed; and about the time that the incenſe of that evening was offered in Jeruſalem in the houſe of the Lord, Judith cried with a loud voice, and ſaid, 2 O Lord God of my father Simeon, to whom thou gaveſt a ſword to take vengeance of the ſtrangers, who looſened the girdle of a maid to defile her, and diſcovered the thigh to her ſhame, and polluted her virginity to her reproach (for thou ſaidſt, It ſhall not be ſo, and yet they did ſo) 3 Wherefore thou gaveſt their rulers to be ſlain, ſo that they died their bed in blood, being deceived, and ſmoteſt the ſervants with their lords, and the lords upon their thrones; 4 And haſt given their wives for a prey, and their daughters to be captives, and all their ſpoils to be divided amongſt thy dear children; which were moved with thy zeal, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for aid: O God, O my God, hear me alſo a widow. 5 For thou haſt wrought not only thoſe things, but alſo the things which fell out before, and which enſued after; thou haſt thought upon the things which are now, and which are to come. 6 Yea, what things thou didſt determine were ready at hand, and ſaid, Lo, we are here: for all thy ways are prepared, and thy judgments are in thy foreknowledge. 7 For behold, the Aſſyrians are multiplied in their power; they are exalted with horſe and man; they glory in the ſtrength of their footmen; they truſt in ſhield, and ſpear, and bow, and ſling, and know not that thou art the Lord that breakeſt the battles: the Lord is thy name. 8 Throw down their ſtrength in thy power, and bring down their force in thy wrath: for they have purpoſed to defile thy ſanctuary, and to pollute the tabernacle where thy glorious name reſteth, and to caſt down with ſword the horn of thy altar. 9 Behold their pride, and ſend thy wrath upon their heads: give into mine hand which am a widow, the power that I have conceived. 10 Smite by the deceit of my lips the ſervant with the prince, and the prince with the ſervant: break down their ſtatelineſs by the hand of a woman. 11 For thy power ſtandeth not in multitude, nor thy might in ſtrong men: for thou art a God of the afflicted, an helper of the oppreſſed, an upholder of the weak, a protector of the forlorn, a ſaviour of them that are without hope. 12 I pray thee, I pray thee, O God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Iſrael, Lord of the heavens and earth, Creator of the waters, King of every creature, hear thou my prayer: 13 And make my ſpeech and deceit to be their wound and ſtripe, who have purpoſed cruel things againſt thy covenant, and thy hallowed houſe, and againſt the top of Sion, and againſt the houſe of the poſſeſſion of thy children. 14 And make every nation and tribe to acknowledge that thou art the God of all power and might, and that there is none other that protecteth the people of Iſrael but thou.

Tho' Judith deſerved the Praiſe and Thanks of her Country for the brave Attempt ſhe made, and the Hazards ſhe run, to relieve it from the extreme Exigence it was then under; yet we will not undertake to juſtify every Part of her Conduct in the Execution of her Scheme. Thus; in her Prayer, recorded in this Chapter, ſhe is introduced Ver. 2. as commending Simeon's cruel Perfidy to the Sechemites, Gen. xxxiv. tho' the Patriarch Jacob held it in Deteſtation. Alſo, her Prayer, that the Deceit of her Lips might be ſucceſsful to the Accompliſhment of her bloody Deſign, may be ranked in the ſame Claſs: For, tho' God often makes uſe of the wicked Deſigns and ſiniſter Actions of Men to bring about his own ſecret Purpoſes; yet he no where encourages his true Servants to promote his Glory by unjuſtifiable Means.

CHAP. X.

Judith decks herſelf in all her Ornaments, and with her Maid, goes to the Camp; the Watch take her, and conduct her to Holofernes's Tent.

Ver. 1. NOW after that ſhe had ceaſed to cry unto the God of Iſrael, and had made an end of all theſe words, 2 She aroſe where ſhe had fallen down, and called her maid, and went down into the houſe, in the which ſhe abode in the ſabbath-days, and in her feaſt-days, 3 And pulled off the ſackcloth which ſhe had on, and put off the garments of her widow-hood, and waſhed her body all over with water, and anointed herſelf with precious ointment, and braided the hair of her head, and put on a tire upon it, and put on her garments of gladneſs, wherewith ſhe was clad during the life of Manaſſes her huſband. 4 And ſhe took ſandals upon her feet, and put about her her bracelets and her chains, and her rings, and her ear-rings, and all her ornaments, and decked herſelf bravely, to allure the eyes of all men that ſhould ſee her. 5 Then ſhe gave her maid a bottle of wine, and a cruſe of oil, and filled a bag with parched corn, and lumps of figs, and with fine bread; ſo ſhe folded all theſe things together, and laid them upon her. 6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found ſtanding there Ozias, and the antients of the city, Chabris and Charmis. 7 And when they ſaw her, that her countenance was altered, and her apparel was changed, they wondred at her beauty very greatly, and ſaid unto her, 8 The God, the God of our fathers give thee favour, and accompliſh thine enterpriſes to the glory of the children of Iſrael, and to the exaltation of Jeruſalem: then they worſhipped God. 9 And ſhe ſaid unto them, Command the gates of the city to be opened unto me, that I may go forth to accompliſh the things whereof you have ſpoken with me: ſo they commanded the young men to open unto her, as ſhe had ſpoken. 10 And when they had done ſo, Judith went out, ſhe and her maid with her, and the men of the city looked after her, until ſhe was gone down the mountain, and till ſhe had paſſed the valley, and could ſee her no more. 11 Thus they went ſtraight forth in the valley: and the firſt watch of the Aſſyrians met her; 12 And took her, and aſked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comeſt thou? and whither goeſt thou? and ſhe ſaid, I am a woman of the Hebrews, and am fled from them: for they ſhall be given you to be conſumed: 13 And I am coming before Holofernes the chief captain of your army, to declare words of truth, and I will ſhew him a way whereby he ſhall go, and win all the hill-country, without loſing the body or life of any one of his men. 14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beauty, and ſaid unto her, 15 Thou haſt ſaved thy life, in that thou haſt haſted to come down to the preſence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and ſome of us ſhall conduct thee, until they have delivered thee to his hands. 16 And when thou ſtandeſt before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but ſhew unto him according to thy word, and he will entreat thee well. 17 Then they choſe out of them an hundred men, to accompany her and her maid, and they brought her to the tent of Holofernes. 18 Then was there a concourſe throughout all the camp: for her coming was noiſed among the tents, and they came about her as ſhe ſtood without the tent of Holofernes, till they told him of her. 19 And they wondred at her beauty, and admired the children of Iſrael becauſe of her, and every one ſaid to his neighbour, Who would deſpiſe this people, that have among them ſuch women? ſurely it is not good that one man of them be left, who being let go, might deceive the whole earth. 20 And they that lay near Holofernes, went out, and all his ſervants, and they brought her into the tent. 21 Now Holofernes reſted upon his bed under a canopy, which was woven with purple, and gold, and emeralds, and precious ſtones. 22 So they ſhewed him of her, and he came out before his tent, with ſilver lamps going before him. 23 And when Judith was come before him and his ſervants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance; and ſhe fell down upon her face, and did reverence unto him, and his ſervants took her up.

And called her Maid] The Word, in antient Tranſlations, is Abra, which ſignifies a Companion, or Maid of Honour, (ſuch as Ladies of the firſt Condition had) rather than a Servant; for the ſame Word, in the Septuagint, is applied to the Women that attended both Pharaoh's Daughter, Exod. xi. 5. and Queen Eſther, Ch. iv. 4.

This Chapter being only a Narration of plain Matters of Fact, needs no further Comment.

CHAP. XI.

Holofernes aſks Judith the Cauſe of her coming. She tells him, and in what Manner he may ſucceed in his Enterprize. He is charmed with her Wiſdom and Beauty.

Ver. 1. THEN ſaid Holofernes unto her, Woman, be of good comfort, fear not in thine heart: for I never hurt any that was willing to ſerve Nabuchodonoſor, the king of all the earth. 2 Now therefore, if thy people that dwelleth in the mountains had not ſet light by me, I would not have lifted up my ſpear againſt them: but they have done theſe things to themſelves. 3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come unto us: for thou art come for ſafeguard; be of good comfort, thou ſhalt live this night, and hereafter. 4 For none ſhall hurt thee, but entreat thee well, as they do the ſervants of king Nabuchodonoſor my lord. 5 Then Judith ſaid unto him, Receive the words of thy ſervant, and ſuffer thine handmaid to ſpeak in thy preſence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night. 6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to paſs by thee, and my lord ſhall not fail of his purpoſes. 7 As Nabuchodonoſor king of all the earth liveth, and as his power liveth, who hath ſent thee for the upholding of every living thing: for not only men ſhall ſerve him by thee, but alſo the beaſts of the field, and the cattel, and the fowls of the air ſhall live by thy power, under Nabuchodonoſor and all his houſe. 8 For we have heard of thy wiſdom, and thy policies, and it is reported in all the earth, that thou only art excellent in all the kingdom, and mighty in knowledge, and wonderful in feats of war. 9 Now as concerning the matter which Achior did ſpeak in thy councel, we have heard his words; for the men of Bethulia ſaved him, and he declared unto them all that he had ſpoken unto thee. 10 Therefore, O lord and governor, reject not his word; but lay it up in thine heart, for it is true: for our nation ſhall not be puniſhed, neither can the ſword prevail againſt them, except they ſin againſt their God. 11 And now, that my lord be not defeated, and fruſtrate of his purpoſe, even death is fallen upon them, and their ſin hath overtaken them, wherewith they will provoke their God to anger, whenſoever they ſhall do that which is not fit to be done: 12 For their victuals fail them, and all their water is ſcant, and they have determined to lay hands upon their cattel, and purpoſed to conſume all thoſe things that God hath forbidden them to eat by his laws: 13 And are reſolved to ſpend the firſt-fruits of the corn, and the tenths of wine and oil, which they had ſanctified and reserved for the priests that serve in Jerusalem, before the face of our God, the which things it is not lawful for any of the people so much as to touch with their hands. 14 For they have sent some to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there have done the like, to bring them a licence from the Senate. 15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will forthwith do it, and they shall be given thee to be destroyed the same day. 16 Wherefore I thine handmaid knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to work things with thee, whereat all the earth shall be astonished, and whosoever shall hear it. 17 For thy servant is religious, and serveth the God of heaven day and night: now therefore, my lord, I will remain with thee, and thy servant will go out by night into the valley, and I will pray unto God, and he will tell me when they have committed their sins: 18 And I will come and shew it unto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine army, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee. 19 And I will lead thee through the midst of Judea, until thou come before Jerusalem, and I will set thy throne in the midst thereof, and thou shalt drive them as sheep that have no shepherd, and a dog shall not so much as open his mouth at thee: for these things were told me according to my foreknowledge, and they were declared unto me, and I am sent to tell thee. 20 Then her words pleased Holofernes and all his servants, and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, both for beauty of face, and wisdom of words. 22 Likewise Holofernes said unto her, God hath done well to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction upon them that lightly regard my lord. 23 And now thou art both beautiful in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: surely if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of king Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned through the whole earth.

In this Chapter we see Judith displaying all her Art and Cunning, all her Charms of Wit and Beauty, to captivate the Heart of the Assyrian General; which she judged a necessary Step in order to secure the Success of her Enterprize; but the Method she took for this Purpose, seems a little inconsistent with her Character as a Woman strictly religious, as she is represented through the whole History. For who can read the Speech, which she here makes to Holofernes, which is made up wholly of the most palpable Lies and Prevarications, and not condemn her Method of proceeding in this Affair? But, as Stackhouse observes, most of the Things objected to Judith's Conduct, are reduceable to the Stratagems of War, which not only the Law of Arms, but the Commands of God in some Cases, and the Examples of several of the best Men in sacred History, have declared to be allowable. What comes not under this Denomination we shall not pretend to vindicate: For the Notion of mental Reservations, and ironical Speeches, which are not allowed in common Conversation, are but the poor Subterfuge, which Commentators have used, to apologize for the Conduct that they can by no Means justify.

The History indeed represents this Judith as a Woman of great Courage; but it no where intimates, that she was without Faults. The Manner of her Preparation for the Undertaking, and the Success wherewith it was attended, may make us presume that its Design was originally from God; but then the continued Train of Falshood and Dissimulation wherewith it was carried on, must needs persuade us, that the Means of conducting it was left to the Woman, who, on this Occasion, has given us a very remarkable Specimen of the Cunning and Sagacity, the Guile and Artifice of her Sex.

CHAP. XII.

Judith refuses to eat of Holofernes's Meat; tarries three Days in the Camp, and every Night goes forth to pray. Bagoas moves her to be merry with Holofernes, who, for the Sake of her Company drinks more than usual.

Ver. 1. THEN he commanded to bring her in, where his plate was set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine. 2 And Judith said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an offence: but provision shall be made for me of the things that I have brought. 3 Then Holofernes said unto her, If thy provision should fail, how should we give thee the like? for there be none with us of thy nation. 4 Then said Judith unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I have, before the Lord work by mine hand the things that he hath determined. 5 Then the servants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she arose when it was towards the morning watch, 6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord now command that thine handmaid may go forth unto prayer. 7 Then Holofernes commanded his guard, that they should not stay her: thus she abode in the camp three days, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself in a fountain of water by the camp. 8 And when she came out, she besought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way, to the raising up of the children of her people. 9 So she came in clean, and remained in the tent until she did eat her meat at evening. 10 And in the fourth day Holofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the officers to the banquet. 11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now, and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us. 12 For lo, it will be a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company: for if we draw her not unto us, she will laugh us to scorn. 13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and he said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and drink wine, and be merry with us, and be made this day as one of the daughters of the Assyrians, which serve in the house of Nabuchodonosor. 14 Then said Judith unto him, Who am I now, that I should gainsay my lord? surely whatsoever pleaseth him, I will do speedily, and it shall be my joy unto the day of my death. 15 So she arose, and decked herself with her apparel, and all her womans attire, and her maid went and laid soft skins on the ground for her, over against Holofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them.

16 Now when Judith came in, and ſat down, Holofernes his heart was raviſhed with her, and his mind was moved, and he deſired greatly her company; for he waited a time to deceive her, from the day that he had ſeen her. 17 Then ſaid Holofernes unto her, Drink now, and be merry with us. 18 So Judith ſaid, I will drink now, my lord, becauſe my life is magnified in me this day, more than all the days ſince I was born. 19 Then ſhe took, and ate and drank before him, what her maid had prepared. 20 And Holofernes took great delight in her, and drank much more wine than he had drunk at any time in one day ſince he was born.

And Judith ſaid, I will not eat thereof, leſt there be an Offence] There was no Law of God that prohibited the Jews from eating ſeveral Things that the Gentiles made uſe of. Bread, Wine, and Fruits, were allowed them in common with other People; but, either ſome Tradition then prevailing among the Jews, or ſome religious Vow that Judith might have bound herſelf under, the Fear of giving Scandal to her Countrymen, when ſhe returned, or the Prayers and Pagan Invocations which were made over their Meat, that was ſerved up to Holofernes; ſome of theſe Reaſons, Calmet obſerves, very likely, hindered her from accepting the Offer which the General made of Proviſions from his Table, and inclined her to deſire to eat alone: A Reſtraint, which we find Daniel putting himſelf under, in the Court of Nebuchadnezzar, Ch. i. 8. and Tobit, in that of Salmaneſer, Ch. i. 10, &c. that — when all my Brethren, and thoſe that were of my Kindred, did eat of the Bread of the Gentiles, I kept myſelf from eating, becauſe I remembred God with all my Heart.

Let my Lord now command, that thine Handmaid may go forth unto Prayer] As Prayer, no doubt, is beſt performed in Places of Retirement, and the Hurry of a Camp muſt needs be inconvenient for religious Offices, Judith, who profeſſed herſelf a Woman of ſtrict Piety, had a good Pretence to requeſt of the General a Liberty to retire out of the Camp, (when ſhe thought proper, and without any Queſtions aſked her) to perform her Devotions, which, ſhe foreſaw, would be a Means to favour her Eſcape, after ſhe had executed the Deſign ſhe came about. For it was on this Precaution, rather than any Obligation, either from the Law, or from Cuſtom, that this Devotion of her praying without the Camp was founded. Calmet's Com.

Then ſaid Judith unto him, Who am I now, that I ſhould gainſay my Lord? ſurely whatſoever pleaſeth him, I will do ſpeedily, and it ſhall be my Joy unto the Day of my Death] By this Anſwer, ſays Stackhouſe, ſhe might deſign no more than a common Compliment, which the Situation of her Affairs, at that Time, obliged her to make. She might perceive, very likely, the bad Deſign which the Aſſyrian General had upon her; but ſhe did not think herſelf concerned to diſcover that ſhe perceived it. She pretended in ſome Meaſure to be ignorant of it; and, to pretend an Ignorance in what is propoſed, when the Thing is naughty, and will not bear Examination, is a Point of Modeſty, as well as Prudence; as, where it will admit of a double Conſtruction, there to take it in the better Senſe, is even reputed an Act of Candour and good Breeding. Let not this fair Damſel fear (ſays the old Pander) to come to my Lord, and to be honoured in his Preſence, and drink Wine, and be merry with us, and be made this Day as one of the Daughters of the Aſſyrians, who ſerve in the Houſe of Nabuchodonoſor. How the Daughters of Aſſyria, who ſerved in this Capacity, were uſed, Judith very probably had been informed; but ſince the Eunuch put it on the Foot of a great Favour, and Digtion done her, ſhe could not do leſs than return him Compliment: But then we all know, that the Offers Service, which, upon every Occaſion, we are ſo to make to one another, and thoſe Expreſſions of Submiſſion and Reſpect, which ſo commonly paſs among us, are not to be taken in a literal Senſe, becauſe they always imply a tacit Condition: And therefore the Anſwer, which the Hiſtorian puts in Judith's Mouth, Surely whatever pleaſeth him, I will do ſpeedily, will fairly admit of this Conſtruction, 'Whatever Holofernes ſhall deſire of me, ſo far as it is conſiſtent 'with my Duty, my Honour, and my Religion, I 'will not fail to do.'

CHAP. XIII.

Judith being left alone with Holofernes, prays to God, cuts off his Head, and eſcapes to Bethulia, where ſhe is joyfully received, and commended.

Ver 1. NOW when the evening was come, his ſervants made haſte to depart, and Bagoas ſhut his tent without, and diſmiſſed the waiters from the preſence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, becauſe the feaſt had been long. 2 And Judith was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine. 3 Now Judith had commanded her maid to ſtand without her bed-chamber, and to wait for her coming forth, as ſhe did daily: for ſhe ſaid, ſhe would go forth to her prayers, and ſhe ſpake to Bagoas according to the ſame purpoſe. 4 So all went forth, and none was left in the bed-chamber, neither little nor great. Then Judith ſtanding by his bed, ſaid in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look at this preſent upon the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Jeruſalem. 5 For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterpriſes to the deſtruction of the enemies which are riſen againſt us. 6 Then ſhe came to the pillar of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and took down his fauchion from thence, 7 And approached to his bed, and took hold of the hair of his head, and ſaid, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Iſrael, this day. 8 And ſhe ſmote twice upon his neck with all her might, and ſhe took away his head from him, 9 And tumbled his body down from the bed, and pulled down the canopy from the pillars, and anon after ſhe went forth, and gave Holofernes his head to her maid: 10 And ſhe put it in her bag of meat: ſo they twain went together according to their cuſtom, unto prayer: and when they paſſed the camp, they compaſſed the valley, and went up the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof. 11 Then ſaid Judith afar off to the watchmen at the gate, Open, open now the gate: God, even our God is with us, to ſhew his power yet in Jeruſalem, and his forces againſt the enemy, as he hath even done this day. 12 Now when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haſte to go down to the gate of their city, and they called the elders of the city. 13 And then they ran all together, both ſmall and great, for it was ſtrange unto them that ſhe was come: ſo they opened the gate and received them, and made a fire for a light, and ſtood round about them. 14 Then ſhe ſaid to them with a loud voice, Praiſe, praiſe God, praiſe God, (I ſay) for he hath not taken away his mercy from the houſe of Iſrael, but hath deſtroyed our enemies by mine hands this night. 15 So ſhe took the head out of the bag, and ſhewed it, and ſaid unto them, Behold the head

CHAP. XII.

Judith refuses to eat of Holofernes's Meat; tarries three Days in the Camp, and every Night goes forth to pray. Bagoas moves her to be merry with Holofernes, who, for the Sake of her Company drinks more than usual.

Ver. 1. THEN he commanded to bring her in, where his plate was set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine. 2 And Judith said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an offence: but provision shall be made for me of the things that I have brought. 3 Then Holofernes said unto her, If thy provision should fail, how should we give thee the like? for there be none with us of thy nation. 4 Then said Judith unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I have, before the Lord work by mine hand the things that he hath determined. 5 Then the servants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she arose when it was towards the morning watch, 6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord now command that thine handmaid may go forth unto prayer. 7 Then Holofernes commanded his guard, that they should not stay her: thus she abode in the camp three days, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself in a fountain of water by the camp. 8 And when she came out, she besought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way, to the raising up of the children of her people. 9 So she came in clean, and remained in the tent until she did eat her meat at evening. 10 And in the fourth day Holofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the officers to the banquet. 11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now, and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us. 12 For lo, it will be a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company: for if we draw her not unto us, she will laugh us to scorn. 13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and he said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and drink wine, and be merry with us, and be made this day as one of the daughters of the Assyrians, which serve in the house of Nabuchodonosor. 14 Then said Judith unto him, Who am I now, that I should gainsay my lord? surely whatsoever pleaseth him, I will do speedily, and it shall be my joy unto the day of my death. 15 So she arose, and decked herself with her apparel, and all her womans attire, and her maid went and laid soft skins on the ground for her, over against Holofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them. 16

16 Now when Judith came in, and sat down, Holofernes his heart was ravished with her, and his mind was moved, and he desired greatly her company; for he waited a time to deceive her, from the day that he had seen her. 17 Then said Holofernes unto her, Drink now, and be merry with us. 18 So Judith said, I will drink now, my lord, because my life is magnified in me this day, more than all the days since I was born. 19 Then she took, and ate and drank before him, what her maid had prepared. 20 And Holofernes took great delight in her, and drank much more wine than he had drunk at any time in one day since he was born.

And Judith said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an Offence] There was no Law of God that prohibited the Jews from eating several Things that the Gentiles made use of. Bread, Wine, and Fruits, were allowed them in common with other People; but, either some Tradition then prevailing among the Jews, or some religious Vow that Judith might have bound herself under, the Fear of giving Scandal to her Countrymen, when she returned, or the Prayers and Pagan Invocations which were made over their Meat, that was served up to Holofernes; some of these Reasons, Calmet observes, very likely, hindered her from accepting the Offer which the General made of Provisions from his Table, and inclined her to desire to eat alone: A Restraint, which we find Daniel putting himself under, in the Court of Nebuchadnezzar, Ch. i. 8. and Tobit, in that of Salmaneser, Ch. i. 10, &c. that — when all my Brethren, and those that were of my Kindred, did eat of the Bread of the Gentiles, I kept myself from eating, because I remembred God with all my Heart.

Let my Lord now command, that thine Handmaid may go forth unto Prayer] As Prayer, no doubt, is best performed in Places of Retirement, and the Hurry of a Camp must needs be inconvenient for religious Offices, Judith, who professed herself a Woman of strict Piety, had a good Pretence to request of the General a Liberty to retire out of the Camp, (when she thought proper, and without any Questions asked her) to perform her Devotions, which, she foresaw, would be a Means to favour her Escape, after she had executed the Design she came about. For it was on this Precaution, rather than any Obligation, either from the Law, or from Custom, that this Devotion of her praying without the Camp was founded. Calmet's Com.

Then said Judith unto him, Who am I now, that I should gainsay my Lord? surely whatsoever pleaseth him, I will do speedily, and it shall be my Joy unto the Day of my Death] By this Answer, says Stackhouse, she might design no more than a common Compliment, which the Situation of her Affairs, at that Time, obliged her to make. She might perceive, very likely, the bad Design which the Assyrian General had upon her; but she did not think herself concerned to discover that she perceived it. She pretended in some Measure to be ignorant of it; and, to pretend an Ignorance in what is proposed, when the Thing is naughty, and will not bear Examination, is a Point of Modesty, as well as Prudence; as, where it will admit of a double Construction, there to take it in the better Sense, is even reputed an Act of Candour and good Breeding. Let not this fair Damsel fear (says the old Pander) to come to my Lord, and to be honoured in his Presence, and drink Wine, and be merry with us, and be made this day as one of the Daughters of the Assyrians, who serve in the House of Nabuchodonosor. How the Daughters of Assyria, who served in this Capacity, were used, Judith very probably had been informed; but since the much put it on the Foot of a great Favour, and Diction done her, she could not do less than return him Compliment: But then we all know, that the Offers Service, which, upon every Occasion, we are so to make to one another, and those Expressions of Submission and Respect, which so commonly pass among us, are not to be taken in a literal Sense, because they always imply a tacit Condition: And therefore the Answer, which the Historian puts in Judith's Mouth, Surely whatever pleaseth him, I will do speedily, will fairly admit of this Construction, 'Whatever Holofernes shall desire of me, so far as it is consistent 'with my Duty, my Honour, and my Religion, I 'will not fail to do.'

Judith being left alone with Holofernes, prays to God, cuts off his Head, and escapes to Bethulia, where she is joyfully received, and commended.

Ver 1. NOW when the evening was come, his servants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed the waiters from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long. 2 And Judith was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine. 3 Now Judith had commanded her maid to stand without her bed-chamber, and to wait for her coming forth, as she did daily: for she said, she would go forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose. 4 So all went forth, and none was left in the bed-chamber, neither little nor great. Then Judith standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look at this present upon the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem. 5 For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against us. 6 Then she came to the pillar of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and took down his fauchion from thence, 7 And approached to his bed, and took hold of the hair of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day. 8 And she smote twice upon his neck with all her might, and she took away his head from him, 9 And tumbled his body down from the bed, and pulled down the canopy from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gave Holofernes his head to her maid: 10 And she put it in her bag of meat: so they twain went together according to their custom, unto prayer: and when they passed the camp, they compassed the valley, and went up the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof. 11 Then said Judith afar off to the watchmen at the gate, Open, open now the gate: God, even our God is with us, to shew his power yet in Jerusalem, and his forces against the enemy, as he hath even done this day. 12 Now when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haste to go down to the gate of their city, and they called the elders of the city. 13 And then they ran all together, both small and great, for it was strange unto them that she was come: so they opened the gate and received them, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them. 14 Then she said to them with a loud voice, Praise, praise God, praise God, (I say) for he hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night. 15 So she took the head out of the bag, and shewed it, and said unto them, Behold the head of Holofernes the chief captain of the army of Aſſur, and behold the canopy wherein he did lie in his drunkenneſs; and the Lord hath ſmitten him by the hand of a woman. 16 As the Lord liveth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceived him to his deſtruction, and yet hath he not committed ſin with me, to defile and ſhame me. 17 Then all the people were wonderfully aſtoniſhed, and bowed themſelves, and worſhipped God, and ſaid with one accord, Bleſſed be thou, O our God, which hath this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people. 18 Then ſaid Ozias unto her, O daughter, bleſſed art thou of the moſt high God, above all the women upon the earth; and bleſſed be the Lord God, which hath created the heavens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chief of our enemies. 19 For this thy confidence ſhall not depart from the heart of men, which remember the power of God for ever. 20 And God turn theſe things to thee for a perpetual praiſe, to viſit thee in good things, becauſe thou haſt not ſpared thy life for the affliction of our nation, but haſt revenged our ruin, walking a ſtraight way before our God. And all the people ſaid, So be it, ſo be it.

It has been objected, that Judith, in killing Holofernes in ſuch a clandeſtine Manner, after ſhe had been ſo highly honoured and favoured by him, was guilty of a baſe and perfidious Murther. To this it is anſwered, that in the Law of Moſes we read, If thy Brother, the Son of thy Mother, or thy Daughter, or the Wife of thy Boſom, entice thee ſecretly, ſaying, Let us ſerve other Gods, which thou haſt not known, thou, nor thy Fathers — Thou ſhalt not conſent unto him, neither ſhall thine Eye pity him, neither ſhalt thou ſpare, neither ſhalt thou conceal him, but thou ſhalt ſurely kill him, Deut. xiii. 6. &c. And, in purſuance of this Law, much more might Judith or any other Inhabitant of Bethulia, whom God had inſpired with the like Courage and Magnanimity, endeavour to counterplot the Deſigns of any Perſon, who in an hoſtile Manner ſhould come, not only to invade their civil Rights and Liberties, but to extirpate their Religion; and, inſtead of enticing, to compel them by Force of Arms, to receive a Form of Idolatry, which neither they nor their Fathers knew.

CHAP. XIV.

Achior, hearing Judith's Relation, turns Jew. The Head of Holofernes is hanged up. His Death cauſes a Diſtraction in his Army.

Ver. 1. THEN ſaid Judith unto them, Hear me now, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it upon the higheſt place of your walls. 2 And ſo ſoon as the morning ſhall appear, and the ſun ſhall come forth upon the earth, take you every one his weapons, and go forth every valiant man out of the city, and ſet you a captain over them, as though ye would go down into the field toward the watch of the Aſſyrians, but go not down. 3 Then they ſhall take their armour, and ſhall go into their camp, and raiſe up the captains of the army of Aſſur, and they ſhall run to the tent of Holofernes, but ſhall not find him: then fear ſhall fall upon them, and they ſhall flee before your face. 4 So you, and all that inhabit the coaſt of Iſrael, ſhall purſue them, and overthrow them as they go. 5 But before ye do theſe things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may ſee and know him that deſpiſed the houſe of Iſrael, and that ſent him to us as it were to his death. 6 Then they called Achior out of the houſe of Ozias; and when he was come, and ſaw the head of Holofernes in a mans hand in the aſſembly of the people, he fell down on his face, and his ſpirit failed. 7 But when they had recovered him, he fell at Judiths feet, and reverenced her, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou in all the tabernacle of Juda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name ſhall be aſtoniſhed. 8 Now therefore tell me all the things that thou haſt done in theſe days. Then Judith declared unto him in the midſt of the people, all that ſhe had done from the day that ſhe went forth, until that hour ſhe ſpake unto them. 9 And when ſhe had left off ſpeaking, the people ſhouted with a loud voice, and made a joyful noiſe in their city. 10 And when Achior had ſeen all that the God of Iſrael had done, he believed in God greatly, and circumciſed the fleſh of his foreſkin, and was joined unto the houſe of Iſrael unto this day. 11 And aſſoon as the morning aroſe, they hanged the head of Holofernes upon the wall, and every man took his weapons, and they went forth by bands unto the ſtraits of the mountain. 12 But when the Aſſyrians ſaw them, they ſent to their leaders, which came to their captains, and tribunes, and to every one of their rulers. 13 So they came to Holofernes tent, and ſaid to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken now our Lord: for the ſlaves have been bold to come down againſt us to battel, that they may be utterly deſtroyed. 14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the door of the tent, for he thought that he had ſlept with Judith. 15 But becauſe none anſwered, he opened it, and went into the bed-chamber, and found him caſt upon the floor dead, and his head was taken from him. 16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping, and ſighing, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments. 17 After he went into the tent where Judith lodged: and when he found her not, he leaped out to the people and cried, 18 Theſe ſlaves have dealt treacherouſly; one woman of the Hebrews hath brought ſhame upon the houſe of king Nabuchodonoſor: for behold, Holofernes lieth upon the ground without a head. 19 When the captains of the Aſſyrians army heard theſe words, they rent their coats, and their minds were wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry, and a very great noiſe throughout the camp.

In this Chapter we have two remarkable Inſtances of the violent Effects which a ſudden Surprize produces in the Mind and Senſes. The firſt is, of Achior, who being ſent for to the Aſſembly, on Judith's Return, ſeeing Holofernes's Head in a Man's Hand, ſwooned away. The Ideas of Holofernes's Greatneſs, his Power which he boaſted was invincible, the Multitude of his Men in Arms, the Number of his Conqueſts, and the Terror which his Arms had ſpread over all that Part of the World; and now to ſee the Head of this Hero, this Demi-god, ſeparated from his Body, and this great Exploit performed by the Hand of a Woman! Theſe ſtrange Ideas, I ſay, ruſhing all together too impetuouſly upon his Mind, his Spirits were oppreſſed with the Vaſtneſs of the Objects preſented, and his Body ſunk under the Weight.

The other Inſtance, is that of the Aſſyrian Army upon hearing the News, that their mighty General was become become a headleſs Trunk in his Tent. The ſudden Surprize, which this wonderful Event occaſioned among the Officers and Soldiers, wrought ſo powerfully on their Minds, that, in a Moment, nothing but Diſtraction and Confuſion was ſeen thro' the whole Camp, where, before, there was a perfect Unanimity, tho' the Army was compoſed of different Nations and Languages: But by this Event it appeared, that Holofernes was the main Pillar on which the whole Structure, tho' conſiſting of ſuch a Number of Parts, entirely reſted; and that That being taken away, the whole Edifice fell to Pieces.

CHAP. XV.

The Aſſyrians are purſued and ſlain. The High-Prieſt comes to ſee Judith. Holofernes's Effects are given to her. The Women crown her with a Garland.

Ver. 1. AND when they that were in the tents heard, they were aſtoniſhed at the thing that was done. 2 And fear and trembling fell upon them, ſo that there was no man that durſt abide in the ſight of his neighbour, but ruſhing out altogether, they fled into every way of the plain, and of the hill-country. 3 They alſo that had camped in the mountains round about Bethulia, fled away. Then the children of Iſrael, every one that was a warrior among them, ruſhed out upon them. 4 Then ſent Ozias to Betomaſthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Cola, and to all the coaſts of Iſrael, ſuch as ſhould tell the things that were done, and that all ſhould ruſh forth upon their enemies to deſtroy them. 5 Now when the children of Iſrael heard it, they all fell upon them with one conſent, and ſlew them unto Chobai: likewiſe alſo they that came from Jeruſalem, and from all the hill-country, (for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies) and they that were in Galaad, and in Galilee, chaſed them with a great ſlaughter, until they were paſt Damaſcus, and the borders thereof. 6 And the reſidue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell upon the camp of Aſſur, and ſpoiled them, and were greatly enriched. 7 And the children of Iſrael that returned from the ſlaughter had that which remained; and the villages, and the cities that were in the mountains, and in the plain, gat many ſpoils: for the multitude was very great. 8 Then Joacim the high-prieſt, and the antients of the children of Iſrael that dwelt in Jeruſalem, came to behold the good things that God had ſhewed to Iſrael, and to ſee Judith, and to ſalute her. 9 And when they came unto her, they bleſſed her with one accord, and ſaid unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jeruſalem, thou art the great glory of Iſrael, thou art the great rejoicing of our nation. 10 Thou haſt done all theſe things by thine hand: thou haſt done much good to Iſrael, and God is pleaſed therewith: bleſſed be thou of the Almighty Lord for evermore: and all the people ſaid, So be it. 11 And the people ſpoiled the camp, the ſpace of thirty days: and they gave unto Judith, Holofernes his tent, and all his plate, and beds, and veſſels, and all his ſtuff: and ſhe took it, and laid it on her mule; and made ready her carts, and laid them thereon. 12 Then all the women of Iſrael ran together to ſee her, and bleſſed her, and made a dance among them for her: and ſhe took branches in her hand, and gave alſo to the women that were with her. 13 And they put a garland of olive upon her, and her maid that was with her, and ſhe went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women: and [illegible]n of Iſrael followed in their armour, with [illegible]ls, and with ſongs in their mouths.

Then Joacim the Hi[illegible]-Prieſt, &c.] Some learned Men have raiſed an Objection to the Reality of this Hiſtory, by obſerving, that Joacim, or Joakim, the High-Prieſt, is never once mentioned in the Catalogues of that Order, before the Captivity. To which Stackhouſe thus anſwers: Whoever looks into the Order and Succeſſion of High-Prieſts, as we have them delivered to us in the firſt Book of Chronicles, Ch. vi. 3, &c. in the Books of Ezra, Ch. ii. 36, &c. Nehemiah, Ch. vii. 39. and in the Hiſtory of Joſephus, will find them ſo intricate and perplexed, ſo many Omiſſions and Diſlocations, ſuch a Diverſity of Names and Numbers, and ſuch ſeeming Contrariety in the ſeveral Accounts, as will coſt him no ſmall Pains to reduce them to any tolerable Regularity. The Reaſon is; becauſe the Scripture no where profeſſes to give an exact Catalogue of all ſuch as had been admitted to that Office and Dignity, until the Captivity.

That in the Book of Chronicles ſeems to bid faireſt for it: But, upon Examination it will appear to be a direct lineal Deſcent of the pontifical Family, from Aaron to Joſadak the Son of Seraiah, who was High-Prieſt at the Captivity; and not a Succeſſion of ſuch, as had borne the pontifical Office, becauſe ſeveral in that Pedigree are inſerted, that were never High-prieſts, and ſeveral omitted that were. The Pedigrees of the High-Prieſts in Ezra, and Nehemiah, are but imperfect Parts of that, which we have in the Book of Chronicles; and as for the Catalogue of Joſephus, it is ſo corrupted, that ſcarce five of the Names in it do agree with any Thing that we have in Scripture: So that, conſidering the Defects of theſe Accounts, we may be allowed to infer, that Joakim, or Eliakim (for they are Names both of the ſame Import) might have been High-Prieſt in the Time of Manaſſeh; even tho' we ſhould ſuppoſe, that there was no Mention made of him, as ſuch, either in the Holy Scriptures, or in the Hiſtory of Joſephus.

CHAP. XVI.

Judith's Song. She dedicates the Stuff of Holofernes; dies a Widow at Bethulia. All Iſrael lament her Death.

Ver. 1. THEN Judith began to ſing this thankſgiving in all Iſrael, and all the people ſang after her this ſong of praiſe. 2 And Judith ſaid, Begin unto my God with timbrels, ſing unto my Lord with cymbals: tune unto him a new pſalm: exalt him, and call upon his name. 3 For God breaketh the battels: for amongſt the camps in the midſt of the people he hath delivered me out of the hands of them that perſecuted me. 4 Aſſur came out of the mountains from the north, he came with ten thouſands of his army, the multitude whereof ſtopped the torrents, and their horſemen have covered the hills. 5 He bragged that he would burn up my borders, and kill my young men with the ſword, and daſh the ſucking children againſt the ground, and make mine infants as a prey, and my virgins as a ſpoil. 6 But the Almighty Lord hath diſappointed them by the hand of a woman. 7 For the mighty one did not fall by the young men, neither did the ſons of the Titans ſmite him, nor high giants ſet upon him:

him: but Judith the daughter of Merari weakened him with the beauty of her countenance. 8 For ſhe put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of thoſe that were oppreſſed in Iſrael, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound her hair in a tire, and took a linen garment to deceive him. 9 Her ſandals raviſhed his eyes, her beauty took his mind priſoner, and the fauchion paſſed through his neck. 10 The Perſians quaked at her boldneſs, and the Medes were daunted at her hardineſs. 11 Then my afflicted ſhouted for joy, and my weak ones cried aloud; but they were aſtoniſhed: theſe lifted up their voices, but they were overthrown. 12 The ſons of the damſels have pierced them through, and wounded them as fugitives children: they periſhed by the battel of the Lord. 13 I will ſing unto the Lord a new ſong: O Lord, thou art great and glorious, wonderful in ſtrength, and invincible. 14 Let all creatures ſerve thee: for thou ſpakeſt, and they were made, thou didſt ſend forth thy Spirit, and it created them, and there is none that can reſiſt thy voice. 15 For the mountains ſhall be moved from their foundations with the waters, the rocks ſhall melt as wax at thy preſence: yet thou art merciful to them that fear thee. 16 For all ſacrifice is too little for a ſweet ſavour unto thee, and all the fat is not ſufficient for thy burnt-offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times. 17 Wo to the nations that riſe up againſt my kindred: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgment, in putting fire and worms in their fleſh; and they ſhall feel them, and weep for ever. 18 Now as ſoon as they entred into Jeruſalem, they worſhipped the Lord; and as ſoon as the people were purified, they offered their burnt-offerings, and their free-offerings, and their gifts. 19 Judith alſo dedicated all the ſtuff of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopy which ſhe had taken out of his bed-chamber, for a gift unto the Lord. 20 So the people continued feaſting in Jeruſalem before the ſanctuary, for the ſpace of three months, and Judith remained with them. 21 After this time every one returned to his own inheritance, and Judith went to Bethulia, and remained in her own poſſeſſion, and was in her time honourable in all the countrey. 22 And many deſired her, but none knew her all the days of her life, after that Manaſſes her huſband was dead, and was gathered to his people. 23 But ſhe increaſed more and more in honour, and waxed old in her huſbands houſe, being an hundred and five years old, and made her maid free; ſo ſhe died in Bethulia: and they buried her in the cave of her huſband Manaſſes. 24 And the houſe of Iſrael lamented her ſeven days: and before ſhe died, ſhe did diſtribute her goods to all them that were neareſt of kindred to Manaſſes her huſband, and to them that were the neareſt of her kindred. 25 And there was none that made the children of Iſrael any more afraid in the days of Judith, nor a long time after her death.

Judith alſo dedicated all the Stuff of Holofernes] Nothing is more common, both in ſacred and profane Hiſtory, than in meeting with ſeveral Kind of Spoils taken in War, dedicated to God, in Acknowledgment of his Goodneſs, and in Memory of the Victory, which, by his Bleſſing and Aſſiſtance, was then obtained.

All the reſt of this Chapter is ſo plain and intelligible, as to need no farther Comment or Expoſition.

An EXPOSITION of the reſt of the Chapters of the Book of ESTHER,

Which are found neither in the Hebrew, nor in the Chaldee.

The ARGUMENT.

Theſe Chapters which are ſubjoined as a Supplement to the authentick Book of Eſther, are, doubtleſs very antient, ſince Joſephus hath taken ſome of them into his Writings: But in comparing them with thoſe which we hold as canonical, we find ſuch a Diſparity in Stile and Diction, and even ſuch manifeſt Contradictions, as gave the antient Compilers of the Bible ſufficient Reaſon for excluding them from the Catalogue of the Holy Scriptures. Another Proof that this Part of Eſther never was, nor ought to be admitted among the inſpired Writings, is, that the Greek Stile is evidently ſome particular Man's, who, in a florid and oratorical Language, ſeems fond of beautifying and colouring over the Plainneſs of the true Hiſtory.

CHAP. X.

Mardocheus recollects, and interprets his Dream, of the River and two Dragons.

Ver. 4. THEN Mardocheus ſaid, God hath done theſe things. 5 For I remember a dream which I ſaw concerning theſe matters, and nothing thereof hath failed. 6 A little fountain became a river, and there was light, and the ſun, and much water: this river is Eſther, whom the king married and made queen. 7 And the two dragons, are I and Aman. 8 And the the nations were thoſe that were aſſembled to deſtroy the name of the Jews: 9 And my nation is this Iſrael, which cried to God and were ſaved: for the Lord hath ſaved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all thoſe evils, and God hath wrought ſigns and great wonders which have not been done among the Gentiles. 10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles. 11 And theſe two lots came at the hour, and time, and day of judgment before God amongſt all nations. 12 So God remembred his people, and juſtified his inheritance. 13 Therefore thoſe days ſhall be unto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the ſame month, with an aſſembly, and joy, and with gladneſs, before God, according to the generations for ever among his people.

To connect this additional Hiſtory with the Book of Eſther, of which it is ſaid to be the Remainder, we are to remember, that by the Interpoſition of Mordecai, or, as he is here called Mardocheus, and the Authority which Queen Eſther had with King Ahaſuerus, the Jews obtained a ſignal Deliverance from the Plot laid againſt them by Haman their mortal Enemy. Mordecai, to perpetuate ſo wonderful an Inſtance of the Divine Favour to his Nation, inſtituted an annual Feſtival to be obſerved on the 14th and 15th Days of the Month Adar, (which anſwers to Part of our February and March) for ever. After the firſt Celebration of this Feſtival, the People being re-eſtabliſhed in their former Tranquillity, he conſiders the Part which he had acted in this great Revolution; and finding, on a Review, ſuch manifeſt Traces of the Finger of God in all that had been tranſacted, judged it impoſſible, as well as highly impious, to aſcribe it to his own Wiſdom or Policy, and therefore, as if aſtoniſhed at the Wonders he had ſeen, he cries out in the firſt Verſe of this Chapter, God hath done theſe Things! He is confirmed in this Opinion by recollecting a Dream he formerly had, which, comparing it with the late ſurprizing Deliverance of him and his People, from the deep-laid Schemes and malicious Machinations of their Enemies, he declares it was a true Prediction, in every Particular, of what afterwards came to paſs. He then tells his Dream, and explains it, and expounds it, and concludes, that, ſince God hath wrought all theſe Wonders for them, they ought, in Gratitude, to give the Glory to him, in this annual Celebration of their Deliverance.

CHAP. XI.

Mardocheus's Family and Quality; his Reſidence at Suſa, and the Reaſon of his being there.

Ver. 1. IN the fourth year of the reign of Ptolomeus and Cleopatra, Doſitheus, who ſaid he was a prieſt and Levite, and Ptolomeus his ſon brought this epiſtle of Phurim, which they ſaid was the ſame, and that Lyſimachus the ſon of Ptolemeus, that was in Jeruſalem, had interpreted it. 2 In the ſecond year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, in the firſt day of the month Niſan, Mardocheus the ſon of Jairus, the ſon of Semei, the ſon of Ciſai of the tribe of Benjamin had a dream. 3 Who was a Jew, and dwelt in the city of Suſa, a great man, being a ſervitor in the kings court. 4 He was alſo one of the captives which Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon carried from Jeruſalem, with Jechonias king of Judea, and this was his dream. 5 Behold, a noiſe of a tumult, with thunder, and earthquakes, and uproar in the land: 6 And behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight, and their cry was great. 7 And at their cry all nations were prepared to battel, that they might fight againſt the righteous people. 8 And lo, a day of darkneſs and obſcurity: tribulation and anguiſh, affliction, and great uproar upon the earth. 9 And the whole righteous nation was troubled, fearing their own evils, and were ready to periſh. 10 Then they cried unto God, and upon their cry, as it were from a little fountain, was made a great flood, even much water. 11 The light and the ſun roſe up, and the lowly were exalted, and devoured the glorious. 12 Now when Mardocheus, who had ſeen this dream, and what God had determined to do, was awake; he bare this dream in mind, and until night by all means was deſirous to know it.

We have here another of Mardocheus's Dreams, with the exact Time of its happening; namely, in the ſecond Year of Artaxerxes the Great, which was A. M. 3486, the Year in which Ahaſuerus, or Artaxerxes, the ſame as Darius, made his grand Feaſt, about four Years before Eſther became his Queen, and about eight or nine Years before Haman's Decree, or Proclamation, was ſent forth againſt the Jews.

The Purport of the Dream, is to predict the great Diſtreſs which his Countrymen the Jews would be driven to, and the ſignal Deliverance, which, by their Prayer to God, they ſhould obtain from all the cruel Attempts of their implacable Adverſaries.

CHAP. XII.

A Conſpiracy is diſcovered by Mardocheus; for which the King rewards him.

Ver. 1. AND Mardocheus took his reſt in the court with Gabatha and Tharra, the two eunuchs of the king, and keepers of the palace. 2 And he heard their devices, and ſearched out their purpoſes, and learned that they were about to lay hands upon Artaxerxes the king, and ſo he certified the king of them. 3 Then the king examined the two eunuchs, and after that they had confeſſed it, they were ſtrangled. 4 And the king made a record of theſe things, and Mardocheus alſo wrote thereof. 5 So the king commanded Mardocheus to ſerve in the court, and for this he rewarded him. 6 Howbeit, Aman the ſon of Amadathus the Agagite, who was in great honour with the king, ſought to moleſt Mardocheus and his people, becauſe of the two eunuchs of the king.

And for this the King rewarded him] That is, for diſcovering the Conſpiracy of the two Eunuchs. But this is a manifeſt Contradiction to the Account we have of this Affair in the Book of Eſther, Ch. vi. 3. where it's ſaid, that on the King's enquiring what had been done for Mordecai, Anſwer was made, Nothing had been done for him; which we are the rather to believe, ſince from this very Occurrence may be dated the Riſe of Mordecai, and the Fall of Haman his Enemy; as we may read at large in the ſame Chapter.

CHAP. XIII.

The Copy of the King's Letters to deſtroy the Jews. Mardocheus prays for them.

Ver. 1. THE copy of the letters was this. The great king Artaxerxes writeth theſe theſe things to the princes and governors that are under him from India unto Ethiopia, in an hundred and ſeven and twenty provinces. 2 After that I became lord over many nations, and had dominion over the whole world, not lifted up with preſumption of my authority, but carrying myſelf alway with equity and mildneſs, I purpoſed to ſettle my ſubjects continually in a quiet life, and making my kingdom peaceable, and open for paſſage to the utmoſt coaſts, to renew peace which is deſired of all men. 3 Now when I aſked my counſellors how this might be brought to paſs, Aman, that excelled in wiſdom among us, and was approved for his conſtant good will, and ſtedfaſt fidelity, and had the honour of the ſecond place in the kingdom, 4 Declared unto us, that in all nations throughout the world there was ſcattered a certain malicious people that had laws contrary to all nations, and continually deſpiſed the commandments of kings, ſo as the uniting of our kingdoms honourably intended by us, cannot go forward. 5 Seeing then we underſtand that this people alone is continually in oppoſition unto all men, differing in the ſtrange manner of their laws, and evil-affected to our ſtate, working all the miſchief they can, that our kingdom may not be firmly eſtabliſhed: 6 Therefore have we commanded that all they that are ſignified in writing unto you by Aman, (who is ordained over the affairs, and is next unto us) ſhall all with their wives and children be utterly deſtroyed by the ſword of their enemies, without all mercy and pity, the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this preſent year: 7 That they who of old, and now alſo are malicious, may in one day with violence go into the grave, and ſo ever hereafter cauſe our affairs to be well ſetled, and without trouble. 8 Then Mardocheus thought upon all the works of the Lord, and made his prayer unto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty: for the whole world is in thy power, and if thou haſt appointed to ſave Iſrael, there is no man that can gainſay thee. 10 For thou haſt made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things under the heaven. 11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can reſiſt thee, which art the Lord. 12 Thou knoweſt all things, and thou knoweſt, Lord, that it was neither in contempt, nor pride, nor for any deſire of glory, that I did not bow down to proud Aman. 13 For I could have been content with good will, for the ſalvation of Iſrael, to kiſs the ſoles of his feet. 14 But I did this, that I might not prefer the glory of man above the glory of God: neither will I worſhip any but thee, O God, neither will I do it in pride. 15 And now, O Lord God, and King, ſpare thy people: for their eyes are upon us to bring us to nought; yea, they deſire to deſtroy the inheritance that hath been thine from the beginning. 16 Deſpiſe not the portion which thou haſt delivered out of Egypt for thine own ſelf. 17 Hear my prayer, and be merciful unto thine inheritance: turn our ſorrow into joy, that we may live, O Lord, and praiſe thy name: and deſtroy not the mouths of them that praiſe thee, O Lord. 18 All Iſrael in like manner cried moſt earneſtly unto the Lord, becauſe their death was before their eyes.

We have here only to obſerve, that this Copy of the Letters, or Proclamation, which Ahaſuerus, or, as here called Artaxerxes, iſſued for the Deſtruction of the Jews, Joſephus has copied, and inſerted in his Hiſtory; which is a good Evidence of the great Antiquity of theſe poſthumous Chapters of Eſther.

CHAP. XIV.

The Prayer of Queen Eſther for herſelf and her People.

Ver. 1. QUeen Eſther alſo being in fear of death, reſorted unto the Lord: 2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of anguiſh and mourning: and inſtead of precious ointments, ſhe covered her head with aſhes and dung, and ſhe humbled her body greatly, and all the places of her joy ſhe filled with her torn hair. 3 And ſhe prayed unto the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me deſolate woman, which have no helper but thee: 4 For my danger is in mine hand. 5 From my youth up I have heard in the tribe of my family, that thou, O Lord, tookeſt Iſrael from among all people, and our fathers from all their predeceſſors, for a perpetual inheritance, and thou haſt performed whatſoever thou didſt promiſe them. 6 And now we have ſinned before thee: therefore haſt thou given us into the hands of our enemies, 7 Becauſe we worſhipped their Gods: O Lord, thou art righteous. 8 Nevertheleſs, it ſatisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captivity: but they have ſtricken hands with their idols, 9 That they will aboliſh the thing that thou with thy mouth haſt ordained, and deſtroy thine inheritance, and ſtop the mouth of them that praiſe thee, and quench the glory of thy houſe, and of thine altar, 10 And open the mouths of the heathen to ſet forth the praiſes of the idols, and to magnify a fleſhly king for ever. 11 O Lord, give not thy ſceptre unto them that be nothing, and let them not laugh at our fall; but turn their device upon themſelves, and make him an example that hath begun this againſt us. 12 Remember, O Lord, make thyſelf known in time of our affliction, and give me boldneſs, O King of the nations, and Lord of all power. 13 Give me eloquent ſpeech in my mouth before the lion: turn his heart to hate him that fighteth againſt us, that there may be an end of him, and of all that are like-minded to him: 14 But deliver us with thine hand, and help me that am deſolate, and which have no other helper but thee. 15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lord; thou knoweſt that I hate the glory of the unrighteous, and abhor the bed of the uncircumciſed, and of all the heathen. 16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſity: for I abhor the ſign of my high eſtate, which is upon mine head, in the days wherein I ſhew myſelf, and that I abhor it as a menſtruous rag, and that I wear it not when I am private by myſelf, 17 And that thine handmaid hath not eaten at Amans table, and that I have not greatly eſteemed the kings feaſts, nor drunk the wine of the drink-offerings. 18 Neither had thine handmaid any joy, ſince the day that I was brought hither to this preſent, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham. 19 O thou mighty God above all, hear the voice of the forlorn, and deliver us out of the hands of the miſchievous, chievous, and deliver me out of my fear.

Mardocheus having informed Eſther of the Calamity threatned to him, her, and the whole Nation of the Jews, ſhe is ſo terrified with the News, that ſhe falls into all the Extremities of the moſt exceſſive Grief; and in the Sorrow of her Heart, utters her Prayer to the Lord God of Iſrael to aſſiſt her in this Extremity, recounts the wonderful Works which God had formerly wrought for his People, laments their Sins which were the Cauſe of their preſent Trouble, beſeeches the Lord that he would not ſuffer the Heathen to triumph, nor to exalt their Idols at the Expence of his own Glory; and begs that ſhe may have Spirit and Eloquence to move the Heart of the King againſt their grand Enemy, and to deſtroy him who had deviſed their Deſtruction; and, laſtly, appeals to God, who knew the little Satisfaction ſhe took in her Advancement to a Partnerſhip in the Throne with a Prince of a Religion ſo different from her own.

CHAP. XV.

Eſther comes into the King's Preſence, and ſeeing him look ſternly, falls into a Swoon; the King takes her up and comforts her.

Ver. 1. AND upon the third day when ſhe had ended her prayer, ſhe laid away her mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparel. 2 And being gloriouſly adorned, after ſhe had called upon God, who is the beholder and Saviour of all things, ſhe took two maids with her. 3 And upon the one ſhe leaned, as carrying herſelf daintily. 4 And the other followed, bearing up her train. 5 And ſhe was ruddy through the perfection of her beauty, and her countenance was cheerful and very amiable: but her heart was in anguiſh for fear. 6 Then having paſſed through all the doors, ſhe ſtood before the king, who ſat upon his royal throne, and was cloathed with all his robes of majeſty, all glittering with gold and precious ſtones, and he was very dreadful. 7 Then lifting up his countenance, that ſhone with majeſty, he looked very fiercely upon her: and the queen fell down and was pale, and fainted, and bowed herſelf upon the head of the maid that went before her. 8 Then God changed the ſpirit of the king into mildneſs, who in a fear leaped from his throne, and took her in his arms, till ſhe came to herſelf again, and comforted her with loving words, and ſaid unto her, 9 Eſther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheer. 10 Thou ſhalt not die, though our commandment be general: come near. 11 And ſo he held up his golden ſceptre, and laid it upon her neck, 12 And embraced her, and ſaid, Speak unto me. 13 Then ſhe ſaid unto him, I ſaw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy majeſty. 14 For wonderful art thou, lord, and thy countenance is full of grace. 15 And as ſhe was ſpeaking, ſhe fell down for faintneſs. 16 Then the king was troubled, and all his ſervants comforted her.

Here we have a circumſtantial Account of Eſther's approach into the King's Preſence; which, ſo far as it does not contradict that given in the Book of Eſther, Ch. v. may be credited: But it muſt be obſerved, that in the 2d Verſe of that Chapter it is ſaid, that when the King ſaw Eſther the Queen ſtanding in the Court, that ſhe obtained Favour in his Sight: But here it is ſaid, Ver. 7. he looked very fiercely upon her; which had ſuch an Effect upon the Queen, that ſhe ſwooned away; but this looks like a mere Invention of the Author's to embelliſh his Characters, and not the real Fact, which ſeems much more credible, as plainly and ſimply related in the vth Chapter aforeſaid.

CHAP. XVI.

Artaxerxes's Letter to reverſe the Decree, which Haman had procured for the Extirpation of the Jews.

Ver. 1. THE great king Artaxerxes unto the princes and governors of an hundred and ſeven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and unto all our faithful ſubjects, greeting. 2 Many, the more often they are honoured with the great bounty of their gracious princes, the more proud they are waxen; 3 And endeavour to hurt not our ſubjects only, but not being able to bear abundance, do take in hand to practiſe alſo againſt thoſe that do them good: 4 And take not only thankfulneſs away from among men, but alſo lifted up with the glorious words of lewd perſons that were never good, they think to eſcape the juſtice of God, that ſeeth all things, and hateth evil. 5 Oftentimes alſo fair ſpeech of thoſe that are put in truſt to manage their friends affairs, hath cauſed many that are in authority to be partakers of innocent blood, and hath enwrapped them in remedileſs calamities; 6 Beguiling with the falſhood and deceit of their lewd diſpoſition, the innocency and goodneſs of princes. 7 Now ye may ſee this, as we have declared, not ſo much by antient hiſtories, as ye may, if ye ſearch what hath been wickedly done of late through the peſtilent behaviour of them that are unworthily placed in authority. 8 And we muſt take care for the time to come, that our kingdom may be quiet and peaceable for all men; 9 Both by changing our purpoſes, and always judging things that are evident, with more equal proceeding. 10 For Aman a Macedonian the ſon of Amadatha, being indeed a ſtranger from the Perſian blood, and far diſtant from our goodneſs, and as a ſtranger received of us, 11 Had ſo far forth obtained the favour that we ſhew toward every nation, as that he was called our father, and was continually honoured of all men, as the next perſon unto the king. 12 But he not bearing his great dignity, went about to deprive us of our kingdom and life: 13 Having by manifold and cunning deceits ſought of us the deſtruction as well of Mardocheus, who ſaved our life, and continually procured our good, as alſo of blameleſs Eſther, partaker of our kingdom, with their whole nation. 14 For by theſe means he thought, finding us deſtitute of friends, to have tranſlated the kingdom of the Perſians to the Macedonians. 15 But we find that the Jews, whom this wicked wretch hath delivered to utter deſtruction, are no evil-doers, but live by moſt juſt laws: 16 And that they be children of the moſt high and moſt mighty living God, who hath ordered the kingdom both unto us and to our progenitors in the moſt excellent manner. 17 Wherefore ye ſhall do well not to put in execution the letters ſent unto you by Aman the ſon of Amadatha. 18 For he that was the worker of theſe things is hanged at the gates of Suſa, with all his family: God, who ruleth all things, ſpeedily rendring vengeance to him, according to his deſerts. 19 Therefore ye ſhall publiſh the copy of this letter in all places, that the Jews may freely live after their own laws. 20 And ye ſhall aid them, that even the ſame day, being the thirteenth day of the twelfth month Adar, they may be avenged on them, who in the time of their affliction ſhall ſet upon them. 21 For Almighty God hath turned to joy unto them the day, wherein the choſen people ſhould have periſhed. 22 You ſhall therefore among your ſolemn feaſts keep it an high day with all feaſting: 23 That both now and hereafter there may be ſafety to us, and the well-affected Perſians; but to thoſe which do conſpire againſt us, a memorial of deſtruction. 24 Therefore every city and country whatſoever, which ſhall not do according to theſe things, ſhall be deſtroyed without mercy, with fire and ſword, and ſhall be made not only unpaſſable for men, but alſo moſt hateful to wild beaſts and fowls for ever.

The Letter, or Proclamation, here mentioned to be iſſued for reverſing the Decree, which, by the Procurement of Haman, had paſſed againſt the Jews, is likewiſe regiſtered by Joſephus, in the 11th Book of his Antiquities.

In this Hiſtory two Things occur to our Obſervation. 1. That when a haughty and ambitious Miniſter has once got the Aſcendant over his Prince, he is ſure to enrich and aggrandize himſelf and his Family, and ſeverely uſe all who ſhall preſume to thwart, or, cenſure his Adminiſtration. 2. That that Prince who reſigns himſelf, and the great Affairs of Government, to the Conduct of a Favourite, has, generally, Occaſion to repent it.

Had Mordecai flattered the Ambition of Haman, cringed at his Feet, and extolled the Prince's Wiſdom in the Choice of ſo able a Miniſter; both he, and the People of the Jews, might have lived undiſturbed; and had the King inſpected his own Affairs, and held the Reins of Government in his own Hand, he would never have been ſo groſly impoſed upon by the Artifice of a wicked and crafty Miniſter, as to ſuffer Orders of the greateſt Importance to his Kingdom, to paſs under his Name and Seal, without once examining into the Nature and Tendency of them.

An EXPOSITION of the WISDOM of SOLOMON.

The ARGUMENT.

Tho' this Book paſſes under the Name of Solomon, and is aſcribed to him by the Author; yet it was well known to Antiquity, that the Writer of it was one of thoſe Jews who lived after the Manner of Grecians in Egypt, who had their chief Synagogue at Alexandria. And indeed the Stile of it is ſo enriched with Rhetorick, and the Flowers of Poetry, as ſhews it rather the Work of a Genius Grecianized, than the Production of an Hebrew, whoſe natural Dialect, eſpecially in the ſacred Books, is ſimple, ſober, grave, and ſevere. The common Opinion as well antient as modern, agrees in attributing it to Philo, a Jew, a Man of great Learning, Wiſdom and Eloquence, who lived in the Time of the Apoſtles. His Reaſon for the aſſuming the Name of Solomon in this Book, was, undoubtedly, to conceal himſelf from the Malice of the Egyptians, and to gain Authority and Reſpect from his own Nation; and his Deſign ſeems to be to ſtrengthen and comfort the Jews who lived in Egypt in his Time, and were grievouſly harraſſed and oppreſſed by the Egyptians. His Doctrines and Diſcourſes are, indeed, very curious and profitable, and explained with ſingular Eloquence; yet come far ſhort of the Light and Spirit of the Word of God immediately inſpired; for which, and the following Reaſons, this Book, in the beſt Ages of the Chriſtian Church, has been always held for Apocrypha. 1. Becauſe the Author was neither a Prophet, nor inſpired by the Holy Ghoſt; for Philo lived after the Coming of the Meſſias, yet remained in the Jewiſh Incredulity and Blindneſs, and, conſequently, had not the Spirit of Revelation conferred upon him. 2. Becauſe he hath falſely taken upon him the Name of Solomon, contrary to the Simplicity of ſacred Truth; and every where ſhamefully flatters his own Nation, extenuating their moſt heinous Offences recorded in ſacred Writ, thereby to inveigh the more bitterly againſt the Egyptians. 3. Becauſe he has by poetical and hyperbolical Deſcriptions, added to and mixed with the ſacred Narrations, Fictions of his own. 4. Becauſe the Stile ſavours too much of human Vanity and Affectation, and ſecular Wiſdom, to be attributed to the Spirit of God, whoſe Majeſty and Holineſs throughout the Holy Scripture, bear Characters widely different from theſe. And, laſtly, becauſe this Book was unqueſtionably written and indicted in the Greek Tongue, a Language never uſed by the antient true Prophets, in writing any holy or divine Book.

CHAP. I.

Judges admoniſhed. Wiſdom a righteous Principle. An evil Speaker. Man the Author of his own Deſtruction.

Ver. 1. LOve righteouſneſs, ye that be judges of the earth: think of the Lord with a good (heart) and in ſimplicity of heart ſeek him. 2 For he will be found of them that tempt him not: and ſheweth himſelf unto ſuch as do not diſtruſt him. 3 For froward thoughts ſepaseparate from God: and his power when it is tried, reproveth the unwise. 4 For into a malicious soul wisdom shall not enter: nor dwell in the body that is subject unto sin. 5 For the holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit, and remove from thoughts that are without understanding, and will not abide when unrighteousness cometh in. 6 For wisdom is a loving spirit: and will not acquit a blasphemer of his words: for God is witness of his reins, and a true beholder of his heart, and a hearer of his tongue. 7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth the world: and that which containeth all things hath knowledge of the voice. 8 Therefore he that speaketh unrighteous things cannot be hid: neither shall vengeance when it punisheth, pass by him. 9 For inquisition shall be made into the counsels of the ungodly: and the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord for the manifestation of his wicked deeds. 10 For the ear of jealousy heareth all things: and the noise of murmurings is not hid. 11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which is unprofitable, and refrain your tongue from backbiting: for there is no word so secret, that shall go for nought: and the mouth that belieth, slayeth the soul. 12 Seek not death in the error of your life: and pull not upon your selves destruction, with the works of your hands. 13 For God made not death: neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the living. 14 For he created all things, that they might have their being: and the generations of the world were healthful: and there is no poison of destruction in them: nor the kingdom of death upon the earth. 15 For righteousness is immortal. 16 But ungodly men with their works and words called it to them: for when they thought to have it their friend, they consumed to nought, and made a covenant with it, because they are worthy to take part with it.

The first Part of this Chapter seems to have been dictated for the Use of Judges and Magistrates, who have the Charge of Men's Lives and Properties. They are exhorted to love Righteousness, and to seek the Lord in Simplicity of Heart; and in order to be Masters of that true Wisdom, which is necessary to a right Discharge of their Office, they are shewn how impossible it is to attain it, without divesting themselves of all froward and malicious Dispositions; and that Deceit and Folly are inconsistent with an upright Heart.

The Excellence of Wisdom is set forth by its Effects; first, in respect to Man, whom it always regards in the Spirit of Love, Joy, Peace, Long-suffering, Gentleness, Goodness, Meekness, &c. Gal. v. 22. Secondly, in respect to God, whose Honour it will vindicate, nor suffer the Blasphemer to go unpunished. This the wise Man will always practise, from the Consideration, that all his Actions, even the Thoughts of his Heart, are open to the Cognizance and Inspection of the Almighty; and therefore we ought to be constantly on our Guard against Murmuring, Backbiting, and Lying, which, however secretly practised, are known to his all-searching Eye. If, notwithstanding these Cautions, we proceed in our Sins, our Deaths will be laid at our own Door, and our Destruction the Work of our own Hands; for God created not Death; but it is the necessary Consequence of our own Impiety and Disobedience to his Laws.

CHAP. II.

The Shortness of Life, and the Impossibility of returning to it after Death, an Argument with the Wicked to spend it luxuriously.

Ver. 1. FOR the ungodly said, reasoning with themselves, but not aright, Our life is short and tedious, and in the death of a man there is no remedy: neither was there any man known to have returned from the grave. 2 For we are born at all adventure: and we shall be hereafter as though we had never been: for the breath in our nostrils is as smoak, and a little spark in the moving of our heart: 3 Which being extinguished, our body shall be turned into ashes, and our spirit shall vanish as the soft air, 4 And our name shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall have our works in remembrance, and our life shall pass away as the trace of a cloud, and shall be dispersed as a mist that is driven away with the beams of the sun, and overcome with the heat thereof. 5 For our time is a very shadow that passeth away: and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man cometh again. 6 Come on therefore, let us enjoy the good things that are present: and let us speedily use the creatures like as in youth. 7 Let us fill ourselves with costly wine, and ointments: and let no flower of the spring pass by us. 8 Let us crown ourselves with rose-buds, before they be withered. 9 Let none of us go without his part of our voluptuousness: let us leave tokens of our joyfulness in every place: for this is our portion, and our lot is this. 10 Let us oppress the poor righteous man, let us not spare the widow, nor reverence the antient gray hairs of the aged. 11 Let our strength be the law of justice: for that which is feeble is found to be nothing worth. 12 Therefore let us lie in wait for the righteous: because he is not for our turn, and he is clean contrary to our doings: he upbraideth us with our offending the law, and objecteth to our infamy, the transgressions of our education. 13 He professeth to have the knowledge of God: and he calleth himself, The child of the Lord. 14 He was made to reprove our thoughts. 15 He is grievous unto us even to behold: for his life is not like other mens, his ways are of another fashion. 16 We are esteemed of him as counterfeits: he abstaineth from our ways as from filthiness: he pronounceth the end of the just to be blessed, and maketh his boast that God is his father. 17 Let us see if his words be true: and let us prove what shall happen in the end of him. 18 For if the just man be the son of God, he will help him and deliver him from the hand of his enemies. 19 Let us examine him with despitefulness and torture, that we may know his meekness, and prove his patience. 20 Let us condemn him with a shameful death: for by his own saying he shall be respected. 21 Such things they did imagine, and were deceived: for their own wickedness hath blinded them. 22 As for the mysteries of God, they knew them not: neither hoped they for the wages of righteousness: nor discerned a reward for blameless souls. 23 For God created man to be immortal, and made him to be an image of his own eternity. 24 Nevertheless, through envy of the devil came death into the world: and they that do hold of his side, do find it.

We have here a beautiful Picture of the Life, Principles and Practice of the voluptuous Epicurean. As his his Hopes, Pleasures, and Expectations are confined wholly to this Life, all his Thoughts and Study are employed to contrive the best Means to obtain his desired End, i. e. to wanton in all the Luxuries that are within the Power of Art and Nature to procure him. The righteous Man is his avowed Detestation, because his Behaviour and Conversation are a standing Reproof to his own abominable Course of Life, and he therefore takes all Opportunities to harrass and oppress him; and his Malice against him is seldom glutted but with his Death or utter Destruction.

CHAP. III.

The Godly are happy in their Death; but the Wicked and their Children miserable.

Ver. 1. BUT the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, and there shall no torment touch them. 2 In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die: and their departure is taken for misery. 3 And their going from us to be utter destruction: but they are in peace. 4 For though they be punished in the sight of men: yet is their hope full of immortality. 5 And having been a little chastised, they shall be greatly rewarded: for God proved them, and found them worthy for himself. 6 As gold in the furnace hath he tried them, and received them as a burnt-offering. 7 And in the time of their visitation they shall shine and run to and fro like sparks among the stubble. 8 They shall judge the nations, and have dominion over the people, and their Lord shall reign for ever. 9 They that put their trust in him, shall understand the truth: and such as be faithful in love shall abide with him: for grace and mercy is to his saints, and he hath care for his elect. 10 But the ungodly shall be punished according to their own imaginations, which have neglected the righteous, and forsaken the Lord. 11 For whoso despiseth wisdom and nurture, he is miserable, and their hope is vain, their labours unfruitful, and their works unprofitable. 12 Their wives are foolish, and their children wicked. 13 Their offspring is cursed: wherefore blessed is the barren that is undefiled, which hath not known the sinful bed: she shall have fruit in the visitation of souls. 14 And blessed is the eunuch, which with his hands hath wrought no iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for unto him shall be given the special gift of faith, and an inheritance in the temple of the Lord, more acceptable to his mind. 15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours: and the root of wisdom shall never fall away. 16 As for the children of adulterers, they shall not come to their perfection, and the seed of an unrighteous bed shall be rooted out. 17 For though they live long, yet shall they be nothing regarded: and their last age shall be without honour. 18 Or if they die quickly, they have no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial. 19 For horrible is the end of the unrighteous generation.

This Chapter is a fine Contraste to the preceding. The righteous Man, 'tis true, may be sorely afflicted with the Troubles and Calamities of this Life, and his Death attended with the most terrible and shocking Circumstances, which, in the erroneous Judgment of the Wicked, may be deemed his Punishment; yet having his Confidence in God, and his Hope in the Enjoyment of him in the glorious Regions of Immortality, his Soul is calm and serene amidst all the Tortures of his Body, and the Distresses he meets with in Life; and his Death, which his Enemies may intend him for his greatest Infelicity, turns to his unspeakable Happiness, as it puts an End to all his Miseries, and gives him an Entrance into those Glories which are the just Rewards of his Sufferings and Afflictions.

But the Ungodly are miserable in all Respects; their Hope is vain, their Labour unfruitful, and their Works unprofitable; their Families are accursed; their Children live without Honour and Esteem; and as their own Lives have been infamous, their Ends shall be horrible, either in this World or in the next.

CHAP. IV.

The Praise of Virtue. Unlawful Issue shall not thrive. Death is to the Just their Happiness, but to the Wicked a Misery.

Ver. 1. BEtter it is to have no children, and to have virtue: for the memorial thereof is immortal: because it is known with God and with men. 2 When it is present, men take example at it; and when it is gone, they desire it: it weareth a crown, and triumpheth for ever, having gotten the victory, striving for undefiled rewards. 3 But the multiplying brood of the ungodly shall not thrive, nor take deep rooting from bastard slips, nor lay any fast foundation. 4 For though they flourish in branches for a time, yet standing not fast, they shall be shaken with the wind, and through the force of winds they shall be rooted out. 5 The unperfect branches shall be broken off, their fruit unprofitable, not ripe to eat, yea, meet for nothing. 6 For children begotten of unlawful beds, are witnesses of wickedness against their parents in their trial. 7 But though the righteous be prevented with death; yet shall he be in rest. 8 For honourable age is not that which standeth in length of time, nor that is measured by number of years. 9 But wisdom is the gray hair unto men, and an unspotted life is old age. 10 He pleased God, and was beloved of him: so that living amongst sinners, he was translated. 11 Yea, speedily was he taken away, lest that wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his soul. 12 For the bewitching of naughtiness doth obscure things that are honest: and the wandring of concupiscence doth undermine the simple mind. 13 He being made perfect in a short time, fulfilled a long time. 14 For his soul pleased the Lord: therefore hasted he to take him away from among the wicked. 15 This the people saw, and understood it not, neither laid they up this in their minds, that his grace and mercy is with his saints, and that he hath respect unto his chosen. 16 Thus the righteous that is dead, shall condemn the ungodly which are living; and youth that is soon perfected, the many years and old age of the unrighteous. 17 For they shall see the end of the wise, and shall not understand what God in his counsel hath decreed of him, and to what end the Lord hath set him in safety. 18 They shall see him, and despise him: but God shall laugh them to scorn, and they shall hereafter be a vile carcase, and a reproach among the dead for evermore. 19 For he shall rend them, and cast them down headlong, that they shall be speechless: and he shall shake them from the foun-foundation: and they ſhall be utterly laid waſte, and be in ſorrow: and their memorial ſhall periſh. 20 And when they caſt up the accounts of their ſins, they ſhall come with fear: and their own iniquities ſhall convince them to their face.

The Excellence of Virtue is recommended from its viſible Effects; it is approved by God, ſince he eminently diſtinguiſhes and rewards the Poſſeſſors of it; and is uſeful to Men, in regard it ſets an Example worthy of Imitation. Chaſtity, one conſiderable Branch of it, is always highly honoured and eſteemed; whereas its contrary Vice generally meets with its deſerved Puniſhment. The Iſſue of unlawful Concubinations are perpetual Witneſſes of their Parents Shame; and tho' the Wicked may have their Children multiplied, which are accounted Bleſſings, yet their Proſperity is ſeldom of long Duration; according to that Saying of our Saviour, Every Tree that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is hewen down and caſt into the Fire, Matt. vii. 19.

Not ſo fares it with the Righteous, who, being under the ſpecial Care of divine Providence, are Proof to all the Aſſaults and Temptations of a vain and wicked World; as was the Caſe of holy Enoch, who, that he might not be polluted with the Wickedneſs of the Times he lived in, was taken immediately into Heaven.

CHAP. V.

The happy and glorious Condition of the good Man, and the deplorable State of the Wicked.

Ver. 1. THEN ſhall the righteous man ſtand in great boldneſs before the face of ſuch as have afflicted him, and made no account of his labours. 2 When they ſee it, they ſhall be troubled with terrible fear, and ſhall be amazed at the ſtrangeneſs of his ſalvation, ſo far beyond all that they looked for. 3 And they repenting, and groaning for anguiſh of ſpirit, ſhall ſay within themſelves, This was he whom we had ſometimes in deriſion, and a proverb of reproach. 4 We fools accounted his life madneſs; and his end to be without honour. 5 How is he numbred among the children of God, and his lot is among the ſaints! 6 Therefore have we erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteouſneſs hath not ſhined unto us, and the ſun of righteouſneſs roſe not upon us. 7 We wearied ourſelves in the way of wickedneſs and deſtruction: yea, we have gone through deſarts, where there lay no way: but as for the way of the Lord, we have not known it. 8 What hath pride profited us? or what good hath riches with our vaunting brought us? 9 All thoſe things are paſſed away like a ſhadow, and as a poſt that haſted by; 10 And as a ſhip that paſſeth over the waves of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path-way of the keel in the waves; 11 Or as when a bird hath flown through the air, there is no token of her way to be found, but the light air being beaten with the ſtroke of her wings, and parted with the violent noiſe and motion of them is paſſed through, and therein afterwards no ſign where ſhe went is to be found; 12 Or like as when an arrow is ſhot at a mark, it parteth the air, which immediately cometh together again, ſo that a man cannot know where it went through: 13 Even ſo we in like manner, as ſoon as we were born, began to draw to our end, and had no ſign of virtue to ſhew; but were conſumed in our own wickedneſs. 14 For the hope of the ungodly is like duſt that is blown away with the wind; like a thin froth that is driven away with the ſtorm; like as the ſmoak which is diſperſed here and there with a tempeſt, and paſſeth away as the remembrance of a gueſt that tarrieth but a day. 15 But the righteous live for evermore; their reward alſo is with the Lord, and the care of them is with the moſt High. 16 Therefore ſhall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautiful crown from the Lords hand: for with his right hand ſhall he cover them, and with his arm ſhall he protect them. 17 He ſhall take to him his jealouſy for compleat armour, and make the creature his weapon for the revenge of his enemies. 18 He ſhall put on righteouſneſs as a breaſt-plate, and true judgment inſtead of an helmet. 19 He ſhall take holineſs for an invincible ſhield. 20 His ſevere wrath ſhall he ſharpen for a ſword, and the world ſhall fight with him againſt the unwiſe. 21 Then ſhall the right-aiming thunder-bolts go abroad, and from the clouds, as from a well-drawn bow, ſhall they fly to the mark. 22 And hail ſtones full of wrath ſhall be caſt as out of a ſtone-bow, and the water of the ſea ſhall rage againſt them, and the floods ſhall cruelly drown them. 23 Yea, a mighty wind ſhall ſtand up againſt them, and like a ſtorm ſhall blow them away: thus iniquity ſhall lay waſte the whole earth, and ill dealing ſhall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

The Condition of the Godly in this World, with reſpect to external Circumſtances, is ſo apparently worſe than that of the Wicked, that Atheiſts in all Ages have made it an Argument for their Diſbelief of a Supreme Being, or at leaſt of a Providence to govern the World and direct human Affairs. For, ſay they, if there be a God, he muſt have a Regard to his own Likeneſs in Virtue; and what he has a Regard for, muſt be the Subject of his kindeſt Care and Proviſion: But when they get on the other Side of Death, and the immortal Manſions are diſcloſed to their View, then too, too late will they diſcover their fatal Miſtake; they will then behold the ragged, hungry, diſtreſſed, oppreſſed good Man ſhining in Robes of Glory, ſatisfied with the Fulneſs of Happineſs, and triumphing over all his former Miſeries in exalted Stations of Bliſs. Such a Sight will, at the ſame Time, aggravate their own Torments; when they ſhall ſee the Man, whom they once had in Contempt, thus gloriouſly rewarded, and themſelves excluded from thoſe Realms of Bliſs and Happineſs, and chained down to endleſs remedileſs Torments, Anguiſh and Deſpair. They will then ſee of what little Avail all their former Riches and Honours are to alleviate their preſent Horrors and Miſery. Then will they curſe their own Folly and Madneſs, for putting their Confidence in Things ſo unſtable and ſhort-liv'd as Riches and ſecular Grandeur; and will at the ſame Time applaud the better Choice of the virtuous Man, who preferred his Hopes of eternal Rewards to all the tranſitory Vanities of ſublunary Enjoyments.

CHAP. VI.

Kings and Judges admoniſhed of their Duty. Wiſdom to be ſought above all Things.

Ver. 1. HEAR therefore, O ye kings, and underſtand; learn ye that be judges of the ends of the earth. 2 Give ear, you that rule the people, and glory in the multitude of nations. 3 For power is given you of the Lord, and ſovereignty from the higheſt, who ſhall try your works, and ſearch out your counſels. 4 Becauſe being miniſters of his kingdom, you have not judged aright, nor kept the law, nor walked after the counſel of God, 5 Horribly and ſpeedily ſhall he come upon you: for a ſharp judgment ſhall be to them that be in high places. 6 For mercy will ſoon pardon the meaneſt: but mighty men ſhall be mightily tormented. 7 For he which is Lord over all, ſhall fear no mans perſon, neither ſhall he ſtand in awe of any mans greatneſs: for he hath made the ſmall and great, and careth for all alike. 8 But a ſore trial ſhall come upon the mighty. 9 Unto you therefore, O kings, do I ſpeak, that ye may learn wiſdom, and not fall away. 10 For they that keep holineſs holily, ſhall be judged holy: and they that have learned ſuch things, ſhall find what to anſwer. 11 Wherefore ſet your affection upon my words; deſire them, and ye ſhall be inſtructed. 12 Wiſdom is glorious, and never fadeth away: yea, ſhe is eaſily ſeen of them that love her, and found of ſuch as ſeek her. 13 She preventeth them that deſire her, in making herſelf firſt known unto them. 14 Whoſo ſeeketh her early, ſhall have no great travel: for he ſhall find her ſitting at his doors. 15 To think therefore upon her, is perfection of wiſdom: and whoſo watcheth for her, ſhall quickly be without care. 16 For ſhe goeth about ſeeking ſuch as are worthy of her, ſheweth herſelf favourably unto them in the ways, and meeteth them in every thought. 17 For the very true beginning of her, is the deſire of diſcipline; and the care of diſcipline is love; 18 And love is the keeping of her laws; and the giving heed unto her laws, is the aſſurance of incorruption; 19 And incorruption maketh us near unto God: 20 Therefore the deſire of wiſdom bringeth to a kingdom. 21 If your delight be then in thrones and ſceptres, O ye kings of the people, honour wiſdom, that ye may reign for evermore. 22 As for wiſdom, what ſhe is, and how ſhe came up, I will tell you, and will not hide myſteries from you, but will ſeek her out from the beginning of her nativity, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not paſs over the truth. 23 Neither will I go with conſuming envy, for ſuch a man ſhall have no fellowſhip with wiſdom. 24 But the multitude of the wiſe is the welfare of the world: and a wiſe king is the upholding of the people. 25 Receive therefore inſtruction through my words, and it ſhall do you good.

Kings, Judges, and Men of exalted Stations, ſhould remember that all the Powers and Authority they are inveſted with, are derived originally from God, and to him they are accountable for the due Adminiſtration of Juſtice to the People committed to their Charge. The Height of their Advancement, and the Largeneſs of their Power, will be an Aggravation of their Crime and Puniſhment, if they pervert Judgment, and neglect the Laws, which they are under the higheſt Obligation to obſerve themſelves, and to ſee impartially executed among all their Subjects and Dependants.

That this great Truſt, repoſed in Kings and Governors, may have its due Weight upon their Minds, and that they may act in a Manner that may gain the Approbation both of God and Man, they ought to ſtudy the Principles of Wiſdom and right Judgment. Wiſdom is of eaſy Acceſs to thoſe who deſire her Inſtruction; has ſuch agreeable Qualities, and ſo bountifully rewards her Admirers, that a Man muſt be blind to his own Intereſt who rejects her Counſels, as well as ſtupidly fooliſh who can be inſenſible of her Beauty and Perfections.

CHAP. VII.

The Original of all Men is alike. Wiſdom preferable to all Things.

Ver. 1. I Myſelf alſo am a mortal man like to all, and the offſpring of him that was firſt made of the earth, 2 And in my mothers womb was faſhioned to be fleſh in the time of ten months, being compacted in blood, of the ſeed of man, and the pleaſure that came with ſleep. 3 And when I was born, I drew in the common air, and fell upon the earth, which is of like nature, and the firſt voice which I uttered, was crying, as all others do. 4 I was nurſed in ſwadling-cloths, and that with cares. 5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth. 6 For all men have one entrance into life, and the like going out. 7 Wherefore I prayed, and underſtanding was given me: I called upon God, and the Spirit of wiſdom came to me. 8 I preferred her before ſceptres and thrones, and eſteemed riches nothing in compariſon of her. 9 Neither compared I unto her any precious ſtone, becauſe all gold in reſpect of her is as a little ſand, and ſilver ſhall be counted as clay before her. 10 I loved her above health and beauty, and choſe to have her inſtead of light: for the light that cometh from her never goeth out. 11 All good things together came to me with her, and innumerable riches in her hands. 12 And I rejoiced in them all, becauſe wiſdom goeth before them: and I knew not that ſhe was the mother of them. 13 I learned diligently, and do communicate her liberally: I do not hide her riches. 14 For ſhe is a treaſure unto men that never faileth: which they that uſe, become the friends of God, being commended for the gifts that come from learning. 15 God hath granted me to ſpeak as I would, and to conceive as is meet for the things that are given me: becauſe it is he that leadeth unto wiſdom, and directeth the wiſe. 16 For in his hand are both. we and our words: all wiſdom alſo, and knowledge of workmanſhip. 17 For he hath given me certain knowledge of the things that are, namely, to know how the world was made, and the operation of the elements: 18 The beginning, ending, and midſt of the times: the alterations of the turning of the ſun, and the change of ſeaſons: 19 The circuits of years, and the poſitions of ſtars: 20 The natures of living creatures, and the furies of wild beaſts: the violence of winds, and the reaſonings of men: the diverſities of plants, and the virtues of roots: 21 And all ſuch things as are either ſecret, or manifeſt, them I know. 22 For wiſdom which is the worker of all things, taught me: for in her is an underſtanding ſpirit, holy, one only, manifold, ſubtil, lively, clear, undefiled, plain, not ſubject to hurt, loving the thing that is good, quick, which cannot be letted, ready to do good, 23 Kind to man, ſtedfaſt, ſure, free from care, having all power, overſeeing all things, and going through all underſtanding, pure and moſt ſubtil ſpirits. 24 For

For wisdom is more moving than any motion: she passeth and goeth through all things by reason of her pureness. 25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence flowing from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing fall into her. 26 For she is the brightness of the everlasting light, the unspotted mirror of the power of God, and the image of his goodness. 27 And being but one, she can do all things: and remaining in herself, she maketh all things new: and in all ages entring into holy souls, she maketh them friends of God and prophets. 28 For God loveth none but him that dwelleth with wisdom. 29 For she is more beautiful than the sun, and above all the order of stars: being compared with the light, she is found before it. 30 For after this cometh night: but vice shall not prevail against wisdom.

All Men, with respect to their Birth, are undoubtedly upon an equal Footing; as the wise Man is born, so is the Fool; as the King, so is the Beggar. It's Wisdom only that sets a Man above the Level of his Fellow-creatures. Wisdom excels all Things; Thrones and Sceptres are of no Value in comparison with her; precious Stones, and the purest Gold are no better than common Sand, and Silver but Dirt, when put in the Balance against Wisdom; Health and Beauty, those inestimable Blessings of Life, lose their Charms when she appears; even Light itself, without which this World would be an uncomfortable Mansion, is no longer delightful to him who has the Brightness of Wisdom illuminating his Soul. Wisdom is an inexhaustible Treasure of good Things, and establishes an indissoluble Friendship between Man and God; it enlarges the Understanding, and gives Eloquence to the Lips; it acquaints us with the hidden Properties of Nature, and the Operations, Qualities, and Uses of the Elements; the Nature of the animal and vegetable World, and the rational Principle in Man. Wisdom, to sum up all, is one of the Perfections of the Divine Being, and the express Image of his Person; and when she is seen on Earth, we should esteem her Appearance as a bright Emanation from that glorious Fountain of all Wisdom, the Godhead.

CHAP. VIII.

Ver. 1. WISDOM reacheth from one end to another mightily: and sweetly doth she order all things. 2 I loved her and sought her out, from my youth, I desired to make her my spouse, and I was a lover of her beauty. 3 In that she is conversant with God, she magnifieth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things himself loved her. 4 For she is privy to the mysteries of the knowledge of God, and a lover of his works. 5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life; what is richer than wisdom, that worketh all things? 6 And if prudence work; who of all that are, is a more cunning workman than she? 7 And if a man love righteousness, her labours are virtues: for she teacheth temperance and prudence, justice and fortitude; which are such things as men can have nothing more profitable in their life. 8 If a man desire much experience, she knoweth things of old, and conjecture aright what is to come: she knoweth the subtilties of speeches, and can expound dark sentences: she foreseeth signs and wonders, and the events of seasons and times. 9 Therefore I purposed to take her to me, to live with me, knowing that she would be a counsellor of good things, and a comfort in cares and grief. 10 For her sake I shall have estimation among the multitude, and honour with the elders, though I be young. 11 I shall be found of a quick conceit in judgment, and shall be admired in the sight of great men. 12 When I hold my tongue they shall bide my leisure, and when I speak they shall give good ear unto me: if I talk much, they shall lay their hands upon their mouth. 13 Moreover, by the means of her I shall obtain immortality, and leave behind me an everlasting memorial to them that come after me. 14 I shall set the people in order, and the nations shall be subject unto me. 15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they do but hear of me, I shall be found good among the multitude, and valiant in war. 16 After I am come into mine house, I will repose myself with her: for her conversation hath no bitterness, and to live with her, hath no sorrow, but mirth and joy. 17 Now when I considered these things in myself, and pondered them in my heart, how that to be allied unto wisdom is immortality, 18 And great pleasure it is to have her friendship, and in the works of her hands are infinite riches, and in the exercise of conference with her, prudence; and in talking with her, a good report: I went about seeking how to take her to me. 19 For I was a witty child, and had a good spirit. 20 Yea, rather being good, I came into a body undefiled. 21 Nevertheless when I perceived that I could not otherwise obtain her, except God gave her me, (and that was a point of wisdom also to know whose gift she was) I prayed unto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

Having in the preceding Chapter seen the Excellence and Usefulness of Wisdom in general, we are in this more particularly informed of the Manner of her Operation, and the Benefits she procures to her Friends and Lovers. Wisdom, when joined with Piety, is the Mother of all social Virtues. She instructs a Man in all the Secrets of Art and Nature; she informs him of Things transacted Ages before he was born, and gives a probable Opinion of what may be expected in Times to come; her Counsels are excellent, and her Comforts to those in Trouble are the best; she commands Respect; where She governs, Tyrants are afraid; and where She resides, Sorrow is banished, and Mirth and Joy abound. However, Wisdom is not to be obtained, but by Prayer and Supplication to God, who is the Giver of every good and perfect Gift.

CHAP. IX.

A Prayer to God for Wisdom.

Ver. 1. O God of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with thy word, 2 And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion over the creatures which thou hast made, 3 And order the world according to equity and righteousness, and execute judgment with an upright heart: 4 Give me wisdom that sitteth by thy throne, and reject me not from among thy children: 5 For I thy servant and son of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and too young for the understanding of judgment and laws. 6 For though a man be never so perfect among among the children of men, yet if thy wiſdom be not with him, he ſhall be nothing regarded. 7 Thou haſt choſen me to be a king of thy people, and a judge of thy ſons and daughters. 8 Thou haſt commanded me to build a temple upon thy holy mount, and an altar in the city wherein thou dwelleſt, a reſemblance of the holy tabernacle which thou haſt prepared from the beginning. 9 And wiſdom was with thee: which knoweth thy works, and was preſent when thou madeſt the world, and knew what was acceptable in thy ſight, and right in thy commandments. 10 O ſend her out of thy holy heavens, and from the throne of thy glory, that being preſent ſhe may labour with me, that I may know what is pleaſing unto thee. 11 For ſhe knoweth and underſtandeth all things, and ſhe ſhall lead me ſoberly in my doings, and preſerve me in her power. 12 So ſhall my works be acceptable, and then ſhall I judge thy people righteouſly, and be worthy to ſit in my fathers ſeat. 13 For what man is he that can know the counſel of God? or who can think what the will of the Lord is? 14 For the thoughts of mortal men are miſerable, and our devices are but uncertain. 15 For the corruptible body preſſeth down the ſoul, and the earthly tabernacle weigheth down the mind that muſeth upon many things. 16 And hardly do we gueſs aright at things that are upon earth, and with labour do we find the things that are before us: but the things that are in heaven, who hath ſearched out? 17 And thy counſel who hath known, except thou give wiſdom, and ſend thy holy Spirit from above? 18 For ſo the ways of them which lived on the earth were reformed, and men were taught the things that are pleaſing unto thee, and were ſaved through wiſdom.

Here we have the Author's Prayer for the Gift of Wiſdom; wherein, aſſuming the Name of Solomon, (tho' falſely, as we have before ſhewn) he takes occaſion, from his Youth and Inexperience, to beg for Wiſdom to underſtand the Laws and Will of God, to inſtruct him in building the Temple, and to judge his People with Equity and true Judgment. And as a further Argument to prevail with the Almighty to grant him his Requeſt, he ſets forth the natural Incapacity of Man to comprehend the Counſels of God, or rightly to know his Will. It is with much Difficulty and Pain that he attains to any Degree of Certainty with reſpect to Things within his own Obſervation, and about which he is daily converſant: How much leſs is he able to dive into the Secrets of Heaven, and know the Will of God, without the immediate Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit?

CHAP. X.

Adam, Noe, Abraham, and Lot directed by Wiſdom.

Ver. 1. SHE preſerved the firſt-formed father of the world, that was created alone, and brought him out of his fall, 2 And gave him power to rule all things. 3 But when the unrighteous went away from her in his anger, he periſhed alſo in the fury wherewith he murdered his brother. 4 For whoſe cauſe the earth being drowned with the flood, wiſdom again preſerved it, and directed the courſe of the righteous in a piece of wood of ſmall value. 5 Moreover, the nations in their wicked conſpiracy being confounded, ſhe found out the righteous, and preſerved him blameleſs unto God, and kept him ſtrong againſt his tender compaſſion toward his ſon. 6 When the ungodly periſhed, ſhe delivered the righteous man, who fled from the fire which fell down upon the five cities. 7 Of whoſe wickedneſs even to this day, the waſte land that ſmoketh is a teſtimony, and plants bearing fruit that never come to ripeneſs: and a ſtanding pillar of ſalt is a monument of an unbelieving ſoul. 8 For regarding not wiſdom, they gat not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good; but alſo left behind them to the world a memorial of their fooliſhneſs: ſo that in the things wherein they offended, they could not ſo much as be hid. 9 But wiſdom delivered from pain thoſe that attended upon her. 10 When the righteous fled from his brothers wrath, ſhe guided him in right paths, ſhewed him the kingdom of God, and gave him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his travels, and multiplied the fruit of his labours. 11 In the covetouſneſs of ſuch as oppreſſed him, ſhe ſtood by him, and made him rich. 12 She defended him from his enemies, and kept him ſafe from thoſe that lay in wait, and in a ſore conflict ſhe gave him the victory; that he might know that godlineſs is ſtronger than all. 13 When the righteous was ſold, ſhe forſook him not, but delivered him from ſin: ſhe went down with him into the pit, 14 And left him not in bonds, till ſhe brought him the ſceptre of the kingdom, and power againſt thoſe that oppreſſed him: as for them that had accuſed him, ſhe ſhewed them to be liars, and gave him perpetual glory. 15 She delivered the righteous people, and blameleſs ſeed from the nation that oppreſſed them. 16 She entred into the ſoul of the ſervant of the Lord, and withſtood dreadful kings in wonders and ſigns, 17 Rendred to the righteous a reward of their labours, guided them in a marvellous way, and was unto them for a cover by day, and a light of ſtars in the night-ſeaſon. 18 Brought them through the Red-ſea, and led them through much water. 19 But ſhe drowned her enemies, and caſt them up out of the bottom of the deep. 20 Therefore the righteous ſpoiled the ungodly, and praiſed thy holy name, O Lord, and magnified with one accord thine hand that fought for them. 21 For wiſdom opened the mouth of the dumb, and made the tongues of them that cannot ſpeak, eloquent.

Wiſdom is a conſtant Friend to the Righteous: It was Wiſdom that brought Adam out of his Fall, and inſtructed him to govern the World. Cain, who forſook her in the Inſtance of his Brother's Murder, incurred the Curſe of his Creator. When the World for the Sins of its Inhabitants, was covered with a Deluge, by her Conduct, Noah, and thoſe that were with him in the Ark, were preſerved. When the Nations, preſumptuouſly conſpiring, in the Erection of Babel, to get above the Reach of the Almighty's Vengeance, were confounded in their Devices, ſhe found Abraham, preſerved him blameleſs, and kept him reſolute in the ſtrong Temptation to ſacrifice his Son Iſaac. She delivered Lot from the Deſtruction of Sodom; preſerved Jacob in his Travels; ſhe went with Joſeph into Egypt; ſhe brought Iſrael out of a hard Bondage, and ſtrengthened Moſes to encounter all the Fury of the Tyrant Pharaoh; ſhe defended the People againſt their enraged Purſuers, conducted them ſafe thro' the Depths Depths of the Sea, and made them triumphant over all their Enemies.

CHAP. XI.

By Wiſdom Moſes conducted the Iſraelites through the Wilderneſs; they were plagued by the ſame Things wherein they ſinned.

Ver. 1. SHE proſpered their works in the hand of the holy prophet. 2 They went through the wilderneſs that was not inhabited, and pitched tents in places where there lay no way. 3 They ſtood againſt their enemies, and were avenged of their adverſaries. 4 When they were thirſty they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the flinty rock, and their thirſt was quenched out of the hard ſtone. 5 For by what things their enemies were puniſhed, by the ſame they in their need were benefited. 6 For inſtead of a fountain of a perpetual running river troubled with foul blood, 7 For a manifeſt reproof of that commandment whereby the infants were ſlain, thou gaveſt unto them abundance of water by a means which they hoped not for: 8 Declaring by that thirſt then, how thou hadſt puniſhed their adverſaries. 9 For when they were tried, albeit but in mercy chaſtiſed, they knew how the ungodly were judged in wrath and tormented, thirſting in another manner than the juſt. 10 For theſe thou didſt admoniſh and try as a father: but the other as a ſevere king thou didſt condemn and puniſh. 11 Whether they were abſent or preſent, they were vexed alike. 12 For a double grief came upon them, and a groaning for the remembrance of things paſt. 13 For when they heard by their own puniſhments the other to be benefited, they had ſome feeling of the Lord. 14 For whom they rejected with ſcorn when he was long before thrown out at the caſting forth of the infants, him in the end, when they ſaw what came to paſs, they admired. 15 But for the fooliſh devices of their wickedneſs, wherewith being deceived, they worſhipped ſerpents void of reaſon, and vile beaſts, thou didſt ſend a multitude of unreaſonable beaſts upon them for vengeance: 16 That they might know, that wherewithall a man ſinneth, by the ſame alſo ſhall he be puniſhed. 17 For thy Almighty hand that made the world of matter without form, wanted not means to ſend among them a multitude of bears, or fierce lions, 18 Or unknown wild beaſts full of rage, newly created, breathing out either a fiery vapour, or filthy ſcents of ſcattered ſmoak, or ſhooting horrible ſparkles out of their eyes: 19 Whereof not only the harm might diſpatch them at once, but alſo the terrible ſight utterly deſtroy them. 20 Yea, and without theſe might they have fallen down with one blaſt, being perſecuted of vengeance, and ſcattered abroad through the breath of thy power: but thou haſt ordered all things in meaſure, and number, and weight. 21 For thou canſt ſhew thy great ſtrength at all times when thou wilt, and who may withſtand the power of thine arm? 22 For the whole world before thee is as a little grain of the balance, yea, as a drop of the morning dew that falleth down upon the earth. 23 But thou haſt mercy upon all; for thou canſt do all things, and winkeſt at the ſins of men: becauſe they ſhould amend. 24 For thou loveſt all the things that are, and abhorreſt nothing which thou haſt made: for never wouldeſt thou have made any thing, if thou hadſt hated it. 25 And how could any thing have endured, if it had not been thy will? or been preſerved, if not called by thee? 26 But thou ſpareſt all: for they are thine, O Lord, thou lover of ſouls.

Moſes, by the Aſſiſtance of Wiſdom, led the People thro' innumerable Dangers and Difficulties in the Wilderneſs; repulſed their Enemies; gave them Water out of a Rock; and made uſe of the ſame Means to relieve and cheriſh them, by which they were avenged of their Adverſaries. And when they, in their Folly, worſhipped Serpents and wild Beaſts, he puniſhed them by ſending Multitudes of thoſe deſtructive Creatures among them. This the Almighty did by the Hand of his Servant Moſes; to manifeſt his own Glory, and to ſhew that he can work by the moſt contemptible Means, either for the Deſtruction of his Enemies, or the Salvation of his own Children.

CHAP. XII.

The Canaanites were leiſurely deſtroyed. God's People are chaſtened in Mercy.

Ver. 1. FOR thine uncorruptible Spirit is in all things. 2 Therefore chaſteneſt thou them by little and little that offend, and warneſt them by putting them in remembrance wherein they have offended, that leaving their wickedneſs, they may believe on thee, O Lord. 3 For it was thy will to deſtroy by the hands of our fathers, both thoſe old inhabitants of thy holy land, 4 Whom thou hatedſt for doing moſt odious works of witchcrafts, and wicked ſacrifices; 5 And alſo thoſe mercileſs murderers of children, and devourers of mans fleſh, and the feaſts of blood; 6 With their prieſts out of the midſt of their idolatrous crew, and the parents that killed with their own hands, ſouls deſtitute of help: 7 That the land which thou eſteemedſt above all other, might receive a worthy colony of Gods children. 8 Nevertheleſs, even thoſe thou ſparedſt as men, and didſt ſend waſps, forerunners of thine hoſt, to deſtroy them by little and little. 9 Not that thou waſt unable to bring the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battel, or to deſtroy them at once with cruel beaſts, or with one rough word: 10 But executing thy judgments upon them by little and little, thou gaveſt them place of repentance, not being ignorant that they were a naughty generation, and that their malice was bred in them, and that their cogitation would never be changed. 11 For it was a curſed ſeed from the beginning, neither didſt thou for fear of any man give them pardon for thoſe things wherein they ſinned. 12 For who ſhall ſay, What haſt thou done? or who ſhall withſtand thy judgment? or who ſhall accuſe thee for the nations that periſh, whom thou haſt made? or who ſhall come to ſtand againſt thee, to be revenged for the unrighteous men? 13 For neither is there any God but thou, that careth for all, to whom thou mighteſt ſhew that thy judgment is not unright. 14 Neither ſhall king or tyrant be able to ſet his face againſt thee, for any whom thou haſt puniſhed. 15 Forſomuch then as thou art righteous thyſelf, thou ordereſt all things righteouſly:

teouſly: thinking it not agreeable with thy power to condemn him that hath not deſerved to be puniſhed. 16 For thy power is the beginning of righteouſneſs, and becauſe thou art the Lord of all, it maketh thee to be gracious unto all. 17 For when men will not believe that thou art of a full power, thou ſheweſt thy ſtrength, and among them that know it, thou makeſt their boldneſs manifeſt. 18 But thou, maſtering thy power, judgeſt with equity, and ordereſt us with great favour: for thou mayeſt uſe power when thou wilt. 19 But by ſuch works haſt thou taught thy people, that the juſt man ſhould be merciful, and haſt made thy children to be of a good hope, that thou giveſt repentance for ſins. 20 For if thou didſt puniſh the enemies of thy children, and the condemned to death with ſuch deliberation, giving them time and place whereby they might be delivered from their malice: 21 With how great circumſpection didſt thou judge thine own ſons, unto whoſe fathers thou haſt ſworn, and made covenants of good promiſes? 22 Therefore, whereas thou doſt chaſten us, thou ſcourgeſt our enemies a thouſand times more, to the intent that when we judge, we ſhould carefully think of thy goodneſs, and when we ourſelves are judged, we ſhould look for mercy. 23 Wherefore, whereas men have lived diſſolutely and unrighteouſly, thou haſt tormented them with their own abominations. 24 For they went aſtray very far in the ways of error, and held them for gods, which even amongſt the beaſts of their enemies were deſpiſed, being deceived as children of no underſtanding. 25 Therefore unto them, as to children without the uſe of reaſon, thou didſt ſend a judgment to mock them. 26 But they that would not be reformed by that correction wherein he dallied with them, ſhall feel a judgment worthy of God. 27 For look for what things they grudged when they were puniſhed, (that is) for them whom they thought to be gods; [now] being puniſhed in them, when they ſaw it, they acknowledged him to be the true God, whom before they denied to know, and therefore came extreme damnation upon them.

The Author declares the gradual Progreſs which God made in the Reduction of Canaan before the Iſraelites, as well to give the wicked Inhabitants Time to repent, as to ſet before his People an Example of Mercy; and that as he ſo leiſurely, and, as it were, unwillingly, deſtroyed his moſt inveterate Enemies, and at the ſame Time chaſtening his own Children with the greateſt Moderation, they ought to be influenced by his Goodneſs to forſake their Sins, before he is provoked to inflict the utmoſt Severities of his Juſtice upon them.

CHAP. XIII.

If they were not to be pardoned who worſhipped ſome of the mighty Works of God; how inexcuſable are they who worſhip the Works of their own Hands?

Ver. 1. SUrely vain are all men by nature, who are ignorant of God, and could not out of the good things that are ſeen, know him that is: neither by conſidering the works, did they acknowledge the work-maſter; 2 But deemed either fire, or wind, or the ſwift air, or the circle of the ſtars, or the violent water, or the lights of heaven, to be the gods which govern the world. 3 With whoſe beauty, if they being delighted, took them to be gods; let them know how much better the Lord of them is: for the firſt author of beauty hath created them. 4 But if they were aſtoniſhed at their power and virtue, let them underſtand by them, how much mightier he is that made them. 5 For by the greatneſs and beauty of the creatures, proportionably the maker of them is ſeen. 6 But yet for this they are the leſs to be blamed: for they peradventure err ſeeking God, and deſirous to find him. 7 For being converſant in his works, they ſearch him diligently, and believe their ſight: becauſe the things are beautiful that are ſeen. 8 Howbeit, neither are they to be pardoned. 9 For if they were able to know ſo much, that they could aim at the world; how did they not ſooner find out the Lord thereof? 10 But miſerable are they, and in dead things is their hope, who called them gods which are the works of mens hands, gold and ſilver to ſhew art in, and reſemblances of beaſts, or a ſtone good for nothing, the work of an antient hand. 11 Now a carpenter that felleth timber, after he hath ſawen down a tree meet for the purpoſe, and taken off all the bark ſkilfully round about, and hath wrought it handſomely, and made a veſſel thereof fit for the ſervice of mans life; 12 And after ſpending the refuſe of his work to dreſs his meat, hath filled himſelf; 13 And taking the very refuſe among thoſe which ſerved to no uſe, (being a crooked piece of wood, and full of knots) hath carved it diligently when he had nothing elſe to do, and formed it by the ſkill of his underſtanding, and faſhioned it to the image of a man; 14 Or made it like ſome vile beaſt, laying it over with vermillion and with paint, colouring it red, and covering every ſpot therein; 15 And when he had made a convenient room for it, ſet it in a wall, and made it faſt with iron: 16 For he provided for it, that it might not fall, knowing that it was unable to help itſelf, (for it is an image, and hath need of help.) 17 Then maketh he prayer for his goods, for his wife and children, and is not aſhamed to ſpeak to that which hath no life. 18 For health, he calleth upon that which is weak: for life, prayeth to that which is dead: for aid, humbly beſeecheth that which hath leaſt means to help: and for a good journey, he aſketh of that which cannot ſet a foot forward: 19 And for gaining and getting, and for good ſucceſs of his hands, aſketh ability to do, of him that is moſt unable to do any thing.

It is certainly the laſt Degree of Stupidity in Man to pretend Ignorance of a Deity, when he beholds and conſiders the World about him; for an Artiſt is known by his Work. If then the Works of Creation neceſſarily lead us to the Creator, what Folly is it to confine our Adoration to any of his Creatures? Thus did the Heathens, who worſhipped the Elements, or the Luminaries of Heaven; the firſt for their Uſefulneſs to Mankind; the laſt for their Beauty, Harmony, and glorious Brightneſs, without conſidering how ſuperlatively excellent and perfect that Being muſt be who created the univerſal World, and placed every Thing in it in ſuch admirable Order both for the Benefit and Delight of Mankind. But ſurely thoſe, of all Men, Men, are the moſt miſerably infatuated, who fall down to Stocks and Stones, the Works of their own Hands, that can't help themſelves, much leſs thoſe that made them.

Ships are greater Safety to Men than their Idols. The Original of Idol-worſhip. The Folly and Wickedneſs of ſwearing by Idols.

Ver. 1. AGain, one preparing himſelf to ſail, and about to paſs through the raging waves, calleth upon a piece of wood, more rotten than the veſſel that carrieth him. 2 For verily deſire of gain deviſed that, and the workman built it by his ſkill. 3 But thy providence, O Father, governeth it: for thou haſt made a way in the ſea, and a ſafe path in the waves: 4 Shewing that thou canſt ſave from all dangers: yea, though a man went to ſea without art. 5 Nevertheleſs, thou wouldeſt not that the works of thy wiſdom ſhould be idle, and therefore do men commit their lives to a ſmall piece of wood, and paſſing the rough ſea in a weak veſſel, are ſaved. 6 For in the old time alſo, when the proud giants periſhed, the hope of the world governed by thy hand, eſcaped in a weak veſſel, and left to all ages a ſeed of generation. 7 For bleſſed is the wood whereby righteouſneſs cometh. 8 But that which is made with hands, is curſed, as well it, as he that made it: he, becauſe he made it; and it, becauſe being corruptible, it was called god. 9 For the ungodly and his ungodlineſs are both alike hateful unto God. 10 For that which is made ſhall be puniſhed together with him that made it. 11 Therefore even upon the idols of the Gentiles ſhall there be a viſitation: becauſe in the creature of God they are become an abomination, and ſtumbling blocks to the ſouls of men, and a ſnare to the feet of the unwiſe. 12 For the deviſing of idols was the beginning of ſpiritual fornication, and the invention of them the corruption of life. 13 For neither were they from the beginning, neither ſhall they be for ever. 14 For by the vain glory of men they entred into the world, and therefore ſhall they come ſhortly to an end. 15 For a father afflicted with untimely mourning, when he hath made an image of his child ſoon taken away, now honoured him as a god, which was then a dead man, and delivered to thoſe that were under him, ceremonies and ſacrifices. 16 Thus in proceſs of time, an ungodly cuſtom grown ſtrong, was kept as a law, and graven images were worſhipped by the commandments of kings. 17 Whom men could not honour in preſence, becauſe they dwelt far off, they took the counterfeit of his viſage from far, and made an expreſs image of a king, whom they honoured, to the end that by this their forwardneſs they might flatter him that was abſent, as if he were preſent. 18 Alſo the ſingular diligence of the artificer did help to ſet forward the ignorant to more ſuperſtition. 19 For he peradventure willing to pleaſe one in authority, forced all his ſkill to make the reſemblance of the beſt faſhion. 20 And ſo the multitude allured by the grace of the work, took him now for a god, which a little before was but honoured as a man. 21 And this was an occaſion to deceive the world: for men ſerving either calamity or tyranny, did aſcribe unto ſtones and ſtocks, the incommunicable Name. 22 Moreover, this was not enough for them, that they erred in the knowledge of God, but whereas they lived in the great war of ignorance, thoſe ſo great plagues called they peace. 23 For whilſt they ſlew their children in ſacrifices, or uſed ſecret ceremonies, or made revellings of ſtrange rites; 24 They kept neither lives nor marriages any longer undefiled: but either one ſlew another traiterouſly, or grieved him by adultery. 25 So that there reigned in all men without exception, blood, man-ſlaughter, theft and diſſimulation, corruption, unfaithfulneſs, tumults, perjury, 26 Diſquieting of good men, forgetfulneſs of good turns, defiling of ſouls, changing of kind, diſorder in marriages, adultery, and ſhameleſs uncleanneſs. 27 For the worſhipping of idols not to be named, is the beginning, the cauſe, and the end of all evil. 28 For either they are mad when they be merry, or propheſy lies, or live unjuſtly, or elſe lightly forſwear themſelves. 29 For inſomuch as their truſt is in idols which have no life; though they ſwear falſly, yet they look not to be hurt. 30 Howbeit, for both cauſes ſhall they be juſtly puniſhed: both becauſe they thought not well of God, giving heed unto idols, and alſo unjuſtly ſwore in deceit, deſpiſing holineſs. 31 For it is not the power of them by whom they ſwear: but it is the juſt vengeance of ſinners, that puniſheth always the offence of the ungodly.

The Folly of Idolatry is here further ſet forth in ſeveral Inſtances. The Sailor going a Voyage, prays to an Idol of Wood for Safety, in a Veſſel of Wood, not conſidering that the Winds and Seas, to which a Ship is expoſed, are under the Direction of Divine Providence. Idols were the Original of many other abominable Sins; and Idols themſelves took their Beginning from the Corruption and Vanity of Man's Heart. A Father, who had loſt a beloved Child, to honour his Memory, made an Image of and ordered divine Honours to be paid him. Statues, deſigned only as Monuments of Loyalty and Affection to an abſent Prince, were converted into Objects of idolatrous Worſhip, which was paid to the Prince himſelf under his carved or engraven Repreſentation. This Practice, which ſeems to have given the firſt Riſe to Idol-worſhip, opened the Way to other abominable Rites and Ceremonies, introduced human Sacrifices, and occaſioned the vileſt and moſt ſcandalous Immoralities of all Kinds.

CHAP. XV.

Thoſe who know the true God, will not worſhip Idols. The Folly of Idol-makers.

Ver. 1. BUT thou, O God, art gracious and true: long-ſuffering, and in mercy ordering all things. 2 For if we ſin we are thine, knowing thy power: but we will not ſin, knowing that we are counted thine. 3 For to know thee is perfect righteouſneſs: yea, to know thy power is the root of immortality. 4 For neither did the miſchievous invention of men deceive us, nor an image ſpotted with divers colours, the painters fruitleſs labour; 5 The ſight whereof enticeth fools to luſt after it, and ſo they deſire the form of a dead image that hath no breath. 6 Both they that make them, they that that desire them, and they that worship them, are lovers of evil things, and are worthy to have such things to trust upon. 7 For the potter tempering soft earth, fashioneth every vessel with much labour for our service: yea, of the same clay he maketh both the vessels that serve for clean uses, and likewise also all such as serve to the contrary: but what is the use of either sort, the potter himself is the judge. 8 And employing his labours lewdly, he maketh a vain god of the same clay, even he which a little before was made of earth himself, and within a little while after returneth to the same out of the which he was taken, when his life which was lent him shall be demanded. 9 Notwithstanding his care is, not that he shall have much labour, nor that his life is short: but striveth to excel gold-smiths and silver-smiths, and endeavoureth to do like the workers in brass, and counteth it his glory to make counterfeit things. 10 His heart is ashes, his hope is more vile than earth, and his life of less value than clay: 11 For as much as he knew not his Maker, and him that inspired into him an active soul, and breathed in a living spirit. 12 But they counted our life a pastime, and our time here a market for gain: for, say they, We must be getting every way, though it be by evil means. 13 For this man that of earthly matter maketh brickle vessels, and graven images, knoweth himself to offend above all others. 14 And all the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subjection, are most foolish, and are more miserable than very babes. 15 For they counted all the idols of the heathen to be gods: which neither have the use of eyes to see, nor noses to draw breath, nor ears to hear, nor fingers of hands to handle, and as for their feet, they are slow to go. 16 For man made them, and he that borrowed his own spirit fashioned them: but no man can make a god like unto himself. 17 For being mortal, he worketh a dead thing with wicked hands: for he himself is better than the things which he worshippeth: whereas he lived once, but they never. 18 Yea, they worshipped those beasts also that are most hateful: for being compared together, some are worse than others. 19 Neither are they beautiful, so much as to be desired in respect of beasts: but they went without the praise of God, and his blessing.

God orders all Things in Mercy to his Children, and therefore are they the more cautious of offending him. They are not deceived by the Inventions of Men, nor allur'd to worship an Idol from the Beauty of its Paintings, or the Curiosity of its Workmanship. Foolish indeed must that Man be, who puts his Confidence in an Image of Clay, knowing himself to be at the same Time, a Compound of the same dirty Materials; and, rejoicing in his Ignorance and Superstition, oppresses the Righteous: In this he discovers more egregious Folly and Ignorance than an Infant that knows nothing.

CHAP. XVI.

God's various Dealings with his People were so many Lessons of Instruction. The Creatures altered their Nature to please God's People, and to offend their Enemies.

Ver. 1 THerefore by the like were they punished worthily, and by the multitude of beasts tormented. 2 In stead of which punishment, dealing graciously with thine own people, thou preparedst for them meat of a strange taste, even quails to stir up their appetite: 3 To the end that they desiring food, might for the ugly sight of the beasts sent among them, lothe even that which they must needs desire; but these suffering penury for a short space, might be made partakers of a strange taste. 4 For it was requisite, that upon them exercising tyranny, should come penury which they could not avoid: but to these it should only be shewed how their enemies were tormented. 5 For when the horrible fierceness of beasts came upon these, and they perished with the stings of crooked serpents, thy wrath endured not for ever. 6 But they were troubled for a small season, that they might be admonished, having a sign of salvation, to put them in remembrance of the commandment of thy law. 7 For he that turned himself towards it, was not saved by the thing that he saw: but by thee, that art the Saviour of all. 8 And in this thou madest thine enemies confess, that it is thou who deliverest from all evil: 9 For them the bitings of grashoppers and flies killed, neither was there found any remedy for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such. 10 But thy sons not the very teeth of venemous dragons overcame: for thy mercy was ever by them, and healed them. 11 For they were pricked that they should remember thy words, and were quickly saved, that not falling into deep forgetfulness, they might be continually mindful of thy goodness. 12 For it was neither herb, nor mollifying plaister, that restored them to health: but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things. 13 For thou hast power of life and death: thou leadest to the gates of hell, and bringest up again. 14 A man indeed killeth through his malice: and the spirit when it is gone forth returneth not; neither the soul received up, cometh again. 15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand. 16 For the ungodly that denied to know thee, were scourged by the strength of thine arm: with strange hails, rains, and showers were they persecuted, that they could not avoid, and through fire were they consumed. 17 For, which is most to be wondred at, the fire had more force in the water that quencheth all things: for the world fighteth for the righteous. 18 For sometime the flame was mitigated, that it might not burn up the beasts that were sent against the ungodly: but themselves might see and perceive that they were persecuted with the judgment of God. 19 And at another time it burneth even in the midst of water, above the power of fire, that it might destroy the fruits of an unjust land. 20 In stead whereof thou feddest thine own people with angels food, and didst send them from heaven bread prepared without their labour, able to content every mans delight, and agreeing to every taste. 21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetness unto thy children, and serving to the appetite of the eater, tempered itself to every mans liking. 22 But snow and ice endured the fire and melted not, that they might know that fire burn-burning in the hail, and ſparkling in the rain, did deſtroy the fruits of the enemies. 23 But this again did even forget his own ſtrength, that the righteous might be nouriſhed. 24 For the creature that ſerveth thee, who art the Maker, increaſeth his ſtrength againſt the unrighteous for their puniſhment, and abateth his ſtrength for the benefit of ſuch as put their truſt in thee. 25 Therefore even then was it altered into all faſhions, and was obedient to thy grace that nouriſheth all things, according to the deſire of them that had need: 26 That thy children, O Lord, whom thou loveſt, might know, that it is not the growing of fruits that nouriſheth man: but that it is thy word which preſerveth them that put their truſt in thee. 27 For that which was not deſtroyed of the fire, being warmed with a little ſun-beam, ſoon melted away. 28 That it might be known, that we muſt prevent the ſun to give thee thanks, and at the day-ſpring pray unto thee. 29 For the hope of the unthankful ſhall melt away as the winters hoar-froſt, and ſhall run away as unprofitable water.

The Love of God to his choſen People, is demonſtrated from the Miracles he wrought for them in Egypt, and in the Wilderneſs; when they were ready to periſh with Hunger, he ſhewed a Miracle, and gave them Quails to eat, and Manna from Heaven; when for their Sins he puniſhed them with fiery Serpents, he gave them a Token of Love, a Symbol of their Salvation, by looking to which they received immediate Relief. In Egypt, Graſhoppers and Flies deſtroyed their Enemies, while themſelves were ſecure againſt the Teeth of the moſt venemous Dragons. He ſcourged the Ungodly with terrible Rains, Hail and Fire, but ſaved his People from their Rage, that they might truſt in him alone, and praiſe him early, who only can work Salvation for them.

CHAP. XVII.

A lively Deſcription of the Egyptian Darkneſs.

Ver. 1. FOR great are thy judgments, and cannot be expreſſed: therefore unnurtured ſouls have erred. 2 For when unrighteous men thought to oppreſs the holy nation; they being ſhut up in their houſes, the priſoners of darkneſs, and fettered with the bonds of a long night, lay [there] exiled from the eternal providence. 3 For while they ſuppoſed to lie hid in their ſecret ſins, they were ſcattered under a dark vail of forgetfulneſs, being horribly aſtoniſhed, and troubled with (ſtrange) apparitions. 4 For neither might the corner that held them keep them from fear: but noiſes (as of waters) falling down, ſounded about them, and ſad viſions appeared unto them with heavy countenances. 5 No power of the fire might give them light: neither could the bright flames of the ſtars endure to lighten that horrible night. 6 Only there appeared unto them a fire kindled of itſelf, very dreadful: for being much terrified, they thought the things which they ſaw, to be worſe than the ſight they ſaw not. 7 As for the illuſions of art magick, they were put down, and their vaunting in wiſdom, was reproved with diſgrace. 8 For they that promiſed to drive away terrors and troubles from a ſick ſoul, were ſick themſelves of fear worthy to be laughed at. 9 For though no terrible thing did fear them: yet being ſcared with beaſts that paſſed by, and hiſſing of ſerpents, 10 They died for fear, denying that they ſaw the air, which could of no ſide be avoided. 11 For wickedneſs condemned by her own witneſs, is very timorous, and being preſſed with conſcience, always forecaſteth grievous things. 12 For fear is nothing elſe but a betraying of the ſuccours which reaſon offereth. 13 And the expectation from within being leſs, counteth the ignorance more than the cauſe which bringeth the torment. 14 But they ſleeping the ſame ſleep that night, which was indeed intolerable, and which came upon them out of the bottoms of inevitable hell: 15 Were partly vexed with monſtrous apparitions, and partly fainted, their heart failing them: for a ſudden fear, and not looked for, came upon them. 16 So then, whoſoever there fell down, was ſtraitly kept, ſhut up in a priſon without iron bars. 17 For whether he were huſbandman or ſhepherd, or a labourer in the field, he was overtaken, and endured that neceſſity which could not be avoided: for they were all bound with one chain of darkneſs. 18 Whether it were a whiſtling wind, or a melodious noiſe of birds among the ſpreading branches, or a pleaſing fall of water running violently, 19 Or a terrible ſound of ſtones caſt down, or a running that could not be ſeen of ſkipping beaſts, or a roaring voice of moſt ſavage wild beaſts, or a rebounding eccho from the hollow mountains: theſe things made them to ſwoon for fear. 20 For the whole world ſhined with clear light, and none were hindred in their labour: 21 Over them only was ſpread an heavy night, an image of that darkneſs which ſhould afterward receive them: but yet were they unto themſelves more grievous than the darkneſs.

God's Care for his Children is further exemplified in puniſhing the Egyptians, for their Sake, with a moſt horrible Darkneſs; a Darkneſs attended with the moſt frightful Viſions, which were either the Creation of their own terrified Imaginations, or the Effects of a bad Conſcience, which aggravates every Illuſion of the Fancy to its own Terror and Torment.

CHAP. XVIII.

Why Egypt was puniſhed with Darkneſs, and the Death of their Children. God alſo plagued his own People; how that Plague was ſtaid.

Ver. 1. NEvertheleſs, thy ſaints had a very great light, whoſe voice they hearing, and not ſeeing their ſhape, becauſe they alſo had not ſuffered the ſame things, they counted them happy. 2 But for that they did not hurt them now, of whom they had been wronged before, they thanked them, and beſought them pardon, for that they had been enemies. 3 In ſtead whereof thou gaveſt them a burning pillar of fire, both to be a guide of the unknown journey, and an harmleſs ſun to entertain them honourably. 4 For they were worthy to be deprived of light, and impriſoned in darkneſs, who had kept thy ſons ſhut up, by whom the uncorrupt light of the law was to be given unto the world. 5 And when they had determined to ſlay the babes of the ſaints, one child being caſt forth, and ſaved, to reprove them, thou tookeſt away the multitude of their children, and deſtroyedſt them altogether in a mighty water. 6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that aſſuredly knowing unto what oaths they had given credence, they might afterwards be of good cheer: 7 So of thy people was accepted both the ſalvation of the righteous, and deſtruction of the enemies. 8 For wherewith thou didſt puniſh our adverſaries, by the ſame thou didſt glorify us whom thou hadſt called. 9 For the righteous children of good men did ſacrifice ſecretly, and with one conſent made a holy law, that the ſaints ſhould be like partakers of the ſame good and evil, the fathers now ſinging out the ſongs of praiſe. 10 But on the other ſide there ſounded an ill-according cry of the enemies, and a lamentable noiſe was carried abroad for children that were bewailed. 11 The maſter and the ſervant were puniſhed after one manner, and like as the king, ſo ſuffered the common perſon. 12 So they altogether had innumerable dead with one kind of death, neither were the living ſufficient to bury them: for in one moment the nobleſt offſpring of them was deſtroyed. 13 For whereas they would not believe any thing, by reaſon of the enchantments; upon the deſtruction of the firſt-born, they acknowledged this people to be the ſons of God. 14 For while all things were in quiet ſilence, and that night was in the midſt of her ſwift courſe, 15 Thine almighty word leapt down from heaven out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of war into the midſt of a land of deſtruction. 16 And brought thine unfeigned commandment as a ſharp ſword, and ſtanding up, filled all things with death, and it touched the heaven, but it ſtood upon the earth. 17 Then ſuddenly viſions of horrible dreams troubled them ſore, and terrors came upon them unlooked for. 18 And one thrown here, and another there half dead, ſhewed the cauſe of his death. 19 For the dreams that troubled them did foreſhew this, leſt they ſhould periſh, and not know why they were afflicted. 20 Yea, the taſting of death touched the righteous alſo, and there was a deſtruction of the multitude in the wilderneſs: but the wrath endured not long. 21 For then the blameleſs man made haſte, and ſtood forth to defend them; and bringing the ſhield of his proper miniſtery, even prayer, and the propitiation of incenſe, ſet himſelf againſt the wrath, and ſo brought the calamity to an end, declaring that he was thy ſervant. 22 So he overcame the deſtroyer, not with ſtrength of body, nor force of arms, but with a word ſubdued he him that puniſhed, alledging the oaths and covenants made with the fathers. 23 For when the dead were now fallen down by heaps one upon another, ſtanding between, he ſtayed the wrath, and parted the way to the living. 24 For in the long garment was the whole world, and in the four rows of the ſtones was the glory of the fathers graven, and thy majeſty upon the diadem of his head. 25 Unto theſe the deſtroyer gave place, and was afraid of them: for it was enough that they only taſted of the wrath.

In that horrible Night of Darkneſs, in which God involved the Egyptians, he made a glorious Diſtinction betwixt them and his own People; who, all the while, enjoyed Light in all their Dwellings. This their Enemies were ſenſible of, acknowledged their Error, and the Folly of their former Enmity againſt them. But this was not all: God was pleaſed to give ſeveral other Inſtances of his kind Regard for his People; he walked before them in a Pillar of Fire, to guide them in their unknown Journey; the Cruelty of Pharaoh, in deſtroying the Children of the Iſraelites, was ſignally reproved by the drowning of his Hoſt in the Sea; the lamentable Outcry of the Egyptians for the Death of all their Firſt-born in one Night; and his ſevere Corrections of his own People in the Wilderneſs, for their Folly and Diſobedience; all witneſſed his paternal Concern for them, and the Diſtinction he will always make between thoſe that fear him, and thoſe that fear him not.

CHAP. XIX.

Why God ſhewed no Mercy to the Egyptians; and how wonderfully he dealt with his People.

Ver. 1. AS for the ungodly, wrath came upon them without mercy unto the end: for he knew before what they would do; 2 How that having given them leave to depart, and ſent them haſtily away, they would repent and purſue them. 3 For whilſt they were yet mourning, and making lamentation at the graves of the dead, they added another fooliſh device, and purſued them as fugitives, whom they had entreated to be gone. 4 For the deſtiny whereof they were worthy, drew them unto this end, and made them forget the things that had already happened, that they might fulfil the puniſhment which was wanting to their torments: 5 And that thy people might paſs a wonderful way: but they might find a ſtrange death. 6 For the whole creature in his proper kind was faſhioned again anew, ſerving the peculiar commandments that were given unto them, that thy children might be kept without hurt. 7 As namely, a cloud ſhadowing the camp; and where water ſtood before, dry land appeared; and out of the Red ſea, a way without impediment; and out of the violent ſtream, a green field: 8 Wherethrough all the people went that were defended with thy hand, ſeeing thy marvellous ſtrange wonders. 9 For they went at large like horſes, and leaped like lambs, praiſing thee, O Lord, who hadſt delivered them. 10 For they were yet mindful of the things that were done while they ſojourned in the ſtrange land, how the ground brought forth flies inſtead of cattel, and how the river caſt up a multitude of frogs inſtead of fiſhes. 11 But afterwards they ſaw a new generation of fowls, when being led with their appetite, they aſked delicate meats. 12 For quails came up unto them from the ſea, for their contentment. 13 And puniſhments came upon the ſinners, not without former ſigns by the force of thunders: for they ſuffered juſtly, according to their own wickedneſs, inſomuch as they uſed a more hard and hateful behaviour toward ſtrangers. 14 For the Sodomites did not receive thoſe whom they knew not when they came: but theſe brought friends into bondage, that had well deſerved of them. 15 And not only ſo, but peradventure ſome reſpect ſhall be had of thoſe, becauſe they uſed ſtrangers not friendly. 16 But theſe very grievouſly afflicted them whom they had received with feaſtings, and and were already made partakers of the ſame laws with them. 17 Therefore even with blindneſs were theſe ſtricken, as thoſe were at the doors of the righteous man: when being compaſſed about with horrible great darkneſs, every one ſought the paſſage of his own doors. 18 For the elements were changed in themſelves by a kind of harmony, like as in a pſaltery notes change the name of the tune, and yet are always ſounds, which may well be perceived by the ſight of the things that have been done. 19 For earthly things were turned into watery, and the things that before ſwam in the water, now went upon the ground. 20 The fire had power in the water, forgetting his own virtue: and the water forgat his own quenching nature. 21 On the other ſide, the flames waſted not the fleſh of the corruptible living things, though they walked therein, neither melted they the icy kind of heavenly meat, that was of nature apt to melt. 22 For in all things, O Lord, thou didſt magnify thy people, and glorify them, neither didſt thou lightly regard them: but didſt aſſiſt them in every time and place.

Tho' the Egyptians had been puniſhed in ſo exemplary a Manner by a dreadful Variety of God's Judgments upon them; and while their Firſt-born lay yet unburied before them, they madly purſue the fugitive Iſraelites, tho' juſt before, they had entreated them to be gone. But what was the Conſequence? Why, another Manifeſtation of God's Diſpleaſure at their Raſhneſs and implacable Hatred againſt his People, and his ſuperlative Kindneſs to his Children in opening a Paſſage for them thro' the Depths of the Sea, where they walked on dry Ground, rejoicing as they went, praiſing God, and wondring at all the great Things that had been done, and were then doing for them. After this ſo ſignal an Eſcape, when they were journeying in the Wilderneſs, they had many other eminent Occaſions of praiſing God for his continual and immediate Care and Proviſion for them, ſtill magnifying them before all the Nations thro' which they paſſed, without ever leaving them in any of their Troubles and Diſtreſſes.

An EXPOSITION of the Wiſdom of Jeſus the Son of Sirach, or, ECCLESIASTICUS.

The ARGUMENT.

This Book is indiſputably the moſt excellent and moſt profitable amongſt the Apocrypha; which afforded a Reaſon for ſome to be of Opinion, that the Title of Eccleſiaſticus prefixed to it, which was the common Appellation of all the apocryphal Books that were permitted to be read publickly in the Churches, was attributed to this by way of Eminence, as containing a rich Treaſure of Sentences, Precepts, Admonitions, Reproofs, Inſtructions, that related to the Practice of all Kinds of Virtues, and avoiding all Sorts of Vices, ſuited to every Degree and Condition of Mankind, in every Station and Circumſtance of Life; written entirely in the Taſte of Antiquity, that is, in ſhort and popular Sentences, ſeaſoned with good Senſe and true Piety, and enlivened with the moſt amiable and penetrating Sweetneſs; and it is as near an Imitation of Solomon's divine Sentences, as the Spirit of Man (tho' enlightened and ſanctified) can approach to the abſolute Workings of God in the Veſſels and Inſtruments of his divine Revelation. But as the Author was no Prophet, nor inſpired immediately by God, as other divine and ſacred Writers were, and having in ſo great a Variety and Multitude of Matters, mixed many Things contrary to the authentick Truth of Canonical Books, too low and unworthy the Majeſty of God's Spirit, this Book was not received by the antient Jewiſh Church, and in the beſt and pureſt Ages of the Chriſtian, was always taken for Apocrypha.

A Prologue made by an uncertain Author.

THIS Jeſus was the ſon of Sirach, and grandchild to Jeſus of the ſame name with him: this man therefore lived in the latter times, after the people had been led away captive, and called home again, and almoſt after all the prophets. Now his grandfather Jeſus (as he himſelf witneſſeth) was a man of great diligence and wiſdom among the Hebrews, who did not only gather the grave and ſhort ſentences of wiſe men that had been before him, but himſelf alſo uttered ſome of his own, full of much underſtanding and wiſdom. When as therefore the firſt Jeſus died, leaving this book almoſt perfected, Sirach his ſon receiving it after him, left it to his own ſon Jeſus, who having gotten it into his hands, compiled it all orderly into one volume, and called it Wiſdom, intituling it both by his own name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers, alluring the hearer by the very name of Wiſdom, to have a greater love to the ſtudy of this book. It containeth therefore wiſe ſayings, dark ſentences, and parables, and certain particular antient godly ſtories of men that pleaſed God; alſo his prayer and ſong; moreover, what benefits God had vouchſafed his people, and what plagues he had heaped upon their enemies. This Jeſus did imitate Solomon, and was no leſs famous for wiſdom and learning, both being indeed a man of great learning, and ſo reputed alſo.

The

The Prologue of the Wiſdom of Jeſus the Son of Sirach.

WHereas many and great things have been delivered unto us by the law and the prophets, and by others that have followed their ſteps, for the which things Iſrael ought to be commended for learning and wiſdom; and whereof not only the readers muſt needs become ſkilful themſelves, but alſo they that deſire to learn, be able to profit them which are without, both by ſpeaking and writing: my grandfather Jeſus, when he had much given himſelf to the reading of the law, and the prophets, and other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein good judgment, was drawn on alſo himſelf, to write ſomething pertaining to learning and wiſdom, to the intent that thoſe which are deſirous to learn, and are addicted to theſe things, might profit much more in living according to the law. Wherefore let me intreat you to read it with favour and attention, and to pardon us wherein we may ſeem to come ſhort of ſome words which we have laboured to interpret. For the ſame things uttered in Hebrew, and tranſlated into another tongue, have not the ſame force in them: and not only theſe things, but the law itſelf, and the prophets, and the reſt of the Books, have no ſmall difference, when they are ſpoken in their own language. For in the eight and thirtieth year coming into Egypt, when Euergetes was king, and continuing there ſome time, I found a book of no ſmall learning: therefore I thought it moſt neceſſary for me to beſtow ſome diligence and travel to interpret it; uſing great watchfulneſs and ſkill in that ſpace, to bring the book to an end, and ſet it forth for them alſo, which in a ſtrange country are willing to learn, being prepared before in manners to live after the law.

CHAP. I.

All Wiſdom is from God. The Fear of God is full of many Bleſſings.

Ver. 1. ALL wiſdom cometh from the Lord, and is with him for ever. 2 Who can number the ſand of the ſea, and the drops of rain, and the days of eternity? 3 Who can find out the height of heaven, and the breadth of the earth, and the deep, and wiſdom? 4 Wiſdom hath been created before all things, and the underſtanding of prudence from everlaſting. 5 The word of God moſt High is the fountain of wiſdom; and her ways are everlaſting commandments. 6 To whom hath the root of wiſdom been revealed? or who hath known her wiſe counſels?] 7 Unto whom hath the knowledge of wiſdom been made manifeſt? and who hath underſtood her great experience? [8 There is one wiſe, and greatly to be feared; the Lord ſitting upon his throne. 9 He created her, and ſaw her, and numbred her, and poured her out upon all his works. 10 She is with all fleſh according to his gift, and he hath given her to them that love him. 11 The fear of the Lord is honour, and glory, and gladneſs, and a crown of rejoicing. 12 The fear of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giveth joy and gladneſs, and a long life. 13 Whoſo feareth the Lord, it ſhall go well with him at the laſt, and he ſhall find favour in the day of his death. 14 To fear the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom: and it was created with the faithful in the womb. 15 She hath built an everlaſting foundation with men, and ſhe ſhall continue with their ſeed. 16 To fear the Lord, is fulneſs of wiſdom, and filleth men with her fruits. 17 She filleth all their houſe with things deſirable, and the garners with her increaſe. 18 The fear of the Lord is a crown of wiſdom, making peace, and perfect health to flouriſh: both which are the gifts of God: and it enlargeth their rejoicing that love him. 19 Wiſdom raineth down ſkill and knowledge of underſtanding, and exalteth them to honour that hold her faſt. 20 The root of wiſdom is to fear the Lord, and the branches thereof are long life. 21 The fear of the Lord driveth away ſins: and where it is preſent, it turneth away wrath. 22 A furious man cannot be juſtified, for the ſway of his fury ſhall be his deſtruction. 23 A patient man will bear for a time, and afterward joy ſhall ſpring up unto him. 24 He will hide his words for a time, and the lips of many ſhall declare his wiſdom. 25 The parables of knowledge are in the treaſures of wiſdom: but godlineſs is an abomination to a ſinner. 26 If thou deſire wiſdom, keep the commandments, and the Lord ſhall give her unto thee. 27 For the fear of the Lord is wiſdom and inſtruction: and faith and meekneſs are his delight. 28 Diſtruſt not the fear of the Lord when thou art poor: and come not unto him with a double heart. 29 Be not an hypocrite in the ſight of men, and take good heed what thou ſpeakeſt. 30 Exalt not thyſelf, leſt thou fall, and bring diſhonour upon thy ſoul, and ſo God diſcover thy ſecrets, and caſt thee down in the midſt of the congregation, becauſe thou cameſt not in truth to the fear of the Lord, but thy heart is full of deceit.

God is the Fountain of all Wiſdom; with Him ſhe reſided in the higheſt Perfection before the World had a Beginning, and will be his Companion when all created Beings ſhall no longer exiſt. The Fulneſs of her Perfection is not comprehenſible by human Underſtanding; and whatever Traces we diſcover of her Excellence ſhining in Man, all are derived originally from God; by her we are inſtructed to fear him, to love, honour, and glorify him. Wiſdom bringeth with her every other Bleſſing, and exalts Men to Honour and Eſteem; whoever deſires her Company, muſt be obedient to the Laws of God, who dwells with the humble and ſincere Soul, but brings down the Haughty and Deceitful.

CHAP. II.

God's Servants muſt look for Trouble, and be patient and truſt in him.

Ver. 1. MY ſon, if thou come to ſerve the Lord, prepare thy ſoul for temptation. 2 Set thy heart aright, and conſtantly endure, and make not haſte in time of trouble. 3 Cleave unto him, and depart not away, that thou mayeſt be encreaſed at thy laſt end. 4 Whatſoever is brought upon thee, take cheerfully, and be patient when thou art changed to a low low eſtate. 5 For gold is tried in the fire, and acceptable men in the furnace of adverſity. 6 Believe in him, and he will help thee; order thy way aright, and truſt in him. 7 Ye that fear the Lord, wait for his mercy, and go not aſide, leſt ye fall. 8 Ye that fear the Lord, believe him, and your reward ſhall not fail. 9 Ye that fear the Lord, hope for good, and for everlaſting joy and mercy. 10 Look at the generations of old, and ſee: did ever any truſt in the Lord and was confounded? or did any abide in his fear, and was forſaken? or whom did he ever deſpiſe that called upon him? 11 For the Lord is full of compaſſion and mercy, long-ſuffering, and very pitiful, and forgiveth ſins, and ſaveth in time of affliction. 12 Wo be to fearful hearts, and faint hands, and the ſinner that goeth two ways. 13 Wo unto him that is faint hearted, for he believeth not, therefore ſhall he not be defended. 14 Wo unto you that have loſt patience: and what will ye do when the Lord ſhall viſit you? 15 They that fear the Lord, will not diſobey his word, and they that love him, will keep his ways. 16 They that fear the Lord, will ſeek that which is well-pleaſing unto him, and they that love him, ſhall be filled with the law. 17 They that fear the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their ſouls in his ſight, 18 Saying, We will fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men: for as his majeſty is, ſo is his mercy.

The pious Man is exhorted to be always prepared to meet Temptations; to be conſtant in Sufferings; to be patient, tho' his Condition be changed for the worſe, and to remember that Adverſity is no more than a Furnace in which God purifies his Children from the Droſs of their Sins and Corruptions. If we want Examples to encourage us, let us look into the Generations of old: Did ever any truſt in the Lord, and was confounded? Pſ. xxxvii. 25. But if neither Precepts nor Examples will make any Impreſſion upon us, Woe unto us; but he that fears the Lord is happy in all Events, for his Mercy is infinite.

CHAP. III.

Advice to Children. The Incorrigible muſt periſh.

Ver. 1. HEAR me your father, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be ſafe. 2 For the Lord hath given the father honour over the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother over the ſons. 3 Whoſo honoureth his father, maketh an atonement for his ſins. 4 And he that honoureth his mother, is as one that layeth up treaſure. 5 Whoſo honoureth his father, ſhall have joy of his own children, and when he maketh his prayer, he ſhall be heard. 6 He that honoureth his father, ſhall have a long life, and he that is obedient unto the Lord, ſhall be a comfort to his mother. 7 He that feareth the Lord, will honour his father, and will do ſervice unto his parents, as to his maſters. 8 Honour thy father and mother, both in word and deed, that a bleſſing may come upon thee from them. 9 For the bleſſing of the father eſtabliſheth the houſes of children, but the curſe of the mother rooteth out foundations. 10 Glory not in the diſhonour of thy father, for thy fathers diſhonour is no glory unto thee. 11 For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father; and a mother in diſhonour is a reproach unto the children. 12 My ſon, help thy father in his age, and grieve him not as long as he liveth. 13 And if his underſtanding fail, have patience with him, and deſpiſe him not when thou art in thy full ſtrength. 14 For the relieving of thy father ſhall not be forgotten: and in ſtead of ſins it ſhall be added to build thee up. 15 In the day of thine affliction it ſhall be remembred; thy ſins alſo ſhall melt away as the ice in the fair warm weather. 16 He that forſaketh his father, is as a blaſphemer; and he that angreth his mother, is curſed of God. 17 My ſon, go on with thy buſineſs in meekneſs, ſo ſhalt thou be beloved of him that is approved. 18 The greater thou art, the more humble thyſelf, and thou ſhalt find favour before the Lord. 19 Many are in high place, and of renown: but myſteries are revealed unto the meek. 20 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly. 21 Seek not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither ſearch the things that are above thy ſtrength. 22 But what is commanded thee, think thereupon with reverence; for it is not needful for thee to ſee with thine eyes the things that are in ſecret. 23 Be not curious in unneceſſary matters: for more things are ſhewed unto thee than men underſtand. 24 For many are deceived by their own vain opinion, and an evil ſuſpicion hath overthrown their judgment. 25 Without eyes thou ſhalt want light: profeſs not the knowledge therefore that thou haſt not. 26 A ſtubborn heart ſhall fare evil at the laſt: and he that loveth danger, ſhall periſh therein. 27 An obſtinate heart ſhall be laden with ſorrows, and the wicked man ſhall heap ſin upon ſin. 28 In the puniſhment of the proud there is no remedy: for the plant of wickedneſs hath taken root in him. 29 The heart of the prudent will underſtand a parable, and an attentive ear is the deſire of a wiſe man. 30 Water will quench a flaming fire, and alms maketh an atonement for ſins. 31 And he that requiteth good turns, is mindful of that which may come hereafter: and when he falleth he ſhall find a ſtay.

Great and manifold are the Bleſſings that reward filial Obedience; it makes Atonement for Sins, and hath the Promiſe of long Life annexed to it: But the diſobedient Son, who forſakes his Father in his Extremities, is no better than a Blaſphemer, ſince he, who could renounce his Father who gave him a Being, could as eaſily renounce his God, who is the common Father of us all.

We are admoniſhed to be humble in our Searches into the Secrets of Things that are above our Capacity to comprehend; and to reſt ſatisfied with the Knowledge of thoſe Things that are commanded us: For many, by aſpiring too high, have fallen into Errors, and bewildered their Judgments.

Stubbornneſs is puniſhed in the End; and Raſhneſs is the Cauſe of its own Ruin; Obſtinacy is rewarded with Sorrow; and Pride is not cured by Direction. Prudence and Attention are the Characteriſticks of a wiſe Man; Charity atones for Sins; and Gratitude will never want Aſſiſtance in Time of need.

All theſe Maxims are ſo true, plain, and evident, ſo obvious to common Apprehenſion, and ſo frequent in the Practice of Mankind, that every Man's Experience may furniſh him with a Comment upon the Text.

CHAP. IV.

The Poor and Fatherleſs are not to be deſpiſed. The Bleſſings of Wiſdom.

Ver. 1. MY ſon, defraud not the poor of his living, and make not the needy eyes to wait long. 2 Make not an hungry ſoul ſorrowful, neither provoke a man in his diſtreſs. 3 Add not more trouble to an heart that is vexed, and defer not to give to him that is in need. 4 Reject not the ſupplication of the afflicted, neither turn away thy face from a poor man. 5 Turn not away thine eye from the needy, and give none occaſion to curſe thee: 6 For if he curſe thee in the bitterneſs of his ſoul, his prayer ſhall be heard of him that made him. 7 Get thyſelf the love of the congregation, and bow thy head to a great man. 8 Let it not grieve thee to bow thine ear to the poor, and give him a friendly anſwer with meekneſs. 9 Deliver him that ſuffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppreſſor, and be not faint-hearted when thou ſitteſt in judgment. 10 Be as a father unto the fatherleſs, and inſtead of an huſband unto their mother: ſo ſhalt thou be as the Son of the moſt High, and he ſhall love thee more than thy mother doth. 11 Wiſdom exalteth her children, and layeth hold of them that ſeek her. 12 He that loveth her, loveth life; and they that ſeek to her early, ſhall be filled with joy. 13 He that holdeth her faſt, ſhall inherit glory, and whereſoever ſhe entreth, the Lord will bleſs. 14 They that ſerve her, ſhall miniſter to the holy One: and them that love her the Lord doth love. 15 Whoſo giveth ear unto her, ſhall judge the nations: and he that attendeth unto her, ſhall dwell ſecurely. 16 If a man commit himſelf unto her, he ſhall inherit her; and his generation ſhall hold her in poſſeſſion. 17 For at the firſt ſhe will walk with him by crooked ways, and bring fear and dread upon him, and torment him with her diſcipline, until ſhe may truſt his ſoul, and try him by her laws. 18 Then will ſhe return the ſtraight way unto him, and comfort him, and ſhew him her ſecrets. 19 But if he go wrong, ſhe will forſake him, and give him over to his own ruin. 20 Obſerve the opportunity, and beware of evil; and be not aſhamed when it concerneth thy ſoul. 21 For there is a ſhame that bringeth ſin, and there is a ſhame which is glory and grace. 22 Accept no perſon againſt thy ſoul, and let not the reverence of any man cauſe thee to fall. 23 And refrain not to ſpeak when there is occaſion to do good, and hide not thy wiſdom in her beauty. 24 For by ſpeech wiſdom ſhall be known, and learning by the word of the tongue. 25 In no wiſe ſpeak againſt the truth, but be abaſhed of the error of thine ignorance. 26 Be not aſhamed to confeſs thy ſins, and force not the courſe of the river. 27 Make not thyſelf an underling to a fooliſh man, neither accept the perſon of the mighty. 28 Strive for the truth unto death, and the Lord ſhall fight for thee. 29 Be not haſty in thy tongue, and in thy deeds ſlack and remiſs. 30 Be not as a lion in thy houſe, nor frantick among thy ſervants. 31 Let not thine hand be ſtretched out to receive, and ſhut when thou ſhouldeſt repay.

Sundry Duties are here enjoined relating to our Behaviour to the Poor. We are neither to defraud the poor Man, nor keep him long in Suſpence; not to add Sorrow to the Diſtreſſed, nor be deaf to the Cry of the Afflicted; to be careful to give the needy no Occaſion to curſe us, becauſe his Prayer, uttered in the Bitterneſs of his Soul, will certainly be heard. We are particularly to regard the Oppreſſed, the Fatherleſs, and the Widow, which will entitle us to the Favour of the moſt High.

What is here further ſaid, of the Bleſſings of Wiſdom; of falſe and true Shame; &c. there is no Need to trouble the Reader with Obſervations and Remarks which he can eaſily make himſelf.

CHAP. V.

Be not puffed up with Wealth and Strength; and preſume not on the Mercy of God to ſin.

Ver. 1. SET not thy heart upon thy goods, and ſay not, I have enough for my life. 2 Follow not thine own mind, and thy ſtrength to walk in the ways of thy heart: 3 And ſay not, Who ſhall controll me for my works? for the Lord will ſurely revenge thy pride. 4 Say not, I have ſinned, and what harm hath happened unto me? for the Lord is long-ſuffering, he will in no wiſe let thee go. 5 Concerning propitiation, be not without fear to add ſin unto ſin: 6 And ſay not, His mercy is great, he will be pacified for the multitude of my ſins: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation reſteth upon ſinners. 7 Make no tarrying to turn to the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for ſuddenly ſhall the wrath of the Lord come forth, and in thy ſecurity thou ſhalt be deſtroyed, and periſh in the day of vengeance. 8 Set not thine heart upon goods unjuſtly gotten, for they ſhall not profit thee in the day of calamity. 9 Winnow not with every wind, and go not into every way: for ſo doth the ſinner that hath a double tongue. 10 Be ſtedfaſt in thy underſtanding, and let thy word be the ſame. 11 Be ſwift to hear, and let thy life be ſincere, and with patience give anſwer. 12 If thou haſt underſtanding, anſwer thy neighbour; if not, lay thy hand upon thy mouth. 13 Honour and ſhame is in talk: and the tongue of man is his fall. 14 Be not called a whiſperer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for a foul ſhame is upon the thief, and an evil condemnation upon the double tongue. 15 Be not ignorant of any thing in a great matter or a ſmall.

We are not to build our Dependance on Wealth, nor preſumptuouſly confide in our own Strength. Impunity for former Sins ought not to encourage us to proceed in Wickedneſs, for Vengeance will certainly overtake the impenitent Sinner. We have likewiſe ſeveral Rules given us for the right Government of the Tongue; an Inſtrument of much Honour or Shame to Man.

CHAP. VI.

Self-conceit expoſes to Deriſion. Seek Wiſdom, the Fruits whereof are pleaſant.

Ver. 1. IN ſtead of a friend become not an enemy; for [thereby] thou ſhalt inherit an ill name, ſhame and reproach: even ſo ſhall a ſinner that hath a double tongue. 2 Extol not thyſelf in the counſel of thine own heart; that thy ſoul be not torn in pieces, as a bull ſtraying alone.] 3 Thou ſhalt eat up thy leaves, and loſe thy fruit, and leave thyſelf as a dry tree. 4 A wicked ſoul ſhall deſtroy him that hath it, and ſhall make him to be laughed to ſcorn of his enemies. 5 Sweet language will multiply friends: and a fair-ſpeaking tongue will increaſe kind greetings. 6 Be in peace with many: nevertheleſs have but one counſellor of a thouſand. 7 If thou wouldeſt get a friend, prove him firſt, and be not haſty to credit him. 8 For ſome man is a friend for his own occaſion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble. 9 And there is a friend, who being turned to enmity and ſtrife, will diſcover thy reproach. 10 Again, ſome friend is a companion at the table, and will not continue in the day of thy affliction. 11 But in thy proſperity he will be as thyſelf, and will be bold over thy ſervants. 12 If thou be brought low, he will be againſt thee, and will hide himſelf from thy face. 13 Separate thyſelf from thine enemies, and take heed of thy friends. 14 A faithful friend is a ſtrong defence: and he that hath found ſuch an one, hath found a treaſure. 15 Nothing doth countervail a faithful friend, and his excellency is unvaluable. 16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life, and they that fear the Lord ſhall find him. 17 Whoſo feareth the Lord, ſhall direct his friendſhip aright: for as he is, ſo ſhall his neighbour be alſo. 18 My ſon, gather inſtruction from thy youth up: ſo ſhalt thou find wiſdom till thine old age. 19 Come unto her, as one that ploweth and ſoweth, and wait for her good fruits: for thou ſhalt not toil much in labouring about her, but thou ſhalt eat of her fruits right ſoon. 20 She is very unpleaſant to the unlearned: he that is without underſtanding, will not remain with her. 21 She will lie upon him as a mighty ſtone of trial, and he will caſt her from him ere it be long. 22 For wiſdom is according to her name, and ſhe is not manifeſt unto many. 23 Give ear, my ſon, receive my advice, and refuſe not my counſel, 24 And put thy feet into her fetters, and thy neck into her chain. 25 Bow down thy ſhoulder and bear her, and be not grieved with her bonds. 26 Come unto her with thy whole heart, and keep her ways with all thy power. 27 Search and ſeek, and ſhe ſhall be made known unto thee: and when thou haſt got hold of her, let her not go. 28 For at the laſt thou ſhalt find her reſt, and that ſhall be turned to thy joy. 29 Then ſhall her fetters be a ſtrong defence for thee, and her chains a robe of glory. 30 For there is a golden ornament upon her, and her bands are purple lace. 31 Thou ſhalt put her on as a robe of honour: and ſhalt put her about thee as a crown of joy. 32 My ſon, if thou wilt, thou ſhalt be taught: and if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou ſhalt be prudent. 33 If thou love to hear, thou ſhalt receive underſtanding: and if thou bow thine ear, thou ſhalt be wiſe. 34 Stand in the multitude of the elders, and cleave unto him that is wiſe. 35 Be willing to hear every godly diſcourſe, and let not the parables of underſtanding eſcape thee. 36 And if thou ſeeſt a man of underſtanding, get thee betimes unto him, and let thy foot wear the ſteps of his door. 37 Let thy mind be upon the ordinances of the Lord, and meditate continually in his commandments: he ſhall eſtabliſh thine heart, and give thee wiſdom at thine own deſire.

A Man conceited of his own Wiſdom and Ability, commonly expoſeth himſelf to the Contempt and Laughter of his Adverſaries; therefore we ſhould chuſe a particular Friend in whoſe Faith and Counſel we can confide; yet in the Choice of this boſom-Friend we are to be very cautious, and to prove him well before we receive him into the ſecret Intimacies of our Confidence; becauſe there are many Pretenders to the Title, who are unworthy of the Name of Friends.

Thoſe who would be wiſe in their old Age, ought to lay up Inſtruction in their Youth. Wiſdom is a Burden to the Ignorant, but Reſt and Joy to thoſe that know and value her.

CHAP. VII.

Exhortations to the Performance of various Duties.

Ver. 1. DO no evil, ſo ſhall no harm come unto thee. 2 Depart from the unjuſt, and iniquity ſhall turn away from thee. 3 My ſon, ſow not upon the furrows of unrighteouſneſs, and thou ſhalt not reap them ſeven-fold. 4 Seek not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the king the ſeat of honour. 5 Juſtify not thyſelf before the Lord, and boaſt not of thy wiſdom before the king. 6 Seek not to be judge, being not able to take away iniquity, leſt at any time thou fear the perſon of the mighty, and lay a ſtumbling block in the way of thy uprightneſs. 7 Offend not againſt the multitude of a city, and then thou ſhalt not caſt thyſelf down among the people. 8 Bind not one ſin upon another, for in one thou ſhalt not be unpuniſhed. 9 Say not, God will look upon the multitude of my oblations, and when I offer to the moſt high God, he will accept it. 10 Be not faint-hearted when thou makeſt thy prayer, and neglect not to give alms. 11 Laugh no man to ſcorn, in the bitterneſs of his ſoul: for there is one which humbleth and exalteth. 12 Deviſe not a lie againſt thy brother: neither do the like to thy friend. 13 Uſe not to make any manner of lie: for the cuſtom thereof is not good. 14 Uſe not many words in a multitude of elders, and make not much babling when thou prayeſt. 15 Hate not laborious work, neither huſbandry, which the moſt High hath ordained. 16 Number not thyſelf among the multitude of ſinners, but remember that wrath will not tarry long. 17 Humble thy ſoul greatly: for the vengeance of the ungodly is fire and worms. 18 Change not a friend for any good by no means: neither a faithful brother for the gold of Ophir. 19 Forgo not a wiſe and good woman: for her grace is above gold. 20 Whereas thy ſervant worketh truly, entreat him not evil, nor the hireling that beſtoweth himſelf wholly for thee. 21 Let thy ſoul love a good ſervant, and defraud him not of liberty. 22 Haſt thou cattel? have an eye to them: and if they be for thy profit, keep them with thee. 23 Haſt thou children? inſtruct them, and bow down their neck from their youth. 24 Haſt thou daughters? have a care of their body, and ſhew not thyſelf cheerful toward them. 25 Marry thy daughter, and ſo ſhalt thou have performed a weighty weighty matter: but give her to a man of understanding. 26 Haſt thou a wife after thy mind? forſake her not: but give not thyſelf over to a light woman. 27 Honour thy father with thy whole heart, and forget not the ſorrows of thy mother. 28 Remember that thou waſt begot of them, and how canſt thou recompenſe them the things that they have done for thee? 29 Fear the Lord with all thy ſoul, and reverence his prieſts. 30 Love him that made thee with all thy ſtrength, and forſake not his miniſters. 31 Fear the Lord, and honour the prieſt: and give him his portion as it is commanded thee; the firſt-fruits, and the treſpaſs-offering, and the gift of the ſhoulders, and the ſacrifice of ſanctification, and the firſt-fruits of the holy things. 32 And ſtretch thine hand unto the poor, that thy bleſſing may be perfected. 33 A gift hath grace in the ſight of every man living, and for the dead detain it not. 34 Fail not to be with them that weep, and mourn with them that mourn. 35 Be not ſlow to viſit the ſick: for that ſhall make thee to be beloved. 36 Whatſoever thou takeſt in hand, remember the end, and thou ſhalt never do amiſs.

So many are the Follies and Exceſſes that we are continually liable to commit, from the Solicitations of our own vitiated Appetites and corrupt Inclinations, and the innumerable Temptations that ſurround us, that it requires the moſt conſummate Prudence to be ſufficiently guarded againſt them. 'Tis for this Reaſon that the wiſe Man is here ſo earneſt and particular in his Admonitions to perform the ſeveral Duties, which the many Caſes and Circumſtances incident to human Life, demand of us; and his Precepts and Doctrines are laid down in ſo plain, eaſy, and pleaſant a Stile, and his Reaſons and Arguments to enforce them, ſo free and natural, that any Comment to explain, or render them more intelligible, is quite unneceſſary.

CHAP. VIII.

Various Rules for our Behaviour towards ſeveral Sorts of Perſons.

Ver. 1. STrive not with a mighty man, leſt thou fall into his hands. 2 Be not at variance with a rich man, leſt he overweigh thee: for gold hath deſtroyed many, and perverted the hearts of kings. 3 Strive not with a man that is full of tongue, and heap not wood upon his fire. 4 Jeſt not with a rude man, leſt thy anceſtors be diſgraced. 5 Reproach not a man that turneth from ſin, but remember that we are all worthy of puniſhment. 6 Diſhonour not a man in his old age: for even ſome of us wax old. 7 Rejoice not over thy greateſt enemy being dead, but remember that we die all. 8 Deſpiſe not the diſcourſe of the wiſe, but acquaint thyſelf with their proverbs; for of them thou ſhalt learn inſtruction, and how to ſerve great men with eaſe. 9 Miſs not the diſcourſe of the elders: for they alſo learned of their fathers, and of them thou ſhalt learn underſtanding, and to give anſwer as need requireth. 10 Kindle not the coals of a ſinner, leſt thou be burnt with the flame of his fire. 11 Riſe not up [in anger] at the preſence of an injurious perſon, leſt he lie in wait to entrap thee in thy words. 12 Lend not unto him that is mightier than thyſelf; for if thou lendeſt him, count it but loſt. 13 Be not ſurety above thy power: for if thou be ſurety, take care to pay it. 14 Go not to law with a judge, for they will judge for him according to his honour. 15 Travel not by the way with a bold fellow, leſt he become grievous unto thee: for he will do according to his own will, and thou ſhalt periſh with him through his folly. 16 Strive not with an angry man, and go not with him into a ſolitary place: for blood is as nothing in his ſight, and where there is no help, he will overthrow thee. 17 Conſult not with a fool, for he cannot keep counſel. 18 Do no ſecret thing before a ſtranger, for thou knoweſt not what he will bring forth. 19 Open not thine heart to every man, leſt he requite thee with a ſhrewd turn.

We are dehorted from quarrelling with the great and the rich Man, who will be ſure to have the Advantage of us; we are cautioned againſt the talkative, and jeſting with the rude Man; the firſt will be provoked to uſe us ill, and the latter to abuſe our Family. Several other Directions are given us reſpecting our Converſe with Sinners, with our Seniors in Years, with wiſe Men, with our Superiors, Suretiſhip, and Dealings with ſeveral Sorts of People; to which are added Reaſons for the Conduct recommended.

CHAP. IX.

Directions for our Conduct in regard to Women. An old Friend preferable to a new.

Ver. 1. BE not jealous over the wife of thy boſom, and teach her not an evil leſſon againſt thyſelf. 2 Give not thy ſoul unto a woman, to ſet her foot upon thy ſubſtance. 3 Meet not with an harlot, leſt thou fall into her ſnares. 4 Uſe not much the company of a woman that is a ſinger, leſt thou be taken with her attempts. 5 Gaze not on a maid, that thou fall not by thoſe things that are precious in her. 6 Give not thy ſoul unto harlots, that thou loſe not thine inheritance. 7 Look not round about thee in the ſtreets of the city, neither wander thou in the ſolitary places thereof. 8 Turn away thine eye from a beautiful woman, and look not upon anothers beauty; for many have been deceived by the beauty of a woman, for herewith love is kindled as a fire. 9 Sit not at all with another mans wife, nor ſit down with her in thine arms, and ſpend not thy money with her at the wine; leſt thine heart encline unto her, and ſo through thy deſire thou fall into deſtruction. 10 Forſake not an old friend, for the new is not comparable to him: a new friend is as new wine; when it is old, thou ſhalt drink it with pleaſure. 11 Envy not the glory of a ſinner: for thou knoweſt not what ſhall be his end. 12 Delight not in the thing that the ungodly have pleaſure in; but remember they ſhall not go unpuniſhed unto their grave. 13 Keep thee far from the man that hath power to kill, ſo ſhalt thou not doubt the fear of death: and if thou come unto him, make no fault, leſt he take away thy life preſently: remember that thou goeſt in the midſt of ſnares, and that thou walkeſt upon the battlements of the city. 14 As near as thou canſt, gueſs at thy neighbour, and conſult with the wiſe. 15 Let thy talk be with the wiſe, and all thy communication in the law of the moſt High. 16 And let juſt men eat and drink with thee, and let thy glorying be be in the fear of the Lord, 17 For the hand of the artificer, the work ſhall be commended: and the wiſe ruler of the people, for his ſpeech. 18 A man of an ill tongue is dangerous in his city, and he that is raſh in his talk ſhall be hated.

As moſt of the Good and Ill we partake of in Life, ariſes from the Concerns we have with the Female Sex, it behoves us to be always on our Guard in all the Tranſactions we have with them. Cauſeleſs Jealouſy may provoke thy Wife to act what thou feareſt; and on the other Hand, too abſolute a Reſignation to her Will, will put thee and thy Subſtance into her Power. Beware of Harlots, for they will enſnare thee to thy Ruin. In Beauty there is Deceit; and in keeping Company with another Man's Wife, there is Danger.

An old Friend is to be preferred to a new, becauſe one is tried, the other is not. The Glory and Pleaſures that delight the Ungodly, deſerve not our Envy, if we but conſider their End. We ſhould carefully avoid the Company of thoſe who have the Power of Life and Death, becauſe we are never ſecure in their Preſence; but in the Society of the Wiſe and Juſt there is Counſel and Safety.

CHAP. X.

A wiſe Ruler is a common Benefit. The Inconveniencies of Pride, Injuſtice, and Covetouſneſs.

Ver. 1. A Wiſe judge will inſtruct his people, and the government of a prudent man is well ordered. 2 As the judge of the people is, himſelf, ſo are his officers; and what manner of man the ruler of the city is, ſuch are all they that dwell therein. 3 An unwiſe king deſtroyeth his people; but through the prudence of them which are in authority, the city ſhall be inhabited. 4 The power of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, and in due time he will ſet over it one that is profitable. 5 In the hand of God is the proſperity of man: and upon the perſon of the ſcribe ſhall he lay his honour. 6 Bear not hatred to thy neighbour for every wrong, and do nothing at all by injurious practiſes. 7 Pride is hateful before God and man: and by both doth one commit iniquity. 8 Becauſe of unrighteous dealings, injuries, and riches got by deceit, the kingdom is tranſlated from one people to another. 9 Why is earth and aſhes proud? There is not a more wicked thing than a covetous man: for ſuch an one ſetteth his own ſoul to ſale, becauſe while he liveth, he caſteth away his bowels. 10 The phyſician cutteth off a long diſeaſe, and he that is to day a king, to morrow ſhall die. 11 For when a man is dead, he ſhall inherit creeping things, beaſts and worms. 12 The beginning of pride is, when one departeth from God, and his heart is turned away from his maker. 13 For pride is the beginning of ſin, and he that hath it, ſhall pour out abomination: and therefore the Lord brought upon them ſtrange calamities, and overthrew them utterly. 14 The Lord hath caſt down the thrones of proud princes, and ſet up the meek in their ſtead. 15 The Lord hath plucked up the roots of the proud nations, and planted the lowly in their place. 16 The Lord overthrew countries of the heathen, and deſtroyed them to the foundations of the earth. 17 He took ſome of them away, and deſtroyed them, and hath made their memorial to ceaſe from the earth. 18 Pride was not made for men, nor furious anger for them that are born of a woman. 19 They that fear the Lord are a ſure ſeed, and they that love him, an honourable plant: they that regard not the law, are a diſhonourable ſeed; they that tranſgreſs the commandments, are a deceivable ſeed. 20 Among brethren, he that is chief is honourable, ſo are they that fear the Lord in his eyes. 21 The fear of the Lord goeth before the obtaining of authority: but roughneſs and pride is the loſing thereof. 22 Whether he be rich, noble, or poor, their glory is the fear of the Lord. 23 It is not meet to deſpiſe the poor man that hath underſtanding, neither is it convenient to magnify a ſinful man. 24 Great men, and judges, and potentates ſhall be honoured, yet is there none of them greater than he that feareth the Lord. 25 Unto the ſervant that is wiſe, ſhall they that are free do ſervice: and he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed. 26 Be not overwiſe in doing thy buſineſs, and boaſt not thyſelf in the time of thy diſtreſs. 27 Better is he that laboureth and aboundeth in all things, than he that boaſteth himſelf, and wanteth bread. 28 My ſon, glorify thy ſoul in meekneſs, and give it honour according to the dignity thereof. 29 Who will juſtify him that ſinneth againſt his own ſoul? and who will honour him that diſhonoureth his own life? 30 The poor man is honoured for his ſkill, and the rich man is honoured for his riches. 31 He that is honoured in poverty, how much more in riches? and he that is diſhonourable in riches, how much more in poverty?

The Wiſdom of a Chief Ruler conſiſts in ordering his Government for the general Commodity of thoſe over whom he is placed; and ſuch is the Influence which the Example of a good Governor has among the People, that it creates a Sort of Emulation among them, to conform their Morals and Conduct as much as poſſible to his.

The Folly of Pride is manifeſt from its Effects; it turns a Man's Heart from God, and brings ſevere Calamities upon himſelf; it hath caſt Princes from their Thrones, and overthrown the moſt flouriſhing Kingdoms. Pride loſes that Honour and Authority which it aims at by an over-bearing Inſolence, while the Man of humble Merit is advanced to Place and Dignity; tho' the Great and Mighty may claim a Precedence, yet he only that fears the Lord deſerves Reſpect.

CHAP. XI.

Several wiſe Obſervations and Precepts. Wealth and all good Things are from God. Be cautious of entertaining Strangers.

Ver. 1. WIſdom liſteth up the head of him that is of low degree, and maketh him to ſit among great men. 2 Commend not a man for his beauty, neither abhor a man for his outward appearance. 3 The bee is little among ſuch as flie, but her fruit is the chief of ſweet things. 4 Boaſt not of thy clothing and raiment, and exalt not thyſelf in the day of honour: for the works of the Lord are wonderful, and his works among men are hidden. 5 Many kings have ſat down upon the ground, and one that was never thought of, hath worn the crown. 6 Many mighty men have been greatly diſgraced: and the honourable delivered into other mens hands. 7 Blame not before thou haſt examined the truth: underſtand firſt, and then rebuke. 8 Anſwer not before thou haſt heard the cauſe: neither interrupt men in the midſt of their talk. 9 Strive not in a matter that concerneth thee not: and ſit not in judgment with ſinners. 10 My ſon, meddle not with many matters: for if thou meddle much, thou ſhalt not be innocent; and if thou follow after, thou ſhalt not obtain, neither ſhalt thou eſcape by fleeing. 11 There is one that laboureth and taketh pains, and maketh haſte, and is ſo much the more behind. 12 Again, there is another that is ſlow and hath need of help, wanting ability, and full of poverty; yet the eye of the Lord looked upon him for good, and ſet him up from his low eſtate, 13 And lifted up his head from miſery, ſo that many that ſaw it marvelled at him. 14 Proſperity and adverſity, life and death, poverty and riches come of the Lord. 15 Wiſdom, knowledge, and underſtanding of the law, are of the Lord: love, and the way of good works, are from him. 16 Error and darkneſs had their beginning together with ſinners: and evil ſhall wax old with them that glory therein. 17 The gift of the Lord remaineth with the godly, and his favour bringeth proſperity for ever. 18 There is that waxeth rich by his warineſs and pinching, and this is the portion of his reward: 19 Whereas he ſaith, I have found reſt, and now will eat continually of my goods, and yet he knoweth not what time ſhall come upon him, and that he muſt leave thoſe things to others, and die. 20 Be ſtedfaſt in thy covenant, and be converſant therein, and wax old in thy work. 21 Marvel not at the works of ſinners, but truſt in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an eaſie thing in the ſight of the Lord, on the ſudden to make a poor man rich. 22 The bleſſing of the Lord is in the reward of the godly, and ſuddenly he maketh his bleſſing to flouriſh. 23 Say not, What profit is there of my ſervice? and what good things ſhall I have hereafter? 24 Again, ſay not, I have enough, and poſſeſs many things, and what evil can come to me hereafter? 25 In the day of proſperity there is a forgetfulneſs of affliction: and in the day of affliction, there is no more remembrance of proſperity. 26 For it is an eaſie thing unto the Lord in the day of death, to reward a man according to his ways. 27 The affliction of an hour maketh a man forget pleaſure: and in his end his deeds ſhall be diſcovered. 28 Judge none bleſſed before his death: for a man ſhall be known in his children. 29 Bring not every man into thine houſe: for the deceitful man hath many trains. 30 Like as a partridge taken [and kept] in a cage, ſo is the heart of the proud; and like as a ſpy, watcheth he for thy fall. 31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good into evil, and in things worthy praiſe will lay blame upon thee. 32 Of a ſpark of fire a heap of coals is kindled: and a ſinful man layeth wait for blood. 33 Take heed of a miſchievous man, (for he worketh wickedneſs) leſt he bring upon thee a perpetual blot. 34 Receive a ſtranger into thine houſe, and he will diſturb thee, and turn thee out of thine own.

The Operations of Wiſdom are ſurprizing; ſhe advances the Man of low Degree, but humbles the lofty and aſpiring. The Excellence of a Man conſiſts not in Beauty, gay Cloaths or ſecular Honours; nor is he to be deſpiſed who wants theſe Advantages: For Kings and mighty Men have been ſtript of their Dignities, which have been poſſeſſed by Perſons raiſed out of Obſcurity.

We are counſelled to examine a Thing before we paſs Judgment upon it; not to meddle with Matters that don't concern us; and to be ſure there is Cauſe for Rebuke before we give it. All the Good and Ill that befal us in this Life, comes from God; all our Acquiſitions of Knowledge, and the Endowments of the Mind, proceed alſo from him.

The Folly of a covetous Man is ſeen in denying himſelf the Comforts of Life, to hoard up a Treaſure which he is ſure to leave behind him. The good Man perſiſts in his Labour, and truſts that God will reward him with his Bleſſing. We are not to be oversolicitous about future Contingencies, ſince as well in Proſperity as Adverſity, we are apt to forget our former different Conditions. We are adviſed to be cautious of entertaining Strangers, leſt in ſo doing we unawares involve ourſelves in Trouble.

CHAP. XII.

In diſtributing thy Bounty, beſtow it on proper Objects. Truſt not thy Enemy, nor the Wicked.

Ver. 1. WHEN thou wilt do good, know to whom thou doeſt it: ſo ſhalt thou be thanked for thy benefits. 2 Do good to the godly man, and thou ſhalt find a recompenſe; and if not from him, yet from the moſt High. 3 There can no good come to him that is always occupied in evil: nor to him that giveth no alms. 4 Give to the godly man, and help not a ſinner. 5 Do well unto him that is lowly, but give not to the ungodly: hold back thy bread, and give it not unto him, leſt he overmaſter thee thereby. For [elſe] thou ſhalt receive twice as much evil for all the good thou ſhalt have done unto him. 6 For the moſt High hateth ſinners, and will repay vengeance unto the ungodly, and keepeth them againſt the mighty day of their puniſhment. 7 Give unto the good, and help not the ſinner. 8 A friend cannot be known in proſperity, and an enemy cannot be hidden in adverſity. 9 In the proſperity of a man, enemies will be grieved: but in his adverſity, even a friend will depart. 10 Never truſt thine enemy: for like as iron ruſteth, ſo is his wickedneſs. 11 Though he humble himſelf, and go crouching, yet take good heed, and beware of him, and thou ſhalt be unto him as if thou hadſt wiped a looking-glaſs, and thou ſhalt know that his ruſt hath not been altogether wiped away. 12 Set him not by thee, leſt when he hath overthrown thee, he ſtand up in thy place; neither let him ſit at thy right hand, leſt he ſeek to take thy ſeat, and thou at the laſt remember my words, and be pricked therewith. 13 Who will pity a charmer that is bitten with a ſerpent, or any ſuch as come nigh wild beaſts? 14 So one that goeth to a ſinner, and is defiled with him in his ſins, who will pity? 15 For a while he will abide with thee, but if thou begin to fall, he will not tarry. 16 An enemy ſpeaketh ſweetly with his lips, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into a pit: he will weep with his eyes, but if he find opportunity, he will not be ſatisfied with blood. 17 If adverſity come upon thee, thou ſhalt find him there firſt, and though he pretend to help thee, yet yet ſhall he undermine thee. 18 He will ſhake his head, and clap his hands, and whiſper much, and change his countenance.

We ſhould uſe great Diſcretion in beſtowing our Alms, if we expect any grateful Return for our Benevolence. The good Man, ſhould it ever be in his Power, will make us a Recompence; but ſhould it not, God himſelf will reward us: But the ungodly Man will turn every Act of Charity to him, to the Prejudice of his Benefactor; neither is it pleaſing to the Almighty, to aſſiſt one who is his declared Enemy, and whom he is determined ſeverely to puniſh for his notorious Impieties.

Adverſity is the Touchſtone of Friendſhip, as Proſperity is the proper Seaſon of knowing one's Enemies. He is a Friend indeed who will ſtand by us when the reſt of the World frowns upon us; and he is as truly our Enemy, who envies and maligns the happy Situation of our Affairs; and whatever ſupple and inſinuating Behaviour he may put on, his only Deſign is to betray and injure us the more effectually.

CHAP. XIII.

The Inconveniencies of keeping Company with thoſe who are above our Equality.

Ver. 1. HE that toucheth pitch ſhall be defiled therewith, and he that hath fellowſhip with a proud man, ſhall be like unto him. 2 Burden not thyſelf above thy power, while thou liveſt, and have no fellowſhip with one that is mightier and richer than thyſelf. For how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be ſmitten againſt the other, it ſhall be broken. 3 The rich man hath done wrong, and yet he threatneth withal: the poor is wronged, and he muſt intreat alſo. 4 If thou be for his profit, he will uſe thee: but if thou have nothing, he will forſake thee. 5 If thou have any thing, he will live with thee: yea, he will make thee bare, and will not be ſorry for it. 6 If he have need of thee, he will deceive thee, and ſmile upon thee, and put thee in hope, he will ſpeak thee fair, and ſay, What wanteſt thou? 7 And he will ſhame thee by his meats, until he have drawn thee dry twice or thrice, and at the laſt he will laugh thee to ſcorn: afterward when he ſeeth thee, he will forſake thee, and ſhake his head at thee. 8 Beware that thou be not deceived, and brought down in thy jollity. 9 If thou be invited of a mighty man, withdraw thyſelf, and ſo much the more will he invite thee. 10 Preſs thou not upon him, leſt thou be put back; ſtand not far off, leſt thou be forgotten. 11 Affect not to be made equal unto him in talk, and believe not his many words: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and ſmiling upon thee will get out thy ſecrets. 12 But cruelly he will lay up thy words, and will not ſpare to do thee hurt, and to put thee in priſon. 13 Obſerve and take good heed, for thou walkeſt in peril of thy overthrowing: when thou heareſt theſe things, awake in thy ſleep. 14 Love the Lord all thy life, and call upon him for thy ſalvation. 15 Every beaſt loveth his like, and every man loveth his neighbour. 16 All fleſh conſorteth according to kind, and a man will cleave to his like. 17 What fellowſhip hath the wolf with the lamb? ſo the ſinner with the godly. 18 What agreement is there between the hyena and a dog? and what peace between the rich and the poor? 19 As the wild aſs is the lions prey in the wilderneſs: ſo the rich eat up the poor. 20 As the proud hate humility: ſo doth the rich abhor the poor. 21 A rich man beginning to fall, is held up of his friends: but a poor man being down, is thruſt alſo away by his friends. 22 When a rich man is fallen, he hath many helpers: he ſpeaketh things not to be ſpoken, and yet men juſtify him: the poor man ſlipt, and yet they rebuked him too; he ſpake wiſely, and could have no place. 23 When a rich man ſpeaketh, every man holdeth his tongue, and look what he ſaith, they extol it to the clouds: but if the poor man ſpeak, they ſay, What fellow is this? and if he ſtumble, they will help to overthrow him. 24 Riches are good unto him that hath no ſin, and poverty is evil in the mouth of the ungodly. 25 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be for good or evil: and a merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance. 26 A cheerful countenance is a token of a heart that is in proſperity, and the finding out of parables is a weariſom labour of the mind.

Every Station in Life requires a Conduct peculiar to that Station; Inequality of Circumſtances intimates a Difference of Behaviour to be obſerved betwixt Superiors and Inferiors. The poor Man ought not to be ambitious of putting himſelf on a Level with the Rich, for the latter being more powerful, and having many private Ends to ſerve, he will make the former his Property; and whatever his Pretences of Friendſhip or Service may be to the poor Man, 'tis only to promote his own Intereſt, and when he has obtained his Ends, ſhakes him off, forgets all his Promiſes of ſerving him, and then laughs at him for his Credulity.

We are exhorted to aſſociate ourſelves with our Equals from the Examples of the brute Creation; every Beaſt accompanies thoſe of its own Species, neither has it any Fellowſhip with thoſe of a different Kind; and from the Conduct of the Rich, who readily aſſiſt one another in Caſe of Misfortunes, and always countenance each other's Follies; but a poor Man in Diſtreſs is left to get out of it as he can, and even his Wiſdom is ſure to meet with Diſregard or Contempt.

CHAP. XIV.

The Happineſs of a good Conſcience. The Niggard doth no Good. Wiſdom makes Men happy.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed is the man that hath not ſlipt with his mouth, and is not pricked with the multitude of ſins. 2 Bleſſed is he whoſe conſcience hath not condemned him, and who is not fallen from his hope in the Lord. 3 Riches are not comely for a niggard: and what ſhould an envious man do with money? 4 He that gathereth by defrauding his own ſoul, gathereth for others that ſhall ſpend his goods riotouſly. 5 He that is evil to himſelf, to whom will he be good? he ſhall not take pleaſure in his goods. 6 There is none worſe than he that envieth himſelf, and this is a recompenſe of his wickedneſs. 7 And if he doth good, he doth it unwillingly, and at the laſt he will declare his wickedneſs. 8 The envious man hath a wicked eye, he turneth away his face and deſpiſeth men. 9 A covetous mans eye is not ſatisfied with his portion, and the iniquity of the wicked drieth up his ſoul. 10 A wicked eye envieth [his] bread, and he is a niggard at his table.

table. 11 My ſon, according to thy ability, do good to thyſelf, and give the Lord his due offering. 12 Remember that death will not be long in coming, and that the covenant of the grave is not ſhewed unto thee. 13 Do good unto thy friend before thou die, and according to thy ability ſtretch out thy hand and give to him. 14 Defraud not thyſelf the good day, and let not the part of a good deſire overpaſs thee. 15 Shalt thou not leave thy travels unto another? and thy labours to be divided by lot? 16 Give and take, and ſanctify thy ſoul, for there is no ſeeking of dainties in the grave. 17 All fleſh waxeth old as a garment: for the covenant from the beginning is, Thou ſhalt die the death. 18 As of the green leaves on a thick tree, ſome fall and ſome grow; ſo is the generation of fleſh and blood, one cometh to an end, and another is born. 19 Every work rotteth and conſumeth away, and the worker thereof ſhall go withal. 20 Bleſſed is the man that doth meditate good things in wiſdom, and that reaſoneth of holy things by his underſtanding. 21 He that conſidereth her ways in his heart, ſhall alſo have underſtanding in her ſecrets. 22 Go after her as one that traceth, and lie in wait in her ways. 23 He that prieth in at her windows, ſhall alſo hearken at her doors. 24 He that doth lodge near her houſe, ſhall alſo faſten a pin in her walls. 25 He ſhall pitch his tent nigh unto her, and ſhall lodge in a lodging where good things are. 26 He ſhall ſet his children under her ſhelter, and ſhall lodge under her branches. 27 By her he ſhall be covered from heat, and in her glory ſhall he dwell.

Great is the Satisfaction of a good Conſcience. The Niggard deprives himſelf of his own Happineſs, to heap Riches, which probably may be riotouſly ſpent by his next Heir; neither himſelf, nor others, are the better for his Wealth while he lives, and the only Recompence for his Labour is a continual Puniſhment which he inflicts on himſelf.

Death is certain and inevitable; therefore we ſhould do all the Good we can while we live, and enjoy the Comforts and Bleſſings of Life, ſince we ſhall find no Pleaſures or Delicacies in the Grave.

Happy is the wiſe Man, who regulates his Devotion by the Dictates of Reaſon. He that diligently ſeeks Wiſdom ſhall certainly find her, and enjoy the Bleſſings of a ſtrict Correſpondence with her.

CHAP. XV.

In the Fear of God is Wiſdom. God not chargeable with our Faults.

Ver. 1. HE that feareth the Lord, will do good, and he that hath knowledge of the law, ſhall obtain her. 2 And as a mother ſhall ſhe meet him, and receive him as a wife married of a virgin. 3 With the bread of underſtanding ſhall ſhe feed him, and give him the water of wiſdom to drink. 4 He ſhall be ſtayed upon her, and ſhall not be moved, and ſhall rely upon her, and ſhall not be confounded. 5 She ſhall exalt him above his neighbours, and in the midſt of the congregation ſhall ſhe open his mouth. 6 He ſhall find joy and a crown of gladneſs, and ſhe ſhall cauſe him to inherit an everlaſting name. 7 But fooliſh men ſhall not attain unto her, and ſinners ſhall not ſee her. 8 For ſhe is far from pride, and men that are liars cannot remember her. 9 Praiſe is not ſeemly in the mouth of a ſinner, for it was not ſent him of the Lord. 10 For praiſe ſhall be uttered in wiſdom, and the Lord will proſper it. 11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I fell away: for thou oughteſt not to do the things that he hateth. 12 Say not thou, He hath cauſed me to err: for he hath no need of the ſinful man. 13 The Lord hateth all abomination, and they that fear God, love it not. 14 He himſelf made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counſel: 15 If thou wilt, to keep the commandments, and to perform acceptable faithfulneſs. 16 He hath ſet fire and water before thee: ſtretch forth thy hand unto whether thou wilt. 17 Before man is life and death, and whether him liketh, ſhall be given him. 18 For the wiſdom of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things: 19 And his eyes are upon them that fear him, and he knoweth every work of man. 20 He hath commanded no man to do wickedly, neither hath he given any man licence to ſin.

Wiſdom is with him that fears the Lord and underſtands his Law: She beſtows Joy, Strength and Honour on him who converſes with her; but the Fooliſh, the Wicked, and the Proud are her Averſion.

Heinous is their Impiety who make God the Author of their Sins. God has given to every Man Reaſon and Underſtanding to diſtinguiſh betwixt Good and Evil, and hath plainly ſet before him the neceſſary Conſequences of both; ſo that Life or Death is the Effect of his own Choice; and conſequently every Man, not God, is chargeable with his own Perdition.

CHAP. XVI.

Lewd Children worſe than none. God not partial in his Judgments; both his Wrath and Mercy are great; none ſhall eſcape him. God's Works unſearchable.

Ver. 1. DEſire not a multitude of unprofitable children, neither delight in ungodly ſons. 2 Though they multiply, rejoice not in them, except the fear of the Lord be with them. 3 Truſt not thou in their life, neither reſpect their multitude: for one that is juſt is better than a thouſand, and better it is to die without children, than to have them that are ungodly. 4 For by one that hath underſtanding ſhall the city be repleniſhed: but the kindred of the wicked ſhall ſpeedily become deſolate. 5 Many ſuch things have I ſeen with mine eye, and mine ear hath heard greater things than theſe. 6 In the congregation of the ungodly ſhall a fire be kindled, and in a rebellious nation wrath is ſet on fire. 7 He was not pacified towards the old giants, who fell away in the ſtrength of their fooliſhneſs. 8 Neither ſpared he the place where Lot ſojourned, but abhorred them for their pride. 9 He piried not the people of perdition, who were taken away in their ſins: 10 Nor the ſix hundred thouſand footmen, who were gathered together in the hardneſs of their hearts. 11 And if there be one ſtiff-necked among the people, it is marvel if he eſcape unpuniſhed: for mercy and wrath are with him; he is mighty to forgive, and to pour out diſpleaſure. 12 As his mercy is great, ſo is his correction alſo: he judgeth a man according to his his works. 13 The ſinner ſhall not eſcape with his ſpoils, and the patience of the godly ſhall not be fruſtrate. 14 Make way for every work of mercy: for every man ſhall find according to his works. 15 The Lord hardned Pharaoh, that he ſhould not know him, that his powerful works might be known to the world. 16 His mercy is manifeſt to every creature, and he hath ſeparated his light from the darkneſs with an adamant. 17 Say not thou, I will hide myſelf from the Lord: ſhall any remember me from above? I ſhall not be remembred among ſo many people: for what is my ſoul among ſuch an infinite number of creatures? 18 Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, the deep and the earth, and all that therein is, ſhall be moved when he ſhall viſit. 19 The mountains alſo, and foundations of the earth ſhall be ſhaken with trembling, when the Lord looketh upon them. 20 No heart can think upon theſe things worthily: and who is able to conceive his ways? 21 It is a tempeſt which no man can ſee: for the moſt part of his works are hid. 22 Who can declare the works of his juſtice; or who can endure them? for his covenant is afar off, and the trial of all things is in the end. 23 He that wanteth underſtanding, will think upon vain things: and a fooliſh man erring, imagineth follies. 24 My ſon, hearken unto me, and learn knowledge, and mark my words with thy heart. 25 I will ſhew forth doctrine in weight, and declare his knowledge exactly. 26 The works of the Lord are done in judgment from the beginning: and from the time he made them, he diſpoſed the parts thereof. 27 He garniſhed his works for ever, and in his hand are the chief of them unto all generations: they neither labour, nor are weary, nor ceaſe from their works. 28 None of them hindreth another, and they ſhall never diſobey his word. 29 After this, the Lord looked upon the earth, and filled it with his bleſſings. 30 With all manner of living things hath he covered the face thereof, and they ſhall return into it again.

Children are no longer Bleſſings to their Parents than while they are influenced by the Fear of God; and therefore one Child of a happy and toward Diſpoſition, ſhould be eſteemed a greater Felicity than a Multitude of ungodly Reprobates; nay, 'tis better to die childleſs, than to bring up a Number to diſhonour God, diſgrace Religion, and be a Peſt and Plague of their Country.

Deſtruction has generally been the Fate of a People, or particular Men, who have hardened themſelves in their Sins, and defied the kind Admonitions and Warnings ſent them from Heaven. This was the dreadful Portion of the Giants of old, of the Sodomites, of the Rebels in the Wilderneſs, and of Pharaoh's perſiſting to diſtreſs the Iſraelites notwithſtanding the divine Judgments ſo often repeated upon him, to warn him of his Error. The Mercies of God are manifeſt to all, becauſe all partake of them; but the Extent of his Juſtice is no more demonſtrable, than the full Execution of it is ſupportable. All the Works of God are wonderful, and ſo harmoniouſly and methodically diſpoſed, that tho' the Parts of them are ſo many and great, yet none of them interfere, but jointly proceed to fulfil the Purpoſe of their Creation, without Wearineſs or Intermiſſion.

CHAP. XVII.

Of Man's Creation and Endowments. For-136 ſake Sin and turn to God.

Ver. 1. THE Lord created man of the earth, and turned him into it again. 2 He gave them few days, and a ſhort time, and power alſo over the things therein. 3 He endued them with ſtrength by themſelves, and made them according to his image, 4 And put the fear of man upon all fleſh, and gave him dominion over beaſts and fowls. 5 [They received the uſe of the five operations of the Lord, and in the ſixth place he imparted them underſtanding, and in the ſeventh ſpeech, an interpreter of the cogitations thereof.] 6 Counſel, and a tongue, and eyes, ears, and a heart gave he them to underſtand. 7 Withal, he filled them with the knowledge of underſtanding, and ſhewed them good and evil. 8 He ſet his eye upon their hearts, that he might ſhew them the greatneſs of his works. 9 He gave them to glory in his marvellous acts for ever, that they might declare his works with underſtanding. 10 And the elect ſhall praiſe his holy name. 11 Beſide this, he gave them knowledge, and the law of life for an heritage. 12 He made an everlaſting covenant with them, and ſhewed them his judgments. 13 Their eyes ſaw the majeſty of his glory, and their ears heard his glorious voice. 14 And he ſaid unto them, Beware of all unrighteouſneſs, and he gave every man commandment concerning his neighbour. 15 Their ways are ever before him, and ſhall not be hid from his eyes. 16 Every man from his youth is given to evil, neither could they make to themſelves fleſhy hearts for ſtony. 17 For in the diviſion of the nations of the whole earth, he ſet a ruler over every people; but Iſrael is the Lords portion: 18 Whom being his firſt-born, he nouriſheth with diſcipline, and giving him the light of his love, doth not forſake him. 19 Therefore all their works are as the ſun before him, and his eyes are continually upon their ways. 20 None of their unrighteous deeds are hid from him, but all their ſins are before the Lord. 21 But the Lord being gracious, and knowing his workmanſhip, neither left nor forſook them, but ſpared them. 22 The alms of a man is as a ſignet with him, and he will keep the good deeds of a man as the apple of the eye, and give repentance to his ſons and daughters. 23 Afterwards he will riſe up, and reward them, and render their recompenſe upon their heads. 24 But unto them that repent, he granted them return, and comforted thoſe that failed in patience. 25 Return unto the Lord, and forſake thy ſins, make thy prayer before his face, and offend leſs. 26 Turn again to the moſt High, and turn away from iniquity: for he will lead thee out of darkneſs into the light of health, and hate thou abomination vehemently. 27 Who ſhall praiſe the moſt High in the grave, in ſtead of them which live and give thanks? 28 Thankſgiving periſheth from the dead, as from one that is not: the living and ſound in heart ſhall praiſe the Lord. 29 How great is the loving-kindneſs of the Lord our God, and his compaſſion unto ſuch as turn unto him in holineſs? 30 For all things cannot be in men, becauſe the ſon of man is not immortal. 31 What is brighter than the ſun? yet the light thereof faileth: and fleſh and blood will imagine evil. 32 He vieweth the power of the height of heaven, and all men are but earth and aſhes.

The firſt Part of this Chapter is a Repetition, in other Words, of what is ſaid concerning the Creation of Man, Gen. i. 26, 27, 28. The Author then proceeds to declare the wonderful Regard God ſhewed to Man in making an everlaſting Covenant with him, in diſcovering his Glory and Majeſty to him, and in giving him a Law for the Rule of his Actions. But tho' he was thus highly favoured of God, he has fooliſhly forfeited all thoſe glorious Privileges, and his Inclinations are now wholly prone to Evil. But when all Nations rejected the Sovereignty of the Almighty, he ſelected the People of Iſrael, whom he affectionately nouriſhed up for himſelf, and tho' they often offended him, yet he ſtill graciouſly ſpared them.

God never forgets the good Deeds of a Man, and in his own good Time will reward them; he is merciful to thoſe that repent, and comforts thoſe whoſe Patience may not be equal to their Trial. Such Conſiderations ſhould induce us to forſake Sin, and turn to the Lord, who will lead us out of Darkneſs into his marvellous Light.

CHAP. XVIII.

God's Omnipotence. Man's Frailty. God's Mercy univerſal. Divers Admonitions.

Ver. 1. HE that liveth for ever created all things in general. 2 The Lord only is righteous, and there is none other but he. 3 Who governeth the world with the palm of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he is the King of all, by his power dividing holy things among them from profane. 4 To whom hath he given power to declare his works? and who ſhall find out his noble acts? 5 Who ſhall number the ſtrength of his majeſty? and who ſhall alſo tell out his mercies? 6 As for the wondrous works of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither may any thing be put unto them, neither can the ground of them be found out: 7 When a man hath done, then he beginneth; and when he leaveth off, then he ſhall be doubtful. 8 What is man, and whereto ſerveth he? what is his good, and what is his evil? 9 The nuuber of a mans days at the moſt are an hundred years. 10 As a drop of water unto the ſea, and a gravel-ſtone in compariſon of the ſand, ſo are a thouſand years to the days of eternity. 11 Therefore is God patient with them, and poureth forth his mercy upon them. 12 He ſaw and perceived their end to be evil; therefore he multiplied his compaſſion. 13 The mercy of man is toward his neighbour; but the mercy of the Lord is upon all fleſh: he reproveth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth again, as a ſhepherd his flock. 14 He hath mercy on them that receive diſcipline, and that diligently ſeek after his judgments. 15 My ſon, blemiſh not thy good deeds, neither uſe uncomfortable words when thou giveſt any thing. 16 Shall not the dew aſſwage the heat? ſo is a word better than a gift. 17 Lo, is not a word better than a gift? but both are with a gracious man. 18 A fool will upbraid churliſhly, and a gift of the envious conſumeth the eyes. 19 Learn before thou ſpeak, and uſe phyſick or ever thou be ſick. 20 Before judgment examine thyſelf, and in the day of viſitation thou ſhalt find mercy. 21 Humble thyſelf before thou be ſick, and in the time of ſins ſhew repentance. 22 Let nothing hinder thee to pay thy vow in due time, and defer not until death to be juſtified. 23 Before thou prayeſt, prepare thyſelf; and be not as one that tempteth the Lord. 24 Think upon the wrath that ſhall be at the end, and the time of vengeance when he ſhall turn away his face. 25 When thou haſt enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, think upon poverty and need. 26 From the morning until the evening the time is changed, and all things are ſoon done before the Lord. 27 A wiſe man will fear in every thing, and in the day of ſinning he will beware of offence: but a fool will not obſerve time. 28 Every man of underſtanding knoweth wiſdom, and will give praiſe unto him that found her. 29 They that were of underſtanding in ſayings, became alſo wiſe themſelves, and poured forth exquiſite parables. 30 Go not after thy luſts, but refrain thyſelf from thine appetites. 31 If thou giveſt thy ſoul the deſires that pleaſe her, ſhe will make thee a laughing-ſtock to thine enemies that malign thee. 32 Take not pleaſure in much good cheer, neither be tied to the expence thereof. 33 Be not made a beggar by banqueting upon borrowing, when thou haſt nothing in thy purſe: for thou ſhalt lie in wait for thine own life, and be talked on.

God created all Things, and governs them by his Providence. He is infinite in his Perfections, and his Works are neither capable of Addition or Diminution: But how trifling and inſignificant a Creature is Man! Should he ſtretch out his Life to an hundred Years, what is it? Even a thouſand Years, when compared to Eternity, is no more than a Drop to the Sea, and a ſmall Gravel to the countleſs Sand. God, therefore, knowing the Frailty of Man, and the Shortneſs of his Duration, mercifully reproves, nurtures, and inſtructs him, that he may bring him to himſelf.

When we beſtow a Gift, we ſhould do it freely and generouſly, without grudging or churliſh upbraiding, which leſſens the Value of the Kindneſs, and prevents a grateful Acknowledgment.

We ought always to be prepared for whatever may happen, and to do every Thing in its proper Seaſon; for when Death or divine Vengeance overtake us, we ſhall be judged as we ſhall then be found. 'Tis therefore the Part of a wiſe Man to be cautious how he offends, and to conſider the Conſequence of his Sin before he acts it.

CHAP. XIX.

Wine and Women miſchievous. Loquacity culpable. Be cautious in reproving thy Friend. Divers wiſe Maxims.

Ver. 1. A Labouring man that is given to drunkenneſs ſhall not be rich: and he that contemneth ſmall things, ſhall fall by little and little. 2 Wine and women will make men of underſtanding to fall away: and he that cleaveth to harlots, will become impudent. 3 Moths and worms ſhall have him to heritage, and a bold man ſhall be taken away. 4 He that is haſty to give credit, is light-minded, and he that ſinneth ſhall offend againſt his own ſoul. 5 Whoſo taketh pleaſure in wickedneſs ſhall be condemned: but he that reſiſteth pleaſures, crowneth his life. 6 He that can rule his tongue ſhall live without ſtrife, and he that hateth babling, ſhall have leſs evil. 7 Rehearſe not unto anoanother that which is told unto thee, and thou ſhalt fare never the worſe. 8 Whether it be to a friend or foe, talk not of other mens lives, and if thou canſt without offence, reveal them not. 9 For he heard and obſerved thee, and when time cometh, he will hate thee. 10 If thou haſt heard a word, let it die with thee, and be bold, it will not burſt thee. 11 A fool travaileth with a word as a woman in labour of a child. 12 As an arrow that ſticketh in a mans thigh, ſo is a word in a fools belly. 13 Admoniſh a friend, it may be he hath not done it: and if he have done it, that he do it no more. 14 Admoniſh thy friend, it may be he hath not ſaid it: and if he have, that he ſpeak it not again. 15 Admoniſh a friend: for many times it is a ſlander, and believe not every tale. 16 There is one that ſlippeth in his ſpeech, but not from his heart: and who is he that hath not offended with his tongue? 17 Admoniſh thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and not being angry, give place to the law of the moſt High. 18 The fear of the Lord is the firſt ſtep to be accepted [of him] and wiſdom obtaineth his love. 19 The knowledge of the commandments of the Lord is the doctrine of life: and they that do things that pleaſe him, ſhall receive the fruit of the tree of immortality. 20 The fear of the Lord is all wiſdom, and in all wiſdom is the performance of the law, and the knowledge of his omnipotency. 21 If a ſervant ſay to his maſter, I will not do as it pleaſeth thee, though afterward he do it, he angreth him that nouriſheth him. 22 The knowledge of wickedneſs is not wiſdom, neither at any time the counſel of ſinners prudence. 23 There is a wickedneſs, and the ſame an abomination, and there is a fool wanting in wiſdom. 24 He that hath ſmall underſtanding, and feareth God, is better than one that hath much wiſdom, and tranſgreſſeth the law of the moſt High. 25 There is an exquiſite ſubtilty, and the ſame is unjuſt, and there is one that turneth aſide to make judgment appear: and there is a wiſe man that juſtifieth in judgment. 26 There is a wicked man that hangeth down his head ſadly; but inwardly he is full of deceit, 27 Caſting down his countenance, and making as if he heard not: where he is not known, he will do thee a miſchief before thou be aware. 28 And if for want of power he be hindred from ſinning, yet when he findeth opportunity, he will do evil. 29 A man may be known by his look, and one that hath underſtanding, by his countenance, when thou meeteſt him. 30 A mans attire and exceſſive laughter, and gate, ſhew what he is.

He who can govern his Paſſions, is undoubtedly a wiſe Man; and the ſtronger the Temptation to ſin, the greater is his Victory who can conquer his Inclination, and forego the Opportunity of humouring his Fancy at the Expence of his Innocence. The Cautions therefore here given us, are very proper, and the Obſervations juſt, that by too great Fondneſs for Wine and Women, Men loſe their Underſtanding as well as their Virtue; that Puniſhment is the Conſequence of vicious Pleaſures; that the Government of the Tongue prevents much Diſquietude and Strife; that to be tenacious of a Secret given us in Confidence, is commendable; that to be buſy in raking into other Men's Lives is a hateful Employment; and that we condemn not a Friend on a Report, before we hear his Defence.

The Wiſdom of a Man is known by his Obedience to the Laws of God, as his Folly is ſhewn by his Wickedneſs. There is a Sort of Wiſdom, ſo called indeed by ſome, but in Reality is no better than Cunning or Knavery, and which the Wicked practiſe to deceive their honeſt Neighbours: Againſt the Frauds of ſuch we are particularly to guard, and to watch their Countenance; which they vary to any Form that beſt ſuits the Occaſion of doing the Miſchief they intend.

CHAP. XX.

Of Silence and ſpeaking; Gifts and Gain; Lying; with divers other Obſervations.

Ver. 1. THere is a reproof that is not comely: again, ſome man holdeth his tongue, and he is wiſe. 2 It is much better to reprove, than to be angry ſecretly: and he that confeſſeth his fault, ſhall be preſerved from hurt. 3 How good is it when thou art reproved, to ſhew repentance? for ſo ſhalt thou eſcape wilful ſin. 4 As is the luſt of an eunuch to deflour a virgin; ſo is he that executeth judgment with violence. 5 There is one that keepeth ſilence, and is found wiſe: and another by much babling becometh hateful. 6 Some man holdeth his tongue, becauſe he hath not to anſwer: and ſome keepeth ſilence, knowing his time. 7 A wiſe man will hold his tongue till he ſee opportunity: but a babler and a fool will regard no time. 8 He that uſeth many words ſhall be abhorred; and he that taketh to himſelf authority therein, ſhall be hated. 9 There is a ſinner that hath good ſucceſs in evil things; and there is a gain that turneth to loſs. 10 There is a gift that ſhall not profit thee; and there is a gift whoſe recompenſe is double. 11 There is an abaſement becauſe of glory; and there is that lifteth up his head from a low eſtate. 12 There is that buyeth much for a little, and repayeth it ſeven-fold. 13 A wiſe man by his words maketh himſelf beloved: but the graces of fools ſhall be poured out. 14 The gift of a fool ſhall do thee no good when thou haſt it; neither yet of the envious for his neceſſity: for he looketh to receive many things for one. 15 He giveth little, and upbraideth much, he openeth his mouth like a crier; to day he lendeth, and to morrow will he aſk it again: ſuch a one is to be hated of God and man. 16 The fool ſaith, I have no friends, I have no thank for all my good deeds, and they that eat my bread, ſpeak evil of me. 17 How oft, and of how many ſhall he be laughed to ſcorn! for he knoweth not aright what it is to have; and it is all one unto him, as if he had it not. 18 To ſlip upon a pavement, is better than to ſlip with the tongue: ſo the fall of the wicked ſhall come ſpeedily. 19 An unſeaſonable tale will always be in the mouth of the unwiſe. 20 A wiſe ſentence ſhall be rejected when it cometh out of a fools mouth: for he will not ſpeak it in due ſeaſon. 21 There is that is hindred from ſinning through want: and when he taketh reſt, he ſhall not be troubled. 22 There is that deſtroyeth his own ſoul through baſhfulneſs, and by accepting of perſons, overthroweth himſelf. 23 There is that for baſhfulneſs promiſeth to his friend, and maketh him his enemy for nothing. 24 A lie is a foul blot in a man, yet it is continually in the mouth of the untaught. 25 A thief is better than a man that is accuſtomed to lie: but they both ſhall have deſtruction to heritage. 26 The diſpoſition of a liar is diſhonourable, and his ſhame is ever with him. 27 A wiſe man ſhall promote himſelf to honour with his words: and he that hath underſtanding, will pleaſe great men. 28 He that tilleth his land, ſhall increaſe his heap: and he that pleaſeth great men, ſhall get pardon for iniquity. 29 Preſents and gifts blind the eyes of the wiſe, and ſtop up his mouth that he cannot reprove. 30 Wiſdom that is hid, and treaſure that is hoarded up, what profit is in them both? 31 Better is he that hideth his folly, than a man that hideth his wiſdom. 32 Neceſſary patience in ſeeking the Lord, is better than he that leadeth his life without a guide.

To know when to be ſilent, and when to ſpeak, and to obſerve the proper Seaſon of giving Reproof, ſhews the Judgment of a Man, and diſtinguiſhes his Wiſdom. Wiſdom does not conſiſt in a Multitude of Words, without any regard to Time, Perſons, or the Circumſtances and Nature of Things, but in ſeeking Opportunities of placing them ſo as that they may have the deſired Effect.

If we carefully obſerve the various Humours, Diſpoſitions, and Practices of Mankind, we may collect many uſeful Leſſons to inſtruct us in our Dealings and Commerce with the World. By a heedful Regard to the Errors and Miſtakes of the Fool, we may learn Wiſdom; and by the Slips, Failures, and Miſconduct of others, we may treaſure up Knowledge, and lay in a Stock of Experience, which, if we are wiſe, we ſhall apply to our own Advantage, as Occaſion ſerves. This ſeems to have been the Practice of the Author of this Book, who, from his own Knowledge of the World, and Acquaintance with the Nature of Man, has formed a Syſtem of Morality, and divided it into a Number of Heads and uſeful Obſervations, which he parcels out in ſhort, pithy, and proverbial Sentences, in order to make the more laſting and durable Impreſſion on the Minds and Memories of his Readers.

CHAP. XXI.

Sin carefully to be avoided. The Rich undone by his own Oppreſſion. The different Behaviour of the Fool and the Wiſe.

Ver. 1. MY ſon, haſt thou ſinned? do ſo no more, but aſk pardon for thy former ſins. 2 Flee from ſin as from the face of a ſerpent: for if thou comeſt too near it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, ſlaying the ſouls of men. 3 All iniquity is as a two-edged ſword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed. 4 To terrify and do wrong, will waſte riches: thus the houſe of proud men ſhall be made deſolate. 5 A prayer out of a poor mans mouth reacheth to the ears of God, and his judgment cometh ſpeedily. 6 He that hateth to be reproved, is in the way of ſinners: but he that feareth the Lord, will repent from his heart. 7 An eloquent man is known far and near, but a man of underſtanding knoweth when he ſlippeth. 8 He that buildeth his houſe with other mens money, is like one that gathereth himſelf ſtones for the tomb of his burial. 9 The congregation of the wicked is like tow wrapped together: and the end of them is a flame of fire to deſtroy them. 10 The way of ſinners is made plain with ſtones, but at the end thereof is the pit of hell. 11 He that keepeth the law of the Lord, getteth the underſtanding thereof: and the perfection of the fear of the Lord is wiſdom. 12 He that is not wiſe, will not be taught: but there is a wiſdom which multiplieth bitterneſs. 13 The knowledge of a wiſe man ſhall abound like a flood: and his counſel is like a pure fountain of life. 14 The inner parts of a fool are like a broken veſſel, and he will hold no knowledge as long as he liveth. 15 If a ſkilful man hear a wiſe word, he will commend it, and add unto it: but as ſoon as one of no underſtanding heareth it, it diſpleaſeth him, and he caſteth it behind his back. 16 The talking of a fool is like a burden in the way: but grace ſhall be found in the lips of the wiſe. 17 They enquire at the mouth of the wiſe man in the congregation, and they ſhall ponder his words in their heart. 18 As is a houſe that is deſtroyed, ſo is wiſdom to a fool: and the knowledge of the unwiſe is as talk without ſenſe. 19 Doctrine unto fools is as fetters on the feet, and like manacles on the right hand. 20 A fool lifteth up his voice with laughter, but a wiſe man doth ſcarce ſmile a little. 21 Learning is unto a wiſe man as an ornament of gold, and like a bracelet upon his right arm. 22 A fooliſh mans foot is ſoon in his [neighbours] houſe: but a man of experience is aſhamed of him. 23 A fool will peep in at the door into the houſe, but he that is well-nurtured will ſtand without. 24 It is the rudeneſs of a man to hearken at the door: but a wiſe man will be grieved with the diſgrace. 25 The lips of talkers will be telling ſuch things as pertain not unto them: but the words of ſuch as have underſtanding are weighed in the balance. 26 The heart of fools is in their mouth, but the mouth of the wiſe is in their heart. 27 When the ungodly curſeth Satan, he curſeth his own ſoul. 28 A whiſperer defileth his own ſoul, and is hated whereſoever he dwelleth.

So pernicious are the Effects of Sin, that, whoever has any Regard for his own Soul, will carefully avoid it. God hath Reſpect to the Prayer of a poor Man. He who contemns Reproof, will ſhare the Fate of Sinners; but he who fears God, thinks it a Point of Conſcience to repent of an Error, as ſoon as he is convinced of it.

Many pertinent Remarks are made on the different Behaviour of the wiſe Man and the Fool, ſhewing the contrary Thoughts, Sentiments, and Conduct of each to the other in their reſpective Situations, and Circumſtances in Life. Every Verſe, almoſt, ſets them in Oppoſition, and the Contraſte between them is made ſo plain and obvious that there needs no Explanation or Comment, to render any Thing more intelligible than it appears in the Text.

CHAP. XXII.

Divers Obſervations concerning Sloth, Folly, Wiſdom, Friendſhip, &c.

Ver. 1. A Slothful man is compared to a filthy ſtone, and every one will hiſs him out to his diſgrace. 2 A ſlothful man is compared to the filth of a dunghil; every man that takes it up, will ſhake his hand. 3 An evil-nurtured ſon is the diſhonour of his father that begat him: and a [fooliſh] daughter is born to his loſs. 4 A wiſe daughter ſhall bring an inheritance to her huſband: but ſhe that liveth diſhoneſtly, is her fathers heavineſs. 5 She that is bold, diſhonoureth both her father and her huſband, band, but they both ſhall deſpiſe her. 6 A tale out of ſeaſon [is as] muſick in mourning: but ſtripes and correction of wiſdom are never out of time. 7 Whoſo teacheth a fool, is as one that glueth a potſherd together, and as he that waketh one from a ſound ſleep. 8 He that telleth a tale to a fool, ſpeaketh to one in a ſlumber: when he hath told his tale, he will ſay, What is the matter? 9 If children live honeſtly, and have wherewithal, they ſhall cover the baſeneſs of their parents. 10 But children being haughty through diſdain and want of nurture, do ſtain the nobility of their kindred. 11 Weep for the dead, for he hath loſt the light: and weep for the fool, for he wanteth underſtanding: make little weeping for the dead, for he is at reſt: but the life of the fool is worſe than death. 12 Seven days do men mourn for him that is dead; but for a fool and an ungodly man, all the days of his life. 13 Talk not much with a fool, and go not to him that hath no underſtanding: beware of him, leſt thou have trouble, and thou ſhalt never be defiled with his fooleries: depart from him, and thou ſhalt find reſt, and never be diſquieted with madneſs. 14 What is heavier than lead? and what is the name thereof, but a fool? 15 Sand, and ſalt, and a maſs of iron, is eaſier to bear, than a man without underſtanding. 16 As timber girt and bound together in a building cannot be looſed with ſhaking: ſo the heart that is ſtabliſhed by adviſed counſel, ſhall fear at no time. 17 A heart ſetled upon a thought of underſtanding, is as a fair plaiſtering on the wall of a gallery. 18 Pales ſet on an high place will never ſtand againſt the wind: ſo a fearful heart in the imagination of a fool, cannot ſtand againſt any fear. 19 He that pricketh the eye, will make tears to fall: and he that pricketh the heart, maketh it to ſhew her knowledge. 20 Whoſo caſteth a ſtone at the birds, frayeth them away: and he that upbraideth his friend, breaketh friendſhip. 21 Though thou dreweſt a ſword at thy friend, yet deſpair not: for there may be a returning [to favour.] 22 If thou haſt opened thy mouth againſt thy friend, fear not: for there may be a reconciliation; except for upbraiding, or pride, or diſcloſing of ſecrets, or a treacherous wound: for, for theſe things every friend will depart. 23 Be faithful to thy neighbour in his poverty, that thou mayeſt rejoice in his proſperity: abide ſtedfaſt unto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayeſt be heir with him in his heritage: for a mean eſtate is not always to be contemned; nor the rich that is fooliſh, to be had in admiration. 24 As the vapour and ſmoak of a furnace goeth before the fire; ſo reviling before blood. 25 I will not be aſhamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide myſelf from him. 26 And if any evil happen unto me by him, every one that heareth it, will beware of him. 27 Who ſhall ſet a watch before my mouth, and a ſeal of wiſdom upon my lips, that I fall not ſuddenly by them, and that my tongue deſtroy me not?

Sloth renders a Man the Diſtaſte and Abhorrence of all about him. Children are either the Honour or Diſgrace of their Parents; and, as Modeſty is the peculiar Excellence of the Fair Sex, ſhe, who departs from it, is not only a Stain to the Family from which ſhe derives her Being, but, if ſhe is married, caſts a Slur on her Huſband, and becomes obnoxious to the Reſentment of him as of her Father.

A Tale, tho' ever ſo diverting of itſelf, loſes its Effect, if not well timed; but the Rebukes of Wiſdom are always ſeaſonable. He that would reform a Fool by Inſtruction, or amuſe him with a Story, will loſe his Labour. The Fool deſerves our Mourning more than he that is dead; the firſt is always committing ſomething which occaſions Sorrow; but the other is at Reſt, and inſenſible of our Tears for him.

The Man, who is fortified with Wiſdom, is not to be terrified; but the Fool is always afraid. Friendſhip ought to be preſerved inviolable; a haſty Word ſpoke in Paſſion, will not break it off, if we manifeſt a Senſibility of our Error; but an over-bearing Inſolence, Treachery, or betraying Secrets, will effectually diſſolve the Ties of the ſtricteſt Amity.

CHAP. XXIII.

A Prayer for Grace againſt Sin. Of common Swearing, Whoredom and Adultery.

Ver. 1. O Lord, Father and Governor of all my whole life, leave me not to their counſels, and let me not fall by them. 2 Who will ſet ſcourges over my thoughts, and the diſcipline of wiſdom over mine heart? that they ſpare me not for mine ignorances, and it paſs not by my ſins. 3 Leſt mine ignorances increaſe, and my ſins abound to my deſtruction, and I fall before mine adverſaries, and mine enemy rejoice over me, whoſe hope is far from thy mercy. 4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, give me not a proud look, but turn away from thy ſervants always a haughty mind. 5 Turn away from me vain hopes, and concupiſcence, and thou ſhalt hold him up that is deſirous always to ſerve thee. 6 Let not the greedineſs of the belly, nor luſt of the fleſh take hold of me, and give not over me thy ſervant into an impudent mind. 7 Hear, O ye children, the diſcipline of the mouth: he that keepeth it, ſhall never be taken in his lips. 8 The ſinner ſhall be left in his fooliſhneſs: both the evil ſpeaker and the proud ſhall fall thereby. 9 Accuſtom not thy mouth to ſwearing: neither uſe thyſelf to the naming of the holy One. 10 For as a ſervant that is continually beaten, ſhall not be without a blue mark: ſo he that ſweareth and nameth God continually, ſhall not be faultleſs. 11 A man that uſeth much ſwearing ſhall be filled with iniquity, and the plague ſhall never depart from his houſe: if he ſhall offend, his ſin ſhall be upon him: and if he acknowledge not his ſin, he maketh a double offence; and if he ſwear in vain, he ſhall not be innocent, but his houſe ſhall be full of calamities. 12 There is a word that is cloathed about with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Jacob, for all ſuch things ſhall be far from the godly, and they ſhall not wallow in their ſins. 13 Uſe not thy mouth to untemperate ſwearing, for therein is the word of ſin. 14 Remember thy father and thy mother, when thou ſitteſt among great men. Be not forgetful before them, and ſo thou by thy cuſtom become a fool, and wiſh that thou hadſt not been born, and curſe the day of thy nativity. 15 The man that is accuſtomed to opprobrious words, will never be reformed all the days of his life. 16 Two ſorts of men multiply ſin, and the third will bring wrath: a hot mind is as a burning fire, it will never be quenched till it be consumed: a fornicator in the body of his flesh, will never cease till he hath kindled a fire. 17 All bread is sweet to a whoremonger, he will not leave off till he die. 18 A man that breaketh wedlock, saying thus in his heart, Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkness, the walls cover me, and no body seeth me; what need I to fear? the most High will not remember my sins: 19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter than the sun, beholding all the ways of men, and considering the most secret parts. 20 He knew all things ere ever they were created; so also after they were perfected, he looked upon them all. 21 This man shall be punished in the streets of the city, and where he suspecteth not he shall be taken. 22 Thus shall it go also with the wife that leaveth her husband, and bringeth in an heir by another. 23 For first, she hath disobeyed the law of the most High; and secondly, she hath trespassed against her own husband; and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and brought children by another man. 24 She shall be brought out into the congregation, and inquisition shall be made of her children. 25 Her children shall not take root, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit. 26 She shall leave her memory to be cursed, and her reproach shall not be blotted out. 27 And they that remain shall know that there is nothing better than the fear of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter than to take heed unto the commandments of the Lord. 28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be received of him is long life.

The Author, after his Prayer in the Beginning of the Chapter, addresses himself to Children, and advises them to set a Guard on their Lips. This naturally leads him to speak of the Sin and Folly of vain swearing, and irreverently using the Name of God in common Discourse. This, without doubt, has the least to plead in Excuse of any Sin whatever. Passions ungoverned, unruly Appetites, strong and frequent Temptations, are too apt to ensnare us, and induce us to commit Follies, which the Nature of Man, tho' fortified with the Principles of Religion, finds it exceeding difficult to avoid or withstand: But vain Swearing is absolutely inexcusable, inasmuch as it affords no Pleasure or Satisfaction in itself, has no Temptation to induce a Person to be guilty of it, and offends against a known and positive Command of God, without the least Ground or Supposition of any Advantage to accrue from it; for a common Swearer obtains no more Credit than a common Liar.

CHAP. XXIV.

The Praise of Wisdom.

Ver. 1. WIsdom shall praise herself, and shall glory in the midst of her people. 2 In the congregation of the most High, shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power. 3 I came out of the mouth of the most High, and covered the earth as a cloud. 4 I dwelt in high places, and my throne is in a cloudy pillar. 5 I alone compassed the circuit of heaven, and walked in the bottom of the deep. 6 In the waves of the sea, and in all the earth, and in every people and nation I got a possession. 7 With all these I sought rest: and in whose inheritance shall I abide? 8 So the Creator of all things gave me a commandment, and he that made me caused my tabernacle to rest, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and thine inheritance in Israel. 9 He created me from the beginning before the world, and I shall never fail. 10 In the holy tabernacle I served before him: and so was I established in Sion. 11 Likewise in the beloved city he gave me rest, and in Jerusalem was my power. 12 And I took root in an honourable people, even in the portion of the Lords inheritance. 13 I was exalted like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypress-tree upon the mountains of Hermon. 14 I was exalted like a palm-tree in Engaddi, and as a rose-plant in Jericho, as a fair olive-tree in a pleasant field, and grew up as a plane-tree by the water. 15 I gave a sweet smell like cinnamon, and aspalathus, and I yielded a pleasant odour like the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onyx, and sweet storax, and as the fume of frankincense in the tabernacle. 16 As a turpentine-tree I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace. 17 As the vine brought I forth pleasant savour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches. 18 I am the mother of fair love, and fear, and knowledge, and holy hope: I therefore being eternal, am given to all my children, which are named of him. 19 Come unto me, all ye that be desirous of me, and fill yourselves with my fruits. 20 For my memorial is sweeter than honey, and mine inheritance than the honey-comb. 21 They that eat me shall yet be hungry, and they that drink me shall yet be thirsty. 22 He that obeyeth me shall never be confounded, and they that work by me shall not do amiss. 23 All these things are the book of the covenant of the most high God, even the law which Moses commanded for an heritage unto the congregations of Jacob. 24 Faint not to be strong in the Lord; that he may confirm you, cleave unto him: for the Lord Almighty is God alone, and besides him there is no other Saviour. 25 He filleth all things with his wisdom, as Phison, and as Tigris in the time of the new fruits. 26 He maketh the understanding to abound like Euphrates, and as Jordan in the time of the harvest. 27 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge appear as the light, and as Geon in the time of vintage. 28 The first man knew her not perfectly: no more shall the last find her out. 29 For her thoughts are more than the sea, and her counsels profounder than the great deep. 30 I also came out as a brook from a river, and as a conduit into a garden. 31 I said, I will water my best garden, and will water abundantly my garden-bed: and lo, my brook became a river, and my river became a sea. 32 I will yet make doctrine to shine as the morning, and will send forth her light afar off. 33 I will yet pour out doctrine as prophecy, and leave it to all ages for ever. 34 Behold that I have not laboured for myself only, but for all them that seek wisdom.

Wisdom is the most noble, the most exalted, the most divine Principle that is planted in the rational and intelligent Part of God's Works. It derives its Exist-

Exiſtence from the Supreme Being, and was the firſt Effect of creating Power, and even a Guide to the moſt High in the Formation of the World. Let us view the ſpacious Circumference of the viſible Heaven, the prodigious Bodies of Light there placed in the moſt exact Order, their regular Courſes, the Beauty, Order, and Texture of the vegetative and animal Creation, the Subordination and Dependance of every Being one on the other; we muſt acknowledge the Hand of Wiſdom in the Diſpoſition of every Individual thro'out the Univerſe. Wiſdom, willing to reſide among Men, ſearched thro' every People and Country for a Place proper for her Abode, but none pleaſed her ſo well as the Tabernacles of Jacob, and the holy Hill of Sion. There ſhe fixed her Manſion, there ſhe flouriſhed, ſpread out her Branches, and her Fruit was delicious to the Taſte, her Odour fragrant and refreſhing, her Charms the moſt engaging, and all the Delights ſhe yielded, the moſt exquiſite and tranſcendant; inſomuch that thoſe who once participated of her Delicacies, were never ſatisfied, but ſtill craved for more: But ſo profound are the Depths of Wiſdom, ſo large and extenſive her Powers, that no finite Being ever could, nor ever will fully comprehend them.

CHAP. XXV.

Of Things beautiful and hateful. What is the Crown of old Age. Of Happineſs. Nothing worſe than a wicked Woman.

Ver. 1. IN three things I was beautified, and ſtood up beautiful, both before God and men: the unity of brethren, the love of neighbours, a man and a wife that agree together. 2 Three ſorts of men my ſoul hateth, and I am greatly offended at their life: a poor man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doteth. 3 If thou haſt gathered nothing in thy youth, how canſt thou find any thing in thine age? 4 Oh how comely a thing is judgment for gray hairs, and for antient men to know counſel! 5 Oh how comely is the wiſdom of old men, and underſtanding and counſel to men of honour! 6 Much experience is the crown of old men, and the fear of God is their glory. 7 There be nine things which I have judged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth I will utter with my tongue: A man that hath joy of his children, and he that liveth to ſee the fall of his enemy. 8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of underſtanding, and that hath not ſlipped with his tongue, and that hath not ſerved a man more unworthy than himſelf. 9 Well is him that hath found prudence, and he that ſpeaketh in the ears of them that will hear. 10 Oh how great is he that findeth wiſdom! yet is there none above him that feareth the Lord. 11 But the love of the Lord paſſeth all things for illumination: he that holdeth it, whereto ſhall he be likened? 12 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of his love: and faith is the beginning of cleaving unto him. 13 [Give me] any plague, but the plague of the heart: and any wickedneſs, but the wickedneſs of a woman: 14 And any affliction, but the affliction from them that hate me: and any revenge, but the revenge of enemies. 15 There is no head above the head of a ſerpent, and there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy. 16 I had rather dwell with a lion and a dragon, than to keep houſe with a wicked woman. 17 The wickedneſs of a woman changeth her face, and darkeneth her countenance like ſackcloth. 18 Her huſband ſhall ſit among his neighbours: and when he heareth it, ſhall ſigh bitterly. 19 All wickedneſs is but little to the wickedneſs of a woman: let the portion of a ſinner fall upon her. 20 As the climbing of a ſandy way is to the feet of the aged, ſo is a wife full of words to a quiet man. 21 Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and deſire her not for pleaſure. 22 A woman, if ſhe maintain her huſband, is full of anger, impudency, and much reproach. 23 A wicked woman abateth the courage, maketh an heavy countenance, and a wounded heart: a woman that will not comfort her huſband in diſtreſs, maketh weak hands, and feeble knees. 24 Of the woman came the beginning of ſin, and through her we all die. 25 Give the water no paſſage: neither a wicked woman liberty to gad abroad. 26 If ſhe go not as thou wouldeſt have her, cut her off from thy fleſh, and give her a bill of divorce, and let her go.

The Author's Sentiments of Things beautiful and hateful, and his following Obſervations on the Wiſdom of old Men, &c. are certainly the Reſult of a right Judgment, formed on a thorough Knowledge of Mankind. His Cenſures on a wicked, ſcolding, turbulent Woman are ſevere enough, yet pertinent and juſt; for nothing gives an honeſt peaceable Man more Trouble and Vexation than the clamorous Interruptions, the abuſive Language, the eternal Threatnings and teazing Impertinencies of an ungoverned female Tongue. The Wickedneſs of a Woman is more to be feared than the Rage of wild Beaſts; if a Man is obliged to her for his Maintenance, he is curſed with the moſt abject State of Slavery; ſhe is a continual dead Weight on his Courage, weakens his ſtrongeſt Reſolutions, and, in Diſtreſs, diſconcerts all his Meaſures, and adds to his Afflictions. The only Way to get rid of ſuch a Plague, is to give her a Bill of Divorce, and turn her off.

CHAP. XXVI.

A good Wife is a great Bleſſing, but a bad one the worſt of Plagues. Three Things grievous. Merchants and Huckſters liable to Sin.

Ver. 1. BLeſſed is the man that hath a virtuous wife, for the number of his days ſhall be double. 2 A virtuous woman rejoiceth her huſband, and he ſhall fulfil the years of his life in peace. 3 A good wife is a good portion, which ſhall be given in the portion of them that fear the Lord. 4 Whether a man be rich or poor, if he have a good heart toward the Lord, he ſhall at all times rejoice with a cheerful countenance. 5 There be three things that mine heart feareth; and for the fourth I was ſore afraid: the ſlander of a city, the gathering together of an unruly multitude, and a falſe accuſation: all theſe are worſe than death. 6 But a grief of heart and ſorrow, is a woman that is jealous over another woman, and a ſcourge of the tongue which communicateth with all. 7 An evil wife is a yoke ſhaken to and fro: he that hath hold of her, is as though he held a ſcorpion. 8 A drunken woman, and a gadder abroad, cauſeth great anger, and ſhe will not cover her own ſhame. 9 The whoredom of a woman may be known in her haughty looks and eye-lids. 10 If thy daughter be ſhameleſs, keep her in ſtraitly, leſt ſhe abuſe herſelf through overmuch liberty. 11 Watch over an impudent eye: and marvel not if ſhe treſpaſs againſt thee. 12

She

She will open her mouth as a thirſty traveller, when he hath found a fountain: and drink of every water near her: by every hedge will ſhe ſit down, and open her quiver againſt every arrow. 13 The grace of a wife delighteth her huſband, and her diſcretion will fat his bones. 14 A ſilent and loving woman is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing ſo much worth as a mind well inſtructed. 15 A ſhamefaſt and faithful woman is a double grace, and her continent mind cannot be valued. 16 As the ſun when it ariſeth in the high heaven: ſo is the beauty of a good wife in the ordering of her houſe. 17 As the clear light is upon the holy candleſtick: ſo is the beauty of the face in ripe age. 18 As the golden pillars are upon the ſockets of ſilver: ſo are the fair feet with a conſtant heart. 19 My ſon, keep the flour of thine age ſound: and give not thy ſtrength to ſtrangers. 20 When thou haſt gotten a fruitful poſſeſſion through all the field, ſow it with thine own ſeed, truſting in the goodneſs of thy ſtock. 21 So thy race which thou leaveſt ſhall be magnified, having the confidence of their good deſcent. 22 An harlot ſhall be accounted as ſpittle: but a married woman is a tower againſt death to her huſband. 23 A wicked woman is given as a portion to a wicked man: but a godly woman is given to him that feareth the Lord. 24 A diſhoneſt woman contemneth ſhame: but an honeſt woman will reverence her huſband. 25 A ſhameleſs woman ſhall be counted as a dog: but ſhe that is ſhamefaced will fear the Lord. 26 A woman that honoureth her huſband, ſhall be judged wiſe of all: but ſhe that diſhonoureth him in her pride, ſhall be counted ungodly of all. 27 A loud-crying woman, and a ſcold, ſhall be ſought out to drive away the enemies. 28 There be two things that grieve my heart; and the third maketh me angry: a man of war that ſuffereth poverty, and men of underſtanding that are not ſet by, and one that returneth from righteouſneſs to ſin, the Lord prepareth ſuch a one for the ſword. 29 A merchant ſhall hardly keep himſelf from doing wrong: and an huckſter ſhall not be freed from ſin.

A good Wife and a good Conſcience are certainly the greateſt Bleſſings of human Life; but a Man that has a Wife given to Jealouſy, or is a Scold, a Drunkard, a Goſſip, or a Whore, he needs no greater Plague in this World. The Excellence of a Woman conſiſts in Diſcretion, Modeſty, the Care of her Family, Love and Honour of her Huſband, and a ſilent Submiſſion to, and reſpectful Reverence of him.

The three Things mentioned in the 28th Verſe, as exciting Grief and Anger, are undoubtedly the proper Objects of thoſe Paſſions. To ſee a Soldier, who has ſpent his Blood, and the moſt vigorous Part of his Life in the Service of his Country, wanting the Neceſſaries of Life in that very Country whoſe Safety and flouriſhing Condition are owing, in a great Meaſure, to his Bravery; to behold a Man, whoſe ſuperior Learning and Merit have diſtinguiſhed him from the vulgar Herd of Mankind, diſregarded, and ſuffering under the Frowns and Contempt of the World; ſuch Objects as theſe will be always the Subjects of a generous Concern and Commiſeration to wiſe and good Men; and an Apoſtate from Religion and Virtue deſerves our ſevereſt Cenſures and Reſentment.

Conſidering the Multiplicity of Affairs in which a Merchant is employed, and the Diverſity of Perſons with whom he is neceſſarily concerned, he finds it very difficult to hold the Balance of Juſtice exactly poiſed, ſo as no Man ſhall have Reaſon to complain of Wrong or Injuſtice done him; much leſs ſhall an Huckſter, who foreſtals the Market, monopolizes Traffick, and impoſes upon the Ignorance or Credulity of the People, be deemed innocent.

CHAP. XXVII.

Of Sins in ſelling and buying. A Man's Speech will diſcover what he is. A Friend loſt is ſcarce to be recovered. He that digs a Pit ſhall fall into it.

Ver. 1. MANY have ſinned for a ſmall matter: and he that ſeeketh for abundance will turn his eyes away. 2 As a nail ſticketh faſt between the joinings of the ſtones: ſo doth ſin ſtick cloſe between buying and ſelling. 3 Unleſs a man hold himſelf diligently in the fear of the Lord, his houſe ſhall ſoon be overthrown. 4 As when one ſifteth with a ſieve, the refuſe remaineth: ſo the filth of man in his talk. 5 The furnace proveth the potters veſſels: ſo the trial of man is in his reaſoning. 6 The fruit declareth if the tree have been dreſſed: ſo is the utterance of a conceit in the heart of man. 7 Praiſe no man before thou heareſt him ſpeak; for this is the trial of men. 8 If thou followeſt righteouſneſs, thou ſhalt obtain her, and put her on as a glorious long robe. 9 The birds will reſort unto their like: ſo will truth return unto them that practiſe in her. 10 As the lion lieth in wait for the prey: ſo ſin for them that work iniquity. 11 The diſcourſe of a godly man is always with wiſdom: but a fool changeth as the moon. 12 If thou be among the undiſcreet, obſerve the time: but be continually among men of underſtanding. 13 The diſcourſe of fools is irkſom, and their ſport is in the wantonneſs of ſin. 14 The talk of him that ſweareth much, maketh the hair ſtand upright: and their brawls make one ſtop his ears. 15 The ſtrife of the proud is blood-ſhedding, and their revilings are grievous to the ear. 16 Whoſo diſcovereth ſecrets, loſeth his credit; and ſhall never find friend to his mind. 17 Love thy friend, and be faithful unto him: but if thou bewrayeſt his ſecrets, follow no more after him. 18 For as a man hath deſtroyed his enemy: ſo haſt thou loſt the love of thy neighbour. 19 As one that letteth a bird go out of his hand, ſo haſt thou let thy neighbour go, and ſhalt not get him again. 20 Follow after him no more, for he is too far off, he is as a roe eſcaped out of the ſnare. 21 As for a wound, it may be bound up; and after reviling, there may be reconcilement: but he that bewrayeth ſecrets, is without hope. 22 He that winketh with the eyes, worketh evil: and he that knoweth him, will depart from him. 23 When thou art preſent, he will ſpeak ſweetly, and will admire thy words, but at the laſt he will writhe his mouth, and ſlander thy ſayings. 24 I have hated many things, but nothing like him, for the Lord will hate him. 25 Whoſo caſteth a ſtone on high, caſteth it on his own head, and a deceitful ſtroke ſhall make wounds. 26 Whoſo diggeth a pit ſhall fall therein: and he that ſetteth a trap, ſhall be taken therein. 27 He that worketh miſchief, it ſhall fall upon him, and he ſhall not know whence it cometh.

cometh. 28 Mockery and reproach are from the proud: but vengeance as a lion ſhall lie in wait for them. 29 They that rejoice at the fall of the righteous, ſhall be taken in the ſnare, and anguiſh ſhall conſume them before they die. 30 Malice and wrath, even theſe are abominations, and the ſinful man ſhall have them both.

Too great a Thirſt of getting Money, in the Way of Trade, often betrays a Man into Sin. By the Diſcourſe of a Man we may form a Judgment of his Underſtanding and Morals. As Birds aſſociate only with thoſe of their own Kind, ſo the Lovers of Truth delight only in the Company of ſuch who are of the ſame Mind. But it's needleſs to take up the Readers Time with Remarks ſo obvious to every Man's Underſtanding.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Of Revenge, Quarrels, Anger, and Backbiting.

Ver. 1. HE that revengeth ſhall find vengeance from the Lord, and he will ſurely keep his ſins [in remembrance.] 2 Forgive thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done unto thee, ſo ſhall thy ſins alſo be forgiven when thou prayeſt. 3 One man beareth hatred againſt another, and doth he ſeek pardon from the Lord? 4 He ſheweth no mercy to a man, which is like himſelf: and doth he aſk forgiveneſs of his own ſins? 5 If he that is but fleſh nouriſh hatred, who will intreat for pardon of his ſins? 6 Remember thy end, and let enmity ceaſe: [remember] corruption and death, and abide in the commandments. 7 Remember the commandments, and bear no malice to thy neighbour: [remember] the covenant of the Higheſt, and wink at ignorance. 8 Abſtain from ſtrife, and thou ſhalt diminiſh thy ſins: for a furious man will kindle ſtrife. 9 A ſinful man diſquieteth friends, and maketh debate among them that be at peace. 10 As the matter of the fire is, ſo it burneth: and as a mans ſtrength is, ſo is his wrath; and according to his riches, his anger riſeth; and the ſtronger they are which contend, the more they will be enflamed. 11 An haſty contention kindleth a fire: and an haſty fighting ſheddeth blood. 12 If thou blow the ſpark, it ſhall burn; if thou ſpit upon it, it ſhall be quenched: and both theſe come out of thy mouth. 13 Curſe the whiſperer, and double-tongued: for ſuch have deſtroyed many that were at peace. 14 A backbiting tongue hath diſquieted many, and driven them from nation to nation; ſtrong cities hath it pulled down, and overthrown the houſes of great men. 15 A backbiting tongue hath caſt out virtuous women, and deprived them of their labours. 16 Whoſo hearkeneth unto it, ſhall never find reſt, and never dwell quietly. 17 The ſtroke of the whip maketh marks in the fleſh: but the ſtroke of the tongue breaketh the bones. 18 Many have fallen by the edge of the ſword: but not ſo many as have fallen by the tongue. 19 Well is he that is defended from it, and hath not paſſed through the venom thereof; who hath not drawn the yoke thereof, nor hath been bound in her bands. 20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of iron, and the bands thereof are bands of braſs. 21 The death thereof is an evil death, the grave were better than it. 22 It ſhall not have rule over them that fear God, neither ſhall they be burnt with the flame thereof. 23 Such as forſake the Lord, ſhall fall into it, and it ſhall burn in them, and not be quenched; it ſhall be ſent upon them as a lion, and devour them as a leopard. 24 Look that thou hedge thy poſſeſſion about with thorns, and bind up thy ſilver and gold: 25 And weigh thy words in a balance, and make a door and bar for thy mouth. 26 Beware thou ſlide not by it, leſt thou fall before him that lieth in wait.

Revenge is a Crime that deſerves the ſevereſt Reprehenſion both from God and Man; from God, as it invades his Prerogative of rendering to every Man according to his Merits; Vengeance is mine, ſaith the Lord, and I will repay it; and from Man, as it is a Breach of that golden Rule, of doing unto all Men as we would be done unto. Who is the Man that can lay his Hand upon his Heart, and ſay, I have not offended? Or who is ſo perfectly upright, as not to find in himſelf the Seeds and Ground-work of all thoſe Sins and Follies that are committed by the reſt of Mankind? With what Face and Conſcience then can he preſume to puniſh that in another, which, if he is not actualy guilty of, yet knows himſelf prone to? Or, how can he aſk Pardon of God for his own Offences, when he has no Mercy on the Failings, nor Forgiveneſs for the Treſpaſs of his Fellow-creatures, of the ſame Paſſions, Inclinations, and Infirmities with himſelf? Which is exactly agreeable to that Doctrine inculcated by our Saviour, of forgiving one another.

CHAP. XXIX.

We muſt ſhew Mercy and lend; but the Borrower muſt not defraud the Lender.

Ver. 1. HE that is merciful, will lend unto his neighbour, and he that ſtrengtheneth his hand, keepeth the commandments. 2 Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour again in due ſeaſon. 3 Keep thy word, and deal faithfully with him, and thou ſhalt always find the thing that is neceſſary for thee. 4 Many, when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and put them to trouble that helped them. 5 Till he hath received, he will kiſs a mans hand; and for his neighbours money he will ſpeak ſubmiſly: but when he ſhould repay, he will prolong the time, and return words of grief, and complain of the time. 6 If he prevail, he ſhall hardly receive the half, and he will count as if he had found it: if not, he hath deprived him of his money, and he hath gotten him an enemy without cauſe: he payeth him with curſings and railings; and for honour, he will pay him diſgrace. 7 Many therefore have refuſed to lend, for other mens ill dealing, fearing to be defrauded. 8 Yet have thou patience with a man in poor eſtate, and delay not to ſhew him mercy. 9 Help the poor for the commandments ſake, and turn him not away becauſe of his poverty. 10 Loſe not thy money for thy brother and thy friend, and let it not ruſt under a ſtone to be loſt. 11 Lay up thy treaſure according to the commandments of the moſt High, and it ſhall bring thee more profit than gold. 12 Shut up alms in thy ſtore-houſes: and it ſhall deliver thee from all affliction. 13 It ſhall fight for thee againſt enemies, better than a mighty ſhield and ſtrong ſpear. 14 An honeſt man is ſurety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent will forſake him. 15 Forget not the friendſhip of thy ſurety, for he hath given his life for thee. 16 A ſinner will overthrow the good eſtate of his ſurety: 17 And he that is of an unthankful mind, will leave him in [danger] that delivered him. 18 Suretiſhip hath undone many of good eſtate, and ſhaken them as a wave of the ſea: mighty men hath it driven from their houſes, ſo that they wandred among ſtrange nations. 19 A wicked man tranſgreſſing the commandments of the Lord, ſhall fall into ſuretiſhip: and he that undertaketh, and followeth other mens buſineſs for gain, ſhall fall into ſuits. 20 Help thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thyſelf fall not into the ſame. 21 The chief thing for life is water, and bread, and cloathing, and an houſe to cover ſhame. 22 Better is the life of a poor man in a mean cottage, than delicate fare in another mans houſe. 23 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that thou hear not the reproach of thy houſe. 24 For it is a miſerable life to go from houſe to houſe: for where thou art a ſtranger, thou dareſt not open thy mouth. 25 Thou ſhalt entertain, and feaſt, and have no thanks: moreover, thou ſhalt hear bitter words: 26 Come, thou ſtranger, and furniſh a table, and feed me of that thou haſt ready; 27 Give place thou ſtranger, to an honourable man, my brother cometh to be lodged, and I have need of mine houſe. 28 Theſe things are grievous to a man of underſtanding: the upbraiding of houſe-room, and reproaching of the lender.

It is an undoubted Truth, that no Man was born for himſelf; and that if he has a larger Share of the Bleſſings of this Life than his Neighbour, he ought to be the more benevolent and communicative to thoſe who have Occaſion of his Aſſiſtance. But above all Things we are required to be juſt and upright in our Dealings, and punctual in the Performance of all our Contracts and Engagements. The contrary Practice is not only highly criminal in itſelf, and brings Diſhonour upon our Name and Character, but is frequently the Means of preventing the Beneficence of others, who, ſeeing how their Neighbours are cheated, defrauded, and maltreated for their Civility and Good-nature, with-hold their Hands from Good, becauſe they will not put it in another's Power to injure or uſe them ill.

If we ſee a Neighbour in Diſtreſs, it will be doing a friendly Office to become his Surety; however, herein we are to be very cautious and ſparing of our Friendſhip; for Suretiſhip has been the Ruin of many fine Eſtates, and beggar'd Numbers of brave Men. In ſuch Caſes therefore, we ſhould proportion our Kindneſs to our own Convenience, and the Limit of our Circumſtances.

CHAP. XXX.

Correction proper for Children. Health better than Wealth.

Ver. 1. HE that loveth his ſon, cauſeth him oft to feel the rod, that he may have joy of him in the end. 2 He that chaſtiſeth his ſon, ſhall have joy in him, and ſhall rejoice of him among his acquaintance. 3 He that teacheth his ſon, grieveth the enemy: and before his friends he ſhall rejoice of him. 4 Though his father die, yet he is as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like himſelf. 5 While he lived, he ſaw and rejoiced in him: and when he died, he was not ſorrowful. 6 He left behind him an avenger againſt his enemies, and one that ſhall requite kindneſs to his friends. 7 He that maketh too much of his ſon, ſhall bind up his wounds, and his bowels will be troubled at every cry. 8 An horſe not broken becometh head-ſtrong: and a child left to himſelf, will be wilful. 9 Cocker thy child, and he ſhall make thee afraid: play with him, and he will bring thee to heavineſs. 10 Laugh not with him, leſt thou have ſorrow with him, and leſt thou gnaſh thy teeth in the end. 11 Give him no liberty in his youth, and wink not at his follies. 12 Bow down his neck while he is young, and beat him on the ſides while he is a child, leſt he wax ſtubborn, and be diſobedient unto thee, and ſo bring ſorrow to thine heart. 13 Chaſtiſe thy ſon and hold him to labour, leſt his lewd behaviour be an offence unto thee. 14 Better is the poor, being ſound and ſtrong of conſtitution, than a rich man that is afflicted in his body. 15 Health and good eſtate of body are above all gold, and a ſtrong body above infinite wealth. 16 There is no riches above a ſound body, and no joy above the joy of the heart. 17 Death is better than a bitter life, or continual ſickneſs. 18 Delicates poured upon a mouth ſhut up, are as meſſes of meat ſet upon a grave. 19 What good doeth the offering unto an idol? for neither can it eat nor ſmell: ſo is he that is perſecuted of the Lord. 20 He ſeeth with his eyes, and groaneth, as an eunuch that embraceth a virgin, and ſigheth. 21 Give not over thy mind to heavineſs, and afflict not thyſelf in thine own counſel. 22 The gladneſs of the heart is the life of man, and the joyfulneſs of a man prolongeth his days. 23 Love thine own ſoul, and comfort thy heart, remove ſorrow far from thee: for ſorrow hath killed many, and there is no profit therein. 24 Envy and wrath ſhorten the life, and carefulneſs bringeth age before the time. 25 A cheerful and good heart will have a care of his meat and diet.

Childhood and Youth, before the Judgment is ſetled, and the Mind rightly formed, from a Knowledge of the World, for the true Perception of Things, are apt to run into Errors, Follies, and Extravagancies; and from an Ignorance of the bad Tendency of their Actions, think themſelves right, and ſo become headſtrong and ungovernable. Parents and Governors therefore, who, from their own long Experience, know the pernicious Conſequences of permitting Youth to entertain bad Principles, and of habituating themſelves to evil Cuſtoms and Practices, are to have a watchful Eye over their young Charge, and to ſtifle vicious Habits even in their very Birth. And where they meet with Humours and Diſpoſitions not tractable by mild Uſage, the ſeverer Methods of Correction are not only commendable but neceſſary.

Health is a Jewel above Price, and the Alacrity of the Heart diffuſes Pleaſure and Satisfaction thro' the whole Circumference of a Man's Life; but Sickneſs and Heavineſs of Mind make Life uncomfortable, and Death itſelf is more deſirable than an Exiſtence attended with the continual Gloom of Sorrow and Diſquietude. Let us then enjoy the Comforts and Gratifications that the World affords us; let us caſt Care and Sorrow behind us, and be innocently merry while Life and Opportunity permit.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of the Deſire of Riches. Moderation and Exact in eating, and drinking Wine.

Ver.

Ver. 1. WAtching for riches conſumeth the fleſh, and the care thereof driveth away ſleep. 2 Watching care will not let a man ſlumber, as a ſore diſeaſe breaketh ſleep. 3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and when he reſteth he is filled with delicates. 4 The poor laboureth in his poor eſtate, and when he leaveth off he is ſtill needy. 5 He that loveth gold, ſhall not be juſtified, and he that followeth corruption, ſhall have enough thereof. 6 Gold hath been the ruin of many, and their deſtruction was preſent. 7 It is a ſtumbling-block unto them that ſacrifice unto it, and every fool ſhall be taken therewith. 8 Bleſſed is the rich that is found without blemiſh, and hath not gone after gold. 9 Who is he? and we will call him bleſſed: for wonderful things hath he done among his people. 10 Who hath been tried thereby, and found perfect? then let him glory. Who might offend, and hath not offended? or done evil, and hath not done it? 11 His goods ſhall be eſtabliſhed, and the congregation ſhall declare his alms. 12 If thou ſit at a bountiful table, be not greedy upon it, and ſay not, There is much meat on it. 13 Remember that a wicked eye is an evil thing: and what is created more wicked than an eye? therefore it weepeth upon every occaſion. 14 Stretch not thine hand whitherſoever it looketh, and thruſt it not with him into the diſh. 15 Judge of thy neighbour by thyſelf: and be diſcreet in every point. 16 Eat as it becometh a man, thoſe things which are ſet before thee; and devour not, leſt thou be hated. 17 Leave off firſt for manners ſake; and be not unſatiable, leſt thou offend. 18 When thou ſitteſt among many, reach not thine hand out firſt of all. 19 A very little is ſufficient for a man well-nurtured, and he fetcheth not his wind ſhort upon his bed. 20 Sound ſleep cometh of moderate eating, he riſeth early, and his wits are with him: but the pain of watching, and choler, and pangs of the belly, are with an unſatiable man. 21 And if thou haſt been forced to eat, ariſe, go forth, vomit, and thou ſhalt have reſt. 22 My ſon, hear me, and deſpiſe me not, and at the laſt thou ſhalt find as I told thee: in all thy works be quick, ſo ſhall there no ſickneſs come unto thee. 23 Whoſo is liberal of his meat, men ſhall ſpeak well of him, and the report of his good houſekeeping will be believed. 24 But againſt him that is a niggard of his meat, the whole city ſhall murmur, and the teſtimonies of his niggardneſs ſhall not be doubted of. 25 Shew not thy valiantneſs in wine, for wine hath deſtroyed many. 26 The furnace proveth the edge by dipping: ſo doth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkenneſs. 27 Wine is as good as life to a man, if it be drunk moderately: what life is then to a man that is without wine? for it was made to make men glad. 28 Wine meaſurably drunk, and in ſeaſon, bringeth gladneſs of the heart, and cheerfulneſs of the mind. 29 But wine drunken with exceſs, maketh bitterneſs of the mind, with brawling and quarrelling. 30 Drunkenneſs increaſeth the rage of a fool till he offend: it diminiſheth ſtrength, and maketh wounds. 31 Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and deſpiſe him not in his mirth: give him no deſpiteful words, and preſs not upon him with urging him (to drink.)

An inordinate Purſuit of Riches is attended with a continual and reſtleſs Diſquiet; it impairs a Man's Health, waſtes his Fleſh, and ſuffers him not to enjoy the common Comforts of Life; it often puſhes him upon unjuſtifiable Actions, the Conſequences of which may prove his Deſtruction: But happy is he who gets his Riches with a Conſcience unblemiſhed, and knows how to make a right Uſe of his Wealth.

What follows is ſo plain and intelligible, that there needs no farther Comment or Explanation.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Duty of a Maſter of a Feaſt. Truſt in God only.

Ver. 1. IF thou be made the maſter [of a feaſt] lift not thyſelf up, but be among them as one of the reſt, take diligent care for them, and ſo ſit down. 2 And when thou haſt done all thy office, take thy place, that thou mayeſt be merry with them, and receive a crown for thy well-ordering of the feaſt. 3 Speak thou that art the elder, for it becometh thee, but with ſound judgment, and hinder not muſick. 4 Pour not out words where there is a muſician, and ſhew not forth wiſdom out of time. 5 A conſort of muſick in a banquet of wine, is as a ſignet of carbuncle ſet in gold. 6 As a ſignet of an emerald ſet in a work of gold, ſo is the melody of muſick with pleaſant wine. 7 Speak, young man, if there be need of thee: and yet ſcarcely when thou art twice aſked. 8 Let thy ſpeech be ſhort, comprehending much in few words; be as one that knoweth, and yet holdeth his tongue. 9 If thou be among great men, make not thyſelf equal with them; and when antient men are in place, uſe not many words. 10 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a ſhamefaced man ſhall go favour. 11 Riſe up betimes, and be not the laſt, but get thee home without delay. 12 There take thy paſtime, and do what thou wilt: but ſin not by proud ſpeech. 13 And for theſe things bleſs him that made thee, and hath repleniſhed thee with his good things. 14 Whoſo feareth the Lord will receive his diſcipline, and they that ſeek him early ſhall find favour. 15 He that ſeeketh the law, ſhall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat. 16 They that fear the Lord, ſhall find judgment, and ſhall kindle juſtice as a light. 17 A ſinful man will not be reproved, but findeth an excuſe according to his will. 18 A man of counſel will be conſiderate, but a ſtrange and proud man is not daunted with fear, even when of himſelf he hath done without counſel. 19 Do nothing without advice, and when thou haſt once done, repent not. 20 Go not in a way wherein thou mayeſt fall, and ſtumble not among the ſtones. 21 Be not confident in a plain way. 22 And beware of thine own children. 23 In every good work truſt thy own ſoul, for this is the keeping of the commandments. 24 He that believeth in the Lord taketh heed to the commandment, and he that truſteth in him, ſhall fare never the worſe.

When a Man is appointed Maſter of a Feaſt, he is not to reckon himſelf on the ſame Foot with his Gueſts, but rather as their Servant, till he has gone thro' every Part of his Office, and placed all Things in proper Order der and Decorum; then, indeed, he may take his Place, be merry with them, and receive the Applauſe which his Skill and Care to pleaſe them deſerve.

Muſick ſhould not be interrupted with Diſcourſe, for even Wiſdom, then, is unſeaſonable. The Harmony of Muſick chears and revives the Spirits, and affords as pleaſant a Banquet as Wine itſelf.

In ſpeaking we ſhall gain more Eſteem by a conciſe Diſcourſe, which comprehends a great deal in a few Words, and gives our Hearers Scope to exerciſe their own Thoughts, than by a long-winded Harangue, which leaves no Room for others, either to ſpeak or think on the ſame Subject. Modeſty in Words, as well as Behaviour, ſecures Reſpect from Seniors. Before we undertake any Thing we ſhould be well adviſed; and if we ſhould happen to miſcarry, we ſhall have the leſs Cauſe to repent, becauſe we have acted upon Principles, which, to us, appeared rational and well-grounded.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Safety of him that feareth the Lord. Times and Seaſons are of God. Men are in his Hands as Clay in the Hands of the Potter.

Ver. 1. THere ſhall no evil happen unto him that feareth the Lord, but in temptation even again he will deliver him. 2 A wiſe man hateth not the law; but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ſhip in a ſtorm. 3 A man of underſtanding truſteth in the law, and the law is faithful unto him as an oracle. 4 Prepare what to ſay, and ſo thou ſhalt be heard: and bind up inſtruction, and then make anſwer. 5 The heart of the fooliſh is like a cart-wheel: and his thoughts are like a rolling axle-tree. 6 A ſtallion horſe is as a mocking friend, he neigheth under every one that ſitteth upon him. 7 Why doth one day excel another, when as all the light of every day in the year is of the ſun? 8 By the knowledge of the Lord they were diſtinguiſhed, and he altered ſeaſons, and feaſts. 9 Some of them hath he made high days, and hallowed them, and ſome of them hath he made ordinary days. 10 And all men are from the ground, and Adam was created of earth. 11 In much knowledge the Lord hath divided them, and made their ways diverſe. 12 Some of them hath he bleſſed, and exalted, and ſome of them hath he ſanctified, and ſet near himſelf: but ſome of them hath he curſed, and brought low, and turned out of their places. 13 As the clay is in the potters hand to faſhion it at his pleaſure: ſo man is in the hand of him that made him, to render to them as liketh him beſt. 14 Good is ſet againſt evil, and life againſt death: ſo is the godly againſt the ſinner, and the ſinner againſt the godly. 15 So look upon all the works of the moſt High, and there are two and two, one againſt another. 16 I awaked up laſt of all, as one that gathereth after the grape-gatherers; by the bleſſing of the Lord I profited, and filled my wine-preſs like a gatherer of grapes. 17 Conſider that I laboured not for myſelf only, but for all them that ſeek learning. 18 Hear me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your ears, ye rulers of the congregation. 19 Give not thy ſon and wife, thy brother and friend, power over thee while thou liveſt, and give not thy goods to another: leſt it repent thee, and thou intreat for the ſame again. 20 As long as thou liveſt and haſt breath in thee, give not thyſelf over to any. 21 For better it is that thy children ſhould ſeek to thee, than that thou ſhouldeſt ſtand to their courteſy. 22 In all thy works keep to thyſelf the pre-eminence, leave not a ſtain in thine honour. 23 At the time when thou ſhalt end thy days, and finiſh thy life, diſtribute thine inheritance. 24 Fodder, a wand, and burdens are for the aſs: and bread, correction, and work for a ſervant. 25 If thou ſet thy ſervant thy labour, thou ſhalt find reſt: but if thou let him go idle, he ſhall ſeek liberty. 26 A yoke and a collar do bow the neck: ſo are tortures and torments for an evil ſervant. 27 Send him to labour that he be not idle: for idleneſs teacheth much evil. 28 Set him to work as is fit for him: if he be not obedient, put on more heavy fetters. 29 But be not exceſſive toward any, and without diſcretion do nothing. 30 If thou have a ſervant, let him be unto thee as thyſelf, becauſe thou haſt bought him with a price. 31 If thou have a ſervant, entreat him as a brother: for thou haſt need of him, as of thine own ſoul: if thou entreat him evil, and he run from thee, which way wilt thou go to ſeek him?

A Man who fears the Lord is ſufficiently ſecured againſt all poſſible Evils, and he who makes the Law the Rule of his Actions, needs no ſurer Guide, or a better Counſellor. The Fool is eaſily diſtinguiſhed from the wiſe Man by his Diſcourſe; the firſt ſpeaks always what comes uppermoſt, but the other weighs and conſiders what he has to ſay, and never returns an Anſwer before he is ſatisfied it is proper.

Every Day, conſidered naturally, and in the Order and Succeſſion of Time, is alike; and the Reaſon why one Day is more honoured than another, why one is appointed for a Feſtival, and another for Work; proceeds from God, who has the ſole Direction of Times and Seaſons.

The Obſervation of the Son of Sirach is very juſt, and verified by daily Experience, that we ought not to put ourſelves in the Power of our Relations and Friends, by a too early, and too liberal a Diſtribution of our Subſtance among them; it will be Time enough, when Death comes, to give away that which, once parted with, is hard to be regained.

A Servant ſhould be conſtantly employed; for Idleneſs will give him Leiſure to think on the Sweets of Freedom, and perhaps an Opportunity to leave his Service; yet we muſt not make his Labour unreaſonably grievous, but to treat him as a Fellow-creature, and of the ſame Species with ourſelves.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Of Dreams. The Praiſe and Bleſſing of them that fear the Lord.

Ver. 1. THE hopes of a man void of underſtanding, are vain and falſe: and dreams lift up fools. 2 Whoſo regardeth dreams, is like him that catcheth at a ſhadow, and followeth after the wind. 3 The viſion of dreams is the reſemblance of one thing to another, even as the likeneſs of a face to a face. 4 Of an unclean thing, what can be cleanſed? and from that thing which is falſe, what truth can come? 5 Divinations, and ſoothſayings, and dreams are vain, and the heart fancieth as a womans heart in travail. 6 If they be not ſent from the moſt High in thy viſitation, ſet not thy heart upon them. 7 For dreams have deceived many, and they have failed that put their truſt in them. 8 The law ſhall be found perfect without lies: and wiſdom is perfection to a faithful mouth. 9 A man that hath travelled, knoweth many things: and he that hath much experience will declare wiſdom. 10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little: but he that hath travelled, is full of prudence. 11 When I travelled, I ſaw many things, and I underſtand more than I can expreſs. 12 I was oft-times in danger of death: yet I was delivered becauſe of theſe things. 13 The ſpirit of thoſe that fear the Lord ſhall live, for their hope is in him that ſaveth them. 14 Whoſo feareth the Lord, ſhall not fear nor be afraid, for he is his hope. 15 Bleſſed is the ſoul of him that feareth the Lord: to whom doth he look? and who is his ſtrength? 16 For the eyes of the Lord are upon them that love him, he is their mighty protection and ſtrong ſtay, a defence from heat, and a cover from the ſun at noon, a preſervation from ſtumbling, and a help from falling. 17 He raiſeth up the ſoul, and lighteneth the eyes: he giveth health, life, and bleſſing. 18 He that ſacrificeth of a thing wrongfully gotten, his offering is ridiculous: and the gifts of unjuſt men are not accepted. 19 The moſt High is not pleaſed with the offerings of the wicked; neither is he pacified for ſin by the multitude of ſacrifices. 20 Whoſo bringeth an offering of the goods of the poor, doeth as one that killeth the ſon before his fathers eyes. 21 The bread of the needy is their life: he that defraudeth him thereof is a man of blood. 22 He that taketh away his neighbours living, ſlayeth him: and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodſhedder. 23 When one buildeth, and another pulleth down, what profit have they then but labour? 24 When one prayeth, and another curſeth, whoſe voice will the Lord hear? 25 He that waſheth himſelf after the touching of a dead body, if he touch it again, what availeth his waſhing? 26 So is it with a man that faſteth for his ſins, and goeth again, and doeth the ſame: who will hear his prayer? or what doth his humbling profit him?

As Dreams are no more than the Sportings of Fancy, and the Vagaries of the Imagination, when the Senſes are at Reſt, he who pretends to prognoſticate either Good or Ill from them, deceives himſelf, and puts his Confidence in that which hath nothing to ſupport it: Unleſs the Almighty, for ſome important Reaſon, impreſſes the Soul by a divine Impulſe; then indeed, we ought to conſider and weigh the Nature of our Dream, and what it is God intends to reveal to us by it.

A Man that travels has many Opportunities of treaſuring up Knowledge; and his Wiſdom, which is the Reſult of a well-digeſted Experience, inſtructs him to avoid thoſe Dangers, which the Want of it would expoſe him to.

Of ſmall Value is that Sacrifice which is not accompanied with the Heart and Good-will of the Offerer; God has more Regard to the Integrity of a righteous Man than to the Multitude of Oblations offered by the Wicked.

CHAP. XXXV.

Of Sacrifices, Prayer, and Humility.

Ver. 1. HE that keepeth the law, bringeth offerings enough: he that taketh heed to the commandment, offereth a peace-offering. 2 He that requiteth a good turn, offereth fine flour: and he that giveth alms, ſacrificeth praiſe. 3 To depart from wickedneſs is a thing pleaſing to the Lord, and to forſake unrighteouſneſs is a propitiation. 4 Thou ſhalt not appear empty before the Lord. 5 For all theſe things [are to be done] becauſe of the commandment. 6 The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the ſweet ſavour thereof is before the moſt High. 7 The ſacrifice of a juſt man is acceptable, and the memorial thereof ſhall never be forgotten. 8 Give the Lord his honour with a good eye, and diminiſh not the firſt-fruits of thine hands. 9 In all thy gifts ſhew a cheerful countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladneſs. 10 Give unto the moſt High according as he hath enriched thee, and as thou haſt gotten, give with a cheerful eye. 11 For the Lord recompenſeth, and will give thee ſeven times as much. 12 Do not think to corrupt with gifts, for ſuch he will not receive: and truſt not to unrighteous ſacrifices, for the Lord is judge, and with him is no reſpect of perſons. 13 He will not accept any perſon againſt a poor man, but will hear the prayer of the oppreſſed. 14 He will not deſpiſe the ſupplication of the fatherleſs: nor the widow when ſhe poureth out her complaint. 15 Do not the tears run down the widows cheeks? and is not her cry againſt him that cauſeth them to fall? 16 He that ſerveth the Lord ſhall be accepted with favour, and his prayer ſhall reach unto the clouds. 17 The prayer of the humble pierceth the clouds: and till it come nigh, he will not be comforted: and will not depart till the moſt High ſhall behold to judge righteouſly, and execute judgment. 18 For the Lord will not be ſlack, neither will the Mighty be patient towards them, till he have ſmitten in ſunder the loins of the unmerciful, and repayed vengeance to the heathen; till he have taken away the multitude of the proud, and broken the ſceptre of the unrighteous; 19 Till he have rendred to every man according to his deeds, and to the works of men according to their devices; till he have judged the cauſe of his people, and made them to rejoice in his mercy. 20 Mercy is ſeaſonable in the time of affliction, as clouds of rain in the time of drought.

God takes greater Pleaſure in the good Deeds of a righteous Man, than in the richeſt Sacrifices of the Wicked: For, tho' the Law commands Propitiation of divers Kinds, yet if they are not made in the Sincerity of the Heart and with a cheerful Mind, they avail nothing to anſwer the End propoſed by them, namely, an Atonement for Sins. In vain therefore would the Wicked hope, from the Multitude and Richneſs of their Offerings, to appeaſe the Deity, or to expect his Favour and Countenance in their impious Deſigns. Their Petitions ſhall be rejected, at the ſame Time the Prayers and Supplications of the Widow and poor Man ſhall obtain a favourable Hearing and Reception, and the Almighty will judge their Cauſe, and puniſh their Oppreſſors according to their Deſerts.

CHAP. XXXVI.

A Prayer for the Church againſt its Enemies.

Ver. 1. HAVE mercy upon us, O Lord God of all: and behold us: 2 And ſend thy fear upon all the nations that ſeek not after thee. 3 Lift up thy hand againſt the ſtrange nations, and let them ſee thy power. 4 As thou waſt ſanctified in us before them: ſo be thou magnified among them before us. 5 And let them know thee, as we have known thee, that there there is no God, but only thou, O God. 6 Shew new ſigns, and make other ſtrange wonders: glorify thy hand and thy right arm, that they may ſet forth thy wondrous works. 7 Raiſe up indignation, and pour out wrath: take away the adverſary, and deſtroy the enemy. 8 Make the time ſhort, remember the covenant, and let them declare thy wonderful works. 9 Let him that eſcapeth be conſumed by the rage of the fire, and let them periſh that oppreſs the people. 10 Smite in ſunder the heads of the rulers of the heathen, that ſay, There is none other but we. 11 Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, and inherit thou them, as from the beginning. 12 O Lord have mercy upon the people that is called by thy name, and upon Iſrael, whom thou haſt named thy firſt-born. 13 O be merciful unto Jeruſalem, thy holy city, the place of thy reſt. 14 Fill Sion with thine unſpeakable oracles, and thy people with thy glory. 15 Give teſtimony unto thoſe that thou haſt poſſeſſed from the beginning, and raiſe up prophets that have been in thy name. 16 Reward them that wait for thee, and let thy prophets be found faithful. 17 O Lord hear the prayer of thy ſervants according to the bleſſing of Aaron over thy people, that all they which dwell upon the earth may know that thou art the Lord, the eternal God. 18 The belly devoureth all meats, yet is one meat better than another. 19 As the palate taſteth divers kinds of veniſon: ſo doth an heart of underſtanding falſe ſpeeches. 20 A froward heart cauſeth heavineſs: but a man of experience will recompenſe him. 21 A woman will receive every man, yet is one daughter better than another. 22 The beauty of a woman cheereth the countenance, and a man loveth nothing better. 23 If there be kindneſs, meekneſs, and comfort in her tongue, then is not her huſband like other men. 24 He that getteth a wife, beginneth a poſſeſſion, a help like unto himſelf, and a pillar of reſt. 25 Where no hedge is, there the poſſeſſion is ſpoiled: and he that hath no wife, will wander up and down mourning. 26 Who will truſt a thief well-appointed, that ſkippeth from city to city? ſo [who will believe] a man that hath no houſe, and lodgeth whereſoever the night taketh him?

The Author prays to God, that he would ſpread the Fear and Knowledge of himſelf among the Heathen Nations that were ignorant of him; that he would manifeſt to them ſome evident Tokens of his Omnipotence, his Majeſty, and glorious Attributes; that they may be induced to acknowledge his Exiſtence from his Works, and to glorify his Name from the wonderful Effects of his Power.

We need not enlarge on the other Particulars of this Chapter, which are all plain and eaſily underſtood; and therefore ſhall conclude, with the Author's Obſervation, Ver. 24. that a Man is never ſaid to be truely ſetled in the World till he gets a Wife. The conjugal State is undoubtedly the Source of every Bleſſing to particular Perſons, and the Cement of Society; from thence Settlements, Poſſeſſions, and Eſtates commence, Families are united, and the Publick is furniſhed with uſeful Members, and general Benefits: But a ſingle Life is a deſtitute, joyleſs, and forlorn Condition; neither comfortable in itſelf, nor uſeful to Society.

CHAP. XXXVII.

How to know Friends and Counſellors.

Ver. 1. EVery friend ſaith, I am his friend alſo: but there is a friend which is only a friend in name. 2 Is it not a grief unto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy? 3 O wicked imagination, whence cameſt thou in to cover the earth with deceit? 4 There is a companion which rejoiceth in the proſperity of a friend: but in the time of trouble will be againſt him. 5 There is a companion which helpeth his friend for the belly, and taketh up the buckler againſt the enemy. 6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, and be not unmindful of him in thy riches. 7 Every counſellor extolleth himſelf; but there is ſome that counſeleth for himſelf. 8 Beware of a counſellor, and know before what need he hath, (for he will counſel for himſelf) leſt he caſt the lot upon thee: 9 And ſay unto thee, Thy way is good: and afterward he ſtand on the other ſide, to ſee what ſhall befal thee. 10 Conſult not with one that ſuſpecteth thee: and hide thy counſel from ſuch as envy thee. 11 Neither conſult with a woman, touching her of whom ſhe is jealous; neither with a coward, in matters of war; nor with a merchant, concerning exchange; nor with a buyer, of ſelling; nor with an envious man, of thankfulneſs; nor with an unmerciful man, touching kindneſs; nor with the ſlothful, for any work; nor with an hireling for a year, of finiſhing work; nor with an idle ſervant, of much buſineſs: Hearken not unto theſe in any matter of counſel. 12 But be continually with a godly man, whom thou knoweſt to keep the commandments of the Lord, whoſe mind is according to thy mind, and will ſorrow with thee, if thou ſhalt miſcarry. 13 And let the counſel of thine own heart ſtand: for there is no man more faithful unto thee than it. 14 For a mans mind is ſometimes wont to tell him more than ſeven watchmen, that ſit above in an high tower. 15 And above all this, pray to the moſt High, that he will direct thy way in truth. 16 Let reaſon go before every enterprize, and counſel before every action. 17 The countenance is a ſign of changing of the heart. 18 Four manner of things appear: good and evil, life and death: but the tongue ruleth over them continually. 19 There is one that is wiſe, and teacheth many, and yet is unprofitable to himſelf. 20 There is one that ſheweth wiſdom in words, and is hated: he ſhall be deſtitute of all food. 21 For grace is not given him from the Lord: becauſe he is deprived of all wiſdom. 22 Another is wiſe to himſelf: and the fruits of underſtanding are commendable in his mouth. 23 A wiſe man inſtructeth his people, and the fruits of his underſtanding fail not. 24 A wiſe man ſhall be filled with bleſſing, and all they that ſee him ſhall count him happy. 25 The days of the life of man may be numbred: but the days of Iſrael are innumerable. 26 A wiſe man ſhall inherit glory among his people, and his name ſhall be perpetual. 27 My ſon, prove thy ſoul in thy life, and ſee what is evil for it, and give not that unto it. 28 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath every ſoul pleaſure in every thing. 29 Be not unſatiable in any dainty thing, nor too greedy upon meats: 30 For exceſs of meats bringeth ſickneſs, and ſurfeiting will turn into choler. 31 By ſurfeiting have many periſhed, but he that that taketh heed, prolongeth his life.

Various are the Profeſſions of Friendſhip; one, you will ſee, full of his Compliments of Devotion to your Service, but they are no more than mere Compliments; another will be thy Friend in Proſperity, but in Adverſity will forget his former Profeſſions, and, perhaps, turn to be thine Enemy; a third will help his Friend in getting a Subſiſtence for the Support of Life, and defend him againſt his Enemy, and him you may put in the Liſt of Friends: But he, who, by a happy Turn in his Fortune, is raiſed from adverſe to proſperous Circumſtances, yet retains a grateful Remembrance of thoſe Acts of Kindneſs which he received from thee in his Adverſity; he is the Man that deſerves thy Eſteem, and is truely worthy the Name of a Friend.

In Affairs of Moment and Difficulty, it's certainly right to conſult thoſe, who, from their known Experience, are moſt likely to give us the beſt Advice: But yet, there are ſo many who have By-ends and Self-intereſts to ſerve, that, it's great Odds, but the Counſel they give is calculated more to ſerve themſelves than us. The beſt Method, therefore, we can take in this Caſe is, to apply ourſelves to Men of Integrity, ſuch who we have Reaſon to believe, are really concerned for our Welfare: Yet let us not forget to weigh and conſider every Thing in our own Minds; for Nobody can give us more diſintereſted Advice than our own Hearts.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

The Phyſician to be honoured. How Wiſdom is obtained, and how not.

Ver. 1. HOnour a phyſician with the honour due unto him, for the uſes which you may have of him: for the Lord hath created him. 2 For of the moſt High cometh healing, and he ſhall receive honour of the king. 3 The ſkill of the phyſician ſhall lift up his head: and in the ſight of great men he ſhall be in admiration. 4 The Lord hath created medicines out of the earth; and he that is wiſe will not abhor them. 5 Was not the water made ſweet with wood, that the virtue thereof might be known? 6 And he hath given men ſkill, that he might be honoured in his marvellous works. 7 With ſuch doth he heal [men] and taketh away their pains. 8 Of ſuch doth the apothecary make a confection; and of his works there is no end, and from him is peace over all the earth. 9 My ſon, in thy ſickneſs be not negligent: but pray unto the Lord, and he will make thee whole. 10 Leave off from ſin, and order thy hands aright, and cleanſe thy heart from all wickedneſs. 11 Give a ſweet ſavour, and a memorial of fine flour: and make a fat offering, as not being. 12 Then give place to the phyſician, for the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou haſt need of him. 13 There is a time when in their hands there is good ſucceſs. 14 For they ſhall alſo pray unto the Lord, that he would proſper that which they give, for eaſe and remedy to prolong life. 15 He that ſinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hand of the phyſician. 16 My ſon, let tears fall down over the dead, and begin to lament as if thou hadſt ſuffered great harm thyſelf: and then cover his body according to the cuſtom, and neglect not his burial. 17 Weep bitterly, and make great moan, and uſe lamentation as he is worthy, and that a day or two, leſt thou be evil-ſpoken of: and then comfort thyſelf for thy heavineſs. 18 For of heavineſs cometh death, and the heavineſs of the heart breaketh ſtrength. 19 In affliction alſo ſorrow remaineth: and the life of the poor is the curſe of the heart. 20 Take no heavineſs to heart: drive it away, and remember the laſt end. 21 Forget it not, for there is no turning again: thou ſhalt not do him good, but hurt thyſelf. 22 Remember my judgment: for thine alſo ſhall be ſo; yeſterday for me, and to day for thee. 23 When the dead is at reſt, let his remembrance reſt, and be comforted for him, when his ſpirit is departed from him. 24 The wiſdom of a learned man cometh by opportunity of leiſure: and he that hath little buſineſs, ſhall become wiſe. 25 How can he get wiſdom that holdeth the plough, and that glorieth in the goad; that driveth oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and whoſe talk is of bullocks? 26 He giveth his mind to make furrows: and is diligent to give the kine fodder. 27 So every carpenter and work-maſter, that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and grave ſeals, and are diligent to make great variety, and give themſelves to counterfeit imagery, and watch to finiſh a work. 28 The ſmith alſo ſitting by the anvil, and conſidering the iron work, the vapour of the fire waſteth his fleſh, and he fighteth with the heat of the furnace: the noiſe of the hammer and the anvil is ever in his ears, and his eyes look ſtill upon the pattern of the thing that he maketh; he ſetteth his mind to finiſh his work, and watcheth to poliſh it perfectly. 29 So doth the potter ſitting at his work, and turning the wheel about with his feet, who is alway carefully ſet at his work: and maketh all his work by number. 30 He faſhioneth the clay with his arm, and boweth down his ſtrength before his feet; he applieth himſelf to lead it over; and he is diligent to make clean the furnace. 31 All theſe truſt to their hands: and every one is wiſe in his work. 32 Without theſe cannot a city be inhabited: and they ſhall not dwell where they will, nor go up and down. 33 They ſhall not be ſought for in publick counſel, nor ſit high in the congregation: they ſhall not ſit on the judges ſeat, nor underſtand the ſentence of judgment: they cannot declare juſtice and judgment, and they ſhall not be found where parables are ſpoken. 34 But they will maintain the ſtate of the world, and [all] their deſire is in the work of their craft.

A ſkilful Phyſician deſerves Honour and Reſpect; for the Benefits we receive from his excellent Knowledge and Judgment. By his Skill, Herbs and Minerals are made to contribute to the Health of Man, Recovery from Sickneſs is effected, and Life reſtored.

A decent Mourning for the Dead is very becoming; but exceſſive Grief, and too long a Continuance in it, is prejudicial to the Health. We ſhould therefore conſider that our Sorrow can be of no Service to him who is at reſt in his Grave; but that too much of it may bring us thither before our Time.

'Tis by Leiſure, Retirement, and Obſervation, that the learned Man acquires Wiſdom: No Wonder then, if they who follow the Plough, and ſuch as are in mechanical Employments, are deſtitute of it; they have indeed Sagacity enough to perform ſkilfully what belongs to their proper Occupation: But with reſpect to publick Counſels, the Deciſion of Controverſies, the Determination of Juſtice, and the Intricacies of Parables, as they have not the requiſite Qualifications, ſo their Opinions or Aſſiſtance are never aſked in Matters of this Nature, becauſe they were never converſant in them.

CHAP.

CHAP. XXXIX.

A Deſcription of him that is truely wiſe.

Ver. 1. BUT he that giveth his mind to the law of the moſt High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, will ſeek out the wiſdom of all the antient, and be occupied in prophecies. 2 He will keep the ſayings of the renowned men: and where ſubtil parables are, he will be there alſo. 3 He will ſeek out the ſecrets of grave ſentences, and be converſant in dark parables. 4 He ſhall ſerve among great men, and appear before princes: he will travel through ſtrange countries, for he hath tried the good and the evil among men. 5 He will give his heart to reſort early to the Lord that made him, and will pray before the moſt High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and make ſupplication for his ſins. 6 When the great Lord will, he ſhall be filled with the ſpirit of underſtanding: he ſhall pour out wiſe ſentences, and give thanks unto the Lord in his prayer. 7 He ſhall direct his counſel and knowledge, and in his ſecrets ſhall he meditate. 8 He ſhall ſhew forth that which he hath learned, and ſhall glory in the law of the covenant of the Lord. 9 Many ſhall commend his underſtanding, and ſo long as the world endureth, it ſhall not be blotted out, his memorial ſhall not depart away, and his name ſhall live from generation to generation. 10 Nations ſhall ſhew forth his wiſdom, and the congregation ſhall declare his praiſe. 11 If he die, he ſhall leave a greater name than a thouſand: and if he live, he ſhall increaſe it. 12 Yet have I more to ſay which I have thought upon, for I am filled as the moon at the full. 13 Hearken unto me, ye holy children, and bud forth as a roſe growing by the brook of the field: 14 And give ye a ſweet ſavour as frankincenſe, and flouriſh as a lily, ſend forth a ſmell, and ſing a ſong of praiſe, bleſs the Lord in all his works. 15 Magnify his name, and ſhew forth his praiſe with the ſongs of your lips, and with harps, and in praiſing him you ſhall ſay after this manner: 16 All the works of the Lord are exceeding good, and whatſoever he commandeth ſhall be accompliſhed in due ſeaſon. 17 And none may ſay, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time convenient they ſhall all be ſought out: at his commandment the waters ſtood as an heap, and at the words of his mouth the receptacles of waters. 18 At his commandment is done whatſoever pleaſeth him, and none can hinder when he will ſave. 19 The works of all fleſh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes. 20 He ſeeth from everlaſting to everlaſting; and there is nothing wonderful before him. 21 A man need not to ſay, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their uſes. 22 His bleſſing covered the dry land as a river, and watered it as a flood. 23 As he hath turned the waters into ſaltneſs: ſo ſhall the heathen inherit his wrath. 24 As his ways are plain unto the holy, ſo are they ſtumbling-blocks unto the wicked. 25 For the good are good things created from the beginning: ſo evil things for ſinners. 26 The principal things for the whole uſe of mans life, are water, fire, iron, and ſalt, flour of wheat, honey, milk, and the blood of the grape, and oil, and clothing. 27 All theſe things are for good to the godly: ſo to the ſinners they are turned into evil. 28 There be ſpirits that are created for vengeance, which in their fury lay on ſore ſtrokes, in the time of deſtruction they pour out their force, and appeaſe the wrath of him that made them. 29 Fire and hail, and famine and death, all theſe were created for vengeance; 30 Teeth of wild beaſts, and ſcorpions, ſerpents, and the ſword, puniſhing the wicked to deſtruction. 31 They ſhall rejoice in his commandment, and they ſhall be ready upon earth when need is, and when their time is come, they ſhall not tranſgreſs his word. 32 Therefore from the beginning I was reſolved, and thought upon theſe things, and have left them in writing. 33 All the works of the Lord are good: and he will give every needful thing in due ſeaſon. 34 So that a man cannot ſay, This is worſe than that: for in time they ſhall all be well approved. 35 And therefore praiſe ye the Lord with the whole heart and mouth, and bleſs the name of the Lord.

A truely wiſe Man employs himſelf in the Law of God, in ſtudying the Philoſophy of the Antients, the Meaning and Purport of Prophecies, and attending to the Parables and wiſe Maxims of great Men. His Wiſdom entitles him to the Company of Princes, and commands Reſpect in moſt remote and barbarous Parts of the World; in publick Aſſemblies it will bring him into high Repute; it will get him an honourable Name while living, and embalm his Memorial in the Grave.

The Author having beſtowed theſe high Encomiums on Wiſdom, makes an abrupt Addreſs to the holy Children to join in Songs of Praiſe to God, the Matter and Subſtance of which he has ſet before them.

To make Diſtinctions in the Works of God, and to call one good and another bad, is profane and impious: For, if we wait awhile, till God has wrought the Iſſue of them which he deſigned, we ſhall pronounce them all equally worthy of him.

CHAP. XL.

Many are the Miſeries of Life. The Reward of Unrighteouſneſs.

Ver. 1. GReat travel is created for every man, and an heavy yoke is upon the ſons of Adam, from the day that they go out of their mothers womb, till the day that they return to the mother of all things. 2 Their imagination of things to come, and the day of death [trouble] their thoughts, and [cauſe] fear of heart. 3 From him that ſitteth on a throne of glory, unto him that is humbled in earth and aſhes; 4 From him that weareth purple, and a crown, unto him that is cloathed with a linen frock. 5 Wrath and envy, trouble and unquietneſs, fear of death, and anger and ſtrife, and in the time of reſt upon his bed his night-ſleep do change his knowledge. 6 A little or nothing is his reſt, and afterward he is in his ſleep, as in a day of keeping watch, troubled in the viſion of his heart, as if he were eſcaped out of a battel: 7 When all is ſafe, he awaketh, and marveleth that the fear was nothing. 8 [Such things happen] unto all fleſh, both man and beaſt, and that is ſeven-fold more upon ſinners. 9 Death and bloodſhed, ſtrife and ſword, calamities, famine, tribulation, and the ſcourge; 10 These things are created for the wicked, and for their

ſakes came the flood. 11 All things that are of the earth, ſhall turn to the earth again: and that which is of the waters doth return into the ſea. 12 All bribery and injuſtice ſhall be blotted out: but true dealing ſhall endure for ever. 13 The goods of the unjuſt ſhall be dried up like a river, and ſhall vaniſh with a noiſe like a great thunder in rain. 14 While he openeth his hand, he ſhall rejoice: ſo ſhall tranſgreſſors come to nought. 15 The children of the ungodly ſhall not bring forth many branches: but are as unclean roots upon a hard rock. 16 The weed growing upon every water, and bank of a river, ſhall be pulled up before all graſs. 17 Bountifulneſs is as a moſt fruitful garden, and mercifulneſs endureth for ever. 18 To labour, and to be content with that a man hath, is a ſweet life: but he that findeth a treaſure is above them both. 19 Children, and the building of a city continue a mans name: but a blameleſs wife is counted above them both. 20 Wine and muſick rejoice the heart: but the love of wiſdom is above them both. 21 The pipe and the pſaltery make ſweet melody: but a pleaſant tongue is above them both. 22 Thine eye deſireth favour and beauty: but more than both, corn while it is green. 23 A friend and companion never meet amiſs: but above both is a wife with her huſband. 24 Brethren and help are againſt time of trouble: but alms ſhall deliver more than them both. 25 Gold and ſilver make the foot ſtand ſure: but counſel is eſteemed above them both. 26 Riches and ſtrength lift up the heart: but the fear of the Lord is above them both: there is no want in the fear of the Lord, and it needeth not to ſeek help. 27 The fear of the Lord is a fruitful garden, and covereth him above all glory. 28 My ſon, lead not a beggars life, for better it is to die than to beg. 29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he polluteth himſelf with other mens meat, but a wiſe man well nurtured will beware thereof. 30 Begging is ſweet in the mouth of the ſhameleſs: but in his belly there ſhall burn a fire.

The Life of Man is a perpetual Round of Care, Vexation and Trouble. If a Man is ſo happy as to enjoy a perfect Calm, and is entirely freed from all the Anxieties and Calamities of Life, yet the Fear of Death, and the Apprehenſion of what may befal him hereafter, keep him in a continual Uneaſineſs; from the Throne to the Dunghil there is, in this Reſpect, no Difference; all are alike ſubject to the Diſquietudes of the Mind, and Afflictions in the Body, but all which fall with ſuper-added Weight upon a ſinful Soul.

From Ver. 12. to the End of the Chapter, we have many uſeful Maxims and Obſervations, beautifully ſet off and deſcribed by way of Contraſte or Antitheſis, which is the cleareſt Method of illuſtrating the Truth of a Propoſition.

CHAP. XLI.

Death, by whom dreaded. The Ungodly accurſed.

Ver. 1. O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liveth at reſt in his poſſeſſions, unto the man that hath nothing to vex him, and that hath proſperity in all things; yea, unto him that is yet able to receive meat! 2 O death, acceptable is thy ſentence unto the needy, and unto him whoſe ſtrength faileth, that is now in the laſt age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that deſpaireth, and hath loſt patience. 3 Fear not the ſentence of death, remember them that have been before thee, and that come after, for this is the ſentence of the Lord over all fleſh. 4 And why art thou againſt the pleaſure of the moſt High? there is no inquiſition in the grave, whether thou have lived ten, or an hundred, or a thouſand years. 5 The children of ſinners are abominable children, and they that are converſant in the dwelling of the ungodly. 6 The inheritance of ſinners children ſhall periſh, and their poſterity ſhall have a perpetual reproach. 7 The children will complain of an ungodly father, becauſe they ſhall be reproached for his ſake. 8 Woe be unto you ungodly men, which have forſaken the law of the moſt high God: for if you increaſe, it ſhall be to your deſtruction. 9 And if you be born, you ſhall be born to a curſe: and if you die, a curſe ſhall be your portion. 10 All that are of the earth ſhall turn to the earth again: ſo the ungodly ſhall go from a curſe to deſtruction. 11 The mourning of men is about their bodies: but an ill name of ſinners ſhall be blotted out. 12 Have regard to thy name: for that ſhall continue with thee above a thouſand great treaſures of gold. 13 A good life hath but few days: but a good name endureth for ever. 14 My children, keep diſcipline in peace: for wiſdom that is hid, and a treaſure that is not ſeen, what profit is in them both? 15 A man that hideth his fooliſhneſs, is better than a man that hideth his wiſdom. 16 Therefore be ſhamefaced according to my word: for it is not good to retain all ſhamefacedneſs, neither is it altogether approved in every thing. 17 Be aſhamed of whoredom before father and mother, and of a lie before a prince, and a mighty man: 18 Of an offence before a judge and ruler, of iniquity before a congregation and people, of unjuſt dealing before thy partner and friend: 19 And of theft in regard of the place where thou ſojourneſt, and in regard of the truth of God and his covenant; and to lean with thine elbow upon the meat, and of ſcorning to give and take: 20 And of ſilence before them that ſalute thee, and to look upon an harlot: 21 And to turn away thy face from thy kinſman, or to take away a portion or a gift, or to gaze upon another mans wife. 22 Or to be over-buſy with his maid, and come not near her bed; or of upbraiding ſpeeches before friends: and after thou haſt given, upbraid not: 23 Or of iterating and ſpeaking again that which thou haſt heard, and of revealing of ſecrets. 24 So ſhalt thou be truly ſhamefaced, and find favour before all men.

When a Man is in the Height of his Proſperity, in the full Poſſeſſion of Riches and the Abundance of all temporal Bleſſings, and has nothing to fear, and nothing to moleſt or diſturb him in the quiet and uninterrupted Fruition of whatever this World can produce for the Gratification of his moſt unbounded Appetites; how grating muſt the Conſideration be, that Death will as certainly once deprive him of them all, as that he now enjoys them in their fulleſt Extent? On the contrary, how welcome is Death to him whoſe Age and Infirmities, whoſe Diſtreſſes, Poverty, and Misfortunes have rendered Life irkſome, grievous, and undeſirable? But as we know Death is certain and inevitable, and that it's appointed to all Fleſh by the omnipotent Creator of the World; to desire an Exemption from it, is to oppose the declared Will of the Almighty, and the wise and unalterable Dispositions of his Providence in the Government of the World; and all this to gratify the petulant Humour of a sinful wretched Man.

CHAP. XLII.

Things of which we should not be ashamed. Beware of a Woman.

Ver. 1. OF these things be not thou ashamed, and accept no person to sin thereby: 2 Of the law of the most High, and his covenant, and of judgment to justify the ungodly: 3 Of reckoning with thy partners, and travellers, or of the gift of the heritage of friends: 4 Of exactness of balance and weights, or of getting much or little: 5 And of merchants indifferent selling, of much correction of children, and to make the side of an evil servant to bleed. 6 Sure keeping is good where an evil wife is, and shut up where many hands are. 7 Deliver all things in number and weight, and put all in writing that thou givest out, or receivest in. 8 Be not ashamed to inform the unwise and foolish, and the extreme aged that contendeth with those that are young: thus shalt thou be truly learned, and approved of all men living. 9 The father waketh for the daughter, when no man knoweth, and the care of her taketh away sleep: when she is young, lest she pass away the flour of her age; and being married, lest she should be hated: 10 In her virginity, lest she should be defiled and gotten with child in her fathers house; and having an husband, lest she should misbehave herself; and when she is married, lest she should be barren. 11 Keep a sure watch over a shameless daughter, lest she make thee a laughing-stock to thine enemies, and a by word in the city, and a reproach among the people, and make thee ashamed before the multitude. 12 Behold not every bodies beauty, and sit not in the midst of women. 13 For from garments cometh a moth, and from women wickedness. 14 Better is the churlishness of a man, than a courteous woman, a woman, I say, which bringeth shame and reproach. 15 I will now remember the works of the Lord, and declare the things that I have seen: In the words of the Lord are his works. 16 The sun that giveth light, looketh upon all things, and the work thereof is full of the glory of the Lord. 17 The Lord hath not given power to the saints, to declare all his marvellous works, which the almighty Lord firmly setled, that whatsoever is, might be established for his glory. 18 He seeketh out the deep, and the heart, and considereth their crafty devices: for the Lord knoweth all that may be known, and he beholdeth the signs of the world. 19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and revealeth the steps of hidden things. 20 No thought escapeth him, neither any word is hidden from him. 21 He hath garnished the excellent works of his wisdom, and he is from everlasting to everlasting: unto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished, and he hath no need of any counsellor. 22 Oh how desirable are all his works! and that a man may see even to a spark. 23 All these things live and remain for ever, for all uses, and they are all obedient. 24 All things are double one against another: and he hath made nothing unperfect. 25 One thing establisheth the good of another: and who shall be filled with beholding his glory?

That no Persons, by thy Bashfulness, have Reason to confirm themselves in their Sins and Errors, thou shouldest never be ashamed to make an open Profession of the Law of God, of balancing Accounts with those with whom thou hast Concerns, of being scrupulously just in Trade, of acquiring an honest Livelihood, of correcting Children, or of beating a bad Servant. If thou wouldest not have thy Goods embezzled, either by an extravagant Wife or a purloining Family, secure them under Locks and Keys, take an exact Account of them in Writing, and deliver them proportionably as they are wanted. Folly should always meet thy Rebuke, nor shouldest thou be ashamed to reprove thy Seniors in Years, when thou seest them re-acting the Extravagance and Wildness of Youth.

CHAP. XLIII.

All the Works of God are exceeding glorious.

Ver. 1. THE pride of the height, the clear firmament, the beauty of heaven, with his glorious shew; 2 The sun when it appeareth, declaring at his rising a marvellous instrument, the work of the most High. 3 At noon it parcheth the country, and who can abide the burning heat thereof? 4 A man blowing a furnace is in works of heat, but the sun burneth the mountains three times more: breathing out fiery vapours, and sending forth bright beams, dimmeth the eyes. 5 Great is the Lord that made it, and at his commandment it runneth hastily. 6 He made the moon also to serve in her season, for a declaration of times, and a sign of the world. 7 From the moon is the sign of feasts, a light that decreaseth in her perfection. 8 The month is called after her name, increasing wonderfully in her changing, being an instrument of the armies above, shining in the firmament of heaven; 9 The beauty of heaven, the glory of the stars, an ornament giving light in the highest places of the Lord. 10 At the commandment of the holy One, they will stand in their order, and never faint in their watches. 11 Look upon the rainbow, and praise him that made it, very beautiful it is in the brightness thereof. 12 It compasseth the heaven about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High have bended it. 13 By his commandment he maketh the snow to fall apace, and sendeth swiftly the lightnings of his judgment. 14 Through this the treasures are opened, and clouds fly forth as fowls. 15 By his great power he maketh the clouds firm, and the hailstones are broken small. 16 At his sight the mountains are shaken, and at his will the south-wind bloweth. 17 The noise of the thunder maketh the earth to tremble: so doth the northern storm, and the whirlwind: as birds flying he scattereth the snow, and the falling down thereof is as the lighting of grashoppers. 18 The eye marvelleth at the beauty of the whiteness thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raining of it. 19 The hoar-frost also as salt he poureth on the earth, and being congealed, it lieth on the top of sharp stakes. 20 When the cold north-wind bloweth, and the water is congealed into ice, it abideth upon every gathering together of water, and cloatheth the water as with a breast-plate. 21 It devoureth the mountains, and burneth the wilderneſs, and conſumeth the graſs as fire. 22 A preſent remedy of all is a miſt coming ſpeedily: a dew coming after heat, refreſheth. 23 By his counſel he appeaſeth the deep, and planteth iſlands therein. 24 They that ſail on the ſea, tell of the danger thereof; and when we hear it with our ears, we marvel thereat. 25 For therein be ſtrange and wondrous works, variety of all kinds of beaſts, and whales created. 26 By him the end of them hath proſperous ſucceſs, and by his word all things conſiſt. 27 We may ſpeak much, and yet come ſhort: wherefore in ſum, he is all. 28 How ſhall we be able to magnify him? for he is great above all his works. 29 The Lord is terrible and very great, and marvellous is his power. 30 When you glorify the Lord, exalt him as much as you can; for even yet will he far exceed: and when you exalt him, put forth all your ſtrength, and be not weary; for you can never go far enough. 31 Who hath ſeen him, that he might tell us? and who can magnify him as he is? 32 There are yet hid greater things than theſe be, for we have ſeen but a few of his works: 33 For the Lord hath made all things, and to the godly hath he given wiſdom.

The Son of Sirach having led us thus far thro' a Variety of uſeful Obſervations, grave and wiſe Maxims, and given many wholeſome Inſtructions and excellent Rules for the Conduct of Life, and for managing our Commerce and Dealings with the World, interſperſing in his Diſcourſes, many noble Encomiums on the Excellence of Wiſdom, recommending Piety and the Fear of God, and eſtabliſhing the Belief of a Deity from the viſible Effects of his Power in the Creation; comes, in this Chapter, to ſpeak more particularly of the wonderful Diſplay of God's Wiſdom and Omnipotence in the Works of Creation. He points out to us, in the moſt ſublime and poetical Language, the high and glorious Roof of the arched Firmament, and the beautiful Expanſe of the Heavens; that prodigious Maſs of Fire, the Sun; the ſhining Body of the Moon, which is continually changing her Form to vary the Seaſons and adjuſt the Periods of Time for the Uſe of Man; the Stars brightening the Hemiſphere with their Luſtre; the Rainbow, with its Colours delightfully mingled, &c. Great and terrible is the Lord, and to be exalted with all our Strength, Powers and Faculties; and when we have exerted our Abilities to the utmoſt, we ſhall come infinitely ſhort of that Praiſe and Glory which our Duty requires, and which his infinite Majeſty exacts at our Hands.

CHAP. XLIV.

The Praiſe of famous Men.

Ver. 1. LET us now praiſe famous men, and our fathers that begat us. 2 The Lord hath wrought great glory by them through his great power from the beginning. 3 Such as did bear rule in their kingdoms, men renowned for their power, giving counſel by their underſtanding, and declaring prophecies: 4 Leaders of the people by their counſels, and by their knowledge of learning meet for the people, wiſe and eloquent in their inſtructions. 5 Such as found out muſical tunes, and recited verſes in writing. 6 Rich men furniſhed with ability, living peaceably in their habitations. 7 All theſe were honoured in their generations, and were the glory of their times. 8 There be of them that have left a name behind them, that their praiſes might be reported. 9 And ſome there be which have no memorial, who are periſhed as though they had never been, and are become as though they had never been born, and their children after them. 10 But theſe were merciful men, whoſe righteouſneſs hath not been forgotten. 11 With their ſeed ſhall continually remain a good inheritance, and their children are within the covenant. 12 Their ſeed ſtands faſt, and their children for their ſakes. 13 Their ſeed ſhall remain for ever, and their glory ſhall not be blotted out. 14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liveth for evermore. 15 The people will tell of their wiſdom, and the congregation will ſhew forth their praiſe. 16 Enoch pleaſed the Lord, and was tranſlated, being an example of repentance to all generations. 17 Noah was found perfect and righteous in the time of wrath, he was taken in exchange [for the world] therefore was he left as a remnant unto the earth when the flood came. 18 An everlaſting covenant was made with him, that all fleſh ſhould periſh no more by the flood. 19 Abraham was a great father of many people: in glory was there none like unto him. 20 Who kept the law of the moſt High, and was in covenant with him: he eſtabliſhed the covenant in his fleſh, and when he was proved, he was found faithful. 21 Therefore he aſſured him by an oath, that he would bleſs the nations in his ſeed, and that he would multiply him as the duſt of the earth, and exalt his ſeed as the ſtars, and cauſe him to inherit from ſea to ſea, and from the river unto the utmoſt part of the land. 22 With Iſaac did he eſtabliſh likewiſe [for Abraham his fathers ſake] the bleſſing of all men, and the covenant, 23 And made it reſt upon the head of Jacob. He acknowledged him in his bleſſing, and gave him an heritage, and divided his portions, among the twelve tribes did he part them.

Next to the Praiſe due to the Almighty for the Wonders that are to be read in every Part of the Creation, we ſhould not forget the Eulogiums that are due to the exalted Merit of thoſe brave and famous Men, whom God has made the Inſtruments of his Glory, and the Means of innumerable Benefits to Mankind. Their Names and their heroic Actions are tranſmitted to us, that we may honour their Memories, and that their Fame may be handed down to lateſt Poſterity.

Others, unambitious of Grandeur and Renown, and of raiſing themſelves a Name for future Generations to wonder at, but content with a middle Station of Life, have employ'd their Faculties and their Talents in Acts of Beneficence and Juſtice, and in the Civil Offices of Society. They paſs quietly thro' the World, and when they die, no Monument is rais'd on their Tomb to perpetuate their Name or Memory: However, they are not forgotten by God, who keeps a Regiſter of their Names and their good Deeds, and who will manifeſt his Regard to their Virtue in the Proſperity of their Children.

CHAP. XLV.

Ver. 1. AND he brought out of him a merciful man, which found favour in the ſight of all fleſh, even Moſes beloved of God and men, whoſe memorial is bleſſed. 2 He made him like to the glorious ſaints, and magnified him, ſo that his enemies ſtood in fear of him. 3 By his words he cauſed the wonders to ceaſe, ceaſe, and he made him glorious in the ſight of kings, and gave him a commandment for his people, and ſhewed him part of his glory. 4 He ſanctified him in his faithfulneſs, and meekneſs, and choſe him out of all men. 5 He made him to hear his voice, and brought him into the dark cloud, and gave him commandments before his face, even the law of life and knowledge, that he might teach Jacob his covenants, and Iſrael his judgments. 6 He exalted Aaron an holy man like unto him, even his brother, of the tribe of Levi. 7 An everlaſting covenant he made with him, and gave him the prieſthood among the people, he beautified him with comely ornaments, and cloathed him with a robe of glory. 8 He put upon him perfect glory: and ſtrengthened him with rich garments, with breeches, with a long robe, and the ephod. 9 And he compaſſed him with pomegranates, and with many golden bells round about, that as he went there might be a ſound, and a noiſe made, that might be heard in the temple, for a memorial to the children of his people; 10 With an holy garment, with gold, and blue ſilk, and purple, the work of the embroiderer, with a breaſt-plate of judgment, and with Urim and Thummim; 11 With twiſted ſcarlet, the work of the cunning workman, with precious ſtones, graven like ſeals, and ſet in gold, the work of the jeweller, with a writing engraved for a memorial, after the number of the tribes of Iſrael. 12 He ſet a crown of gold upon the mitre, wherein was engraved, Holineſs, an ornament of honour, a coſtly work, the deſires of the eyes, goodly and beautiful. 13 Before him there were none ſuch, neither did ever any ſtranger put them on, but only his children, and his childrens children perpetually. 14 Their ſacrifices ſhall be wholly conſumed, every day twice continually. 15 Moſes conſecrated him, and anointed him with holy oil: this was appointed unto him by an everlaſting covenant, and to his ſeed ſo long as the heavens ſhould remain, that they ſhould miniſter unto him, and execute the office of the prieſthood, and bleſs the people in his name. 16 He choſe him out of all men living to offer ſacrifices to the Lord, incenſe and a ſweet ſavour for a memorial, to make reconciliation for his people. 17 He gave unto him his commandments, and authority in the ſtatutes of judgments, that he ſhould teach Jacob the teſtimonies, and inform Iſrael in his laws. 18 Strangers conſpired together againſt him, and maligned him in the wilderneſs, even the men that were of Dathans and Abirons ſide, and the congregation of Core with fury and wrath. 19 This the Lord ſaw, and it diſpleaſed him, and in his wrathful indignation were they conſumed: he did wonders upon them to conſume them with the fiery flame. 20 But he made Aaron more honourable, and gave him an heritage, and divided unto him the firſt fruits of the increaſe; eſpecially, he prepared bread in abundance: 21 For they eat of the ſacrifices of the Lord, which he gave unto him and his ſeed. 22 Howbeit, in the land of the people he had no inheritance, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord himſelf is his portion and inheritance. 23 The third in glory is Phinees, the ſon of Eleazar, becauſe he had zeal in the fear of the Lord, and ſtood up with good courage of heart, when the people were turned back, and made reconciliation for Iſrael. 24 Therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that he ſhould be the chief of the ſanctuary, and of his people, and that he and his poſterity ſhould have the dignity of the prieſthood for ever. 25 According to the covenant made with David ſon of Jeſſe, of the tribe of Juda, that the inheritance of the king ſhould be to his poſterity alone: ſo the inheritance of Aaron ſhould alſo be unto his ſeed. 26 God give you wiſdom in your heart, to judge his people in righteouſneſs, that their good things be not aboliſhed, and that their glory may endure for ever.

From Jacob deſcended Moſes, the peculiar Favourite of Heaven, whom God eminently diſtinguiſhed above the reſt of the People, honoured him before Kings, gave him his Law to promulgate, brought him into his immediate Preſence, and ſhewed him Part of his real and eſſential Glory. Aaron his Brother, for his Holineſs, was alſo highly exalted, dignified with the Prieſthood, and ornamented with the holy Garments, the Breaſt-plate of Judgment, the Urim and Thummim. Nor were theſe Honours confined to him only, his Children inherited them to the lateſt Poſterity, and were the continual Interceſſors betwixt God and his People. When Conſpiracies were formed againſt him in the Wilderneſs, God deſtroyed his Enemies with a conſuming Flame; and tho' God gave him no Inheritance among his Brethren, yet he had a much better Lot, for God himſelf was his Portion. Phineas has likewiſe a Place in this ſacred Catalogue of Worthies, for his Zeal in defending the Honour of God, when Idolatries were introduced among the People.

CHAP. XLVI.

Ver. 1. JESUS the ſon of Nave was valiant in the wars, and was the ſucceſſor of Moſes in propheſies, who according to his name was made great, for the ſaving of the elect of God, and taking vengeance of the enemies that roſe up againſt them, that he might ſet Iſrael in their inheritance. 2 How great glory gat he when he did lift up his hands, and ſtretched out his ſword againſt the cities! 3 Who before him ſo ſtood to it? for the Lord himſelf brought his enemies unto him. 4 Did not the ſun go back by his means? and was not one day as long as two? 5 He called upon the moſt high Lord, when the enemies preſſed upon him on every ſide, and the great Lord heard him. 6 And with hailſtones of mighty power, he made the battel to fall violently upon the nations, and in the deſcent [of Bethqron] he deſtroyed them that reſiſted, that the nations might know all their ſtrength, becauſe he fought in the ſight of the Lord, and he followed the mighty One. 7 In the time of Moſes alſo he did a work of mercy, he and Caleb the ſon of Jephunne, in that they withſtood the congregation, and withheld the people from ſin, and appeaſed the wicked murmuring. 8 And of ſix hundred thouſand people on foot, they two were preſerved to bring them into the heritage, even unto the land that floweth with milk and honey. 9 The Lord gave ſtrength alſo unto Caleb, which remained with him unto his old age: ſo that he entred upon the high places of the land, and his ſeed obtained it for an heritage. 10 That all the children of Iſrael might might see that it is good to follow the Lord. 11 And concerning the judges every one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, let their memory be blessed. 12 Let their bones flourish out of their place, and let the name of them that were honoured, be continued upon their children. 13 Samuel the prophet of the Lord, beloved of his Lord, established a kingdom, and anointed princes over his people. 14 By the law of the Lord he judged the congregation, and the Lord had respect unto Jacob. 15 By his faithfulness he was found a true prophet, and by his word he was known to be faithful in vision. 16 He called upon the mighty Lord, when his enemies pressed upon him on every side, when he offered the sucking lamb. 17 And the Lord thundred from heaven, and with a great noise made his voice to be heard. 18 And he destroyed the rulers of the Tyrians, and all the princes of the Philistines. 19 And before his long sleep he made protestations in the sight of the Lord and his anointed, I have not taken any mans goods, so much as a shoe: and no man did accuse him. 20 And after his death he prophesied, and shewed the king his end, and lift up his voice from the earth in prophecy, to blot out the wickedness of the people.

This Chapter is no more than a Recital of the heroick Actions and worthy Deeds of Joshua, Caleb and Samuel; the particulars of which we may read at large in the Books of Joshua and Samuel.

CHAP. XLVII.

Of Nathan and David; Solomon, his Glory and Infirmities, End and Punishment.

Ver. 1. AND after him rose up Nathan to prophesy, in the time of David. 2 As is the fat taken away from the peace-offering, so was David chosen out of the children of Israel. 3 He played with lions as with kids, and with bears as with lambs. 4 Slew he not a giant when he was yet but young? and did he not take away reproach from the people, when he lifted up his hand with the stone in the sling, and beat down the boasting of Goliath? 5 For he called upon the most high Lord, and he gave him strength in his right hand to slay that mighty warrior, and set up the horn of his people. 6 So the people honoured him with ten thousands, and praised him in the blessings of the Lord, in that he gave him a crown of glory. 7 For he destroyed the enemies on every side, and brought to nought the Philistines his adversaries, and brake their horn in sunder unto this day. 8 In all his works he praised the holy One most High with words of glory, with his whole heart he sung songs, and loved him that made him. 9 He set singers also before the altar, that by their voices they might make sweet melody, and daily sing praises in their songs. 10 He beautified their feasts, and set in order the solemn times, until the end, that they might praise his holy name, and that the temple might sound from morning. 11 The Lord took away his sins, and exalted his horn for ever: he gave him a covenant of kings, and a throne of glory in Israel. 12 After him rose up a wise son, and for his sake he dwelt at large. 13 Solomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was honoured; for God made all quiet round about him, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare his sanctuary for ever. 14 How wise wast thou in thy youth, and as a flood filled with understanding! 15 Thy soul covered the whole earth, and thou filledst it with dark parables. 16 Thy name went far unto the islands; and for thy peace thou wast beloved. 17 The countries marvelled at thee for thy songs, and proverbs, and parables, and interpretations. 18 By the name of the Lord God, which is called the Lord God of Israel, thou didst gather gold as tin, and didst multiply silver as lead. 19 Thou didst bow thy loins unto women, and by thy body thou wast brought into subjection. 20 Thou didst stain thy honour, and pollute thy seed: so that thou broughtest wrath upon thy children, and wast grieved for thy folly. 21 So the kingdom was divided, and out of Ephraim ruled a rebellious kingdom. 22 But the Lord will never leave off his mercy, neither shall any of his works perish, neither will he abolish the posterity of his elect, and the seed of him that loveth him he will not take away: wherefore he gave a remnant unto Jacob, and out of him a root unto David. 23 Thus rested Solomon with his fathers, and of his seed he left behind him Roboam, even the foolishness of the people, and one that had no understanding, who turned away the people through his counsel. There was also Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin, and shewed Ephraim the way of sin: 24 And their sins were multiplied exceedingly, that they were driven out of the land. 25 For they sought out all wickedness, till the vengeance came upon them.

Nathan succeeded Samuel, and prophesied in the Reign of David. David was selected from the People in his Youth, to do great Things for the Honour of God and the Good of his Country; being strengthened and inspired by the Almighty, he had the Courage to fight, and the good Fortune to kill the Giant Goliah; by which brave Exploit he raised his Reputation even above that of the King's, as was intimated in the Songs of Triumph that were made upon that Occasion. Nor was he only famous for heroick Deeds of Prowess; his Piety was equal to his Bravery; and he was as zealous in the Duties of Religion, as couragious against his Enemies; his Psalms and Songs of Praise will be perpetual Monuments of the holy Disposition of his Soul, and of his Love to his Creator.

Solomon his Son, erected a most magnificent Mansion for the Residence of his God, who gave him Wisdom superior to all his Predecessors, and rais'd his Reputation, and gave him a Name more renowned than the most famous Philosophers that flourish'd in his Time, for his Knowledge of, and Penetration into the Mysteries of Nature, and the dark Recesses of Wisdom. But giving way to his sensual Appetite for Women, he stained his Honour, and forfeited the Favour of God, who gave him Children that were a Disgrace to his Family, and a Curse to the People; his Son and Successor Roboam was a Fool, who by his impolitick Management, Ten of the Twelve Tribes deserted him, and chose for their King, Jeroboam, Solomon's Servant, an Idolater. 1 Kings xii. 16, &c.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The Praise of Elias, Eliseus, and Ezekias.

Ver. 1. THEN stood up Elias the prophet as fire, and his word burnt like a lamp. 2 He brought a ſore famine upon them, and by his zeal he diminiſhed their number. 3 By the word of the Lord he ſhut up the heaven, and alſo three times brought down fire. 4 O Elias, how waſt thou honoured in thy wondrous deeds! and who may glory like unto thee! 5 Who didſt raiſe up a dead man from death, and his ſoul from the place of the dead, by the word of the moſt High. 6 Who broughteſt kings to deſtruction, and honourable men from their bed. 7 Who heardeſt the rebuke of the Lord in Sinai, and in Horeb the judgment of vengeance. 8 Who anointed kings to take revenge, and prophets to ſucceed after him. 9 Who was taken up in a whirlwind of fire, and in a chariot of fiery horſes. 10 Who waſt ordained for reproofs in their times, to pacify the wrath of the Lords judgment, before it brake forth into fury, and to turn the heart of the father unto the ſon, and to reſtore the tribes of Jacob. 11 Bleſſed are they that ſaw thee, and ſlept in love, for we ſhall ſurely live. 12 Elias it was, who was covered with a whirlwind: and Eliſeus was filled with his ſpirit: whileſt he lived he was not moved with the preſence of any prince, neither could any bring him into ſubjection. 13 No word could overcome him, and after his death his body propheſied. 14 He did wonders in his life, and at his death were his works marvellous. 15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their ſins, till they were ſpoiled, and carried out of their land, and were ſcattered through all the earth: yet there remained a ſmall people, and a ruler in the houſe of David: 16 Of whom, ſome did that which was pleaſing to God, and ſome multiplied ſins. 17 Ezekias fortified his city, and brought in water into the midſt thereof: he digged the hard rock with iron, and made wells for waters. 18 In his time Sennacherib came up, and ſent Rabſaces, and lift up his hand againſt Sion, and boaſted proudly. 19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, and they were in pain as women in travail. 20 But they called upon the Lord which is merciful, and ſtretched out their hands towards him: and immediately the holy One heard them out of heaven, and delivered them by the miniſtery of Eſay. 21 He ſmote the hoſt of the Aſſyrians, and his angel deſtroyed them. 22 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleaſed the Lord, and was ſtrong in the ways of David his father, as Eſay the prophet, who was great and faithful in his viſion, had commanded him. 23 In his time the ſun went backward, and he lengthened the kings life. 24 He ſaw by an excellent ſpirit what ſhould come to paſs at the laſt, and he comforted them that mourned in Sion. 25 He ſhewed what ſhould come to paſs for ever, and ſecret things or ever they came.

In the worſt Times of Defection and Apoſtaſy of the Iſraelites from the Religion of their Fore-fathers, and that Worſhip and thoſe Laws which were inſtituted by God himſelf, God never left himſelf without a Witneſs to vindicate the Honour of his Name. Thus when the whole Nation was ſunk into the groſſeſt Idolatry, under the Reigns of the vileſt of their Princes the wicked Ahab, and his idolatrous Succeſſors, God ſent among them Elijah and Elias (here called Elias and Eliſeus) and inſpired them with ſuch Zeal and Reſolution, that they undauntedly reproved Kings to their Faces, and never fear'd to deliver a Meſſage from Heaven, how ſevere and unwelcome ſoever it might be, either to Prince or People, and tho' they knew that they run the utmoſt Hazard of their Lives in the Execution of their Duty.

And as God remarkably puniſh'd both Prince and People, when they apoſtatiz'd from his Laws and Worſhip; ſo he as remarkably bleſs'd and favour'd both the one and the other, when they ſhew'd any Zeal for his Service, or regard for the Honour of his Name; as was apparent in that wonderful Deliverance which he wrought for Hezekiah and his People in the Deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army, becauſe Hezekiah feared God, and engaged his Subjects to do the ſame.

CHAP. XLIX.

The Praiſe of ſeveral of the Iſraelitiſh Princes, Patriarchs, and Prophets.

Ver. 1. THE remembrance of Joſias is like the compoſition of the perfume that is made by the art of the apothecary: it is ſweet as honey in all mouths, and as muſick at a banquet of wine. 2 He behaved himſelf uprightly in the converſion of the people, and took away the abominations of iniquity. 3 He directed his heart unto the Lord, and in the time of the ungodly he eſtabliſhed the worſhip of God. 4 All, except David, and Ezekias, and Joſias, were defective: for they forſook the law of the moſt High, even the kings of Juda failed. 5 Therefore he gave their power unto others, and their glory unto a ſtrange nation. 6 They burnt the choſen city of the ſanctuary, and made the ſtreets deſolate, according to the prophecy of Jeremias. 7 For they entreated him evil, who nevertheleſs was a prophet ſanctified in his mothers womb, that he might root out, and afflict, and deſtroy, and that he might build up alſo and plant. 8 It was Ezekiel who ſaw the glorious viſion, which was ſhewed him upon the chariot of the cherubims. 9 For he made mention of the enemies under the figure of the rain, and directed them that went right. 10 And of the twelve prophets, let the memorial be bleſſed, and let their bones flouriſh again out of their place: for they comforted Jacob, and delivered them by aſſured hope. 11 How ſhall we magnify Zorobabel? even he was as a ſignet on the right hand. 12 So was Jeſus the ſon of Joſedec: who in their time builded the houſe, and ſet up an holy temple to the Lord, which was prepared for everlaſting glory. 13 And among the elect was Neemias, whoſe renown is great, who raiſed up for us the walls that were fallen, and ſet up the gates and the bars, and raiſed up our ruins again. 14 But upon the earth was no man created like Enoch; for he was taken from the earth. 15 Neither was there a man born like unto Joſeph, a governor of his brethren, a ſtay of the people, whoſe bones were regarded of the Lord. 16 Sem and Seth were in great honour among men, and ſo was Adam above every living thing in the creation.

We need not dwell on the Contents of this Chapter, ſince they only relate to ſeveral Facts mentioned in the Old Teſtament, which every Reader can find, without being directed to them; together with our Notes on the reſpective Paſſages.

CHAP. L.

The Praiſe of Simon the High-Prieſt.

Ver.

Ver. 1. SImon the high prieſt, the ſon of Onias, who in his life repaired the houſe again, and in his days fortified the temple. 2 And by him was built from the foundation the double height, the high fortreſs of the wall about the temple. 3 In his days the ciſtern to receive water, being in compaſs as the ſea, was covered with plates of braſs. 4 He took care of the temple that it ſhould not fall, and fortified the city againſt beſieging. 5 How was he honoured in the midſt of the people, in his coming out of the ſanctuary! 6 He was as the morning ſtar in the midſt of a cloud, and as the moon at the full: 7 As the ſun ſhining upon the temple of the moſt High, and as the rainbow giving light in the bright clouds: 8 And as the flower of roſes in the ſpring of the year, as lilies by the rivers of waters, and as the branches of the frankincenſe-tree, in the time of ſummer: 9 As fire and incenſe in the cenſer, and as a veſſel of beaten gold, ſet with all manner of precious ſtones: 10 And as a fair olive-tree budding forth fruit, and as a cypreſs-tree which groweth up to the clouds. 11 When he put on the robe of honour, and was cloathed with the perfection of glory, when he went up to the holy altar, he made the garment of holineſs honourable. 12 When he took the portions out of the prieſts hands, he himſelf ſtood by the hearth of the altar, compaſſed with his brethren round about, as a young cedar in Libanus, and as palm-trees compaſſed they him round about. 13 So were all the ſons of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands, before all the congregation of Iſrael. 14 And finiſhing the ſervice at the altar, that he might adorn the offering of the moſt high Almighty. 15 He ſtretched out his hand to the cup, and poured of the blood of the grape, he poured out at the foot of the altar, a ſweet-ſmelling ſavour unto the moſt high King of all. 16 Then ſhouted the ſons of Aaron, and ſounded the ſilver trumpets, and made a great noiſe to be heard, for a remembrance before the moſt High. 17 Then all the people together haſted, and fell down to the earth upon their faces to worſhip their Lord God Almighty the moſt High. 18 The ſingers alſo ſang praiſes with their voices, with great variety of ſounds was there made ſweet melody. 19 And the people beſought the Lord the moſt High by prayer before him that is merciful, till the ſolemnity of the Lord was ended, and they had finiſhed his ſervice. 20 Then he went down, and lifted up his hands over the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael, to give the bleſſing of the Lord with his lips, and to rejoice in his name. 21 And they bowed themſelves down to worſhip the ſecond time, that they might receive a bleſſing from the moſt High. 22 Now therefore bleſs ye the God of all, which only doth wondrous things every where, which exalteth our days from the womb, and dealeth with us according to his mercy. 23 He grant us joyfulneſs of heart, and that peace may be in our days in Iſrael for ever. 24 That he would confirm his mercy with us, and deliver us at his time. 25 There be two manner of nations which my heart abhorreth, and the third is no nation: 26 They that ſit upon the mountain of Samaria, and they that dwell amongſt the Philiſtines, and that fooliſh people that dwell in Sichem. 27 Jeſus the ſon of Sirach of Jeruſalem hath written in this book the inſtruction of underſtanding and knowledge, who out of his heart poured forth wiſdom. 28 Bleſſed is he that ſhall be exerciſed in theſe things, and he that layeth them up in his heart ſhall become wiſe. 29 For if he do them, he ſhall be ſtrong to all things: for the light of the Lord leadeth him, who giveth wiſdom to the godly. Bleſſed be the Lord for ever. Amen, amen.

This Simon, on whom the Son of Sirach beſtows ſo many noble Encomiums, was the Son of Onias, the Son of Jaddus, or Jaddua, who was High Prieſt when Alexander the Great came to Jeruſalem in the Progreſs of his Arms thro' Syria. Simon ſucceeded to the High Prieſthood in the 5th Year of the Reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus King of Egypt; in whoſe Time, and under whoſe Authority and Direction, a Tranſlation of the Bible was made from the Original Hebrew, by ſeventy-two of the Elders of Iſrael, Six being choſen out of every Tribe, to join in the Performance of the Work; which is now called the Septuagint Tranſlation, from the Number of Perſons concerned in it; tho' the Work itſelf was undertaken and finiſhed in the Pontificate of Eleazar, who ſucceeded Simon. Joſephus ſpeaking of this Simon, ſays, that he was a Perſon of ſingular Piety towards God, and of an exemplary Tenderneſs and Good Nature toward Mankind; from which Character he was ſurnamed the juſt. See Jewiſh Antiq. B. xii. Ch. 2.

He continued in his Office for nine Years, in which he did many beneficial Acts both for the Church and State of the Jews; but what is chiefly commemorated of him is, his compleating the Canon of the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament. What Ezra and the Men of the great Synagogue, did therein has been before noted. The Books of Ezra, Nehemiah, Eſther, and Malachi, as well as the two Chronicles of the Kings of Judah and Iſrael, could not poſſibly be inſerted by Ezra himſelf, becauſe ſome of theſe Books claim him for their Author, and in others there are ſome Particulars, which refer to Times as low as Alexander the Great, and therefore a later Time muſt be aſſign'd for their Reception into the Canon. And if ſo, there ſeems none ſo proper as that, when the Men of the great Synagogue, who, under the Direction and Preſidency of Simon the juſt, were employ'd in this Work, ceas'd to be.

CHAP. LI.

A Prayer of Jeſus the Son of Sirach.

Ver. 1. I Will thank thee, O Lord and King, and praiſe thee, O God my Saviour, I do give praiſe unto thy name. 2 For thou art my defender and helper, and haſt preſerved my body from deſtruction, and from the ſnare of the ſlanderous tongue, and from the lips that forge lies, and haſt been mine helper againſt mine adverſaries: 3 And haſt delivered me according to the multitude of thy mercies, and greatneſs of thy name, from the teeth of them that were ready to devour me, and out of the hands of ſuch as ſought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had; 4 From the choaking of fire on every ſide, and from the midſt of the fire which I kindled not; 5 From the depth of the belly of hell, from an unclean tongue, and from lying words: 6 By an accuſation to the king from an unrighteous tongue, my ſoul drew near even unto death, my life was near to the hell beneath. 7 They compaſſed me on every ſide, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the ſuccour of men, but there was none. 8 Then 8 Then thought I upon thy mercy, O Lord, and upon thy acts of old, how thou deliverest such as wait for thee, and savest them out of the hands of the enemies. 9 Then lifted I up my supplication from the earth, and prayed for deliverance from death. 10 I called upon the Lord, the Father of my Lord, that he would not leave me in the days of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, when there was no help. 11 I will praise thy name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiving; and so my prayer was heard. 12 For thou savedst me from destruction, and deliveredst me from the evil time: therefore will I give thanks, and praise thee, and bless thy name, O Lord. 13 When I was yet young, or ever I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer. 14 I prayed for her before the temple, and will seek her out, even to the end. 15 Even from the flower, till the grape was ripe, hath my heart delighted in her: my foot went the right way, from my youth up sought I after her. 16 I bowed down mine ear a little, and received her, and gat much learning. 17 I profited therein, therefore will I ascribe the glory unto him that giveth me wisdom. 18 For I purposed to do after her, and earnestly I followed that which is good; so shall I not be confounded. 19 My soul hath wrestled with her, and in my doings I was exact: I stretched forth my hands to the heaven above, and bewailed my ignorances of her. 20 I directed my soul unto her, and I found her in pureness: I have had my heart joined with her from the beginning, therefore shall I not be forsaken. 21 My heart was troubled in seeking her: therefore have I gotten a good possession. 22 The Lord hath given me a tongue for my reward, and I will praise him therewith. 23 Draw near unto me you unlearned, and dwell in the house of learning. 24 Wherefore are you slow, and what say you of these things, seeing your souls are very thirsty? 25 I opened my mouth, and said, Buy her for yourselves without money. 26 Put your neck under the yoke, and let your soul receive instruction; she is hard at hand to find. 27 Behold with your eyes, how that I have had but little labour, and have gotten unto me much rest. 28 Get learning with a great sum of money, and get much gold by her. 29 Let your soul rejoice in his mercy, and be not ashamed of his praise. 30 Work your work betimes, and in his time he will give you your reward.

The first Part of this Chapter contains a Prayer or rather Thanksgiving, of Jesus the Son of Sirach; the Purport of which is, to pay his grateful Acknowledgments to God for the many Mercies and Deliverances he had experienced in the Course of his Life; and from the several Topicks of his Thanksgiving we may learn the different Kinds of Troubles, Difficulties, Distresses and Dangers, with which he had been afflicted and surrounded; and from which, upon his earnest Sollicitations at the Throne of Grace, he had been happily delivered.

The Remainder of the Chapter acquaints us in what Manner he had, all his Life-time, applied himself to the Search of Wisdom, and that being possess'd of her, he possess'd an invaluable Treasure of all Blessings and Comforts whatsoever.

An Exposition of the Book of BARUCH.

The ARGUMENT.

Baruch, the Son of Neriah, and Grandson of Maaseiah, was of an illustrious Birth, and of the Tribe of Judah. Seraiah, his Brother, had a considerable Employment in the Court of King Zedekiah, but himself kept close to the Person of Jeremiah, and was his most faithful Disciple, tho' his Adherence to his Master drew upon him several Persecutions, and a great deal of bad Treatment. After the Destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar, Baruch and his Master were permitted to stay in the Land of Judea, but when the Remains of that People, which were left behind, after having slain their Governor Gedaliah, were for retiring into Egypt, they compelled Jeremiah, and his Disciple, to go along with them, where the Prophet died, and Baruch soon after made his Escape to his Brethren in Babylon; where, according to the Tradition of the Rabbins, he likewise died in the 12th Year of the Captivity. But of what Authority the Book, which goes under his Name, is, or by whom it was written, or whether any Thing related therein be historically true, or the whole of it a Fiction, is altogether uncertain. Grotius, in his Commentary upon it, thinks it an entire Fiction of some Hellenistical Jew, under the Name of Baruch; and St. Jerom, long before him, (in the Preface to his Exposition of Jeremiah) tells us, that the Reason why he did not make a Comment on this Book (tho' in the Edition of the Septuagint it be join'd with Jeremiah) was, because it was not deem'd canonical among the Hebrews, and contains an Epistle, which falsely bears the Name of Jeremiah. This Epistle is annexed to the Book, and, in the common Division of it, makes the last Chapter: But the main Subject of the Book itself is likewise an Epistle, either sent, or feign'd to be sent by Jehoiakim, and the Jews who were in Captivity with him in Babylon, to their Brethren the Jews, who were still left in Judah and Jerusalem.

Of the whole there are but three Copies; one in Greek, and the other two in Syriack, whereof one agreeth with the Greek, tho' the other very much differs from it; but in what Language it was originally written, or whether one of these be not the Original, or which of them may be so, 'tis next next to impoſſible to tell. See Prideaux Connection, and Calmet's Preface to Baruch.

CHAP. I.

The Jews in Babylon weep at the reading of Baruch's Book, and ſend Money and the Book to their Brethren at Jeruſalem.

Ver. 1. AND theſe are the words of the book, which Baruch the ſon of Nerias, the ſon of Maaſias, the ſon of Sedecias, the ſon of Aſſadias, the ſon of Chelcias, wrote in Babylon, 2 In the fifth year, and in the ſeventh day of the month, what time as the Chaldeans took Jeruſalem, and burnt it with fire. 3 And Baruch did read the words of this book, in the hearing of Jechonias, the ſon of Joachim king of Juda, and in the ears of all the people that came to hear the book, 4 And in the hearing of the nobles, and of the kings ſons, and in the hearing of the elders, and of all the people, from the loweſt unto the higheſt, even of all them that dwelt at Babylon, by the river Sud. 5 Whereupon they wept, faſted and prayed before the Lord. 6 They made alſo a collection of money, according to every mans power. 7 And they ſent it to Jeruſalem unto Joachim the high-prieſt, the ſon of Chelcias, ſon of Salom, and to the prieſts, and to all the people which were found with him at Jeruſalem, 8 At the ſame time, when he received the veſſels of the houſe of the Lord that were carried out of the temple, to return them into the land of Juda the tenth day of the month Sivan, namely, ſilver veſſels, which Sedecias the ſon of Joſias king of Juda had made, 9 After that Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon had carried away Jechonias, and the princes, and the captives, and the mighty men, and the people of the land from Jeruſalem, and brought them unto Babylon: 10 And they ſaid, Behold, we have ſent you money to buy you burnt-offerings, and ſin-offerings, and incenſe, and prepare ye manna, and offer upon the altar of the Lord our God, 11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, and for the life of Balthaſar his ſon, that their days may be upon earth as the days of heaven. 12 And the Lord will give us ſtrength, and lighten our eyes, and we ſhall live under the ſhadow of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, and under the ſhadow of Balthaſar his ſon, and we ſhall ſerve them many days, and find favour in their ſight. 13 Pray for us alſo unto the Lord our God, for we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God; and unto this day the fury of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from us. 14 And ye ſhall read this book which we have ſent unto you to make confeſſion in the houſe of the Lord, upon the feaſts and ſolemn days. 15 And ye ſhall ſay, To the Lord our God belongeth righteouſneſs, but unto us the confuſion of faces, as it is come to paſs this day unto them of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, 16 And to our kings, and to our princes, and to our prieſts, and to our prophets, and to our fathers. 17 For we have ſinned before the Lord, 18 And diſobeyed him, and have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in the commandments that he gave us openly: 19 Since the day that the Lord brought our forefathers out of the land of Egypt, unto this preſent day, we have been diſobedient unto the Lord our God, and we have been negligent in not hearing his voice. 20 Wherefore the evils cleaved unto us, and the curſe which the Lord appointed by Moſes his ſervant, at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land that floweth with milk and honey, like as it is to ſee this day. 21 Nevertheleſs we have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, according unto all the words of the prophets, whom he ſent unto us. 22 But every man followed the imagination of his own wicked heart, to ſerve ſtrange gods, and to do evil in the ſight of the Lord our God.

And they ſent it to Jeruſalem unto Joachim the High Prieſt] Joachim, as Joſephus tells us, was High Prieſt at Jeruſalem, at the Time that Eſdras was ſent from Babylon to Judea; and that Joachim and Eſdras or Ezra, as the Scripture calls him, died much about the ſame Time at Jeruſalem. Joſephus indeed ſays, that this Joachim was the Son of Jeſus, or Jeſhua, as he is called Ezra x. 18. and Baruch ſtiles him the Son of Chelcias: But, conſidering the Circumſtances of Time, Place, &c. the ſame Perſon muſt be meant by them both; and as the Learned are very much divided in their Opinions concerning the lineal Succeſſion of the High Prieſts, we ſhall not pretend to reconcile this Difference in the Genealogy of Joachim. However, this we may be aſſured of, from the Authority of the Holy Scripture itſelf, that Joachim was the Son of Jeſhua, or, as Joſephus calls him Jeſus. See Nehem. xii. 10.

CHAP. II.

Ver. 1. THerefore the Lord hath made good his word, which he pronounced againſt us, and againſt our judges that judged Iſrael, and againſt our kings, and againſt our princes, and againſt the men of Iſrael and Juda, 2 To bring upon us great plagues, ſuch as never happened under the whole heaven, as it came to paſs in Jeruſalem, according to the things that were written in the law of Moſes, 3 That a man ſhould eat the fleſh of his own ſon, and the fleſh of his own daughter. 4 Moreover, he hath delivered them to be in ſubjection to all the kingdoms that are round about us, to be as a reproach and deſolation among all the people round about, where the Lord hath ſcattered them. 5 Thus we were caſt down and not exalted, becauſe we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God, and have not been obedient unto his voice. 6 To the Lord our God appertaineth righteouſneſs: but unto us and to our fathers open ſhame, as appeareth this day. 7 For all theſe plagues are come upon us, which the Lord hath pronounced againſt us. 8 Yet have we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turn every one from the imaginations of his wicked heart. 9 Wherefore the Lord watched over us for evil, and the Lord hath brought it upon us: for the Lord is righteous in all his works which he hath commanded us. 10 Yet we have not hearkened unto his voice, to walk in the commandments of the Lord, that he hath ſet before us. 11 And now, O Lord God of Iſrael, that haſt brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and high arm, and with ſigns, and with wonders, with great power, and haſt gotten thyſelf a name, as appeareth this day: 12 O Lord our God, we have ſinned, we have done ungodly, we have dealt unrighteouſly in all thine ordinances. 13 Let thy wrath turn from us: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou haſt ſcattered us. 14 Hear our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliver us for thine own ſake, and give us favour in the ſight of them which have led us away: 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, becauſe Iſrael and his poſterity is called by thy name. 16 O Lord, look down from thy holy houſe, and conſider us: bow down thine ear, O Lord, to hear us. 17 Open thine eyes, and behold, for the dead that are in the graves, whoſe ſouls are taken from their bodies, will give unto the Lord neither praiſe nor righteouſneſs: 18 But the ſoul that is greatly vexed, which goeth ſtooping and feeble, and the eyes that fail, and the hungry ſoul will give thee praiſe and righteouſneſs, O Lord. 19 Therefore we do not make our humble ſupplication before thee, O Lord our God, for the righteouſneſs of our fathers, and of our kings. 20 For thou haſt ſent out thy wrath and indignation upon us, as thou haſt ſpoken by thy ſervants the prophets, ſaying, 21 Thus ſaith the Lord, Bow down your ſhoulders to ſerve the king of Babylon: ſo ſhall ye remain in the land that I gave unto your fathers. 22 But if ye will not hear the voice of the Lord to ſerve the king of Babylon, 23 I will cauſe to ceaſe out of the cities of Juda, and from without Jeruſalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of joy, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: and the whole land ſhall be deſolate of inhabitants. 24 But we would not hearken unto thy voice, to ſerve the king of Babylon: therefore haſt thou made good the words that thou ſpakeſt by thy ſervants the prophets, namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers ſhould be taken out of their places. 25 And lo, they are caſt out to the heat of the day, and to the froſt of the night, and they died in great miſeries, by famine, by ſword, and by peſtilence. 26 And the houſe which is called by thy name, (haſt thou laid waſte) as it is to be ſeen this day, for the wickedneſs of the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Juda. 27 O Lord our God, thou haſt dealt with us after all thy goodneſs, and according to all that great mercy of thine, 28 As thou ſpakeſt by thy ſervant Moſes, in the day when thou didſt command him to write the law before the children of Iſrael, ſaying, 29 If ye will not hear my voice, ſurely this very great multitude ſhall be turned into a ſmall number among the nations where I will ſcatter them. 30 For I knew that they would not hear me, becauſe it is a ſtiff-necked people: but in the land of their captivities they ſhall remember themſelves, 31 And ſhall know that I am the Lord their God: for I will give them an heart, and ears to hear. 32 And they ſhall praiſe me in the land of their captivity, and think upon my name, 33 And return from their ſtiff neck, and from their wicked deeds: for they ſhall remember the way of their fathers, which ſinned before the Lord. 34 And I will bring them again into the land which I promiſed with an oath unto their fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and they ſhall be lords of it: and I will increaſe them, and they ſhall not be diminiſhed. 35 And I will make an everlaſting covenant with them to be their God, and they ſhall be my people: and I will no more drive my people of Iſrael out of the land that I have given them.

In this Prayer or Supplication the Jews confeſs the Juſtice of God in bringing upon them thoſe Plagues and Calamities which were threatned by Moſes, in caſe of their Diſobedience, Deut. xxviii. that notwithſtanding the Severity of God's Judgments upon them, yet they had not humbled themſelves, but continued in their rebellious Practices againſt him. Wherefore they now beſeech the Lord, who wonderfully delivered their Fore-fathers from Bondage in Egypt, that on their ſincere Repentance, he would be merciful to them, and deliver them from their preſent Captivity. They acknowledge their Diſobedience to the Word of the Lord, ſpoken by the Prophet Jeremy, that they ſhould quietly ſubmit to ſerve the King of Babylon, Jer. xxvii. 11. and therefore that their preſent Calamities were juſtly brought upon them. However, they ſtrengthen their Confidence in the Goodneſs of God, that he will do according to what he promiſed by his Servant Moſes, Levit. xxvi. Deut. xxviii. that if in their Captivity they ſhould humble themſelves, and turn to the Lord with all their Hearts, he would remember his Covenant with their Anceſtors, and deliver them from their Enemies.

CHAP. III.

The foregoing Prayer and Confeſſion continued. Wiſdom reſts but with very few.

Ver. 1. O Lord almighty, God of Iſrael, the ſoul in anguiſh, the troubled ſpirit crieth unto thee. 2 Hear, O Lord, and have mercy: for thou art merciful; and have pity upon us, becauſe we have ſinned before thee. 3 For thou endureſt for ever, and we periſh utterly. 4 O Lord almighty, thou God of Iſrael, hear now the prayers of the dead Iſraelites, and of their children, which have ſinned before thee, and not hearkened unto the voice of thee their God: for the which cauſe theſe plagues cleave unto us. 5 Remember not the iniquities of our forefathers: but think upon thy power and thy name now at this time. 6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praiſe. 7 And for this cauſe thou haſt put thy fear in our hearts, to the intent that we ſhould call upon thy name, and praiſe thee in our captivity: for we have called to mind all the iniquity of our forefathers that ſinned before thee. 8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captivity, where thou haſt ſcattered us, for a reproach and a curſe, and to be ſubject to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which departed from the Lord our God. 9 Hear, Iſrael, the commandments of life: give ear to underſtand wiſdom. 10 How happeneth it, Iſrael, that thou art in thine enemies land, that thou art waxen old in a ſtrange country, that thou art defiled with the dead, 11 That thou art counted with them that go down into the grave? 12 Thou haſt forſaken the fountain of wiſdom. 13 For if thou hadſt walked in the way of God, thou ſhouldeſt have dwelled in peace for ever. 14 Learn where is wiſdom, where is ſtrength, where is underſtanding; that thou mayeſt know alſo where is length of days, and life, where is the light of the eyes and peace. 15 Who hath found out her place?

who hath come into her treaſures? 16 Where are the princes of the heathen become, and ſuch as ruled the beaſts upon the earth, 17 They that had their paſtime with the fowls of the air, and they that hoarded up ſilver and gold, wherein men truſt, and made no end of their getting? 18 For they that wrought in ſilver, and were ſo careful, and whoſe works are unſearchable, 19 They are vaniſhed and gone down to the grave, and others are come up in their ſteads. 20 Young men have ſeen light, and dwelt upon the earth: but the way of knowledge have they not known, 21 Nor underſtood the paths thereof, nor laid hold of it: their children were far off from that way. 22 It hath not been heard of in Chanaan, neither hath it been ſeen in Theman. 23 The Agarenes that ſeek wiſdom upon earth, the merchants of Meran, and of Theman, the authors of fables, and ſearchers out of underſtanding: none of theſe have known the way of wiſdom, or remember her paths. 24 O Iſrael, how great is the houſe of God, and how large is the place of his poſſeſſion! 25 Great, and hath none end; high, and unmeaſurable. 26 There were the giants famous from the beginning, that were of ſo great ſtature, and ſo expert in war. 27 Thoſe did not the Lord chooſe, neither gave he the way of knowledge unto them. 28 But they were deſtroyed, becauſe they had no wiſdom, and periſhed through their own fooliſhneſs. 29 Who hath gone up into heaven, and taken her, and brought her down from the clouds? 30 Who hath gone over the ſea and found her, and will bring her for pure gold? 31 No man knoweth her way, nor thinketh of her path. 32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and hath found her out with his underſtanding: he that prepared the earth for evermore, hath filled it with four-footed beaſts. 33 He that ſendeth forth light, and it goeth; calleth it again, and it obeyeth him with fear. 34 The ſtars ſhined in their watches, and rejoiced: when he calleth them, they ſay, Here we be; and ſo with cheerfulneſs they ſhewed light unto him that made them. 35 This is our God, and there ſhall none other be accounted of in compariſon of him. 36 He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath given it unto Jacob his ſervant, and to Iſrael his beloved. 37 Afterward did he ſhew himſelf upon earth, and converſed with men.

The Jews in Captivity proceed in their Prayer and Confeſſion, begun in the preceding Chapter; after which Baruch addreſſes himſelf to Iſrael, and entreats them to hearken to the Inſtructions of Wiſdom. He interrogates them concerning the Length of their Captivity, and the Cauſe of their Pollutions in a ſtrange Country: The Cauſe was plain; their Contempt of Wiſdom, and Diſobedience to the Law of God. Dear-bought Experience might now inform them wherein Wiſdom conſiſts, and, conſequently, how to obtain a Prolongation of Life and temporal Happineſs. Few are the Poſſeſſors of Wiſdom; the Princes of the Heathen, Philoſophers, and Inventors of Fables, in vain pretend to a true Knowledge of her; the Giants of old, renowned for their Skill and Exploits in Arms, were ignorant of her; ſhe is not to be purchaſed with Gold; her Abode is only with the omniſcient God; he gave her to Jacob, and afterwards cloathed her with Humanity, and ſent her in the Perſon of his own Son, to converſe with Men.

From the laſt Verſe it ſeems evident, that this Book, as ſome other of the apocryphal Books were, was wrote after Chriſt's Appearance, under the Name of one of their antient holy Writers, in order that their Exhortations and Comforts might make the deeper Impreſſion on the Minds of their obſtinate and unreaſonable Nation; and that the late Deſolation of the Jews by the Romans is the Subject of it.

CHAP. IV.

The Book of Commandments is the Wiſdom commended in the former Chapter. The Jews are exhorted to hope, and patiently wait for their Deliverance.

Ver. 1. THIS is the book of the commandments of God, and the law that endureth for ever: all they that keep it ſhall come to life; but ſuch as leave it ſhall die. 2 Turn thee, O Jacob, and take hold of it: walk in the preſence of the light thereof, that thou mayeſt be illuminated. 3 Give not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable unto thee, to a ſtrange nation. 4 O Iſrael, happy are we: for things that are pleaſing to God, are made known unto us. 5 Be of good cheer, my people, the memorial of Iſrael. 6 Ye were ſold to the nations, not for [your] deſtruction: but becauſe ye moved God to wrath, ye were delivered unto the enemies. 7 For ye provoked him that made you, by ſacrificing unto devils, and not to God. 8 Ye have forgotten the everlaſting God that brought you up, and ye have grieved Jeruſalem that nurſed you. 9 For when ſhe ſaw the wrath of God coming upon you, ſhe ſaid, Hearken, O ye that dwell about Sion: God hath brought upon me great mourning. 10 For I ſaw the captivity of my ſons and daughters, which the Everlaſting brought upon them. 11 With joy did I nouriſh them; but ſent them away with weeping and mourning. 12 Let no man rejoice over me a widow, and forſaken of many, who for the ſins of my children am left deſolate: becauſe they departed from the law of God. 13 They knew not his ſtatutes, nor walked in the ways of his commandments, nor trod in the paths of diſcipline in his righteouſneſs. 14 Let them that dwell about Sion come, and remember ye the captivity of my ſons and daughters, which the Everlaſting hath brought upon them. 15 For he hath brought a nation upon them from far, a ſhameleſs nation, and of a ſtrange language, who neither reverenced old men, nor pitied child. 16 Theſe have carried away the dear-beloved children of the widow, and left her that was alone deſolate without daughters. 17 But what can I help you? 18 For he that brought theſe plagues upon you, will deliver you from the hands of your enemies. 19 Go your way, O my children, go your way: for I am left deſolate. 20 I have put off the cloathing of peace, and put upon me the ſackcloth of my prayer: I will cry unto the Everlaſting in my days. 21 Be of good cheer, O my children, cry unto the Lord, and he ſhall deliver you from the power and hand of the enemies. 22 For my hope is in the Everlaſting, that he will ſave you, and joy is come unto me from the holy One, becauſe of the mercy which ſhall ſoon come unto you from the Everlaſting our Saviour. 23 For I ſent you out with mourning and weeping: but God will give you to me again with joy and gladgladneſs for ever. 24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion have ſeen your captivity; ſo ſhall they ſee ſhortly your ſalvation from our God, which ſhall come upon you with great glory and brightneſs of the Everlaſting. 25 My children, ſuffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from God: for thine enemy hath perſecuted thee; but ſhortly thou ſhalt ſee his deſtruction, and ſhalt tread upon his neck. 26 My delicate ones have gone rough ways, and were taken away as a flock caught of the enemies. 27 Be of good comfort, O my children, and cry unto God: for you ſhall be remembred of him that brought theſe things upon you. 28 For as it was your mind to go aſtray from God: ſo being returned, ſeek him ten times more. 29 For he that hath brought theſe plagues upon you, ſhall bring you everlaſting joy again with your ſalvation. 30 Take a good heart, O Jeruſalem: for he that gave thee that name will comfort thee. 31 Miſerable are they that afflicted thee, and rejoiced at thy fall. 32 Miſerable are the cities which thy children ſerved: miſerable is ſhe that received thy ſons. 33 For as ſhe rejoiced at thy ruin, and was glad at thy fall: ſo ſhall ſhe be grieved for her own deſolation. 34 For I will take away the rejoicing of her great multitude, and her pride ſhall be turned into mourning. 35 For fire ſhall come upon her from the Everlaſting, long to endure, and ſhe ſhall be inhabited of devils for a great time. 36 O Jeruſalem, look about thee towards the eaſt, and behold the joy that cometh unto thee from God. 37 Lo, thy ſons come whom thou ſenteſt away, they come gathered together from the eaſt to the weſt, by the word of the holy One, rejoicing in the glory of God.

Baruch recommends this Book as containing the everlaſting Law of God, which thoſe who obſerve and obey ſhall obtain Life, but thoſe who tranſgreſs it, certain Death. He comforts his Brethren with the Conſideration that the Will of God is made known to them; and that tho', for their Sins, they were Captives in a ſtrange Land, and Jeruſalem, for the Impieties of their Children, was deſolated and laid waſte, yet God would deliver them from their Enemies; and therefore it was their Duty to humble themſelves in Prayer to the Almighty, and God would ſpeedily appear in Mercy to them; that their Neighbours and Enemies, who had triumphed in their Misfortunes, ſhould ſee the Salvation which God would ſend them; and that, with their own Eyes, they ſhould ſoon behold the Deſtruction of their Perſecutors. From hence he takes Occaſion to comfort Jeruſalem, and encourages her to hope, aſſuring her, that Joy and Salvation were juſt ready to meet her.

CHAP. V.

Jeruſalem is exhorted to rejoice, on the Aſſurance that her Children ſhall return from their Captivity.

Ver. 1. PUT off, O Jeruſalem, the garment of thy mourning and affliction, and put on the comelineſs of the glory that cometh from God for ever. 2 Caſt about thee a double garment of the righteouſneſs which cometh from God; and ſet a diadem on thine head, of the glory of the Everlaſting. 3 For God will ſhew thy brightneſs unto every country under heaven. 4 For thy name ſhall be called of God for ever, The peace of righteouſneſs, and the glory of Gods worſhip. 5 Ariſe, O Jeruſalem, and ſtand on high, and look about toward the eaſt, and behold thy children gathered from the weſt unto the eaſt by the word of the holy One, rejoicing in the remembrance of God. 6 For they departed from thee on foot, and were led away of their enemies: but God bringeth them unto thee exalted with glory, as children of the kingdom. 7 For God hath appointed that every high hill, and banks of long continuance ſhould be caſt down, and valleys filled up, to make even the ground, that Iſrael may go ſafely in the glory of God. 8 Moreover, even the woods, and every ſweet-ſmelling tree, ſhall overſhadow Iſrael by the commandments of God. 9 For God ſhall lead Iſrael with joy, in the light of his glory, with the mercy and righteouſneſs that cometh from him.

Behold thy Children gathered from the Weſt unto the Eaſt] When the Prophets ſpeak of the Captivity in Babylon, they deſcribe that City as lying towards the North of Judea: But Baruch, here, is gathering his People from the Weſt and Eaſt; which confirms me in Opinion, that the Captivity, from which he promiſes a Return, was not the Babylonian, but rather the Roman, by which the Jews were ſcattered into all Parts of the World; and if ſo, is another Proof, that Baruch is a Name aſſumed by the Author of this Book, which, in that Caſe, muſt be wrote after the laſt Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

The Epiſtle of JEREMY.

CHAP. VI.

The Cauſe of their Captivity. The Place of their Captivity. The Vanity of Idols and Idolatry.

Ver. 1. A Copy of an epiſtle which Jeremy ſent unto them which were to be led captives into Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to certify them as it was commanded him of God. 2 Becauſe of the ſins which ye have committed before God, ye ſhall be led away captives into Babylon, by Nabuchodonoſor, king of the Babylonians. 3 So when ye be come unto Babylon, ye ſhall remain there many years and for a long ſeaſon, namely ſeven generations: and after that, I will bring you away peaceably from thence. 4 Now ſhall ye ſee in Babylon gods of ſilver, and of gold, and of wood, borne upon ſhoulders, which cauſe the nations to fear. 5 Beware therefore that ye in no wiſe be like to ſtrangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye ſee the multitude before them, and behind them, worſhipping them. 6 But ſay ye in your hearts, O Lord, we muſt worſhip thee. 7 For mine angel is with you, and I myſelf caring for your ſouls. 8 As for their tongue, it is poliſhed by the workman, and they themſelves are gilded and laid over with gold, yet are they but falſe, and cannot ſpeak. 9 And taking gold as it were for a virgin that loves to go gay, they make crowns for the heads of their gods. 10 Sometimes alſo the prieſts convey from their gods gold and ſilver, and beſtow it upon themſelves. 11 Yea, they will give thereof to the common harlots, and deck them as men with garments [being] gods of ſilver, and gods of gold, and wood. 12 Yet cannot theſe gods ſave themſelves ſelves from ruſt and moths, though they be covered with purple raiment. 13 They wipe their faces becauſe of the duſt of the temple, when there is much upon them. 14 And he that cannot put to death one that offendeth him, holdeth a ſceptre, as though he were a judge of the country. 15 He hath alſo in his right hand a dagger, and an axe: but cannot deliver himſelf from war and thieves. 16 Whereby they are known not to be gods: therefore fear them not. 17 For like as a veſſel that a man uſeth, is nothing worth when it is broken; even ſo it is with their gods: when they be ſet up in the temple, their eyes be full of duſt, through the feet of them that come in. 18 And as the doors are made ſure on every ſide, upon him that offendeth the king, as being committed to ſuffer death: even ſo the prieſts make faſt their temples, with doors, with locks and bars, leſt their gods be ſpoiled with robbers. 19 They light them candles, yea more than for themſelves, whereof they cannot ſee one. 20 They are as one of the beams of the temple, yet they ſay their hearts are gnawed upon by things creeping out of the earth, and when they eat them and their cloaths, they feel it not. 21 Their faces are blacked through the ſmoak that comes out of the temple. 22 Upon their bodies and heads ſit bats, ſwallows, and birds, and the cats alſo. 23 By this ye may know that they are no gods: therefore fear them not. 24 Notwithſtanding the gold that is about them to make them beauful, except they wipe off the ruſt, they will not ſhine: for neither when they were molten did they feel it. 25 The things wherein there is no breath, are bought for a moſt high price. 26 They are borne upon ſhoulders, having no feet, whereby they declare unto men that they be nothing worth. 27 They alſo that ſerve them, are aſhamed: for if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot riſe up again of themſelves: neither if one ſet them upright, can they move of themſelves: neither if they be bowed down, can they make themſelves ſtraight: but they ſet gifts before them as unto dead men. 28 As for the things that are ſacrificed unto them, their prieſts ſell and abuſe: in like manner their wives lay up part thereof in ſalt, but unto the poor and impotent they give nothing of it. 29 Menſtruous women, and women in childbed eat their ſacrifices: by theſe things ye may know that they are no gods: fear them not. 30 For how can they be called gods? becauſe women ſet meat before the gods of ſilver, gold, and wood. 31 And the prieſts ſit in their temples, having their cloaths rent, and their heads and beards ſhaven, and nothing upon their heads. 32 They roar and cry before their gods, as men do at the feaſt when one is dead. 33 The prieſts alſo take off their garments, and cloath their wives and children. 34 Whether it be evil that one doth unto them, or good, they are not able to recompenſe it: they can neither ſet up a king, nor put him down. 35 In like manner, they can neither give riches nor money: though a man make a vow unto them, and keep it not, they will not require it. 36 They can ſave no man from death, neither deliver the weak from the mighty. 37 They cannot reſtore a blind man to his ſight, nor help any man in his diſtreſs. 38 They can ſhew no mercy to the widow, nor do good to the fatherleſs. 39 Their gods of wood, and which are overlaid with gold and ſilver, are like the ſtones that be hewn out of the mountain: they that worſhip them ſhall be confounded. 40 How ſhould a man then think and ſay that they are gods, when even the Chaldeans themſelves diſhonour them? 41 Who if they ſhall ſee one dumb that cannot ſpeak, they bring him and entreat Bel that he may ſpeak, as though he were able to underſtand. 42 Yet they cannot underſtand this themſelves,, and leave them: for they have no knowledge. 43 The women alſo with cords about them, ſitting in the ways, burn bran for perfume: but if any of them drawn by ſome that paſſeth by, lie with him; ſhe reproacheth her fellow, that ſhe was not thought as worthy as herſelf, nor her cord broken. 44 Whatſoever is done among them is falſe: how may it then be thought or ſaid that they are gods? 45 They are made of carpenters and goldſmiths: they can be nothing elſe than the workman will have them to be. 46 And they themſelves that made them can never continue long; how ſhould then the things that are made of them be gods? 47 For they left lies and reproaches to them that come after. 48 For when there cometh any war or plague upon them, the prieſts conſult with themſelves where they may be hidden with them. 49 How then cannot men perceive that they be no gods, which can neither ſave themſelves from war nor from plague? 50 For ſeeing they be but of wood, and overlaid with ſilver and gold, it ſhall be known hereafter that they are falſe: 51 And it ſhall manifeſtly appear to all nations and kings, that they are no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no work of God in them. 52 Who then may not know that they are no gods? 53 For neither can they ſet up a king in the land, nor give rain unto men. 54 Neither can they judge their own cauſe, nor redreſs a wrong, being unable: for they are as crows between heaven and earth. 55 Whereupon when fire falleth upon the houſe of gods of wood, or laid over with gold or ſilver, their prieſts will flee away and eſcape; but they themſelves ſhall be burnt aſunder like beams. 56 Moreover, they cannot withſtand any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or ſaid that they be gods? 57 Neither are thoſe gods of wood, and laid over with ſilver or gold, able to eſcape either from thieves or robbers. 58 Whoſe gold, and ſilver, and garments, wherewith they are cloathed, they that are ſtrong do take and go away withal: neither are they able to help themſelves. 59 Therefore it is better to be a king that ſheweth his power, or elſe a profitable veſſel in an houſe, which the owner ſhall have uſe of, than ſuch falſe gods; or to be a door in an houſe, to keep ſuch things ſafe as be therein, than ſuch falſe gods; or a pillar of wood in a palace, than ſuch falſe gods. 60 For ſun, moon, and ſtars, being bright, and ſent to do their offices, are obedient. 61 In like manner the lightning when it breaketh forth is eaſy to be ſeen, and after the ſame manner the wind bloweth in every country. 62 And when God commandeth the clouds to go over the whole world, they do as they are bidden. 63 And the fire ſent from above to con-conſume hills and woods, doeth as it is commanded: but theſe are like unto them neither in ſhew nor power. 64 Wherefore it is neither to be ſuppoſed nor ſaid that they are gods, ſeeing they are able neither to judge cauſes, nor to do good unto men. 65 Knowing therefore that they are no gods, fear them not. 66 For they can neither curſe nor bleſs kings. 67 Neither can they ſhew ſigns in the heavens among the heathen, nor ſhine as the ſun, nor give light as the moon. 68 The beaſts are better than they: for they can get under a covert and help themſelves. 69 It is then by no means manifeſt unto us that they are gods: therefore fear them not. 70 For as a ſcare-crow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing: ſo are their gods of wood, and laid over with ſilver and gold. 71 And likewiſe their gods of wood, and laid over with ſilver and gold, are like to a white thorn in an orchard that every bird ſitteth upon; as alſo to a dead body that is caſt into the dark. 72 And you ſhall know them to be no gods, by the bright purple that rotteth upon them: and they themſelves afterwards ſhall be eaten, and ſhall be a reproach in the country. 73 Better therefore is the juſt man that hath none idols: for he ſhall be far from reproach.

If this Epiſtle was written by the Prophet Jeremiah, it was undoubtedly penned ſoon after the taking of Jeruſalem by the Chaldeans, and, perhaps, while the People were in the Enemy's Camp, and not yet carried out of the Land into Captivity. When the City was ſeized, Jeremiah had his Liberty granted him to reſide where he pleaſed, Jer. xl. and he choſe to remain in Judea with the Remnant of the People that were left. 'Tis probable, therefore, that he wrote this Epiſtle (if his) to his Brethren, who were juſt on the Point of taking their Journey into Captivity, in order to inſtruct them in their Conduct and Behaviour in the Country wherein they were to ſojourn. And as their Continuance in Bondage was to be very long, he particularly cautions them againſt the Idolatries which they would ſee rife in Babylon. The Gods that were there worſhipped, and the Folly of ſuch Worſhip, are very minutely deſcribed, the better to recommend to the People a cloſe and aſſiduous Worſhip of the only true God, the Creator of all Things, and the ſole Governor of the World.

But I rather imagine, that this Epiſtle is as ſpurious, as the Author of the Book, Baruch, is fictitious; as any one who compares the Writings of the true Jeremiah with this Epiſtle will eaſily judge. The Stile of the Prophet is ſtrong, nervous, and pathetick, but that of this Epiſtle is looſe, vague, and unaffecting, without the leaſt Mark of an inſpired Writer, and, conſequently, muſt be the Product of one who wrote much later than thoſe Times.

An EXPOSITION of the Song of the Three Children,

Which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this Place, ---fell down bound into the Midſt of the burning fiery Furnace. That which followeth is not in the Hebrew, to wit, And they walked --- unto theſe words, Then Nebuchadnezzar --- Verſe 24.

The ARGUMENT.

This Song was by the earlieſt Ages of the Chriſtian Church rejected as Apocrypha, tho' read and eſteemed as a good Formulary of pious Thoughts, Confeſſions, and Prayers, in the Midſt of extreme Calamities and imminent Dangers. And Ver. 10. gives ſome Ground to conjecture, that it is of the ſame Subject, Frame, and Scope, and therefore poſſibly written by the ſame Author, as the Book of Baruch.

Azarias his Prayer and Confeſſion. The Chaldeans about the Oven conſumed, but the Children in it unhurt. The Song of the Three Children in the fiery Furnace.

Ver. 1. AND they walked in the midſt of the fire, praiſing God, and bleſſing the Lord. 2 Then Azarias ſtood up and prayed on this manner; and opening his mouth in the midſt of the fire, ſaid, 3 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy name is worthy to be praiſed and glorified for evermore. 4 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou haſt done to us: yea, true are all thy works, thy ways are right, and all thy judgments truth, 5 In all the things which thou haſt brought upon us, and upon the holy city of our fathers, even Jeruſalem, thou haſt executed true judgment: for according to truth and judgment didſt thou bring all theſe things upon us, becauſe of our ſins. 6 For we have ſinned, and committed iniquity, departing from thee. 7 In all things have we treſpaſſed, and not obeyed thy commandments, nor kept them, neither done as thou haſt commanded us, that it might go well with us. 8 Wherefore all that thou haſt brought upon us, and and every thing that thou haſt done to us, thou haſt done in true judgment. 9 And thou didſt deliver us into the hands of lawleſs enemies, moſt hateful forſakers of God, and to an unjuſt king, and the moſt wicked in all the world. 10 And now we cannot open our mouths, we are become a ſhame and reproach to thy ſervants, and to them that worſhip thee. 11 Yet deliver us not up wholly, for thy names ſake, neither diſanul thou thy covenant: 12 And cauſe not thy mercy to depart from us, for thy beloved Abrahams ſake, for thy ſervant Iſaacs ſake, and for thy holy Iſraels ſake; 13 To whom thou haſt ſpoken and promiſed, That thou wouldeſt multiply their ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, and as the ſand that lieth upon the ſea-ſhore. 14 For we, O Lord, are become leſs than any nation, and be kept under this day in all the world becauſe of our ſins. 15 Neither is there at this time prince, or prophet, or leader, or burnt-offering, or ſacrifice, or oblation, or incenſe, or place to ſacrifice before thee, and to find mercy. 16 Nevertheleſs, in a contrite heart, and an humble ſpirit let us be accepted. 17 Like as in the burnt-offerings of rams and bullocks, and like as in ten thouſands of fat lambs: ſo let our ſacrifice be in thy ſight this day, and grant that we may wholly go after thee: for they ſhall not be confounded that put their truſt in thee. 18 And now we follow thee with all our heart, we fear thee, and ſeek thy face. 19 Put us not to ſhame: but deal with us after thy loving kindneſs, and according to the multitude of thy mercies. 20 Deliver us alſo according to thy marvellous works, and give glory to thy name, O Lord: and let all them that do thy ſervants hurt, be aſhamed; 21 And let them be confounded in all their power and might, and let their ſtrength be broken; 22 And let them know that thou art Lord, the only God, and glorious over the whole world. 23 And the kings ſervants that put them in, ceaſed not to make the oven hot with roſin, pitch, tow, and ſmall wood; 24 So that the flame ſtreamed forth above the furnace forty and nine cubits. 25 And it paſſed through, and burnt thoſe Chaldeans it found about the furnace. 26 But the angel of the Lord came down into the oven, together with Azarias and his fellows, and ſmote the flame of the fire out of the oven: 27 And made the midſt of the furnace, as it had been a moiſt whiſtling wind, ſo that the fire touched them not at all, neither hurt nor troubled them. 28 Then the three, as out of one mouth, praiſed, glorified, and bleſſed God in the furnace, ſaying, 29 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers: and to be praiſed and exalted above all for ever. 30 And bleſſed is thy glorious and holy name: and to be praiſed and exalted above all for ever. 31 Bleſſed art thou in the temple of thine holy glory: and to be praiſed and glorified above all for ever. 32 Bleſſed art thou that beholdeſt the depths, and ſitteſt upon the cherubims: and to be praiſed and exalted above all for ever. 33 Bleſſed art thou on the glorious throne of thy kingdom: and to be praiſed and glorified above all for ever. 34 Bleſſed art thou in the firmament of heaven: and above all to be praiſed and glorified for ever. 35 O all ye works of the Lord, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 36 O ye heavens, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 37 O ye angels of the Lord, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 38 O all ye waters that be above the heavens, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 39 O all ye powers of the Lord, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 40 O ye ſun and moon, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 41 O ye ſtars of heaven, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 42 O every ſhower and dew, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 43 O all ye winds, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 44 O ye fire and heat, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 45 O ye winter and ſummer, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 46 O ye dews and ſtorms of ſnow, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 47 O ye nights and days, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 48 O ye light and darkneſs, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 49 O ye ice and cold, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 50 O ye froſt and ſnow, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 51 O ye lightnings and clouds, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 52 O let the earth bleſs the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 53 O ye mountains and little hills, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 54 O all ye things that grow on the earth, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 55 O ye fountains, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 56 O ye ſeas and rivers, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 57 O ye whales, and all that move in the waters, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 58 O all ye fowls of the air, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 59 O all ye beaſts and cattel, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 60 O ye children of men, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 61 O Iſrael, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 62 O ye prieſts of the Lord, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 63 O ye ſervants of the Lord, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 64 O ye ſpirits and ſouls of the righteous, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 65 O ye holy and humble men of heart, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. 66 O Ananias, Azarias, and Miſael, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever: for he hath delivered us from hell, and ſaved us from the hand of death, and delivered us out of the midſt of the furnace and burning flame: even out of the midſt of the fire hath he delivered us. 67 O give thanks unto the Lord, becauſe he is gracious: for his mercy endureth for ever. 68 O all ye that worſhip the Lord, bleſs the God of gods, praiſe him, and give him thanks: for his mercy endureth for ever.

No ſooner were theſe Three Brethren fallen into the Midſt of the fiery Furnace (the Flame of which was ſo furious and exceſſive, that it deſtroyed thoſe who were were appointed Executioners of the King's tyrannick Decree,) but they got on their Feet, and by the powerful Aſſiſtance of an Angel, or, as ſome will have it, the Son of God himſelf, who was viſibly preſent to preſerve and ſecure them from the Fierceneſs of the Fire, they had not only the full Uſe of their Limbs, but the Faculties of Speech and Reaſon as free and perfect for Exerciſe, as tho' they had been at large and at full Liberty.

This they rightly judged was the fitteſt Occaſion that could poſſibly offer, to ſet forth, declare, and proclaim the Glory of the true God whom they worſhipped, and who now ſo eminently appeared to defend them from the Rage of the Flames, and the Fury of an idolatrous Tyrant. Accordingly Azarias opens his Mouth in the Midſt of the Fire, with a Prayer to God, wherein he confeſſes the Juſtice of the Almighty in puniſhing their Nation for their innumerable Tranſgreſſions of his Law, and the repeated Provocations they had given him; yet beſeeches the Lord that he would graciouſly accept them, ſince with the utmoſt Humility and Contrition of Heart they made their preſent Supplications to him, and truſted wholly to his Mercy and Goodneſs for Deliverance, and that by appearing for them at this Juncture, his Enemies may be confounded, and forced to acknowledge him to be the only true God.

An EXPOSITION of the Hiſtory of SUSANNA,

Set apart from the Beginning of Daniel, becauſe it is not in the Hebrew, as neither the Narration of Bel and the Dragon.

The ARGUMENT.

This Narration and the next, which St. Jerome indiſcriminately calls Fables, the Greeks antiently joined to the Book of Daniel, tho' others, for very cogent Reaſons, not only deny them the Quality of Divine Writings, but of true Hiſtories. For firſt, there is no Ground of Probability for attributing to Daniel, the great Prophet, the Things here related, ſince he is here called young Child, at which Age he was carried to Babylon: But in that ſmall Number of Years, in which that Appellation might ſuit him, the publick and private State of the Jews in Babylon, could not have attained to that Peace, Authority, and Commodiouſneſs as is ſet down in this Narrative. Beſides, Daniel living in the Palace, and ordinarily in the King's Service; and afterwards being employed in the great Affairs of the Kingdom, it is not likely he ſhould be an ordinary Judge of his People, in quality of an Elder, as is here affirmed. The ſuppoſing another Daniel, as ſome do, is preſumptuous, and deſtroys the Authority of theſe Writings, chiefly grounded on the Name of the true Daniel; nor is there any Proof, that the Jews in Babylon had abſolute Power to give Judgment in capital Offences. And, finally, the Alluſion of Greek Names of the Trees, under which Suſannah is accuſed to have committed the Fact, confirms the Opinion that this is ſome Greek's Invention; ſince neither the Hebrew nor Chaldean Tongue, in which the true Daniel wrote, had any ſuch Reſemblance.

Two Elders of the Jews contrive to debauch Suſanna; which not being able to accompliſh, they accuſe her of Adultery, for which ſhe is condemned; but Daniel, on a Re-hearing, finds the two Judges guilty of bearing falſe Witneſs.

Ver. 1. THere dwelt a man in Babylon, called Joacim. 2 And he took a wife whoſe name was Suſanna, the daughter of Chelcias, a very fair woman, and one that feared the Lord. 3 Her parents alſo were righteous, and taught their daughter according to the law of Moſes. 4 Now Joacim was a great rich man, and had a fair garden joining unto his houſe, and to him reſorted the Jews: becauſe he was more honourable than all others. 5 The ſame year were appointed two of the antients of the people to be judges, ſuch as the Lord ſpake of, that wickedneſs came from Babylon from antient judges, who ſeemed to govern the people. 6 Theſe kept much at Joacims houſe: and all that had any ſuits in law came unto them. 7 Now when the people departed away at noon, Suſanna went into her huſbands garden to walk. 8 And the two elders ſaw her going in every day, and walking: ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her. 9 And they perverted their own mind, and turned away their eyes, that they might not look unto heaven, nor remember juſt judgments. 10 And albeit they both were wounded with her love: yet durſt not one ſhew another his grief. 11 For they were aſhamed to declare their luſt, that they deſired to have to do with her. 12 Yet they watched from day to day to ſee her. 13 And the one ſaid to the other, let us now go home: for it is dinner-time. 14 So when they were gone out, they parted the one from the other, and turning back again they came to the ſame place, and after they had aſked one another the cauſe, they acknowledged their luſt: then appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone. 15 And it fell out as they watched a fit time, ſhe went in as before, with two maids only, and ſhe was deſirous to waſh herſelf in the garden: for it was hot. 16 And there was no body body there ſave the two elders that had hid themſelves, and watched her. 17 Then ſhe ſaid to her maids, bring me oil, and waſhing-balls, and ſhut the garden doors, that I may waſh me. 18 And they did as ſhe bade them, and ſhut the garden-doors, and went out themſelves at privy-doors, to fetch the things that ſhe had commanded them: but they ſaw not the elders, becauſe they were hid. 19 Now when the maids were gone forth, the two elders roſe up, and ran unto her, ſaying, 20 Behold, the garden doors are ſhut, that no man can ſee us, and we are in love with thee, therefore conſent unto us, and lie with us. 21 If thou wilt not, we will bear witneſs againſt thee, that a young man was with thee: and therefore thou didſt ſend away thy maids from thee. 22 Then Suſanna ſighed, and ſaid, I am ſtraitned on every ſide: for if I do this thing, it is death unto me: and if I do it not, I cannot eſcape your hands. 23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not to do it, than to ſin in the ſight of the Lord. 24 With that Suſanna cried with a loud voice: and the two elders cried out againſt her. 25 Then ran the one, and opened the garden door. 26 So when the ſervants of the houſe heard the cry in the garden, they ruſhed in at a privy door, to ſee what was done unto her. 27 But when the elders had declared their matter, the ſervants were greatly aſhamed: for there was never ſuch a report made of Suſanna. 28 And it came to paſs the next day, when the people were aſſembled to her huſband Joacim, the two elders came alſo full of miſchievous imagination againſt Suſanna to put her to death, 29 And ſaid before the people, Send for Suſanna the daughter of Chelcias, Joacims wife: and ſo they ſent. 30 So ſhe came with her father and mother, her children, and all her kindred. 31 Now Suſanna was a very delicate woman, and beauteous to behold. 32 And theſe wicked men commanded to uncover her face [for ſhe was covered] that they might be filled with her beauty. 33 Therefore her friends and all that ſaw her, wept. 34 Then the two elders ſtood up in the midſt of the people, and laid their hands upon her head. 35 And ſhe weeping, looked up towards heaven: for her heart truſted in the Lord. 36 And the elders ſaid, As we walked in the garden alone, This woman came in with two maids, and ſhut the garden-doors, and ſent the maids away. 37 Then a young man who there was hid, came unto her, and lay with her. 38 Then we that ſtood in a corner of the garden, ſeeing this wickedneſs, ran unto them. 39 And when we ſaw them together, the man we could not hold: for he was ſtronger than we, and opened the door, and leaped out. 40 But having taken this woman, we aſked who the young man was, but ſhe would not tell us: theſe things do we teſtify. 41 Then the aſſembly believed them, as thoſe that were the elders and judges of the people: ſo they condemned her to death. 42 Then Suſanna cried out with a loud voice, and ſaid, O everlaſting God, that knoweſt the ſecrets, and knoweſt all things before they be: 43 Thou knoweſt that they have borne falſe witneſs againſt me, and behold, I muſt die, whereas I never did ſuch things as theſe men have maliciouſly invented againſt me. 44 And the Lord heard her voice. 45 Therefore when ſhe was led to be put to death, the Lord raiſed up the holy ſpirit of a young youth, whoſe name was Daniel. 46 Who cried with a loud voice, I am clear from the blood of this woman. 47 Then all the people turned them towards him, and ſaid, What mean theſe words that thou haſt ſpoken? 48 So he ſtanding in the midſt of them, ſaid, Are ye ſuch fools, ye ſons of Iſrael, that without examination or knowledge of the truth, ye have condemned a daughter of Iſrael? 49 Return again to the place of judgment: for they have borne falſe witneſs againſt her. 50 Wherefore all the people returned again in haſte, and the elders ſaid unto him, Come, ſit down among us, and ſhew it us, ſeeing God hath given thee the honour of an elder. 51 Then ſaid Daniel unto them, Put theſe two aſide, one far from another, and I will examine them. 52 So when they were put aſunder one from another, he called one of them, and ſaid unto him, O thou that art waxen old in wickedneſs, now thy ſins which thou haſt committed afore-time, are come to light. 53 For thou haſt pronounced falſe judgment, and haſt condemned the innocent, and haſt let the guilty go free, albeit the Lord ſaith, The innocent and righteous ſhalt thou not ſlay. 54 Now then, if thou haſt ſeen her, tell me, under what tree ſaweſt thou them companying together? Who anſwered, under a maſtick-tree. 55 And Daniel ſaid, Very well; thou haſt lied againſt thine own head; for even now the angel of God hath received the ſentence of God to cut thee in two. 56 So he put him aſide, and commanded to bring the other, and ſaid unto him, O thou ſeed of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beauty hath deceived thee, and luſt hath perverted thine heart. 57 Thus have ye dealt with the daughters of Iſrael, and they for fear companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickedneſs. 58 Now therefore tell me, under what tree didſt thou take them companying together? Who anſwered, Under a holm-tree. 59 Then ſaid Daniel unto him, Well, thou haſt alſo lied againſt thine own head: for the angel of God waiteth with the ſword to cut thee in two, that he may deſtroy you. 60 With that all the aſſembly cried out with a loud voice, and praiſed God, who ſaveth them that truſt in him. 61 And they aroſe againſt the two eldrs, (for Daniel had convicted them of falſe witneſs by their own mouth) 62 And according to the law of Moſes, they did unto them in ſuch ſort as they maliciouſly intended to do to their neighbour: and they put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was ſaved the ſame day. 63 Therefore Chelcias and his wife praiſed God for their daughter Suſanna, with Joacim her huſband, and all the kindred, becauſe there was no diſhoneſty found in her. 64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the ſight of the people.

This Story of Suſanna is told in ſuch plain Language and ſo eaſy a Stile, and the Author's Meaning everywhere ſo obvious, that it is impoſſible for the dulleſt Apprehenſion to miſtake it; and therefore, waving any further Comment upon it, I ſhall only make ſome general Obſervations upon the Whole.

Now, whether this Story be true and Fact as here repreſented, or only a Fiction invented for the Sake of a good Moral; either one or the other affords this Reflection, that wicked Deſigns, however cunningly contrived, are commonly by the Intervention of Providence, made the Means of puniſhing their Authors; and that Innocence, however vilified and traduced, is under the divine Care and Protection, which will either defend it againſt its moſt inveterate Enemies, or reward its Sufferings with the celeſtial Bleſſings of Peace and Tranquillity, Joy and Satisfaction, often in this Life, but aſſuredly in the next. This is amply verified in this Hiſtory of Suſanna and the two Elders. So cunningly had they laid their Plot againſt this Lady's Honour, that one would wonder how it miſcarried, till one conſiders that Innocence is always under the peculiar Care of divine Providence. Again, when theſe two ſanctified Hypocrites had met with a Repulſe from Suſanna, their Contrivance to ſcreen themſelves, and throw the whole Guilt upon her, is ſo well concerted, that one would think it almoſt impoſſible ſhe ſhould eſcape the Snare. Here we ſee an innocent virtuous Woman charged with a Crime, the Puniſhment of which, by the Jewiſh Law, was no leſs than Death itſelf; two antient grave Men, Elders of the People, Sages in the Law, and Judges of Right and Wrong, ſwear poſitively that they themſelves ſaw the Crime perpetrated, and confirm their Evidence with particular Circumſtances that accompanied the pretended Fact. What better Proof would a Jury require to convict a Perſon, than is here produced? But how vain are the moſt ſubtil Stratagems of Men, if God will not have them ſucceed! as we ſee in this Inſtance. Sentence of Death was even paſſed upon her, and immediate Execution ordered; yet in that very Moment of Extremity, when Death ſeemed inevitable, what a ſudden Turn was given to the whole Affair by the dextrous and diſcerning Spirit of Daniel! The chaſte and virtuous Suſanna, loaded with Ignominy, and threatened with inſtant Death, is acquitted with Honour, and ſignally delivered from the villainous Contrivances of her Enemies, who, by the wonderful Intervention of Providence, are made to ſuffer the Puniſhment which they had contrived for the injured and abuſed Suſanna.

An EXPOSITION of the Hiſtory of Bel and the Dragon,

Cut off from the End of Daniel.

The ARGUMENT.

This Hiſtory is of the ſame Stamp with the preceding, wholly apocryphal and fabulous; as is evident by comparing it with the true Narrative of Daniel, with reſpect to the real Grounds of the Malice and Hatred which the great Men of the Babyloniſh Court had conceived againſt him, and which induced them to requeſt of the King to have him thrown into the Lion's Den, abſolutely different from what are here given.

The Fraud of Bel's Prieſts diſcovered. The Dragon killed. Daniel thrown into the Lion's Den, and his miraculous Preſervation and Deliverance.

Ver. 1. AND king Aſtyages was gathered to his fathers, and Cyrus of Perſia received his kingdom. 2 And Daniel converſed with the king, and was honoured above all his friends. 3 Now the Babylonians had an idol called Bel, and there were ſpent upon him every day twelve great meaſures of fine flour, and forty ſheep, and ſix veſſels of wine. 4 And the king worſhipped it, and went daily to adore it: but Daniel worſhipped his own God. And the king ſaid unto him, Why doſt not thou worſhip Bel? 5 Who anſwered and ſaid, Becauſe I may not worſhip idols made with hands, but the living God, who hath created the heaven and the earth, and hath ſovereignty over all fleſh. 6 Then ſaid the king unto him, Thinkeſt thou not that Bel is a living God? ſeeſt thou not how much he eateth and drinketh every day? 7 Then Daniel ſmiled, and ſaid, O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and braſs without, and did never eat or drink any thing. 8 So the king was wroth, and called for his prieſts, and ſaid unto them, If ye tell me not who this is that devoureth theſe expenſes, ye ſhall die. 9 But if ye can certify me that Bel devoureth them, then Daniel ſhall die: for he hath ſpoken blaſphemy againſt Bel. And Daniel ſaid unto the king, Let it be according to thy word. 10 (Now the prieſts of Bel were threeſcore and ten, beſide their wives and children) and the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel. 11 So Bels prieſts ſaid, Lo, we go out: but thou, O king, ſet on the meat, and make ready the wine, and ſhut the door faſt, and ſeal it with thine own ſignet. 12 And to morrow when thou comeſt in, if thou findeſt not that Bel hath eaten up all, we will ſuffer death; or elſe Daniel that ſpeaketh falſly againſt us. 13 And they little regarded it: for under the table they had made a privy entrance, whereby they entred in continually, and conſumed thoſe things. 14 So when they were gone forth, the king ſet meats before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his ſervants to bring aſhes, and thoſe they ſtrewed throughout all the temple, in the preſence of the king alone: then went they out, and ſhut the door, and ſealed it with the kings ſignet, and ſo departed. 15 Now in the night came the prieſts with their wives and children (as they were wont to do) and did eat and drink up all. 16 In the morning betime the king aroſe, and Daniel with him. 17 And the king ſaid, Daniel, are the ſeals whole? And he ſaid, Yea, O king, they be whole. 18 And aſſoon as he had opened the door, the king looked upon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit at all. 19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he ſhould not go in, and ſaid, Behold now the pavement, and mark well whoſe footſteps are theſe. 20 And the king ſaid, I ſee the footſteps of men, women, and children. And then the king was angry, 21 And took the prieſts with their wives and children, who ſhewed him the privy doors where they came in, and conſumed ſuch things as were upon the table. 22 Therefore the king ſlew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who deſtroyed him and his temple. 23 And in that ſame place there was a great dragon which they of Babylon worſhipped. 24 And the king ſaid unto Daniel, Wilt thou alſo ſay that this is of braſs? lo, he liveth, he eateth and drinketh, thou canſt not ſay that he is no living God: therefore worſhip him. 25 Then ſaid Daniel unto the king, I will worſhip the Lord my God: for he is the living God. 26 But give me leave, O king, and I ſhall ſlay this dragon without ſword or ſtaff. The king ſaid, I give thee leave. 27 Then Daniel took pitch, and fat, and hair, and did ſeeth them together, and made lumps thereof: this he put in the dragons mouth, and ſo the dragon burſt in ſunder: and Daniel ſaid, Lo, theſe are the gods you worſhip. 28 When they of Babylon heard that, they took great indignation, and conſpired againſt the king, ſaying, The king is become a Jew, and he hath deſtroyed Bel, he hath ſlain the dragon, and put the prieſts to death. 29 So they came to the king, and ſaid, Deliver us Daniel, or elſe we will deſtroy thee and thine houſe. 30 Now when the king ſaw that they preſſed him ſore; being conſtrained, he delivered Daniel unto them: 31 Who caſt him into the lions den: where he was ſix days. 32 And in the den there were ſeven lions, and they had given them every day two carcaſes, and two ſheep: which then were not given to them, to the intent they might devour Daniel. 33 Now there was in Jewry a prophet called Habbacuc, who had made pottage, and had broken bread in a bowl: and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers. 34 But the angel of the Lord ſaid unto Habbacuc, Go carry the dinner that thou haſt into Babylon unto Daniel, who is in the lions den. 35 And Habbacuc ſaid, Lord, I never ſaw Babylon: neither do I know where the den is. 36 Then the angel of the Lord took him by the crown, and bare him by the hair of his head, and through the vehemency of his ſpirit, ſet him in Babylon over the den. 37 And Habbacuc cried, ſaying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner which God hath ſent thee. 38 And Daniel ſaid, Thou haſt remembred me, O God: neither haſt thou forſaken them that ſeek thee, and love thee. 39 So Daniel aroſe, and did eat: and the angel of the Lord ſet Habbacuc in his own place again immediately. 40 Upon the ſeventh day the king went to bewail Daniel: and when he came to the den, he looked in, and behold, Daniel was ſitting. 41 Then cried the king with a loud voice, ſaying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other beſides thee. 42 And he drew him out, and caſt thoſe that were the cauſe of his deſtruction into the den: and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

In order to give an Air of Importance to this Hiſtory, (or rather Fable, as indeed it is) Daniel, who by his conſummate Wiſdom, and his wonderful Knowledge in divine Myſteries, was become the moſt famous Man in that Part of the World, is introduced as principal Actor in this Affair. The Story is told in a ſimple plain Manner, but the Moral, and the Reflections that naturally ariſe from it, deſerve ſome Regard.

We here ſee a King ſo bigotted to the Worſhip of a ſenſeleſs Idol, that nothing leſs than ocular Demonſtration will convince him of his Error. We have here likewiſe a Parcel of crafty Prieſts, who make a Property of the King's Credulity, and convert his erroneous Piety to their own private Emolument. We ſee likewiſe the King's Reſentment upon his Conviction; and who can wonder at it, who conſiders how little a Man of Eminence and Spirit could brook ſo notorious an Impoſition?

The Story of the Dragon is much in the ſame Taſte with that of Bel; and the Iſſue of it proved, what Daniel intended; viz. that God Almighty, the Creator of the World, was the only true Object of divine Worſhip. Tho' Daniel's Deſign was good, and conſiſtent as well with Reaſon as Religion, yet, behold the Effects of Bigotry and Superſtition! the Populace were ſo enraged at the Deſtruction of their Gods, that nothing would ſatisfy them but the Sacrifice of the Author of ſuch horrid Impiety. Accordingly Daniel is thrown among the Lions, whoſe Appetites that they might be ſufficiently whetted to devour him, no other Food was given them for ſix Days ſucceſſively. This did but inhance the Greatneſs of his Deliverance, and erect a noble Monument to the Glory of that God whom Daniel worſhipped.

An EXPOSITION of the Prayer of MANASSEH, King of Juda, When he was holden captive in Babylon.

The ARGUMENT.

This Prayer, tho' pious and holy, and full of divine Sentiments, was never received nor ſeen by the antient Jewiſh Church. And it ſeems more likely to be the Formulary of a Prayer compoſed for the Uſe of ſome great Prince, who, conſcious of his own Wickedneſs, repented his Sins, and ſet himſelf to ſeek the Lord with his whole Heart, as probably Manaſſeh did when he was carried Priſoner to Babylon, than a Prayer actually made by himſelf: This, however, is the Opinion of the Learned concerning it.

O Lord, Almighty God of our fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and of their righteous ſeed; who haſt made heaven and earth, with all the ornament thereof; who haſt bound the ſea by the word of thy commandment; who haſt ſhut up the deep, and ſealed it by thy terrible and glorious name; whom all men fear, and tremble before thy power; for the majeſty of thy glory cannot be borne, and thine angry threatning towards ſinners is importable: but thy merciful promiſe is unmeaſurable and unſearchable; for thou art the moſt high Lord, of great compaſſion, long-ſuffering, very merciful, and repenteſt of the evils of men. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodneſs haſt promiſed repentance, and forgiveneſs to them that have ſinned againſt thee: and of thine infinite mercies haſt appointed repentance unto ſinners, that they may be ſaved. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the juſt, haſt not appointed repentance to the juſt, as to Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, which have not ſinned againſt thee; but thou haſt appointed repentance unto me that am a ſinner: for I have ſinned above the number of the ſand of the ſea. My tranſgreſſions, O Lord, are multiplied: my tranſgreſſions are multiplied, and I am not worthy to behold and ſee the height of heaven, for the multitude of mine iniquity. I am bowed down with many iron bands, that I cannot lift up mine head, neither have any releaſe: for I have provoked thy wrath, and done evil before thee, I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandments: I have ſet up abominations, and have multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beſeeching thee of grace: I have ſinned, O Lord, I have ſinned, and I acknowledge mine iniquities: wherefore I humbly beſeech thee forgive me, O Lord, forgive me, and deſtroy me not with mine iniquities. Be not angry with me for ever, by reſerving evil for me; neither condemn me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt ſhew all thy goodneſs: for thou wilt ſave me that am unworthy, according to thy great mercy. Therefore I will praiſe thee for ever all the days of my life: for all the power of the heavens do praiſe thee, and thine is the glory for ever and ever. Amen.

An EXPOSITION of the firſt Book of the MACCABEES.

The ARGUMENT.

The Title of this Book is taken from the Sirname of Judas, whoſe heroic Deeds for the Deliverance of his Nation from the wicked and cruel Perſecution of Antiochus, King of Syria, is the chief Subject of it. It's uncertain what this Word Maccabee ſignifieth, tho' it's certain it is an Hebrew Word; ſome think it was a warlike Title, intimating a Deſtroyer or Slayer. Others, more probably, conceive it was framed of four Hebrew Letters, which were the firſt Letters of theſe Words, Mi Camo-ka Baelim, Jehovah, i. e. Who is like unto thee among the Gods, O Lord? out of which Judas had com- composed his Military Motto, taken from Exod. xv. 11. This seems a reasonable Conjecture, because the general Appellation of that Race of Priests, by whom God eminently delivered his People, and afterwards governed them, until the Time of Christ's coming in the Flesh drew near, was the Asmoneans, of the Name of the Father, or Grandfather of Mattathias, the Father of Judas Maccabeus and his Brethren. And because this Name Asmoneas signifies, in the Hebrew, Baron, or great Lord, it's likely they kept it for a Sign of modest Honour and Dignity; which notwithstanding grew to the Height of Sovereignty in Simon, one of the aforesaid Brothers; and afterwards of Royalty, joined with the Priesthood, in his Successors.

With regard to the Author of this Book, whoever he was, there is no Ground to suppose he was endowed with prophetical Inspiration; because that Gift had, a long Time before, ceased among the Jews; and therefore this Book cannot be numbered with the Canonical and Divine. The Subject of it is, indeed, acknowledged to be profitable, and even necessary for the right understanding of Daniel's and some other Prophecies; its Stile is also grave and pure; tho', at this Time, we have only the Greek Translation, and not the true Hebrew Original.

CHAP. I.

A Deduction of the Descent of Antiochus Epiphanes from one of Alexander's Captains. Antiochus complies with the Request of some apostate Jews to introduce Gentilism into Jerusalem.

Ver. 1. AND it happened, after that Alexander son of Philip the Macedonian, who came out of the land of Chettim, had smitten Darius king of the Persians and Medes, that he reigned in his stead the first over Greece, 2 And made many wars, and wan many strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth, 3 And went through to the ends of the earth, and took spoils of many nations, insomuch that the earth was quiet before him; whereupon he was exalted, and his heart was lifted up. 4 And he gathered a mighty strong host, and ruled over countries, and nations, and kings, who became tributaries unto him. 5 And after these things he fell sick, and perceived that he should die. 6 Wherefore he called his servants, such as were honourable, and had been brought up with him from his youth, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet alive. 7 So Alexander reigned twelve years, and then died. 8 And his servants bare rule every one in his place. 9 And after his death they all put crowns upon themselves; so did their sons after them many years: and evils were multiplied in the earth. 10 And there came out of them a wicked root, Antiochus, surnamed Epiphanes, son of Antiochus the king, who had been an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundred and thirty and seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks. 11 In those days went there out of Israel wicked men, who persuaded many, saying, Let us go and make a covenant with the heathen that are round about us: for since we departed from them, we have had much sorrow. 12 So this device pleased them well. 13 Then certain of the people were so forward herein, that they went to the king, who gave them license to do after the ordinances of the heathen: 14 Whereupon they built a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the customs of the heathen: 15 And made themselves uncircumcised, and forsook the holy covenant, and joined themselves to the heathen, and were sold to do mischief. 16 Now when the kingdom was established before Antiochus, he thought to reign over Egypt, that he might have the dominion of two realms. 17 Wherefore he entred into Egypt with a great multitude, with chariots, and elephants, and horsemen, and a great navy. 18 And made war against Ptolemee king of Egypt: but Ptolemee was afraid of him, and fled; and many were wounded to death. 19 Thus they got the strong cities in the land of Egypt, and he took the spoils thereof. 20 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he returned again in the hundred forty and third year, and went up against Israel and Jerusalem with a great multitude, 21 And entred proudly into the sanctuary, and took away the golden altar, and the candlestick of light, and all the vessels thereof, 22 And the table of the shew-bread, and the pouring vessels, and the vials, and the censers of gold, and the vail, and the crowns, and the golden ornaments that were before the temple, all which he pulled off. 23 He took also the silver and the gold, and the precious vessels: also he took the hidden treasures which he found. 24 And when he had taken all away, he went into his own land, having made a great massacre, and spoken very proudly. 25 Therefore there was great mourning in Israel, in every place where they were; 26 So that the princes and elders mourned, the virgins and young men were made feeble, and the beauty of women was changed. 27 Every bridegroom took up lamentation, and she that sat in the marriage-chamber, was in heaviness. 28 The land also was moved for the inhabitants thereof, and all the house of Jacob was covered with confusion. 29 And after two years fully expired, the king sent his chief collector of tribute unto the cities of Juda, who came unto Jerusalem with a great multitude, 30 And spake peaceable words unto them, but all was deceit: for when they had given him credence, he fell suddenly upon the city, and smote it very sore, and destroyed much people of Israel. 31 And when he had taken the spoils of the city, he set it on fire, and pulled down the houses and walls thereof on every side. 32 But the women and children took they captive, and possessed the cattel. 33 Then built they the city of David with a great and strong wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them. 34 And they put therein a sinful nation, wicked men, and fortified themselves therein. 35 They stored it also with armour and victuals, and when they had gathered together the spoils of Jerusalem, they laid them up there, and so they became a sore snare. 36 For it was a place to lie in wait against the sanctuary, and an evil adversary to Israel. 37 Thus they shed innocent blood on every side of the sanctuary, and defiled it: 38 Into-

Inſomuch that the inhabitants of Jeruſalem fled becauſe of them: whereupon the city was made an habitation of ſtrangers, and became ſtrange to thoſe that were born in her, and her own children left her. 39 Her ſanctuary was laid waſte like a wilderneſs, her feaſts were turned into mourning, her ſabbaths into reproach, her honour into contempt. 40 As had been her glory, ſo was her diſhonour increaſed, and her excellency was turned into mourning. 41 Moreover, king Antiochus wrote to his whole kingdom, that all ſhould be one people, 42 And every one ſhould leave his laws: ſo all the heathen agreed according to the commandment of the king. 43 Yea, many alſo of the Iſraelites conſented to his religion, and ſacrificed unto idols, and profaned the ſabbath. 44 For the king had ſent letters by meſſengers unto Jeruſalem and the cities of Juda, that they ſhould follow the ſtrange laws of the land, 45 And forbid burnt-offerings, and ſacrifice, and drink-offerings in the temple; and that they ſhould profane the ſabbaths, and feſtival days: 46 And pollute the ſanctuary, and holy people: 47 Set up altars and groves, and chappels of idols, and ſacrifice ſwines fleſh, and unclean beaſts: 48 That they ſhould alſo leave their children uncircumciſed, and make their ſouls abominable with all manner of uncleanneſs and profanation: 49 To the end they might forget the law, and change all the ordinances. 50 And whoſoever would not do according to the commandment of the king, he ſaid, he ſhould die. 51 In the ſelf-ſame manner wrote he to his whole kingdom, and appointed overſeers over all the people, commanding the cities of Juda to ſacrifice city by city. 52 Then many of the people were gathered unto them, to wit, every one that forſook the law, and ſo they committed evils in the land: 53 And drove the Iſraelites into ſecret places, even whereſoever they could flee for ſuccour. 54 Now the fifteenth day of the month Caſleu, in the hundred and forty and fifth year, they ſet up the abomination of deſolation upon the altar, and builded idol-altars throughout the cities of Juda, on every ſide; 55 And burnt incenſe at the doors of their houſes, and in the ſtreets. 56 And when they had rent in pieces the books of the law which they found, they burnt them with fire. 57 And whereſoever was found with any the book of the teſtament, or if any conſented to the law, the kings commandment was, that they ſhould put him to death. 58 Thus did they by their authority unto the Iſraelites every month, to as many as were found in the cities. 59 Now the five and twentieth day of the month, they did ſacrifice upon the idol-altar, which was upon the altar of God. 60 At which time, according to the commandment, they put to death certain women that had cauſed their children to be circumciſed. 61 And they hanged the infants about their necks, and rifled their houſes, and ſlew them that had circumciſed them. 62 Howbeit, many in Iſrael were fully reſolved and confirmed in themſelves, not to eat any unclean thing. 63 Wherefore they choſe rather to die, that they might not be defiled with meats, and that they might not profane the holy covenant: ſo then they died. 64 And there was very great wrath upon Iſrael.

And he reigned in the hundred and thirty and ſeventh Year of the Greeks] That is, from the Time that the Kingdom of Syria fell into the Family of Seleucus.

If we compare the Character, Exploits, and Tyranny of Antiochus Epiphanes, which he exerciſed over the Jews, with the Prophecy of Daniel, Ch. viii, xi. as explained by our Notes thereupon, the Deſcription is ſo very like in both Places, that had the Prophet perſonally known the Man, and been acquainted with his Actions and Conduct, he could not have given a more exact Account of him.

And forbid Burnt-offerings, and Sacrifice, and Drink-offerings in the Temple] This is an exact Completion of that Prophecy of Dan. viii. 11. And by him the daily Sacrifice was taken away, which happened above two Years after Antiochus's firſt Invaſion of Judea. CHAP. II.

Mattathias's Zeal for the true Worſhip of God.

Ver. 1. IN thoſe days aroſe Mattathias the ſon of John, the ſon of Simeon, a prieſt of the ſons of Joarib, from Jeruſalem, and dwelt in Modin. 2 And he had five ſons, Joannan called Gaddis. 3 Simon called Thaſſi: 4 Judas, who was called Maccabeus: 5 Eleazar called Avaran, and Jonathan, whoſe ſurname was Apphus. 6 And when he ſaw the blaſphemies that were committed in Juda and Jeruſalem, 7 He ſaid, Wo is me, wherefore was I born to ſee this miſery of my people, and of the holy city, and to dwell there when it was delivered into the hand of the enemy, and the ſanctuary into the hand of ſtrangers? 8 Her temple is become as a man without glory. 9 Her glorious veſſels are carried away into captivity, her infants are ſlain in the ſtreets, her young men with the ſword of the enemy. 10 What nation hath not had a part in her kingdom, and gotten of her ſpoils? 11 All her ornaments are taken away, of a free-woman ſhe is become a bond-ſlave. 12 And behold our ſanctuary, even our beauty and our glory is laid waſte, and the Gentiles have profaned it. 13 To what end therefore ſhall we live any longer? 14 Then Mattathias and his ſons rent their cloaths, and put on ſackcloth, and mourned very ſore. 15 In the mean while the kings officers, ſuch as compelled the people to revolt, came into the city Modin to make them ſacrifice. 16 And when many of Iſrael came unto them, Mattathias alſo and his ſons came together. 17 Then anſwered the kings officers, and ſaid to Mattathias on this wiſe, Thou art a ruler, and an honourable and great man in this city, and ſtrengthened with ſons and brethren: 18 Now therefore come thou firſt and fulfil the kings commandment, like as all the heathen have done, yea and the men of Juda alſo, and ſuch as remain at Jeruſalem: ſo ſhalt thou and thy houſe be in the number of the kings friends, and thou and thy children ſhall be honoured with ſilver, and gold, and many rewards. 19 Then Mattathias anſwered, and ſpake with a loud voice, Though all the nations that are under the kings dominion obey him, and fall away every one from the religion of their fathers, and give conſent to his commandments: 20 Yet will I, and my ſons, and my brethren, walk in the covenant of our fathers. 21 God forbid, that we ſhould forſake the law and the ordinances. 22 We

We will not hearken to the kings words, to go from our religion, either on the right hand or the left. 23 Now when he had left ſpeaking theſe words, there came one of the Jews in the ſight of all, to ſacrifice on the altar which was made at Modin, according to the kings commandment. 24 Which thing when Mattathias ſaw, he was inflamed with zeal, and his reins trembled, neither could he forbear to ſhew his anger according to judgment: wherefore he ran and ſlew him upon the altar. 25 Alſo the kings commiſſioner, who compelled men to ſacrifice, he killed at that time, and the altar he pulled down. 26 Thus dealt he zealouſly for the law of God, like as Phinees did unto Zambri the ſon of Salom. 27 And Mattathias cried throughout the city with a loud voice, ſaying, Whoſoever is zealous of the law, and maintaineth the covenant, let him follow me. 28 So he and his ſons fled into the mountains, and left all that ever they had in the city. 29 Then many that ſought after juſtice and judgment, went down into the wilderneſs to dwell there: 30 Both they and their children, and their wives, and their cattel, becauſe afflictions increaſed ſore upon them. 31 Now when it was told the kings ſervants, and the hoſt that was at Jeruſalem in the city of David, that certain men who had broken the kings commandment, were gone down into the ſecret places of the wilderneſs, 32 They purſued after them a great number, and having overtaken them, they camped againſt them, and made war againſt them on the ſabbath-day. 33 And they ſaid unto them, Let that which you have done hitherto, ſuffice; come forth, and do according to the commandment of the king, and you ſhall live. 34 But they ſaid, We will not come forth, neither will we do the kings commandment to profane the ſabbath-day. 35 So then they gave them the battle with all ſpeed. 36 Howbeit they anſwered them not, neither caſt they a ſtone at them, nor ſtopped the places where they lay hid; 37 But ſaid, Let us die all in our innocency: heaven and earth ſhall teſtify for us, that you put us to death wrongfully. 38 So they roſe up againſt them in battel on the ſabbath, and they ſlew them, with their wives and children, and their cattel, to the number of a thouſand people. 39 Now when Mattathias and his friends heard hereof, they mourned for them right ſore. 40 And one of them ſaid to another, If we all do as our brethren have done, and fight not for our lives and laws againſt the heathen, they will now quickly root us out of the earth. 41 At that time therefore they decreed, ſaying, Whoſoever ſhall come to make battel with us on the ſabbath-day, we will fight againſt him, neither will we die all, as our brethren that were murdered in the ſecret places. 42 Then came there unto him a company of Aſſideans, who were mighty men of Iſrael, even all ſuch as were voluntarily devoted unto the law. 43 Alſo all they that fled for perſecution, joined themſelves unto them, and were a ſtay unto them. 44 So they joined their forces, and ſmote ſinful men in their anger, and wicked men in their wrath: but the reſt fled to the heathen for ſuccour. 45 Then Mattathias and his friends went round about, and pulled down the altars. 46 And what children ſoever they found within the coaſt of Iſrael uncircumciſed, thoſe they circumciſed valiantly. 47 They purſued alſo after the proud men, and the work proſpered in their hand. 48 So they recovered the law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, neither ſuffered they the ſinner to triumph. 49 Now when the time drew near that Mattathias ſhould die, he ſaid unto his ſons, Now hath pride and rebuke gotten ſtrength, and the time of deſtruction, and the wrath of indignation: 50 Now therefore, my ſons, be ye zealous for the law, and give your lives for the covenant of your fathers. 51 Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their time, ſo ſhall ye receive great honour, and an everlaſting name. 52 Was not Abraham found faithful in temptation, and it was imputed unto him for righteouſneſs? 53 Joſeph in the time of his diſtreſs kept the commandment, and was made lord of Egypt. 54 Phinees our father, in being zealous and fervent, obtained the covenant of an everlaſting prieſthood. 55 Jeſus for fulfilling the word, was made a judge in Iſrael. 56 Caleb for bearing witneſs before the congregation, received the heritage of the land. 57 David for being merciful, poſſeſſed the throne of an everlaſting kingdom. 58 Elias for being zealous and fervent for the law, was taken up into heaven. 59 Ananias, Azarias, and Miſael, by believing, were ſaved out of the flame. 60 Daniel for his innocency was delivered from the mouth of lions. 61 And thus conſider ye throughout all ages, that none that put their truſt in him ſhall be overcome. 62 Fear not then the words of a ſinful man: for his glory ſhall be dung and worms. 63 To day he ſhall be lifted up, and to morrow he ſhall not be found, becauſe he is returned into his duſt, and his thought is come to nothing. 64 Wherefore ye my ſons be valiant, and ſhew yourſelves men in the behalf of the law, for by it ſhall you obtain glory. 65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counſel, give ear unto him alway: he ſhall be a father unto you. 66 As for Judas Maccabeus, he hath been mighty and ſtrong, even from his youth up: let him be your captain, and fight the battel of the people. 67 Take alſo unto you, all thoſe that obſerve the law, and avenge ye the wrong of your people. 68 Recompenſe fully the heathen, and take heed to the commandments of the law. 69 So he bleſſed them, and was gathered to his fathers. 70 And he died in the hundred forty and ſixth year, and his ſons buried him in the ſepulchres of his fathers at Modin, and all Iſrael made great lamentation for him.

A Prieſt of the Sons of Joarib] This was the firſt of the twenty-four Courſes of the Prieſts that ſerved in the Temple, 1 Chron. xxiv. 7. and, becauſe Mattathias undertook for the Neceſſity of fighting on the Sabbath, in caſe they were aſſaulted by the Enemy, ſome have from hence inferred, that the People had made Choice of him for their High-Prieſt: But, beſides that, this Deciſion is not ſufficient to prove this, and that it no where appears, that he ever performed the Office of High-Prieſt, but only put himſelf at the Head of a poor diſtreſſed People, as being a Perſon of the greateſt Power, and Authority among them, 'tis certain that both Menelaus and Alcimus were then alive; and tho' they were wicked Men, and Intruders into the Office, yet they were nominated by King Antiochus, (who then aſſumed the Right of Nomination) and ſo were were looked upon as High-Priests. Calmet's Dict. under the Word Mattathias.

At that Time therefore they decreed, saying, Whosoever shall come to make Battle with us on the Sabbath-day, we will fight against him] By the Law of Moses, the Jews were commanded to do no Manner of Work on the Sabbath-day; but this was a Precept which would admit of some Exceptions, and what some People took in a more rigorous Sense than others. The Samaritans, for Instance, thought themselves obliged to observe it to such a Degree of Strictness, as not to stir out of their Places on that Day, because the Law is literally so expressed, Exod. xvi. 29. but the Jews were of Opinion, that they were permitted to make their Escape from Danger, or to walk such a Compass of Ground, (which they called a Sabbath-day's Journey) if it were for any necessary Occasion, on that Day. In our Saviour's Time, it was allowable, they thought, to pull any Animal out of a Pit, or a Ditch on that Day, Matt. xii. 11. But the Talmudical Doctors were for revoking that Permission, and found fault with him for even healing the Sick and the Lame on the Sabbath. Mattathias, and his Company, by sundry Experiences, were convinced, that too scrupulous an Observance of the Sabbath, had brought several Calamities on their Nation; that Ptolemy, the Son of Lagus, the first King of Egypt of that Name, by assaulting Jerusalem on the Sabbath-day, (wherein the Jews would do nothing to defend themselves) became Master of it without Opposition; and that (but just lately) a great Number of their Brethren had been passively slain, because they would not so much as handle their Arms on that Day; and thereupon they came to a Resolution to defend themselves, whenever they were attacked, be the Day what it would; but we do not find that they came to any Decision, whether they themselves were to attack the Enemy on the Sabbath. On the contrary, it seems as if they had determined, that they were only permitted to repel Force by Force; and therefore we read that, when Pompey besieged the Temple, observing that the Jews did barely defend themselves on the seventh Day, he ordered his Men to offer no Hostilities, but only to raise the Batteries, plant their Engines, and make their Approaches on that Day, being well assured, that, in doing of this, he should meet with no Molestation from them; and, by this Means, he carried the Place much sooner, than he other-ways would have done. See Jewish Ant. L. xiv. C. 8. Jewish Wars, L. i. C. 5. and Calmet's Com.

Then came there unto him a Company of Assideans] When the Jewish Church came to be setled again in Judea, after the Return from the Babylonish Captivity, there were two Sorts of Men among the Members of it; the one, who contented themselves with that only which was written in the Law of Moses, and these were called Zadikim, i. e. the Righteous, and the other, who, over and above the Law, added the Constitutions and Traditions of the Elders, and, by way of Supererrogation, devoted themselves to many rigorous Observances; and these, being reckoned in a Degree of Holiness above the others, were called Chasidim, i. e. the Pious. From the former of these were derived the Sects of the Samaritans, Sadduces, and Karaits; and from the latter, the Pharisees, the Essenes, and Assideans. These Assideans, or Chasideans rather, (as they should be written) were a kind of religious Society, whose chief and distinguishing Character was, to maintain the Honour of the Temple; and therefore they were not only content to pay the usual Tribute for the Reparation of it, but charged themselves with farther Expences upon that Account; for every Day (except that of the great Expiation) they sacrificed a Lamb, (besides those of daily Oblation) which was called the Sin-offering of the Assideans. They practised greater Hardships and Mortifications than the rest, and their common Oath was, by the Temple, for which our Saviour reproves the Pharisees, Matt. xxiii. 16. who had learned that Oath of them. Mattathias however, being joined by Men of this Principle, who made it one of the main Points of their Piety to fight zealously for the Defence of the Temple, (which was then fallen into the Hands of the Heathen) was not a little strengthened in his Party, and in some Measure able to take the Field. Scaliger, in Elench. CHAP. III.

Judas overthrows the Forces of Samaria and Syria.

Ver. 1. THEN his son Judas, called Maccabeus, rose up in his stead. 2 And all his brethren helped him, and so did all they that held with his father, and they fought with cheerfulness the battel of Israel. 3 So he gat his people great honour, and put on a breastplate as a giant, and girt his warlike harness about him, and he made battels, protecting the host with his sword. 4 In his acts he was like a lion, and like a lions whelp roaring for his prey. 5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt up those that vexed his people. 6 Wherefore the wicked shrunk for fear of him, and all the workers of iniquity were troubled, because salvation prospered in his hand. 7 He grieved also many kings, and made Jacob glad with his acts, and his memorial is blessed for ever. 8 Moreover, he went through the cities of Juda, destroying the ungodly out of them, and turning away wrath from Israel: 9 So that he was renowned unto the utmost part of the earth, and he received unto him such as were ready to perish. 10 Then Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together, and a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel. 11 Which thing when Judas perceived, he went forth to meet him, and so he smote him, and slew him: many also fell down slain, but the rest fled. 12 Wherefore Judas took their spoils, and Apollonius sword also, and therewith he fought all his life long. 13 Now when Seron, a prince of the army of Syria, heard say that Judas had gathered unto him a multitude and company of the faithful, to go out with him to war; 14 He said, I will get me a name and honour in the kingdom, for I will go fight with Judas, and them that are with him, who despise the kings commandment. 15 So he made him ready to go up, and there went with him a mighty host of the ungodly to help him, and to be avenged of the children of Israel. 16 And when he came near to the going up of Bethoron, Judas went forth to meet him with a small company. 17 Who when they saw the host coming to meet them, said unto Judas, How shall we be able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude and so strong, seeing we are ready to faint with fasting all this day? 18 Unto whom Judas answered, It is no hard matter for many to be shut up in the hands of a few; and with the God of heaven it is all one to deliver with a great multitude, or a small company. 19 For the victory of a battel standeth not in the multitude of an host, but strength cometh from heaven. 20 They come against us in much pride and iniquity to destroy us, and our wives and children, and to spoil us: 21 But we fight for our lives, and our laws. 22 Wherefore the Lord himself will overthrow them before our face: and as for you, be ye not afraid of them. 23 Now assoon as he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly upon them, and so Seron and his host was overthrown before him. 24

And they purſued them from the going down of Bethoron unto the plain, where were ſlain about eight hundred men of them; and the reſidue fled into the land of the Philiſtines. 25 Then began the fear of Judas and his brethren, and an exceeding great dread to fall upon the nations round about them: 26 Inſomuch as his fame came unto the king, and all nations talked of the battels of Judas. 27 Now when king Antiochus heard theſe things, he was full of indignation: wherefore he ſent, and gathered together all the forces of his realm, even a very ſtrong army. 28 He opened alſo his treaſure, and gave his ſoldiers pay for a year, commanding them to be ready whenſoever he ſhould need them. 29 Nevertheleſs, when he ſaw that the money of his treaſures failed, and that the tributes in the country were ſmall, becauſe of the diſſenſion and plague which he had brought upon the land, in taking away the laws which had been of old time; 30 He feared that he ſhould not be able to bear the charges any longer, nor to have ſuch gifts to give ſo liberally as he did before: for he had abounded above the kings that were before him. 31 Wherefore being greatly perplexed in his mind, he determined to go into Perſia, there to take the tributes of the countries, and to gather much money. 32 So he left Lyſias a noble man, and one of the blood royal, to overſee the affairs of the king, from the river Euphrates, unto the borders of Egypt: 33 And to bring up his ſon Antiochus, until he came again. 34 Moreover, he delivered unto him the half of his forces, and the elephants, and gave him charge of all things that he would have done, as alſo concerning them that dwelt in Juda and Jeruſalem: 35 To wit, that he ſhould ſend an army againſt them, to deſtroy and root out the ſtrength of Iſrael, and the remnant of Jeruſalem, and to take away their memorial from that place; 36 And that he ſhould place ſtrangers in all their quarters, and divide their land by lot. 37 So the king took the half of the forces that remained, and departed from Antioch his royal city, the hundred forty and ſeventh year; and having paſſed the river Euphrates, he went through the high countries. 38 Then Lyſias choſe Ptolemee the ſon of Dorymenes, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men of the kings friends: 39 And with them he ſent forty thouſand footmen, and ſeven thouſand horſemen, to go into the land of Juda, and to deſtroy it as the king commanded. 40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by Emmaus, in the plain country. 41 And the merchants of the country hearing the fame of them, took ſilver and gold very much, with ſervants, and came into the camp to buy the children of Iſrael for ſlaves: a power alſo of Syria and of the land of the Philiſtines, joined themſelves unto them. 42 Now when Judas and his brethren ſaw that miſeries were multiplied, and that the forces did encamp themſelves in their borders, (for they knew how the king had given commandment to deſtroy the people, and utterly aboliſh them) 43 They ſaid one to another, Let us reſtore the decayed eſtate of our people, and let us fight for our people and the ſanctuary. 44 Then was the congregation gathered together, that they might be ready for battel, and that they might pray, and aſk mercy and compaſſion. 45 Now Jeruſalem laid void as a wilderneſs, there was none of her children that went in, or out: the ſanctuary alſo was troden down, and aliens kept the ſtronghold: the heathen had their habitation in that place, and joy was taken from Jacob, and the pipe with the harp ceaſed. 46 Wherefore the Iſraelites aſſembled themſelves together, and came to Maſpha, over-againſt Jeruſalem; for in Maſpha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Iſrael. 47 Then they faſted that day, and put on ſackcloth, and caſt aſhes upon their heads, and rent their cloaths: 48 And laid open the book of the law, wherein the heathen had ſought to paint the likeneſs of their images. 49 They brought alſo the prieſts garments, and the firſt-fruits, and the tithes: and the Nazarites they ſtirred up, who had accompliſhed their days. 50 Then cried they with a loud voice toward heaven, ſaying, what ſhall we do with theſe, and whither ſhall we carry them away? 51 For thy ſanctuary is troden down and profaned, and thy prieſts are in heavineſs, and brought low. 52 And lo, the heathen are aſſembled together againſt us to deſtroy us: what things they imagine againſt us, thou knoweſt. 53 How ſhall we be able to ſtand againſt them, except thou, O God, be our help? 54 Then ſounded they with trumpets, and cried with a loud voice. 55 And after this, Judas ordained captains over the people, even captains over thouſands, and over hundreds, and over fifties, and over tens. 56 But as for ſuch as were building houſes, or had betrothed wives, or were planting vineyards, or were fearful, thoſe he commanded that they ſhould return every man to his own houſe, according to the law. 57 So the camp removed, and pitched upon the ſouth-ſide of Emmaus. 58 And Judas ſaid, Arm yourſelves, and be valiant men, and ſee that ye be in readineſs againſt the morning, that ye may fight with theſe nations that are aſſembled together againſt us, to deſtroy us and our ſanctuary. 59 For it is better for us to die in battel, than to behold the calamities of our people, and our ſanctuary. 60 Nevertheleſs, as the will of God is in heaven, ſo let him do.

Then Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together] This, in all Probability, was the ſame Apollonius whom Antiochus ſent at firſt to plunder Jeruſalem, and, afterwards, to ſet up the Statue of Jupiter Olympius, and to compel the Jews to relinquiſh their Religion. See Ch. i. 29, &c. and 2 Macc. v. 24, 25, 26.

And came and pitched by Emmaus] This was a Village lying to the Weſt of Jeruſalem, and between ſeven and eight Miles from it. It was honoured by our Saviour's Preſence after his Reſurrection, and therein were hot Baths, (for Emmaus comes from the Hebrew Chamath, which ſignifies Baths of hot Water) that were very beneficial to thoſe that uſed them.

For in Maſpha was the Place where they prayed aforetime in Iſrael] At this Time Jeruſalem was in the Hands of the Heathens, and the Sanctuary trodden under Foot; ſo that Judas could not aſſemble his Men there, to implore the Aſſiſtance of God in this Time of imminent Danger, and therefore he repaired to Mizpeh (or Maſpha, as it is here called) a Place where the People oftentimes uſed to aſſemble to Prayer, Judges xx. 1. 1 Kings xv. 22. 2 Chron. xvi. 6. Judas gains a great Victory over the Heathen, and Gorgias their General; alſo another over Lyſias.

Ver. 1. THEN took Gorgias five thouſand footmen, and a thouſand of the beſt horſemen, and removed out of the camp by night; 2 To the end he might ruſh in upon the camp of the Jews, and ſmite them ſuddenly. And the men of the fortreſs were his guides. 3 Now when Judas heard thereof, he himſelf removed, and the valiant men with him, that he might ſmite the kings army which was at Emmaus, 4 While as yet the forces were diſperſed from the camp. 5 In the mean ſeaſon came Gorgias by night into the camp of Judas: and when he found no man there, he ſought them in the mountains: for ſaid he, Theſe fellows flee from us. 6 But aſſoon as it was day, Judas ſhewed himſelf in the plain with three thouſand men, who nevertheleſs had neither armour nor ſwords to their minds. 7 And they ſaw the camp of the heathen, that it was ſtrong and well harneſſed, and compaſſed round about with horſemen; and theſe were expert of war. 8 Then ſaid Judas to the men that were with him, Fear ye not their multitude, neither be ye afraid of their aſſault. 9 Remember how our fathers were delivered in the Red-ſea, when Pharaoh purſued them with an army. 10 Now therefore let us cry unto heaven, if peradventure the Lord will have mercy upon us, and remember the covenant of our fathers, and deſtroy this hoſt before our face this day: 11 That ſo all the heathen may know that there is one, who deliverеth and ſaveth Iſrael. 12 Then the ſtrangers lift up their eyes, and ſaw them coming over-againſt them. 13 Wherefore they went out of the camp to battel, but they that were with Judas ſounded their trumpets. 14 So they joined battel, and the heathen being diſcomfited, fled into the plain. 15 Howbeit, all the hindmoſt of them were ſlain by the ſword: for they purſued them unto Gazera, and unto the plains of Idumea, and Azotus, and Jamnia, ſo that there were ſlain of them, upon a three thouſand men. 16 This done, Judas returned again with his hoſt from purſuing them: 17 And ſaid to the people, Be not greedy of the ſpoils, inaſmuch as there is a battel before us, 18 And Gorgias and his hoſt are here by us in the mountain: but ſtand ye now againſt our enemies, and overcome them, and after this ye may boldly take the ſpoils. 19 As Judas was yet ſpeaking theſe words, there appeared a part of them looking out of the mountain. 20 Who when they perceived that the Jews had put their hoſt to flight, and were burning the tents, (for the ſmoak that was ſeen declared what was done) 21 When therefore they perceived theſe things, they were ſore afraid, and ſeeing alſo the hoſt of Judas in the plain ready to fight. 22 They fled every one into the land of ſtrangers. 23 Then Judas returned to ſpoil the tents, where they got much gold and ſilver, and blue ſilk, and purple of the ſea, and great riches. 24 After this they went home, and ſung a ſong of thankſgiving, and praiſed the Lord in heaven: becauſe it is good, becauſe his mercy endureth for ever. 25 Thus Iſrael had a great deliverance that day. 26 Now all the ſtrangers that had eſcaped, came and told Lyſias what had happened. 27 Who when he heard thereof, was confounded and diſcouraged, becauſe neither ſuch things as he would, were done unto Iſrael, nor ſuch things as the king commanded him, were come to paſs. 28 The next year therefore following, Lyſias gathered together threeſcore thouſand choice men of foot, and five thouſand horſemen, that he might ſubdue them. 29 So they came into Idumea, and pitched their tents at Bethſura, and Judas met them with ten thouſand men. 30 And when he ſaw that mighty army, he prayed, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou, O Saviour of Iſrael, who didſt quail the violence of the mighty man by the hand of thy ſervant David, and gaveſt the hoſt of ſtrangers into the hands of Jonathan the ſon of Saul, and his armour-bearer, 31 Shut up this army in the hands of thy people Iſrael, and let them be confounded in their power and horſemen. 32 Make them to be of no courage, and cauſe the boldneſs of their ſtrength to fall away, and let them quake at their deſtruction. 33 Caſt them down with the ſword of them that love thee, and let all thoſe that know thy name, praiſe thee with thankſgiving. 34 So they joined battel, and there was ſlain of the hoſt of Lyſias about five thouſand men, even before them were they ſlain. 35 Now when Lyſias ſaw his army put to flight, and the manlineſs of Judas ſoldiers, and how they were ready either to live or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered together a company of ſtrangers, and having made his army greater than it was, he purpoſed to come again into Judea. 36 Then ſaid Judas and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are diſcomfited: let us go up to cleanſe and dedicate the ſanctuary. 37 Upon this all the hoſt aſſembled themſelves together, and went up into mount Sion. 38 And when they ſaw the ſanctuary deſolate, and the altar profaned, and the gates burnt up, and ſhrubs growing in the courts as in a foreſt, or in one of the mountains, yea, and the prieſts chambers pulled down; 39 They rent their cloaths, and made great lamentation, and caſt aſhes upon their heads, 40 And fell down flat to the ground upon their faces, and blew an alarm with the trumpets, and cried towards heaven. 41 Then Judas appointed certain men to fight againſt thoſe that were in the fortreſs, until he had cleanſed the ſanctuary. 42 So he choſe prieſts of blameleſs converſation, ſuch as had pleaſure in the law: 43 Who cleanſed the ſanctuary, and bare out the defiled ſtones into an unclean place. 44 And when as they conſulted what to do with the altar of burnt-offerings, which was profaned: 45 They thought it beſt to pull it down, leſt it ſhould be a reproach to them, becauſe the heathen had defiled it, wherefore they pulled it down, 46 And laid up the ſtones in the mountain of the temple, in a convenient place, until there ſhould come a prophet to ſhew what ſhould be done with them. 47 Then they took whole ſtones, according to the law, and built a new altar, according to the former: 48 And made up the ſanctuary, and the things that were within the temple, and hallowed the courts. 49 They made alſo new holy veſſels, and into the temple they they brought the candleſtick, and the altar of burnt-offerings, and of incenſe, and the table. 50 And upon the altar they burnt incenſe, and the lamps that were upon the candleſtick they lighted, that they might give light in the temple. 51 Furthermore, they ſet the loaves upon the table, and ſpread out the vails, and finiſhed all the works which they had begun to make. 52 Now on the five and twentieth day of the ninth month (which is called the month Caſleu) in the hundred forty and eighth year, they roſe up betimes in the morning, 53 And offered ſacrifice according to the law, upon the new altar of burnt-offerings, which they had made. 54 Look at what time, and at what day the heathen had profaned it, even in that was it dedicated with ſongs, and citherns, and harps, and cymbals. 55 Then all the people fell upon their faces, worſhipping and praiſing the God of heaven, who had given them good ſucceſs. 56 And ſo they kept the dedication of the altar eight days, and offered burnt-offerings with gladneſs, and ſacrificed the ſacrifice of deliverance and praiſe. 57 They deckt alſo the forefront of the temple with crowns of gold, and with ſhields; and the gates, and the chambers they renewed, and hanged doors upon them. 58 Thus was there very great gladneſs among the people, for that the reproach of the heathen was put away. 59 Moreover, Judas and his brethren, with the whole congregation of Iſrael, ordained that the days of the dedication of the altar ſhould be kept in their ſeaſon from year to year, by the ſpace of eight days, from the five and twentieth day of the month Caſleu, with mirth and gladneſs. 60 At that time alſo they builded up the mount Sion with high walls, and ſtrong towers round about, leſt the Gentiles ſhould come and tread it down as they had done before. 61 And they ſet there a garriſon to keep it: and fortified Bethſura to preſerve it, that the people might have a defence againſt Idumea.

So they came into Idumea] Wherever the Name of Idumæa, or the Land of Edom, occurs in any of the Writings of the Old Teſtament, it is to be underſtood of that Idumæa, or Land of Edom, which lay between the Lake of Sodom and the Red Sea, and was afterwards called Arabia Petræa. But the Inhabitants of this Country, being driven out by the Nabathæans, while the Jews were in the Babyloniſh Captivity, and their Land laid deſolate, they then took Poſſeſſion of as much of the Southern Part of it, as contained what had formerly been the whole Inheritance of the Tribe of Simeon, and half of the Tribe of Judah, where, at this Time, they dwelt, but had not as yet embraced the Jewiſh Religion. And this is the only Idumæa, and the Inhabitants of it the only Idumæans, or Edomites, which are any where ſpoken after the Babyloniſh Captivity. After their coming into this Country, Hebron, which had formerly been the Metropolis of the Tribe of Judah, became the Capital of Idumæa, and, between that and Jeruſalem, lay Bethzura, a ſtrong Fortreſs, which the Author of the ſecond Book of the Maccabees, Ch. xi. 5. places at no more than five Furlongs Diſtance from Jeruſalem; but this is a viſible Miſtake, for Euſebius makes it at leaſt twenty Miles diſtant from it. What Day the Heathen had profaned it, even in that was it dedicated] Between which it was juſt three Years.

Ordained that the Days of the Dedication of the Altar ſhould be kept in their Seaſon from Year to Year] This Feſtival is commemorated in the Goſpel, John ii. 23. and our bleſſed Saviour, we are told, came up to Jeruſalem on purpoſe to bear a Part in the ſolemnizing of it. Some indeed are of Opinion, that it was another Dedication Feaſt, which Chriſt thus honoured with his Preſence; but, beſides that the Dedication both of Solomon's and Zerubbabel's Temple (tho' they were very ſolemnly celebrated at the firſt Erection of thoſe Temples) had never any anniverſary Feaſt afterwards kept in Commemoration of them, the very Hiſtory of the Goſpel (which tells us, that it was kept in Winter) confines us to this Dedication of Judas only. That of Solomon was in the ſeventh Month, which fell about the Time of the autumnal Equinox; and that of Zerubbabel was in the twelfth Month, which fell in the Beginning of the Spring; but that of Judas Maccabeus, was on the 25th Day of the ninth Month, which fell in the Middle of Winter. CHAP. V.

Ver. 1. NOW when the nations round about heard that the altar was built, and the ſanctuary renewed as before, it diſpleaſed them very much. 2 Wherefore they thought to deſtroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and thereupon they began to ſlay and deſtroy the people. 3 Then Judas fought againſt the children of Eſau in Idumea at Arabattine, becauſe they beſieged Iſrael: and he gave them a great overthrow, and abated their courage, and took their ſpoils. 4 Alſo he remembred the injury of the children of Bean, who had been a ſnare and an offence unto the people, in that they lay in wait for them in the ways. 5 He ſhut them up therefore in the towers, and encamped againſt them, and deſtroyed them utterly, and burnt the towers of that place with fire, and all that were therein. 6 Afterward he paſſed over to the children of Ammon, where he found a mighty power, and much people with Timotheus their captain. 7 So he fought many battels with them, till at length they were diſcomfited before him; and he ſmote them. 8 And when he had taken Jazar, with the towns belonging thereto, he returned into Judea. 9 Then the heathen that were at Galaad, aſſembled themſelves together againſt the Iſraelites that were in their quarters, to deſtroy them, but they fled to the fortreſs of Dathema; 10 And ſent letters unto Judas and his brethren, The heathen that are round about us, are aſſembled together againſt us to deſtroy us. 11 And they are preparing to come and take the fortreſs whereunto we are fled, Timotheus being captain of their hoſt. 12 Come now therefore, and deliver us from their hands, for many of us are ſlain. 13 Yea, all our brethren that were in the places of Tobie, are put to death: their wives and their children alſo they have carried away captives, and borne away their ſtuff, and they have deſtroyed there about a thouſand men. 14 While theſe letters were yet reading, behold, there came other meſſengers from Galilee with their cloaths rent, who reported on this wiſe, 15 And ſaid, They of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and Sidon, and all Galilee of the Gentiles, are aſſembled together againſt us, to conſume us. 16 Now when Judas and the people heard theſe words, there aſſembled a great congregation together, to conſult what they ſhould do for their brethren that were in trouble, and aſſaulted of them. 17 Then ſaid Judas unto Simon his brother, Chooſe thee out men, men, and go, and deliver thy brethren that are in Galilee, for I and Jonathan my brother will go into the country of Galaad. 18 So he left Joſeph the ſon of Zacharias, and Azarias captains of the people, with the remnant of the hoſt in Judea to keep it. 19 Unto whom he gave commandment, ſaying, Take ye the charge of this people, and ſee that you make not war againſt the heathen, until the time that we come again. 20 Now unto Simon were given three thouſand men to go into Galilee, and unto Judas eight thouſand men for the country of Galaad. 21 Then went Simon into Galilee, where he fought many battels with the heathen, ſo that the heathen were diſcomfited by him. 22 And he purſued them unto the gate of Ptolemais; and there were ſlain of the heathen about three thouſand men, whoſe ſpoils he took. 23 And thoſe that were in Galilee, and in Arbattis, with their wives, and their children, and all that they had, took he away with him, and brought them into Judea with great joy. 24 Judas Maccabeus alſo, and his brother Jonathan went over Jordan, and travelled three days journey in the wilderneſs. 25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who came unto them in peaceable manner, and told them every thing that had happened to their brethren in the land of Galaad: 26 And how that many of them were ſhut up in Poſora, and Boſor, and Alema, Caſphor, Maked, and Carnaim, (all theſe cities are ſtrong and great) 27 And that they were ſhut up in the reſt of the cities of the country of Galaad, and that againſt to morrow they had appointed to bring their hoſt againſt the forts, and to deſtroy them all in one day. 28 Hereupon Judas and his hoſt turned ſuddenly by the way of the wilderneſs unto Boſora; and when he had won the city, he ſlew all the males with the edge of the ſword, and took all their ſpoils, and burnt the city with fire. 29 From whence he removed by night, and went till he came to the fortreſs. 30 And betimes in the morning they looked up, and behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and other engines of war to take the fortreſs: for they aſſaulted them. 31 When Judas therefore ſaw that the battel was begun, and that the cry of the city went up to heaven with trumpets and a great ſound, 32 He ſaid unto his hoſt, Fight this day for your brethren. 33 So he went forth behind them in three companies, who ſounded their trumpets, and cried with prayer. 34 Then the hoſt of Timotheus, knowing that it was Maccabeus, fled from him: wherefore he ſmote them with a great ſlaughter, ſo that there were killed of them that day about two thouſand men. 35 This done, Judas turned aſide to Maſpha; and after he had aſſaulted it, he took it, and ſlew all the males therein, and received the ſpoils thereof, and burnt it with fire. 36 From thence went he and took Caſphon, Maged, Boſor, and the other cities of the country of Galaad. 37 After theſe things, gathered Timotheus another hoſt, and encamped againſt Raphon beyond the brook. 38 So Judas ſent men to eſpy the hoſt, who brought him word, ſaying, All the heathen that be round about us, are aſſembled unto them, even a very great hoſt. 39 He hath alſo hired the Arabians to help them, and they have pitched their tents beyond the brook, ready to come and fight againſt thee: upon this Judas went to meet them. 40 Then Timotheus ſaid unto the captains of his hoſt, When Judas and his hoſt come near the brook, if he paſs over firſt unto us, we ſhall not be able to withſtand him: for he will mightily prevail againſt us. 41 But if he be afraid, and camp beyond the river, we ſhall go over unto him, and prevail againſt him. 42 Now when Judas came near the brook, he cauſed the ſcribes of the people to remain by the brook: unto whom he gave commandment, ſaying, Suffer no man to remain in the camp, but let all come to the battel. 43 So he went firſt over unto them, and all the people after him: then all the heathen being diſcomfited before him, caſt away their weapons, and fled unto the temple that was at Carnaim. 44 But they took the city, and burnt the temple, with all that were therein. Thus was Carnaim ſubdued, neither could they ſtand any longer before Judas. 45 Then Judas gathered together all the Iſraelites that were in the country of Galaad, from the leaſt unto the greateſt, even their wives and their children, and their ſtuff, a very great hoſt, to the end they might come into the land of Judea. 46 Now when they came unto Ephron (this was a great city in the way as they ſhould go, very well fortified) they could not turn from it, either on the right hand, or the left, but muſt needs paſs through the midſt of it. 47 Then they of the city ſhut them out, and ſtopped up the gates with ſtones. 48 Whereupon Judas ſent unto them in peaceable manner, ſaying, Let us paſs through your land to go into our own country, and none ſhall do you any hurt; we will only paſs through on foot: howbeit, they would not open unto him. 49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoſt, that every man ſhould pitch his tent in the place where he was. 50 So the ſoldiers pitched, and aſſaulted the city all that day, and all that night, till at the length the city was delivered into his hands: 51 Who then ſlew all the males with the edge of the ſword, and raſed the city, and took the ſpoils thereof, and paſſed through the city over them that were ſlain. 52 After this went they over Jordan, into the great plain before Bethſan. 53 And Judas gathered together thoſe that came behind, and exhorted the people all the way through, till they came into the land of Judea. 54 So they went up to mount Sion with joy and gladneſs, where they offered burnt-offerings, becauſe not one of them were ſlain, until they had returned in peace. 55 Now what time as Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon his brother in Galilee before Ptolemais, 56 Joſeph the ſon of Zacharias, and Azarias, captains of the garriſons, heard of the valiant acts and warlike deeds which they had done. 57 Wherefore they ſaid, Let us alſo get us a name, and go fight againſt the heathen that are round about us. 58 So when they had given charge unto the garriſon that was with them, they went towards Jamnia. 59 Then came Gorgias and his men out of the city, to fight againſt them. 60 And ſo it was, that Joſeph and Azarias were put to flight, and purſued unto the borders of Judea: and there were ſlain that day of the people of Iſrael, about two thouſand men. 61

61 Thus was there a great overthrow among the children of Israel, because they were not obedient unto Judas and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant act. 62 Moreover, these men came not of the seed of those, by whose hand deliverance was given unto Israel. 63 Howbeit, the man Judas and his brethren were greatly renowned in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wheresoever their name was heard of: 64 Insomuch as the people assembled unto them with joyful acclamations. 65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau, in the land toward the south, where he smote Hebron, and the towns thereof, and pulled down the fortress of it, and burnt the towers thereof round about. 66 From thence he removed to go into the land of the Philistines, and passed through Samaria. 67 At that time certain priests desirous to shew their valour, were slain in battel, for that they went out to fight unadvisedly. 68 So Judas turned to Azotus in the land of the Philistines, and when he had pulled down their altars, and burnt their carved images with fire, and spoiled their cities, he returned into the land of Judea.

In Idumea at Arabattine] This is a Canton of Judea, upon the Frontiers of Idumæa, towards the Southward Extremity of the Dead Sea.

Also he remembered the Injury of the Children of Bean] Who these Children of Bean were, 'tis difficult to say. Some think, that this Bean was the Name of an antient King, whose Descendants lived in Hostility with the Children of Israel; but others (with more Probability) account it the Name of a Place; and if in the Confines of the Dead Sea, there was (as some affirm) a City of this Name, without all Controversy this was it.

And when he had taken Jazar] Or Jahazah. This City, which lay beyond Jordan, was first of all given to the Tribe of Gad, and afterwards to the Levites, Josh. xxi. 36. CHAP. VI.

Antiochus dies, and confesses the Justice of God in plaguing him for the Wrongs he had done to Jerusalem.

Ver. 1. ABout that time king Antiochus travelling through the high countries, heard say that Elimais in the country of Persia, was a city greatly renowned for riches, silver, and gold; 2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, wherein were coverings of gold, and breast-plates, and shields, which Alexander son of Philip the Macedonian king, who reigned first among the Grecians, had left there. 3 Wherefore he came and sought to take the city, and to spoil it; but he was not able, because they of the city having had warning thereof, 4 Rose up against him in battel: so he fled and departed thence with great heaviness, and returned to Babylon. 5 Moreover, there came one who brought him tidings into Persia, that the armies which went against the land of Judea were put to flight: 6 And that Lysias, who went forth first with a great power, was driven away of the Jews; and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and store of spoils, which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed: 7 Also that they had pulled down the abomination which he had set up upon the altar in Jerusalem, and that they had compassed about the sanctuary with high walls as before, and his city Bethsura. 8 Now when the king heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moved: whereupon he laid him down upon his bed, and fell sick for grief, because it had not befallen him as he looked for. 9 And there he continued many days: for his grief was ever more and more, and he made account that he should die. 10 Wherefore he called for all his friends, and said unto them, The sleep is gone from mine eyes, and my heart faileth for very care. 11 And I thought with myself, Into what tribulation am I come, and how great a flood of misery is it wherein now I am! for I was bountiful, and beloved in my power. 12 But now I remember the evils that I did at Jerusalem, and that I took all the vessels of gold and silver that were therein, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Judea without a cause. 13 I perceive therefore, that for this cause these troubles are come upon me, and behold, I perish through grief in a strange land. 14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler over all his realm. 15 And gave him the crown, and his robe, and his signet, to the end he should bring up his son Antiochus, and nourish him up for the kingdom. 16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundred forty and ninth year. 17 Now when Lysias knew that the king was dead, he set up Antiochus his son, (whom he had brought up being young) to reign in his stead, and his name he called Eupator. 18 About this time they that were in the tower shut up the Israelites round about the sanctuary, and sought always their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen. 19 Wherefore Judas purposing to destroy them, called all the people together to besiege them. 20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundred and fiftieth year, and he made mounts for shot against them, and other engines. 21 Howbeit, certain of them that were besieged, got forth, unto whom some ungodly men of Israel joined themselves. 22 And they went unto the king, and said, How long will it be ere thou execute judgment, and avenge our brethren? 23 We have been willing to serve thy father, and to do as he would have us, and to obey his commandments. 24 For which cause they of our nation besiege the tower, and are alienated from us: moreover, as many of us as they could light on, they slew, and spoiled our inheritance. 25 Neither have they stretched out their hand against us only, but also against all their borders. 26 And behold, this day are they besieging the tower at Jerusalem to take it: the sanctuary also, and Bethsura have they fortified. 27 Wherefore if thou dost not prevent them quickly, they will do greater things than these, neither shalt thou be able to rule them. 28 Now when the king heard this, he was angry, and gathered together all his friends, and the captains of his army, and those that had charge of the horse. 29 There came also unto him from other kingdoms, and from isles of the sea, bands of hired soldiers. 30 So that the num-number of his army was an hundred thouſand footmen, and twenty thouſand horſemen, and two and thirty elephants exerciſed in battel. 31 Theſe went through Idumea, and pitched againſt Bethſura, which they aſſaulted many days, making engines of war; but they of Bethſura came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly. 32 Upon this Judas removed from the tower, and pitched in Bathzacharias, over-againſt the kings camp. 33 Then the king riſing very early, marched fiercely with his hoſt toward Bathzacharias, where his armies made them ready to battel, and ſounded the trumpets. 34 And to the end they might provoke the elephants to fight, they ſhewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries. 35 Moreover, they divided the beaſts among the armies, and for every elephant they appointed a thouſand men armed with coats of male, and with helmets of braſs on their heads; and beſides this, for every beaſt were ordained five hundred horſemen of the beſt. 36 Theſe were ready at every occaſion: whereſoever the beaſt was, and whitherſoever the beaſt went, they went alſo, neither departed they from him. 37 And upon the beaſts there were ſtrong towers of wood, which covered every one of them, and were girt faſt unto them with devices: there were alſo upon every one two and thirty ſtrong men that fought upon them, beſides the Indian that ruled them. 38 As for the remnant of the horſemen, they ſet them on this ſide, and that ſide, at the two parts of the hoſts, giving them ſigns what to do, and being harneſſed all over amidſt the ranks. 39 Now when the ſun ſhone upon the ſhields of gold, and braſs, the mountains gliſtered therewith, and ſhined like lamps of fire. 40 So part of the kings army being ſpread upon the high mountains, and part on the valleys below, they marched on ſafely and in order. 41 Wherefore all that heard the noiſe of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the ratling of the harneſs, were moved: for the army was very great and mighty. 42 Then Judas and his hoſt drew near and entred into battel, and there were ſlain of the kings army ſix hundred men. 43 Eleaſar alſo ſurnamed Savaran, perceiving that one of the beaſts, armed with royal harneſs, was higher than all the reſt, and ſuppoſing that the king was upon him, 44 Put himſelf in jeopardy, to the end he might deliver his people, and get him a perpetual name: 45 Wherefore he ran upon him couragiouſly, through the midſt of the battel, ſlaying on the right hand, and on the left, ſo that they were divided from him on both ſides. 46 Which done, he crept under the elephant, and thruſt him under, and ſlew him: whereupon the elephant fell down upon him, and there he died. 47 Howbeit, the reſt of the Jews, ſeeing the ſtrength of the king, and the violence of his forces, turned away from them. 48 Then the kings army went up to Jeruſalem to meet them, and the king pitched his tents againſt Judea, and againſt mount Sion. 49 But with them that were in Bethſura he made peace: for they came out of the city, beeauſe they had no victuals there to endure the ſiege, it being a year of reſt to the land. 50 So the king took Bethſura, and ſet a garriſon there to keep it. 51 As for the ſanctuary, he beſieged it many days: and ſet there artillery with engines, and inſtruments to caſt fire and ſtones, and pieces to caſt darts and ſlings. 52 Whereupon they alſo made engines againſt their engines, and held them battel a long ſeaſon. 53 Yet at the laſt, their veſſels being without victuals, (for that it was the ſeventh year, and they in Judea that were delivered from the Gentiles, had eaten up the reſidue of the ſtore) 54 There were but a few left in the ſanctuary, becauſe the famine did ſo prevail againſt them, that they were fain to diſperſe themſelves every man to his own place. 55 At that time Lyſias heard ſay, that Philip (whom Antiochus the king, whiles he lived had appointed to bring up his ſon Antiochus, that he might be king) 56 Was returned out of Perſia and Media, and the kings hoſt alſo that went with him, and that he ſought to take unto him the ruling of the affairs. 57 Wherefore he went in all haſte, and ſaid to the king, and the captains of the hoſt, and the company, We decay daily, and our victuals are but ſmall, and the place we lay ſiege unto is ſtrong, and the affairs of the kingdom lie upon us. 58 Now therefore let us be friends with theſe men, and make peace with them, and with all their nation; 59 And covenant with them, that they ſhall live after their laws, as they did before: for they are therefore diſpleaſed, and have done all theſe things becauſe we aboliſhed their laws. 60 So the king and the princes were content: wherefore he ſent unto them to make peace, and they accepted thereof. 61 Alſo the king and the princes made an oath unto them: whereupon they went out of the ſtrong-hold. 62 Then the king entred into mount Sion, but when he ſaw the ſtrength of the place, he brake his oath that he had made, and gave commandment to pull down the wall round about. 63 Afterward departed he in all haſte, and returned unto Antiochia, where he found Philip to be maſter of the city: So he fought againſt him, and took the city by force.

And that there was in it a very rich Temple] Other Authors agree with the Account in the firſt Book of Maccabees, that the Temple of Elymais was prodigiouſly rich; and both Polybius and Diodorus Siculus (as they are cited by St. Jerom, on Dan. xi.) mention this Attempt of the King of Syria to plunder it. But the Manner in which he came to be diſappointed, is related quite differently in the ſecond Book of Maccabees. For therein we are told, that, when Antiochus pretending that he would marry the Goddeſs of the Temple, (whoſe Name was Nanea) that thereby he might have the better Title to the Riches of it, by way of Dowry, was let into the Temple to take Poſſeſſion of them, the Prieſts opened a ſecret Door that was in the Ceiling, and from thence threw upon him and his Attendants ſuch a Shower of Stones, as quite overwhelmed them, and ſo cut off their Heads and caſt them out, 2 Mac. i. 13, &c. But who the Goddeſs Nanea, who had this Temple at Elymais, was, the Conjectures of the Learned are various, ſince ſome will have her to be Venus, and others Cybele the Mother of the Gods, becauſe the Word in the Perſian Language ſignifies Mother, tho' the moſt common Opinion is, that ſhe was Diana, or the Moon, the ſame that Strabo calls Anais, or Anaitis. For, that ſhe was held to be a Virgin-Goddeſs, is plain, becauſe Antiochus pretended to eſpouſe her, and that ſhe was a chaſte Goddeſs, Plutarch (de Artaxerxe) ſeems to intimate, when he tells us, that Artaxerxes took the beautiful Aſpaſia (whom himſelf was in love with) from his Son Darius, and devoted her to a perpetual Virginity, in the Service of Anais, the Goddeſs of Elymais. Calmet's Com.

I perceive therefore that for this Cauſe theſe Troubles are come upon me] This wicked King is an Example to all hardened Sinners, and falſe Penitents, whoſe only Motive of turning to God, is their Fear, or Feeling of Puniſhment. The Maccabean Martyrs had threatened, or rather foretold, that thro' the Judgment of God, he ſhould receive a juſt Judgment for his Pride, 2 Macc. vii. 36. and therefore, when he called, God would not anſwer; but (as the royal Penman expreſſes it) laughed at his Calamity, and mocked, when his Diſtreſs and Anguiſh came upon him, Prov. i. 26, 27.

He crept under the Elephant, and thruſt him under, and ſlew him] Tho' Elephants have an Hide impenetrable almoſt in every Part, except the Belly, yet, for their greater Safety, thoſe that are appointed for the Wars, are uſually armed, and covered all over, as it were, with a Coat of Mail. The Kings of India (according to Q. Curtius, L. ii.) when they took the Field, were drawn by Elephants, all covered over with Gold; and Florus has deſcribed the Elephants made uſe of in Battle, auro, argento, purpurâ, & ſuo ebore fulgentes; ſhining with Gold, Silver, Purple, and their own Ivory.

CHAP. VII.

Antiochus is ſlain, and Demetrius reigns in his ſtead. Alcimus contends for the High-Prieſthood.

Ver. 1. IN the hundred and one and fiftieth year Demetrius the ſon of Seleucus departed from Rome, and came up with a few men unto a city of the ſea-coaſt, and reigned there. 2 And as he entred into the palace of his anceſtors, ſo it was, that his forces had taken Antiochus, and Lyſias, to bring them unto him. 3 Wherefore when he knew it, he ſaid, Let me not ſee their faces. 4 So his hoſt ſlew them. Now when Demetrius was ſet upon the throne of his kingdom, 5 There came unto him all the wicked and ungodly men of Iſrael, having Alcimus (who was deſirous to be high-prieſt) for their captain. 6 And they accuſed the people to the king, ſaying, Judas and his brethren have ſlain all thy friends, and driven us out of our own land. 7 Now therefore ſend ſome man whom thou truſteſt, and let him go and ſee what havock he hath made amongſt us, and in the kings land, and let them puniſh them with all them that aid them. 8 Then the king choſe Bacchides, a friend of the king, who ruled beyond the flood, and was a great man in the kingdom, and faithful to the king. 9 And him he ſent with that wicked Alcimus, whom he made high-prieſt, and commanded that he ſhould take vengeance of the children of Iſrael. 10 So they departed and came with a great power into the land of Judea, where they ſent meſſengers to Judas and his brethren with peaceable words deceitfully. 11 But they gave no heed to their words, for they ſaw that they were come with a great power. 12 Then did there aſſemble unto Alcimus and Bacchides, a company of ſcribes to require juſtice. 13 Now the Aſſideans were the firſt among the children of Iſrael that ſought peace of them. 14 For, ſay they, One that is a prieſt of the ſeed of Aaron is come with this army, and he will do us no wrong. 15 So he ſpake unto them peaceably, and ſware unto them, ſaying, We will procure the harm neither of you nor your friends. 16 Whereupon they believed him: howbeit he took of them threeſcore men, and ſlew them in one day, according to the words which he wrote, 17 The fleſh of thy ſaints have they caſt out, and their blood have they ſhed round about Jeruſalem, and there was none to bury them. 18 Wherefore the fear and dread of them fell upon all the people, who ſaid, There is neither truth nor righteouſneſs in them, for they have broken the covenant and oath that they made. 19 After this removed Bacchides from Jeruſalem, and pitched his tents in Bezeth, where he ſent and took many of the men that had forſaken him, and certain of the people alſo, and when he had ſlain them, he caſt them into the great pit. 20 Then committed he the country to Alcimus, and left with him a power to aid him: ſo Bacchides went to the king. 21 But Alcimus contended for the high prieſthood. 22 And unto him reſorted all ſuch as troubled the people, who after they had gotten the land of Juda in their power, did much hurt in Iſrael. 23 Now when Judas ſaw all the miſchief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Iſraelites, even above the heathen, 24 He went out into all the coaſts of Judea round about, and took vengeance of them that had revolted from him, ſo that they durſt no more go forth into the country. 25 On the other ſide, when Alcimus ſaw that Judas and his company had gotten the upper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide their force, he went again to the king, and ſaid all the worſt of them that he could. 26 Then the king ſent Nicanor, one of his honourable princes, a man that bare deadly hate unto Iſrael, with commandment to deſtroy the people. 27 So Nicanor came to Jeruſalem with a great force; and ſent unto Judas and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, ſaying, 28 Let there be no battel between me and you, I will come with a few men, that I may ſee you in peace. 29 He came therefore to Judas, and they ſaluted one another peaceably. Howbeit, the enemies were prepared to take away Judas by violence. 30 Which thing after it was known to Judas, to wit, that he came unto him with deceit, he was ſore afraid of him, and would ſee his face no more. 31 Nicanor alſo when he ſaw that his counſel was diſcovered, went out to fight againſt Judas beſides Capharſalama. 32 Where there were ſlain of Nicanors ſide about five thouſand men, and the reſt fled into the city of David. 33 After this went Nicanor up to mount Sion, and there came out of the ſanctuary certain of the prieſts, and certain of the elders of the people to ſalute him peaceably, and to ſhew him the burnt-ſacrifice that was offered for the king. 34 But he mocked them, and laughed at them, and abuſed them ſhamefully, and ſpake proudly: 35 And ſwore in his wrath, ſaying, Unleſs Judas and his hoſt be now delivered into my hands, if ever I come again in ſafety, I will burn up this houſe: and with that he went out in a great rage. 36 Then the prieſts entred in, and ſtood before the altar and the temple, weeping and ſaying, 37 Thou, O Lord, didſt chooſe this houſe to be called by thy name, and to be a houſe of prayer and petition for thy people. 38 Be avenged of this man and his hoſt, and let them fall by the ſword: remember their blaſphemies, and ſuffer them not to continue any longer. 39 So Nicanor went out of Jeruſalem, and pitched his tents in Bethoron, where an hoſt out of Syria met him. 40 But Judas pitched in Adaſa, with three thou-

ſand men, and there he prayed, ſaying, 41 O Lord, when they that were ſent from the king of the Aſſyrians blaſphemed, thine angel went out, and ſmote an hundred fourſcore and five thouſand of them: 42 Even ſo deſtroy thou this hoſt before us this day, that the reſt may know that he hath ſpoken blaſphemy againſt thy ſanctuary, and judge thou him according to his wickedneſs. 43 So the thirteenth day of the month Adar the hoſts joined battel: but Nicanors hoſt was diſcomfited, and he himſelf was firſt ſlain in the battel. 44 Now when Nicanors hoſt ſaw that he was ſlain, they caſt away their weapons, and fled. 45 Then they purſued after them a days journey, from Adaſa unto Gazera, ſounding an alarm after them with their trumpets. 46 Whereupon they came forth out of all the towns of Judea round about, and cloſed them in, ſo that they turning back upon them that purſued them, were all ſlain with the ſword, and not one of them was left. 47 Afterwards they took the ſpoils, and the prey, and ſmote off Nicanors head, and his right hand which he ſtretched out ſo proudly, and brought them away, and hanged them up towards Jeruſalem. 48 For this cauſe the people rejoiced greatly, and they kept that day a day of great gladneſs. 49 Moreover, they ordained to keep yearly this day, being the thirteenth of Adar. 50 Thus the land of Juda was in reſt a little while.

Demetrius the Son of Seleucus departed from Rome] All this while Antiochus Eupater held the Crown of Syria by an unjuſt Title: For Demetrius the Son of Seleucus Philopater, elder Brother to Antiochus Epiphanes, was the legal Heir thereof. He, in Exchange for his Uncle Antiochus, had been ſent an Hoſtage to Rome, the very Year that his Father died; and Antiochus, returning at the very Nick of Time, was unanimouſly declared King, in the Abſence, and Minority of the rightful Heir. But Demetrius, being now in the twenty-third Year of his Age, when his Uncle died, and his Son Eupater was appointed King in his Room, thought it high Time to put in his Claim; and accordingly, moved the Senate of Rome for their Aſſiſtance, in the Recovery of his Father's Kingdom; and, as an Inducement thereunto, he alledged, that, having been bred up in that City from his Childhood, he ſhould always look upon Rome, as his Country, the Senators as his Fathers, and their Sons, as his Brothers. But the Senate, having more Regard to their own Intereſt, than the Right of Demetrius, and judging it more to their Advantage to have a Boy reign in Syria, (as Eupater then was) than a Man of mature Underſtanding, (as they knew Demetrius to be) inſtead of aſſerting his Right, to whom it belonged, they confirmed Eupater in the Kingdom.

Demetrius, being excluded from all Hopes of any Favour, or Aſſiſtance from the Senate, had nothing left to do, but to endeavour to make his Eſcape from Rome, and to riſque his Fortune in his own Country. This he did; and, landing at Tripolis in Syria, made it believed, that he was ſent by the Roman Senate (which would ſupport his Pretenſions) to take Poſſeſſion of the Kingdom. Hereupon Eupater's Cauſe, being in the general Opinion given up for loſt, every one deſerted from him to Demetrius; nay, the very Soldiers ſeized on him, and the Regent Lyſias, with an Intent to deliver him up to this New-comer, as ſoon as he arrived at Antioch; but he, refuſing to ſee them, ordered them both to be put to Death, and ſo, without any farther Oppoſition, became thoroughly ſetled in the whole Kingdom.

Then did there aſſemble unto Alcimus and Bacchides, a Company of Scribes] Theſe, ſays Calmet, in all Probability, were a Deputation from the great Sanhedrim, which, at this Time, had the Government of the Nation in their Hands; and why Judas, who was at the Head of them, did not think proper to accompany them, the Reaſon is pretty obvious.

CHAP. VIII.

Judas being informed of the Power and Policy of the Romans, makes a League with them.

Ver. 1. NOW Judas had heard of the fame of the Romans, that they were mighty and valiant men, and ſuch as would lovingly accept all that joined themſelves unto them, and make a league of amity with all that came unto them: 2 And that they were men of great valour. It was told him alſo of their wars and noble acts which they had done amongſt the Galatians, and how they had conquered them, and brought them under tribute, 3 And what they had done in the country of Spain, for the winning of the mines of the ſilver and gold which is there; 4 And that by their policy and patience they had conquered all the place (though it were very far from them) and the kings alſo that came againſt them from the uttermoſt part of the earth, till they had diſcomfited them, and given them a great overthrow, ſo that the reſt did give them tribute every year: 5 Beſides this, how they had diſcomfited in battel, Philip, and Perſeus, king of the Citims, with others that lift up themſelves againſt them, and had overcome them: 6 How alſo Antiochus the great king of Aſia, that came againſt them in battel, having an hundred and twenty elephants, with horſemen and chariots, and a very great army, was diſcomfited by them; 7 And how they took him alive, and covenanted that he, and ſuch as reigned after him, ſhould pay a great tribute, and give hoſtages, and that which was agreed upon, 8 And the country of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of the goodlieſt countries, which they took of him, and gave to king Eumenes: 9 Moreover, how the Grecians had determined to come and deſtroy them; 10 And that they having knowledge thereof, ſent againſt them a certain captain, and fighting with them, ſlew many of them, and carried away captives their wives and their children, and ſpoiled them, and took poſſeſſion of their lands, and pulled down their ſtrong-holds, and brought them to be their ſervants unto this day. 11 It was told him beſides, how they deſtroyed and brought under their dominion all other kingdoms and iſles that at any time reſiſted them; 12 But with their friends, and ſuch as relied upon them, they kept amity: and that they had conquered kingdoms both far and nigh, inſomuch as all that heard of their name were afraid of them: 13 Alſo, that whom they would help to a kingdom, thoſe reign; and whom again they would, they diſplace: finally, that they were greatly exalted: 14 Yet for all this, none of them wore a crown, or was clothed in purple to be magnified thereby: 15 Moreover, how they had made for themſelves a ſenate-houſe, wherein three hundred and twenty men ſat in council daily, conſulting alway for the people, to the end they might be well ordered: 16 And that they committed their government to one man every year, who ruled over all their country, and that all were obedient to that one, and that there was neither neither envy nor emulation amongſt them. 17 In conſideration of theſe things, Judas choſe Eupolemus the ſon of John, the ſon of Accos, and Jaſon the ſon of Eleazar, and ſent them to Rome to make a league of amity and confederacy with them, 18 And to intreat them, that they would take the yoke from them, for they ſaw that the kingdom of the Grecians did oppreſs Iſrael with ſervitude. 19 They went therefore to Rome (which was a very great journey) and came into the ſenate, where they ſpake, and ſaid, 20 Judas Maccabeus, with his brethren and the people of the Jews, have ſent us unto you to make a confederacy and peace with you, and that we might be regiſtred your confederates and friends. 21 So that matter pleaſed the Romans well. 22 And this is the copy of the epiſtle which the ſenate wrote back again, in tables of braſs, and ſent to Jeruſalem, that there they might have by them a memorial of peace and confederacy: 23 Good ſucceſs be to the Romans, and to the people of the Jews, by ſea and by land for ever: the ſword alſo and enemy be far from them. 24 If there come firſt any war upon the Romans, or any of their confederates throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Jews ſhall help them, as the time ſhall be appointed, with all their heart. 26 Neither ſhall they give any thing unto them that make war upon them, or aid them with victuals, weapons, money, or ſhips, as it hath ſeemed good unto the Romans, but they ſhall keep their covenant without taking any thing therefore. 27 In the ſame manner alſo, if war come firſt upon the nation of the Jews, the Romans ſhall help them with all their heart, according as the time ſhall be appointed them. 28 Neither ſhall victuals be given to them that take part againſt them, or weapons, or money, or ſhips, as it hath ſeemed good to the Romans; but they ſhall keep their covenants, and that without deceit. 29 According to theſe articles did the Romans make a covenant with the people of the Jews. 30 Howbeit, if hereafter the one party or the other, ſhall think meet to add or diminiſh any thing, they may do it at their pleaſures, and whatſoever they ſhall add or take away ſhall be ratified. 31 And as touching the evils that Demetrius doeth to the Jews, we have written unto him, ſaying, Wherefore haſt thou made thy yoke heavy upon our friends and confederates the Jews? 32 If therefore they complain any more againſt thee, we will do them juſtice, and fight with thee by ſea and by land.

Now Judas had heard of the Fame of the Romans] Joſephus takes Notice, that this was the very firſt Treaty that ever the Jews made with the Romans, which is very probable from the Manner in which the Author prefaces his Account of it here; for it plainly appears, that the Jews, till this Time, had very little Knowledge of the Roman State.

CHAP. IX.

Alcimus and Bacchides come again with freſh Forces into Judea. Judas's Death. Jonathan choſen in his Room. Alcimus dies. Jonathan and Simon make Peace with Bacchides.

Ver. 1. FUrthermore, when Demetrius heard that Nicanor and his hoſt were ſlain in battel, he ſent Bacchides and Alcimus into the land of Judea the ſecond time, and with them the chief ſtrength of his hoſt. 2 Who went forth by the way that leadeth to Galgala, and pitched their tents before Maſeloth, which is in Arbela, and after they had won it, they ſlew much people. 3 Alſo the firſt month of the hundred fifty and ſecond year, they encamped before Jeruſalem, 4 From whence they removed and went to Berea, with twenty thouſand footmen, and two thouſand horſemen. 5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at Eleaſa, and three thouſand choſen men with him. 6 Who ſeeing the multitude of the other army to be ſo great, were ſore afraid, whereupon many conveyed themſelves out of the hoſt, inſomuch as there abode of them no more but eight hundred men. 7 When Judas therefore ſaw that his hoſt ſlipt away, and that the battel preſſed upon him, he was ſore troubled in mind, and much diſtreſſed, for that he had no time to gather them together, 8 Nevertheleſs, unto them that remained, he ſaid, Let us ariſe, and go up againſt our enemies, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them. 9 But they dehorted him, ſaying, We ſhall never be able: let us now rather ſave our lives, and hereafter we will return with our brethren, and fight againſt them: for we are but few. 10 Then Judas ſaid, God forbid that I ſhould do this thing, and flee away from them: if our time be come, let us die manfully for our brethren, and let us not ſtain our honour. 11 With that the hoſt of Bacchides removed out of their tents, and ſtood over againſt them, their horſemen being divided into two troops, and their ſlingers and archers going before the hoſt, and they that marched in the foreward were all mighty men. 12 As for Bacchides, he was in the right wing, ſo the hoſt drew near on the two parts, and ſounded their trumpets. 13 They alſo of Judas ſide, even they ſounded their trumpets alſo, ſo that the earth ſhook at the noiſe of the armies, and the battel continued from morning till night. 14 Now when Judas perceived that Bacchides and the ſtrength of his army were on the right ſide, he took with him all the hardy men, 15 Who diſcomfited the right wing, and purſued them unto the mount Azotus. 16 But when they of the left wing ſaw that they of the right wing were diſcomfited, they followed upon Judas and thoſe that were with him, hard at the heels from behind: 17 Whereupon there was a ſore battel, inſomuch as many were ſlain on both parts. 18 Judas alſo was killed, and the remnant fled. 19 Then Jonathan and Simon took Judas their brother, and buried him in the ſepulchre of his fathers in Modin. 20 Moreover they bewailed him, and all Iſrael made great lamentation for him, and mourned many days, ſaying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen that delivered Iſrael! 22 As for the other things concerning Judas and his wars, and the noble acts which he did, and his greatneſs, they are not written: for they were very many. 23 Now after the death of Moſes, the wicked began to put forth their heads in all the coaſts of Iſrael, and there roſe up all ſuch as wrought iniquity. 24 In thoſe days alſo was there a very great famine, by reaſon whereof the country revolted, and went with them. 25 Then Bacchides choſe the wicked men, and made them lords of the country. 26 And they made enquiry and ſearch for Judas friends, and brought them unto Bacchides, who took vengeance of them, and used them despitefully. 27 So was there a great affliction in Israel, the like whereof was not since the time that a prophet was not seen amongst them. 28 For this cause all Judas friends came together, and said unto Jonathan, 29 Since thy brother Judas died, we have no man like him to go forth against our enemies, and Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are adversaries to us. 30 Now therefore we have chosen thee this day to be our prince, and captain in his stead, that thou mayest fight our battels. 31 Upon this Jonathan took the governance upon him at that time, and rose up in stead of his brother Judas. 32 But when Bacchides gat knowledge thereof, he sought for to slay him. 33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, and all that were with him, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thecoe, and pitched their tents by the water of the pool Asphar. 34 Which when Bacchides understood, he came near to Jordan with all his host upon the sabbath-day. 35 Now Jonathan had sent his brother John a captain of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they might leave with them their carriage, which was much. 36 But the children of Jambri came out of Medaba, and took John, and all that he had, and went their way with it. 37 After this came word to Jonathan and Simon his brother, that the children of Jambri made a great marriage, and were bringing the bride from Nadabatha with a great train, as being the daughter of one of the great princes of Chanaan. 38 Therefore they remembred John their brother, and went up and hid themselves under the covert of the mountain. 39 Where they lift up their eyes, and looked and behold, there was much ado, and great carriage: and the bridegroom came forth, and his friends and brethren to meet them with drums and instruments of musick, and many weapons. 40 Then Jonathan and they that were with him, rose up against them from the place where they lay in ambush, and made a slaughter of them in such sort, as many fell down dead, and the remnant fled into the mountain, and they took all their spoils. 41 Thus was the marriage turned into mourning, and the noise of their melody into lamentation. 42 So when they had avenged fully the blood of their brother, they turned again to the marish of Jordan. 43 Now when Bacchides heard hereof, he came on the sabbath-day unto the banks of Jordan, with a great power. 44 Then Jonathan said to his company, Let us go up now and fight for our lives, for it standeth not with us to day as in time past: 45 For behold, the battel is before us, and behind us, and the water of Jordan on this side and that side, the marish likewise and wood, neither is there place for us to turn aside. 46 Wherefore cry ye now unto heaven, that ye may be delivered from the hand of your enemies. 47 With that they joined battel, and Jonathan stretched forth his hand to smite Bacchides, but he turned back from him. 48 Then Jonathan and they that were with him, leapt into Jordan, and swam over unto the farther bank: howbeit the other passed not over Jordan unto them. 49 So there were slain of Bacchides side that day, about a thousand men. 50 Afterward returned Bacchides to Jerusalem, and repaired the strong cities in Judea; the fort in Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, Pharathoni, and Taphon; these did he strengthen with high walls, with gates, and with bars. 51 And in them he set a garrison, that they might work malice upon Israel. 52 He fortified also the city Bethsura, and Gazara, and the tower, and put forces in them, and provision of victuals. 53 Besides, he took the chief mens sons in the country for hostages, and put them into the tower at Jerusalem to be kept. 54 Moreover, in the hundred fifty and third year, in the second month, Alcimus commanded that the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary should be pulled down; he pulled down also the works of the prophets. 55 And as he began to pull down, even at that time was Alcimus plagued, and his enterprizes hindred: for his mouth was stopped, and he was taken with a palsey, so that he could no more speak any thing, nor give order concerning his house. 56 So Alcimus died at that time with great torment. 57 Now when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he returned to the king, whereupon the land of Judea was in rest two years. 58 Then all the ungodly men held a council, saying, Behold Jonathan and his company are at ease, and dwell without care: now therefore we will bring Bacchides hither, who shall take them all in one night. 59 So they went and consulted with him. 60 Then removed he, and came with a great host, and sent letters privily to his adherents in Judea, that they should take Jonathan, and those that were with him: howbeit they could not, because their counsel was known unto them. 61 Wherefore they took of the men of the country, that were authors of that mischief, about fifty persons, and slew them. 62 Afterward Jonathan and Simon, and they that were with him, got them away to Bethbasi, which is in the wilderness, and they repaired the decays thereof, and made it strong. 63 Which thing when Bacchides knew, he gathered together all his host, and sent word to them that were of Judea. 64 Then went he and laid siege against Bethbasi, and they fought against it a long season, and made engines of war. 65 But Jonathan left his brother Simon in the city, and went forth himself into the country, and with a certain number went he forth. 66 And he smote Odonarkes and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tent. 67 And when he began to smite them, and came up with his forces, Simon and his company went out of the city, and burnt up the engines of war, 68 And fought against Bacchides, who was discomfited by them, and they afflicted him sore; for his counsel and travel was in vain. 69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men that gave him counsel to come into the country, insomuch as he slew many of them, and purposed to return into his own country. 70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadors unto him, to the end he should make peace with him, and deliver them the prisoners. 71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his demands, and sware unto him that he would never do him harm all the days of his life. 72 When therefore he had restored unto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land land of Judea, he returned and went his way into his own land, neither came he any more into their borders. 73 Thus the ſword ceaſed from Iſrael: but Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and began to govern the people, and he deſtroyed the ungodly men out of Iſrael.

Now when Bacchides ſaw that Alcimus was dead, he returned to the King] It is moſt likely, that Demetrius had, by this Time, received the Letters which were ſent to him by the Romans in Behalf of the Jews, and thereupon gave Bacchides Orders to ſurceaſe his Vexations of that People; and that in Obedience to theſe Orders, Bacchides took Occaſion, on the Death of Alcimus, to leave the Country. Prideaux's Connect.

CHAP. X.

Demetrius and Alexander, being about to make War upon one another, both of them ſeek Jonathan's Friendſhip.

Ver. 1. IN the hundred and ſixtieth year, Alexander the ſon of Antiochus, ſurnamed Epiphanes, went up and took Ptolemais: for the people had received him, by means whereof he reigned there. 2 Now when king Demetrius heard thereof, he gathered together an exceeding great hoſt, and went forth againſt him to fight. 3 Moreover, Demetrius ſent letters unto Jonathan with loving words, ſo as he magnified him. 4 For ſaid he, Let us firſt make peace with him, before he join with Alexander againſt us: 5 Elſe he will remember all the evils that we have done againſt him, and againſt his brethren, and his people. 6 Wherefore he gave him authority to gather together an hoſt, and to provide weapons that he might aid him in battel: he commanded alſo, that the hoſtages that were in the tower ſhould be delivered him. 7 Then came Jonathan to Jeruſalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the tower. 8 Who were ſore afraid when they heard that the king had given him authority to gather together an hoſt. 9 Whereupon they of the tower delivered their hoſtages unto Jonathan, and he delivered them unto their parents. 10 This done, Jonathan ſetled himſelf in Jeruſalem, and began to build and repair the city. 11 And he commanded the workmen to build the walls, and the mount Sion round about with ſquare ſtones, for fortification; and they did ſo. 12 Then the ſtrangers that were in the fortreſſes which Bacchides had built, fled away: 13 Inſomuch as every man left his place, and went into his own country. 14 Only at Bethſura, certain of thoſe that had forſaken the law and the commandments, remained ſtill: for it was their place of refuge. 15 Now when king Alexander had heard what promiſes Demetrius had ſent unto Jonathan: when alſo it was told him of the battels and noble acts which he and his brethren had done, and of the pains which they had endured, 16 He ſaid, Shall we find ſuch another man? Now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate. 17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and ſent it unto him, according to theſe words, ſaying, 18 King Alexander to his brother Jonathan, ſendeth greeting. 19 We have heard of thee, that thou art a man of great power, and meet to be our friend. 20 Wherefore now this day we ordain thee to be the high-prieſt of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend, (and therewithal he ſent him a purple robe, and a crown of gold) and require thee to take our part, and keep friendſhip with us. 21 So in the ſeventh month of the hundred and ſixtieth year, at the feaſt of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy robe, and gathered together forces, and provided much armour. 22 Whereof when Demetrius heard, he was very ſorry, and ſaid, 23 What have we done, that Alexander hath prevented us, in making amity with the Jews to ſtrengthen himſelf? 24 I alſo will write unto them words of encouragement, and promiſe them dignities and gifts, that I may have their aid. 25 He ſent unto them therefore to this effect: King Demetrius unto the people of the Jews, ſendeth greeting. 26 Whereas you have kept covenants with us, and continued in our friendſhip, not joining yourſelves with our enemies, we have heard hereof, and are glad. 27 Wherefore now continue ye ſtill to be faithful unto us, and we will well recompenſe you for all things you do in our behalf, 28 And will grant you many immunities, and give you rewards. 29 And now do I free you, and for your ſake I releaſe all the Jews from tributes, and from the cuſtoms of ſalt, and from crown-taxes, 30 And from that which appertaineth unto me to receive for the third part of the ſeed, and the half of the fruit of the trees, I releaſe it from this day forth, ſo that they ſhall not be taken of the land of Judea, nor of the three governments which are added thereunto out of the country of Samaria and Galilee, from this day forth for evermore. 31 Let Jeruſalem alſo be holy and free, with the borders thereof, both from tenths and tributes. 32 And as for the tower which is at Jeruſalem, I yield up my authority over it, and give it to the high prieſt, that he may ſet in it ſuch men as he ſhall chooſe to keep it. 33 Moreover, I freely ſet at liberty every one of the Jews that were carried captives out of the land of Judea, into any part of my kingdom, and I will that all my officers remit their tributes even of their cattel. 34 Furthermore, I will that all the feaſts, and ſabbaths, and new-moons, and ſolemn days, and the three days before the feaſt, and the three days after the feaſt, ſhall be all days of immunity and freedom for all the Jews in my realm. 35 Alſo no man ſhall have authority to meddle with them, or to moleſt any of them in any matter. 36 I will further, that there be enrolled amongſt the kings forces, about thirty thouſand men of the Jews, unto whom pay ſhall be given as belongeth to all the kings forces. 37 And of them ſome ſhall be placed in the kings ſtrong-holds, of whom alſo ſome ſhall be ſet over the affairs of the kingdom, which are of truſt: and I will that their overſeers and governors be of themſelves, and that they live after their own laws, even as the king hath commanded in the land of Judea. 38 And concerning the three governments that are added to Judea from the country of Samaria, let them be joined with Judea, that they may be reckoned to be under one, nor bound to obey other authority than the high-prieſts. 39 As for Ptolemais, and the land pertaining thereto, I give it

it as a free gift to the ſanctuary at Jeruſalem, for the neceſſary expences of the ſanctuary. 40 Moreover, I give every year fifteen thouſand ſhekels of ſilver out of the kings accounts from the places appertaining. 41 And all the overplus which the officers payed not in, as in former time, from henceforth ſhall be given towards the works of the temple. 42 And beſides this, the five thouſand ſhekels of ſilver, which they took from the uſes of the temple out of the accounts year by year, even thoſe things ſhall be releaſed, becauſe they appertain to the prieſts that miniſter. 43 And whoſoever they be that flee unto the temple at Jeruſalem, or be within the liberties thereof, being indebted unto the king, or for any other matter, let them be at liberty, and all that they have in my realm. 44 For the building alſo and repairing of the works of the ſanctuary, expences ſhall be given of the kings accounts. 45 Yea, and for the building of the walls of Jeruſalem, and the fortifying thereof round about, expences ſhall be given out of the kings accounts, as alſo for the building of the walls of Judea. 46 Now when Jonathan and the people heard theſe words, they gave no credit unto them, nor received them, becauſe they remembred the great evil that he had done in Iſrael; for he had afflicted them very ſore. 47 But with Alexander they were well pleaſed, becauſe he was the firſt that entreated of true peace with them, and they were confederate with him always. 48 Then gathered king Alexander great forces, and camped over-againſt Demetrius. 49 And after the two kings had joined battel, Demetrius hoſt fled: but Alexander followed after him, and prevailed againſt them. 50 And he continued the battel very ſore until the ſun went down, and that day was Demetrius ſlain. 51 Afterward Alexander ſent ambaſſadors to Ptolemee king of Egypt, with a meſſage to this effect: 52 Foraſmuch as I am come again to my realm, and am ſet in the throne of my progenitors, and have gotten the dominion, and overthrown Demetrius, and recovered our country, 53 (For after I had joined battel with him, both he and his hoſt was diſcomfited by us, ſo that we ſit in the throne of his kingdom) 54 Now therefore let us make a league of amity together, and give me now thy daughter to wife: and I will be thy ſon-in-law, and will give both thee and her gifts, according to thy dignity. 55 Then Ptolemee the king gave anſwer, ſaying, Happy be the day wherein thou didſt return into the land of thy fathers, and ſatteſt in the throne of their kingdom. 56 And now will I do to thee as thou haſt written: meet me therefore at Ptolemais: that we may ſee one another, for I will marry my daughter to thee according to thy deſire. 57 So Ptolemee went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and they came to Ptolemais in the hundred threeſcore and ſecond year: 58 Where king Alexander meeting him, gave unto him his daughter Cleopatra, and celebrated her marriage at Ptolemais with great glory, as the manner of kings is. 59 Now king Alexander had written unto Jonathan, that he ſhould come and meet him. 60 Who thereupon went honourably to Ptolemais, where he met the two kings, and gave them and their friends ſilver and gold, and many preſents, and found favour in their ſight. 61 At that time certain peſtilent fellows of Iſrael, men of a wicked life, aſſembled themſelves againſt him to accuſe him: but the king would not hear them. 62 Yea more than that, the king commanded to take off his garments, and cloath him in purple: and they did ſo. 63 Alſo he made him ſit by himſelf, and ſaid unto his princes, Go with him into the midſt of the city, and make proclamation, that no man complain againſt him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cauſe. 64 Now when his accuſers ſaw that he was honoured according to the proclamation, and cloathed in purple, they fled all away. 65 So the king honoured him, and wrote him among his chief friends, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion. 66 Afterward Jonathan returned to Jeruſalem with peace and gladneſs. 67 Furthermore, in the hundred threeſcore and fifth year came Demetrius, ſon of Demetrius, out of Creet into the land of his fathers. 68 Whereof when king Alexander heard tell, he was right ſorry, and returned into Antioch. 69 Then Demetrius made Apollonius the governor of Celoſyria his general, who gathered together a great hoſt, and camped in Jamnia, and ſent unto Jonathan the high-prieſt, ſaying, 70 Thou alone lifteſt up thyſelf againſt us, and I am laughed to ſcorn for thy ſake, and reproached, and why doſt thou vaunt thy power againſt us in the mountains? 71 Now therefore if thou truſteſt in thine own ſtrength, come down to us into the plain field, and there let us try the matter together: for with me is the power of the cities. 72 Aſk, and learn who I am, and the reſt that take our part, and they ſhall tell thee, that thy foot is not able to ſtand before our face; for thy fathers have been twice put to flight in their own land. 73 Wherefore now thou ſhalt not be able to abide the horſemen, and ſo great a power in the plain, where is neither ſtone nor flint, nor place to flee unto. 74 So when Jonathan heard theſe words of Apollonius, he was moved in his mind, and chooſing ten thouſand men, he went out of Jeruſalem, where Simon his brother met him for to help him. 75 And he pitched his tents againſt Joppe: but they of Joppe ſhut him out of the city, becauſe Apollonius had a garriſon there. 76 Then Jonathan laid ſiege unto it: whereupon they of the city let him in for fear: and ſo Jonathan wan Joppe. 77 Whereof when Apollonius heard, he took three thouſand horſemen, with a great hoſt of footmen, and went to Azotus as one that journeyed, and therewithal drew him forth into the plain, becauſe he had a great number of horſemen, in whom he put his truſt. 78 Then Jonathan followed after him to Azotus, where the armies joined battel. 79 Now Apollonius had left a thouſand horſemen in ambuſh. 80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambuſhment behind him; for they had compaſſed in his hoſt, and caſt darts at the people from morning till evening. 81 But the people ſtood ſtill, as Jonathan had commanded them: and ſo the enemies horſes were tired. 82 Then brought Simon forth his hoſt, and ſet them againſt the footmen, (for the horſemen were ſpent) who were diſcomfited by him and fled. 83 The horſemen alſo being ſcattered in the field, fled to Azotus, and went into Bethdagon, their idols temple, for ſafety. 84 But Jonathan ſet fire fire on Azotus, and the cities round about it; and took their ſpoils; and the temple of Dagon, with them that were fled into it, he burnt with fire. 85 Thus there were burnt and ſlain with the ſword well nigh eight thouſand men. 86 And from thence Jonathan removed his hoſt, and camped againſt Aſcalon, where the men of the city came forth, and met him with great pomp. 87 After this returned Jonathan and his hoſt unto Jeruſalem, having many ſpoils. 88 Now when king Alexander heard theſe things, he honoured Jonathan yet more, 89 And ſent him a buckle of gold, as the uſe is to be given to ſuch as are of the kings blood: he gave him alſo Accaron with the borders thereof in poſſeſſion.

Alexander the Son of Antiochus, ſurnamed Epiphanes, went up and took Ptolemais] In the Reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, one Heraclides was his Treaſurer in the Province of Babylon, while his Brother Timarchus, another Favourite of the King's, was Governor of it; but, on the Coming of Demetrius to the Crown, they were both found guilty of great Miſdemeanors, for which Timarchus was put to Death, but Heraclides made his Eſcape out of the Kingdom, and took up his Reſidence at Rhodes. While he was there, Demetrius, having given up himſelf entirely to Luxury and Sloth, ſo neglected the Affairs of Government, that his Subjects juſtly took Diſguſt againſt him, and were ready to enter into any Conſpiracy to depoſe him; which Heraclides underſtanding, in hopes of making a Revolution in Favour of himſelf, contrived this Plot. — In the Iſle of Rhodes there was a Youth of a very mean and obſcure Condition, called Balas, but, in other Reſpects every way fit for his Purpoſe. Him he prevailed with to paſs for the Son of Antiochus Epiphanes; and having thoroughly inſtructed him how to act his Part, he carried him to Rome, where, by his Craft and earneſt Sollicitations, he not only prevailed with the Senate to own him, but procured a Decree from them likewiſe, permitting him to recover the Kingdom of Syria out of the Hands of Demetrius, and promiſing their Aſſiſtance in doing it. By Virtue of this Decree he raiſed Forces, and with them ſailing to Ptolemais in Paleſtine, ſeized that City; and there, by the Name of Alexander, Son of Antiochus Epiphanes, took upon him to be King of Syria. Great Numbers, out of Diſaffection to Demetrius, flocked to him; ſo that at length, Demetrius being defeated and ſlain, Alexander obtained the full Poſſeſſion of the Syrian Empire. Prideaux's Connect.

At the Feaſt of Tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy Robe] From the Time of the Return from the Babyloniſh Captivity, the Office of High-Prieſt had been in the Family of Jozadeck, and, in a lineal Deſcent, was tranſmitted down to Onias, the third of that Name. He was ſupplanted by Jaſon his Brother, as Jaſon was by his Brother Menelaus, and after the Death of Menelaus, Alcimus, who was of a different Family, was put into the Office by the Command of the King of Syria. Whether the Aſmonæans were of the Race of Joſadeck, or not, 'tis no-where ſaid, but 'tis certain they were of the Courſe of Joarib (1 Macc. ii. 1.) which was the firſt Claſs of the Sons of Aaron; and therefore upon the Failure of the former pontifical Family, they had the beſt Right to ſucceed. With this Right it was, that Jonathan took the Office; and in his Family it became ſetled, and continued for ſeveral Deſcents, until the Time of Herod, who, from an Office of Inheritance, changed it into that of arbitrary Will and Pleaſure. Whoever had the Power after him, put the High-Prieſts in or out, as they thought fit, till, at length, the Office was extinguiſhed by the Deſtruction of the Temple by the Romans.

So the King — made him a Duke] The Word Meridarches, which we tranſlate a Duke, Grotius makes to be the chief Sewer, which, even in the German Empire, is an Office that one of the Electors bears. But, in his Commentary on Matt. xix. 28. he makes it denote the Governor of a Province: And, if in this Place it were ſo taken, it would better become Jonathan (one would think) to be made a Governor of ſome Part of the Syrian Empire, than to be a Regulator of the Diſhes at the Royal Table. Prideaux's Connect.

And ſent him a Buckle of Gold] The Golden Buckle (which was worn upon the Shoulder) was a very ſingular Mark of Diſtinction both among the Greeks and Perſians, (from whom the Macedonians took it) and was generally made the Reward of great and gallant Actions in War.

CHAP. XI.

Ptolemy takes his Daughter from Alexander, and gives her to Demetrius, and enters upon his Kingdom. Alexander is ſlain, and Ptolemy dies.

Ver. 1. AND the king of Egypt gathered together a great hoſt like the ſand that lieth upon the ſea-ſhore, and many ſhips, and went about through deceit to get Alexanders kingdom, and join it to his own. 2 Whereupon he took his journey into Syria in peaceable manner, ſo as they of the cities opened unto him, and met him: for king Alexander had commanded them ſo to do, becauſe he was his father-in law. 3 Now as Ptolemee entred into the cities, he ſet in every one of them a garriſon of ſoldiers to keep it. 4 And when he came near to Azotus, they ſhewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus and the ſuburbs thereof that were deſtroyed, and the bodies that were caſt abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battel, for they had made heaps of them by the way where he ſhould paſs. 5 Alſo they told the king whatſoever Jonathan had done, to the intent he might blame him: but the king held his peace. 6 Then Jonathan met the king with great pomp at Joppe, where they ſaluted one another, and lodged. 7 Afterward Jonathan when he had gone with the king to the river called Eleutherus, returned again to Jeruſalem. 8 King Ptolemee therefore having gotten the dominion of the cities of the ſea, unto Seleucia upon the ſea-coaſt, imagined wicked counſels againſt Alexander. 9 Whereupon he ſent ambaſſadors unto king Demetrius, ſaying, Come, let us make a league betwixt us, and I will give thee my daughter whom Alexander hath, and thou ſhalt reign in thy fathers kingdom: 10 For I repent that I gave my daughter unto him, for he ſought to ſlay me. 11 Thus did he ſlander him, becauſe he was deſirous of his kingdom. 12 Wherefore he took his daughter from him, and gave her to Demetrius, and forſook Alexander, ſo that their hatred was openly known. 13 Then Ptolemee entred into Antioch, where he ſet two crowns upon his head, the crown of Aſia, and of Egypt. 14 In the mean ſeaſon was king Alexander in Cilicia, becauſe thoſe that dwelt in thoſe parts had revolted from him. 15 But when Alexander heard of this, he came to war againſt him: whereupon king Ptolemee brought forth his hoſt, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight. 16 So Alexander fled into Arabia, there to be defended; but king Ptolemee was exalted. 17 For Zabdiel the Arabian took off Alexanders head, and ſent it unto Ptolemee. 18 King Ptolemee alſo died the third day after, and they that were in the ſtrong-holds were ſlain one of another. 19 By this means Demetrius reigned in the hundred threeſcore and ſeventh year. 20 At the ſame time Jonathan gathered together them that were in Judea, to take the tower that was in Jeruſalem: and he made many engines of war againſt it. 21 Then certain ungodly perſons who hated their own people, went unto the king, and told him that Jonathan beſieged the tower. 22 Whereof when he heard, he was angry, and immediately removing, he came to Ptolemais, and wrote unto Jonathan, that he ſhould not lay ſiege to the tower, but come and ſpeak with him at Ptolemais in great haſte. 23 Nevertheleſs, Jonathan when he heard this, commanded to beſiege it ſtill: and he choſe certain of the elders of Iſrael, and the prieſts, and put himſelf in peril; 24 And took ſilver, and gold, and raiment, and divers preſents beſides, and went to Ptolemais unto the king, where he found favour in his ſight. 25 And though certain ungodly men of the people had made complaints againſt him, 26 Yet the king entreated him as his predeceſſors had done before, and promoted him in the ſight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high prieſthood, and in all the honours that he had before, and gave him preeminence among his chief friends. 28 Then Jonathan deſired the king that he would make Judea free from tribute, as alſo the three governments with the country of Samaria, and he promiſed him three hundred talents. 29 So the king conſented, and wrote letters unto Jonathan of all theſe things, after this manner, 30 King Demetrius unto his brother Jonathan, and unto the nation of the Jews, ſendeth greeting. 31 We ſend you here a copy of the letter, which we did write unto our couſin Laſthenes concerning you, that you might ſee it. 32 King Demetrius unto his father Laſthenes, ſendeth greeting. 33 We are determined to do good to the people of the Jews, who are our friends, and keep covenants with us, becauſe of their good-will towards us. 34 Wherefore we have ratified unto them the borders of Judea with the three governments of Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathem, that are added unto Judea, from the country of Samaria, and all things appertaining unto them, for all ſuch as do ſacrifice in Jeruſalem, in ſtead of the payments which the king received of them yearly afore-time, out of the fruits of the earth and of trees. 35 And as for other things that belong unto us, of the tithes, and cuſtoms pertaining unto us, as alſo the ſalt-pits, and the crown-taxes, which are due unto us, we diſcharge them of them all for their relief. 36 And nothing hereof ſhall be revoked from this time forth for ever. 37 Now therefore ſee that thou make a copy of theſe things, and let it be delivered unto Jonathan, and ſet upon the holy mount in a conſpicuous place. 38 After this, when king Demetrius ſaw that the land was quiet before him, and that no reſiſtance was made againſt him, he ſent away all his forces, every one to his own place, except certain bands of ſtrangers, whom he had gathered from the iſles of the heathen: wherefore all the forces of his fathers hated him. 39 Moreover, there was one Tryphon, that had been of Alexanders part afore, who ſeeing that all the hoſt murmured againſt Demetrius, went to Simalcue the Arabian, that brought up Antiochus the young ſon of Alexander, 40 And lay ſore upon him, to deliver him this young Antiochus, that he might reign in his fathers ſtead: he told him therefore all that Demetrius had done, and how his men of war were at enmity with him, and there he remained a long ſeaſon. 41 In the mean time Jonathan ſent unto king Demetrius, that he would caſt thoſe of the tower out of Jeruſalem, and thoſe alſo in the fortreſſes: for they ſought againſt Iſrael. 42 So Demetrius ſent unto Jonathan, ſaying, I will not only do this for thee and thy people, but I will greatly honour thee and thy nation, if opportunity ſerve. 43 Now therefore thou ſhalt do well, if thou ſend me men to help me; for all my forces are gone from me. 44 Upon this Jonathan ſent him three thouſand ſtrong men unto Antioch, and when they came to the king, the king was very glad of their coming. 45 Howbeit, they that were of the city gathered themſelves together into the midſt of the city, to the number of an hundred and twenty thouſand men, and would have ſlain the king. 46 Wherefore the king fled into the court, but they of the city kept the paſſages of the city, and began to fight. 47 Then the king called to the Jews for help, who came unto him all at once, and diſperſing themſelves through the city, ſlew that day in the city to the number of an hundred thouſand. 48 Alſo they ſet fire on the city, and gat many ſpoils that day, and delivered the king. 49 So when they of the city ſaw that the Jews had got the city as they would, their courage was abated: wherefore they made ſupplication to the king, and cried, ſaying, 50 Grant us peace, and let the Jews ceaſe from aſſaulting us, and the city. 51 With that they caſt away their weapons, and made peace, and the Jews were honoured in the ſight of the king, and in the ſight of all that were in his realm, and they returned to Jeruſalem, having great ſpoils. 52 So king Demetrius ſat on the throne of his kingdom, and the land was quiet before him. 53 Nevertheleſs, he diſſembled in all that ever he ſpake, and eſtranged himſelf from Jonathan, neither rewarded he him according to the benefits which he had received of him, but troubled him very ſore. 54 After this returned Tryphon, and with him, the young child Antiochus, who reigned, and was crowned. 55 Then there gathered unto him all the men of war, whom Demetrius had put away, and they fought againſt Demetrius, who turned his back, and fled. 56 Moreover, Tryphon took the elephants, and won Antioch. 57 At that time young Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, ſaying, I confirm thee in the high prieſthood, and appoint thee ruler over the four governments, and to be one of the kings friends. 58 Upon this he ſent him golden veſſels to be ſerved in, and gave him leave to drink in gold, and to be cloathed in purple, and to wear a golden buckle. 59 His brother Simon alſo he made captain from the place called the ladder of Tyrus, unto the borders of Egypt. 60 Then Jonathan went forth, and paſſed through the cities beyond the water, and all the forces of Syria gathered themſelves unto him for to help him: and when he came to Aſcalon, they of the city met him honourably. 61 From whence he went to Gaza, but they of Gaza ſhut him out; wherefore he laid ſiege unto it, and burned the ſuburbs thereof with fire, and ſpoiled them. 62 Afterward when they of Gaza made ſupplication unto Jonathan, he made peace with them, and took took the ſons of their chief men for hoſtages, and ſent them to Jeruſalem, and paſſed through the country unto Damaſcus. 63 Now when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come to Cades which is in Galilee, with a great power, purpoſing to remove him out of the country, 64 He went to meet them, and left Simon his brother in the country. 65 Then Simon encamped againſt Bethſura, and fought againſt it a long ſeaſon, and ſhut it up: 66 But they deſired to have peace with him, which he granted them, and then put them out from thence, and took the city, and ſet a garriſon in it. 67 As for Jonathan and his hoſt, they pitched at the water of Genneſar, from whence betimes in the morning they gat them to the plain of Naſor. 68 And behold, the hoſt of ſtrangers met them in the plain, who having laid men in ambuſh for him in the mountains, came themſelves over-againſt him. 69 So when they that lay in ambuſh roſe out of their places, and joined battel, all that were of Jonathans ſide fled; 70 Inſomuch as there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the ſon of Abſalom, and Judas the ſon of Calphi the captains of the hoſt. 71 Then Jonathan rent his cloaths, and caſt earth upon his head, and prayed. 72 Afterwards turning again to battel, he put them to flight, and ſo they ran away. 73 Now when his own men that were fled ſaw this, they turned again unto him, and with him purſued them to Cades, even unto their own tents, and there they camped. 74 So there were ſlain of the heathen that day, about three thouſand men: but Jonathan returned to Jeruſalem.

Now as Ptolemy entered into the Cities, he ſet in every one of them a Garriſon of Soldiers to keep it] But, whether this might not give ſome Umbrage to Alexander, ſo it was, that Ptolemy diſcovered a Deſign, which Ammonius, Alexander's great Favourite, had formed, to have him cut off at his coming to Ptolemais; and upon his demanding Juſtice to be done to the Traitor, by Alexander's refuſing to give him up, he plainly perceived; that the King was a Party to the Treaſon, and thence began to harbour an implacable Hatred againſt him. Ammonius, however, did not go unpuniſhed; for on Ptolemy's Approach to Antioch, the Citizens roſe in a Tumult, and ſlew the Taitor.

By this Means Demetrius reigned] Demetrius being thus left in quiet Poſſeſſion of his Father's Kingdom, which he having recovered by Virtue of this Victory, did thenceforth take upon him the Name of Nicanor, i. e. Conqueror.

CHAP. XII.

Jonathan renews his League with the Romans. Tryphon takes Jonathan by a Stratagem.

Ver. 1. NOW when Jonathan ſaw that the time ſerved him, he choſe certain men, and ſent them to Rome, for to confirm and renew the friendſhip that they had with them. 2 He ſent letters alſo to the Lacedemonians, and to other places for the ſame purpoſe. 3 So they went unto Rome, and entred into the ſenate, and ſaid, Jonathan the high-prieſt, and the people of the Jews ſent us unto you, to the end you ſhould renew the friendſhip which you had with them, and league, as in former time. 4 Upon this the Romans gave them letters unto the governors of every place, that they ſhould bring them into the land of Judea peaceably. 5 And this is the copy of the letters which Jonathan wrote unto the Lacedemonians: 6 Jonathan the high-prieſt, and the elders of the nation, and the prieſts, and the other people of the Jews, unto the Lacedemonians their brethren, ſend greeting. 7 There were letters ſent in times paſt unto Onias the high-prieſt from Darius, who reigned then among you, to ſignify that you are our brethren, as the copy here under-written doth ſpecify. 8 At which time Onias entreated the ambaſſador that was ſent, honourably, and received the letters, wherein declaration was made of the league and friendſhip. 9 Therefore we alſo, albeit we need none of theſe things, for that we have the holy books of ſcripture in our hands to comfort us, 10 Have nevertheleſs attempted to ſend unto you for the renewing of brotherhood and friendſhip, leſt we ſhould become ſtrangers unto you altogether: for there is a long time paſſed ſince you ſent unto us. 11 We therefore at all times without ceaſing, both in our feaſts and other convenient days, do remember you in the ſacrifices which we offer, and in our prayers, as reaſon is, and as it becometh us to think upon our brethren: 12 And we are right glad of your honour. 13 As for ourſelves, we have had great troubles and wars on every ſide, forſomuch as the kings that are round about us, have fought againſt us. 14 Howbeit, we would not be troubleſome unto you, nor to others of our confederates and friends in theſe wars. 15 For we have help from heaven that ſuccoureth us, ſo as we are delivered from our enemies, and our enemies are brought under foot. 16 For this cauſe we choſe Numenius the ſon of Antiochus, and Antipater the ſon of Jaſon, and ſent them unto the Romans, to renew the amity that we had with them, and the former league. 17 We commanded them alſo to go unto you, and to ſalute you, and to deliver you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood. 18 Wherefore now ye ſhall do well to give us an anſwer thereto. 19 And this is the copy of the letters which Oniares ſent. 20 Areus king of the Lacedemonians, to Onias the high-prieſt, greeting. 21 It is found in writing, that the Lacedemonians and Jews are brethren, and that they are of the ſtock of Abraham: 22 Now therefore, ſince this is come to our knowledge, you ſhall do well to write unto us of your proſperity. 23 We do write back again to you, that your cattel and goods are ours, and ours are yours. We do command therefore our ambaſſadors to make report unto you on this wiſe. 24 Now when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come to fight againſt him with a greater hoſt than afore, 25 He removed from Jeruſalem, and met them in the land of Amathis: for he gave them no reſpite to enter his country. 26 He ſent ſpies alſo unto their tents, who came again and told him, that they were appointed to come upon them in the night-ſeaſon. 27 Wherefore ſo ſoon as the ſun was down, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in arms, that all the night long they might be ready to fight: alſo he ſent forth ſentinels round about the hoſt. 28 But when the adverſaries heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battel, they feared and trembled in their hearts, and they kindled fires in their camp. 29 Howbeit, Jonathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they ſaw the lights burning.

30 Then Jonathan purſued after them, but overtook them not: for they were gone over the river Eleutherus. 31 Wherefore Jonathan turned to the Arabians, who were called Zabadeans, and ſmote them, and took their ſpoils. 32 And removing thence, he came to Damaſcus, and ſo paſſed through all the country. 33 Simon alſo went forth, and paſſed through the country unto Aſcalon, and the holds there adjoining, from whence he turned aſide to Joppe, and wan it. 34 For he had heard that they would deliver the hold unto them that took Demetrius part, wherefore he ſet a garriſon there to keep it. 35 After this came Jonathan home again, and calling the elders of the people together, he conſulted with them about building ſtrong-holds in Judea, 36 And making the walls of Jeruſalem higher, and raiſing a great mount between the tower and the city, for to ſeparate it from the city, that ſo it might be alone, that men might neither ſell nor buy in it. 37 Upon this they came together to build up the city, foraſmuch as part of the wall toward the brook on the eaſt-ſide was fallen down, and they repaired that which was called Caphenatha. 38 Simon alſo ſet up Adida in Sephela, and made it ſtrong with gates and bars. 39 Now Tryphon went about to get the kingdom of Aſia, and to kill Antiochus the king, that he might ſet the crown upon his own head. 40 Howbeit, he was afraid that Jonathan would not ſuffer him, and that he would fight againſt him; wherefore he ſought a way how to take Jonathan that he might kill him. So he removed and came to Bethſan. 41 Then Jonathan went out to meet him with forty thouſand men, choſen for the battel, and came to Bethſan. 42 Now when Tryphon ſaw that Jonathan came with ſo great a force, he durſt not ſtretch his hand againſt him; 43 But received him honourably, and commended him unto all his friends, and gave him gifts, and commanded his men of war to be as obedient unto him, as to himſelf. 44 Unto Jonathan alſo he ſaid, Why haſt thou put all this people to ſo great trouble, ſeeing there is no war betwixt us? 45 Therefore ſend them now home again, and chooſe a few men to wait on thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais, for I will give it thee, and the reſt of the ſtrong-holds, and forces, and all that have any charge: as for me, I will return and depart: for this is the cauſe of my coming. 46 So Jonathan believing him, did as he bade him, and ſent away his hoſt, who went into the land of Judea. 47 And with himſelf he retained but three thouſand men, of whom he ſent two thouſand into Galilee, and one thouſand went with him. 48 Now as ſoon as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais ſhut the gates and took him, and all them that came with him, they ſlew with the ſword. 49 Then ſent Tryphon an hoſt of footmen, and horſemen into Galilee, and into the great plain, to deſtroy all Jonathans company. 50 But when they knew that Jonathan, and they that were with him were taken and ſlain, they encouraged one another, and went cloſe together, prepared to fight. 51 They therefore that followed upon them, perceiving that they were ready to fight for their lives, turned back again. 52 Whereupon they all came into the land of Judea peaceably, and there they bewailed Jonathan and them that were with him, and they were ſore afraid, wherefore all Iſrael made great lamentation. 53 Then all the heathen that were round about them, ſought to deſtroy them: for, ſaid they, they have no captain, nor any to help them: Now therefore, let us make war upon them, and take away their memorial from amongſt them.

In Tryphon we may behold the true Picture of Ambition, which not the moſt ſacred Ties of Friendſhip, Honour, or Religion can reſtrain within any Bounds. Tryphon was ſo enamoured with the Crown of Syria, that he wades thro' a Sea of Blood, and commits the baſeſt Treacheries to obtain it. He knew Jonathan was a faſt Friend to his young Maſter Antiochus, and conſequently, that any Attempt upon the King's Life would be revenged by the Jews, and by that Means, fruſtrate his main Purpoſe of getting the Crown. In order therefore, to remove all Obſtacles, Jonathan muſt, at all Events, be firſt taken out of the Way, and then his royal Maſter would be entirely in his own Power. Jonathan was of a frank and generous Nature himſelf, and therefore the leſs ſuſpicious of Treachery in others, but yet the more liable to Impoſitions from ſuch villainous Deſigns as were cloaked with the moſt ſolemn Profeſſions of Friendſhip. But how vile muſt be the Wretch, how abandoned to all Virtue and Goodneſs, who, for the Sake of the greateſt Advantage on Earth, could break thro' the moſt ſacred Obligations, as well divine as humane! But thus did Tryphon in his Treachery to Jonathan, and afterwards in killing his Royal Maſter Antiochus. But God would not ſuffer ſuch horrid Villanies to go unpuniſhed, as we ſhall ſee in the Sequel of the Story.

CHAP. XIII.

Simon ſucceeds Jonathan in the Command. Tryphon kills Jonathan, and Simon his Brother raiſes a Monument over him and the reſt of his deceaſed Family.

Ver. 1. NOW when Simon heard that Tryphon had gathered together a great hoſt, to invade the land of Judea, and deſtroy it. 2 And ſaw that the people was in great trembling and fear, he went up to Jeruſalem, and gathered the people together, 3 And gave them exhortation, ſaying, Ye yourſelves know what great things I and my brethren, and my fathers houſe have done for the laws, and the ſanctuary, the battels alſo and the troubles which we have ſeen, 4 By reaſon whereof all my brethren are ſlain for Iſraels ſake, and I am left alone. 5 Now therefore be it far from me, that I ſhould ſpare mine own life in any time of trouble: for I am no better than my brethren. 6 Doubtleſs I will avenge my nation and the ſanctuary, and our wives, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered to deſtroy us of very malice. 7 Now as ſoon as the people heard theſe words, their ſpirit revived. 8 And they anſwered with a loud voice, ſaying, Thou ſhalt be our leader inſtead of Judas and Jonathan thy brother. 9 Fight thou our battels, and whatſoever thou commandeſt us, that will we do. 10 So then he gathered together all the men of war, and made haſte to finiſh the walls of Jeruſalem, and he fortified it round about. 11 Alſo he ſent Jonathan the ſon of Abſalom, and with him a great power to Joppe: who caſting out them that were therein, remained there in it. 12 So Tryphon removed from Ptolemais with a great power to invade the land of Judea, and Jonathan was with him in ward. 13 But Simon pitched his tents at Adida, over-againſt the the plain. 14 Now when Tryphon knew that Simon was risen up in stead of his brother Jonathan, and meant to join battel with him, he sent messengers unto him, saying, 15 Whereas we have Jonathan thy brother in hold, it is for money that he is owing unto the kings treasure, concerning the business that was committed unto him. 16 Wherefore now send an hundred talents of silver, and two of his sons for hostages, that when he is at liberty he may not revolt from us, and we will let him go. 17 Hereupon Simon, albeit he perceived that they spake deceitfully unto him, yet sent he the money and the children, lest peradventure he should procure to himself great hatred of the people: 18 Who might have said, Because I sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead. 19 So he sent them the children and the hundred talents: howbeit Tryphon dissembled, neither would he let Jonathan go. 20 And after this came Tryphon to invade the land, and destroy it, going round about by the way that leadeth unto Adora: but Simon and his host marched against him in every place whersoever he went. 21 Now they that were in the tower, sent messengers unto Tryphon, to the end that he should hasten his coming unto them by the wilderness, and send them victuals. 22 Wherefore Tryphon made ready all his horsemen to come that night, but there fell a very great snow, by reason whereof he came not. So he departed and came into the country of Galaad. 23 And when he came near to Basoama, he slew Jonathan, who was buried there. 24 Afterward Tryphon returned, and went into his own land. 25 Then sent Simon, and took the bones of Jonathan his brother, and buried them in Modin, the city of his fathers. 26 And all Israel made great lamentation for him, and bewailed him many days. 27 Simon also built a monument upon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, and raised it aloft to the sight, with hewen stone behind and before. 28 Moreover, he set up seven pyramids one against another, for his father and his mother, and his four brethren. 29 And in these he made cunning devices, about the which he set great pillars, and upon the pillars he made all their armour for a perpetual memory, and by the armour, ships carved, that they might be seen of all that sail on the sea. 30 This is the sepulchre which he made at Modin, and it standeth yet unto this day. 31 Now Tryphon dealt deceitfully with the young king Antiochus, and slew him. 32 And he reigned in his stead, and crowned himself king of Asia, and brought a great calamity upon the land. 33 Then Simon built up the strong-holds in Judea, and fenced them about with high towers, and great walls, and gates, and bars, and laid up victuals therein. 34 Moreover, Simon chose men, and sent to king Demetrius, to the end he should give the land an immunity, because all that Tryphon did, was to spoil. 35 Unto whom king Demetrius answered, and wrote after this manner: 36 King Demetrius unto Simon the high-priest, and friend of kings, as also unto the elders and nation of the Jews, sendeth greeting. 37 The golden crown, and the scarlet robe which ye sent unto us, we have received: and we are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, yea, and to write unto our officers, to confirm the immunities which we have granted. 38 And whatsoever covenants we have made with you, shall stand; and the strong holds which ye have builded, shall be your own. 39 As for any oversight or fault committed unto this day, we forgive it, and the crown tax also which ye owe us: and if there were any other tribute paid in Jerusalem, it shall no more be paid. 40 And look who are meet among you to be in our court, let them be enrolled, and let there be peace betwixt us. 41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken away from Israel, in the hundred and seventieth year. 42 Then the people of Israel began to write in their instruments and contracts, In the first year of Simon the high-priest, the governor and leader of the Jews. 43 In those days Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about; he made also an engine of war, and set it by the city, and battered a certain tower, and took it. 44 And they that were in the engine leapt into the city; whereupon there was a great uproar in the city: 45 Insomuch as the people of the city rent their cloaths, and climbed upon the walls with their wives and children, and cried with a loud voice, beseeching Simon to grant them peace. 46 And they said, Deal not with us according to our wickedness, but according to thy mercy. 47 So Simon was appeased towards them, and fought no more against them, but put them out of the city, and cleansed the houses wherein the idols were: and so entred into it with songs and thanksgiving. 48 Yea, he put all uncleanness out of it, and placed such men there, as would keep the law, and made it stronger than it was before, and built therein a dwelling-place for himself. 49 They also of the tower in Jerusalem were kept so strait, that they could neither come forth, nor go into the country, nor buy, nor sell: wherefore they were in great distress for want of victuals, and a great number of them perished through famine. 50 Then cried they to Simon, beseeching him to be at one with them; which thing he granted them, and when he had put them out from thence, he cleansed the tower from pollution: 51 And entred into it the three and twentieth day of the second month, in the hundred seventy and one year, with thanksgiving and branches of palm-trees, and with harps and cymbals, and with viols, and hymns, and songs: because there was destroyed a great enemy out of Israel. 52 He ordained also, that that day should be kept every year with gladness. Moreover, the hill of the temple that was by the tower, he made stronger than it was, and there he dwelt himself, with his company. 53 And when Simon saw that John his son was a valiant man, he made him captain of all the hosts, and dwelt in Gazara.

Simon also built a Monument upon the Sepulchre of his Father and his Brethren] This Edifice, being erected on an Eminence, was seen far off at Sea; and, on that Coast, was taken notice of as a good Sea-mark. Near to the Monument, Simon placed seven Pyramids, two for his Father and Mother, four for his four Brothers, and the seventh for himself, and then encompassed the Whole with a stately Portico, supported by marble Pillars, each of one entire Peace, and whereon were engraved Ships, and Arms, and other military Ensigns. Josephus tells us, that this whole Fabrick was standing entire in his Days, and looked upon as a very curious and excellent Piece of Architecture; and Eusebius mentions tions it as ſtill in Being in his Time, which was 200 Years after the Time of Joſephus. See Prideaux's Con.

CHAP. XIV.

Demetrius is taken Priſoner by the King of Perſia. Judea has Reſt.

Ver. 1. NOW in the hundred threeſcore and twelfth year, king Demetrius gathered his forces together, and went into Media to get him help to fight againſt Tryphon. 2 But when Arſaces the king of Perſia and Media, heard that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he ſent one of his princes to take him alive. 3 Who went and ſmote the hoſt of Demetrius, and took him, and brought him to Arſaces, by whom he was put in ward. 4 As for the land of Judea, that was quiet all the days of Simon; for he ſought the good of his nation in ſuch wiſe, as that evermore his authority and honour pleaſed them well. 5 And as he was honourable in all his acts, ſo in this, that he took Joppe for an haven, and made an entrance to the iſles of the ſea, 6 And enlarged the bounds of his nation, and recovered the country, 7 And gathered together a great number of captives, and had the dominion of Gazara, and Bethſura, and the tower, out of which he took all uncleanneſs, neither was there any that reſiſted him. 8 Then did they till their ground in peace, and the earth gave her increaſe, and the trees of the field their fruit. 9 The antient men ſat all in the ſtreets communing together of good things, and the young men put on glorious and warlike apparel. 10 He provided victuals for the cities, and ſet in them all manner of munition, ſo that his honourable name was renowned unto the end of the world. 11 He made peace in the land, and Iſrael rejoiced with great joy: 12 For every man ſat under his vine, and his fig-tree, and there was none to fray them: 13 Neither was there any left in the land to fight againſt them: yea, the kings themſelves were overthrown in thoſe days. 14 Moreover, he ſtrengthened all thoſe of his people that were brought low: the law he ſearched out, and every contemner of the law, and wicked perſon he took away. 15 He beautified the ſanctuary, and multiplied the veſſels of the temple. 16 Now when it was heard at Rome, and as far as Sparta, that Jonathan was dead, they were very ſorry. 17 But as ſoon as they heard that his brother Simon was made high-prieſt in his ſtead, and ruled in the country, and the cities therein, 18 They wrote unto him in tables of braſs, to renew the friendſhip and league which they had made with Judas and Jonathan his brethren. 19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jeruſalem. 20 And this is the copy of the letters that the Lacedemonians ſent: The rulers of the Lacedemonians, with the city, unto Simon the high-prieſt, and the elders and prieſts, and reſidue of the people of the Jews our brethren, ſend greeting. 21 The ambaſſadors that were ſent unto our people, certified us of your glory and honour, wherefore we are glad of their coming: 22 And did regiſter the things that they ſpake in the council of the people, in this manner: Numenius ſon of Antiochus, and Antipater ſon of Jaſon, the Jews ambaſſadors, came unto us to renew the friendſhip they had with us. 23 And it pleaſed the people to entertain the men honourably, and to put the copy of their ambaſſage in publick records, to the end the people of the Lacedemonians might have a memorial thereof: furthermore, we have written a copy thereof unto Simon the high-prieſt. 24 After this Simon ſent Numenius to Rome, with a great ſhield of gold of a thouſand pound weight, to confirm the league with them. 25 Whereof when the people heard, they ſaid, What thanks ſhall we give to Simon and his ſons? 26 For he and his brethren, and the houſe of his father, have eſtabliſhed Iſrael, and chaſed away in fight their enemies from them, and confirmed their liberty. 27 So then they wrote it in the tables of braſs, which they ſet upon pillars in mount Sion: and this is the copy of the writing: The eighteenth day of the month Elul, in the hundred threeſcore and twelfth year, being the third year of Simon the high-prieſt, 28 At Saramel in the great congregation of the prieſts and people, and rulers of the nation, and elders of the country, were theſe things notified unto us. 29 Foraſmuch as oftentimes there have been wars in the country, wherein for the maintenance of their ſanctuary, and the law, Simon the ſon of Mattathias of the poſterity of Jarib, together with his brethren, put themſelves in jeopardy, and reſiſting the enemies of their nation, did their nation great honour. 30 (For after that Jonathan having gathered his nation together, and been their high-prieſt, was added to his people; 31 Their enemies purpoſed to invade their country, that they might deſtroy it, and lay hands on the ſanctuary. 32 At which time Simon roſe up, and fought for his nation, and ſpent much of his own ſubſtance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages, 33 And fortified the cities of Judea, together with Bethſura that lieth upon the borders of Judea, where the armour of the enemies had been before; but he ſet a garriſon of Jews there. 34 Moreover, he fortified Joppe which lieth upon the ſea, and Gazara that bordereth upon Azotus, where the enemies had dwelt before: but he placed Jews there, and furniſhed them with all things convenient for the reparation thereof.) 35 The people therefore ſeeing the acts of Simon, and unto what glory he thought to bring his nation, made him their governor, and chief prieſt, becauſe he had done all theſe things, and for the juſtice and faith which he kept to his nation, and for that he fought by all means to exalt his people. 36 For in his time things proſpered in his hands, ſo that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they alſo that were in the city of David in Jeruſalem, who had made themſelves a tower, out of which they iſſued and polluted all about the ſanctuary, and did much hurt in the holy places: 37 But he placed Jews therein, and fortified it for the ſafety of the country, and the city, and raiſed up the walls of Jeruſalem. 38 King Demetrius alſo confirmed him in the high prieſthood, according to thoſe things, 39 And made him one of his friends, and honoured him with great honour. 40 For he had heard ſay, that the Romans had called the Jews their friends and confederates, and brethren, and that they had entertained the ambaſſadors of Simon honourably; 41 Alſo that the Jews and prieſts were well pleaſed that Simon ſhould ſhould be their governor and high-prieſt for ever, until there ſhould ariſe a faithful prophet; 42 Moreover, that he ſhould be their captain, and ſhould take charge of the ſanctuary, to ſet them over their works, and over the country, and over the armour, and over the fortreſſes, that (I ſay) he ſhould take charge of the ſanctuary; 43 Beſides this, that he ſhould be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the country ſhould be made in his name, and that he ſhould be cloathed in purple, and wear gold; 44 Alſo that it ſhould be lawful for none of the people or prieſts to break any of theſe things, or to gainſay his words, or to gather an aſſembly in the country without him, or to be cloathed in purple, or wear a buckle of gold; 45 And whoſoever ſhould do otherwiſe, or break any of theſe things, he ſhould be puniſhed. 46 Thus it liked all the people to deal with Simon, and to do as hath been ſaid. 47 Then Simon accepted hereof, and was well pleaſed to be high-prieſt and captain, and governor of the Jews and prieſts, and to defend them all. 48 So they commanded that this writing ſhould be put in tables of braſs, and that they ſhould be ſet up within the compaſs of the ſanctuary in a conſpicuous place; 49 Alſo that the copies thereof ſhould be laid up in the treaſury, to the end that Simon and his ſons might have them.

Who went and ſmote the Hoſt of Demetrius, and took him] The Reaſon which profane Hiſtorians give of this Misfortune of Demetrius, is thus related. — As the Parthians had, at this Time, over-run in a Manner all the Eaſt, and made themſelves Maſters of every Country from the River Indus to the Euphrates, thoſe who were of the Macedonian Race in thoſe Parts, not bearing their Uſurpation and Inſolence, invited Demetrius by repeated Embaſſies to come to their Relief, promiſing him a general Revolt from the Parthians, and ſuch Aſſiſtance of Forces againſt them, as would enable him to ſuppreſs theſe Uſurpers, and recover to his Dominions all the Provinces of the Eaſt. Upon Confidence in theſe Promiſes, he undertook the Expedition; and found, as ſoon as he appeared, that the Elymæans, the Perſians, and the Bactrians, declared for him. By the Aſſiſtance of theſe Nations he overthrew the Parthians in ſeveral Conflicts; but, at laſt, under the Shew of a Treaty of Peace, being drawn into a Snare, he was made Priſoner, and all his Army cut to Pieces. The King, that reigned in Parthia at this Time, was Mithridates, the Son of Priapatites, who, having thus gotten Demetrius into his Power, carried him round the revolted Provinces, that, by ſeeing the Prince whom they confided in, reduced to this ignominious Condition, they might more eaſily be brought to ſubmit to their former Yoke: But, when he had done this, he allowed him a Maintenance ſuitable to the State of a King, and gave him one of his Daughters, whoſe Name was Rhodaguna, in Marriage. See Juſtin, Joſephus, and Oroſius.

Until there ſhould ariſe a Prophet] That is, the Meſſiah, who was foretold by Moſes and the Prophets, and of whoſe Coming therefore the Jews were in earneſt Expectation.

CHAP. XV.

Antiochus deſires Leave to paſs thro' Judea, and grants great Honours to Simon and the Jews; but afterwards quarrels with Simon, and annoys Judea.

Ver. 1. MOreover, Antiochus ſon of Demetrius the king, ſent letters from the iſles of the ſea, unto Simon the prieſt, and prince of the Jews, and to all the people; 2 The contents whereof were theſe: King Antiochus to Simon the high-prieſt, and prince of his nation, and to the people of the Jews, greeting: 3 Foraſmuch as certain peſtilent men have uſurped the kingdom of our fathers, and my purpoſe is to challenge it again, that I may reſtore it to the old eſtate, and to that end have gathered a multitude of foreign ſoldiers together, and prepared ſhips of war; 4 My meaning alſo being to go through the country, that I may be avenged of them that have deſtroyed it, and made many cities in the kingdom deſolate: 5 Now therefore I confirm unto thee all the oblations which the kings before me granted thee, and whatſoever gifts beſides they granted. 6 I give thee leave alſo to coin money for thy country with thine own ſtamp. 7 And as concerning Jeruſalem, and the ſanctuary, let them be free, and all the armour that thou haſt made, and fortreſſes that thou haſt built, and keepeſt in thine hands, let them remain unto thee. 8 And if any thing be, or ſhall be owing to the king, let it be forgiven thee, from this time forth for evermore. 9 Furthermore, when we have obtained our kingdom, we will honour thee and thy nation, and thy temple with great honour, ſo that your honour ſhall be known throughout the world. 10 In the hundred threeſcore and fourteenth year went Antiochus into the land of his fathers: at which time all the forces came together unto him, ſo that few were left with Tryphon. 11 Wherefore being purſued by king Antiochus, he fled unto Dora, which lieth by the ſea-ſide. 12 For he ſaw that troubles came upon him all at once, and that his forces had forſaken him. 13 Then camped Antiochus againſt Dora, having with him an hundred and twenty thouſand men of war, and eight thouſand horſemen. 14 And when he had compaſſed the city round about, and joined ſhips cloſe to the town on the ſea-ſide, he vexed the city by land and by ſea, neither ſuffered he any to go out or in. 15 In the mean ſeaſon came Numenius and his company from Rome, having letters to the kings and countries: wherein were written theſe things; 16 Lucius, Conſul of the Romans, unto king Ptolemee, greeting. 17 The Jews ambaſſadors our friends and confederates, came unto us to renew the old friendſhip and league, being ſent from Simon the high-prieſt, and from the people of the Jews. 18 And they brought a ſhield of gold of a thouſand pound. 19 We thought it good therefore to write unto the kings and countries, that they ſhould do them no harm, nor fight againſt them, their cities, or countries, nor yet aid their enemies againſt them. 20 It ſeemed alſo good to us to receive the ſhield of them. 21 If therefore there be any peſtilent fellows that have fled from their country unto you, deliver them unto Simon the high-prieſt, that he may puniſh them according to their own law. 22 The ſame things wrote he likewiſe unto Demetrius the king, and Attalus, to Ariarathes and Arſaces, 23 And to all the countries, and to Sampſames, and the Lacedemonians, and to Delus, and Myndus, and Sicyon, and Caria, and Samos, and Pamphylia, and Lycia, and Halicarnaſſus, and Rhodus, and Phaſelis, and Cos, and Side, and Aradus, and Gortyna, and Cnidus, and Cyprus, and Cyrene. 24 And the copy hereof they wrote to Simon the high-high-prieſt. 25 So Antiochus the king camped againſt Dora the ſecond day, aſſaulting it continually, and making engines, by which means he ſhut up Tryphon, that he could neither go out nor in. 26 At that time Simon ſent him two thouſand choſen men to aid him: ſilver alſo and gold, and much armour. 27 Nevertheleſs, he would not receive them, but brake all the covenants which he had made with him afore, and became ſtrange unto him. 28 Furthermore, he ſent unto him Athenobius, one of his friends, to commune with him, and ſay, You withhold Joppe and Gazara, with the tower that is in Jeruſalem, which are cities of my realm. 29 The borders thereof ye have waſted, and done great hurt in the land, and got the dominion of many places within my kingdom. 30 Now therefore deliver the cities which ye have taken, and the tributes of the places whereof ye have gotten dominion, without the borders of Judea: 31 Or elſe give me for them five hundred talents of ſilver; and for the harm that you have done, and the tributes of the cities, other five hundred talents: if not, we will come and fight againſt you. 32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Jeruſalem: and when he ſaw the glory of Simon, and the cupboard of gold and ſilver plate, and his great attendance, he was aſtoniſhed, and told him the kings meſſage. 33 Then anſwered Simon and ſaid unto him, We have neither taken other mens land, nor holden that which appertaineth to others, but the inheritance of our fathers which our enemies had wrongfully in poſſeſſion a certain time. 34 Wherefore we having opportunity, hold the inheritance of our fathers. 35 And whereas thou demandeſt Joppe and Gazara, albeit they did great harm unto the people in our country, yet will we give an hundred talents for them. Hereunto Athenobius anſwered him not a word; 36 But returned in a rage to the king, and made report unto him of theſe ſpeeches, and of the glory of Simon, and of all that he had ſeen: whereupon the king was exceeding wroth. 37 In the mean time fled Tryphon by ſhip unto Orthoſias. 38 Then the king made Cendebeus captain of the ſea-coaſt, and gave him an hoſt of footmen and horſemen, 39 And commanded him to remove his hoſt towards Judea: alſo he commanded him to build up Cedron, and to fortify the gates, and to war againſt the people; but as for the king himſelf, he purſued Tryphon. 40 So Cendebeus came to Jamnia, and began to provoke the people, and to invade Judea, and to take the people priſoners, and ſlay them. 41 And when he had built up Cedron, he ſet horſemen there, and an hoſt of footmen, to the end that iſſuing out, they might make outrodes upon the ways of Judea, as the king had commanded him.

While Demetrius was a Priſoner in Parthia, Tryphon ſlew his Royal Pupil Antiochus; and Cleopatra the Wife of Demetrius, for her Security againſt the Uſurper, had ſhut herſelf with her Children in Seleucia. She, however, being apprehenſive that the Seleucians would give up the Town to Tryphon, ſent privately to Antiochus (called Soter) the Brother of Demetrius, with a Propoſal of Marriage, and a Tender of her Kingdom to him, as well as of her Perſon. Antiochus was then ſculking up and down among the Iſles, ſcarce any Body daring to receive him; but on his accepting the Propoſal made him by Cleopatra, he ſoon ſaw himſelf at the Head of a fine Army, with which he marched againſt Tryphon, drove him out of Syria, and at Apamea, a City of Syria, lying upon the Orontes, ſlew him. Thus Joſephus relates the Story; and this is the Antiochus ſpoken of in this Chapter.

CHAP. XVI.

Judas and John prevail againſt the Forces of Antiochus. Simon and his two Sons treacherouſly ſlain.

Ver. 1. THEN came up John from Gazara, and told Simon his father what Cendebeus had done. 2 Wherefore Simon called his two eldeſt ſons, Judas and John, and ſaid unto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers houſe, have ever from our youth unto this day fought againſt the enemies of Iſrael; and things have proſpered ſo well in our hands, that we have delivered Iſrael oftentimes. 3 But now I am old, and ye by Gods mercy are of a ſufficient age: be ye in ſtead of me and my brother, and go and fight for our nation, and the help from heaven be with you. 4 So he choſe out of the country twenty thouſand men of war, with horſemen, who went out againſt Cendebeus, and reſted that night at Modin. 5 And when as they roſe in the morning, and went into the plain, behold, a mighty great hoſt both of footmen and horſemen came againſt them: howbeit, there was a water-brook betwixt them. 6 So he and his people pitched over-againſt them: and when he ſaw that the people were afraid to go over the water-brook, he went firſt over himſelf, and then the men ſeeing him, paſſed through after him. 7 That done, he divided his men, and ſet the horſemen in the midſt of the footmen: for the enemies horſemen were very many. 8 Then ſounded they with the holy trumpets: whereupon Cendebeus and his hoſt were put to flight, ſo that many of them were ſlain, and the remnant gat them to the ſtrong-hold. 9 At that time was Judas, Johns brother, wounded, but John ſtill followed after them, until he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built. 10 So they fled even unto the towers in the fields of Azotus, wherefore he burnt it with fire: ſo that there were ſlain of them about two thouſand men. Afterward he returned into the land of Judea in peace. 11 Moreover, in the plain of Jericho was Ptolemeus the ſon of Abubus made captain, and he had abundance of ſilver and gold. 12 For he was the high-prieſts ſon-in-law. 13 Wherefore his heart being lifted up, he thought to get the country to himſelf, and thereupon conſulted deceitfully againſt Simon and his ſons to deſtroy them. 14 Now Simon was viſiting the cities that were in the country, and taking care for the good ordering of them, at which time he came down himſelf to Jericho, with his ſons Mattathias and Judas, in the hundred threeſcore and ſeventh year, in the eleventh month, called Sabat: 15 Where the ſon of Abubus receiving them deceitfully into a little hold called Docus, which he had built, made them a great banquet: howbeit he had hid men there. 16 So when Simon and his ſons had drunk largely, Ptolemee and his men roſe up, and took their weapons, and came upon Simon into the banqueting-place, and ſlew him and his two ſons, and certain of his ſervants. 17 In which thing he committed a great treachery, and recompenſed evil for good. 18 Then Ptolemee wrote theſe things, and ſent to the king, that he ſhould should send him an host to aid him, and he would deliver him the country and cities. 19 He sent others also to Gazara to kill John, and unto the tribunes he sent letters to come unto him, that he might give them silver, and gold, and rewards. 20 And others he sent to take Jerusalem, and the mountain of the temple. 21 Now one had run afore to Gazara, and told John that his father and brethren were slain, and (quoth he) Ptolemee hath sent to slay thee also. 22 Hereof when he heard, he was sore astonished: So he laid hands on them that were come to destroy him, and slew them; for he knew that they sought to make him away. 23 As concerning the rest of the acts of John, and his wars, and worthy deeds which he did, and the building of the walls which he made, and his doings, 24 Behold, these are written in the Chronicles of his priesthood, from the time he was made high-priest after his father.

Then came up John from Gazara] This John was also called Hyrcanus; the Reason of which some impute to the Victory which he obtained over Hyrcanus, whom the Books of the Maccabees, and Josephus call Cendebeus; tho' others say, that he had his Name from a gallant Action against the Hircanians, perhaps in the Expedition, wherein he accompanied Alexander Sidetes, beyond the Euphrates.

In which doing he committed a great Treachery] Josephus has something peculiar in his Account of this vile Miscreant, viz. that after he had killed his Father-in-law Simon, he seized on his Wife, and two of her Children, and with them betook himself to a Castle not far from Jerusalem, called Dagon; that, when Hyrcanus came to besiege it, the Villain's Custom was, to bring out his Mother and Brothers, and to whip and torment them, in the Sight of all the People, with Menaces to cast them headlong from the Battlements, unless Hyrcanus withdrew the Siege; that, when Hyrcanus, out of Tenderness to his Mother and Brothers, was thinking of raising the Siege, and suffering the Traitor to escape, his Mother called to him aloud from the Walls, not to regard her, or her Children's Sufferings, but to proceed in the Siege with Vigour, that so he might do himself and his Family Right, in taking just Vengeance upon that execrable Monster; that, notwithstanding this magnanimous Exhortation, he could not bear to see his Relations tortured, and therefore delayed the Siege, until the Sabbatical Year came on, wherein the Jews were obliged to rest; so that Ptolemy, by this Means, being delivered from the War and the Siege, (after he had slain the Mother and Brothers of Hyrcanus) withdrew to Zeno, surnamed Catyla, a Tyrant, who at that Time usurped to himself the Government of Philadelphia. But our learned Usher is of Opinion, that this whole Account of Josephus is fabulous.

An EXPOSITION of the second Book of the MACCABEES.

The ARGUMENT.

This second Book of the Maccabees consists of two Parts; the first whereof is contained in the first Chapter, and part of the second; the Subject of which is only two Letters written by the Jews of Jerusalem to those of Egypt, to exhort them to celebrate with them, at the appointed Times, the Feast of Tabernacles, and of the Purification of the Temple. Upon which Letters so many Difficulties have risen with respect to the Times and Persons mentioned therein; so little Foundation for Narration of Occurrences supposed to have happened after the Captivity of the Ark; the Tabernacle; and of the Altar hidden by Jeremiah, that one may justly suspect them to be mere Jewish Fables, far from bearing any Character of Scripture divinely inspired. The other Part, which begins at Ch. ii. 20. is the Summary of a long Story of Jason, a Cyrenean; of the Persecutions of Antiochus; and of the People's Deliverance by Judas Maccabeus, until the Defeat and Death of Nicanor; but amongst these there are divers Things that do not well agree with the first Book, which is undoubtedly the truest and most exact: As the Death of Antiochus, described Ch. ix. very differently from the Account given of it in the first Book, Ch. vi. besides many other Singularities; especially some Heads which cannot well stand to the Trial of the Doctrine of holy Scripture. Thus, the commending of Razis, who run himself into voluntary Death, Ch. xiv. and the false Judgment which the Author gives concerning Judas's Sacrifices and Prayers for the Expiation of the Misdeeds committed by some of his Army, to turn away God's Wrath from the whole Body of it; as if that had been done for their Benefit who were dead for their Sins, Ch. xii. 44. an Opinion which hath neither Ground nor Approbation in Scripture, wherein there are no Sacrifices nor Prayers appointed to be used for the Dead. And therefore with very good Reason, this Book, which is but the Epitome of an History not holy in itself, and penned in a Stile not in the least agreeable to the Spirit of divine Inspiration, was thrown among the Apocrypha of least Esteem.

CHAP. I.

A Letter from the Jews of Jerusalem to the Jews in Egypt. The holy Fire hid in a Pit. The Prayer of Nehemias.

Ver. 1. THE brethren of the Jews that be at Jerusalem, and in the land of Judea, wish unto the brethren the Jews that are throughout Egypt, health and peace. 2 God be gracious unto you, and remember his covenant that he made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, his faithful servants; 3 And give you all an heart to serve him, and to do his will with a good courage, and a willing mind; 4 And open your hearts in his law and commandments, and send you peace, 5 And hear your prayers, and be at one with you, and never forsake you in time of trouble. 6 And now we be here praying for you. 7 What time as Demetrius reigned, in the hundred threescore and ninth year, we the Jews wrote unto you in the extremity of trouble, that came upon us in those years from the time that Jason and his company revolted from the holy land and kingdom, 8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood: then we prayed unto the Lord, and were heard; we offered also sacrifices, and fine flour, and lighted the lamps, and set forth the loaves. 9 And now see that ye keep the feast of tabernacles, in the month Casleu. 10 In the hundred fourscore and eighth year, the people that were at Jerusalem, and in Judea, and the council, and Judas, send greeting and health unto Aristobulus king Ptolomeus master, who was of the stock of the anointed priests, and to the Jews that were in Egypt: 11 Insomuch as God hath delivered us from great perils, we thank him highly, as having been in battel against a king. 12 For he cast them out that fought within the holy city. 13 For when the leader was come into Persia, and the army with him that seemed invincible, they were slain in the temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Nanea's priests. 14 For Antiochus, as though he would marry her, came into the place, and his friends that were with him, to receive money in name of a dowry. 15 Which when the priests of Nanea had set forth, and he was entred with a small company into the compass of the temple, they shut the temple as soon as Antiochus was come in. 16 And opening a privy door of the roof, they threw stones like thunderbolts, and struck down the captain, hewed them in pieces, smote off their heads, and cast them to those that were without. 17 Blessed be our God in all things, who hath delivered up the ungodly. 18 Therefore, whereas we are now purposed to keep the purification of the temple, upon the five and twentieth day of the month Casleu, we thought it necessary to certify you thereof, that ye also might keep it as the feast of the tabernacles, and of the fire which was given us when Neemias offered sacrifice, after that he had builded the temple and the altar. 19 For when our fathers were led into Persia, the priests that were then devout, took the fire of the altar privily, and hid it in a hollow place of a pit without water, where they kept it sure, so that the place was unknown to all men. 20 Now after many years, when it pleased God, Neemias being sent from the king of Persia, did send of the posterity of those priests that had hid it, to the fire: But when they told us they found no fire, but thick water; 21 Then commanded he them to draw it up, and to bring it; and when the sacrifices were laid on, Neemias commanded the priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things laid thereupon with the water. 22 When this was done, and the time came that the sun shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that every man marvelled. 23 And the priests made a prayer whilst the sacrifice was consuming (I say) both the priests and all the rest, Jonathan beginning, and the rest answering thereunto, as Neemias did. 24 And the prayer was after this manner, O Lord, Lord God, Creator of all things, who art fearful, and strong, and righteous, and merciful, and the only and gracious King, 25 The only giver of all things, the only Just, Almighty, and Everlasting, thou that deliverest Israel from all trouble, and didst choose the fathers, and sanctify them: 26 Receive the sacrifice for thy whole people Israel, and preserve thine own portion, and sanctify it. 27 Gather those together that are scattered from us, deliver them that serve among the heathen, look upon them that are despised and abhorred, and let the heathen know that thou art our God. 28 Punish them that oppress us, and with pride do us wrong. 29 Plant thy people again in thy holy place, as Moses hath spoken. 30 And the priests sung psalms of thanksgiving. 31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the water that was left, to be poured on the great stones. 32 When this was done, there was kindled a flame: but it was consumed by the light that shined from the altar. 33 So when this matter was known, it was told the king of Persia, that in the place where the priests that were led away, had hid the fire, there appeared water, and that Neemias had purified the sacrifices therewith. 34 Then the king inclosing the place, made it holy, after he had tried the matter. 35 And the king took many gifts, and bestowed thereof on those whom he would gratify. 36 And Neemias called this thing Naphthar, which is as much as to say, a cleansing: but many men call it Nephi.

As neither Josephus, nor any other Author, sacred or profane, that I know of, acquaints us with the hiding of the holy Fire by the Priests, when the Temple was destroyed by the Babylonians, and of its being found again by Nehemias, on the People's Return from their Captivity, we may look upon the whole Story, as here related, as merely fabulous, and an Invention of some cunning Priests to impose upon the Vulgar. This seems the more probable from the Nature of the Naphtha, which the Author pretends was the holy Fire converted to a thick Water which had been so long hid in a Pit, and upon its being exposed to the Heat of the Sun, took Fire. For Naphtha is naturally inflammable; for according to the Description given of it by the Learned, it is a kind of marly or chalky Clay, whereunto if Fire be put, it kindles in such a Manner, that if Water is cast thereon, it burns the more vehemently.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet Jeremy hides the Tabernacle, Ark, and Altar. The Writings of Nehemias and Judas; also of Jason, which are abridged in this Book.

Ver. 1. IT is also found in the records, that Jeremy the prophet commanded them that were carried away, to take of the fire, as it hath been signified: 2 And how that the prophet having given them the law, charged them not to forget the commandments of the Lord, and that they should not err in their minds, when they see images of silver and gold, with their ornaments. 3 And with other such speeches exhorted he them, that the law should not depart from their hearts. 4 It was also contained in the same

ſame writing, that the prophet being warned of God, commanded the tabernacle and the ark to go with him, as he went forth into the mountain, where Moſes climbed up, and ſaw the heritage of God. 5 And when Jeremy came thither, he found an hollow cave, wherein he laid the tabernacle, and the ark, and the altar of incenſe, and ſo ſtopped the door. 6 And ſome of thoſe that followed him, came to mark the way, but they could not find it. 7 Which when Jeremy perceived, he blamed them, ſaying, As for that place, it ſhall be unknown, until the time that God gather his people again together, and receive them unto mercy. 8 Then ſhall the Lord ſhew them theſe things, and the glory of the Lord ſhall appear, and the cloud alſo, as it was ſhewed unto Moſes, and as when Solomon deſired that the place might be honourably ſanctified. 9 It was alſo declared that he being wiſe, offered the ſacrifice of dedication, and of the finiſhing of the temple. 10 And as when Moſes prayed unto the Lord, the fire came down from heaven, and conſumed the ſacrifices: even ſo prayed Solomon alſo, and the fire came down from heaven, and conſumed the burnt-offerings. 11 And Moſes ſaid, Becauſe the ſin-offering was not to be eaten, it was conſumed. 12 So Solomon kept thoſe eight days. 13 The ſame things alſo were reported in the writings, and commentaries of Neemias; and how he founding a library, gathered together the acts of the kings, and the prophets, and of David, and the epiſtles of the kings concerning the holy gifts. 14 In like manner alſo, Judas gathered together all thoſe things that were loſt, by reaſon of the war we had, and they remain with us. 15 Wherefore if ye have need thereof, ſend forth to fetch them unto you. 16 Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we have written unto you, and ye ſhall do well, if ye keep the ſame days. 17 We hope alſo, that the God that delivered all his people, and gave them all an heritage, and the kingdom, and the prieſthood, and the ſanctuary, 18 As he promiſed in the law, will ſhortly have mercy upon us, and gather us together out of every land under heaven into the holy place: for he hath delivered us out of great troubles, and hath purified the place. 19 Now as concerning Judas Maccabeus, and his brethren, and the purification of the great temple, and the dedication of the altar, 20 And the wars againſt Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his ſon, 21 And the manifeſt ſigns that came from heaven, unto thoſe that behaved themſelves manfully to their honour for Judaiſm: ſo that being but a few, they overcame the whole country, and chaſed barbarous multitudes, 22 And recovered again the temple, renowned all the world over, and freed the city, and upheld the laws which were going down, the Lord being gracious unto them with all favour. 23 All theſe things (I ſay) being declared by Jaſon of Cyrene in five books, we will aſſay to abridge in one volume. 24 For conſidering the infinite number, and the difficulty which they find that deſire to look into the narrations of the ſtory, for the variety of the matter, 25 We have been careful that they that will read, might have delight, and that they that are deſirous to commit to memory, might have eaſe, and that all into whoſe hands it comes, might have profit. 26 Therefore to us, that have taken upon us this painful labour of abridging, it was not eaſy, but a matter of ſweat and watching; 27 Even as it is no eaſe unto him that prepareth a banquet, and ſeeketh the benefit of others: yet for the pleaſuring of many, we will undertake gladly this great pains: 28 Leaving to the author the exact handling of every particular, and labouring to follow the rules of an abridgment. 29 For as the maſter-builder of a new houſe muſt care for the whole building; but he that undertaketh to ſet it out and paint it, muſt ſeek out fit things for the adorning thereof: even ſo I think it is with us. 30 To ſtand upon every point, and go over things at large, and to be curious in particulars, belongeth to the firſt author of the ſtory. 31 But to uſe brevity, and avoid much labouring of the work, is to be granted to him that will make an abridgment. 32 Here then will we begin the ſtory: only adding thus much to that which hath been ſaid, That it is a fooliſh thing to make a long prologue, and to be ſhort in the ſtory itſelf.

This Chapter continues the Letter begun in the laſt, and mentions ſome Records which gave ſome farther Account of the holy Fire; as alſo of the hiding the Tabernacle, the Ark, and the Altar of Incenſe, by the Prophet Jeremy: But as this Tranſaction of that Prophet is not confirmed by the Authority of any other Writer of Credit, we can eſteem it no other than as fabulous and apocryphal. The Jews, indeed, have a Tradition, founded upon the Story as here related, that, ſome Time before the Babyloniſh Captivity, the Prophet Jeremiah received Inſtructions from God to hide the Ark of the Covenant in a Cave in Mount Nebo, which accordingly he did, and at the ſame Time declared, that the Place ſhould not be diſcovered, until the People's Return from their Captivity; that, after the People's Return, in the Time of Nehemiah, this Ark was found out, and replaced in the Sanctuary of the Temple; that when Pompey entered the Sanctuary, he ſaw an Ark and Cherubims, like thoſe which Moſes had made; and that, ſome Time after, the ſame Ark was carried before Veſpaſian, when, from the Jewiſh Wars, he returned to Rome in Triumph. But as all this Account is built on no greater Authority than uncertain Tradition; it ſeems more probable, either that the Chaldeans took the Ark, Altar, &c. among the reſt of the Plunder of the Temple, (ſee Jer. lii. 17, &c.) and ſo carried them to Babylon; or elſe that they underwent the Fate of the Temple itſelf, and were burnt with it. See Jer. lii. 13.

CHAP. III.

The Temple honoured by foreign Princes; Simon diſcovers the Treaſures laid therein; Heliodorus ſent to take them away, but is ſtricken of God, and healed at the Prayer of Onias.

Ver. 1. NOW when the holy city was inhabited with all peace, and the laws were kept very well, becauſe of the godlineſs of Onias the high-prieſt, and his hatred of wickedneſs, 2 It came to paſs, that even the kings themſelves did honour the place, and magnify the temple with their beſt gifts; 3 Inſomuch that Seleucus king of Aſia, of his own revenues, bare all the coſts belonging to the ſervice of the ſacrifices. 4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin, who was made governor of the temple, fell out with the high-prieſt about diſorder in the city. 5 And when he could not overcome Onias, nias, he gat him to Apollonius the ſon of Thraſeas, who then was governor of Celoſyria and Phenice, 6 And told him that the treaſury in Jeruſalem was full of infinite ſums of money, ſo that the multitude of their riches, which did not pertain to the account of the ſacrifices, was innumerable, and that it was poſſible to bring all into the kings hand. 7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had ſhewed him of the money whereof he was told, the king choſe out Heliodorus his treaſurer, and ſent him with a commandment to bring the foreſaid money. 8 So forthwith Heliodorus took his journey, under a colour of viſiting the cities of Celoſyria and Phenice, but indeed to fulfil the kings purpoſe. 9 And when he was come to Jeruſalem, and had been courteouſly received of the high-prieſt of the city, he told him what intelligence was given of the money, and declared wherefore he came, and aſked if theſe things were ſo indeed. 10 Then the high-prieſt told him, that there was ſuch money laid up for the relief of widows and fatherleſs children. 11 And that ſome of it belonged to Hircanus, ſon of Tobias, a man of great dignity, and not as that wicked Simon had miſinformed: the ſum whereof in all was four hundred talents of ſilver, and two hundred of gold: 12 And that it was altogether impoſſible that ſuch wrongs ſhould be done unto them that had committed it to the holineſs of the place, and to the majeſty and inviolable ſanctity of the temple, honoured over all the world. 13 But Heliodorus, becauſe of the kings commandment given him, ſaid, That in any wiſe it muſt be brought into the kings treaſury. 14 So at the day which he appointed, he entred in to order this matter: wherefore there was no ſmall agony throughout the whole city. 15 But the prieſts proſtrating themſelves before the altar in their prieſts veſtments, called unto heaven upon him that made a law concerning things given to be kept, that they ſhould ſafely be preſerved for ſuch as had committed them to be kept. 16 Then whoſo had looked the high-prieſt in the face, it would have wounded his heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour, declared the inward agony of his mind. 17 For the man was ſo compaſſed with fear and horror of the body, that it was manifeſt to them that looked upon him, what ſorrow he had now in his heart. 18 Others ran flocking out of their houſes to the general ſupplication, becauſe the place was like to come into contempt. 19 And the women girt with ſackcloth under their breaſts, abounded in the ſtreets, and the virgins that were kept in, ran, ſome to the gates, and ſome to the walls, and others looked out of the windows. 20 And all holding their hands toward heaven, made ſupplication. 21 Then it would have pitied a man to ſee the falling down of the multitude of all ſorts, and the fear of the high-prieſt, being in ſuch an agony. 22 They then called upon the Almighty Lord, to keep the things committed of truſt, ſafe and ſure for thoſe that had committed them. 23 Nevertheleſs, Heliodorus executed that which was decreed. 24 Now as he was there preſent himſelf with his guard about the treaſury, the Lord of ſpirits, and the prince of all power cauſed a great apparition, ſo that all that preſumed to come in with him were aſtoniſhed at the power of God, and fainted, and were ſore afraid. 25 For there appeared unto them an horſe with a terrible rider upon him, and adorned with a very fair covering, and he ran fiercely, and ſmote at Heliodorus with his fore-feet, and it ſeemed that he that ſat upon the horſe had compleat harneſs of gold. 26 Moreover, two other young men appeared before him, notable in ſtrength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparel, who ſtood by him on either ſide, and ſcourged him continually, and gave him many ſore ſtripes. 27 And Heliodorus fell ſuddenly unto the ground, and was compaſſed with great darkneſs: but they that were with him took him up, and put him into a litter. 28 Thus him, that lately came with a great train, and with all his guard into the ſaid treaſury, they carried out, being unable to help himſelf with his weapons: and manifeſtly they acknowledged the power of God. 29 For he by the hand of God was caſt down, and lay ſpeechleſs without all hopes of life. 30 But they praiſed the Lord that had miraculouſly honoured his own place: for the temple which a little afore was full of fear and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with joy and gladneſs. 31 Then ſtraightways certain of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call upon the moſt High to grant him his life, who lay ready to give up the ghoſt. 32 So the high-prieſt ſuſpecting leſt the king ſhould miſconceive, that ſome treachery had been done to Heliodorus by the Jews, offered a ſacrifice for the health of the man. 33 Now as the high-prieſt was making an atonement, the ſame young men in the ſame cloathing, appeared and ſtood beſide Heliodorus, ſaying, Give Onias the high-prieſt great thanks, inſomuch as for his ſake, the Lord hath granted thee life. 34 And ſeeing that thou haſt been ſcourged from heaven, declare unto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had ſpoken theſe words, they appeared no more. 35 So Heliodorus after he had offered ſacrifice unto the Lord, and made great vows unto him that had ſaved his life, and ſaluted Onias, returned with his hoſt to the king. 36 Then teſtified he to all men the works of the great God, which he had ſeen with his eyes. 37 And when the king aſked Heliodorus, who might be a fit man to be yet ſent once again to Jeruſalem, he ſaid, 38 If thou haſt any enemy or traitor, ſend him thither, and thou ſhalt receive him well ſcourged, if he eſcape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is an eſpecial power of God. 39 For he that dwelleth in heaven hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he beateth, and deſtroyeth them that come to hurt it. 40 And the things concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treaſury, fell out on this ſort.

Now as he was there preſent himſelf with his Guard about the Treaſury, the Lord of Spirits, and the Prince of all Power, cauſed a great Apparition] Some have objected to the Probability of this Story, of Heliodorus (whom Joſephus calls Apollonius) being puniſhed by Angels, for attempting to rob the Temple, that it is too wonderful to be true. But, ſays Stackhouſe, this Robbing of Temples, in the Opinion of all ſober Heathens, was accounted a Crime of that heinous Nature, as juſtly deſerved the Vengeance of Heaven; and therefore Polybius, as well as the Author of the Maccabees, informs us, that Antiochus, before he died, was ſcared with with Viſions, and Apparitions of evil Spirits; but then he ſuppoſes, that it was the Goddeſs Diana that thus haunted him, for his attempting to pillage the Temple at Elymais; whereas he himſelf, in the Preſence of all his Friends, openly declares, that theſe Troubles were come upon him, becauſe he had taken all the Veſſels of Gold and Silver, that were in Jeruſalem, and had deſtroyed the Inhabitants of Judea without a Cauſe.

CHAP. IV.

Divers Contentions about the High Prieſthood. Onias the High-Prieſt, ſlain, and Andronicus the Author of his Murder, put to Death. Lyſimachus, at the Inſtigation of Menelaus, commits great Outrages.

Ver. 1. THIS Simon now (of whom we ſpake afore) having been a bewrayer of the money, and of his country, ſlandered Onias, as if he had terrified Heliodorus, and been the worker of theſe evils. 2 Thus was he bold to call him a traitor, that had deſerved well of the city, and tendred his own nation, and was ſo zealous of the laws. 3 But when their hatred went ſo far, that by one of Simons faction, murders were committed, 4 Onias ſeeing the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as being the governor of Celoſyria and Phenice, did rage, and increaſe Simons malice, 5 He went to the king, not to be an accuſer of his countrymen, but ſeeking the good of all both publick and private: 6 For he ſaw that it was impoſſible, that the ſtate ſhould continue quiet, and Simon leave his folly, unleſs the king did look thereunto. 7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, took the kingdom, Jaſon, the brother of Onias, laboured underhand to be high-prieſt, 8 Promiſing unto the king by interceſſion, three hundred and threeſcore talents of ſilver, and of another revenue, eighty talents: 9 Beſides this, he promiſed to aſſign an hundred and fifty more, if he might have licenſe to ſet him up a place for exerciſe, and for the training up of youth in the faſhions of the heathen, and to write them of Jeruſalem by the name of Antiochians. 10 Which when the king had granted, and he had gotten into his hand the rule, he forthwith brought his own nation to the Greekiſh faſhion. 11 And the royal priviledges granted of ſpecial favour to the Jews, by the means of John the father of Eupolemus, who went ambaſſador to Rome for amity and aid, he took away; and putting down the governments which were according to the law, he brought up new cuſtoms againſt the law. 12 For he built gladly a place of exerciſe under the tower itſelf, and brought the chief young men under his ſubjection, and made them wear a hat. 13 Now ſuch was the height of Greek faſhions, and increaſe of heatheniſh manners, through the exceeding profaneneſs of Jaſon, that ungodly wretch, and not high-prieſt: 14 That the prieſts had no courage to ſerve any more at the altar, but deſpiſing the temple, and neglecting the ſacrifices, haſtened to be partakers of the unlawful allowance in the place of exerciſe, after the game of Diſcus called them forth; 15 Not ſetting by the honours of their fathers, but liking the glory of the Grecians beſt of all. 16 By reaſon whereof ſore calamity came upon them: for they had them to be their enemies and avengers, whoſe cuſtom they followed ſo earneſtly, and unto whom they deſired to be like in all things. 17 For it is not a light thing to do wickedly againſt the laws of God: but the time following ſhall declare theſe things. 18 Now when the game that was uſed every fifth year, was kept at Tyrus, the king being preſent, 19 This ungracious Jaſon ſent ſpecial meſſengers from Jeruſalem, who were Antiochians, to carry three hundred drachmes of ſilver to the ſacrifice of Hercules, which even the bearers thereof thought fit not to beſtow upon the ſacrifice, becauſe it was not convenient, but to be reſerved for other charges. 20 This money then in regard of the ſender, was appointed to Hercules ſacrifice; but becauſe of the bearers thereof, it was imployed to the making of galleys. 21 Now when Apollonius the ſon of Meneſtheus was ſent into Egypt, for the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor, Antiochus underſtanding him not to be well affected to his affairs, provided for his own ſafety: whereupon he came to Joppe, and from thence to Jeruſalem: 22 Where he was honourably received of Jaſon, and of the city, and was brought in with torch-light, and with great ſhoutings: and ſo afterward went with his hoſt unto Phenice. 23 Three year afterward, Jaſon ſent Menelaus the aforeſaid Simons brother, to bear the money unto the king, and to put him in mind of certain neceſſary matters. 24 But he being brought to the preſence of the king, when he had magnified him, for the glorious appearance of his power, got the prieſthood to himſelf, offering more than Jaſon by three hundred talents of ſilver. 25 So he came with the kings mandate, bringing nothing worthy the high prieſthood, but having the fury of a cruel tyrant, and the rage of a ſavage beaſt. 26 Then Jaſon, who had undermined his own brother, being undermined by another, was compelled to flee into the country of the Ammonites. 27 So Menelaus got the principality: but as for the money that he had promiſed unto the king, he took no good order for it, albeit Soſtratus the ruler of the caſtle required it. 28 For unto him appertained the gathering of the cuſtoms. Wherefore they were both called before the king. 29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lyſimachus in his ſtead in the prieſthood; and Soſtratus left Crates, who was governor of the Cyprians. 30 While thoſe things were in doing, they of Tarſus and Mallos made inſurrection becauſe they were given to the kings concubine, called Antiochis. 31 Then came the king in all haſte to appeaſe matters, leaving Andronicus, a man in authority, for his deputy. 32 Now Menelaus ſuppoſing that he had gotten a convenient time, ſtole certain veſſels of gold out of the temple, and gave ſome of them to Andronicus, and ſome he ſold into Tyrus, and the cities round about. 33 Which when Onias knew of a ſurety, he reproved him, and withdrew himſelf into a ſanctuary at Daphne, that lieth by Antiochia. 34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to get Onias into his hands; who being perſuaded thereunto, and coming to Onias in deceit, gave him his right hand with oaths; and though he were ſuſpected by him, yet perſuaded he him to come forth of the ſanctuary: whom forthwith he he ſhut up without regard of juſtice. 35 For the which cauſe not only the Jews, but many alſo of other nations took great indignation, and were much grieved for the unjuſt murder of the man. 36 And when the king was come again from the places about Cilicia, the Jews that were in the city, and certain of the Greeks that abhorred the fact alſo, complained becauſe Onias was ſlain without cauſe. 37 Therefore Antiochus was heartily ſorry, and moved to pity, and wept, becauſe of the ſober and modeſt behaviour of him that was dead. 38 And being kindled with anger, forthwith he took away Andronicus his purple, and rent off his cloaths, and leading him through the whole city unto that very place where he had committed impiety againſt Onias, there ſlew he the curſed murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his puniſhment, as he had deſerved. 39 Now when many ſacriledges had been committed in the city by Lyſimachus, with the conſent of Menelaus, and the brute thereof was ſpread abroad, the multitude gathered themſelves together againſt Lyſimachus, many veſſels of gold being already carried away. 40 Whereupon the common people riſing, and being filled with rage, Lyſimachus armed about three thouſand men, and began firſt to offer violence; one Auranus being the leader, a man far gone in years, and no leſs in folly. 41 They then ſeeing the attempt of Lyſimachus, ſome of them caught ſtones, ſome clubs, others taking handfuls of duſt that was next to hand, caſt them altogether upon Lyſimachus, and thoſe that ſet upon them. 42 Thus many of them they wounded, and ſome they ſtroke to the ground, and all of them they forced to flee: but as for the church-robber himſelf, him they killed beſides the treaſury. 43 Of theſe matters therefore there was an accuſation laid againſt Menelaus. 44 Now when the king came to Tyrus, three men that were ſent from the Senate, pleaded the cauſe before him: 45 But Menelaus being now convicted, promiſed Ptolemee the ſon of Dorymenes, to give him much money, if he would pacify the king towards him. 46 Whereupon Ptolemee taking the king aſide into a certain gallery, as it were to take the air, brought him to be of another mind: 47 Inſomuch that he diſcharged Menelaus from the accuſations, who notwithſtanding was cauſe of all the miſchief: and thoſe poor men, who if they had told their cauſe, yea, before the Scythians, ſhould have been judged innocent, them he condemned to death. 48 Thus they that followed the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy veſſels, did ſoon ſuffer unjuſt puniſhment. 49 Wherefore even they of Tyrus, moved with hatred of that wicked deed, cauſed them to be honourably buried. 50 And ſo through the covetouſneſs of them that were of power, Menelaus remained ſtill in authority, increaſing in malice, and being a great traitor to the citizens.

After the Game of Diſcus called them forth] This was a Game at Quoits, much practiſed by the Grecian Youth. The Quoit was a round Thing of Stone, Lead, or Iron, having an Hole in the Midſt, which the Gameſters uſed for Exerciſe, to try who could throw fartheſt, or neareſt a Mark.

Now when the Game that was uſed every fifth Year] That is, (it's ſuppoſed) the Olympick Games, which were kept every fifth Year in Honour of Jupiter Olympius, near the City Olympia, where were regiſtered the Names of the Victors in a publick Record. Theſe Games were afterwards celebrated at other Places, as here at Tyre. The firſt Olympiad fell on the Year of the World 3174. Theſe Games were firſt inſtituted by Pelops, then renewed by Atreus and Hercules. From hence begun an Epocha, or Account of Time among the Greeks, conſiſting of four compleat Years, not five, as Ovid, by Miſtake, ſeems to underſtand it.

Leaving Andronicus, a Man in Authority, for his Deputy] This Andranicus, ſays Calmet, ſeems to have been left by Antiochus, to govern in his Abſence, and, without this Governor's Interpoſition, Menelaus could not compaſs his Fraud, to murder his Brother; for Onias had fled to the Aſylum at Daphne, a ſmall Diſtance from the City, which always uſed to be a Place of Retreat, ſecure, and inviolable: And therefore Menelaus was forced to give the Governor a round Sum, to engage him (by falſe Promiſes of Safety) to prevail with his Brother to come, and as ſoon as he had him in his Power, to diſpatch him.

CHAP. V.

Signs in the Heavens. The Wickedneſs and End of Jaſon. Antiochus takes Jeruſalem, and maſſacres the Jews. Maccabeus flies into the Wilderneſs.

Ver. 1. ABout the ſame time, Antiochus prepared his ſecond voyage into Egypt: 2 And then it happened, that through all the city for the ſpace almoſt of forty days, there were ſeen horſemen running in the air in cloath of gold, and armed with lances like a band of ſoldiers, 3 And troops of horſemen in aray, encountring and running one againſt another, with ſhaking of ſhields, and multitude of pikes, and drawing of ſwords, and caſting of darts, and glittering of golden ornaments, and harneſs of all ſorts. 4 Wherefore every man prayed, that that apparition might turn to good. 5 Now when there was gone forth a falſe rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Jaſon took at the leaſt a thouſand men, and ſuddenly made an aſſault upon the city; and they that were upon the walls, being put back, and the city at length taken, Menelaus fled into the caſtle: 6 But Jaſon ſlew his own citizens without mercy, (not conſidering that to get the day of them of his own nation, would be a moſt unhappy day for him: but thinking they had been his enemies, and not his countrymen, whom he conquered.) 7 Howbeit, for all this he obtained not the principality, but at the laſt received ſhame for the reward of his treaſon, and fled again into the country of the Ammonites. 8 In the end therefore he had an unhappy return, being accuſed before Aretas the king of the Arabians, fleeing from city to city, purſued of all men, hated as a forſaker of the laws, and being had in abomination, as an open enemy of his country, and countrymen, he was caſt out into Egypt. 9 Thus he that had driven many out of their country, periſhed in a ſtrange land, retiring to the Lacedemonians, and thinking there to find ſuccour by reaſon of his kindred. 10 And he that had caſt out many unburied, had none to mourn for him, nor any ſolemn funerals at all, nor ſepulchre with his fathers. 11 Now when this that was done came to the kings ear, he thought that Judea had revolted: whereupon removing out of Egypt in a furious mind, he took the city city by force of arms, 12 And commanded his men of war not to ſpare ſuch as they met, and to ſlay ſuch as went up upon the houſes. 13 Thus there was killing of young and old, making away of men, women, and children, ſlaying of virgins and infants. 14 And there were deſtroyed within the ſpace of three whole days, fourſcore thouſand, whereof forty thouſand were ſlain in the conflict; and no fewer ſold than ſlain. 15 Yet was he not content with this, but preſumed to go into the moſt holy temple of all the world; Menelaus that traitor to the laws, and to his own country, being his guide: 16 And taking the holy veſſels with polluted hands, and with profane hands pulling down the things that were dedicated by other kings to the augmentation, and glory, and honour of the place, he gave them away. 17 And ſo haughty was Antiochus in mind, that he conſidered not that the Lord was angry for a while for the ſins of them that dwelt in the city, and therefore his eye was not upon the place. 18 For had they not been formerly wrapped in many ſins, this man as ſoon as he had come, had forthwith been ſcourged, and put back from his preſumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king ſent to view the treaſury. 19 Nevertheleſs, God did not chooſe the people for the places ſake, but the place for the peoples ſake. 20 And therefore the place itſelf, that was partaker with them of the adverſity that happened to the nation, did afterward communicate in the benefits ſent from the Lord: and as it was forſaken in the wrath of the Almighty, ſo again the great Lord being reconciled, it was ſet up with all glory. 21 So when Antiochus had carried out of the temple a thouſand and eight hundred talents, he departed in all haſte unto Antiochia, weening in his pride to make the land navigable, and the ſea paſſable by foot: ſuch was the haughtineſs of his mind. 22 And he left governors to vex the nation: at Jeruſalem Philip, for his country a Phrygian, and for manners more barbarous than he that ſet him there: 23 And at Garizim, Andronicus; and beſides, Menelaus, who worſe than all the reſt, bare an heavy hand over the citizens, having a malicious mind againſt his countrymen the Jews. 24 He ſent alſo that deteſtable ring-leader, Apollonius, with an army of two and twenty thouſand, commanding him to ſlay all thoſe that were in their beſt age, and to ſell the women and the younger ſort: 25 Who coming to Jeruſalem, and pretending peace, did forbear till the holy day of the ſabbath, when taking the Jews keeping holy-day, he commanded his men to arm themſelves. 26 And ſo he ſlew all them that were gone to the celebrating of the ſabbath, and running through the city with weapons, ſlew great multitudes. 27 But Judas Maccabeus, with nine others, or thereabout, withdrew himſelf into the wilderneſs, and lived in the mountains, after the manner of beaſts, with his company, who fed on herbs continually, leſt they ſhould be partakers of the pollution.

And then it happened, that through all the City, for the Space almoſt of forty Days, there were ſeen Horſemen running in the Air] There ſhall be Signs in the Sun, and in the Moon, and in the Stars, i. e. in the Heavens, where they move, and upon the Earth Diſtreſs of Nations, with Perplexity: Theſe were the Preſages, ſays Stackhouſe, which our Saviour foretold; and accordingly Joſephus informs us, that before the laſt Siege of Jeruſalem, there were ſeen in the Air, a little before Sun-ſet, for ſome Days together, Chariots, and armed Men, paſſing along the Clouds round about the City; which I would hardly venture to report, ſays he, but that I can produce ſundry Eye-witneſſes, that are ſtill alive to confirm the Truth of it. Several Accounts we have of this Kind in Livy and Suetonius: And tho' it muſt be owned, that too great a Credulity in ſome Hiſtorians may poſſibly have enlarged, or multiplied theſe Prodigies, yet we muſt not therefore imagine, that there never were any ſuch Things, becauſe very good Reaſons may be given, why God ſhould exhibit them: And, as to the Phænomena that are now under Conſideration, they certainly have all the Marks of Credibility in them, that we can well deſire. For they are related by an Author that was contemporary, or very near contemporary with them. They were ſeen, not tranſiently, and by a few weak, ſuperſtitious People; but for forty Days together, they appeared to the View of a whole City, wherein were above an hundred thouſand Inhabitants, moſt of ſound Intellects, and ſome of them of ſo little Superſtition, as to abandon the Laws and Cuſtoms of their Country for fear of Perſecution.

Yet was he not content with this, but preſumed to go into the moſt holy Temple] This Profanation of the Temple, and the erecting an Idol in it, had long before been foretold by the Prophet Daniel under the Name of Abomination of Deſolation, Ch. xi. 31.

CHAP. VI.

The Jews are compelled to leave the Law of God. The Temple defiled. A cruel Perſecution. Eleazar horribly tortured.

Ver. 1. NOT long after this, the king ſent an old man of Athens, to compel the Jews to depart from the laws of their fathers, and not to live after the laws of God: 2 And to pollute alſo the temple in Jeruſalem, and to call it the temple of Jupiter Olympius; and that in Garizim, of Jupiter the defender of ſtrangers, as they did deſire that dwelt in the place. 3 The coming in of this miſchief was ſore and grievous to the people: 4 For the temple was filled with riot and revelling by the Gentiles, who dallied with harlots, and had to do with women within the circuit of the holy places, and beſides that, brought in things that were not lawful. 5 The altar alſo was filled with profane things, which the law forbiddeth. 6 Neither was it lawful for a man to keep ſabbath-days, or antient feaſts, or to profeſs himſelf at all to be a Jew. 7 And in the day of the kings birth every month they were brought by bitter conſtraint to eat of the ſacrifices; and when the feaſt of Bacchus was kept, the Jews were compelled to go in proceſſion to Bacchus, carrying ivy. 8 Moreover, there went out a decree to the neighbour cities of the heathen, by the ſuggeſtion of Ptolemee againſt the Jews, that they ſhould obſerve the ſame faſhions, and be partakers of their ſacrifices: 9 And whoſo would not conform themſelves to the manners of the Gentiles, ſhould be put to death. Then might a man have ſeen the preſent miſery. 10 For there were two women brought, who had circumciſed their children, whom when they had openly led round about the city, the babes hanging at their breaſt, they caſt them down headlong from the wall. 11 And others that had run together into caves near by, to keep the ſabbath-day ſecretly, being diſcovered covered to Philip, were all burnt together, because they made a conscience to help themselves, for the honour of the most sacred day. 12 Now I beseech those that read this book, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they judge those punishments not to be for destruction, but for a chastning of our nation. 13 For it is a token of his great goodness, when wicked doers are not suffered any long time, but forthwith punished. 14 For not as with other nations whom the Lord patiently forbeareth to punish, till they be come to the fulness of their sins, so dealeth he with us. 15 Lest that being come to the height of sin, afterwards he should take vengeance of us. 16 And therefore he never withdraweth his mercy from us. And though he punish with adversity, yet doth he never forsake his people. 17 But let this that we have spoken be for a warning unto us. And now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words. 18 Eleazar one of the principal scribes, an aged man, and of a well-favoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eat swines flesh. 19 But he chooſing rather to die gloriously, than to live stained with such an abomination, spit it forth, and came of his own accord to the torment, 20 As it behoved them to come that are resolute to stand out against such things as are not lawful for love of life to be tasted. 21 But they that had the charge of that wicked feast, for the old acquaintance they had with the man, taking him aside, besought him to bring flesh of his own provision, such as was lawful for him to use, and make as if he did eat of the flesh taken from the sacrifice commanded by the king; 22 That in so doing he might be delivered from death, and for the old friendship with them, find favour. 23 But he began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellency of his antient years, and the honour of his grey head, whereunto he was come, and his most honest education from a child, or rather the holy law, made and given by God: therefore he answered accordingly, and willed them straightways to send him to the grave. 24 For it becometh not our age (said he) in any wise to dissemble, whereby many young persons might think, that Eleazar being fourscore years old and ten, were now gone to a strange religion, 25 And so they through mine hypocrisy, and desire to live a little time, and a moment longer, should be deceived by me, and I get a stain to mine old age, and make it abominable. 26 For though for the present time I should be delivered from the punishment of men: yet should I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alive nor dead. 27 Wherefore now manfully changing this life, I will shew myself such an one as mine age requireth, 28 And leave a notable example to such as be young to die willingly and couragiously, for the honourable and holy laws: and when he had said these words, immediately he went to the torment. 29 They that led him, changing the good will they bare him a little before, into hatred, because the foresaid speeches proceeded, as they thought, from a desperate mind. 30 But when he was ready to die with stripes, he groaned and said, It is manifest unto the Lord, that hath the holy knowledge, that whereas I might have been delivered from death, I now endure sore pains in body, by being beaten: but in soul am well content to suffer these things, because I fear him. 31 And thus this man died, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of virtue, not only unto young men, but unto all his nation.

Eleazar one of the principal Scribes, &c.] Some Interpreters are of Opinion, that this was the same Eleazar, who, at the Head of the Seventy-two Interpreters, that were to translate the sacred Scriptures, was sent into Egypt, and that he suffered at Jerusalem, in the Presence of the Governor, named Felix; but Russinus, (in his Latin Paraphrase on the Book of Josephus, concerning the Maccabees) will needs have it, that not only Eleazar, but the Mother, and her seven Sons, viz. Maccabæus, Aber, Machir, Judas, Achas, Areth, and Jacob, (for these are the Names which he gives them) were all carried from Judea to Antioch, and there suffered Martyrdom. The Reason of the Thing, however, as well as the Tenor of the History, which is given us in this and the next Chapter, and by Josephus in the above-mentioned Book, make it much more likely, that Jerusalem, and not Antioch, was the Scene of this Cruelty; especially, since it being designed for an Example of Terror to the Jews in Judea, it would have lost its Force, had it been executed in any other Country. But wherever this happened, 'tis certain, that Eleazar deserved all the Commendation which the Fathers have given him: For, whether we consider the Purity of his Sentiments, or the Sublimity of his Doctrine, or the Delicacy of his Conscience, we must acknowledge, that there are few Saints in the Old Testament, that have given us a more exact Pattern of Charity, Sincerity, and Magnanimity. CHAP. VII.

The Martyrdom of the Mother and her seven Sons.

Ver. 1. IT came to pass also that seven brethren with their mother were taken, and compelled by the king against the law to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips. 2 But one of them that spake first, said thus, What wouldst thou ask, or learn of us? we are ready to die, rather than to transgress the laws of our fathers. 3 Then the king being in a rage, commanded pans and caldrons to be made hot. 4 Which forthwith being heated, he commanded to cut out the tongue of him that spake first, and to cut off the utmost parts of his body, the rest of his brethren and his mother looking on. 5 Now when he was thus maimed in all his members, he commanded him being yet alive, to be brought to the fire, and to be fried in the pan: and as the vapour of the pan was for a good space dispersed, they exhorted one another, with the mother, to die manfully, saying thus, 6 The Lord God looketh upon us, and in truth hath comfort in us, as Moses in his song, which witnessed to their faces, declared, saying, And he shall be comforted in his servants. 7 So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking-stock: and when they had pulled off the skin of his head with the hair, they asked him, Wilt thou eat before thou be punished throughout every member of thy body? 8 But he answered in his own language, and and ſaid, No. Wherefore he alſo received the next torment in order as the former did. 9 And when he was at the laſt gaſp, he ſaid, Thou like a fury takeſt us out of this preſent life, but the King of the world ſhall raiſe us up, who have died for his laws, unto everlaſting life. 10 After him was the third made a mocking-ſtock: and when he was required, he put out his tongue, and that right ſoon, holding forth his hands manfully, 11 And ſaid couragiouſly, Theſe I had from heaven; and for his laws I deſpiſe them, and from him I hope to receive them again. 12 Inſomuch that the king, and they that were with him, marvelled at the young mans courage, for that he nothing regarded the pains. 13 Now when this man was dead alſo, they tormented and mangled the fourth in like manner. 14 So when he was ready to die, he ſaid thus, It is good, being put to death by men, to look for hope from God, to be raiſed up again by him: as for thee, thou ſhalt have no reſurrection to life. 15 Afterward they brought the fifth alſo, and mangled him. 16 Then looked he unto the king, and ſaid, Thou haſt power over men, thou art corruptible, thou doeſt what thou wilt; yet think not that our nation is forſaken of God. 17 But abide a while, and behold his great power, how he will torment thee and thy ſeed. 18 After him alſo they brought the ſixth, who being ready to die, ſaid, Be not deceived without cauſe: for we ſuffer theſe things for ourſelves, having ſinned againſt our God: therefore marvellous things are done unto us. 19 But think not thou that takeſt in hand to ſtrive againſt God, that thou ſhalt eſcape unpuniſhed. 20 But the mother was marvellous above all, and worthy of honourable memory: for when ſhe ſaw her ſeven ſons ſlain within the ſpace of one day, ſhe bare it with a good courage, becauſe of the hope that ſhe had in the Lord. 21 Yea, ſhe exhorted every one of them in her own language, filled with couragious ſpirits; and ſtirring up her womaniſh thoughts, with a manly ſtomach, ſhe ſaid unto them, 22 I cannot tell how you came into my womb; for I neither gave you breath nor life, neither was it I that formed the members of every one of you. 23 But doubtleſs the Creator of the world, who formed the generation of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will alſo of his own mercy give you breath and life again, as you now regard not your own ſelves for his laws ſake. 24 Now Antiochus thinking himſelf deſpiſed, and ſuſpecting it to be a reproachful ſpeech, whilſt the youngeſt was yet alive, did not only exhort him by words, but alſo aſſured him with oaths, that he would make him both a rich and a happy man, if he would turn from the laws of his fathers; and that alſo he would take him for his friend, and truſt him with affairs. 25 But when the young man would in no caſe hearken unto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted her, that ſhe would counſel the young man to ſave his life. 26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, ſhe promiſed him that ſhe would counſel her ſon. 27 But ſhe bowing herſelf towards him, laughing the cruel tyrant to ſcorn, ſpake in her country language, on this manner, O my ſon, have pity upon me that bare thee nine months in my womb, and gave thee ſuck three years, and nouriſhed thee, and brought thee up unto this age, and endured the troubles of education. 28 I beſeech thee, my ſon, look upon the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, and conſider that God made them of things that were not; and ſo was mankind made likewiſe. 29 Fear not this tormentor, but being worthy of thy brethren, take thy death, that I may receive thee again in mercy with thy brethren. 30 Whilſt ſhe was yet ſpeaking theſe words, the young man ſaid, whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandment: but I will obey the commandment of the law that was given unto our fathers by Moſes. 31 And thou that haſt been the author of all miſchief againſt the Hebrews, ſhalt not eſcape the hands of God. 32 For we ſuffer becauſe of our ſins. 33 And though the living Lord be angry with us a little while for our chaſtning and correction, yet ſhall he be at one again with his ſervants. 34 But thou, O godleſs man, and of all other moſt wicked, be not lifted up without a cauſe, nor puffed up with uncertain hopes, lifting up thy hand againſt the ſervants of God: 35 For thou haſt not yet eſcaped the judgment of almighty God, who ſeeth all things. 36 For our brethren who now have ſuffered a ſhort pain, are dead under Gods covenant of everlaſting life: but thou through the judgment of God, ſhalt receive juſt puniſhment for thy pride. 37 But I, as my brethren, offer up my body and life for the laws of our fathers, beſeeching God, that he would ſpeedily be merciful unto our nation, and that thou by torments and plagues mayeſt confeſs, that he alone is God; 38 And that in me, and my brethren, the wrath of the Almighty, which is juſtly brought upon all our nation, may ceaſe. 39 Then the king being in a rage, handled him worſe than all the reſt, and took it grievouſly that he was mocked. 40 So this man died undefiled, and put his whole truſt in the Lord. 41 Laſt of all after the ſons, the mother died. 42 Let this be enough now to have ſpoken concerning the idolatrous feaſts, and the extreme tortures.

In this Chapter we have a particular Relation of the Martyrdom of a Mother and her ſeven Sons, who ſuffered with unparallelled Conſtancy and Firmneſs, the moſt exquiſite Tortures that the Invention of the Tyrant Antiochus could furniſh, or his Executioners act, rather than violate a Precept of their Law, which forbad them the Eating of Swines Fleſh. Not the red-hot Caldrons, nor all the various Inſtruments of Torments preſented to their View, could induce them to break one ſingle Injunction of their Legiſlator, nor terrify them into a Compliance with the King's Order. So great was their Veneration for the Name of God, ſo noble their Concern for the Honour of his Law, that Life itſelf was a Trifle of no Account, when by their Deaths God was to be glorified, and his Law preſerved inviolate. Such are the Principles of true Heroiſm, neither raſhly nor voluntarily to court Death, nor meanly to avoid it by ſacrificing a good Cauſe and a good Conſcience to preſerve a ſhort and tranſitory Life. The Virtue and Innocence of the Man remain unhurt amidſt all the Injuries done to the Body; and the immortal Soul looks with a diſdainful Contempt on the bloody Executioners of a Tyrant's Vengeance, ſmiles at his Rage, and defies his utmoſt Malice.

If we ſtrictly examine the ſeveral Anſwers which theſe generous Youths made in the Midſt of their Tortures, to the Tyrant's Offers of Life and Promiſes of Preferment, in caſe they would recant their alledged Errors, we muſt admire their Piety, Reſolution, and Conſtancy; if we conſider the Extremity of their Torments, we muſt believe they were firmly perſuaded of a happy Immortality; in whatever View we contemplate their Behaviour and Sufferings, we find ſufficient Matter to raiſe our Veneration for their Piety and Bravery, and enough to excite us to an Imitation of their Virtues: For if theſe Jews, in the Darkneſs of Judaiſm, were actuated with ſo fervent a Zeal for a ſingle Injunction of the Moſaic Law, which regarded only the ceremonious Part of their Worſhip; with what Shame and Confuſion ſhould a Chriſtian be covered, who, under the enlightening Diſpenſation of the Goſpel, can ſo eaſily, as too many do, ſuffer the Riches, Honours, and Grandeur of the World, to weigh down all Concern about a future State, to ſlight and deſpiſe the momentous Precepts of the holy Jeſus, and do all in their Power to vacate the Terms of that everlaſting Covenant betwixt God and his People, which our bleſſed Redeemer ſo dearly purchaſed, is ſo clearly revealed, and ſo particularly deſcribed in the ſacred Records of the New Teſtament?

CHAP. VIII.

Judas gathers an Hoſt, and defeats Nicanor.

Ver. 1. THEN Judas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went privily into the towns, and called their kinsfolks together, and took unto them all ſuch as continued in the Jews religion, and aſſembled about ſix thouſand men. 2 And they called upon the Lord, that he would look upon the people that was troden down of all, and alſo pity the temple, profaned of ungodly men, 3 And that he would have compaſſion upon the city, ſore defaced, and ready to be made even with the ground, and hear the blood that cried unto him, 4 And remember the wicked ſlaughter of harmleſs infants, and the blaſphemies committed againſt his name, and that he would ſhew his hatred againſt the wicked. 5 Now when Maccabeus had his company about him, he could not be withſtood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercy. 6 Therefore he came at unawares, and burnt up towns and cities, and got into his hands the moſt cõmodious places, and overcame and put to flight no ſmall number of his enemies. 7 But ſpecially took he advantage of the night, for ſuch privy attempts, inſomuch that the bruit of his manlineſs was ſpread every where. 8 So when Philip ſaw that this man increaſed by little and little, and that things proſpered with him ſtill more and more, he wrote unto Ptolemeus the governor of Celoſyria and Phenice, to yield more aid to the kings affairs. 9 Then forthwith chooſing Nicanor the ſon of Patroclus, one of his ſpecial friends, he ſent him with no fewer than twenty thouſand of all nations under him, to root out the whole generation of the Jews; and with him he joined alſo Gorgias a captain, who in matters of war had great experience. 10 So Nicanor undertook to make ſo much money of the captive Jews, as ſhould defray the tribute of two thouſand talents, which the king was to pay to the Romans. 11 Wherefore immediately he ſent to the cities upon the ſea-coaſt, proclaiming a ſale of the captive Jews, and promiſing that they ſhould have fourſcore and ten bodies for one talent, not expecting the vengeance that was to follow upon him from the almighty God. 12 Now when word was brought unto Judas of Nicanors coming, and he had imparted unto thoſe that were with him, that the army was at hand, 13 They that were fearful, and diſtruſted the juſtice of God, fled, and conveyed themſelves away. 14 Others ſold all that they had left, and withal beſought the Lord to deliver them, being ſold by the wicked Nicanor before they met together: 15 And if not for their own ſakes, yet for the covenants he had made with their fathers, and for his holy and glorious names ſake, by which they were called. 16 So Maccabeus called his men together unto the number of ſix thouſand, and exhorted them not to be ſtricken with terror of the enemy, nor to fear the great multitude of the heathen, who came wrongfully againſt them, but to fight manfully, 17 And to ſet before their eyes the injury that they had unjuſtly done to the holy place, and the cruel handling of the city, whereof they made a mockery, and alſo the taking away of the government of their forefathers: 18 For they (ſaid he) truſt in their weapons and boldneſs; but our confidence is in the almighty God, who at a beck can caſt down both them that come againſt us, and alſo all the world. 19 Moreover, he recounted unto them what helps their forefathers had found, and how they were delivered, when under Sennacherib an hundred fourſcore and five thouſand periſhed. 20 And he told them of the battel that they had in Babylon with the Galatians, how they came but eight thouſand men in all to the buſineſs, with four thouſand Macedonians, and that the Macedonians being perplexed, the eight thouſand deſtroyed an hundred and twenty thouſand, becauſe of the help that they had from heaven, and ſo received a great booty. 21 Thus when he had made them bold with theſe words, and ready to die for the laws, and the country, he divided his army into four parts: 22 And joined with himſelf his own brethren, leaders of each band, to wit, Simon, and Joſeph, and Jonathan, giving each one fifteen hundred men. 23 Alſo he appointed Eleazar to read the holy book: and when he had given them this watch-word, The help of God; himſelf leading the firſt band, he joined battel with Nicanor. 24 And by the help of the Almighty they ſlew above nine thouſand of their enemies, and wounded and maimed the moſt part of Nicanors hoſt, and ſo put all to flight; 25 And took their money that came to buy them, and purſued them far: but lacking time, they returned. 26 For it was the day before the ſabbath, and therefore they would no longer purſue them. 27 So when they had gathered their armour together, and ſpoiled their enemies, they occupied themſelves about the ſabbath, yielding exceeding praiſe and thanks to the Lord, who had preſerved them unto that day, which was the beginning of mercy diſtilling upon them. 28 And after the ſabbath, when they had given part of the ſpoils to the maimed, and the widows, and orphans, the reſt they divided among themſelves and their ſervants. 29 When this was done, and they had made a common ſupplication, they beſought the merciful Lord to be reconciled with his ſervants for ever. 30 Moreover, of thoſe that were with Timotheus and Bacchides, who fought againſt them, they ſlew above twenty thouſand, and very eaſily got high and ſtrong holds, and divided amongſt themſelves many ſpoils more, and made the maimed, orphans, widows, yea, and the aged alſo, equal in ſpoils with themſelves. 31 And when they had gathered their armour together, they laid them up all carefully in convenient places, and the remnant of the ſpoils they brought to Jeruſalem. 32 They ſlew alſo Philarches that wicked perſon, who was with Timotheus, and had annoyed the Jews many ways. 33 Furthermore, at ſuch time as they kept the feaſt for the victory in their country, they burnt Calliſthenes, that had ſet fire upon the holy gates, who was fled into a little houſe, and ſo he received a reward meet for his wickedneſs. 34 As for that moſt ungracious Nicanor, who had brought a thouſand merchants to buy the Jews, 35 He was through the help of the Lord, brought down by them of whom he made leaſt account, and putting off his glorious apparel, and diſcharging his company, he came like a fugitive ſervant through the midland unto Antioch, having very great diſhonour, for that his hoſt was deſtroyed. 36 Thus he that took upon him to make good to the Romans their tribute, by means of the captives in Jeruſalem, told abroad, that the Jews had God to fight for them, and therefore they could not be hurt, becauſe they followed the laws that he gave them.

The Author having concluded his Account of the idolatrous Feaſts, at which the poor Jews were compelled to be preſent and aſſiſt; and likewiſe of the inhuman Cruelties exerciſed on thoſe whoſe Faith and Reſolution were ſtrong enough to outbrave all the Tyrant's Barbarities; in this begins his Narrative of the noble Exploits performed by Judas Maccabeus in Defence of their Laws, Religion, and Liberty.

The Account of the Expedition againſt the Jews under the General Nicanor, is ſomewhat differently related by the Author of the firſt Book of Maccabees, Ch. iii. But as the Learned eſteem that Hiſtory the moſt authentick (ſee the Argument of the ſecond Book) we muſt look for the Truth as there related.

CHAP. IX.

The miſerable Death of Antiochus.

Ver. 1. ABout that time came Antiochus with diſhonour out of the country of Perſia. 2 For he had entred the city called Perſepolis, and went about to rob the temple, and to hold the city, whereupon the multitude running to defend themſelves with their weapons, put them to flight; and ſo it hapned, that Antiochus being put to flight of the inhabitants, returned with ſhame. 3 Now when he came to Ecbatana, news was brought him what had happened unto Nicanor and Timotheus. 4 Then ſwelling with anger, he thought to avenge upon the Jews the diſgrace done unto him by thoſe that made him flee. Therefore commanded he his chariot-man to drive without ceaſing, and to diſpatch the journey, the judgment of God now following him. For he had ſpoken proudly in this ſort, That he would come to Jeruſalem, and make it a common burying-place of the Jews. 5 But the Lord almighty, the God of Iſrael, ſmote him with an incurable and inviſible plague: for as ſoon as he had ſpoken theſe words, a pain of the bowels that was remedileſs, came upon him, and ſore torments of the inner parts; 6 And that moſt juſtly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with many and ſtrange torments. 7 Howbeit he nothing at all ceaſed from his bragging, but ſtill was filled with pride, breathing out fire in his rage againſt the Jews, and commanding to haſte the journey: but it came to paſs that he fell down from his chariot, carried violently; ſo that having a ſore fall, all the members of his body were much pained. 8 And thus he that a little afore thought he might command the waves of the ſea (ſo proud was he beyond the condition of man) and weigh the high mountains in a balance, was now caſt on the ground, and carried in a horſe-litter, ſhewing forth unto all, the manifeſt power of God. 9 So that the worms roſe up out of the body of this wicked man, and whiles he lived in ſorrow and pain, his fleſh fell away, and the filthineſs of his ſmell was noiſom to all his army. 10 And the man that thought a little afore he could reach to the ſtars of heaven, no man could endure to carry for his intolerable ſtink. 11 Here therefore being plagued, he began to leave off his great pride, and to come to the knowledge of himſelf by the ſcourge of God, his pain increaſing every moment. 12 And when he himſelf could not abide his own ſmell, he ſaid theſe words, It is meet to be ſubject unto God, and that a man that is mortal ſhould not proudly think of himſelf, as if he were God. 13 This wicked perſon vowed alſo unto the Lord, (who now no more would have mercy upon him) ſaying thus, 14 That the holy city (to the which he was going in haſte to lay to lay it even with the ground, and to make it a common burying-place) he would ſet at liberty. 15 And as touching the Jews, whom he had judged not worthy to be ſo much as buried, but to be caſt out with their children to be devoured of the fowls and wild beaſts, he would make them all equals to the citizens of Athens. 16 And the holy temple, which before he had ſpoiled, he would garniſh with goodly gifts, and reſtore all the holy veſſels, with many more, and out of his own revenue defray the charges belonging to the ſacrifices: 17 Yea, and that alſo he would become a Jew himſelf, and go through all the world that was inhabited, and declare the power of God. 18 But for all this his pains would not ceaſe: for the juſt judgment of God was come upon him: therefore deſpairing of his health, he wrote unto the Jews the letters underwritten, containing the form of a ſupplication, after this manner: 19 Antiochus, king and governor, to the good Jews his citizens, wiſheth much joy, health and proſperity. 20 If ye and your children fare well, and your affairs be to your contentment, I give very great thanks to God, having my hope in heaven. 21 As for me, I was weak, or elſe I would have remembred kindly your honour and good will. Returning out of Perſia, and being taken with a grievous diſeaſe, I thought it neceſſary to care for the common ſafety of all: 22 Not diſtruſting mine health, but having great hope to eſcape this ſickneſs. 23 But conſidering that even my father, at what time he led an army into the high countries, appointed a ſucceſſor, 24 To the end that if any thing fell out contrary to expectation, or if any tidings were brought that were grievous, they of the land knowing to whom the ſtate was left, might not be troubled. 25 Again, conſidering how that the princes that are borderers and neighbours unto my kingdom, wait for opportunities, and expect what ſhall be the event, I have appointed my ſon Antiochus king, whom I often committed and commended unto many of you, when I went up into the high provinces; to whom I have written as followeth. 26 Therefore I pray and requeſt you to remember the benefits that I have done unto you generally and in ſpecial, and that every man will be ſtill faithful to me and my ſon. 27 For I am perſuaded that he, underſtanding my mind, will favourably and graciouſly yield to your deſires. 28 Thus the murderer and blaſphemer, having ſuffered moſt grievouſly, as he entreated other men, ſo died he a miſerable death in a ſtrange country in the mountains. 29 And Philip that was brought up with him, carried away his body, who alſo fearing the ſon of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

If we compare the Account here given of the Death of Antiochus, with what we read of it 1 Macc. vi. we ſhall perceive a wide Difference; yet in both it's agreed, that he died miſerably; which is likewiſe confirmed by the Teſtimony of Polybius, an exact Hiſtorian, who was contemporary with that Prince, and therefore could not be at a Loſs for proper Inſtructions in what he wrote. Antiochus (according to him) was a Man of great Expence, and ſquandered away vaſt Sums in the Gratification of his Luſts and Amours, in the Gifts he beſtowed upon his Favourites, and the Entertainments he made for the People: But then Athenæus informs us, that all theſe Expences were made, partly out of the Gifts which his Friends ſent him, partly out of the Prey which he took from Ptolemy King of Egypt, when he was a Minor; but chiefly out of the Spoils of the many Temples which he ſacrilegiouſly robbed.

Therefore I pray and requeſt you to remember the Benefits which I have done unto you generally, and in ſpecial] Theſe were the vain Boaſts of the dying Tyrant: But, ſince the ſame Polybius tells us, that his Diſtemper ſo far grew upon him, as to come to a conſtant Delirium, or State of Madneſs, theſe Expreſſions, we may ſuppoſe, came from him when he was in that Condition. For we know no Inſtances of his Kindneſs, but many of his Cruelty to the People of God; and, as to his Bounty, (which he boaſts of 1 Macc. vi. 11.) this is what he uſually committed in his drunken Frolicks, in which he ſpent a great Part of his Revenues, and uſed often to go into the Streets, and to ſcatter his Money, in Handfuls, among the Rabble. The Pretence therefore, that the Cruelties which he exerciſed upon the Jews, was only to eſtabliſh a Uniformity of Religion in his Dominions, (as ſome have ſaid in his Excuſe) is frivolous; ſince we can hardly ſuppoſe, that ſuch a wild crack-brained Creature had any ſuch ſerious Thoughts; but that, to juſtify the Depredations he had made upon the Jews, and to revenge the Defeats which they had ſo frequently given to his Armies, theſe were the true Reaſons of his Exaſperation againſt them; becauſe it is not conceivable, how he could have any ſober Senſe of Religion, who, to ſatisfy his greedy Avarice, was not afraid to rob the Temple of Diana.

This Robbing of Temples, in the Opinion of all ſober Heathens, was accounted a Crime of that heinous Nature, as juſtly deſerved the Vengeance of Heaven; and therefore Polybius, as well as the Author of the Maccabees, informs us, that Antiochus, before he died, was ſcared with Viſions, and Apparitions of evil Spirits; but then he ſuppoſes, that it was the Goddeſs Diana that thus haunted him, for attempting to pillage her Temple at Elymais; whereas he himſelf, in the Preſence of all his Friends, openly declares; that theſe Troubles were come upon him, becauſe he had taken all the Veſſels of Gold and Silver, that were at Jeruſalem, and had deſtroyed the Inhabitants of Judea without a Cauſe.

CHAP. X.

Judas recovers the City, and purifies the Temple. Gorgias vexes the Jews. Timotheus diſcomfited, and ſlain.

Ver. 1. NOW Maccabeus and his company, the Lord guiding them, recovered the temple, and the city. 2 But the altars which the heathen had built in the open ſtreet, and alſo the chappels, they pulled down. 3 And having cleanſed the temple, they made another altar, and ſtriking ſtones, they took fire out of them, and offered a ſacrifice after two years, and ſet forth incenſe, and lights, and ſhew-bread. 4 When that was done, they fell flat down, and beſought the Lord, that they might come no more into ſuch troubles; but if they ſinned any more againſt him, that he himſelf would chaſten them with mercy, and that they might not be delivered unto the blaſphemous and barbarous nations. 5 Now upon the ſame day that the ſtrangers profaned the temple, on the very ſame day it was cleanſed again, even the five and twentieth day of the ſame month, which is Caſleu. 6 And they kept eight days with gladneſs, as in the feaſt of the tabernacles, remembring that not long afore they had held the feaſt of the tabernacles, when as they wandred in the mountains and dens like beaſts. 7 Therefore they bare branches and fair boughs, and palms alſo, and ſang pſalms unto him that had given them good ſucceſs in cleanſing his place. 8 They ordained alſo by a common ſtatute and decree, That every year thoſe days ſhould be kept of the whole nation of the Jews. 9 And this was the end of Antiochus, called Epiphanes. 10 Now will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, who was the ſon of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the wars. 11 So when he was come to the crown, he ſet one Lyſias over the affairs of his realm, and appointed him chief governor of Celoſyria and Phenice. 12 For Ptolomeus that was called Macron, chooſing rather to do juſtice unto the Jews, for the wrong that had been done unto them, endeavoured to continue peace with them. 13 Whereupon being accuſed of the kings friends before Eupator, and called traitor at every word, becauſe he had left Cyprus, that Philometor had committed unto him, and departed to Antiochus Epiphanes, and ſeeing that he was in no honourable place, he was ſo diſcouraged, that he poiſoned himſelf, and died. 14 But when Gorgias was governor of the holds, he hired ſoldiers, and nouriſhed war continually with the Jews: 15 And therewithal the Idumeans having gotten into their hands the moſt commodious holds, kept kept the Jews occupied, and receiving thoſe that were baniſhed from Jeruſalem, they went about to nouriſh war. 16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made ſupplication, and beſought God that he would be their helper; and ſo they ran with violence upon the ſtrong-holds of the Idumeans. 17 And aſſaulting them ſtrongly, they wan the holds, and kept off all that fought upon the wall, and ſlew all that fell into their hands, and killed no fewer than twenty thouſand. 18 And becauſe certain (who were no leſs than nine thouſand) were fled together into two very ſtrong caſtles, having all manner of things convenient to ſuſtain the ſiege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joſeph, and Zaccheus alſo, and them that were with him, who were enough to beſiege them, and departed himſelf unto thoſe places which more needed his help. 20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with covetouſneſs, were perſuaded for money (through certain of thoſe that were in the caſtle) and took ſeventy thouſand drachmes, and let ſome of them eſcape. 21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the governors of the people together, and accuſed thoſe men that they had ſold their brethren for money, and ſet their enemies free to fight againſt them. 22 So he ſlew thoſe that were found traitors, and immediately took the two caſtles. 23 And having good ſucceſs with his weapons in all things he took in hand, he ſlew in the two holds more than twenty thouſand. 24 Now Timotheus, whom the Jews had overcome before, when he had gathered a great multitude of foreign forces, and horſes out of Aſia not a few, came as though he would take Jewry by force of arms. 25 But when he drew near, they that were with Maccabeus turned themſelves to pray unto God, and ſprinkled earth upon their heads, and girded their loins with ſackcloth, 26 And fell down at the foot of the altar, and beſought him to be merciful to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and an adverſary to their adverſaries, as the law declareth. 27 So after the prayer, they took their weapons, and went on further from the city: and when they drew near to their enemies, they kept by themſelves. 28 Now the ſun being newly riſen, they joined both together; the one part having together with their virtue, their refuge alſo unto the Lord, for a pledge of their ſucceſs and victory: the other ſide making their rage leader of their battel. 29 But when the battel waxed ſtrong, there appeared unto the enemies from heaven, five comely men upon horſes, with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Jews, 30 And took Maccabeus betwixt them, and covered him on every ſide with their weapons, and kept him ſafe, but ſhot arrows and lightnings againſt the enemies: ſo that being confounded with blindneſs, and full of trouble, they were killed. 31 And there were ſlain of footmen twenty thouſand and five hundred, and ſix hundred horſemen. 32 As for Timotheus himſelf, he fled into a very ſtrong hold, called Gazara, where Chereas was governor. 33 But they that were with Maccabeus, laid ſiege againſt the fortreſs couragiouſly four days. 34 And they that were within, truſting to the ſtrength of the place, blaſphemed exceedingly, and uttered wicked words. 35 Nevertheleſs upon the fifth day early, twenty young men of Maccabeus company, inflamed with anger becauſe of the blaſphemies, aſſaulted the wall manly, and with a fierce courage killed all that they met withal. 36 Others likewiſe aſcending after them, whiles they were buſied with them that were within, burnt the towers, and kindling fires, burnt the blaſphemers alive; and others broke open the gates, and having received in the reſt of the army, took the city, 37 And killed Timotheus that was hid in a certain pit, and Chereas his brother, with Apollophanes. 38 When this was done, they praiſed the Lord with pſalms and thankſgiving, who had done ſo great things for Iſrael, and given them the victory.

But when the Battle waxed ſtrong, there appeared unto the Enemies, from Heaven, five comely Men upon Horſes, &c.] There is, it muſt be acknowledged, ſomething wonderful in the Appearances of Angels mounted, as it were, on horſe-back, heading the Jewiſh Army, protecting the Jewiſh General (Ch. xi. 10.) and defending the ſacred Treaſures of the Temple, (as Ch. iii. 25, &c.) But as we eſteem theſe Books of Maccabees no Part of Divine Writ, we leave the proper Defence of them to thoſe who have received them as Canonical, and ſhall only add, with the learned Huetius upon this Subject, — That, how improbable ſoever theſe Accounts may be thought by ſome, they are not deſtitute of Examples of the like Nature in ſeveral Heathen Hiſtories; that, in the Battle which the Romans had with the Latins, at the Lake Regillus, Caſtor and Pollux were ſeen mounted on horſe-back, in the Roman Army, and, when the Victory was wavering, they reſtored the Fight, and gained the Field, and carried the News thereof to Rome that very Evening; that, when the Romans invaded the Lucani and Brutii, the great Founder of their Nation led their Forces to the Onſet, and aſſiſted them not a little, in taking, and deſtroying great Numbers of their Enemies; and (to name no more) that, at the Battle of Marathon, Pan appeared on the Side of the Athenians; made a great Slaughter among the Enemy's Army, and injected ſuch a Terror into them all, as, from that Time, has obtained the Name of a Panick Fear.

Now, tho' there might be a good deal of Fiction in theſe Inſtances, yet, ſince we find ſome of the beſt Roman Hiſtorians relating them, and ſo grave an Author as Tully (even in ſome of his moſt ſerious Pieces) making mention of the firſt of theſe, as a Matter of juſt Credibility, we cannot but ſuppoſe, that the common Tradition, at that Time, was, that, to the victorious Army (eſpecially when it was much inferior in Numbers) ſome celeſtial and ſuperior Beings were always aſſiſtant; and, conſequently, that the Author of the Book of Maccabees, in this Reſpect, wrote nothing but what, at that Time, was the common Senſe of Mankind; nothing indeed, but what the Senſe of the Royal Pſalmiſt in military Affairs, authorized him to write: For, let them be turned back, ſays he, and brought to Confuſion, that imagine Miſchief againſt me; let them be as the Duſt before the Wind, and the Angel of the Lord ſcattering them, Pſ. xxxv. 4, 5. See Stackhouſe on the Maccabees.

CHAP. XI.

Lyſias is defeated in his Deſigns againſt Jeruſalem. His Letters to the Jews; of the King to Lyſias, and to the Jews; of the Romans to the Jews.

Ver. 1. NOT long after this, Lyſias the kings protector and couſin, who alſo managed the affairs, took ſore diſpleaſure for the things that were done. 2 And when he had gathered about fourſcore thouſand with all the horſemen, he came againſt the Jews, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles, 3 And to make a gain of the temple, as of the other chappels of the heathen, and to ſet the high prieſthood to ſale every year: 4 Not at all conſidering the power of God, but puffed up with his ten thouſands of footmen, and his thouſands of horſemen, and his fourſcore elephants. 5 So he came to Judea, and drew near to Bethſura, which was a ſtrong town, but diſtant from Jeruſalem about five furlongs, and he laid ſore ſiege unto it. 6 Now when they that were with Maccabeus heard that he beſieged the holds, they and all the people, with lamentation and tears, beſought the Lord, that he would ſend a good angel to deliver Iſrael. 7 Then Maccabeus himſelf firſt of all took weapons, exhorting the other, that they would jeopard themſelves together with him to help their brethren: ſo they went forth together with a willing mind. 8 And as they were at Jeruſalem, there appeared before them on horſeback one in white cloathing, ſhaking his armour of gold. 9 Then they praiſed the merciful God all together, and took heart, inſomuch that they were ready, not only to fight with men, but with moſt cruel beaſts, and to pierce through walls of iron. 10 Thus they marched forward in their armour, having an helper from heaven: for the Lord was merciful unto them. 11 And giving a charge upon their enemies like lions, they ſlew eleven thouſand footmen, and ſixteen hundred horſemen, and put all the other to flight. 12 Many of them alſo being wounded, eſcaped naked; and Lyſias himſelf fled away ſhamefully, and ſo eſcaped. 13 Who, as he was a man of underſtanding, caſting with himſelf what loſs he had had, and conſidering that the Hebrews could not be overcome, becauſe the almighty God helped them, he ſent unto them, 14 And perſuaded them to agree to all reaſonable conditions, and promiſed that he would perſuade the king, that he muſt needs be a friend unto them. 15 Then Maccabeus conſented to all that Lyſias deſired, being careful of the common good; and whatſoever Maccabeus wrote unto Lyſias concerning the Jews, the king granted it. 16 For there were letters written unto the Jews from Lyſias to this effect: Lyſias unto the people of the Jews ſendeth greeting. 17 John and Abſalon, who were ſent from you, delivered me the petition ſubſcribed, and made requeſt for the performance of the contents thereof. 18 Therefore what things ſoever were meet to be reported to the king, I have declared them, and he hath granted as much as might be. 19 If then you will keep yourſelves loyal to the ſtate, hereafter alſo will I endeavour to be a means of your good. 20 But of the particulars I have given order, both to theſe, and the other that came from me, to commune with you. 21 Fare ye well. The hundred and eight and fortieth year, the four and twentieth day of the month Dioſcorinthius. 22 Now the kings letter contained theſe words: King Antiochus unto his brother Lyſias, ſendeth greeting. 23 Since our father is tranſlated unto the gods, our will is, that they that are in our realm live quietly, that every one may attend upon his own affairs. 24 We underſtand alſo, that the Jews would not conſent to our father, for to be brought unto the cuſtom of the Gentiles, but had rather keep their own manner of living: for the which cauſe they require of us, that we ſhould ſuffer them to live after their own laws. 25 Wherefore our mind is, that this nation ſhall be in reſt, and we have determined to reſtore them their temple, that they may live according to the cuſtoms of their forefathers. 26 Thou ſhalt do well therefore to ſend unto them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our mind, they may be of good comfort, and ever go cheerfully about their own affairs. 27 And the letter of the king unto the nation of the Jews, was after this manner: King Antiochus ſendeth greeting unto the council, and the reſt of the Jews. 28 If ye fare well, we have our deſire, we are alſo in good health. 29 Menelaus declared unto us, that your deſire was to return home, and to follow your own buſineſs: 30 Wherefore they that will depart ſhall have ſafe conduct, till the thirtieth day of Xanthicus with ſecurity. 31 And the Jews ſhall uſe their own kind of meats, and laws, as before; and none of them any manner of ways ſhall be moleſted for things ignorantly done. 32 I have ſent alſo Menelaus, that he may comfort you. 33 Fare ye well. In the hundred forty and eighth year, and in the fifteenth day of the month Xanthicus. 34 The Romans alſo ſent unto them a letter containing theſe words: Quintus Memmius, and Titus Manlius ambaſſadors of the Romans, ſend greeting unto the people of the Jews. 35 Whatſoever Lyſias the kings couſin hath granted, therewith we alſo are well pleaſed. 36 But touching ſuch things as he judged to be referred to the king, after you have adviſed thereof, ſend one forthwith, that we may declare as it is convenient for you: for we are now going to Antioch. 37 Therefore ſend ſome with ſpeed, that we may know what is your mind. 38 Farewel. This hundred and eight and fortieth year, the fifteenth day of the month Xanthicus.

And drew near to Bethſura] This was a ſtrong Place lying to the South of Jeruſalem, near the Confines of Idumæa. It had been fortified by King Rehoboam, (2 Chron. xi. 7.) and was, at this Time, a very important Fortreſs, as being one of the Keys of Judea on the South Side of Idumæa.

The Account of Lyſias's Defeat is likewiſe related by the Author of the firſt Book of Maccabees, Ch. iv. who takes no Notice of the Treaty of Peace that was immediately ſet on Foot and concluded, by the Mediation of Lyſias, between King Antiochus and the Jews; but proceeds with Judas directly to Jeruſalem, to celebrate his Victory, and cleanſe the Temple. But as the two Accounts do not claſh, or contradict one another, they both may be true.

CHAP. XII.

The King's Lieutenants vex the Jews. Judas revenges the Murder of his Brethren; takes Caſpis; and overthrows Timotheus.

Ver. 1. WHEN theſe covenants were made, Lyſias went unto the king, and the Jews were about their huſbandry. 2 But of the governors of ſeveral places, Timotheus, and Apollonius the ſon of Genneus, alſo Hieronymus, mus, and Demophon, and beſides them, Nicanor the governor of Cyprus, would not ſuffer them to be quiet, and live in peace. 3 The men of Joppe alſo did ſuch an ungodly deed: they prayed the Jews that dwelt among them, to go with their wives and children into the boats which they had prepared, as though they had meant them no hurt. 4 Who accepted of it, according to the common decree of the city, as being deſirous to live in peace, and ſuſpecting nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deep, they drowned no leſs than two hundred of them. 5 When Judas heard of this cruelty done unto his countrymen, he commanded thoſe that were with him to make them ready. 6 And calling upon God, the righteous Judge, he came againſt thoſe murderers of his brethren, and burnt the haven by night, and ſet the boats on fire, and thoſe that fled thither he ſlew. 7 And when the town was ſhut up, he went backward, as if he would return to root out all them of the city of Joppe. 8 But when he heard that the Jamnites were minded to do in like manner unto the Jews that dwelt among them, 9 He came upon the Jamnites alſo by night, and ſet fire on the haven and the navy, ſo that the light of the fire was ſeen at Jeruſalem, two hundred and forty furlongs off. 10 Now when they were gone from thence, nine furlongs in their journey towards Timotheus, no fewer than five thouſand men on foot, and five hundred horſemen of the Arabians ſet upon him. 11 Whereupon there was a very ſore battel, but Judas ſide by the help of God got the victory; ſo that the Nomades of Arabia being overcome, beſought Judas for peace, promiſing both to give him cattel, and to pleaſure him otherwiſe. 12 Then Judas thinking indeed, that they would be profitable in many things, granted them peace: whereupon they ſhook hands, and ſo they departed to their tents. 13 He went alſo about to make a bridge to a certain ſtrong city, which was fenced about with walls, and inhabited by people of divers countries; and the name of it was Caſpis. 14 But they that were within it, put ſuch truſt in the ſtrength of the walls, and proviſion of victuals, that they behaved themſelves rudely towards them that were with Judas, railing, and blaſpheming, and uttering ſuch words as were not to be ſpoken. 15 Wherefore Judas, with his company calling upon the great Lord of the world (who without any rams, or engines of war, did caſt down Jericho in the time of Joſhua) gave a fierce aſſault againſt the walls, 16 And took the city by the will of God, and made unſpeakable ſlaughters, inſomuch that a lake two furlongs broad, near adjoining thereunto, being filled full, was ſeen running with blood. 17 Then departed they from thence ſeven hundred and fifty furlongs, and came to Characa, unto the Jews that are called Tubieni. 18 But as for Timotheus, they found him not in the places: for before he had diſpatched any thing, he departed from thence, having left a very ſtrong garriſon in a certain hold. 19 Howbeit, Doſitheus, and Soſipater, who were of Maccabeus captains, went forth, and ſlew thoſe that Timotheus had left in the fortreſs, above ten thouſand men. 20 And Maccabeus ranged his army by bands, and ſet them over the bands, and went againſt Timotheus, who had about him an hundred and twenty thouſand men of foot, and two thouſand and five hundred horſemen. 21 Now when Timotheus had knowledge of Judas coming, he ſent the women and children, and the other baggage unto a fortreſs called Carnion: (for the town was hard to beſiege, and uneaſie to come unto, by reaſon of the ſtraitneſs of all the places.) 22 But when Judas his firſt band came in ſight, the enemies (being ſmitten with fear and terror, through the appearing of him that ſeeth all things) fled amain, one running this way, another that way, ſo as that they were often hurt of their own men, and wounded with the points of their own ſwords. 23 Judas alſo was very earneſt in purſuing them, killing thoſe wicked wretches, of whom he ſlew about thirty thouſand men. 24 Moreover, Timotheus himſelf fell into the hands of Doſitheus, and Soſipater, whom he beſought with much craft to let him go with his life, becauſe he had many of the Jews parents, and the brethren of ſome of them, who if they had put him to death, ſhould not be regarded. 25 So when he had aſſured them with many words, that he would reſtore them without hurt, according to the agreement, they let him go for the ſaving of their brethren. 26 Then Maccabeus marched forth to Carnion, and to the temple of Atargatis, and there he ſlew five and twenty thouſand perſons. 27 And after he had put to flight and deſtroyed them, Judas removed the hoſt towards Ephron, a ſtrong city, wherein Lyſias abode, and a great multitude of divers nations, and the ſtrong young men kept the walls, and defended them mightily: wherein alſo was great proviſion of engines and darts. 28 But when Judas and his company had called upon almighty God, (who with his power breaketh the ſtrength of his enemies) they wan the city, and ſlew twenty and five thouſand of them that were within. 29 From thence they departed to Scythopolis, which lieth ſix hundred furlongs from Jeruſalem. 30 But when the Jews that dwelt there, had teſtified that the Scythopolitans dealt lovingly with them, and entreated them kindly in the time of their adverſity; 31 They gave them thanks, deſiring them to be friendly ſtill unto them: and ſo they came to Jeruſalem, the feaſt of the weeks approaching. 32 And after the feaſt called Pentecoſt, they went forth againſt Gorgias the governor of Idumea, 33 Who came out with three thouſand men of foot, and four hundred horſemen. 34 And it happened that in their fighting together, a few of the Jews were ſlain. 35 At which time Doſitheus, one of Bacenors company, who was on horſeback, and a ſtrong man, was ſtill upon Gorgias, and taking hold of his coat, drew him by force; and when he would have taken that curſed man alive, a horſeman of Thracia coming upon him, ſmote off his ſhoulder, ſo that Gorgias fled unto Mariſa. 36 Now when they that were with Gorgias had fought long, and were weary, Judas called upon the Lord, that he would ſhew himſelf to be their helper and leader of the battel. 37 And with that he began in his own language, and ſung pſalms with a loud voice, and ruſhing unawares upon Gorgias

Gorgias men, he put them to flight. 38 So Judas gathered his hoſt, and came into the city Odollam. And when the ſeventh day came, they purified themſelves (as the cuſtom was) and kept the ſabbath in the ſame place. 39 And upon the day following, as the uſe had been, Judas and his company came to take up the bodies of them that were ſlain, and to bury them with their kinſmen in their fathers graves. 40 Now under the coats of every one that was ſlain, they found things conſecrated to the idols of the Jamnites, which is forbidden the Jews by the law. Then every man ſaw that this was the cauſe wherefore they were ſlain. 41 All men therefore praiſing the Lord, the righteous Judge, who had opened the things that were hid, 42 Betook themſelves unto prayer, and beſought him that the ſin committed might wholly be put out of remembrance. Beſides, that noble Judas exhorted the people to keep themſelves from ſin, forſomuch as they ſaw before their eyes the things that came to paſs; for the ſins of thoſe that were ſlain. 43 And when he had made a gathering throughout the company, to the ſum of two thouſand drachmes of ſilver, he ſent it to Jeruſalem, to offer a ſin offering, doing therein very well and honeſtly, in that he was mindful of the reſurrection; 44 (For if he had not hoped that they that were ſlain ſhould have riſen again, it had been ſuperfluous and vain to pray for the dead) 45 And alſo in that he perceived that there was great favour laid up for thoſe that died godly. (It was an holy and good thought.) Whereupon he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be delivered from ſin.

No fewer than five thouſand Men on foot, and five hundred Horſemen of the Arabians ſet upon him] Theſe People lived in Tents, and ſtaid in a Place no longer than it afforded them Proviſion for themſelves and their Cattle. They were the Deſcendants of Iſmael, and according to the Angel's Prediction of them, Gen. xvi. 12. Their Hand was againſt every Man, and every Man's Hand againſt them: For they lived chiefly upon Plunder, but as they were a ſtout and warlike People, and well acquainted with the Courſe of thoſe Countries, it was no bad Policy in the Jewiſh General, after he had forced them to ſue for Peace, and obliged them to furniſh him with a certain Quantity of Cattle and Proviſion, to ſecure their Friendſhip and future Services.

And the Name of it was Caſpis] This is the ſame as Heſbon in the Tribe of Reuben.

Inſomuch that a Lake two Furlongs broad — being filled full, was ſeen running with Blood] This is impoſſible to be true, altho' the Blood of all the People of that Country had been poured into it; and therefore we muſt take it only for an hyperbolic Expreſſion, ſignifying that a vaſt Quantity of Blood was ſhed by Judas and his Army upon that Occaſion.

Unto a Fortreſs called Carnion] This was a City in Arabia. The Temple of Argatis, was that of Venus.

Judas removed the Hoſt towards Ephron] The Scripture makes mention of this City of Ephron, as ſtanding upon the River Jordan, and only in this Place; and therefore it is hard to define its Situation.

CHAP. XIII.

Eupator invades Judea. Judas ſurprizes his Camp; and Eupator makes Peace with him.

Ver. 1. IN the hundred forty and ninth year it was told Judas, that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Judea, 2 And with him Lyſias his protector and ruler of his affairs, having either of them a Grecian power of footmen, an hundred and ten thouſand, and horſemen five thouſand and three hundred, and elephants two and twenty, and three hundred chariots armed with hooks. 3 Menelaus alſo joined himſelf with them, and with great diſſimulation encouraged Antiochus, not for the ſafeguard of the country, but becauſe he thought to have been made governor. 4 But the king of kings moved Antiochus mind againſt this wicked wretch, and Lyſias informed the king, that this man was the cauſe of all miſchief, ſo that the king commanded to bring him unto Berea, and to put him to death, as the manner is in that place. 5 Now there was in that place a tower of fifteen cubits high, full of aſhes, and it had a round inſtrument, which on every ſide hanged down into the aſhes. 6 And whoſoever was condemned of ſacrilege, or had committed any other grievous crime, there did all men thruſt him unto death. 7 Such a death it happened that wicked man to die, not having ſo much as burial in the earth, and that moſt juſtly. 8 For inſomuch as he had committed many ſins about the altar, whoſe fire and aſhes were holy, he received his death in aſhes. 9 Now the king came with a barbarous and haughty mind, to do far worſe to the Jews, than had been done in his fathers time. 10 Which things when Judas perceived, he commanded the multitude to call upon the Lord night and day, that if ever at any other time, he would now alſo help them, being at the point to be put from their law, from their country, and from the holy temple: 11 And that he would not ſuffer the people, that had even now been but a little refreſhed, to be in ſubjection to the blaſphemous nations. 12 So when they had all done this together, and beſought the merciful Lord, with weeping and faſting, and lying flat upon the ground three days long, Judas having exhorted them, commanded they ſhould be in a readineſs. 13 And Judas being apart with the elders, determined, before the kings hoſt ſhould enter into Judea, and get the city, to go forth and try the matter in fight by the help of the Lord. 14 So when he had committed all to the Creator of the world, and exhorted his ſoldiers to fight manfully, even unto death, for the laws, the temple, the city, the country, and the common-wealth, he camped by Modin. 15 And having given the watch-word to them that were about him, Victory is of God; with the moſt valiant and choice young men, he went in into the kings tent by night, and ſlew in the camp about four thouſand men, and the chiefeſt of the elephants, with all that were upon him. 16 And at laſt they filled the camp with fear and tumult, and departed with good ſucceſs. 17 This was done in the break of the day, becauſe the protection of the Lord did help him. 18 Now when the king had taken a taſte of the manlineſs of the Jews, he went about to take the holds by policy, 19 And marched towards Bethſura, which was a ſtrong-hold of the Jews: but he was put to flight, failed, and loſt of his men. 20 For Judas had conveyed unto them that were in it, ſuch ſuch things as were neceſſary. 21 But Rhodocus, who was in the Jews hoſt, diſcloſed the ſecrets to the enemies; therefore he was ſought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in priſon. 22 The king treated with them in Bethſura the ſecond time, gave his hand, took theirs, departed, fought with Judas, was overcome; 23 Heard that Philip, who was left over the affairs in Antioch was deſperately bent, confounded, intreated the Jews, ſubmitted himſelf, and ſware to all equal conditions, agreed with them, and offered ſacrifice, honoured the temple, and dealt kindly with the place, 24 And accepted well of Maccabeus, made him principal governor from Ptolemais unto the Gerrhenians: 25 Came to Ptolemais: the people there were grieved for the covenants; for they ſtormed becauſe they would make their covenants void. 26 Lyſias went up to the judgment-ſeat, ſaid as much as could be in defence of the cauſe, perſuaded, pacified, made them well affected, returned to Antioch. Thus it went touching the kings coming and departing.

Now there was in that Place a Tower of fifty Cubits high full of Aſhes, &c.] This was one of the Puniſhments of the Perſians, whereby great Criminals among them were put to Death. The Manner of it, as it is here deſcribed, was thus: An high Tower was filled a great way up with Aſhes; the Criminal being from the Top thrown down headlong into them, there had the Aſhes by a Wheel continually ſtirred up, and raiſed about him, till he was ſuffocated, and died. Such was the Death of that wicked Man, ſays the Author, Ver. 7. that he had not a Burial in the Earth, and that very juſtly. But then the Reaſon, which he gives for this providential Judgment upon him, is very light and trifling. Foraſmuch as he committed many Sins about the Altar, whoſe Fire and Aſhes were holy, he received his Death in Aſhes, Ver. 7, 8.

CHAP. XIV.

Alcimus accuſes Judas to Demetrius. Razis, to eſcape the Hands of Nicanor, kills himſelf.

Ver. 1. AFter three years was Judas informed, that Demetrius the ſon of Seleucus, having entred by the haven of Tripolis with a great power and navy, 2 Had taken the country, and killed Antiochus, and Lyſias his protector. 3 Now one Alcimus, who had been high-prieſt, and had defiled himſelf wilfully in the times of their mingling with the Gentiles, ſeeing that by no means he could ſave himſelf, nor have any more acceſs to the holy altar, 4 Came to king Demetrius in the hundred and one and fiftieth year, preſenting unto him a crown of gold and a palm, and alſo of the boughs which were uſed ſolemnly in the temple: and ſo that day he held his peace. 5 Howbeit, having gotten opportunity to further his fooliſh enterprize, and being called into counſel by Demetrius, and aſked how the Jews ſtood affected, and what they intended, he anſwered thereunto, 6 Thoſe of the Jews that be called Aſſideans, (whoſe captain is Judas Maccabeus) nouriſh war, and are ſeditious, and will not let the realm be in peace. 7 Therefore I, being deprived of mine anceſtors honour (I mean the high prieſthood) am now come hither: 8 Firſt, verily for the unfeigned care I have of things pertaining to the king; and ſecondly, even for that I intend the good of mine own countrymen: for all our nation is in no ſmall miſery through the unadviſed dealing of them aforeſaid. 9 Wherefore, O king, Seeing thou knoweſt all theſe things, be careful for the country, and our nation, which is preſſed on every ſide, according to the clemency that thou readily ſheweſt unto all. 10 For as long as Judas liveth, it is not poſſible that the ſtate ſhould be quiet. 11 This was no ſooner ſpoken of him, but others of the kings friends being maliciouſly ſet againſt Judas, did more incenſe Demetrius. 12 And forthwith calling Nicanor, who had been maſter of the elephants, and making him governor over Judea, he ſent him forth, 13 Commanding him to ſlay Judas, and to ſcatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high-prieſt of the great temple. 14 Then the heathen that had fled out of Judea from Judas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harm and calamities of the Jews to be their welfare. 15 Now when the Jews heard of Nicanors coming, and that the heathen were up againſt them, they caſt earth upon their heads, and made ſupplication to him that had eſtabliſhed his people for ever, and who always helpeth his portion with manifeſtation of his preſence. 16 So at the commandment of the captain, they removed ſtraightways from thence, and came near unto them at the town of Deſſau. 17 Now Simon, Judas brother, had joined battel with Nicanor, but was ſomewhat diſcomfited, through the ſudden ſilence of his enemies. 18 Nevertheleſs, Nicanor hearing of the manlineſs of them that were with Judas, and the couragiouſneſs that they had to fight for their country, durſt not try the matter by the ſword. 19 Wherefore he ſent Poſidonius, and Theodotus, and Mattathias, to make peace. 20 So when they had taken long adviſement thereupon, and the captain had made the multitude acquainted therewith, and it appeared that they were all of one mind, they conſented to the covenants, 21 And appointed a day to meet in together by themſelves: and when the day came, and ſtools were ſet for either of them, 22 Judas placed armed men ready in convenient places, leſt ſome treachery ſhould be ſuddenly practiſed by the enemies: ſo they made a peaceable conference. 23 Now Nicanor abode in Jeruſalem, and did no hurt, but ſent away the people that came flocking unto him. 24 And he would not willingly have Judas out of his ſight: for he loved the man from his heart. 25 He prayed him alſo to take a wife, and to beget children: ſo he married, was quiet, and took part of this life. 26 But Alcimus perceiving the love that was betwixt them, and conſidering the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him that Nicanor was not well affected towards the ſtate; for that he had ordained Judas, a traitor to his realm, to be the kings ſucceſſor. 27 Then the king being in a rage, and provoked with the accuſations of the moſt wicked man, wrote to Nicanor, ſignifying that he was much diſpleaſed with the covenants, and commanding him that he ſhould ſend Maccabeus priſoner in all haſte unto Antioch. 28 When this came to Nicanors hearing, he was much confounded in himſelf, and took it grievouſly, that he ſhould make void the articles which were agreed upon, the man being in no fault. 29 But becauſe there was no dealing againſt the king, he watched his time to accompliſh this thing by policy. 30 Notwithſtanding, when Maccabeus ſaw that Nicanor began to be churliſh unto him, and that he intreated him more roughly than he was wont, perceiving that ſuch ſower behaviour came not of good, he gathered together not a few of his men, and withdrew himſelf from Nicanor. 31 But the other knowing that he was notably prevented by Judas policy, came into the great and holy temple, and commanded the prieſts that were offering their uſual ſacrifices, to deliver him the man. 32 And when they ſware that they could not tell where the man was whom he ſought, 33 He ſtretched out his right hand toward the temple, and made an oath in this manner, If you will not deliver me Judas as a priſoner, I will lay this temple of God even with the ground, and I will break down the altar, and erect a notable temple unto Bacchus. 34 After theſe words he departed. Then the prieſts lift up their hands towards heaven, and beſought him that was ever a defender of their nation, ſaying in this manner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, who haſt need of nothing, waſt pleaſed that the temple of thine habitation ſhould be among us: 36 Therefore now, O holy Lord of all holineſs, keep this houſe ever undefiled, which lately was cleanſed, and ſtop every unrighteous mouth. 37 Now was there accuſed unto Nicanor, one Razis, one of the elders of Jeruſalem, a lover of his countrymen, and a man of very good report, who for his kindneſs was called a father of the Jews. 38 For in the former times when they mingled not themſelves with the Gentiles, he had been accuſed of Judaiſm, and did boldly jeopard his body and life with all vehemency, for the religion of the Jews. 39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hate that he bare unto the Jews, ſent above five hundred men of war to take him. 40 For he thought by taking him, to do the Jews much hurt. 41 Now when the multitude would have taken the tower, and violently broken into the utter door, and bade that fire ſhould be brought to burn it, he being ready to be taken on every ſide, fell upon his ſword; 42 Chooſing rather to die manfully, than to come into the hands of the wicked, to be abuſed otherwiſe than beſeemed his noble birth: 43 But miſſing his ſtroke through haſte, the multitude alſo ruſhing within the doors, he ran boldly up to the wall, and caſt himſelf down manfully amongſt the thickeſt of them. 44 But they quickly giving back, and a ſpace being made, he fell down into the midſt of the void place. 45 Nevertheleſs, while there was yet breath within him, being inflamed with anger, he roſe up, and though his blood guſhed out like ſpouts of water and his wounds were grievous, yet he ran through the midſt of the throng; and ſtanding upon a ſteep rock, 46 When as his blood was now quite gone, he pluckt out his bowels, and taking them in both his hands, he caſt them upon the throng, and calling upon the Lord and life of ſpirit to reſtore him thoſe again, he thus died.

Demetrius the Son of Seleucus, having entred by the Haven of Tripolis with a great Power and Navy, had taken the Country, and killed Antiochus, and Lyſias his Protector] What excited Demetrius the rather to do it at this Time, was the Murther of Cn. Octavius: For the Roman Senate having ſent three Ambaſſadors into Syria, whereof Octavius was chief, to adminiſter the Affairs of the Nation, during the Minority of the King, (young Antiochus) theſe Ambaſſadors, finding that there were more Ships in the Navy, and more Elephants in the Army, than the Treaty, made with Antiochus the Great, after the Battle of Mount Siphilus, allowed of, cauſed the Ships to be burnt, and the Elephants to be ſlain, that exceeded the Number ſtipulated. This occaſioned great Murmurings and Diſcontent among the People, and provoked one Leptines to ſuch a Degree of Indignation, that he fell upon Octavius, as he was anointing himſelf in the Gymnaſium at Laodicea, and there ſlew him. Eupater and Lyſias did all they could to clear themſelves from having a Hand in this vile Act, and to this Purpoſe ſent Ambaſſadors to Rome to inform the Senate of their Innocence; but the Senate, after having heard what the Ambaſſadors had to ſay, gave them no Anſwer, expreſſing their Reſentment by their angry Silence: And therefore Demetrius (who was then at Rome) thought this no improper Time to move the Senate, when he perceived them thus out of Humour with Eupater, the Uſurper of his Kingdom. See Prideaux's Connect. and our Notes upon 1 Macc. Ch. vi.

Fell upon his own Sword; chuſing rather to die manfully, than to fall into the Hands of the Wicked] But however this Action of Razis is applauded by this Author, yet Stackhouſe, Calmet, and other learned Men, give it no better a Name than Self-murder. To conſider it, indeed, according to the Notion which ſome Heathens had of Courage and Magnanimity, Contempt of Death and Love of Liberty, it came nearer to what they called true Heroiſm, than all the great Actions that Hiſtory has recorded of the Greeks and Romans. Nay, the Jews themſelves are willing to place this Man in the Number of their moſt illuſtrious Martyrs, and from his Example (as well as ſome others) pretend, that, upon certain Occaſions, Self-murther is not only allowable, but highly commendable; never conſidering, that in the ſixth Commandment, it is as much prohibited, as the Murther of any one elſe; and that, if I muſt not ſhed the Blood of another Man, becauſe he is made in the Image of God, I muſt not ſhed the Blood of myſelf, becauſe I alſo am a Man, and made in the Image of God as well as he.

Razis indeed was ſorely beſet, and ready to have been taken by his Enemies on every Side; but then he ſhould have ſurrendered himſelf to their Treatment, and teſtified his Magnanimity, not in butchering himſelf, but in manfully enduring whatever Inflictions they laid upon him. Had the Martyrs of old thought themſelves at Liberty to diſpoſe of their own Lives upon any emergent Danger, or Apprehenſion of ſuffering, we had read little of their being mocked and ſcourged, and tormented, and leſs of their being ſtoned and ſawn aſunder, but a great deal of their ſtepping out of the World (as ſome call it) when any Difficulty, or Perſecution came upon them.

Upon the Whole, therefore, we may conclude, that, as this was not the Practice of thoſe Worthies of old, who obtained a good Report by Faith, it was not true Courage, but the Want of it, that put Razis upon committing this barbarous Cruelty to himſelf; that it was Pride, not Patience (which is the proper Virtue of a Martyr) that made him fly to Death, merely for Refuge againſt thoſe Outrages, which he had not Strength of Mind to withſtand.

CHAP. XV.

Nicanor's Blaſphemy. Judas encourages his Men. Nicanor is ſlain.

Ver. 1. BUT Nicanor hearing that Judas and his company were in the ſtrong places about Samaria, reſolved without any danger to ſet upon them on the ſabbath-day. 2 Nevertheleſs, the Jews that were compelled to go with him, ſaid, O deſtroy not ſo cruelly, and barbarouſly, but give honour to that day, which he that ſeeth all things, hath honoured with holineſs above other days. 3 Then the moſt ungracious wretch demanded if there were a mighty One in heaven, that had commanded the ſabbath-day to be kept. 4 And when they ſaid, There is in heaven a living Lord, and mighty, who commanded the ſeventh day to be kept: 5 Then ſaid the other, And I alſo am mighty upon earth, and I command to take arms, and to do the kings buſineſs: yet he obtained not to have his wicked will done. 6 So Nicanor in exceeding pride and haughtineſs, determined to ſet up a publick monument of his victory over Judas, and them that were with him. 7 But Maccabeus had ever ſure confidence that the Lord would help him: 8 Wherefore he exhorted his people not to fear the coming of the heathen againſt them, but to remember the help which in former times they had received from heaven, and now to expect the victory and aid which ſhould come unto them from the Almighty. 9 And ſo comforting them out of the law and the prophets, and withal putting them in mind of the battels that they won afore, he made them more cheerful. 10 And when he had ſtirred up their minds, he gave them them their charge, ſhewing them therewithal the falſhood of the heathen, and the breach of oaths. 11 Thus he armed every one of them, not ſo much with defence of ſhields and ſpears, as with comfortable and good words: and beſides that, he told them a dream worthy to be believed, as if it had been ſo indeed, which did not a little rejoice them. 12 And this was his viſion, That Onias who had been high-prieſt, a virtuous and a good man, reverend in converſation, gentle in condition, well ſpoken alſo, and exerciſed from a child in all points of virtue, holding up his hands, prayed for the whole body of the Jews. 13 This done, in like manner there appeared a man with gray hairs, and exceeding glorious, who was of a wonderful and excellent majeſty. 14 Then Onias anſwered, ſaying, This is a lover of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy city, to wit, Jeremias the prophet of God. 15 Whereupon Jeremias holding forth his right hand, gave to Judas a ſword of gold, and in giving it, ſpake thus, 16 Take this holy ſword, a gift from God, with the which thou ſhalt wound the adverſaries. 17 Thus being well comforted by the words of Judas, which were very good, and able to ſtir them up to valour, and to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined not to pitch camp, but couragiouſly to ſet upon them, and manfully to try the matter by conflict, becauſe the city and the ſanctuary, and the temple were in danger. 18 For the care that they took for their wives, and their children, their brethren and kinsfolks, was in leaſt account with them: but the greateſt and principal fear was for the holy temple. 19 Alſo they that were in the city, took not the leaſt care, being troubled for the conflict abroad: 20 And now when as all looked what ſhould be the trial, and the enemies were already come near, and the army was ſet in aray, and the beaſts conveniently placed, and the horſemen ſet in wings, 21 Maccabeus ſeeing the coming of the multitude, and the divers preparations of armour, and the fierceneſs of the beaſts, ſtretched out his hands towards heaven, and called upon the Lord that worketh wonders, knowing that victory cometh not by arms, but even as it ſeemeth good to him, he giveth it to ſuch as are worthy. 22 Therefore in his prayer he ſaid after this manner, O Lord, thou didſt ſend thine angel in the time of Ezekias king of Judea, and didſt ſlay in the hoſt of Sennacherib, an hundred fourſcore and five thouſand. 23 Wherefore now alſo, O Lord of heaven, ſend a good angel before us for a fear and dread unto them. 24 And through the might of thine arm, let thoſe be ſtricken with terror that come againſt thy holy people to blaſpheme. And he ended thus. 25 Then Nicanor, and they that were with him, came forward with trumpets and ſongs. 26 But Judas and his company encountred the enemies with invocation and prayer. 27 So that fighting with their hands, and praying unto God with their hearts, they ſlew no leſs than thirty and five thouſand men: for through the appearance of God they were greatly cheered. 28 Now when the battel was done, returning again with joy, they knew that Nicanor lay dead in his harneſs. 29 Then they made a great ſhout and a noiſe, praiſing the Almighty in their own language. 30 And Judas who was ever the chief defender of the citizens, both in body and mind, and who continued his love towards his countrymen all his life, commanded to ſtrike off Nicanors head and his hand, with his ſhoulder, and bring them to Jeruſalem. 31 So when he was there, and had called them of his nation together, and ſet the prieſts before the altar, he ſent for them that were of the tower, 32 And ſhewed them vile Nicanors head, and the hand of that blaſphemer, which with proud brags he had ſtretched out againſt the holy temple of the Almighty. 33 And when he had cut out the tongue of that ungodly Nicanor, he commanded that they ſhould give it by pieces unto the fowls, and hang up the reward of his madneſs before the temple. 34 So every man praiſed toward the heaven the glorious Lord, ſaying, Bleſſed be he that hath kept his own place undefiled. 35 He hanged alſo Nicanors head upon the tower, an evident and manifeſt ſign unto all of the help of the Lord. 36 And they ordained all with a common decree, in no caſe to let that day paſs without ſolemnity, but to celebrate the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which in the Syrian tongue is called Adar, the day before Mardocheus day. 37 Thus went it with Nicanor: and from that time forth the Hebrews had the city in their power. And here will I make an end. 38 And if I have done well, and as is fitting the ſtory, ſtory, it is that which I deſired: but if ſlenderly, and meanly, it is that which I could attain unto. 39 For as it is hurtful to drink wine, or water alone; and as wine mingled with water is pleaſant, and delighteth the taſte: even ſo ſpeech finely framed, delighteth the ears of them that read the ſtory. And here ſhall be an end.

Nicanor having got Intelligence that Judas was in Poſſeſſion of the Fortreſſes about Samaria; and perhaps not confiding much in his own Forces, which conſiſted partly of Jews whom he had compelled into the Service, and partly of his own Troops who had been often beaten by the Jews, he choſe rather to take a cowardly Advantage of their Piety, and ſet upon them on the Sabbath-day, when, he imagined, they would make no Defence, than to try the Matter upon equal Terms. Againſt this impious Propoſal, the Jews in his Camp ſtrongly remonſtrated; but he blaſphemouſly anſwered, That, tho' the God of Heaven might ordain the keeping holy the Sabbath, yet that himſelf had ſufficient Power and Authority to cancel that Duty when it became inconſiſtent with the Performance of the King's Buſineſs; which he therefore commanded them to do without Heſitation; he was however diſappointed of his Purpoſe.

Nicanor, however, was ſo elate with his imagin'd Succeſs, that he determin'd, in the Pride of his Soul, to perpetuate ſo glorious an Action, by erecting a publick Monument in Memory of it. The Conduct of Judas, at this Juncture, was very different; he placed his Confidence, not in an Arm of Fleſh, in the Strength and Bravery of his Troops, but in the living God, who had often deliver'd him in the like Emergencies. He reads his Soldiers a Lecture out of the Law and the Prophets; recounts the noble Acts of their Forefathers, and the eminent Deliverances that God had given them; tells them of the Perfidy of the Heathen; and from ſuch kind of Topicks, encourages them to fight the Enemy who had no ſuch Helps; and as a farther Argument to induce them to behave valiantly, he tells them a Dream, in which it was plainly intimated, that both they and he were under the divine Protection.

Judas's Men were ſo wonderfully encouraged by this Harangue, that they eagerly long'd for the Engagement. Nicanor's Army in the mean while approached, rang'd in Order of Battle; which Judas engaging, ſlew 35,000, and obtain'd a compleat Victory. Among the Slain they found the Body of Nicanor; which occaſion'd an univerſal Joy among the People. And Judas, to ſhew his Reſentment at the Blaſphemies uttered by this impious Man, ordered his Head and right Hand to be ſtruck off, and fixed on the Tower in Jeruſalem, as a Monument of the Juſtice of God on ſo vile and audacious an Offender; and his Tongue, the Inſtrument of his blaſphemous Speeches againſt the God of Heaven, to be cut out, and given piece-meal to the Fowls. And that the Memory of ſo ſignal a Victory might never be forgotten, an annual Feſtival was inſtituted, to be kept on the 13th of the Month Adar, which anſwers in part to our February; and ſo it is kept even to this preſent Time, under the Name of the Day of Nicanor.

Here the Author ends his Story; the Remainder of which, relating to the Death of Judas, and the various Succeſſes of his Brethren, the Reader will find in the Firſt Book of Maccabees.

A Diſcourſe on the MACCABEES.

THE Name of Maccabees relates not only to Judas and his Brothers, but to all thoſe that joined with them in the ſame Cauſe; and, not only to them, but alſo to all others, who ſuffered in the like Cauſe under any of the Grecian Kings, whether of Syria or Egypt, tho' ſome of them lived long before them. Thus thoſe, who ſuffered under Ptolemy Philopater, at Alexandria, fifty Years before the Time of Judas, were afterwards called Maccabees, as were likewiſe Eleazar, and the Mother, and her ſeven Sons, tho' they ſuffered likewiſe before Judas erected the Standard, which gave occaſion to the Name.

As therefore thoſe Books, which give us the Hiſtory of Judas, and his Brethren, and their Wars againſt the Syrian Kings, in Defence of their Religion and Liberties, are called the firſt and ſecond Books of the Maccabees; ſo that, which gives us the Hiſtory of thoſe, who, in the like Cauſe, under Ptolemy Philopater, were expoſed to his Elephants at Alexandria, is called the third Book of the Maccabees; as that, which contains the Account of the Martyrdom of Eleazar, and of the ſeven Brothers, and their Mother, is called the fourth.

According to the Order of Time indeed, and the Subject-Matter which they treat of, theſe Books are wrong placed; for the third ſhould be ſet firſt, the ſecond placed before the firſt, and the fourth immediately after it; ſo that (to reduce them to right Order) the firſt ſhould be put in the Place of the third, and the third in the Place of the firſt. Grotius indeed is of Opinion, that the third Book, tho' it treats of Matters antecedent to what is the Subject of the firſt and ſecond, was nevertheleſs wrote after them, even after the Book of Eccleſiaſticus, and upon that Account had the Name of the third Book given it; but the true Reaſon of its being poſtponed is, — That, being of leſs Repute and Authority, than the two former, it has always been reckoned after them, according to the Order of Dignity, tho' it be before them in the Order of Time.

The firſt of theſe Books was originally written in the Chaldee Language of the Jeruſalem Dialect, which was the only Language ſpoken in Judea after the Return from the Babyloniſh Captivity, and is a very accurate and excellent Hiſtory, coming neareſt to the Stile and Manner of the ſacred hiſtorical Writings of any extant. The ſecond is a Compilation of ſeveral Pieces; of two Epiſtles from the Jews at Jeruſalem to thoſe of Alexandria, which ſeem to be ſpurious; of a Preface preceding the Hiſtory; and of the Hiſtory itſelf, which is an Abridgment of a larger Work, compos'd by one Jaſon, an Helleniſt Jew of Cyrene; but the whole is, by no Means, equal to the Excellence and Accuracy of the firſt. The third, which ſeems to have been written by an Alexandrian Jew, in the Greek Language, is ſet off with Enlargements and Embelliſhments of the Author's own Invention; but, as to the main Ground-Work of it, or the Reality of ſuch a Perſecution, rais'd againſt the Jews at Alexandria, 'tis undoubtedly true; and, tho' its Stile be a little too Theatrical, its Sentiments, in many Places, are both beautiful and ſublime. The fourth, which is generally allow'd to be the ſame with what is aſcrib'd to Joſephus, the Jewiſh Hiſtorian, under the Title of the governing Power of Reaſon, is deſign'd to enlarge, and adorn the Hiſtory of old Eleazar, and of the ſeven Brothers, who, with their Mother, ſuffer'd Martyrdom under Antiochus, as it is related more ſuccinctly in the ſecond Book of Maccabees, Ch. vi. and vii.

The Author of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, Ch. xi. 35, &c. has ſtamp'd ſome Authority upon theſe Books, by alluding to their Hiſtory, and the Puniſhment, which the Maccabees were made to undergo; but we muſt not therefore receive them as Canonical, becauſe, according to the Report of St. Jerom, neither the Jewiſh, nor the Chriſtian Church ever look'd upon them in that Capacity. Maccabæorum Libros legit quidem Eccleſia, ſed eos inter Canonicas Scripturas non recipit: They read them as Books, which contain'd Leſſons of wholeſome Inſtruction, and excellent Examples of worthy Patriots, and glorious Martyrs, ſuffering manfully in the Defence of their Religion and Liberty, and not accepting Deliverance, that they might obtain a better Reſurrection.
